Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

BAGS AND MORE BAGS. On second thought, maybe that's not the proper way to approach the subject. We just happened to be thinking about the bags under the eyes of various and sundry wheels on campus. And, honestly, we weren't thinking about any of the girls in particular. What do you think about a point system around this place

CLOSED DOOR POLICY. The bumps and knocks the team get on Saturday afternoons are almost insignificant compared to the mashed noses incurred on days when the front doors of Graham Memorial are locked. Just ask Rufus Butner how it feels to bump into one of those oak barricades.

BUDDING BUSINESSMAN. Dave Collins is so impressed with the facts he's picked up in his economics class about corporations that he claims he's ready to get a state charter and go to work.

CHECK THIS, SUH! We were put on the spot the other day when we were asked who wrote the South's national anthem—"Dixie" and just in case you, too, would like to know—it was Dan Emmett, a southern Negro.

WHO DUNNIT? If "Nell and Charlotte," the mysterious duo who sent the lovely floral wreath to Bill Watson, will get in tough with him, he will be glad to exchange tears with them. Seems the girls are also bereaved over the loss of a gold fish—Precious Jewel, who recently passed on to his watery reward.

CLASSIFIED: Here's another ad that popped up on the bulletin board in Murphy. "If you gals are interested in knitting some layettes for deserving babies of France, you can do so by calling or seeing Genevieve Faucher in 310 Kenan. She'll supply all equipment, wool, needles, and instructions." Might be good experience, coeds!

ON HIS FEET again is Sandy Harris, who came back to the Hill this week minus his appendix. We just hope he will be in fine shape by next Thursday when the Young Democrats club holds its first rally for the fall.

PLEASE, PLEASE let's see if we can't do a little better about keeping things clean around the steps of South. Every day at 1 o'clock the place looks as if Al Capp's Dogpatchers have just held an annual reunion. And we have no shmoos to clean up after us.

ABC. Alice Denham wants it known that the prize for the football guessing contest every week is a carton of Chesterfields, courtesy of the campus representative. Many thanks to the company.

TALENT SCOUT. Rendezvous manager Arnold Wilson took off to Raleigh this week to bring back a man who won the heart of Carolina when he was here last summer—George Pegram from Denton. Those of you who were here for the folk festival can really appreciate his effort because nobody can steal a show like George when he sings "That Good Ole Mountain Dew."

FROM THE GROUND DOWN. Some folks may start little from the bottom and work up, but it's the other way around in a coed dorm. We were knocked off our feet this week when bills rolled around, and we discovered first floor rooms knock us for bigger loops than those on upper floors. There must be some advantage; but so help us, we didn't think we were supposed to climb in those windows after coed closing hours. It's just too bad we can't live in Berlin where we could rent a tent complete with heat, lights, furniture, bed linen and laundry service for $1 a month. The maid service is $2 a month extra.

Agreement———At Last!

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Write Away

Cheer, Gang, Cheer

Editor,
Write Away Column,
The Daily Tar Heel,
Chapel Hill,
North Carolina.

Editor:

I wonder how many other Tar Heel fans noticed how weakly the Carolina cheering section sounded off at the recent game with N. C. State.

Now no one can say that Norm Sper and his cheerleaders aren't doing their jobs at these games. This writer has seen very few cheerleaders put so much work into a cheering section—and receive so little help from the stands, as have the cheerleaders of Carolina.

Man alive!! Do we not have one of the greatest teams in the nation??? Then why can't we have one of the best cheering sections in the country. Why can't Carolina boast the biggest and loudest cheering section just as they boast the number one team of the country.

This writer would be willing to bet that there must be dozens of universities throughout the nation whose students and football fans would be only to glad to yell themselves hoarse until they dropped—if they had a team to cheer for such as Carolina has.

At the game last Saturday, Carolina may have had the better team but there is little doubt that State had us beat when it come to the cheering for their team to win. They cheered every move their team made during the game.

I know that every Carolina fan hopes to see the Tar Heels roll on through the rest of the season,—unbeaten and untied, to become the champion team of the country this year. If this is what we really want, then let's all get behind the Tar Heels and do our part in cheering them on to victory after victory on the gridiron.

What do you say Carolinians??? Do we get together today and give forth with the loudest and noisiest cheers that ever rocked the Kenan Stadium, or are we just going to keep on letting the Joes sitting next to us do the yelling for us?

At the game today, and at all the home games, let's all go along with Norm and his cheerleaders and have football fans from coast to coast hear the number one cheering section of the number one team in the nation.

Jim Martin

Suppression Of News

Dear Sir,

In re the "itching bomb" warning afforded through the benevolence of the Publicity Committee of the Progressive Party, let me be the first to express my heartfelt ingratitude and sincere lack of appreciation. First as to the Party's paranoic complaint of "news suppression", I would like to express the opinion that the news coverage that they have received has been quite adequate — particularly when we consider that the most generous estimate of their voting strength gives the Progressive Party 2,500,000 votes out of an estimated 50,000,000, a good criteria of their national importance. By this token, if the amount of publicity given them by the Daily Tar Heel reflected their voting power, one would be forced to conclude that at least 75 percent of the campus would vote left of left. After all what other college daily can boast of a direct pipeline from Moscow in the person of Bill Robertson (although some feel that the word "gasline" would be more accurate)? So all considered, this particular complaint is rather weak.

The remainder of the article, through distortion, use of half truths, and good old misrepresentation, provides a beautiful demonstration of that old game of twisting facts to fit pre-conceived dogma; to wit-Russia (that formidable bastion of democracy) can do no wrong, and the United States (that last outpost of Wall Street Fascism) can do no right. As an example of this technique consider the discussion of the "Vinson affair" which attempts to blame the failure to secure peace on the United States and more particularly on the Democratic party. The thesis is based on a rather remarkable statement that is completely erroneous, to the effect that the President was "attempting to by pass his military and big business advisors." From this inauspicous start the article goes on to say that the Democratic party is utterly incapable of any effective move toward peace. The failure of the Vinson mission is then blamed on our bipartisan policy and the remarkable conclusion is that it's all the fault of the Democratic party, no mention being made of the Republican role! In other words they would have us believe that the State Department, not only is in complete disagreement with the President, but both are going merrily along their way in totally opposite directions. The logic of this somehow escapes me.

It is apparent that the Gideonites cannot seem to realize in the face of facts that the Russians are following a policy of aggression—they cannot see, because they don't want to see. If the Russians desired peace, they could have had peace anytime in the past three years, and the door is still open. For a time there was some question as to the actual motives of the Russians. There can no longer be any doubt. Definite and immediate action on our part is a must. Henry Wallace with his corn seeds provides no better solution than did Neville Chamberlain with his umbrella.

Murray Goldenthal

It Was An Unhappy Spectacle

Editor:

I am only a visitor here, and perhaps lack certain instruction in the traditions of this charming college town. I have always admired the conduct of the young people in and out of the University or off the campus. Indeed it has appeared to me the ideal of small university life, young ladies and men displaying equal amounts of good taste and breeding in most matters.

Then I happened to view the unhappy spectacle of a replica (in fun!!?) of a lynching or hanging on the campus grounds and during the homecoming game! I cannot but believe it was done in thoughtlessness, but I cannot condone if for a moment and hope some prohibition of any such spectacle in the future is strictly enforced.

Evelyn Allen

Pregame Interview

Rameses Is Confident

By Patt Harrell

He was casually chewing grass when we approached for an interview, but he paused at our arrival and politely offered us some. With that polished, urban manner so typical of Carolina gentlemen, he mentioned that he had concluded his meal and was at our disposal.

"Rameses," we queried, "what do you think of your chances against the Tigers this week?"

He laughed self-conciously, depreciating his chances of accomplishing more than a simple massacre. Kicking his way through scattered heaps of bulldog teeth, he mentioned several possibilities of defeat, but they may safely be ignored since the weather bureau has reported that the earthquake and typhoon season is over and there is no immediate danger of a black plague epidemic.

He passed a few remarks concerning fine football weather, removed a battered high silk hat, brushed off the traditional dust, and placed it back on his head. Noticing our interest in it, he said he had picked it up week before last from a fleeing deacon, who under-estimated his horns.

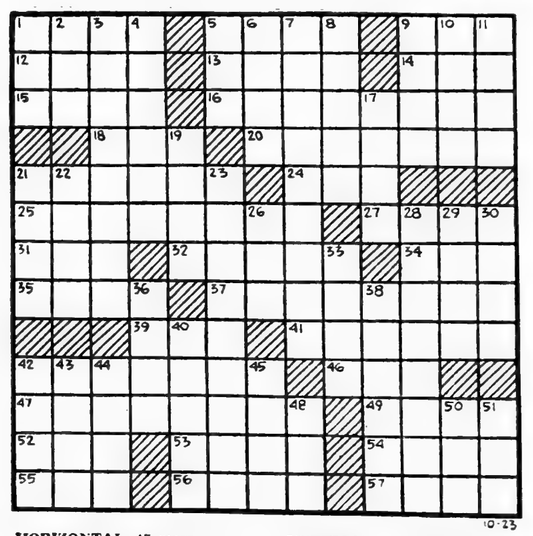
"The last week in September," he reminisced, "I ran down a few large steers in Kenan Stadium and I was really well fed I could use a good meal now even if tiger meat is a little below my living standard.

"That pack of wolves I tangled with last Saturday was almost a little too much for my stomach," he continued. They were hard to digest and I lost a few pounds on the AP scale but I lived through it. Now I'm angry enough to tackle a whole cage full of tigers.

"Those wolves were tougher than I expected," he added, displaying the fang marks in his bulky hind quarters, "and the vet has been threatening to keep me out of action, but Saturday I'll be rearing to go.

To display his ability, Rameses lowered his horns and charged our camera, completely demolishing the instrument. As he turned to take a few laps around the field, we could not help but feel sorry for the tigers when they encounter Rameses, America's leading mascot, gentleman, savant, and general bull-shooter.

Chit-Chat

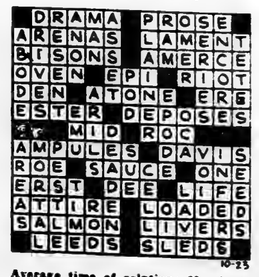


Too Many Articles

By Violet LaRue

Going to a football game has gotten to be quite a complicated affair. At every football rally a new item "to be carried" is added to the already impossible load. What will Norm Sper think of next? Not only must the average coed carry her coat, hat, and gloves, but also a Carolina banner, a pom pom, an official program, a Confederate flag, and a coke. How many hands do the "powers that be" think that the normal human being has? If any of the above articles are left at home, entrance to the stadium is practically denied! The fun comes when the ardent football fan has to hold on to these "articles", cheer, and work the card stunts at the same time. One poor coed missed every play of the Carolina-State classic because every time that she stood up to see, some Carolina "gentleman" waving a pom pom knocked all of the gear out of her hands. All she wanted to do was to see the game.

It seems that one Carolina fan wrote a very strong letter to The New York Times concerning the omission of any mention of the Carolina-Wake Forest game in their Sunday issue which followed the game. The Carolina fan gave the sport editor something that I am not supposed to mention here. During the next week the said fan received a letter of apology from the NYT's sports dept. However, in last week's issue of the Times, the home team got a headline spread with the following comment: "The Tarheels did not look like the team that was rated No. 1 in the nation in this week's Associated Press poll—". At least the Tarheels got a headline!



Come this afternoon all of Chapel College will be on hand for the LSU game—"articles" in hand. Here's hoping that you'll get to see some of the game. At least one touchdown!

HORIZONTAL
1. correlative of this
5. cushions
9. chicken disease
12. sharpen
13. embolden
14. anecdotes
15. feminine name
16. repulser
18. equal: comb. form
20. a visionary
21. Mohammedan princess
24. deciduous shade tree
25. recants
27. father
31. Greek letter
32. slack
34. mire
35. prefix: half
37. introductory statement
39. cardinal number
41. basins used in churches
42. supplications
46. the sun
47. more spangled
49. value
52. close comrade
53. grafted (her.)
54. English school
55. personal pronoun
56. oceans
57. lairs

VERTICAL
1. definite article
2. torrid
3. creek in Pennsylvania
4. one who harasses
5. equivalence
6. in bed
7. lovers
8. harden
9. tropical tree
10. Indian arrow poison
11. young salmon
17. illumination device
19. spoken
21. land-measures
22. apportion
23. a crystalline compound (var.)
26. high hill
28. walk about
29. ingredient of paper
30. citrus drinks
33. corrodes
36. Roman road
38. anchored
40. goods
42. vipers
43. Memphis divinity
44. fence picket
45. bristle
48. thing in law
50. vogue (Fr.)
51. printer's measures

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

10-23

Average time of solution: 22 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF Li'l Abner By Al Capp

Frosh Gridders, Soccer Team Down Virginia

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

Hold That Tiger

WITH THE FOURTH DOWN and still six to go, Carolina's brilliant but battered Tar Heels will be after big game this afternoon at Kenan stadium in their efforts to hold the visiting Tigers of Louisiana State and then annex on the side some sort of suitable victory.

The game promises to be a full $3.50 worth of entertainment including the tax. The Bengals have yo-yoed up and down all season long, breaking someone's heart one week and then finding their own shattered the next. The luckless Tar Heels, who gave up the avoiding of ladders long ago, have the continued misfortune of stumbling upon visitors on the wrong week.

For, trampled by Georgia in a fourth quarter rush last week, the Bijou boys are on top of their own little world today with nothing to lose but the car fare up and back. An LSU victory today would turn old Huey Long over in his grave, and skyrocket the Tigers back to the land of fame and fortune. The desperate man is not to be played with.

Nobody Knows

BY ALL SCORES outside of the local football bureau the game is all but the mere formality of dispensing with the scheduled action. The bookies, who must win more money than they lose, have taken to the Tar Heels like a long, lost 27-point son. Meanwhile, the comparative score lads have come up with a 29-point advantage for the locals by way of Athens and an astomonical 60-point edge by the Austin, Texas route. They should have their heads examined.

For, from the Snavely feedbag comes the word that these Tigers don't hay. They have a powerful T-team which with all cylinders functioning can have an awful lot of spark. The Tigers can throw football with ease and agility, bringing to mind the fact that points scored on Carolina this season have come courtesy of the well-known airline. Carolina scouts, who have been chewing the Tiger rag for many weeks, keep looking to the heavens, and pray for rain.

From the Bengel camp comes anything but optimism, leaving one to wonder if anybody really wants to win the ball game anyhow. The visitors have a casualty list that can equal the length of the Tar Heels' and still have a few tattered forms left in reserve. In addition, the Louisiana boys have never fared too well in North Carolina; on their last trip in 1929 they almost outdid the market of that year in crashing before Duke. They fear they are going down for the second time.

Slow at the Start

SOME OF THE LESS-WRINKLE-faced Tar Heels feel a certain degree of security in this afternoon's gathering. They will point out the Carolina team has not lived up to their press clippings or their own estimations for three straight weeks while Meriwelling by three rather good football teams. The question is: Can the Tar Heel talent and spirit be held down to its ebb limit for another week?

Snavely teams are notorious slow starters. They were last year and the year before. Except for a stifling spurt against Texas, they have imitated the act to perfection this season. After Mid-October, though, the Gray One is a hard man to beat at anything, and according to the bill collector that date has come and past.

The Louisianans, like a Qounset hut spigot, may run hot or may run cold, but if the Tar Heels burst forth with that rabbit punch they have supressed since the Longhorns lingered and lost, it will be extremely difficult for anyone to calm them. It would be enjoyable to convince oneself that all this fooling around with Georgia, Wake Forest and State was all part of the act. Or at least the calm before the storm.

The Lack of Luck

ONE THING THAT has almost mortally wounded the Tar Heels several occasions is the apparent lack of the reknown Lady Luck has. They haven't had a date with her in weeks. The good go early is the old expression which certainly holds for the Carolinians whose sideline ensemble just grows and grows and grows.

Also the Tar Heels have had less breaks lately than a self-conscious coed. They had a couple in the opening game this year and capitalized them into a national fortune. Since then, when you mention the breaks of the game around the locals, they simply ask, "What game?" You can't lose for winning.

Which leads one to picking the home town boys to take the chill out of the autumn air and the Tar Heel fans and insert it within a week. It will probably take a red hot Tar Heel team to do it. But how long can one football team simmer and not catch fire. From here on out the Tar Heels need only to win one for the crippled warrior they have saddled on the bench and they are equally in.

Lemon, Tamour, today for sure!

Wiess, Brady Star As Tar Babies Get Second Win, 20-0

By Buddy Vaden

Coach Crowell Little's Tar Baby footballers gained victory number two yesterday at the expense of the junior Cavaliers from Virginia, when, sparked by the brilliant passing of Dick Wiess and the superb playing of Fred Brady and C. C. White, the local lads racked up 20 points and at the same time held the Virginians scoreless.

The Tar Babies completely dominated the show, never allowing the Gentlemen from the Old Dominion to come within shouting distance of the hallowed Tar Heel goal line. Only once were the visitors permitted to enter Tar Heel territory, and that time the Tar Babies pulled in the welcome mats before the Cavaliers got past the 46-yard line.

But the Tar Babies, who fought on even terms with the Virginians during the first period, got hot in the second quarter and scored once before allowing the Cavaliers to retire to their dressing rooms.

The scoring play came after a march from the Tar Baby 33-yard line. Wiess passed to end Eddy Walser who gathered the ball in on the 15 and scampered across the goal unmolested for six points. Eggie Williams added the extra point with apparent ease. So, at the end of the first half the Tar Babies were in command with a seven-point lead.

Midway in the third period the Tar Babies got touchdown hungry and Wiess whetted their appetites with some more of the same dish-good passing. After a march from the Virginia 45, Wiess carried the ball into the Cavalier end zone, only to be told that a Carolina back was in motion and therefore the TD did not count. However, Wiess, who can be determined, passed to C. C. White on the next play from the 11-yard line and White ended up in six-point territory. Again Williams' conversion split the uprights.

The Tar Babies' final score came five minutes later when Weiss intercepted a Virginia pass on the Cavalier 15-yard line and cut down the sidelines to the end zone. This time Williams' extra-point attempt was blocked.

Although he failed to figure in on any scoring plays, tailback Leon Carson played an excellent game. He never failed to gain ground on what seemed to be his favorite play, the reverse. Other bright spot in the game yesterday was the outstanding work of the forward wall. The Tar Babies did well to confine such Virginia backs as William Landes and Robert Skinner.

The long work on pass defense seemed to pay off yesterday. The Tar Babies intercepted more Virginia passes than the faltering Cavaliers could complete to their own men.

Tar Heel Prognosticators Consult Stars Again

GAME	CARMICHAEL	JENRETTE	JEFF	WADE	CAMPBELL
Carolina-L.S.U.	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	LSU
Army-Cornell	Army	Army	Army	Army	Army
Citadel-Furman	Furman	Furman	Furman	Furman	Furman
Florida-Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech
Maryland-Geo. Wash.	Md.	Md.	Md.	Md.	Md.
Dartmouth-Harvard	Harvard	Harvard	Dart.	Dart.	Harvard
Purdue-Illinois	Purdue	Ill.	Purdue	Ill.	Ill.
Notre Dame-Iowa	N.D.	N.D.	N.D.	N.D.	N.D.
Rutgers-Lehigh	Rutgers	Rutgers	Rutgers	Rutgers	Rutgers
Michigan-Minnesota	Minn.	Mich.	Mich.	Mich.	Mich.
Boston Col.-Ole Miss.	Boston	Boston	Ole Miss.	Ole Miss.	Ole Miss.
Alabama-Miss. State	Miss. St.	Miss. St.	Miss. St.	Miss. St.	Miss. St.
Syracuse-Northwestern	N'west'n.	N'west'n.	N'west'n.	N'wst'n.	N'west'n.
Navy-Penn.	Penn.	Penn.	Penn.	Penn	Penn
Mich. State-Penn. State	Mich. St.	Penn. St.	Penn. St.	Penn. St.	Penn. St.
Texas-Rice	Texas	Texas	Tie	Texas	Texas
Santa Clara-S.M.U.	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU
Tenn. Tech.-Tenn.	Tenn.	Tenn.	Tenn.	Tenn.	Tenn.
Oklahoma-T.C.U.	TCU	Okla.	Okla.	Okla.	Okla.
Duke-V.P.I.	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke
Calif.-Washington	Calif.	Calif.	Calif.	Calif.	Calif.

Harriers Entertain State Today

By Frank Allston

The Carolina cross country team will attempt to enter the win column for the first time today when they engage the North Carolina State college harriers at 11 o'clock on the Carolina four-mile course originating from Fetzer field.

In both of their previous meets this season, the Tar Heels have been defeated largely because of a lack of balance on the squad. Virginia Tech's, conference runners-up, topped the locals two weeks ago while the always strong Navy runners were on the short end of the score at Annapolis last Saturday.

Sam Magill, however, won firsts in both of these earlier meets and will be the favorite in the meet this morning. Durable Sam trotted home ahead of the pack in 21:45 in the VPI meet, which was run on the local course.

Frank Hooper, who finished fourth in the Tech meet and third at Navy, will be counted on today by Coach Dale Ranson to help the Tar Heels improve on the previous two runnings.

Julian MacKenzie, recently elected captain of the Tar Heel harriers, is another of the first boys home who will be counted on to lower the Tar Heel scoring. MacKenzie was a strong fifth in the Virginia Tech contest.

Ranson will also be counting on Jim Hunt, Warren Barringer, Jerome Lewis, John Ross, Otis Hunnicutt, Dick Gregory and Bob Rhyne. All of these boys turned in good times in the time trials held on the local course on Thursday.

Two freshmen, Ross and Culpepper, are also on the Blue and White team and may run tomorrow. Under Southern conference rules, a freshman who has served in the armed forces may compete in varsity athletics.

Coach Ranson was pleased with the performances turned in by his runners in the earlier meets, but expressed a preference for a winning performance. The Carolina team will probably be favored today on the basis of their good showings against stiff opponents to date.

A Tar Heel win today would bring some measure of revenge to coach Ranson. Last Monday afternoon State won a double-header cross country meet from Carolina, the Jayvees winning, 19-52 in a very one-sided contest while the freshmen were victorious by a 25-30 count.

Coed Sports

VOLLEY BALL

Thursday's Results

56	Spencer	Tri Delt 3	8
49	McIver	AD Pi	20
37	Chi O	Alpha Gam 1	25
39	Town	Pi Phi 3	20

Alpha Gam 3 forfeited to Pi Phi 2.

Alderman forfeited to Chi O 1.

LOT OF HOCKEY

The Hockey club will meet every Tuesday and Thursday at four to practice for intramurals.

MONOGRAM PARTY

There will be a party for all Monogram Club members this afternoon at 6:30 at Hogan's lake. Any member desiring a ride should meet in front of the fire house at 5:30.

Carolina To Romp Over Tigers; Davidson, Blue Devils Favored

By Zane Robbins

A fellow in a black shirt with a half-smoked stogie in his mouth swaggered up to us on Franklin Street the other day, pushed a low-brimmed cap back from his forehead, and said, "Hey Bub, c'mere a minute. Got a little tip fer ya."

I ambled over to this character, hoping to pick up a hot tip on a couple of Saturday's big games, and inclined an ear in the general direction of his mumblings.

"Look Buddy, for a coupla bucks I can give ya the word on all the big games."

Sounded good so I dug a pair of George Washington etchings out of my pocket, handed them to him and listened as he began drawling about the football fortunes of the nation's best.

"Kinda think the home-town boys will win by three, mebbe four touchdowns," he began. "LSU hasn't been too hot at any time during the season and look lopsided lickings from Texas and Georgia, a couple of Carolina victims. Don't bet everything in the wife's cookie jar, but I'd say Carolina, 35-0."

"Now Duke's been looking better every week and played a bang-up game against Maryland last week. Billy Cox is pushing Freddie Folger at tailback and the Blue Devil forwards have improved a lot, I'd say Duke 26-7."

"This Davidson-Wofford tilt oughta be a real hum-dinger," said Sad Sam. "The Wildcats have a good little team and Wofford is a mediocre outfit. It'll be close though. Davidson, 13-7."

Michigan and Minnesota will be battling it out in their annual Little Brown Jug tilt in the top game of the day. Dunno what's in that Jug but it must be something mighty good the way those boys scrap over it. Michigan is the best in the country but anything can happen when these two rivals get together. Minnesota is battling for a Rose Bowl berth and will be tough. I'll stick with the Wolverines though, 21-14."

Score Second Win On Goals by Boak, Ferebee, Langley

By Larry Fox

Scoring once in each of the first three quarters, Carolina's soccer team easily defeated the University of Virginia booters, 3-0, on Fetzer field yesterday.

The Tar Heels took the lead early in the initial stanza and, after adding the insurance goal in the second chapter, Coach Marvin Allen cleaned the bench, sending every man on the squad into the contest.

Dave Boak dented the Cavalier nets for the first Carolina tally after half the opening period had elapsed. Boak headed a corner kick by left wing Tommy Jordan, who leads the squad in assists for the season, into the goal to give the Tar Heels a lead they never came close to relinquishing.

Before Boak scored his goal, the Tar Heels had threatened many times. Joe Bach and Dave Ferebee, among others, were foiled in their attempts to count for the Blue and White, but Ferebee had the satisfaction of notching his first goal of the campaign early in the second quarter when he took a pass about 20 yards out, faked Dalton Couig, the Virginia goalie, out of position, and charged into the goalmouth for the score.

Carolina continued to force the play, but it wasn't until the third period, with mostly reserves on the field, that John Langley scored the final goal.

Langley was promoted to the starting lineup as a result of his fine play as a substitute in the previous Tar Heel encounters, and played a sterling game in the inside left position. Bill Lyon played his first game as a starter in the right halfback slot and also aquitted himself well. Buck Blankenship opened at fullback for the third lineup change.

Scrappy center half Gus Johnston injured his knee in the second period just before the Tar Heel tally. Johnston was forced to leave the game, but will probably be ready for the Tar Heels' next contest.

Expert to Appear

Harold "Jugg" McSpadden, noted golf professional will appear here Monday afternoon for a links demonstration, the Athletic department announced this week.

McSpadden will narrate a movie of "How to Improve Your Golf" featuring America's top golfers, after which he will answer questions and demonstrate.

The presentation will take place on the main floor of Woollen gym Monday afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock. It will be open to all.

Chapel Hill Scores Fifth Straight Win

Chapel Hill High school's undefeated Wildcats rolled to their fifth straight victory yesterday afternoon with a convincing 25 to 0 win over a game but outclassed Siler City eleven on Emerson field before a small, enthusiastic crowd.

The Wildcats were in complete control of the affair from the start, scoring their first six pointer in the opening minutes of the first quarter when Bill Butler blocked a visitor's punt on the Siler 17, and Collier Hill slashed off right tackle into paydirt from the nine two plays later.

Midway in the second quarter the Wildcats drew blood again when they marched from their own forty to the two yard line in three plays and Bill Butler plunged over from there on his second try, giving Chapel Hill a 12 to 0 advantage at half time.

VILLAGE
—TODAY—
MARLENE DIETRICH
John Wayne
in
"THE SPOILERS"
—Also—
COLOR CARTOON

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
THE
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
EAST MAIN AT CHURCH
DURHAM

At U.N.C.—
CHARLIE GIBSON has the Edge in Publications.

To the—
U.N.C. Football Squad
MAY OUR BEER GO AS FAST AS THEY RUN
K & M Beer Delivery
PHONE 3536

...and in razor blades
PAL HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
DOUBLE or SINGLE EDGE
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

STEAKS — SANDWICHES — BEER — CHICKEN
Before the Game . . .
After the Game. . .
You Can Enjoy Good Food Here
Open Daily — 11:00 A.M. to 12:00 P.M.
PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE
WATT'S GRILL
Only 2 Miles Out on Pittsboro Road

Versatile Oxford

ARROW "DOUBLER"
$3.95
Fine Gordon oxford cloth in a two-pocket, convertible collar shirt makes Doubler a perennial campus favorite.
ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Li'l Abner By Al Capp

A meal at HARRY'S — a GOAL EVERY TIME

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

Constructive Ideas

Loudermilk Is Well Known In Campus Political Scene

By Bill Buchan

Charlie Loudermilk, a leader in campus fraternity life, is a young man with constructive ideas, ideas that more often than not lead to improvement in student affairs, student government and any other organizations of which he is a member.

As a result, Charlie is a valued member of many organizations and groups on the campus. Besides his leadership in the University Party, he represents the Chi Phi fraternity on the Interfraternity Council, where he was recently elected a member of the IFC court. He also represents the IFC on the Graham Memorial board of directors.

However, possibly the reason that Loudermilk is considered a "wheel" is his open direct opinion on any matter that confronts the student body. For instance he lost no time in praising and in a small way criticizing the local political scene. On the general subject of politics, he stated, "Our politics could be better. They drop to a low level at times, but I believe that they and the political parties are the heart of student activities. Politics and so-called politicians receive unjust criticism."

On his own University party, Loudermilk forecast an optimistic prediction for the approaching fall elections. "I see no reason," he said, "why the University party will go out in power in the elections. The present legislature is doing a very good job, disregarding the needless controversy over the budget bill last spring."

At the present time, Loudermilk is making plans for the improvement of two issues on campus. Both of them, one concerning better telephone service and the other a unique and much needed method for the scheduling of quizzes in General College will be well received by the student body.

In pushing his quiz schedule plan, Loudermilk pointed out that the system has worked successfully at Georgia Tech recently. The plan is relatively a simple one of having the various departments in General College such as the Math, Romance Languages, and Social Science Departments each schedule their department quizzes on one certain day each week. By this method the business of students having two and three quizzes thrown at them on the same day will be eliminated.

-Communist-

(Continued from page 1)

am concerned, a man named Winston, the party's organizational secretary, has been in a perpetual conference for the past three days. North said he couldn't show me around.

Back today for a final trial, I never got beyond the hall with the three locked doors. I called through the peephole to the mild-looking man to let me in. He just looked at me. Then he came over to the peephole and said North wasn't in and he didn't know when he would be in.

Could I come in and wait in the reception room for North?

No.

Could I wait in his office downstairs at The Daily Worker?

No.

So I walked down the nine flights of stairs, past The Daily Worker, the Communist state headquarters, the Communist county headquarters to the lobby and out onto the street.

Judge Rules

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 22—(UP)—U. S. District Judge J. Waties Waring today ruled out an affidavit charging that he was biased in favor of Negroes who seek equal rights in the South Carolina Democratic party.

Phi Gams Reach Goal in Drive

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity has reached 100 per cent membership participation in the North Carolina symphony society drive, the management of the society announced yesterday.

Much of the credit for this support is given to the cooperation of the Interfraternity council and the local chairman, Norman Cordon.

The Phi Gams raised $96 for the local symphony society by each active member purchasing a minimum of one membership.

B. F. Swalin, director of the symphony, has inferred that if sufficient interest has been shown on the part of students in contributions made and memberships secured, a special concert might be possible for the students. If such an event is scheduled, popular classical numbers with a soloist will be featured. He pointed out that this would be a contribution to the entertainment series on the campus.

Bob Barrus, assistant YMCA director, announced that anyone who did not obtain a YMCA blotter at registration, may pick one up in the lobby of the Y building.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

9:00—CAROLINA QUARTERLY, Grail room.
10:30—ALUMNI ASSOCIATION, annual meeting of officers and directors, Carolina Inn.
2:00—LSU VS. CAROLINA, Kenan stadium.
8:30—GRAIL DANCE, Woollen gymnasium.

Ivanissevich Will Speak Tuesday

Dr. Antonio Ivanissevich, formerly a professor of constitutional law at the University of Buenos Aires, will speak Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in 111 Murphy hall, sponsored by the Institute of Latin-American Studies and the Spanish club. The subject of his talk will be "Relaciones Inter-Americanas."

Dr. Ivanissevich visited Chapel Hill once before in 1944 when he lectured at the Law school. He is now in this country under the auspices of the United States State department to improve relations between Argentina and the United States. He has given lectures at Princeton and Columbia university.

On Wednesday Mr. Ivanissevich will speak again in 111 Murphey at 8 o'clock. The address will be in English on "The Politics of Argentina since 1943."

Lange to Speak On Latin Music

Francisco Curt Lange, foremost Latin-American musicologist will speak about the music of Latin America in Hill hall auditorium the evening of Oct. 29 at 8:30.

Dr. Lange, an architect and writer in the fields of sociology and philosophy, will illustrate his speech, entitled "Latin American Music," with recordings and slides.

The German-born musicologist is the founder and editor of the Latin American Bulletin of Music and is the founder and director of the Inter-American Institute of Musicology.

Self-Defense

DURHAM, Oct. 22—(UP)—The Duke university athletic office in self defense today announced that nearly 10,000 tickets still are available for the Duke-Georgia Tech clash here Oct. 30.

H. M. Lewis, business manager of athletics, explained that his office was being bombarded with urgent telegrams and phone calls asking if there was a possibility of getting tickets to the game.

He suggested leisurely letters, bearing checks, would arrive in time to purchase tickets.

Alpha Psi Delta Hears Dashiell

Dr. J. F. Dashiell, psychology department chairman, gave a brief history of the department at the first meeting of the Alpha Psi Delta on Thursday night.

Dr. Dashiell covered the time from the organization in 1921 until the present.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

CORNER ROOM—TWO SINGLE BEDS, innerspring mattresses, large closet, private bath—shower or tub. Private entrance Purefoy Rd. sixth house on left from Mason Farm Road. Call after 2 p.m. (3-924-1)

FOR SALE 6B

NEW FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREfoy Rd. Asbestos shingle with picture window, hardwood floors, table-top water heater. Call 8756. (6-927-1)

FOUR ROOM HOUSE, INSULATED, oil heat. Shower and tub, gas hot water heater, stove. Venetian blinds. Call at 178 Eagley Drive, Victory Village for information. (3-926-1)

ELECTRICALLY EQUIPPED HOMEMADE BAR Length 7'5". Will accept any reasonable offer. On view at TEP House, 216 Rosemary. Phone 4011. (ch1x1)

THE ADVANTAGES OF AN APARTment, at the cost of a room, are yours in this large trailer and room. Live comfortably and inexpensively in the privacy of your own home. Hundred gallon fuel system newly installed, butane stove, two tanks. Moving to Victory Village, we must sell this month. 35A Trailer Court. (1-932-2)

HELP WANTED 8

PART TIME ANNOUNCER WANTED for work in radio station. Good job for right man. Contact Ken Corbitt, WTIK, Durham, N. C. (ch 1x1)

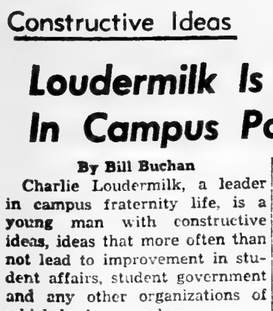
LOST 12

ONE GREY GABARDINE TOPCOAT at the State game. Has name R. C. Hewitt on inside. Please return to Jim Wilcox, S.A.E. House. (3-c926-1)

CHANGE PURSE CONTAINING $15 and some stamps, but no identification. Will finder please contact Joy Hollander, Trailer 40. (2-940-1)

ONE DUMMY FROM CHI OMEGA Homecoming display. Football player with white trousers, white jersey with "2" on it, helmet. If found please return to Chi Omega house. (2-939-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28



FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.—Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

WIN YOUR WINGS!

Become a Flying Officer with the U. S. Air Force. A special team is coming to tell you how.

ROY COLE and His Orchestra

See: E. C. LEONARD, 305 Cameron Ave.
or
Write: P.O. BOX 902

★ snaps at night are fun . . . easy

Drop in for Kodak Super-XX Film and Photoflood Lamps, and see for yourself how easy it is to take snapshots indoors at night.

LET US MAKE YOUR Photographic

CHRISTMAS CARDS

. . . Made from your favorite Snapshots

10 CARDS & ENVELOPES . . $1.00
25 CARDS & ENVELOPES . . 2.35

Foister's Camera Store

The regular length VAN CARSON with "Comfort Contour" collar

Year in, year out, on campus and off, VAN CARSON is one of America's soft-collar favorites. Now with new smartness, new comfort, new neatness, thanks to its collar stays and low-setting "Comfort Contour" styling. Fine, Sanforized fabrics—a new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size! Tug-proof pearl buttons, action-tailored, figure-tapered. And Van Heusen quality in every stitch. In oxford, $3.95. In broadcloth, $4.95. Other Van Heusen shirts $3.50, $3.95, $4.95.

You'll find college men's collar favorites in

Van Heusen
the world's smartest
shirts

PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., N. Y. 1, N. Y.

"VAN HEUSEN" IS A TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

Genuine Fountain Pen
WATERMAN'S
For School, Business & Home
Our Price $2.49 Regular Price $5
Brand New, available in black, brown, blue or gray; fine, medium or stub points. Money Back guarantee. Pay postman on delivery.
Standard Shopping Service
51 Argyle Road, Brooklyn 18, N. Y.

CAROLINA - DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
Six Miles from Chapel Hill
SUNDAY & MONDAY
"PERILOUS HOLIDAY"
with
Pat O'Brian
CARTOON AND SHORT

SURPLUS
PORTABLE MICROSCOPES

We offer a limited quantity of surplus portable microscopes for sale. These are all new, in original cartons and are offered at a fraction of original cost.

Specifications: Overall height 8 inches, turret with three different powers. Will accept auxiliary eye-piece for higher powers desired. Fully adjustable on tiltback base. Optical system: pitch-polished lenses.

These portable microscopes are offered subject to prior sale on the following terms: Price $9.00, includes shipping and packing charges. Check or money order should be sent with your order or $2.50 deposit, the microscope to be sent C.O.D. for balance. Any check received after quantity has been sold will be returned promptly.

Gibson Page Co. Inc.
Dealers in War Surplus
BOX 1130, ROCHESTER, 2, N. Y.

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER
Cloudy and cool.

The Daily Tar Heel

★★★★★★★
Sports Final

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 27

Carolina Rolls Over LSU Tigers By 34-7

Michigan Wins, 27-14; Notre Dame Tops Iowa

New York, Oct. 23—(UP)—Michigan's wonderful Wolverines, behind twice in the early stages of the game, finally got up a good head of steam in the second half to gain a 27-14 victory over Minnesota in today's feature game on the collegiate football calendar.

The annual Little Brown Jug struggle, witnessed by a record crowd of 63,237 fans at Minneapolis, highlighted the most interesting card of the season in which at least one hair-raising struggle developed in every section of the nation.

Michigan, which went into today's game with a string of 18 straight victories and a 14-point spread in the bookie's quotations, got more than it bargained for from the Golden Gophers. Minnesota looked like it was ready to spring the upset of the year when it scored early in the second period, allowed the Wolverines two quick second period tallies, then barged in front, 14-13, shortly after the half.

Ortmann.

The victory practically assured Michigan its second straight Big Nine championship and probably ruined Minnesota's chances of a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Mighty Notre Dame also was presented with a man-sized scare by Iowa's Hawkeyes before charging to its 23rd straight victory, 27-12. Iowa threw a good aerial game at the Irish and trailed only 13-6 at halftime. But Notre Dame's superiority in the line finally halted Iowa in the second half and the Irish pulled away on a 39-yard touchdown romp by John Panelli and a 35-yard scoring gallop by Larry Coutre.

Duke Triumphs Over VPI, 7-0, In Rough Battle

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 23—(UP)—Unbeaten Duke, rocked all afternoon by slashing Virginia Tech defensive play, shook Wingback Tommy Hughes loose for a 45-yard touchdown run today to eke out a breathless 7-0 win over the definite underdogs.

Some 12,700 partisan fans prayed for an upset but Duke clung to its slim lead and Virginia Tech wound up its fifth game of the season without once crossing an enemy goal line.

Duke's varsity backfield was largely bench-ridden with injuries today and the offense lacked luster as it butted against stubborn Virginia Tech.

The standout performance of the day was done by the VPI line, determined to turn back the unbeaten but twice-tied Blue Devils.

The lone score came from far out and ran true to Duke form.

In the second period, Tech Back Bob Gilley fumbled on an attempted punt and Duke took over on its own 43. Tailback Fred Folger, Jr., still recovering from injuries, tossed to Hughes on the Tech 45 for a first down.

On the next play, Hughes flashed toward the right sideline without interference, vaulted a pileup at the line of scrimmage and then wriggled all the way into the end zone.

End Mike Souchak kicked the extra point.

Tech's line, led by 225-pound tackle Tim Lawler, stopped most of the Blue Devil threats. Duke pushed one late drive 48 yards into scoring position but a Folger pass was intercepted to stop the attack on the six-yard line.

Tech fans rose screaming in hope just once. Quarterback Harry Walton brought a Folger kick back 41 yards in the third period but the offense died a few seconds later when a Tech pass fell into enemy hands.

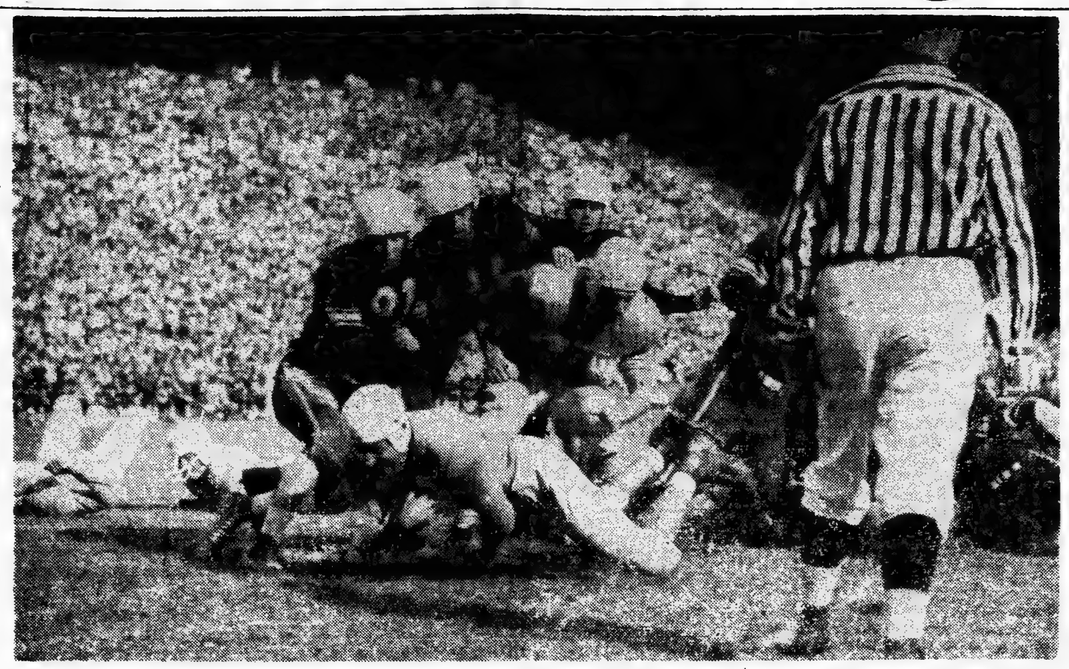
Charles Jones To Be Speaker At Coed Meeting

First of a series of monthly Coed Get-Togethers sponsored by the YWCA will be held tomorrow, with the Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church, as speaker.

All coeds, whether active YW members or not, are invited to the informal meeting at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Mary Anne Daniel, president of the YW, will preside at a short business meeting, in order that all coeds may have a voice in the YW policies and proceedings.

"Religion in University Life" will be the topic of the Rev. Mr. Jones's brief talk and of a discussion following.

Interdorm Council Schedules Meeting



The Interdormitory council will meet tomorrow night at 6:30 in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial. Pete Gerns, president of the council, announced that the newly elected dormitory presidents will be inaugurated at that time. An agenda of projects to be undertaken during fall term will be taken up and a financial report will be made by Gerns.

'Football' Injury

For the strangest "football" injury of the week, you should hear the story of pre-med student Harrison Barbee of Greensboro.

Barbee was crossing Navy field on his way to the stadium about 1:30 yesterday and walked directly under one of the field's goal posts. The crossbar chose just that moment to slip from its fastenings and crack the innocent football fan on the head.

Dr. W. G. Morgan of the infirmary staff patched up Barbee's scalp wounds and sent the injured spectator back to watch the remainder of the ball game.

HOSEA RODGERS, falling to the ground, is pictured as he dives over the goal for Carolina's second touchdown in yesterday's 34-7 triumph over LSU. Photographer Jim Mills snapped this picture late in the first quarter. A crowd of 41,000 viewed the spectacle.

Here's Who Played

NORTH CAROLINA

Left ends—Weiner, Powell, Romano, Bauer.

Left tackles—Highsmith, Fowle, Marczyk, Cospito.

Left guards—Mitten, Wardle, Fetherolf

Centers—Steigman, Holdash, Neikirk, Horton.

Right guards—Varney, Klosterman McLane.

Right tackles—Szafaryn, Rywak, Hansen, Hendrick.

Right ends—Cox, Rubish, Cooke, Washington.

Quarterbacks—Rizzo, Weant, Knox, Reynolds, Curtis.

Left halfbacks—Justice, Maceyko, Bunting, Purcell.

Right halfbacks—Clements, Flamisch, Britt, Norcross.

Fullbacks—Rodgers, Hayes, Kennedy.

Score by periods:

North Carolina	13	0	14	7—34
LSU	0	0	7	0— 7

McSpaden to Speak

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, one of golfdom's better known professionals, will narrate a golf movie on the main floor of Woollen gymnasium on Monday afternoon.

McSpaden also will lecture briefly and give demonstrations of his talk. The meeting will be at 4 o'clock, and all students are invited. No admission will be charged.

Tar Heel Victory Over LSU Arouses Songs From Varney

By Buddy Vaden

Yesterday's triumph over LSU proved to the Tar Heel Terrors that a good day's work can do wonders to one's disposition. Unlike the victory over State last week, Coach Snavely's boys felt much better about yesterday's thrilling spectacle and showed it when they entered the dressing room after the game.

Immediately after bursting into the field house, a trio of Tar Heel tenors, led by maestro Sid Varney, gave out with what sounded like an original version of "Tiger Rag."

Amidst all the noise and celebration, Coach Snavely had a few words to say about the game. "We're glad to have that one over with and have it won. I thought it was going to be rough going there for a while, but then we clicked with several passes and changed the whole complexion of the game. Our boys were mad at themselves for last week's show and then got even madder when LSU scored."

Art Weiner, who like Confucius, always has something to say, commented, "It's about time!" And then after hearing Snavely's comment, declared jokingly, "Coach might say we played a good game today, but wait until Tuesday!"

Chan Highsmith, one of the greater Tar Heel forwards, said about the game, "That looked like the first of four or five tough ones. Charlie and Hosea sure are good boys to have playing for you and not against you."

Bob Cox, who scored ten points and was continually running all over the field, remarked, 'We got rolling today—You can just write me up as a back next time."

Varney, who had by this time stepped from the podium to the shower, said about the coming game with Tennessee, "We'll put 11 men against 'em. They say they're goin to beat us, but we think differently." And then, going back to yesterday's game, he said, "I sure hope we satisfied the fans this time."

LSU's Coach Tinsley was obviously impressed with the Tar Heels. Said he after the game, "Those boys that beat us out there today are going to beat a lot more clubs before this season is over."

Grid Scores

Carolina 34, LSU 7.
Duke 7, Virginia Tech 0.
St. Bonaventure 7, W&M 6.
Alabama 10, Mississippi State 7.
Michigan 27, Minnesota 14
Illinois 10, Purdue 6.
Notre Dame 27, Iowa 12.
Mississippi 32, Boston College 13.
Rutgers 20, Lehigh 6.
Northwestern 48, Syracuse 0.
Kentucky 25, Marquette 0.
Baylor 20, Texas A&M 14.
Oklahoma A&M 41, Temple 7.
Texas 20, Rice 7.
Tulane 21, Auburn 6.
Missouri 49, Iowa State 7.
Southern Cal. 7, Stanford 6.
Utah 19, Wyoming 7.
Oregon State 28, UCLA 0.
Penn 20, Navy 14.
Vanderbilt 35, Yale 0.
Georgia Tech 42, Florida 7.
Princeton 16, Columbia 14.
Army 27, Cornell 6.
Tennessee 41, Tenn. Tech 0.
Pittsburgh 21, Indiana 14.

Student Party Meet Scheduled Tomorrow

The Student party will hold its weekly meeting tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3 of Graham Memorial. Gran Childress will present reorganization and freshman campaign plans.

The freshman campaign committee will meet at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker 3 tomorrow evening.

Snavely's Boys Score Fifth Win Of Season

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's Tar Heels successfully hurdled one more obstacle in their path to an unbeaten season by rolling over Louisiana State's Tigers, 34-7, before 41,000 satisified fans Kenan stadium yesterday. The victory was the fifth of the year and 12th straight over a two-year span for Coach Carl Snavely's boys.

In marking up their triumph, the Tar Heels completely lived up to pre-game predictions. They were expected to win by four touchdowns and came through by this count without too much difficulty. The triumph was an impressive one, and should advance the locals in national grid ratings.

Carolina presented a well-balanced attack, scoring two touchdowns by land and three by air. In the matter of first downs, the Tar Heels had 18 to seven for the visiting Bayou Staters. The locals picked up 280 yards rushing and 178 passing for a grand total of 458. Another important factor in the Carolina win was good punting. The Tar Heels averaged 46.1 on six boots; five of which were by Charlie Justice.

Evenly Divided

Scoring honors for the day were divided between Justice, Hosea Rodgers, Bob Cox, Ken Powell, and Bobby Weant. Cox also converted on four of the five tries for extra points to run his season record to 17 good kicks in 19 tries. The only one he missed yesterday resulted when a 15-yard penalty moved the ball back to the 17-yard line instead of the customary 2.

Carolina's victory as usual was a team victory. All played brilliantly. Rodgers and Justice probably rate the nod as the brightest of the backfieldmen. The lean Carolina fullback was the workhorse of the running attack, carrying the ball 18 times for 91 yards. Charlie Justice on 16 occassions for 71 yards. Justice passes netted 138 and Rodgers passed for 31 more. Larry Klosterman, Len Szafaryn, and Sid Varney attracted particular attention for their fine line play.

The much publicized injury trouble obviously didn't slow the team up. Bob Kennedy, shifted to wingback when Fred Sherman and Bill Flamisch were injured, came through in fine style. Also that big Tar Heel line operated effectively despite the loss of Ted Hazelwood.

None in Second

Only in the second quarter did the Tar Heels fail to score. The Blue and White gridders ran up two quick scores in the first period for a 13-0 lead, saw LSU make its only touchdown in the third quarter to cut the margin to 13-7, and finally pulled away with two more touchdowns later in the third and another in the fourth.

The Tar Heels scored the first time they got their hands on the ball. Rodgers ran the kickoff back to the 33, and in three line plays, Carolina had a first down on the 44. Justice tossed to Weiner for another first down on the LSU 40. Two more Justice jaunts and a line buck by Rodgers provided another first and ten on the 29.

(See JUSTICE page 3)

Statistics Chart

Team Totals

	UNC	LSU
First downs	18	7
Net yards rushing	223	103
Net yards passing	178	52
Passes attempted	17	25
Passes completed	10	9
Passes intercepted by	0	1
Net yards from scrim.	401	155
No. punts	6	10
Avg. distance punts	46.1	42.1
Yards all kicks returned	134	131
Yards penalized	50	45

Rushing

Carolina	No.	Gained	Lost	Net
Justice	16	91	20	71
Rodgers	18	91	1	90
Clements	6	23	2	21
Maceyko	4	23	0	23
Hayes	2	0	—8	—8
Kennedy	4	30	0	30
Purcell	1	0	—10	—10
Norcross	1	3	0	3
Weiner	1	19	0	19
LSU	No.	Gained	Lost	Net
Pevey	3	0	18	—18
Konz	4	7	0	7
H. Collins	2	5	0	5
Gray	4	64	3	61
Scroll	1	4	0	4
Porta	1	0	10	—10
Heroman	2	19	0	19
Nagata	7	35	0	35

Passing

Carolina	No Att.	Comp.	Yd.	Int
Justice	10	7	138	0
Rodgers	3	2	31	0
LSU	No. Att.	Comp.	Yd.	Int
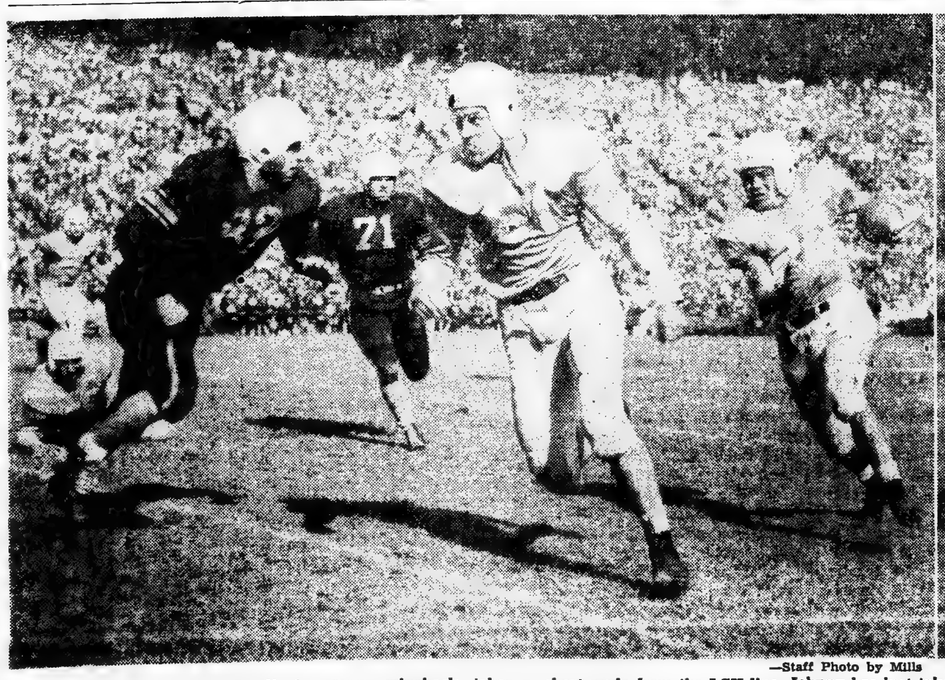
Pevey	17	6	41	0
Porta	6	3	11	0



From	To	Yds. Gained
Justice	Weiner	16, 12, 14, 15
Justice	Cox	10, 52
Justice	Powell	19
Rodgers	Weant	19
Maceyko	Rubish	9

Punting

Carolina	Kick	Yds.
Justice	5	222
Reynolds	1	45
LSU	Kick	Yds.
Collins	3	127
Konz	3	132

Punt Returns

Player	No.	Yd.
Justice	3	5
Maceyko	1
Clements	1

—Staff Photo by Mills

—Staff Photo by Brooks

JOHNNY CLEMENTS, Carolina's scrappy wingback, takes a short wade from the LSU line. Johnny has just taken a reverse and is headed through the left side of the Tiger line. He made only two yards, however. In the photo on the right, Bobby Weant is tackled just as he entered the end zone for the fifth Tar Heel touchdown in yesterday's battle with LSU. Weant received a short pass from Hosea Rodgers and scampered over the goal. Ken Konz, number 42 is the LSU player giving Weant the bear hug.

Dull Market

The scalpers had a bad day yesterday.

Trading was dull on the Franklin street black market, as frantic ticket merchants attempted to get rid of an abundance of mediocre seats at cost, and, toward game time, below cost.

Fifty-yard-line pasteboards were offered at $15 each, but there were few takers. And those persons who spent their money on scalped ducats discovered to their sorrow at the game that Kenan stadium was not even sold out.

A crowd of 41 000 fell short of filling up the stands.

Fleecers Get Fleeced

Football ticket scalpers got what they deserved yesterday as many were left holding large blocks of unsold tickets. This was the second straight Saturday that scalpers had a hard time. Last week word that State Bureau of Investigation agents were on the scene keptthe ducat dealers on the move and hampered their trading activities. Although SBI agents were reported to be in Chapel Hill again this week, chief headache for the scalpers was that there were just too many tickets on the market and too little demand for them. Prices dropped accordingly.

Resale of tickets at cost price is perfectly legal and honest. Scalpers, however, are people who buy large numbers of the pasteboards when they first got on sale and hold them to sell at a higher price as game time approaches and the demand for seats increases. Technically, the practice is illegal because it avoids payment of the entertainment tax on the increased price, and although the practice is based on "good business" principle, it is reprehensible vecause actually it is merely a form of robbery inflicted on ligitimate ticket buyers.

It seldom happens that the fleecers get fleeced as they did yesterday, but they deserve to have it happen every week.

Protest to Prices

A keen example of just how far college students will go to protect themselves from astronomical prices is in effect at Stillwater, Oklahoma, currently, where Oklahoma A. and M's powerful campus-wide student organization has launched "Aggie-baggie" season and a dry cleaning boycott. The aggrevated Aggies are demanding "fair" prices from local pressing merchants—or else fifty and ninety—cent creases in pants and suits will be replaced by bluejeans as the "old look" at campus social events.

In sharp rebuttal, the crying cleaners, blowing off steam from presses and protests, argue that "prices are average and should be raised—not cut." Either a compromise must be worked out, or it's a die-in-the-wool battle to the finish.

All of which goes to show that college students are not, contrary to opinions shared by the few, the richest suckers in the world, and can, if the need arises, put up convincing arguments to prove it. —EG

Hard on the Eyes

A partial solution to the crowded library conditions, far cheaper than a one and a quarter million dollar addition, could be found by replacing the many burnt-out reading lamps in the reference room. Nothing is deader than a dead flourescent lamp and nothing is emptier than the study chairs beside them. Unless he can read braille, a student will go back to his quonest hut and read Abe Lincoln-fashion by the light of the oil burner, rather than risking his feeble eyesight. It's just a simple remedy to a serious problem. —B.F.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sport Staff: Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Wuff Newell, Chan Barksdale, Zane Robbins, Frank Allston.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Bill Peebles, Doug Thompson, Allen Tate, Neal Cadieu, Jackie White, J. C. Brown, Ed Wharton.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

WITH ALL PRAISE due to the marvelous card stunts, Charlie Bennett is bewailing habitual fate. It seems that he and his date always end up on the wrong side of Kenan stadium. And though the half-time stunts are fine, Charlie would like to exercise those vocal chords with his cronies.

THE BUSY, BUSY Yack photographers, those happy shutter bugs, are taking a deep breath, putting on that smile, and announcing that they do so want to get a shot of everybody's smiling face. The catch is that they have only one more week to get yours, that is if you haven't gotten down to GM yet.

NO OFFENSE intended anywhere, but quite a number of loyal Tar Heels decided to sit out yesterday's game. It must be that they had just had enough football and needed a breather, or maybe the fall colors in the mountains had something to do with it.

THERE CAN'T BE very many ways to do away with a top coat, but Jim Southerland, local wheel, told us his sad tale of having to buy four in one year. Between misplaced cigarettes, a small mistake at the cleaners, and the light-fingeredness of some Chapel Hillians, Jim found himself considerably poorer last year. All of which gives him good reason to look forward to top-coat weather with little enthusiasm.

AFTER FIVE WEEKS of 8 o'clock classes the drowsy aggregation that crawls into the Y for that early-morning coffee has at last gotten some method in their madness. No longer does anyone have to stand long for that java, they come in shifts. But if any morning five extra should show up, chaos would break out.

AFTER SHAKING a few hundred hands last week, fraternity rushees weren't even sure of their own names or the time of day. Cal Woodard of Wilson walked into one house early Wednesday afternoon and greeted the first three actives he saw with, "Hello, Cal. How are you tonight?"

NAT WILLIAMS, we hear, has learned to sing for his meals. Seems a jolly ol' alumnus kept servicing the boys with beer as long as they would sing for him.

WADE DUNBAR and Joe McLean have declared to the world that the girls in 109 McIver can be slower than a whole brigade of turtles! How 'bout that, Betty Brown? Fact is, it was a bitter looking crew lodged in the parlor of the dorm at 12:06 yesterday. Each of about 15 dates sat glaring at the doors, each other, and their watches simultaneously.

THEIR EYES and the rings on their third-finger-right-hand sparkling, both Merle Stevens and Ginny Forward have looked like mighty lil' girls this week—and shouldn't they? It's not every Carolina coed who makes such a conquest!

JESS DEDMOND was pacing the floor of the student government office yesterday morning waiting to be host to the president and vice-president of the student body at LSU. At the time the two were making a tour of the Duke campus. Glad to have them here!

IN TOWN:

IN ANSWER to the complaints about the streets in the colored district of town—the work has not been done yet because a new sewerage system is being installed; and the streets would be torn up as fast as they could be put in.

NANCY COBB, we hear, has been elected to the feature section of the Randolph-Macon Woman's college annual, the "Helianthus." Nancy is a freshman up there this year.

Looks Like the Score Was Against Him

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

CPU Roundtable

Last Look Before Voting

By Page Dees

There are only ten days left before the general elections. The time has come to gather together the charges and countercharges of the major presidential candidates and to try to arrange them into a logical form. Since early summer, Dewey and Mr. Truman have been touring the country appealing to the electorate on all kinds of grounds; yet it is almost impossible to combine and fashion their words into any kind of definitive pattern. Nevertheless that is what the Carolina Political Union will attempt to do tonight. There is bound to be honest difference of opinion and the resulting report cannot be entirely objective. But only through such a report can the CPU hope to point out the basic issues and the political strategy involved in the campaigns.

At the present time the Democrats and Republicans are waging their main battles over the domestic issues. Wallace and Thurmond are both appealing to minority fringes—Wallace to the far-left, and Thurmond to the far right. The parties of both of these men will die as easily and as quickly as they rose; they are representatives of present social phenomena and are not designed to be permanent parties. As soon as the groups have made their protests, they will break up and drift back to the parties of their origins.

Wallace makes an idealistic appeal for world friendship, particularly friendship with the Soviet Union. He would have the United States withdraw its troops from Europe, and he would, in effect, do away with the E.R.P. As for the domestic scene, he uses the race issue as his chief talking-point. The secondary platform planks of the Progressives pall in comparison with this inflammatory racial one. Diametrically opposed to Wallace we find Thurmond and his Dixiecrats. Thurmond and his followers admit the lack of any positive Dixiecrat platform plank, unless one wishes to count their approval of non-partisan foreign policy as a positive statement. The entire "reason for being" of their party is to act as a protest group against any kind of federal civil-rights legislation; i.e., any federal laws that, in theory or practice, have as a basis racial betterment or equality. These States-Righters claim that such legislation ,if desired, can be had through the states. The key to the Dixiecrat philosophy, then, is the word "Against".

That the Progressives and the Dixiecrats are doomed to failure is a foregone conclusion. The American people have never strongly supported "splinter" parties making limited appeals on grounds of sectionalism, race, utopianism, or whatever. It appears that the only way to discuss these two groups profitably is to try to see how they fit into the general all-over political picture, the conditions that gave them rise, and their effects on the two major parties.

As is to be expected the main part of the discussion will center around the platforms and strategy of the Democrats and Republicans. This discussion will in all probability take the form of generalities. This is unavoidable as both parties have tended to obscure basic issues, domestic and foreign; and both candidates have founded their campaigns on the rather vague themes of "unity" (Dewey) and "giving the Eightieth Congress hell" (Mr. Truman). The only definite points of departure to be found at the present are the differences in the respective party stands on labor-management relations, as regards the Taft-Hartley bill, social legislation as regards the minimum wage and social security. Although both Dewey and Mr. Truman promised that the campaign would "stop at the water's edge" they are both making political capital out of the Vinson affair and the self-help features of the E.R.P. Dewey, apparently assured of election, is content to stick to his theme of "unity" and to make few explicit promises. Mr. Truman, like a man possessed, vents his wrath at the Eightieth Congress and thereby hopes to apologize for his administration.

At any rate, the campaign is in its last fitful phase, and the frenzy of the last days might confuse or mislead anyone. If we keep the basic issues constantly before us, however, confusion will be avoided. The Carolina Political Union will work, Through its discussion tonight, toward this end of clarity and understanding.

Socialist Say

Not A Dangerous Radical

By Jonathan Marshall

For the first time since Eugene Debbs received close to a million votes for president, the Socialist party will get a significant vote this November. A recent poll said that it might be as high as three million votes.

One reason that so many people will vote for Norman Thomas this year is that they realize, for the first time, that he is not such a "dangerous radical."

It is true that Thomas is a radical in that he is a leader in thought, but he believes in evolution and not in revolution. Long before the New Deal came into power Norman Thomas was fighting for social security, minimum wage laws, federal aid for low cost housing, and the extension of civil liberties to all people.

It is significant that this year many former opponents have indorsed Norman Thomas. Among his supporters are: Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Professor Irwin Edman, Dr. Erich Fromm, economist Max Lerner, author James Farrell, and the Wisconsin Progressive.

People are not embarrassed this year to vote for the Socialist candidate. A friend summed this up recently by saying, "You know, people don't think you are crazy these days when you say you are voting for Norman Thomas."

Everyone knows that Thomas will not get elected, yet it is not throwing your vote away to vote for him. A large vote means that the major parties must consider the reforms that Thomas advocates. It will make them realize that the independent. Roosevelt enacted almost all of his reforms in his first term after a large Socialist vote in 1932.

There is little to chose between the Republicans who led us into one great depression, and the Democrats who have done nothing in the last three years. The Wallaceites want civil liberties in America and the end of American imperialism," but they accept a double standard for Russia. Norman Thomas is the only candidate who stands for democracy at home and abroad, and the only candidate with a consistantly progressive record.

Voting for candidates from the other three parties is throwing your vote away. Voting for Norman Thomas is voting for a positive program of peace, a stable domestic Prosperity, and a Democratic World Government.

Write Away

Slug at UP Solons

In the account of the student legislature's activities reported Friday last, the writer gave only a brief summary of Thursday night's session. We feel the voters deserve a more detailed picture of the conduct of their legislators. We here present a few behind-the-scene facts in order that voters may find out what their legislators are and are not doing.

1. The convening of the legislature was postponed one half hour to accommodate those legislators engaged in fraternity rushing.

2. A ten-minute recess was immediately moved in the absence of a quorum to allow University party legislators more time to conclude their immediate political activities (attendance to a freshman nominating rally).

3. Responsibility for lack of a quorum can be shown in the breakdown of the twenty members present:

Singly Endorsed—SP 9 present out of 11, CP 2 present out of 6, UP 3 present out of 25, Multiply endorsed—SP-CP 4 present out of 4, SP-UP 1 present out of 2, CP-UP none present out of 1, SP-CP-UP 1 present out of 1.

It is obvious that the University party chose to neglect pressing matters of student government to hold a party rally.

4. The chairmen of two standing committees, University party's Jack Girard of Finance and Thurman Williams of Rules, both of whom had bills coming out of their committees, were absent and left little or no instruction for the execution of their duties.

5. The legislature finally adjourned by a vote of 17 to 13 in a state of confusion, without considering or taking action on a single measure.

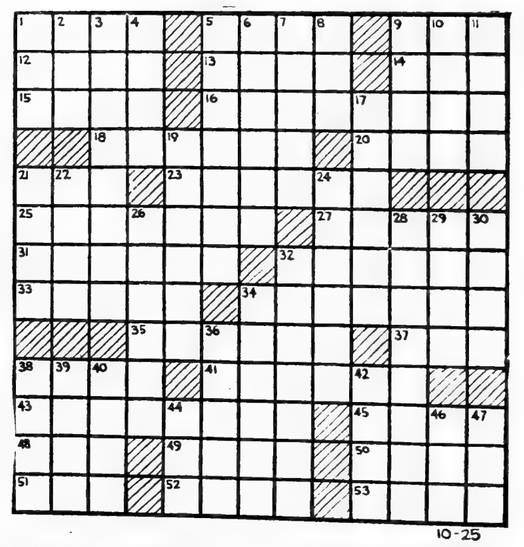
For a campus having the best student government in the country, such a showing by the political party in power is hardly commendable.

We feel it our duty as legislators to make these facts known to the students so they may vote with fuller knowledge of the actions of the men seeking their support.

Tom Kerr
Jim Southerland

Defending Dunnagan

Editor:



Mr. Lowenstein's scurrilous attack on Mr. Dunnagan and on the Progressive party calls for some comment. I was particularly shocked as I have heard Mr. Lowenstein described as an intelligent and fair-minded person. Could I have been misinformed?

Mr. Lowenstein is welcome to his opinion that the Progressive Party "stinks" but his distortion and misrepresentation of facts is another matter. One expects no better from a man with an untrained mind or from a politician of dubious ethics, but Mr. Lowenstein is supposedly neither of these. He surely must know the falsity of some of his statements.

For instance, his assertion that the Progressive party is "avowedly pro-Red." Not true. The Progressive party is pro-peace and is critical of the Administration's foreign policy, but that is not to say it endorses Russian foreign policy. The platform adopted at Philadelphia states that preservation of peace is the joint responsibility of both the United States and Russia. The platform further calls for the ultimate transformation of the United Nations into a World Government with power to prevent war (read Cord Myer's "Peace or Anarchy," Mr. Lowenstein, for a reasoned analysis of "get tough" diplomacy). To us Progressives, the immediate alternatives are war or compromise—and we prefer the latter.

Mr. Lowenstein implies all Progressives are Reds. He must know better. Thomas Dewey estimated there are 75,000 American Communists. If you think this too small, say there are 100,000. James Farley opined the Progressive vote would be about 4,000,000. If we may accept these figures, it appears that more than 97 per cent of Wallace's supporters are not Communists. You have smeared these people, Mr. Lowenstein. Let us grant that the Communists probably do more work per man for Wallace than do his non-Communist supporters, but as long as this effort is directed toward peace, it is not malignant.

Edward A. Stephenson

10-25

1. chirp
5. plan of town
9. entire amount
12. narraw fillet, Arch.
13. vehemence
14. dove note
15. large plant
16. improving
18. cowardly
20. sidle
21. head covering
23. pure
25. plain
27. saw again
31. go back
32. slight
33. embellish
34. enzyme which speeds ripening of cheese
35. threat
37. acme
38. marsh bird
41. requite
43. at whatever time
45. futile
48. trouble
49. market
50. lingering
51. refusal
52. arm bone
53. model

VERTICAL

1. shape and fire, ceramics
2. misjudge
3. choosing
4. match
5. preclude
6. feeblest
7. deputy
8. denary
9. tart
10. yearn
11. theater box
17. erase
19. loath
21. crowd
22. avouch
24. ascended
26. molelike animal
28. regularly
29. too
30. cry
32. genus of lizards
34. cave
36. pertaining to the vessels of war
38. Methuselah of bird world
39. Malay apple
40. trust
42. pith
44. large bird
46. cut off top of
47. lamb's mother

Answer to Saturday's puzzle

T	H	A	T		P	A	D	S		P	I	P
H	O	N	E		A	B	E	T		A	N	A
E	T	T	A		R	E	P	E	L	L	E	R
		I	S	O		D	R	E	A	M	E	R
A	M	E	E	R	S		E	L	M
R	E	T	R	A	C	T	S		P	A	P	A
E	T	A		L	O	O	S	E		M	U	D
S	E	M	I		P	R	E	A	M	B	L	E
		T	W	O		S	T	O	U	P	S
A	P	P	E	A	L	S		S	O	L
S	T	A	R	R	I	E	R		R	A	T	E
P	A	L		E	N	T	E		E	T	O	N
S	H	E		S	E	A	S		D	E	N	S

10-24

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

Tiger Held

THOUGH LIMPID AND LIMPING at times, Carolina's priceless gems caroused through another gay afternoon of football at Kenan stadium yesterday in the nonviolent act of stalking, trapping, caging and crating for shipment home the Tigers of Louisiana State. It must have set the Long family back at least a decade.

The Tar Heels got their first touchdown before most of the patrons had finished reading their programs and then added another a little later in the first period for the sake of those who came in late. Both of the delightful displays of the sometime forsaken Tar Heel power came on long, almost overnight hikes from deep in Carolina territory to the ever, ever land of the Louisiana end zone.

The drives were conducted in truly fluid fashion. The Tar Heels mixed their running and passing with the precision of a middle-aged bartender, changing their attack almost as often as the Tigers did their defense. Charlie Justice and Hosea Ram Rodgers were the names that lit up most often in the eyes of some 41,000 fans with both doing the honors for a score a piece. It had all the ingredients of the recipe for a rout.

Out For a Sandwich

BUT THEN THE TAR HEELS stepped out for a sandwich in the second quarter and couldn't quite find their twice-beaten trail back to the LSU goal line. Justice almost discovered the way on one occasion, but lost his directions and the ball in the process around the Tiger 6. A visiting search party, sad to say, located the loose ball in the end zone for a touchback.

The Tigers, who roared but once in the ball game besides emitting a few small growls on the side, came back after the intermission with new power and personality. They snarled, pawed and bulled their way 66 yards for a half ticket back into the ball game. That turned out to be their contribution for the afternoon.

For, the Tar Heels immediately became intensely infuriated and retaliated for three more touchdowns to fulfill the bookies predictions of a margin of 27 points between the two teams. No wonder that odd bunch of people can stay in business.

Second Act Attractions

THE FIRST OF THESE second act attractions was a Justice-to-Cox toss which young Bob pulled in moving crosstown at the LSU 30. From here, he cut down the field, dallying to wave his clippings to startled Tiger Bill Schroll at the 25, and then trotted off for greener pasture.

The next time around was another air lift addition to the Tar Heel total set up by Jumbling Johnny Clements' 35 yard punt return after receiving the word and the ball from Justice on a fourth down hand-off. This brought the action to the LSU 20 from where the Choo Choo threw threw to Ken Powell, hitting the Virginian right between the numbers in the end zone.

The touchdown finale was a complete ad lib. Rodgers, back to pass, seemed to be seriously lacking a prospective customer when out the night that covered him appeared Bobby Weant. Weant, having blocked once on the play, was looking for another victim, but graciously accepted a short pass and left the scene ratherly hurriedly. Seems he had to see a man about a touchdown.

The Grand Old Guards

THE VIRILE VICTORY showed the Tar Heels are still the best money team in the whole Federal Reserve system. The backs all verbally tucked in and ready for the presses, it is long past time to inscribe on the stands of time, the line play of the Tar Heels. You could well write several letters home a day about it.

To say the guard play for Carolina was superb would not be in the least superfluous. Local gentlemen such as Larry Klosterman seem to know the Tiger plays as well as their originators did. The Tar Heel guards roamed carefreely through the visitors' backfield all afternoon, doing everything but handle the ball. They are a nice bunch of fellows to have around.

Louisiana State had a team there is little to say about except that they showed spots of brilliance. Their supply of reserves gave out in the third quarter about the same time the Faithful scribe's pipe tobacco did.

Carolina won everything including the toss. It was just another case of getting there fustest with the Justice.

Cross Country Team Beats State, 21 To 35

M'Kenzie, Hooper, Magill End in Tie For First in Race

Coach Dale Ranson's Carolina cross country squad, thwarted in two previous bids for victory, came through with flying colors yesterday to defeat the N. C. State harriers, 21-35, on the local course.

A three-way tie for first place provided the Tar Heels with their victory margin. Captain Julian McKenzie, Frank Hooper, and Sam Magill, all of Carolina, were the threesome that deadlocked for first. Their time was 23:08.

Reggie Hunt, who finished the race 12 seconds later in 23:20, annexed fourth place in the race. He too was a Blue and White runner to build up a considerable lead for the Ransonmen.

State, however, copped the next six places to gain some consolation. John Hunter was the first Wolfpack performer to cross the finish line. He came in at 23:30. Hunter, it will be remembered, copped first place in a jayvee cross country meet between State and Carolina last week.

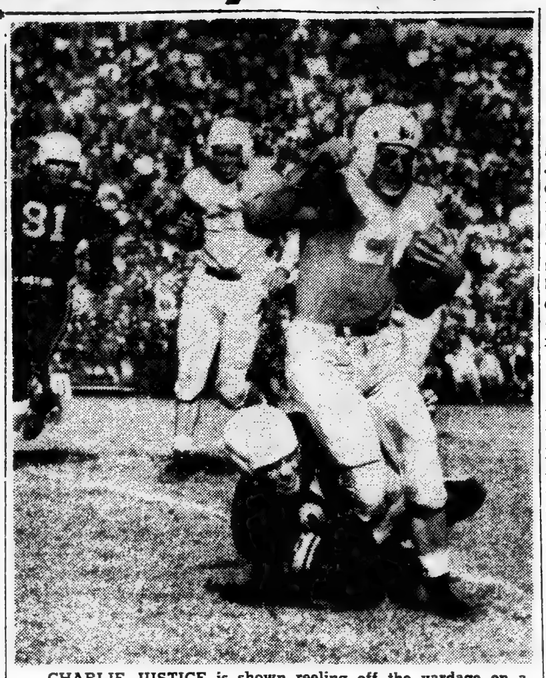
Mural Schedule

FOOTBALL

4:00, Field 1, Q. Hut 356 vs Hut Dwellers; 2, Manly vs C Dorm; 3, Nash vs Everett 1; 4, Bombers vs Alexander; 5, Miller vs Termites; 6, BVP vs Lewis; 7, Phi Gam 2 vs AEPi.

5:00, Field 1, Aycock vs Law School; 2, Med School 2 vs Whitehead; 3, Fireballs vs Q. Hut 9; 4, Y-Cabinet vs Med School 1; 5, SAE 1 vs Kappa Psi; 6, KA 3 vs Sigma Nu 2; 7, Kap Sig 1 vs ATO 2.

TENNIS



Novice Division

4:00, Court 1, Mackie-Hanson vs Bond-Harrell; 2, Kirby-Davis vs J. Chavasse-B. Leinback; 3, Vinson-McLain vs Fleming-Hammer; 4, R. Woodson vs Grimsley; 5, Bob Williams vs Earl Fitzgerald; 6, Furches vs Swift.

5:00, Court 1, Bowman-Moore vs Merritt-Gunter; 2, Vance-Long vs Dameron-McCahan; 3, Ed Thorne vs Gene Turner; 4, Keenan-Luxenberg vs Hammerstein-Smith; 5, Geolagen-Robinson vs McColl-Watson.

OPEN HOUSE

Here's another reminder that the weekly "open house" will be held Monday evening from 7:30 to 9:00 at the Gym. The usual activities will be available and this should prove an excellent time to practice for the coming volleyball and table tennis tournaments.

CHARLIE JUSTICE is shown reeling off the yardage on a seven-yard jaunt in the first period. Bill Schroll, on the ground, is about to make the tackle. This run set up the Tar Heels second touchdown.

Devils Will Keep Victory Bell Until Carolina Defeats Duke

By Wuff Newell

As the Tar Heels scored their fifth touchdown over the battered Bengals from the Bayou State, the clang of the Duke-Carolina victory bell beat out Carolina's score for the last time until after the Duke-Carolina game.

The winner of the annual fray will have possession of the blue bell for the next year, and Carolina's Head Cheerleader Norm Sper is confident that the bell will soon be ringing again for the Tar Heels.

Although the victory bell will be gone, Carolina spirit will not be dead — especially after the arrival of the Confederate flags that were in evidence at yesterday's game. The flags and the records playing "Are You from Dixie?" must have proved to many that the Confederacy isn't dead yet.

Everyone agreed that the pregame music this week was just what was needed to stir up the spirit. Who wants to hear the fight songs of other colleges when he can hear records of such songs as "Tradition," "Tar Heels on Hand" and others?

The halftime entertainment was bigger and better than ever, with the band contributing an original all-star program saluting Tar Heels greats.

The color cards, too, were fancier than they have been in the other games. The waving American flag proved that everyone must have studied the pictures of the cards with Betty Smith in the background.

According to the northside spectators, who were the only ones that could see the display, every stunt but the ram was a success. The LSU Tiger was particularly well received by the visiting cheering section.

A new innovation, throwing the instruction cards into the air during the second half kickoff, added its share of spirit to the Tiger hunt.

Another tradition seems to have been added to the sand and the victory bell—this was the second time this season Carolina has won by a score of 34-7.

FROSH GOLFERS

All freshmen interested in trying out for the yearling golf team should meet Coach Chuck Erickson in room 304 Woollen on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Justice, Rodgers Feature Big Win

(Continued from page 1)

Two running plays failed to gain any appreciable yardage, so Justice, running to his right, dropped a pass to Bob Cox on the 14 for a first down. Choo Choo then swung out to the left, going to the 7. It took Justice only one more play to score, this time behind good blocking and a nifty change of speed. Charlie went over standing up after 6:15 of the first quarter. Cox, of course, converted.

Carolina's second TD came after an exchange of kicks gave it the ball on LSU's 42. On the first play, Justice arched an aerial to Art Weiner on the 27. Rodgers and Justice, in two line bucks, carried it to the 14. Rodgers, operating like a steam roller, piled through to the 4. On the next play he bolted straight through center for a touchdown. Cox converted but had the kick nullified by a penalty. The second try 15 yards farther back was weak. There wasn't time for another play in the quarter.

Third Quarter

There was little spectacular action in the second period, and no scoring. But the game broke loose in the third quarter. The spirited LSU team gained the ball on its own 27, and in seven plays had a touchdown. Six of the plays were consumed in runs of six to eight yards, but the payoff seventh was a scintilating 42-yard touchdown dash by Dale Gray, who proved the standout of the visitors' backfield. Gray, after apparently being stopped on the line of scrimmage, broke into the secondary, raced to his right and outran the Carolina defenders to the goal. Griffith's conversion narrowed the count to 13-7, putting LSU very definitely back into the game.

The Tar Heels struck back quickly, however. A recovered fumble by Bobby Weant on the LSU 43 started the drive. Justice lost to the 48 on a poor pass from center. But the damage was soon repaired. Choo Choo faded back, spotted Bob Cox in the right flat and let the pigskin fly. Cox gathered in the ball on the 25 and ran the rest of the way to the goal, literally running over LSU's Bill Schroll. Bob also converted the extra point, and the Tar Heels led, 20-7, midway in the third quarter.

The worst was yet to be for the Tigers, though, and Johnny Clements returned an LSU kick from his 45 to the Tiger 20. The run came after Johnny had taken a reverse from Justice. From the 20, Justice rifled an end zone pass to Clements, but it was too deep. Then Charlie spotted Ken Powell in the end zone. The throw was perfect, and Powell took it in the midst of two Tiger backs for a touchdown. Cox made good the extra point attempt, which had to be booted from the five following a penalty for taking too much time. Carolina's lead was 27-7, with 3:45 remaining in the quarter.

Weant Scores

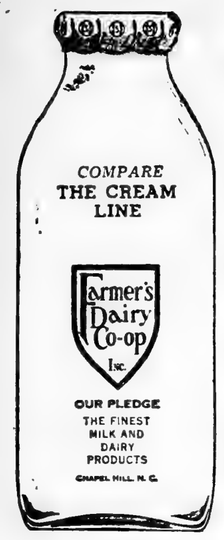
Finding the Tigers resistance weaker as the game progressed, Carolina marched to the goal again the next time it got the ball. This drive went 66 yards and was culminated by a 19-yard pass play from Rodgers to Weant, who turned in one of his best games. The pass actually was for but about five yards into the left flat. After taking the ball, Weant reversed his field to the right, crossing the goal just as he was tackled. Cox once again was faithful with the extra point to make the score. 34-7—the same margin by which the Tar Heels beat Texas.

Carolina reserves played the remaining portion of the game, and no further scoring resulted.

Blocking back Paul Rizzo's name was added to the growing list of Tar Heel injuries. Rizzo suffered a dislocated shoulder early in the third period and may be out for the remainder of the season.

Art Weiner, Carolina end, turned in one of the best catches ever seen in these parts during yesterday's game. He speared a bullet-like pass from Justice one-handed, left-handed, and in a difficult position. The play was from the LSU 22 to the 9 midway in the second quarter.

In all it was a great day for the Tar Heels, one that will enhance this university's reputation as a football Mecca.



Typing and Stenographic Service
BEGINNING OCT. 25
Mrs. G. R. Schnibben
c/o Paul Robertson's Office
Village Theater Bldg. Telephone 6576

Phone F-414
EAST FRANKLIN STREET

VILLAGE
TODAY
WALTER WANGER presents
FREDRIC MARCH
JOAN BENNETT
TRADE WINDS
MONDAY
SHE RODE TO HER DEATH . . UNTIL LOVE CALLED A HALT!

WALTER WANGER presents
JOAN BENNETT · HENRY FONDA
I MET MY LOVE AGAIN
with
DAME MAY WHITTY · ALAN MARSHAL
LOUISE PLATT · ALAN BAXTER · TIM HOLT

Fraternity Men Continue Rushing

By Faith Adams

Rushing continues to monopolize the fraternity scene this week. Preoccupied expressions on worried faces, eager smiling countenances and bored "why doesn't it all end?" looks are in evidence on both sides. However, between handshakes and pleasant queries the year-long business matters and socializing still go on.

Gene Hines was presented with a bouquet of red roses at the Kappa Alpha house last Saturday night after she had been chosen by the chapter members as their KA homecoming queen. Gene, a Tri Delt pledge, is a junior from Greenwood, S. C.

Last Saturday following the homecoming game the PiKA house was bulging with alumni. Among them were Eddie Allen, sportswriter for the Charlotte Observer and formerly on the Daily Tar Heel sports staff, Bob Quincy, sportswriter for the Rocky Hount News Telegram and Hugh Cox, football coach at Tarboro High School and formerly on the Carolina varsity football squad. PiKA's from N.C. State and their dates dropped by also for the buffet supper prepared for the visitors.

Professor Henry Brandis and Dean William Friday were guests of the Chi Phi's last Thursday night. Professor Brandis spoke on "Scholarship, Responsibility, and the Place of Fraternities in Campus Life." Another Chi Phi activity this week was a fraternity party at Lakeside Saturday night.

The Alpha Tau Omega chapter gave a cabin party last night at Crabtree for the members and their dates. Herb Gupton and his band played for entertainment. Stan Northrup was in charge of arrangements.

For the benefit of rushees and those of the brothers who were unable to see the game, the movies of the Wake Forest football game were shown at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house last week. Wednesday night the Dekes entertained Helen Bouldin, Weddy Thorp, and Gene Hines at dinner. The girls will represent the Dekes in the Yack beauty contest.

The Kappa chapter of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, reactivated last December on campus, acquired a house at 216 W. Franklin street during the summer. This week they elected new officers who are: Gilbert Furgerson, president; Jimmy Thompson, treasurer; Kemp Maser, secretary; Bill Moore, historian; Joe Melvin, warden; Bucky Horton, chaplain; and Bill Johnson, house manager.

Pi Lambda Phi newly chosen officers are: Irv Fox, president; Fred Swartzburg, vice president; Jerry Weiss, secretary; Lenny Kaplan, treasurer; Howard Fields, house manager; and Bob Kaufman parliamentarian.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

FOUR ROOM HOUSE, INSULATED, oil heat. Shower and tub, gas hot water heater, stove. Venetian blinds. Call at 178 Bagley Drive, Victory Village for information. (3-936-1)

NEW FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Rd. Ashestos shingle with picture window, hardwood floors, table-top water heater. Call 8756. (6-927-1)

ELECTRICALLY EQUIPPED HOMEMADE EAR. Length 75". Will accept any reasonable offer. On view at TEP House, 216 Rosemary. Phone 4011. (ch1x1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

MODEL "A" FORD ROADSTER, NEW top, tires, brakes, etc. Has curtains. Excellent condition. Phone F-2411 (2-941-1)

LOST 12

ONE DUMMY FROM CHI OMEGA Homecoming display. Football player with white trousers, white jersey with "2" on it, helmet. If found please return to Chi Omega house. (2-939-1)

CHANGE PURSE CONTAINING $15 and some stamps, but no identification. Will finder please contact Joy Hollander, Trailer 40. (2-940-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.—Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

Churches Have Full Schedule For This Week

CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN: At 11 o'clock today a service of rededication and commitment will be conducted. Today marks the beginning of the every-member church canvas and members will pledge money for the coming year.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Rev. Mr. Munger will deliver a dramatic story sermon on "The Eternal Goodness" which will be based on Hagar. Tuesday at 7:45 o'clock members will elect officers and transact other congregational business for this year.

METHODIST: "Communism vs Democracy" will be the topic of the Rev. Henry Ruark's 11 o'clock service today. Tonight Dr. Warren Ashby, philosophy professor, will speak on "Discovering a New Faith" at the first of a series of seminar discussions. After his talk, the students will divide into four groups to continue the discussion. Leading these groups will be Dr. Ashby, The Rev. Mr. Ruark, Kenneth Lawry, student from Cambridge, England, and Brooks Patton, Wesley Foundation student worker. Topics to be discussed in the following weeks are "Discovering Jesus Christ," "Discovering the Holy Spirit," and "Putting Christian Faith into Practice." Also tonight a Deputation team composed of Gwen Howard, Bob Bunch, Betty Crary, Sam Langell, and Ed Butler will journey over to Wake Forest where they will meet the Wesley Foundation group there.

Come Saturday night the Methodists, celebrating the true Halloween spirit, will enjoy a hayride and cabin party.

BAPTIST: Mrs. Taul B. White, Chapel Hill, will teach the 10:45 Sunday school group this morning. After Sunday school Dr. George B. Cutten, former president of Colgate University and prominent resident of Chapel Hill, will speak on "Is Christianity Rules or Principles?"

A forum discussion will be led tonight by Dr. Frank Hanft following the student supper.

Baptist students sponsor a daily ten minute devotional period in Gerrard hall at 1 o'clock. Students of all denominations are invited.

EPISCOPAL: The Rev. Mr. Yates will speak at both services today. Tomorrow night a discussion on Religion and Politics will be held at 6:30 for graduates and married students. Tuesday night the Rev. Mr. Workman will discuss the Lord's Prayer. Holy Communion will be held Wednesday at 7:30 a.m.

PRESBYTERIAN: The Rev. Mr. Jones will conduct two services today. At 11 o'clock a student class will be held in the new building.

A top-quality movie, "Beyond Our Own" will be shown at Westminister Fellowship tonight.

Married students will meet tonight in the new building.

TENN MASON

Pika Chapter Gives Honor To Tri Delt

An honorary Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl was chosen by the fraternity members for the first time in the chapter's history this fall. The honored girl is Tenn Mason, a junior at the University last year from Gastonia.

Tenn Mason, a junior at the University last year from Gastonia, has been named honorary Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl by the fraternity members.

This is the first time in the chapter history that such a title has been accorded anyone or that the tradition of chosing and presenting a Dream Girl at the annual PiKA weekend in the spring has been deviated from.

This summer Tenn, who was a Tri Delt pledge, secretary of the Women's Honor council, chairman of a YWCA committee, and a member of the last year's Yack beauty court representing PiKA, was stricken with polio. She has been in a critical condition at the Charlotte Memorial hospital for several months.

Since news of her illness reached the PiKAs they, individually and as a group, have written her and generally kept her informed as to campus news.

New Pledge Classes Take The Limelight

This week started off with a bang for the Alpha Gams. Last Sunday the local chapter entertained their patronesses and alumnae at a tea in Crystal Palace. Adding to the schedule of the busy week, the pledges gave the pledges of the other sororities a chocolate hour — the "children's Hour".

A quiz was given to each of the guests. Nancy Curtis, president of the AGD pledge class, was official hostess. At the chapter meeting Wednesday night Ruby White Arnold was elected altruistic chairman and Priscilla Moore, magazine chairman. Becky Holton has been intiated as president of the Alpha Gams. Tonight all the Carolina males are invited to a coffee hour at Crystal Palace—providing they are dating Alpha Gams.

The ADPi's are really coming in on the home streach with still another pinning. The latest was that of Pat Denning to Don Stanford, Sigma Chi. All alumni of Beta Upsilon chapter of ADPi attended a luncheon at the Carolina Inn Friday. Province president Laura Whitlarke was present for the meeting which followed the luncheon. Newly elected officers of the ADPi pledge class are Patricia Denning, president; Katherine Denning, vice-president; Jackie Sharpe, secretary; and Paggy Martin, social chairman and treasurer.

The old familiar cry of "S.O.S." is being sent out by the Chi Omega. The members say that they would appreciate any information concerning the whereabouts of the various detachable parts of their homecoming display. It seems that right after the game, someone decided that he would like to have the football shoes, jersey, and helment of one of the figures in the display to hang from a rope in the middle of said "stealer's" or "swipper's" room. Last Sunday Gay Williams and Betty Smith were formally initiated into the local chapter of Chi O. Helen Eppes was elected president of the pledge class. Other officers are: June Fleener, vice-president; Nell Lee Greening, secretary; and Mary Brown Hill, treasurer. Sunday night at 7 o'clock the regular coffee hour will be held for all Chi O's in the vicinity and their male friends and dates.

Not to be left out on the pinning, the Tri Delts announce that Candy Jonas is pinned to Joe Satherthwaite, Kappa Alpha. Congratulations!

The Tri Delt pledge class elected officers last week. They include: Gene Hines, president; Susan Trumbo, vice president; Louise Honor, treasurer; Muriel Fisher, secretary; and Patty Ann Frizell, social chairman.

The members will entertain at a tea next Thursday afternoon in honor of their new house mother, Mrs. LeVerne Drake. Another social activity they are looking forward to this week is the "get-together" party being given the North Carolina chapter by the Duke chapter next Tuesday night in the Duke chapter room.

The Birthday association of the Pi Phi house held its first celebration Wednesday night at 11 o'clock in honor of the birthday anniversary of Randy Hudson of Tarboro. Tuesday a number of alums from Raleigh came to The Hill and had lunch at the house. Lib Clinard, Katy Guion, Helen Barnes and Jane Lee Parker described the presidential motorcade they had seen Tuesday morning in the capital city. Jane Lee was proudly displaying a Kappa Sig pin, belonging to Charlie Johnson, Raleigh.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

The University Club will meet on Monday night at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge No. 2 of Graham Memorial.

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

CAROLINA - DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE ★ CHAPEL HILL
Six Miles from Chapel Hill
SUNDAY
"ONE ROMANTIC NIGHT"
with
Alan Curtis & Ilona Massey
CARTOON AND SHORT

Paint it Yourself
ONE COAT COVERS
NU-ENAMEL
NO BRUSH MARKS

for only 65c
. . . you can paint
A BRIDGE SET
or
VANITY
or
HIGH CHAIR

Color Stylist

Miss Mildred Helms, color stylist and interior decorator, representing the NU-ENAMEL Corporation, will be at Huggins Hardware Store Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week to offer free suggestions on painting and design in homes. Drop in to see her, won't you?

HUGGINS HARDWARE

Li'l Abner By Al Capp

Get up late—Breakfast at HARRY'S—ALL DAY LONG

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

Win a POSTGRADUATE COURSE IN AVIATION

PLUS AN IMPORTANT $4000-A-YEAR ASSIGNMENT

INTERVIEWING TEAM COMING SOON!

Few opportunities open to college upperclassmen can match this one! Here's a chance to get both flying and executive experience with the world's leader in Aviation—the U. S. Air Force.

If you can qualify, you join a select group of college men for 52 weeks Aviation Cadet-Pilot Training—with pay.

When you complete the course, you get your wings and a commission in the Air Force Reserve . . . up to $336 a month pay . . . a vitally important 3-year assignment as pilot with a crack Air Force squadron.

A special interviewing team will be on campus to tell you more about it and to give preliminary qualifying examinations. Stop in after class and talk it over with the pilots themselves.

If you wish, you may sign up now and finish your schooling before starting your training.

HERE ARE THE REQUIREMENTS:

You must be single, between 20 and 26½ years old, physically sound, and have at least two years of college (or be able to pass the equivalent examination administered by the interviewing team).

HERE'S WHERE TO GO FOR DETAILS:

PLACE Air ROTC Building
DATE Oct. 25–29
TIME 9:00 a.m.–4:30 p.m.

Wing your Wings with the U. S. AIR FORCE

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER

Fair and slightly warmer.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS

Reaffirm Faith
Moral for Two
Incompatible Love

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 28

New Coach Is Demanded At Carnegie

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Carnegie Tech campus was livid with painted protests today as the student body revolted against the directorship of its winless football team.

The long-smouldering student uprising erupted after the Tartans lost their 18th consecutive game last Saturday, bowing to Case, 26-20. Once a football power, Carnegie Tech hasn't won a game since 1942.

Irate students, armed with black and red paint, splashed the campus walks with foot-high protest signs and members of a student committee circulated a petition demanding the dismissal of Bill Donohoe as head coach. The petition asked that a new coach be hired and Donohoe be demoted to an assistant coaching position.

The sign painted on the sidewalk at the entrance to the administration building read: "Here lies school spirit: Born 1909, died 1939." A short distance away another said, "Down with Doherty."

Both referred to the school's sports de-emphasis policy under Tech president Dr. Robert E. Doherty. The "simon pure" athletic program was blamed for Tech's steady decline in the sports world since 1939.

Dr. Doherty said he wasn't taking the demonstrations seriously as yet. "All we need is a few victories and things will change," he said.

Two-Man Team Will Explain Cadet Program

Major Leslie McLaurin and Major James R. Wilson of the Air Force procurement program established headquarters at the Air ROTC offices in the Naval armory yesterday to explain the advantages and benefits open to college men under the Air Force aviation cadet-pilot training program.

The two-man team is here to interview all interested applicants and to accept them provisionally for the 12 month flight training course, which leads to a pilot's rating and a second lieutenant's commission with the Air Force.

Major McLaurin said, "We will accept all unmarried men between 20 and 26½ years of age, who are in good physical shape and who can meet the educational requirements for the program almost immediately. We are prepared to give them the Air Force aptitude examination here."

Successful applicants will receive their training at AF bases in Texas, Arizona and Louisiana, upon graduation they will receive a second lieutenant's commission in the Air Force reserve and aeronautical rating as pilots and will be assigned to active flying duty. Cadet classes will begin March 1, July 1 and Oct. 15 of each year. Top graduates of each class will be given direct commissions in the regular Air Force. All graduates are asked to agree to a minimum service of three years on active duty, and during that period they will all have the opportunity to qualify for a regular commission.

Law Address

During the ninth session of freshman assemblies this morning in Memorial hall students will hear Dr. Robert Wettach, dean of the university School of Law.

The speaker will be introduced by Bill Friday, assistant dean of students, and the invocation will be delivered by Hilton Seals, director of the Presbyterian Student association.

Dr. Wettach, speaking on the Law school, will outline to the freshmen the requirements and the academic program in the school.

Scott Concert Is Slated Thursday

By Margaret Gaston

Hazel Scott, nationally known Negro pianist will appear Thursday night at 8:30 in Memorial hall under the sponsorship of the Student Entertainment committee. Students must present their Identification cards at the door for admittance, Scotty Venable, chairman of the committee announced yesterday.

There are 1,850 seats available, Venable said, and students who get there first will be admitted. There are no reserved seats.

Miss Scott is a distinguished star of motion pictures, radio and nightclubs. Born in Trinidad, she came to the United States at the age of four. She made her first public appearance at 12 in a girls' band led by her Mother, Alma Scott. After four years at the Juilliard school of Music she became known on radio programs and later achieved stardom at the the Village's Cafe Society and Cafe Society Uptown in New York.

HAZEL SCOTT

The Student Entertainment series, chairmanned by Venable, has been working on an involuntary basis since last spring. It received from the student legislature $5,225, which will be used to finance a series of four or five programs. It was previously plan-

(See HAZEL SCOTT, page 4)

January Draft Quota Will Be 20,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Army today gave Selective Service orders to draft 20,000 men in January, bringing to 45,000 the number of men facing compulsory Army service during the next three months.

The Army has used the new peacetime draft act three times in its drive to build up its strength. It previously called for 10,000 in November, and 15,000 in December.

The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force again withheld any draft calls. They are reaching their authorized strength through voluntary enlistments.

The Army's 20,000 January total will be broken down into state quotas by Selective Service here. State headquarters, in turn, will issue quotas to local boards.

Yack Deadline For Sophomores Is Set Thursday

The deadline for sophomore students to have their Yack pictures taken will definitely be Thursday at 6 o'clock, Bert Kaplan, sophomore class editor announced yesterday.

In keeping with the Yack's need to meet its deadline, freshman photo appointments have been cancelled. No freshmen except those who have filled out their white photographer's cards will be allowed to pass. Fred Blair said yesterday. "There will be no last-minute exceptions," Blair said.

To reassure hesitant students who have not appeared, apparently frightened by the lines, officials promised to keep the photographers "on the job" from 9 in the morning to 6 in the evening, except for the hour between noon and 1 o'clock.

Vishinsky Casts New Soviet Veto On Berlin Crisis

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(UP)—A Russian veto tonight killed a United Nations Security council plan for ending the Berlin blockade crisis. The United States, however, kept the door open for a settlement outside the UN.

Andrei Y. Vinshinsky, casting his country's 27th veto in the Security council, killed the proposal by merely raising his hand when the vote came.

Neutral countries announced at once that they would continue their attempt to end the crisis.

Even before Vishinsky invoked the veto, American Delegate Phillip C. Jessup, knowing that he intended to do so, said:

"The three Western governments have indicated their acceptance of the principles contained in the resolution. If the government of the Soviet Union would give reciprocal assurances that the program suggested in that resolution would be carried out, it can be done."

This, authoritative Western Allied sources said, meant Jessup was offering Russia the possibility of another attempt to solve the crisis by direct negotiation outside the UN.

This may either be to follow up Jessup's offer or to take the Berlin question to the UN assembly and ask that body to condemn Russia before the world as a violator of peace.

Argentine Government Forces Retake Academy After Cadet Students Revolt

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Paraguayan national radio said tonight that government forces had recaptured the military academy, apparently ending a brief Asuncion revolt led by army cadets.

The official broadcast said the academy surrendered at 7:40 p. m,. just before the national network broadcast a message from President J. Natalicio Gonzalez warning the students that the army would "inexorably crush" their rebellion.

Gonzales ordered the cadets to "lay down their arms and abandon the camp of medition." He promised that there would be no reprisals against those who surrendered.

The radio announcement said Col. Sanchez, chief of Gonzales' personal staff, had been appointed acting head of the academy.

The broadcast gave no details of the uprising. Argentine newsmen in the Paraguayan border towns of Clorinda and Formosa reported earlier that the roar of cannon and mortars and the crack of small-arms fire could be heard from the direction of Acension throughout the day.

All telephones, telegraph and radio communication between Argentina and the Paraguayan capital was cut off for several hours.

Late today, however, Asuncion broadcast radio stations returned to the air with routine programs, making no mention of the reported uprising.

Negro Says Segregation 'Humiliating'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 25—(UP)—Negro G. W. McLaurin today told a federal district court it is "humiliating" for him to sit in a side room while attending classes at the University of Oklahoma.

McLaurin, who was admitted to O. U. two weeks ago to study for a doctor's degree in education, testified in his suit to force the university to abandon the segregation imposed on him. The Negro has been assigned a desk in a little room opening into a larger room where white students sit.

Thurgood Marshall, New York attorney, argued that when the federal court recently ruled the state's segregation laws are void as they apply to McLaurin, the university was stripped of its authority to segregate McLaurin after it enrolled him.

Marshall claimed also that any type of segregation violates the constitutional guarantee of equal educational opportunities for all people.

Marshall also asked the court to determine whether the lawsuit of Mrs. Mauderie Hancock Wilson, another Negro seeking to enter O. U., may be included in the case. The court did not act immediately on the request.

McLaurin told the three federal judges hearing the case that, "It is humiliating for me to be placed in that room."

"It handicaps me in doing effective work," he added. "I am always conscious of the segregation, and I cannot concentrate on my work as I should."

Supreme Court Rules 'Memoirs' Is Unprintable

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that Edmund Wilson's "Memoirs of Hecate County" is an obscene book and by a 4 to 4 vote upheld a New York state ban on its publication.

There was no written opinion and no indication which of the justices thought the book obscene and which disagreed.

The tribunal merely announced that the decision of the New York courts suppressing publication and circulation of the collection of short stories was "affirmed by an equally divided court."

Justice Felix Frankfurter disqualified himself from the case, but did not say why. Justice Frank Murphy is ill in Michigan and did not hear the case, but apparently voted.

Dixiecrat Chairman

Col. Phillip Finn, Jr., of Hendersonville, co-chairman of the States' Rights Democratic party of North Carolina, will deliver an address in Gerrard hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Col. Finn will appear under the sponsorship of the Young States' Righters of Chapel Hill and will be introduced by Earl Fitzgerald, chairman of the local group.

Members of the local States' Rights party expect Col. Finn to speak on principles of the States' Rights party platform and purposes of the party before and after election time.

Dialectic Senate Schedules Debate On Big Politicos

Five University students will debate the qualities of their particular presidential candidates in an open forum tomorrow night in Gerrard hall at 8:30. The program, sponsored during every presidential election year by the Dialectic senate, will feature 15-minute speeches on Truman, Dewey, Thurman, Wallace and Norman Thomas. Four of the slated speakers are members of the Senate, while a member of the Wallace club will support the candidate for the Progressive party.

Those scheduled to speak are Gran Childress, president protem of the Senate and former chairman of the Student party who will speak for President Truman; Charlie Long, co-founder of the local Republican club and head of the Carolina forum who will defend Governor Dewey and Charlie Hodgson, one of the organizers of the Dixiecrat party on campus who will speak for Governor Thurmond.

Al Lowenstein, recent delegate to the National Student association will speak for Thomas, candidate of the Socialist party.

The Wallace speaker will be announced tomorrow.

The speakers will each be limited to 15 minutes and will be open to questions from the floor. Di president Jim Southerland, who will preside at the program, stressed the point that all students, faculty members and townspeople are invited to attend the debate.

Three SP Groups To Meet Tomorrow

A joint meeting of the Student Party steering, campaign, and freshman committees will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial. All members are requested to attend.

IFC Cuts Rushing Time Short; Season Will End Thursday

Fraternity rushing will end at 10 o'clock Thursday evening, instead of extending through next Tuesday, the Interfraternity council announced last night.

IFC President Jack Thompson said the rushing period was cut short because the council felt both fraternities and rushees have had enough time to make up their minds about pledging, and it will give students engaged in rushing more time to devote to studying.

The new rushing schedule will go into effect this afternoon, informal rushing beginning at 2 o'clock and extending until 8 o'clock. Tomorrow, informal rushing will be held between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. and formal rushing will begin tomorrow night from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Thursday, informal rushing will again be from 2 to 5 o'clock with formal rushing and shake-up time from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening.

An absolute silence period will be held from 10 o'clock Thursday night until 2 o'clock the following Monday afternoon, when rushees may pick up their pledging bids at Gerrard hall. The Gerrard desk will be in operation until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Andy Cornish, head of the court of the Interfraternity council, cautioned both fraternities and rushees that any attempts to shake up new men before Thursday evening would be punished. He said the fraternity could suffer loss of pledging privileges for not more than a year or less than four months, and the rushee could lose the privilege of pledging a fraternity for a period of six months.

Registration Facilities To Be Opened Again

J. B. Johns, member of the Chapel Hill board of elections, said yesterday that persons who found the registering booth in town hall closed between the hours of 5:30 and 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon will be given another chance to register for the Nov. 2 general elections.

Johns said, however, that those persons who were unable to register Saturday will have to furnish proof that they came to the town hall during the half hour in question Saturday.

The mistake occurred as a result of signs posted by the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters proclaiming that registration would be held on two consecutive Saturdays, Oct. 16 and 23, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening.

Johns said that election rules call for the closing of registration places at the hour of sunset, which was 5:29 Saturday afternoon. He added, however, that the registrars of both north and south precincts had been instructed to remain on duty at their posts until 6 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Betsy Brunk, north precinct registrar who was on duty in town hall, said she closed registrations in compliance with election rules at 5:30 Saturday afternoon, exactly one minute past the hour of sunset.

Admiral Roper To Give Address For Navy Day

Admiral J. W. Roper, deputy chief of Naval personnel in Washington, will speak in Memorial hall tomorrow at 3 o'clock as part of the observance of Navy day, Captain D. W. Loomis, head of the Naval Science department announced today.

In conjunction with the observance of Navy day, a movie will be shown in the Naval armory from 1 to 3 o'clock. The film, entitled "Of Liberal Education" depicts the details of the current Naval college training program.

Negroes Slate Raleigh March During Assembly

RALEIGH, Oct. 25.—(UP)—A group of North Carolina Negroes will "march on Raleigh when the legislature meets" in January to ask the General Assembly to do away with "discriminatory" race laws, Kelly Alexander, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today.

Alexander said the march would be "orderly, peaceful and in keeping with the constitutional right of citizens to petition." He said the group planned to ask for a state Fair Employment Practices commission and immediate recognition of Negroes in North Carolina's policy-making bodies.

Institute Slates Three-Day Meet For Jailers Here

If you're considering robbery, house-breaking or violence of any kind in Chapel Hill this week, it might be wise to sit tight until a more opportune time.

Why? Well, it seems that the Institute of Government has scheduled a three-day course in jail management for county and city jailers throughout the state, and from all indications, the community is going to be pretty heavily populated with The Law for the next few days.

The program, which gets underway tomorrow afternoon, is the first of its kind to be sponsored by a state agency. The institute and the state Department of Public Welfare, in working out the six-session school, have arranged a number of lectures and demonstrations for the enrollees. There will be discussions on jail management and inspection, the legal rights of prisoners, sanitation problems, and a panel discussion on jail operation.

Lecturers and speakers for the series will include members of the State Bureau of Investigation, the attorney general's office and the state Department of Public Health. Albert Coates, director of the institute, will address the opening meeting.

Closing exercises will be held Friday morning when presentation of certificates will take place. The visitors will be housed at the institute barracks on the Raleigh road during their stay in Chapel Hill.

College Students Withstand Seige Over Dismissals

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Three-hundred students, including 13 coeds, barricaded themselves inside San Marcos university today as a protest against the dismissal of left-wing students and professors.

The executive council of the student federation called on students throughout the country to join the walkout, but there was no immediate indication that the strike was spreading.

Mounted police cordoned off the San Marcos university buildings, but made no effort to force the students out. Water and electric power were cut off, however.

Student sympathizers outside the university threw food packages to strikers in the windows at dusk. Girl strikers set up a kitchen in the chemistry laboratory.

The strike was called as a protest against the dismissal and in some cases the arrest of students and faculty members belonging to the left-wing People's party (APRA).

Jacques Hardre To Deliver Talk At YWCA Meet

Dr. Jacques Hardre of the University French department will tell of his experiences in France at the YWCA coffee klatsch in the Y office this evening at 7:30.

Last summer Dr. Hardre studied at the Sorbonne in Paris. While there he toured various parts of France, including Normandy, Brittany and Caen. Before he returned to the United States on Sept. 14, Dr. Hardre met another Tar Heel. Dr. James Godfrey, professor of history.

After studying in Paris until 1936, Dr. Hardre returned to this country to receive his A.B. at Guilford college in 1937, and his A.M. here in 1941. He received his Ph.D. here early in June.

Late News Bulletins

Strom Storms

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 25—(UP) — Gov. J. Strom Thurmond charged tonight that "Harry Truman, in his all-out bid for Negro votes, has gone so far as to take the unprecedented action of appointing a Negro governor of the Virgin Islands."

Off Again

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25. — (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey embarked tonight on a carefully-planned, seven-state tour which will wind up his bid for election as the Republican presidential candidate.

New Hurricane?

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Miami weather bureau today reported an "area of suspicion" in the Caribbean sea hurricane belt 150 miles southwest of Jamaica.

Wallace Demands

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Henry A. Wallace, in his major campaign speech on atomic energy, demanded today that the atom bomb be outlawed and the secrecy veiling atomic development be lifted.

Anti-Red Fight

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(UP)—More than 30,000 French troops and Republican guards with orders to shoot if necessary stormed into strike-bound coal mines in the North France "Red Belt" today in the government's biggest post-war operation against Communist-led labor.

Consolidation

NANKING, China, Oct. 25. — (UP) — President Chiang Kai-Shek's battered northeastern troops were reported abandoning all Manchuria today in line with American suggestions that the government consolidate its positions south of the Great Wall in China proper.

Still at It

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 25.—(UP) — Arab hit-and-run bombers raided the Haifa bay area today and an Egyptian army communique said Jewish forces attacked Arab positions near Beit Jibrin, 12 miles northeast of Hebron.

Charlotte News, Backing Gov. Dewey, Supports Democratic State Nominees

CHARLOTTE, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The Charlotte News, which broke a 60-year-old tradition by endorsing GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey last week, today gave "enthusiastic" support to Southern Democrats on the congressional and state level.

"The regional problems peculiar to the South will be more safely handled by the experienced, qualified Democratic congressmen and senators who have served the area so well in the past," the News said in an editorial.

"With a Republican administration and Congress in prospect, it is even more imperative that the South continue its congressional affiliation with the Democratic party until such time as the party can reorganize, restore harmony and good feeling, and begin to move forward once again."

The editorial specifically praised Democratic Senator-Nominate J. Melville Broughton, Governor-Nominate Kerr Scott, and Rep. Hamilton Jones, who is seeking re-election, adding:

"Throughout the list of local, state and congressional offices, the Democratic party is offering men in whom the voters can place their trust."

The afternoon paper's endorsement of the Dewey-Warren presidential slate last week was the first time since the News began publication 60 years ago that it gave opposition to the Democratic slate.

Wider Street

According to a resolution adopted by the Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen at a special meeting Friday night, Kenan street, which connects Cameron avenue and West Franklin street west of the bus station will be widned five feet on either side. An additional five feet will be left for sidewalks.

Mayor R. W. Madry said that the adoption grew out of a request for a permit to erect a building at the corner of Kenan and West Franklin street. The new building, which is being built by Brack Creel, is to be a resturant.

Moral For Two

Signs prepared by the Chapel Hill league of women voters were posted around town for the last two weeks informing the local citizenry when and where they should register to vote. The signs said registration would take place in the town hall on Saturdays between the hours of nine in the morning and six in the evening. When a few would-be voters showed up at the registrar's office late on the final day of registration last Saturday, they found that the registrar had left at 5:30 instead of the advertised 6 o'clock. According to Betsy Brunk, Chapel Hill registrar, the elections rules state that registration shall end at sundown—and sundown came at 5:29 last Saturday.

Moral of this story comes in two installments: (1) A great many people should know more than they do about registration and election procedure, and (2) never put your business off until the last minute, because the last minute may be earlier than you think.

Re-Affirm Our Faith

Sunday was United Nations day. All over the world men and women paused in their worship to pray earnestly that it shall succeed and "save the succeeding generations from the scourge of war."

In Paris, the delegates from 58 nations looked back on their work. Representatives of nation after nation voiced the opinion that despite the obstacles encountered so far, the United Nations had accomplished many of the objectives it had set out to do. Besides the success the United Nations had with its many agencies who have kept moving in their work to better world conditions in Health, Economics and Human Rights, The United Nations has become the greatest symbol of all nations for Peace.

This symbol, The United Nations, has for its base the power of world opinion. The peoples of the world are determined to live up to the words contained in the preamble to the United Nations Economic and Social Council . . . "that since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed."

There is hope indeed, when the delegates of one of the Big Five can say that "Our nation is unified in the belief in the United Nations." The American people heard Mr. Dulles reaffirm the non-partisan, and bi-partisan stand of our nation, and knew that this nation will not give up the fight for peace through peaceful means.

Despite this hopeful note, the delegates are well aware of the Berlin crisis and other blocks still in the path to peace. They are "prayerful" in their determination that Russia will bow to the will of the majority. And the majority opinion is unified as expressed by U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin who said, "There will be peace, because this time we are making it perfectly clear in advance that we are not willing to submit to extortion as the price for peace."

The leaders, we the people have sent to the United Nations to represent us, are determined to do their best for us. Although United Nations day has passed, we the people must reaffirm our faith in them and in that re-affirmation we shall have renewed our faith in the United Nations.

—L.K.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: LincolnKan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sport Staff: Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Wuff Newell, Chan Barksdale, Zane Robbins, Frank Allston.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

GOOD SAMARITAN. Never let it be said that there aren't a few kind hearts left in this cold, dark world. You've just gotta' know the right folks—namely Jim Martin. He can pop up at the most opportune times with cokes!

HOW'S COME nobody has called on Sound and Fury for talent shows? Jerry Weiss seems quite perturbed that the various organizations on campus aren't taking the group up on its offer to put on half-hour performances—for gratis.

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS. Coeds, in case you fellows haven't heard, have a mighty convenient, little system of getting to know each other namely by being roommates for a night. You never know whose head you might wake up and find on the pillow across the room, come these football week-ends. It's fine, though, as long as somebody like Sandra Sisk gets thrown out on her ear by a visitor and takes off to another room with her toothbrush and blanket.

FALLING LEAVES. The leaves in the western part of the state weren't the only ones admired last week-end, say the boys who went over to WC for the senior dance. Fr'instance, Jack McKeel tells us that both the autumn decorations and the seniors looked mighty good.

WHO DAT? Graham Memorial frequenters were more than somewhat disappointed last week when they found out that the "new coeds" were wives of law students here for a tea. Guess it was pretty tough when tea-timers with looks like Sarah Gardner came walking in.

TIED AND TRUE. Some folks get pinned; others get plied; and still others get tied. That's all well and good as long as the girl doesn't happen to get tied with a fellow's roommate's favorite tie. Just ask Phil Atkinson where he's going to get Jim Covington another green one with bird dogs on it.

STUMPING FOR KNOWLEDGE? Just hope everybody was as well impressed as we were last Saturday when John Stump trotted off with his books to study immediately after the game.

JUST WHEN is Bob Haire going to call a meeting of the Carolina-Winston-Salem club. Folks keep asking that question but never seem to get any kind of answer. Best they start fattening the turkey for another Thanksgiving dance like the one that went over with such a bang last year.

ZOOT SUITS, we fear, are coming back into being again. At least that's what we'd say after taking one shocked look at Miles Rooney Smith's new blue pants. But we must admit, they really do look pretty good.

SEEMS LIKE OLD TIMES to have Tarzan whooping away with the cheerleaders again. That figure plus that voice make a combination that just can't be beat at any football game.

IT MUST BE A GREAT LIFE to have a girl as swell as Betty Jean Sanders as close as Greensboro. Fact is, it's so good that Guy McFarland trots off to see her on a football week-end. But, then, you really can't blame him.

IN TOWN:

HOMECOMING has been the order of the day at the News Bureau these past couple of weeks. First it was Mary Grace Queen, alumna who is now knocking out copy for the Shelby Star. And last week it was Tom and Evelyn Bost. Tom, who is now publicity director at Wake Forest, worked with the News Bureau for over five years when he was in school here; and Evelyn was a member of the South building troops.

Looks Like the Score Was Against Him

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Republican Report

Incompatible Love Affair

By Russell G. Baldwin

This column apologizes for its late arrival upon the political scene. However, after viewing the quality of the columns set forth by other political groups on campus, it feels that its absence has contributed no less to the students' knowledge of the political issues confronting the nation than have the aforesaid columns.

The above statement is not intended as a sly thrust at the oppostion political groups on campus. It is merely a frank statement of ungentle fact. Furthermore, it exemplifies the purpose which this column shall strive diligently to serve. That purpose might best be communicated in terms of an old adage: "Knowledge s the key to wisdom."

The national political picture has been clear for almost a year now. Even before the first primaries were held, it was evident that the American people had had more than enough of the bungling of Harry Truman. His protests that he didn't want to be president drew no end of sympathy to him but relieved him of none of the responsibility of the high office for which he was, and is, so ill-fitted.

It is a foregone conclusion that the White House will be manned for at least the next four years by a Republican staff. However, the fight for control of the senate is bitter and promises to be close. The prospects for a Republican majority are slightly better than 50-50 at present. If a Democratic senate were elected, it would be a profound and world-shaking tragedy. The times are too perilous, the need for unity of purpose and action too great, for such a schism in the national government to safely exist for the next four years.

The political picture in North Carolina, and throughout the South, is tragicomical. It reminds one of the incompatible lovers. The story goes like this:

There were two trusting sisters who loved two not-so-innocent brothers and thought the men loved them. As the love affairs progressed, it became obvious that the girls loved deeper than did the men. The girls became worried and didn't know quite what to do. At first they tried withholding their love, but the men didn't seem to mind too much. They became angry and scolded the men, but that didn't help either. The situation became desperate so the girls held a council of war to decide what to do. Before this they had always acted together, but now they couldn't agree. One of them committed suicide, figuring that was the only way out. The other one ran to her lover and begged to be his slave again. Oddly enough, it never occurred to either of them that there were more than two men in the world.

In other words,—for the benefit of those readers not familiar with southern politics—the Dixiecrats committed political suicide. The other southern Democrats, for the most part, went bleating back to the Democratic sheep-pen. The former demonstrated courage, the latter spinelessness; but neither gave any indication of possessing intelligence. Fortunately, many Southerners realize that the universe doesn't revolve about the Democratic party and are going Republican.

Only with the establishment of a real two-party system in the South will the South ever again assume a decisive role in American politics. The Democratic party in the South is a party of old, backward-looking men. Only by accident does a young man win a high public office while he is young enough to serve it well. The remains of the few young men who have had the courage to attempt it are scattered along the political wayside. The Democratic machine in the South is not noted for its accidents, but rather for its smooth efficiency in stifling southern leadership.

Chollie's Follies

Capering Around Campus

By Charlie Gibson

TOUSHAY for TODAY: Did you know that, with the exception of world War II, all the United States' wars have started in April and have had a Negro as their first casuality?

CHEERS and JEERS: The IFC handbook that freshmen use for reference during the fraternities' "Yoohoo, Who You?" daze is a first-rate publication. Its modestly unnamed editor is John Stump . . . Although the pep rallies Sperheaded this year are excellent, attendance is lagging. Why not reorganize the impressive torchlight parades that gave Tar Heel spirit a king-sized hotfoot last year? . . . Let's have Lucille Arnott, songbird cheerleader, lead as much of the gametime singing as possible from now on, too. It seems W. C. plans a dance double-header Saturday for Carolina freshmen. While the Freshman Council (composed of first year students themselves) sponsors a supper and dance among the WCuties. Bill Miller's hard-working orientation committee will try to stage some sort of shindig in the very next room. When freshmen develop leadership and take the initiative in doing things for themselves, why not co-operate and unleash the upper-classmen's well-meant stranglehold?. . . How come entries in this year's Yack beauty contest were photographed even from the back of their head? No insult meant about the best possible view, was there?

UNCenery: Bill Watson, Dick Bilger, and John Merritt have a novel cure for Old West's architect's failure to foresee the advent of coeds. If a petticoated peeker gazes into this trio's room on street level along one of the main mudwalks here, she is greeted by a cardboard skeleton dangling on the windowscreen and holding a card reading "Boo!". . . Since Corline Grimsley has gotten lazy enough to wear a blouse announcing her first name repeatedly, why doesn't she save herself a lot more talking and have a skirt embroidered with her slogan: "Have you seen 'Duda'?". . . Sam Bradshaw and some dormmates over in Mangum recorded their recent shmooperation on film. A "shmooperation," it seems is the birth of the shmoos used in Mangum's homecoming decorations. The pictures of a white-robed "medico" handling Clapp's versatile chaps are hilarious, especially the one showing a shmoo being burped.

HAPS and MISHAPS: Al Lowenstein. Spokesman sitting in on a CP meeting, was temporarily stumped when the opposition party passed a hat to boost its campaign funds. Al thought a minute and then good-naturedly "threw in his two cents worth"—a sure enough pair of Lincoln coppers. . . The YWCA has organized civic-minded coeds into a free baby sitting squadron eager to answer calls from any student family. The "B.S." ers are headed by Jane Castevens, and there is only one hitch so far. Jane has not yet had a baby to be tended. She is still just expecting. . . Recently David Littlejohn, a new member of the student legislature, was introduced to a "Dean Weaver." Dave commented rather freely on the University situation at present and then was mortified to be told afterwards that he had been chatting with the dean of students. "Gosh, that guy Weaver looked so young that I just thought his first name was Dean."

Write Away

Toward What End?

Editor:

Frequently, I have asked friends and classmates the question; "What are you getting out of college?" The answers include; "good times," "That ole talking 'sheepskin'," "seventy-five bucks per from Uncle Sam," and "Who ME?" Rarely does the reply betray a sincere quest for knowledge and understanding. When a student does show these signs of scholarly enthusiasm, it is only for the brief period during which he is in general college. Almost inevitably the "intellectual fire" is thoroughly quenched by the time the student becomes an upperclassman. No upperclassman could reasonably deny that this transition to intellectual nostalgia is a "norm" here at the university.

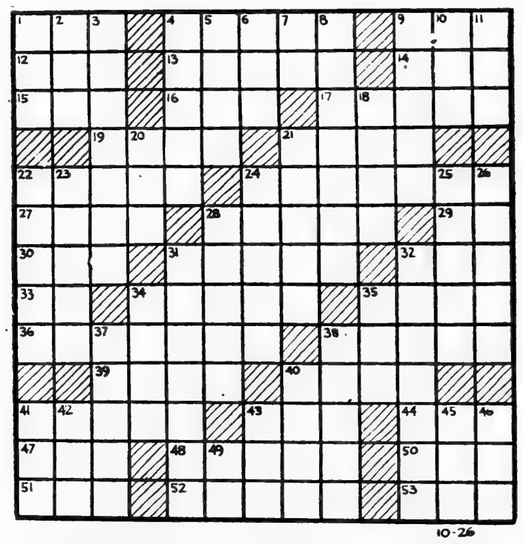
Nature at this institution truly suffers a delusion; for, as animals who's heritage it is to think, many of us are living the hypocritical life. As the "select" group of our society we have a responsibility. In choosing the course of higher learning we have chosen to bear a larger portion of the weight of the world on our shoulders. Some of us are shirking that responsibility. Some of us are unaware.

Today the classes will be full. Each student will rise roboticalally from his place of rest to begin a day of study. A large mass of human protoplasm will stir with rythmic motion to the strains of a bell that hangs in the loft of South Building. What purpose lies behind such mass endeavor? It's been going on a long time now. I think we have a right to know. —B.F.

Wallace Is Right

Editor:

It is common for the press to dismiss the platform of the Progressive party as the views of the extreme left. It is apparent that people accept the dogma of the press without critical analysis. From a worldwide view, the views of Henry Wallace are in truth right, not left, of center.



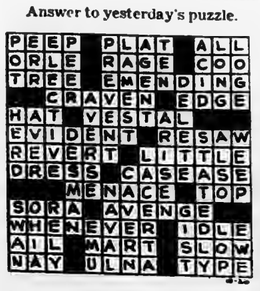
Socialists and the Communists would have us go the whole way to a nationalized economy. Republicans and Democrats would hold on to "free enterprise." Henry Wallace says that to the extent that some of our enterprise is not "free" in the competitive sense of the word, we should admit the death and hold the funeral.

Wallace made the statement here in Chapel Hill in speaking of the dangers of monopoly control that "the heart of the problem today in every great nation of the world is to give the government power to serve the general welfare efficiently. In many foreign nations the need is so great that they have forgotten all about democracy. In the United Nations we demand above everything that the general welfare be served by the strengthening of democracy not the weakening of it. Here in the United States at the moment, we have by far the best opportunity to work out an economic democracy which can serve as a model for the entire world."

It is in the economic realm that the Progressive party most often is accused of operating in liaison with the Communist party. How strange this is when we read from a speech by William Z. Foster, the chairman of the Communist party of the United States "The Progressive party is in no sense a communist party. While supporting its program of people's demands we Communists have many points of difference. The most important of these is that while leaders in the Progressive party believe the badly crippled world capitalist system can be saved and transformed into "Progressive Capitalism" we Marxist-Leninists do not. Capitalism historically is on its way off the world stage."

Wallace does not accept the last statement as inevitable. But with Roosevelt he believes "the liberty of a democracy is not safe if the people tolerate the growth of private power to a point where it becomes stronger than the democratic state itself. That, in its essence, is fascism."

Aubrey Williams Jr.



10-26

HORIZONTAL
1. eccentric wheel-part
4. adhere closely
9. Oriental tea
12. salutation
13. networks
14. youth
15. light brown
16. S-shaped worm
17. South American cameloid ruminant
19. allowance for waste
21. design
22. sign of zodiac
24. consecrates
27. crucifix
28. equipments
29. negative
30. electrified particle
31. salty
32. equivalence
33. street (abbr.)
34. frolicsome act
35. recent
36. catching sight of
38. heads
39. formerly
40. nobleman
41. mark of omission
43. pithy saying
44. doctrine
47. fourth caliph
48. climbing plant
50. palm leaf
51. Babylonian god
52. animal fat
53. god of war

VERTICAL
1. feline
2. topaz humming bird
3. speak of
4. Algonkian Indians
5. for fear that
6. possessive pronoun
7. symbol for nickel
8. balcony
9. tribes
10. son of Noah
11. feminine name
18. maiden
20. primary color
21. support
22. get up
23. implants firmly
24. conscious existence
25. growing out
26. afflictions
28. cede
31. seta
32. defender of popular liberty
34. pile of combustibles
35. former New Guinea base
37. danger
38. an apostle
40. corn bread
41. public vehicle
42. malt drink
43. small rug
45. cunning
46. deface
49. exists

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Football Team, Harriers Drill For Tennessee

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

The State of the Union

WITH THE FOOTBALL SEASON now over five weeks of age the time has come when the men are being separated from the boys and the men are starting to talk to other men on the subjects of women, dogs, and bowls. All three, like football, make delightful conversation.

The Tar Heels from the view of optimists, can do no with the general opinion being that the local football congregation is not as yet that close to being home free. The road to the end of rainbow and its pot of bowls gets rougher and rockier each week, leaving one to wonder if anyone will even care about a post-season game if post-season ever comes.

The Tar Heels from the view of optimist, can do no worse than break even for the year with the first act of the season unblemishly standing behind them. Of the quintet of contests remaining, the locals should win two—William and Mary and Virginia—with the trio of Tennessee, Maryland and Duke casting shadows of doubts on even the sunniest of Carolina followers.

A Bunch of Comers

TENNESSEE, WHO HAS BEEN moving up and down like the hills it resides in, will be the next feature attraction and the Vols, bless their souls, have already announced that they will beat the Tar Heels. Major Bob Neyland is a man noted for keeping his word or words in this case. On top of this, if you are superstitious, count the Tar Heels out of the show, for they are seeking their 13th game in a row and haven't beaten the Tennesseans in Knoxville in 13 years. Mirrors should be handled with care.

The Vols, say the clippings, have come a long way down the football trail since tying Duke, 7-7, in the second week of the season. Last week they trampled Tennessee Tech, whose only claim to fame is that they play Tennessee once a year, by some 40 points which proves nothing except that they won by 40 points. They will bear the watching some 52,000 fans will afford them this weekend.

The Tar Heels touristed to Knoxville only two years ago to meet a stronger Vol team than is currently billed, and came back from them hills with their only unkind comment of the season, a 20-14 defeat. That was the Sugar Bowl year.

The Worriers

IT WILL BE ARGUED, but it looked a lot as if the Tar Heels were talked out of that game that day. They were all but told that Tennessee would beat them and had the misfortune to believe this tale of woe until late in the second quarter. As was they almost made it back from the dead. Which proves you can worry the poor fellows to death if you don't watch out.

The Tar Heels have had their scares for the season, notably State college, which did everything legally possible to hurt the Carolina feelings for one half, but score a touchdown. A lesson, if needed or not, was learned that day which the elephant-like Tar Heels should not be soon to forget.

One of the greatest prerequisites of a good football fan is a little faith in ye old team. If you don't believe in them, they will never find the nerve to believe in themselves. Too many Carolina followers today aren't just satisfied with winning. Said fans should remember that the Tar Heels like any athletes, are playing primarily for self-satisfaction with the fans a secondary frame of mind. The game, according to the good book, still belongs to the players. It might be well to let them play it.

With the Field

WITH THE REST OF THE CAROLINA opponents to come, the story is sometimes good and sometimes bad. Neighboring Duke had a tough time last week with the Gobblers of VPI who really knew how to talk defensive turkey. They face a nasty game against Tech this weekend which will make them or break them for at least a week. Duke must have something to have come as far as they have, though their real touch slips the eye if not the ear.

The Dukes, with a list of injuries that stretches from Durham to Chapel Hill, should make quite a last ditch stand against the Tar Heels, whose own list stretches back again, when the two stroll together in late November. Carolina's game the week before in Washington is being advertised as an outing, but it won't be in the nature of a picnic. Maryland, nudged only by Duke, continues to look healthier and to be digging a bigger hole in which the Tar Heels may tumble. Tatum and TNT have two things in common: the two "Ts" and their explosive nature.

William and Mary, beaten by St. Bonaventure, is still waiting for the Clouds to roll by. Virginia, a good little team, is just that. The three-two pitch is coming the way of the Tar Heels with three battles and two spats to go. One hopes winning has become a habit with the Tar Heels.

Rizzo is Latest Addition to List Of Grid Injuries

With five down and five to go, Carolina's footballers turned eyes and thoughts to Knoxville yesterday afternoon to begin another hard week of practice for an equally strenuous game to come.

There was no rest for the weary as Coach Carl Snavely put his charges through the paces with which he hoped to reply to the recent Volunteer statements that "we will beat Carolina."

One Less

And there was one less Tar Heel available yesterday than had been there the week before. Paul Rizzo, who has had bad luck with injuries during his entire grid career at Carolina, is out for probably the season with another ailment—this time a shoulder dislocation.

This came as quite a blow to the Tar Heels who lost their starting blocking back, Don Hartig, in the Georgia clash at Athens. Bobby Weant and Eddie Knox are the experienced hands ready to do extra duty. Bob Reynolds, a former jayvee star, broke into the lineup at the quarterback spot last Saturday late in the game and may see more action this week.

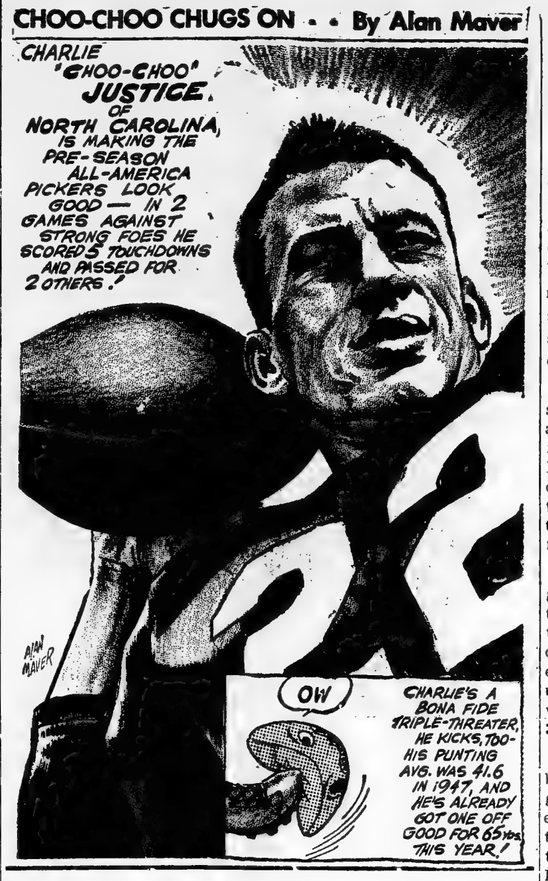
With the exception of Rizzo, most of the Tar Heels are pretty well intact. There are still a lot of colds and bruises among the team especially up front, but all hope to be in top form for the invasion of the Tennessee hill country.

Question Mark

The big question mark is whether or not Ted Hazelwood, Tar Heel tackle who accidentally shot himself a week ago, would be back in uniform for Saturday's game. His return would strengthen the line and allow more relief at the tackle position. His condition is currently unannounced.

Yesterday's practice session was a usual Monday workout with the Tar Heels being introduced to Tennessee plays and last Saturday's mistakes being ironed out. Heavy work scheduled for this afternoon.

Tar Heel Harriers To Run Saturday



While their football brothers were preparing for an expected tough game with Tennessee, the cross country team was also making ready for Tennessee this Saturday. Coach Dale Ranson and his crew will accompany the Tar Heel gridders to Knoxville for a meet on the morning of the game.

Fresh from a 21-35 win over the North Carolina State harriers after two previous losses, the Carolina distance runners will take a strong eight man travelling team over the nearby mountains.

Captain Julian MacKenzie, Sam Magill and Frank Hooper, who finished in a three-way tie for first in the State meet give Carolina an excellent one-two-three punch to throw at the Volunteer runners. Last year the Tennessee lads gave Coach Ranson's boys a rough time on the local course before finally bowing to the locals.

Magill, who also notched first places when the Tar Heels bowed to Navy and Virginia Tech, has turned in some very good performances to date.

CHOO-CHOO CHUGS ON . . By Alan Maver

Weiner's Ground Gain Tops; Fans Applaud Great Catch

RALEIGH, N. C. Oct. 25—(UP)—The best yard-gobbling average on the unbeaten North Carolina football team belongs not to brilliant triple-threater Charlie Justice nor to line-busting Hosea Rodgers.

The highly respectable figure of 8.8 yards per carry belongs to—well, whaddaya know—one of the boys from the forward wall.

About once in every game the fans and the opposition see the ball snapped to a North Carolina back who charges into the line. And here comes Art Weiner out of nowhere.

A big left end has no business roaming through his own backfield while a play is starting. But there is a swift bit of precision magic and the enemy linemen find that the man they are stopping doesn't have the ball. Art Weiner has the ball, and he's skirting the end on his way downfield, 205 pounds of beef in a hurry.

This shenanigan took 19 yards away from the LSU Tigers before they figured out what Weiner was doing. It's only been pulled five times this year, but for most important yardage.

Last year Weiner's end-around magic clicked ten times for an average of 8.6 yards—again the best rushing average on the team.

Big Art's talent in this freak maneuver is a valuable North Carolina asset. But he is a migraine headache to the enemy on any offensive play in the more orthodox functions of an end.

For confirmation, consult LSU. Three plays after his end-around rang up 19 yards, Weiner went downfield under a pass from Justice. Two husky LSU defenders thundered between him and the ball. Weiner stuck his hamlike left hand out beyond them at waist level, stopped a ten-yard bullet pass at arm's length, and hauled it in one-handed.

Weiner teams with right end Bob Cox North Carolina a pair of the top terminals in the conference on offense. On defense, under Coach Carl Snavely's two-team system, they give way to Ken Powell and Mike Rubish, or possibly Joe Romano and Max Cooke. North Carolina has fine ends like Eisenhower has medals.

Weiner, a 24-year-old from Newark, N. J., scored in his first play in a college game. That was in 1946 against Virginia Tech. He scored four times in his first season. Last year, as a sophomore, He caught 19 passes for 396 yards, besides his brisk business on end-around plays. He was first-string end on the United Press All-Southern conference team.

Monogram Meeting

There will be a Monogram meeting at the clubhouse tonight at 7:30 at which time pictures for the Yack will be taken.

All active and inactive members are requested to be on hand for the meeting and to wear white shirts, ties, and monogram sweaters.

Soccer Reserves Look Impressive In Four Contests

By Larry Fox

In addition to providing Carolina's booters with their second win of the current campaign to go with their one loss and tie decision, last week's 3-0 win over Virginia showed that although many regulars from this year's soccer outfit will be gone next season, the reserves will have enough strength to carry on.

Three boys especially, who got starting chances against the Cavaliers looked very good; displayin both hustle and skill. John Langley, who had played a great deal as a substitute, got his chance to open at the inside left position and scored the Tar Heels' final goal of the contest.

Bob Lyons started his first game for the Blue and White in the right halfback slot and distinguished himself on defense as did Buck Blankenship, who opened at fullback. All three showed up very well against High Point when Carolina was held to a 3-3 tie last week.

Coach Marvin Allen sent everybody into the game against Virginia and although lacking in experience, the reserves were able to fight the Cavaliers on even terms, holding the visitors scoreless. Among others, Joe Dorsett, Bob Plumb and Jake Pfautz played a good game in the second half.

While talking about the future, one can't forget the Tar Babies' 1-0 victory over Duke. Several of the yearlings showed that they will be fighting for starting berths with the varsity eleven next year.

The varsity has a few off days now before it embarks on its trip through Virginia to meet Roanoke and Washington and Lee on Thursday and Friday.

Scheduled Today

TENNIS

4:00—Court 1, Haroutunian vs Williams: 2, Young vs Merritt; 3, Robertson vs Yancey; 4, Venable vs Mackie.

5:00—Court 1, Tuck vs Bowman; 2, Carson vs McColl; 3, Keenan vs H. Bowman.

FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1, Stacy vs Old East; 2, Emerson vs Ruffin; 3, AROTC 1 vs Town; 4, Mangum vs Stanley St.; 5, Wesley Rocks vs A Dorm; 6, Mud Dob. vs C Dorm; 7, Willer vs Aycock.

5:00—Field 1, Q H 356 vs Everett 1; 2, Manley vs Nash; 3, Oakwood Dr. vs Termites; 4, Phi Kap Sig vs Zeta 1; 5, PiKa vs Sigma Chi; 6, St. Anth. vs Beta 2; 7, Phi Delt 1 vs Chi Phi 2.

Murals Open Third Week With Three Overtime Games

Yesterday's Intramural tag football competition was highlighted by a number of well played games, including three overtime thrillers, as teams opened their third week of play.

Only three games took place in the fraternity division, with Kappa Sig 1 eking out a 1 to 0 overtime decision over ATO 2, and SAE 1 blanking Kappa Psi, 6 to 0, on Dyke Peeple's second half tally. Tommy Foister's TD gave KA 3 a 6 to 0 win in a close tilt with Sigma Nu 2, while the Phi Gam 2 gridders were handed a 1 to 0 forfeit award by AEPi.

Seven of the ten losers in the dormitory leagues received only goose eggs for their trouble. Faucette of the Bombers and Cornwell of Alexander scored six pointers in one of the afternoon's best tilts, but the Alexander aggregation went on to gain the most yardage in overtime play, for a 7 to 6 victory. The Termites outlasted Miller 7 to 6, in another overtime scrap, with Durpree of the Termites and Owens of Miller swapping touchdowns. Center Steve Kinney scored twice as Lewis trounced BVP, 33 to 0, and Jack Strafford hit pay dirt twice in leading the Fireballs to a 32 to 0 whitewashing of Quonset Hut 9.

Second Half passes to Burroughs, Tetherow, and Sigman gave Law School a 19 to 0 victory over Aycock. Jack Hobbs accounted for all of his team's points as Everett 1 stopped Nash, 13 to 0. Jack Swift's two first half touchdowns got the Med School 1 gridsters off to a good start as they posted an 18 to 0 win over the Y Cabinet, while Med School 1 was defeated by Whitehead by the same score. Tom Bethune's safety was all that was needed, but Gerald Allen added a TD for good measure as C Dorm shut out Manley, 8 to 0.

INTRAMURAL COUNCIL

There will be a meeting of the Intramural Council on Thursday evening October 28, 1948 at 7:30.

Jug Demonstrates

"Jug" McSpaden, former golfing great, held a 90-minute demonstration and lecture session in Woollen gym for the benefit of local golfing enthusiasts yesterday afternoon. McSpaden inaugurated the session by showing a 25-minute golfing film that depicted America's top pros in action.

After the movie McSpaden lectured on proper stance, grip, and other fundamentals of the game. Selection of proper clubs for the individual was also among the numerous topics discussed by the ex-pro.

A short period devoted to the answering of questions closed out the session.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

An unanticipated large turnout has necessitated the extension of Fall Archery deadline to Wednesday, October 27. The Intramural Department has prolonged this qualification period so that all that have expressed an interest in this activity may compete.

All equipment may be checked out of the basket room on any of these three extra days from 4 to 6 o'clock and the scoring will be done on the East end of Fetzer field.

It's another wonderful comedy.. ... with that ever lovin' Leo McCarey touch!

RAINBOW PRODUCTIONS, INC. presents
GARY COOPER
ANN SHERIDAN
in LEO McCAREY'S
"GOOD SAM"
with RAY COLLINS—EDMUND LOWE
JOAN LORRING—CLINTON SUNDBERG
—Also—
LATEST NEWS
TODAY
VILLAGE

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

TUXEDO RENTALS
It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.
Lewis' State College
RALEIGH
HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

PLEATED BIRDS' EYE TUXEDO SHIRTS.....$5.50
SEE
These Outstanding Values at
Milton's Clothing Cupboard

Norris Casual Button Down Sport Shirts	4.95 & 5.95
Genuine Cordovan Leather Lined Shoes	15.95
New Skipper Blue Covert H. Pants	11.95
All Wool Grey Flannel Slacks	7.95
Platinum Gray Corduroy Coats	17.50
Double Breasted Tuxedos	44.95
Basket Weave Shirts by Donegal	3.95

219 E. Franklin Street
ACROSS FROM GRAHAM MEMORIAL
NEXT TO THE VILLAGE APARTMENTS

SURPLUS
PORTABLE MICROSCOPES
We offer a limited quantity of surplus portable microscopes for sale. These are all new, in original cartons and are offered at a fraction of original cost.
Specifications: Overall height 8 inches, turret with three different powers. Will accept auxiliary eye-piece for higher powers desired. Fully adjustable on tiltback base. Optical system: pitch-polished lenses.
These portable microscopes are offered subject to prior sale on the following terms: Price $9.00, includes shipping and packing charges. Check or money order should be sent with your order or $2.50 deposit, the microscope to be sent C.O.D. for balance. Any check received after quantity has been sold will be returned promptly.
Gibson Page Co. Inc.
Dealers in War Surplus
BOX 1130, ROCHESTER, 2, N. Y.

for the BOLD LOOK

New wide spread VAN HEUSEN with "Comfort Contour" collar.

Bold is the word: for the low-setting, wide-spread soft collar with stays to keep it lying flat . . . for the half-inch stitching on the collar . . . on the extra wide center pleat . . . on the cuff. Lab-tested, Sanforized broadcloth, in white and smart new solid colors $3.95.
Other Van Heusen shirts $3.50, $3.95, $4.95.
You'll find college men's collar favorites in Van Heusen shirts
the world's smartest
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.
"VAN HEUSEN" IS A TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

Truman Says GOP Contains 'Hitler-Like' Reactionaries

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.— (UP) — President Truman charged tonight that the Republican party contains "powerful reactionary forces" of the same type that raised Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo to power.

He added that the GOP showed signs of following the line of these forces.

The president delivered a major address at Chicago stadium, the scene of his vice-presidential nomination in 1944 which catapulted him into the White House less than a year later.

He will be followed in the stadium tomorrow night by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as both major party candidates swing into the final week of their campaigns.

Mentioning no names, the president said the "powerful forces" he meant fell into three groups:

1. "The men who want to see inflation continue unchecked."

2. "The men who are striving to concentrate great economic power in their own hands."

3. "The men who are stirring up racial and religious prejudice against some of our fellow Americans."

Each of these groups, he charged, is "working through the Republican party," and constitutes a greater threat to the future than the "Communist minority" or the "crackpot forces of the extreme right wing."

Earlier in the day he accused Republicans of joining hands with the "Communist-inspired" third party to beat him in the November elections.

Dewey, Family Will Cease to Be Free From Time Returns in if He's Elected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—If Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is elected president of the United States a week from tomorrow, he and his family will cease to be "free" from the moment the returns are in.

Tough, alert U. S. Secret Service agents will be waiting at his headquarters in New York to take over the responsibility for his safety.

From then on, he never will be out of their sight except in the privacy of his own home.

They will "cover" him every time he moves out of doors, even if it's only to take a walk. Whenever he goes visiting, appears on a public platform or attends the theater, they will be hovering unobtrusively nearby to guard against any attempt on his life.

Mrs. Dewey will get the same super-protection. And the Secret Service probably will have agents to accompany Dewey's two sons to school and even look out for his mother in Owosso, Mich.

–Hazel Scott to Sing Here–

(Continued from page 1)

ned that the entertainment committee work with the North Carolina Symphony society in bringing entertainment on campus. This plan was cancelled because the N. C. Symphony are coming here on subscription basis and will be available to students that way.

The committee, made up of four students and three faculty members, have scheduled three other concerts for the year. They are making plans for another program, Verable said. Norman Cordan, head of the North Carolina Music foundation, is an honorary member of the committee.

At the first session of the Student Legislature this fall, the legislators voted to pay in full the amount Graham Memorial loaned the entertainment committee last year when it was in debt while working on a voluntary basis. The committee is now functioning under an involuntary basis to avoid getting in debt in the future by running the series on a financially sound basis.

Jan. 11, the committee will sponsor the Music Theater Repertory opera, "The Telephone" and "Old Maid and the Thief." On March 28, they have scheduled Charles Weidman and his Dance Ensemble to appear here. Joseph Fuchs, violinist, is slated to appear here April 13.

WILLIAM NEWMAN

Newman to Give Lecture-Recital In Hill Tonight

Dr. William S. Newman of the University Music department will give a lecture-recital tonight at 8:30 in Hill hall. Dr. Newman has chosen for tonight's recital three sonatas that will be heard here for the first time.

The program will feature some of the pieces that Dr. Newman will play on a tour of midwestern universities early in November. To be presented tonight are "Sonata in C Minor" by Giovanni Platti," "Sonata in F-sharp Minor" by Friedrich Wilhelm Rust, and "Sonata pour piano in E Minor" by Vincent d'Indy.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

11:00—FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY, Memorial hall.

3:00—DTH SOCIETY STAFF, kitchen of Graham Memorial.

4:00—CICA will meet upstairs in the "Y" building.

4:00—OFFICERS of the band will meet in Hill hall.

4:30—DTH BUSINESS STAFF meeting of students working in advertising in Roland Parker lounge, G.M.

4:30—BAND REHEARSAL at Hill hall.

7:30—INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS club will meet in Grail room, Graham Memorial. Dr. James L. Godfrey of the History department will discuss present day France.

7:30—AVC will meet in Presbyterian church to discuss housing, veteran's services, and activities for the year.

7:30—PHILANTHROPIC ASSEMBLY will discuss states' rights in Phi hall, fourth floor New East. All local political groups are requested to send representatives, and any student has the privileges of the floor.

8:00—SIGMA XI meeting in Wilson hall. Members of the Department of Mathematics will discuss their research.

8:00—SPANISH CLUB meets in room 111 Murphey. Dr. Antonia Ivanissevich will speak in Spanish on Inter-American relations.

8:00—GREENSBORO-CAROLINA club will meet in 108 Bingham hall. The charter will be formally introduced, Yackety Yack space and dues discussed, officers elected, and plans will be made for a Christmas dance.

8:30—DR. WILLIAM S. NEWMAN will present a lecture-recital in Hill hall.

8:30—UNIVERSITY VETERANS ASSOCIATION will stage a quiz show at the Vet's club.

9:15—IREDELL-CAROLINA CLUB will meet in 101 New West.

TOMORROW

3:00—J. W. ROPER will speak in Memorial hall for Navy day.

4:00—STUDENT PARTY STEERING, campaign, and freshman committees will meet in Roland Parker lounge, G.M.

4:30—BETA GAMMA SIGMA, honorary scholastic commerce fraternity, will meet in room 108 Bingham.

7:00—STRAY GREEKS will meet in Alderman parlor.

8:00—DR. ANTONIO IVANISSEVICH MACHADO will speak on "The Politics of Argentina Since 1943." Room 111 Murphey hall.

No Such Thing

WILD CAT CORNER, N. C., Oct. 25—(UP)—Mrs. Robert Ivey today indignantly denied a state ABC agent's claim that she was illegally re-selling the gallon of whiskey she bought every day, and explained:

"I drink every bit of my gallon, myself."

Mrs. Ivey and her husband are co-operators of a Wild Cat Corner store. Today they appealed to superior court after L. S. Blades, an Elizabeth City recorder's court judge, had fined them $500 on a count of bootlegging.

State ABC Agent A. D. Baum said the Iveys each showed up at his store daily and bought a gallon of whiskey. His records showed they had bought 1,024 pints since July. He had a hunch they were re-selling it.

No such foolish thing, Mrs. Ivey declared.

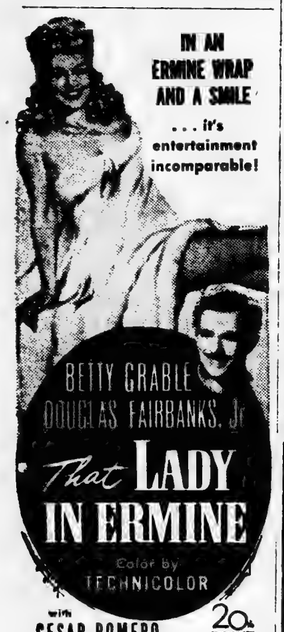
Thomas Paine was a leading journalist during the American Revolution.

Typing and Stenographic Service
BEGINNING OCT. 25
Mrs. G. R. Schnibben
c/o Paul Robertson's Office
Village Theater Bldg. Telephone 6576

Fine Watches Need Excellent Care . . .
A Complete Watch Repair Service at—
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
WEST FRANKLIN STREET

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!



ORCHESTRE NATIONAL OF FRANCE
CHARLES MUENCH, Conductor
at
PAGE AUDITORIUM, DUKE UNIVERSITY
Durham, N. C.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26
At 8:15 P.M.
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00 AND $3.50 (Tax incl.)
Phone Durham 112, Ext. 112; or Write J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C., for Reservations.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

—Also—
PETE SMITH NOVELTY
"PIGSKIN THRILLS"
TODAY AND WEDNESDAY
CAROLINA

Students! Professors! Secretaries!
You Can Own a
ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER
For Only—
$35.33 Down
and $12.50 per month for ten months
YOU PAY AS YOU USE IT!
Take Advantage Now of Royal's Low Prices
OFFICE MACHINES, INC.
221 FOSTER ST. 9-2492
Durham, N. C.

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THESES, TERM PAPERS, LETTERS or any kind of copy work. Call 3982. Reasonable rates. (1-946-1)

WILL THE STUDENT WHO PICKED up Glenn May's lab manual please bring it to Hut No. 27. (2-947-1)

DRESSMAKING, ALTERATIONS, AND repair work. If you want to star in the social firmament by increasing your wardrobe, see us. Over West Franklin St. Grocery Store. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

APARTMENT CLOSE TO CAMPUS for man and wife. No pets or children. Excellent neighbors, kitchen privileges. Reasonably priced. See Archie Daniels, 8-11 at 318-A West Rosemary St (2-8001-1)

FOR SALE 6B

FOUR ROOM HOUSE, INSULATED, oil heat. Shower and tub, gas hot water heater, stove. Venetian blinds. Call at 178 Bagley Drive, Victory Village for information. (3-926-1)

DON'T BUY RENT RECEIPTS WHEN you can buy this roomy trailer at practically the same cost. Extra room recently built on. $1200. SSA Trailer Court. (1-8002-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

MODEL "A" FORD ROADSTER, NEW top, tires, brakes, etc. Has curtains. Excellent condition. Phone F-2411 (2-941-1)

1936 PLYMOUTH COUPE WITH RUMble seat. Reconditioned engine, new parts. A bargain at $360. See Sam Langell at 212 Lewis. (3-945-1)

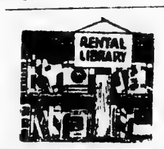
LOST 12

AT "AGGIE'S" SATURDAY MORNing, black and silver Ronson lighter. Engraved initials, "MVH". If found, please call Mrs. Van Hecwe, 7316. (1-8000-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

RIDE TO TENN. GAME FOR DAILY Tar Heel photographer and assistant, leaving around 5:30 or six Friday evening. Call F-3371. (1-1200-1)

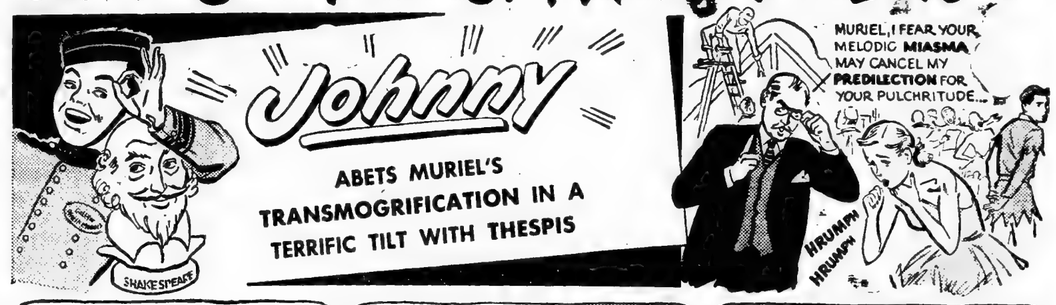
WANTED 24



FOUR GOOD TICKETS—OR EVEN fair—to the William & Mary game. I need 'em bad. Please call Dusty Moore, 60996. (2-950-1)

4 TICKETS TO CAR-TENN. GAME. Reply to R. M., Tar Heel Office. (2-949-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

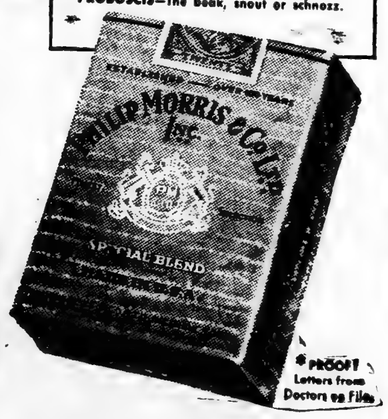


FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.—Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Room
TELEPHONE 4301

BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
Roosevelt and Hopkins
An Intimate History
By ROBERT E. SHERWOOD
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

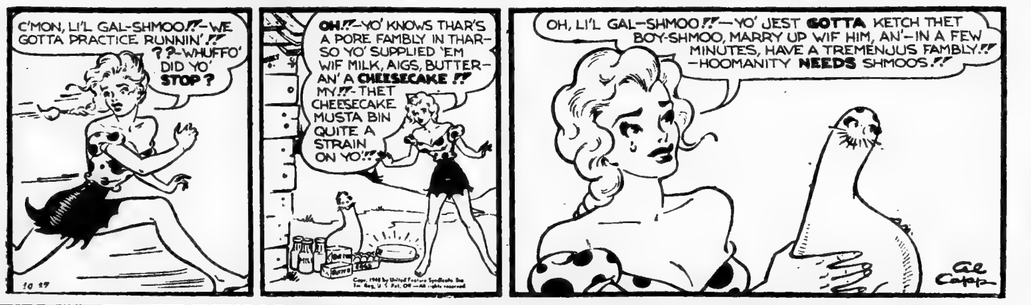
CAMPUS CAPERS . . . LAFF 'N LEARN



Put virility in your vocabulary

TRANSMOGRIFICATION—Complete change.
THESPIS—Greek Goddess of the Drama.
MIASMA—A fog or mist. In the pipes, it spells a dive for a diva.
PREDILECTION—A high-class yen.
PERSPICACITY—Keen foresight.
CIGARETTE HANGOVER—That smoked-out taste, that tight dry feeling in your throat, due to smoking.
EUGNOMOSYNE—Good judgment in an emergency.
ADVENTITIOUS—On-the-button
ULULATIONS—The high ones sopranos hit on the nose.
PROBOSCIS—The beak, snout or schnozz.

take a smart cue, Thespians—



Yes, it's time to CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS! Remember: There's NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER when you smoke PHILIP MORRIS . . . because PHILIP MORRIS is definitely less irritating than any other leading brand. That's why eminent nose and throat specialists *actually suggest PHILIP MORRIS in cases of irritation due to smoking! You'll be glad tomorrow, you smoked PHILIP MORRIS today!

*PROOF! Letters from Doctors on Files

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

Li'l Abner By Al Capp

You Can't Dodge the Draft . . . Beer — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

OCTOBER 26, 1948

Stenographic Service
INNING OCT. 25
G. R. Schnibben
Robertson's Office
Bldg. Telephone 6576

Fine
Watches
Need
Excellent
Care . . .
Watch Repair
Service at—
CKWOOD
CIATE STORE

RADIO
EPAIRS
Hour Service
GBURN rniture Co.
Phone 5841
FRANKLIN STREET

OF FRANCE educator

NIVERSITY

EMBER 26
(Tu
e J. Foster Barnes, Reservations.

EARN
EL, I FEAR YOUR
DIG MIASMA CANCEL MY LECTION FOR PULCHRITUDE...

JOHNNY, YOUR SUGGESTION SHOWS REAL EUGNOMOSYNE! I'LL PICK UP THAT CUE FAST—virility vocabulary

TION—Complete change.
oddess of the Drama.
mist. In the pipes, it a diva.
high-class yen.
en foresight.
OVER—That smoked-out dry feeling in your cking.
Good judgment in an n-the-button high ones sopranos hit eak, snout or schnozz.

OVER 100 YEARS
RIS & Co. Ltd
SCOTCH
PROOF
Letters from Doctors on File

WEATHER
Fair and mild.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Rushing News
Proud of Freedom
Fun As Well

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 29

J. A. Warren Hurt Slightly In Car Mishap

Chapel Hill's second serious auto-pedestrian accident within a week was reported yesterday when J. A. Warren, University treasurer, was struck by a student-driven car at the corner of Franklin and Raleigh streets at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Warren was hit while crossing the street by a car driven by V. F. Doughtridge. He suffered a slight fracture of the left arm and face cuts.

W. P. Jordan, Orange county deputy sheriff, was the first person to reach Warren after the accident. He and Doughtridge helped the victim to the sidewalk. Highway patrolman Bob Thomas investigated the accident. Warren walked to an ambulance summoned to the scene.

He was taken to the infirmary for emergency treatment and later to Watts hospital.

No charges were filed against Doughtridge, a married veteran. His young daughter was in the car with him at the time of the accident. Doughtridge lives at 253 Jackson Circle in Victory Village.

Warren was on his way home for lunch when he was hit. He was to have conferred with University officials yesterday afternoon and gone to a budget conference in Raleigh later.

Chi Delta Phi Will Initiate New Members

Ten Coeds will be initiated into Chi Delta Phi, national literary sorority, tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in Graham Memorial, Sally Woodhull, president of the local chapter, announced today.

New members include Mai Belle Conley, Libba Thomson, Phyllis Ann Gentry, Harriet Williamson, Emily Sewell, Betty Pierson, Mary Barker, Lois Latham, Nancy Curtis and Gay Fitzgerald.

The initiation banquet, featuring an address by Dr. Archibald Henderson, will be held tomorrow night at the Ivy room in Durham with girls from the Duke chapter as special guests.

Admission into Chi Delta Phi requires the submission of a piece of creative writing to a special board, which judges the literary merits of each story, poem or essay. The standards for entries in all departments is high and the total number of girls in the sorority each year is limited to two per cent of the coed enrollment.

Dr. Henderson, who will speak after dinner, is more closely associated with biography and history than mathematics. However, in this field, his name has been closely associated with most of the great contemporaries. He has made important contributions to the theory of relativity and has probably been the leading American expositor and publicizer of Einstein's complex theories during the past quarter of a century.

Paving Delayed

Town Manager Gilbert Ray said yesterday that work on paving Negro streets should begin sometime next summer.

Ray said the sewer lines are being layed on these streets and the city has to wait until the ground has settled before paving can begin.

He added that the particular type of pavement to be used in paving the streets could only be layed in the warmer months.

Provision was made in last year's bond election for the paving.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN is congratulated by David Dubinsky, International Ladies Garment Workers union president, at the end of the chief executive's broadcast from the White House. The president told a country-wide radio audience that the Taft-Hartley act converted the Wagner act from a charter of basic rights into a "union busting" instrument. The broadcast was sponsored by the I.L.G.W.U.

Finn Condemns FEPC As 'Police State' Move

By Jim Dickinson

"The Fair Employment Practices commission and other civil rights proposals would tend to change America into a police state comparable to that once led by Hitler in Germany and that dominated now by Stalin in Russia," said Col. Phillip Finn, Jr., in an address here in Gerrard hall last night.

Col. Finn, co-chairman of the States' Rights Democratic party of North Carolina from Hendersonville, spoke here under the auspices of the Young States Righters of Chapel Hill and was introduced by Earl Fitzgerald, chairman of the group.

He said that FEPC is the American version of the Stalin all-races law which originated in Russia and is patterned after that part of the Russian Constitution.

"Under FEPC our doctors and nurses would be trained under the supervision of the Federal government," said Col. Finn. "No longer would any of us be freely employed. The government would regulate the activities of all the people in a manner which would tend to destroy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Col. Finn denounced President Truman's civil rights proposals as an "unholy program and a political plague of the first magnitude."

He said that the States' Rights Democratic party is the "loyal" element of the Democratic party and that the other Democrats had no right to throw states' rights out the window in order to go along with President Truman and the "Communistic notions" embodied in the civil rights program.

Said Col. Finn, "It is our duty as States' Rights Democrats to drive out those people (Democrats) who have betrayed what the party originally stood for under the Jeffersonian principles."

Col. Finn said President Truman has done more than any other person toward "wrecking" the Democratic party, and condemned the President as a person who would "sell a section of the country for a bloc of votes."

University Club Announces List Of New Officers

The University club announced yesterday the results of their recent elections and also announced tenative plans for a huge pep rally in Knoxville next Saturday.

Elected for the coming year were the following officers: Joe Pete Ward, president; Tookie Hodgson, vice president; Charleen Greer, secretary; and Bob Ball, treasurer. These officers, together with Norm Sper, head cheerleader, will comprise the executive committee of the organization.

An insignia of light blue and white rosettes has been adopted to be worn at all athletic events and other official university functions, in the club's capacity as the official hosts of the University campus to visiting teams and fans.

Further details on the Knoxville pep rally will be announced later this week.

A committee composed of officers of the club and club members Sam Manning, Polly Rudolph, and Pete Gerns will meet this week to draw up a set of by-laws for the club.

Senior Class Rings Are on Sale Today

Official class rings will be on sale at the Y from 11:30 this morning until 2 o'clock this afternoon, Monroe Landreth announced yesterday.

Sentimental

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26, —(UP)— Harvard Freshman Stuart Falk complained to police today that a woman's leg had been stolen from his room.

The artificial limb wasn't worth much, he said, but the blue garter encircling it had a lot of "sentimental value."

Formal Rushing Begins Tonight, Ends Tomorrow

Under the new Interfraternity council rules passed Monday night, there will be two rushing periods today.

The first will be an informal period from 2 o'clock this afternoon until 5 o'clock. The second will be a formal rushing period from 7 o'clock tonight until 9:30.

Jack Thompson, president of the IFC, said yesterday that invitations are not binding upon rushees for the formal rush period tonight. "It's to the advantage of the rushee to visit all fraternities from which he has received invitations prior to the formal pledging," Thompson pointed out.

Tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to informal rushing from 2 to 5 o'clock. Tomorrow night will be shake-up night with the formal period lasting from 7 o'clock until 10.

Men who have received invitations to visit fraternity houses later than tonight should feel free to visit those houses tonight also, Thompson said. "In other words, invitations for shake-up night are also good for Wednesday night," Thompson explained.

Fraternities were warned that it is against the rules for anyone to shake-up prior to 7 o'clock tomorrow night. According to Thompson, shake-up means that the rushee, when questioned, signifies his intention to pledge the fraternity.

Jack Yarborough Picks 19 of 20 To Win Contest

Quarterbacking honors of the week were taken by Jack Yarborough, 211 Church street, who picked correctly 19 out of 20 grid winners in the Graham Memorial football contest. Yarborough missed only the Michigan State-Penn State game, which ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

Bain Jones, Thaxton Richardson, Jr., and Thomas Northington missed only the tie game, but Yarborough came closer to predicting the score of the Carolina-LSU game, with a 35-7 guess.

Only one contestant predicted a tie in the Michigan State-Penn State game. Edward M. Little was the only successful stargazer in this department.

For winning the contest, Yarborough will receive a carton of Chesterfields and a book of theater passes.

Army To Take First 45,000 From 24, 25-Year-Old Ranks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(UP)—The Army will draw its first three-months' quota of 45,000 draftees from the ranks of 25 and 24-year-old selective service registrants who are single and without war service, it appeared today.

Because the Army is prepared to handle only 10,000 men in November, 15,000 in December, and 20,000 in January, its first quarter call is not expected to tap those registrants under 24 years of age. In the 25 and 24-year age groups are 144,175 men who appear available for immediate military training.

If one of three of these potential draftees makes the grade, the Army will have plenty of men to swell its ranks for the first quarter. If it has to go down to the next lowest age level, there are 134,175 men now age 23 who can be tapped for 21 months military service.

Between Aug. 30 and Sept. 18, Selective Service registered a total of 8,584,963 men 18 through 25. Of this number, only 2,147,813 were in the presumably "available" classification, that is, unmarried, without children, and having no war service.

At Army headquarters, Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist said he did not know specifically when the first draftees would report in November from induction centers to the Army camps to which they were assigned.

"I would surmise," he said, "that it would be during the early part of November; that by the middle of the month the first quota would be in training."

President Says GOP Will Lose In Ohio Speech

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—(UP)—President Truman made his first, and last campaign swing through Ohio today and declared confidentially tonight in a major speech in Cleveland that the Republicans are "on the run" even if they won't admit it.

The Democrats, he said, are going to win, even though the GOP won't admit it "because they have a poll that says they're going to win."

En route here from a major speech in Chicago last night, Mr. Truman made rear-platform appearances at South Bend and Elkhart, Ind., and spoke at civic auditorium in Toledo, O.

In Toledo, he charged that communists hoped for a Republican victory in November as a means of helping toward the ultimate goal of world revolution.

"The communists," he said, "are supporting a third party that they know has no chance in the world of winning. But they do hope that the third party will take enough votes away from the Democrats so that the Republicans can win."

Mr. Truman told a trainside crowd at South Bend that the Displaced Persons bill passed by the 80th Congress was a deliberate attempt to keep "certain religious" groups out of the United States.

Pastor Speaks Before Coeds At Y Meeting

"We should be unconventional in our religion if necessary and think for ourselves," The Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church, said in a talk Monday afternoon at the YWCA coed get-together.

Rev. Jones pointed out that Christianity was a trouble maker from the beginning. "It should be that way today," he said. The fact was stressed that people should not always depend on the church for all religion, but that they should have a certain independence of mind concerning it.

Mrs. N. B. Adams, chairman of the Y advisory board, spoke on "Ways of Working Toward Peace," at the cabinet meeting preceding the get-together.

At the social hour following the meeting, the following girls served: Lib Hotard, Emily Ogburn, Anne Wells, Helen Neighbors, Jane Casstevens and Marjorie Yokley.

Presidential Candidates To Be Debated Tonight

President Truman will clash with Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Henry Wallace, Strom Thurmond and Norman Thomas tonight from the rostrom of Gerrard hall when the Dialectic senate will sponsor its pre-presidential election debate on major candidates. The program, presented every four years, will begin at 8:30.

Four members of the Di will speak on the behalf of Dewey, Truman, Thomas and Thurmond, while a member of the local Wallace club will present the case of the Progressive party candidate.

The students scheduled to participate in the debate are Al Lowenstein, member of the legislature and recent delegate to the National Students association, for Thomas; Charles Long, chairman of the Carolina Forum and active student leader, for Dewey; Gran Childress, president protem of the Di and former chairman of the Student party, for Truman, and Bob Harper of the Wallace club for Wallace.

All five of the students have taken an active part in the presidential campaign of their respective candidates, and according to Di President Jim Southerland, are eminently qualified to discuss the good and bad side of the leading presidential aspirants.

Southerland, who will preside at the debate, stated that the debaters will each be limited to a 15 minute address and will be open to a question and answer period.

All students, faculty members and townspeople are invited to attend the program and take part in the discussion period. The debate will replace the regular Di meeting, usually held on Wednesday night at 9 o'clock.

Rally Committee To Discuss Plans

The Rally committee and all card stunt ushers will meet this evening at 7 o'clock to discuss plans for the William and Mary and Duke weekends, Norm Sper announced yesterday.

Sper also said that movies of the card stunts performed at the LSU game would be shown at the Carolina theater tomorrow and Friday.

Dog Foundation Will Talk Over Canine Troubles

Chapel Hill's numerous dogs will come into the spotlight again this afternoon at 4 o'clock in a meeting in Graham Memorial's Roland Parker lounge when the Carolina Dog foundation and the local chapter of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals meet to discuss new canine problems which have arisen this fall.

The meeting, called at the request of Mrs. A. M. Jordan, chairman of the local SPCA, will discuss the problem of an excess number of stray dogs who have invaded the campus since the fall term began.

A number of complaints have been filed with Mrs. Jordan over the large number of dogs who are seen around South building, Graham Memorial and other campus buildings.

Bill Buchan, acting chairman of the CDF announced that the group will make an attempt to ascertain which dogs are owned by students and which dogs are living out of garbage cans and scraps from Lenoir hall.

"In order to save the dogs belonging to students," Buchan said, "we must find some means of finding other homes for the stray dogs, or else have students not living in dormitories take responsibility for them."

Any student dog owners or other interested students are invited to attend the meeting. Students especially requested to be present are Herb Hendricks, Bill Hood, Emily Sewell, Emily Baker, Ed McLeod, Lincoln Kan, Jim Dickinson and Nelson Taylor.

Late News Bulletins

'Mudslinging'

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight accused President Truman of reaching a "new low of mudslinging" in a campaign of "reckless abuse" across the country.

Bus Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(UP)—A strike on seven bus lines, planned only as a five-hour demonstration, got out of control of union leaders late today and paralyzed a transit system that normally serves 3,500,000 persons a day here.

Truce Call

PARIS, Oct. 26.—(UP)— Acting United Nations mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche reported to the security council today that he had once more called on Israeli and Egyptian forces to withdraw from territory either may have seized in the Negev war in Palestine.

Union Sues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(UP)—The United Electrical Workers union (CIO) today filed a $1,000,000 damage suit against members of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission and the General Electric Co., and asked for a federal court injunction forbidding the commission to blacklist the union in atomic plants.

Strike Broken

PARIS, Oct. 26.—(UP)—French soldiers supported by tanks and light artillery ousted communist-led strikers from four key pits in the south-central coal fields today after a gun fight in which one miner was killed and eight persons were wounded.

Defense Pact

PARIS, Oct. 26.—(UP)—The five western European treaty states announced today they had agreed to sign a North Atlantic defense alliance with the United States and Canada, a pact that has been studied in Washington for months.

WSSF Will Open Drive Next Month

In an effort to swell the treasury of the World Student Service fund, Dortch Warriner, chairman of WSSF, yesterday announced a five-day fund-raising drive, to open Nov. 30 and lasting through Dec. 4.

Funds contributed by University students to this drive will be used in the war-stricken nations of Europe and Asia to support deserving students who cannot afford to educate themselves, by supplying them with all the living essentials in school —food, clothing and books.

The WSSF, sponsored by the Council for Religion in Life this year, is an international movement organized in 19 different countries and has two vital functions to perform: to "bring to University students great awareness of the tragic situation of student in the world," and to "raise a substantial sum of money to help alleviate the conditions of these students."

Plans are being made for the raising of funds through solicitation in dormitories, fraternities and sororities, a beauty contest and novelty auctions.

Working with Warriner on the drive will be Joe Leary, in charge of solicitation; Charlie Gibson, publicity, and Dick Gordon, finance. Other sub-committees will be formed late this week to carry out plans for the drive.

The sponsoring organization, the Council for Religion in Life, is composed of all religious groups on campus. Last year the drive was sponsored under the joint supervision of the YWCA and YMCA.

Radio Students Attend Clinic On News-Writing

The Mid Pines hotel replaced Bynum hall as a classroom Monday afternoon when radio news-writing students adjourned their regular class and attended the fall session radio news clinic at Southern Pines.

Students making the trip were Martha Allen, O. H. Allen, Norman. C. Barnes, Richard E. Bennett, Leonard Dudley, J. L. Merritt, John H. Neal, George E. Perry, Larry Queen, James M. Teresi, and Doris Weaver. J. L. Morrison, assistant journalism professor, was in charge of the group.

Leading national and state radio leaders attended the news clinic and radio news problems and treatments were discussed.

Richard P. Doherty of the National Association of Broadcasters spoke on "Can Broadcasting Survive a Depression?" declared radio broadcasters would not be affected as much in the event of a depression as other industries would. He contended a backlog of advertising had been built up by the war that would enable the radio and advertising business to remain on an even keel if depression does come.

League Speaker

Mrs. Maxwell Barus, director of the League of Women Voters of the United States, will be guest speaker at a general membership meeting of the Chapel Hill chapter tonight at 8 o'clock at the recreation center.

Mrs. Barus, who was president of the league in New Jersey from 1943 to 1947, will speak on the work of the league throughout the country.

All league members and those interested in working with the league are urged to be present tonight.

Morrisons Cop Radio Quiz

By Norris Grubbs

Because a Hollywood radio producer muffed his own question and a former Carolina student had his eyes wide open, Mrs. J. L. Morrison, wife of Joseph L. Morrison, assistant professor of journalism, won an RCA radio phonograph with $100 worth of records, two theater tickets good for one year, and 20,000 cigarettes which were sent to a Pennsylvania veterans' hospital with her compliments.

She submitted three questions on song titles from movies to the "Let's Talk Hollywood" program, and one was used on the Sept. 19 show, the producer supplying another question. The Morrisons did not hear the program, but a radio script, sent by a former pupil of Morrison's, brought to light the fact that she had won. The student worked at NBC in Hollywood where the show originated as summer replacement for Jack Benny.

Arriving five days after the program, the script gave answers to the questions, one of which somehow did not click with Morrison's memory of a certain scene in the movie "State Fair," which she had seen twice.

So Morrison, ever alert to the possibility of scooping a producer, sent a telegram asking NBC to make a correction on Sept. 26, the last show scheduled in the 13-week summer series.

The Morrisons dutifully listened but nothing happened. So the professor, his dander up by the brush-off, wrote letters to the American Tobacco Co., the sponsor; the advertising agency; and to the radio producer. He figured his wife a rightful winner and he was prepared to see justice done —or else.

On Oct. 25 the jack pot letter arrived from the American Tobacco co., which said a check had been made and the claim was correct. To sweeten the taste, the Morrisons were given a choice between an RCA television set and an RCA radio phonograph.

Former Student Aids Professor

Good Rushing News

Good news to both fraternity men and rushees was the announcement yesterday that this year's extended rush period would be shortened.

The idea behind the longer period was a good one—that fraternity members and new men should have more time to become acquainted and to decide about affiliating with each other. The one week formerly alloted for rushing was inadequate for this purpose and was to a degree unfair to both parties. But the lengthened period, which was to run into three weeks this year, has demonstrated itself to be too long. The necessity that all men concerned give a large part of each day to rushing has been wearing both physically and mentally, with the result that the most important purpose of the University, .study, has suffered. Moreover, it has become evident by the beginning of the second week most rushees have decided whether to join a fraternity and, if so, which one.

Action of the Interfraternity council in ammending the rushing system is appreciated by all parties, and the new system seems to be just about the right length. The shake-up period tomorrow night ends rushing to all intents and purposes, but rushees may still change their minds before pledging on Monday.

The one-week rush system was too short, the three-week system was too long. The present two-week system seems to be the logical one to put into effect for next year.

Proud of Freedom

"Three hundred students. including 13 coeds, barricaded themselves inside San Marcos university today as a protest against the dismissal of left-wing students and professors. . .Mounted police cordoned off the San Marcos university buildings. . .Water and electricity were cut off." So reads a United Press report from Lima, Peru.

In few countries in the world today are students and teachers still free to hold any political belief they wish. Even in the United Sates this is becoming a precarius privilege, and for this reason we at the University of North Carolina should be proud that here at least it is a privilege which may still be taken for granted. Junius Scales may announce that he is the leader of the Chapel Hill Communist party, and the announcement arouses more furor elsewhere than at the University. Bill Robertson may rave in the student newspaper about the wonders of Communism and the decadence of American Democracy, and the only action taken against him comes in the form of disagreeing letters from other students.

We should be proud that freedom of belief and of expression are still the unquestioned rights of political minorities both on the far left and on the far right, but we should also be proud that in spite of the barrage of propaganda released under cloak of this freedom, the good sense of University students is exhibited in the fact that both the far left and the far right remain minorities.

And Fun As Well

For all its big business aspects, football still goes under the name of a game, and a game is meant to be enjoyed, by players as well as spectators. Maybe the Tar Heels enjoyed the niceties of murder and mayhem that met them in the Georgia, Wake Forest and State games—that extra elbow in a lineman's face and the superfluous knee in a ball carrier's back after the tackle—but from where the fans were sitting, the LSU game looked to be one that was a lot more fun to play. It was one of the cleanest games this season.

Although outclassed, the Louisiana boys played a hard game of ball and did their share of damage to Tar Heel players, but after a play was over a Tiger tackler usually stuck around long enough to give the ball carrier a hand up, pat him on the back and express the hope that they'd meet again on another play. The same went for the Tar Heels, and after the game some of the LSU players who had seen pictures of the Carolina-Georgia battle and were expecting the same treatment, expressed pleasant surprise at the cleanness of Tar Heel tactics.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sport Staff: Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Wuff Newell, Chan Barksdale, Zane Robbins, Frank Allston.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

THE WOIM TOINS. Coeds' Hooper rating went down a notch when one of the male population called a certain dorm and asked the fair lass who answered if she had a date for the evening. Her hopeful, "No, I haven't. . ." was squashed lower than a crushed acorn when the "gent" responded with, "That's tough," and hung up!

WHEW! The boys over at the Sig Ep house have finally finished their renovating. After looking over the job Skeets Baldwin, Kay Winecoff and John Hay did repainting the floors and papering all the walls, Mac Dillon who incidentally painted a pink elephant in that "you know what" room, said, "If you want a new house built, see us." Heard a rumor that the boys were "shocked" with Hunt Gwinn's repair job on the electrical wiring.

SPER, HERE'S A CHEER. We'd like to plug this original, so we are told, cheer if we may:

Carolina, Carolina, choo-choo-choo

Carolina, Carolina, choo-choo-choo

Carolina, Carolina, hey be-bop

We've got a team nobody can stop

Let's go-o-o, Carolina! !

BACK WHEN. Looking over a 1910 Yack, we find that things were much the same as today, regarding the "tough situation" that is. On one page we saw a note, "Mr. Grimsly (they called students "Mister" in them days of chivalry) after attending his classes on Wednesday, returned to Durham." In the want ad section, and we quote, "Wanted—something for a long, lean, lanky look—K.O. Burgwin."

KEEP MOVIN'. Wonder why everyone slows down, drags his feet and gazes longingly down Rathskeller alley? It isn't because of the companionship that flows like beer, 'cause there ain't any beer in them thar mugs; it's root beer and we can prove it. Just look on the side of the mug you're drinking from some time and you'll see what we mean.

WE'UNS WANT MORE. More of Dick Smith and his four fellow-warblers down Rendezvous way. You boys certainly made a hit with everyone last Friday night, c'mon back.

SORRY GUY. As long as this weekend is Halloween time, we can legally drag this skeleton out of the closet and offer our humblest apologies to Guy Evans, the wanderer mentioned in this column recently. We never thought so many people would ask him what he had stolen. It really was nothing, folks, leave Guy alone, he still has his headache from that weekend.

A MORAL. Leave us end with a pox placed upon all those unthinking students who plunk their money down on the glass counter at the "Y" fountain so hard it bounces into the ice-cream freezer. 'Tis true, it's cold cash, but. . .

YES, YES, WE NOW. We really aren't supposed to put in our two bits about staff members, but this one we can not let go by. 'cause we're so happy about it ourselves—namely the way Editor Joyner's ATO pin looks on Margaret Gaston's yellow angora sweater!

In Very Exclusive Company

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

States Rights

Ruin Of Southern Custom

By Bob Smith

On Nov. 2 the people of America will go to the polls and elect a president for the next four years. This election is not to be skipped over lightly. It is indeed a grave matter and every voter should give it due consideration. He should reason and think, and try to decide before he votes who would do him the most good or harm for the next four years.

In the recent past the people of the South have had little to do with the nominating of candidates for the presidency. They have had little to do with the running of the party and their wishes were forgotten when the platforms of the parties were drawn up.

We didn't expect Republicans to recognize our wishes but we did expect the Democratic party to conform to a few of our ideals.

Why shouldn't the people of the South go ahead and take the insults handed down by the party, why shouldn't they vote again for the Democratic party's candidate. Why! because the time has come for the South to show her hand and to stand up and be recognized. True Southerners can do this by supporting the one party that has the South's interest foremost in its platform.

I have heard some people say that it is absurd to vote for Thurmond, that he hasn't got a chance. That is just like telling a football team, which is losing at the half, that there is no reason to continue the second half.

I have also heard people say that Harry Truman meant no harm toward the South when he proposed his civil rights and that he was willing to drop the whole matter. Some people will doubtless fall for this neat way of evading the issue.

On Feb. 2 of this year, Mr. Truman sent a message to Congress containing his so called civil rights. Most of the people were willing to go along with the party and forget the question provided Mr. Truman dropped it, but, he didn't. He and others in the Democratic Party insisted that their so called civil rights be placed in the party platform.

For once the Democratic party had taken too much for granted. Again, they thought the South would swing along licking its wound but saying or doing nothing as usual. After these successive blows the South began to wake up and to realize that these bills were a serious threat to the South.

The Southern people began to plot a course of action and to look for a leader in their hour of need. They have found their leadership in Governor Thurmond and Governor Wright. It is to these men that the people of the South are looking to carry out the politics so dear to the South.

Let's look into and examine Mr. Truman's so called civil rights program. It consists of: (1) an anti-lynching bill; (2) an anti-poll tax bill; (3) the creation of a permanent fair employment practices committee (FEPC) and (4) the abolition of segregation laws. These are not bills or rights; they are weapons that could easily be the ruin of Southern traditions and customs. These bills are aimed at the South and the South only. Every one of these bills affects the people of the South and every one concerns matters and policies that should be left to each state to settle itself.

When the federal government starts passing bills of this type, then it is indeed trespassing upon the rights of states.

When the people of the South go to the polls on November 2 they should think of these so-called civil rights and realize that they are aimed at them and will affect them in some way. Every one of these bills concerns the Southern people and it is their duty to weigh these matters before casting their votes.

This Changing World

Liberation Of The Negro

By Bill Robertson

(The circumstances of the world are continually changing, and the opinions of men change also—Thomas Paine)—

"Any direct or indirect restriction of the rights of, or, conversely, any establishment of direct privileges for citizens on account of their race or nationality, as well as any advocacy of racial or national exclusiveness or hatred and contempt, is punishable by law."

This quotation is taken from Article 123 of the constitution of the Soviet Union. There are undoubtedly people who do not like the idea expressed in this particular article of the Soviet constitution. These people feel, for example, that full and complete equality—social, economic and political—for the Negro people is wrong. They feel, as Hitler did, that special "laws" (we almost said "lies") should exist governing the activities of certain races and nationalities.

They may have these "feelings," if you wish to call them that. However, it so happens that the most vicious race-baiters in our country are also the most vicious Red-baiters—and this brings us to the point of our article.

At the present time, the ruling circles in our country are engaged in a world-wide battle of ideas in which they are attempting to prove the superiority of our economic, social, and political institutions. It is clear that the shameless treatment of the Negro people in our country constitutes an insuperable barrier to their success in this struggle. The majority of the peoples of the world are colored; and, for that reason, the slogan, "Jim Crow Must Go," cannot help but arouse the sympathies of the majority of the peoples of the world. Race-baiters and Red-baiters may not like this fact; but it is a fact which they cannot ignore.

It is not rediculous to conceive of a Jim Crow army "liberating" the world from Communism—a steadily-growing movement which proves the essential equality of all mankind? No, gentlemen of Wall Street, capitalism has had its day. This crying contradiction of "Jim Crowism." is one more proof of that fact.

We are living in an age in which "the abolition of the social system which compels the propertyless to sell themselves to the rich" has begun. But the successful completion of this task will be a lot easier if liberal and progressive-minded whites awaken quickly to the tremendous role of the liberation of the Negro people. The white, especially in the South, must at long last hasten to clasp the hand of the Negro and call him "brother," for the freedom and dignity of the white depends upon, and is supported by, the freedom and dignity of the Negro.

Write Away

Honor Without Sense

Editor:

While in Chapel Hill Oct. 16, I noticed Ben Erdman's article "Our Fundamental Rights." I express my admiration for Mr. Erdman's argument against FEPC, yet I was certainly alarmed by his final paragraph! Are the people of the South so immature that they must sit in a corner and sulk or refuse to play ball unless they can be the whole show? True, there are certain fundamental rights to which the South has a rightful claim. But do the South's people really believe these rights can be held by supporting Thurmond's Dixiecrats? Are they so blind they cannot see that they are only asking for the things they are opposing by refusing to support the main party Democrats? It has long been understood in the Republican party that these principles so strongly supported by the South are undesirable. Do the Southern people believe that by voting for Thurmond, they can defeat the Republican party and the Negro-white equality for which the Republicans have long fought? Do they believe that these Republican principles are more desirable than Truman's "civil rights"?

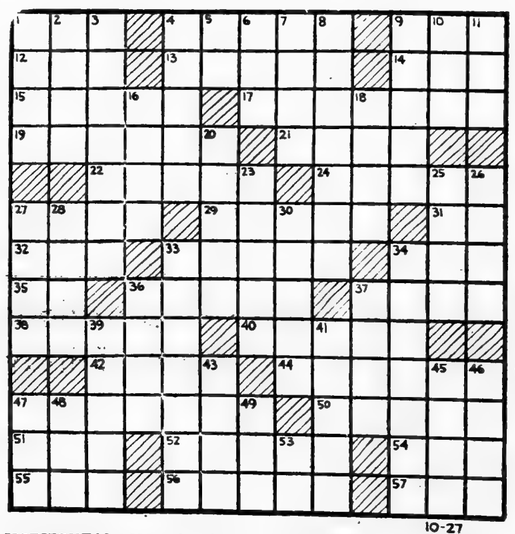
Certainly every United States law is not unanimously approved by our lawmakers. Yet that does not excuse part of the country from abiding by these laws. Likewise the policies of the Democratic party were approved unanimously nor was the Democratic candidate. Yet a large part of the party has excused itself from abiding by these decisions made by the majority. The basic principle of democracy has been defied! Has the South become a spoiled child which has not the wisdom and fortitude to abide by this basis? No wonder "Yankees" refer to Southerners as "blind fools with lots of honor but no sense." By denying the Democratic party its full support, the Dixiecrats are denying their own foresight and intelligence.

I would like very much to defend the actions of the South at all times. Could you give me good reasons for their present stand?

Helen Cantrell

Tear For Liberalism

Editor:



"It would be foolish for us to make the mistake of the liberals in Germany, who succumbed to. . . Adolf Hitler, only to find themselves together with the Communists in the same concentration camps." So reads Bill Robertson's recent column. It makes a distinction, correctly so, between Communists and liberals.

Perhaps Marxism is an ethical ideal. But the Communists are not content to use honest persuasion alone as a means of realizing that ideal. Fascism has no monopoly on the clever technique of the "big lie." And if that is not enough, Communists willingly resort to coercion. For them, the end justifies the means.

Yes, we can well benefit by the example of Germany. The Weimar Republic provided one of the most liberal systems of government the world has ever known. Yet the Communists were not willing to work in good faith for the honest accomplishment of desired social ends. They were in constant opposition to any democratic government, however liberal. Their fight with the Nazis was secondary. The two extremist groups joined forces to destroy the moderate middle ground; to destroy order and promote chaos, for extremism thrives in chaos.

As ever, the Communists worked to clear the arena of all but the two extremes (which aren't so different after all). They hoped to be able to win the final struggle, between totalitarian Left and Right. The same process is working in France today. But don't shed tears for the runners-up in such elimination contest. Shed them for genuine liberalism, which Communism hopes to defeat in the semi-finals (even falsely wearing the home team's colors, if they can get away with it).

Charles H. Hubbell

10-27

HORIZONTAL
1. by
4. Hawaiian greeting
9. alcohol beverage
12. goddess of malicious mischief
13. bottoms of feet
14. fish eggs
15. desires eagerly
17. fate
19. make beloved
21. hidden
22. Irish patriot
24. takes ease
27. wanders
29. waistcoats
31. three-toed sloth
32. dance step
33. inclinations
[illegible] importune
[illegible] side
[illegible]
37. [illegible]ion
38. [illegible]
40. aud
42. sacred vessels
44. produced dull surface
47. highways
50. county
51. pastry
52. drink to health of
54. prevarication
55. air: comb. form
56. prophets
57. mournful

VERTICAL
1. wan
2. English school
3. causes to be
4. province in India
5. behold!
6. aged
7. take notice
8. declares
9. holds firmly
10. electrified particle
11. Napoleonic marshal
16. jewels
18. golf mounds
20. face embankment with masonry
23. canvas shelters
25. tight
26. wrongdoings
27. heroic poem
28. Hindu prince
30. vaporized water
33. vessels of interwoven twigs
34. trickles
36. simple
37. masculine name
39. more uncommon
41. endures
43. portico
45. Assam silkworm
46. action
47. mineral spring
48. cravat
49. droop
53. symbol for selenium

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	A	M		C	L	I	N	G		C	H	A
A	V	E		R	E	T	I	A		L	A	D
T	A	N		E	S	S		L	L	A	M	A
		T	R	E	T		P	L	A	N
A	R	I	E	S		B	L	E	S	S	E	S
R	O	O	D		G	E	A	R	S		N	O
I	O	N		B	R	I	N	Y		P	A	R
S	T		P	R	A	N	K		L	A	T	E
E	S	P	Y	I	N	G		P	A	T	E	S
		E	R	S	T		P	E	E	R
C	A	R	E	T		M	O	T		I	S	M
A	L	I		L	I	A	N	E		O	L	A
B	E	L		E	S	T	E	R		T	Y	R

10-27

Average time of solution 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

Unguarded Treasures

THERE ISN'T TOO MUCH danger of being bodily accosted in the little town of Chapel Hill, but you will bounce into a fellow now and again who enjoys the threat of life or limb to bang home the point in question. Well, such a fellow made himself known last week, and after running the faithful paper into the ground with the ardor of a wildcat oilman, he dispensed with further preliminaries and embarked on his cause.

The fellow had a weakness for guards. He said nobody ever wrote about them, cared about them, or paid any attention to them. The backs got talked about, raved about, written about, and even the rest of the linemen had their share of the notices—but never the guards. They are forgotten men.

So, this is for the guards and the rest of the linemen—those who also serve, but only stand and block. They are the boys, who week after week, do the dirty work up front for the fellows who do the dirty work behind them. There must be a place somewhere where all good linemen go.

Unsung Heroes

THE LINEMEN, LIKE many successful people in life, often go unsung for their efforts, and have to depend on personal satisfaction to keep the old spirit going. They are the bodily foundation for almost every scrimmage pack, getting physically shuffled, cut and dealt on every play. Line play is one of the fine points of football today, so fine that a lot of the frantic fans miss it completely. It's one line that just doesn't draw anywhere.

Though no one will confess to liking rainy football, the linemen are the last to complain. Watch the forwards perform in those "here's mud in your eye affairs," and you'll discover they are strictly in their element. With the razzle and dazzle deleted by dampness, the line play excels and one becomes totally proud of the gentlemen fronting their football establishment.

There have been a lot of great hippers and flippers in the history of the game, but few of them ever tallied many teedees with a helping hand from his brothers in bruises. At 11 to 1 the odds are strictly against the majority of even the heartiest halfbacks.

The Poets Know It

THE POETS, LONG protectors of the oppressed and finders of the forgotten, should really be able to do Justice to the linemen as the linemen do to the Choo. Ogden Nash would simply fill the bill with:

THE MAN BEHIND THE RUN

Linemen
Are finemen

while Ruddy Kipling might rise to the occasion with:

THE LINE PLAYED, TOO

Drop around the stadium when the first of fall is here,
Watch the dazzling runs, my boys, and for the backfield cheer,
Chances are you'll notice there are 'leven men on the field,
But only four are mentioned when the press begins to spiel.

O it's backfield this, and backfield that, it's almost all they say;
'Cept maybe in the last paragraph: "The line played, too, today."
'The line played, too, today,' my boys, 'The line played, too, today;'
Away down in the last paragraph: 'The line played, too, today.'

The safety man's alone out there, and such a little runt
But never fret your minds, my boys, the tackles are made up front.
The backfield sure looks fancy, just a prancing all around;
You overlook the linemen with their noses to the ground.

O it's backfield this, an' backfield that, an' backfield all the day;
But when they're inside the five, my boys, it's 'hold that line' they say.
It's 'hold that line' they say, my boys, it's 'hold that line' they say;
Down inside the five, my boys, it's 'hold that line' they say.

A scatback twists for ninety yards, a thrilling touchdown run;
You watch the ball too closely to see any blocking done.
If he stumbles, fumbles, loses ground, and begins to swear,
The sympathetic crowd will yell, 'Let's get some blocks out there!"

O it's backfield this, and backfield that, it's they who win the day;
Wonder where the backs would be without a line to clear the way.
Without the line to clear the way, my boys, without a line to clear the way;
We wonder where the backs would be without a line to clear the way.

Chances are you'll notice there are 'leven men on the field,
But only four are mentioned when the press begins to spiel.

O it's backfield this, and backfield that, it's almost all they say;
'Cept maybe in the last paragraph: 'The line played, too, today.'

GENTLEMEN, I HAVE seen the light.

Tar Babies Make Preparations For Wake Forest Battle Friday

Carolina's freshman football team began preparations this week for their toughest test of the 1948 season when they meet the Wake Forest Baby Deacons in Fayetteville on Friday night.

This Wake Forest team, like the Tar Babies, is undefeated and the Deacs have mutilated both the Duke and State frosh in previous games. This team is being heralded as one of the greatest collections of talent ever assembled on a freshman team in the Big Four area.

North Carolina's 1947 high school All-State backfield is included in the Deacon roster. Billy (Nub) Smith, speedy Fayetteville triple-threater; ace passer Dickie Davis from Wilson; and speedy Bobby Stutts of Burlington are the main cogs in the Wake Forest team.

Tar Baby Coach Crowell Little hopes to be able to match this array of stars with his cool and steady team which has posted wins over South Carolina, 27-26, and Virginia, 20-0.

Little will rely on the passing of Tailback Dick Weiss and the running of Fred Brady and C. C. White to topple the power-laden Deacons. These three boys were prominent in both of the previous games. Others who will probably see much action Friday are Tailback Skeeter Hesmer, End Hilliard Knight and Fullback Bob Gantt.

(See TAR BABIES, page 4)

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Michigan First, Carolina Second In Rating

Wolverines Atop Weekly Ap Poll; Tar Heels Third

Michigan's mighty Wolverines clung to first place by a mere six-tenths of a point in Paul Williamson's official ratings, released yesterday. The Mid-westerners were being pushed hard for the second consecutive week by Carolina's unbeaten Tar Heels.

Minnesota gave the Wolverines a tough time in Minneapolis last Saturday before they finally succumbed to a power-laden Michigan attack paired with some of the worst officiating seen in the Mid-west this season. While the Big Niners were battling it out in their annual Little Brown Jug tilt, the Tar Heels of Carolina were showing twenty-two fleet heels to Louisiana State's hapless Tigers. The Carolinians thrashed the boys from the Baton Rouge Bayous by a lop-sided 34-7 score. The eyes of Texas?

Georgia Tech engineered a 42-7 rout over the Florida 'Gators last Sabbath to climb to third place in the Williamson ratings 96.8 average, 1.5 points behind the runner-up Tar Heels.

In the weekly Associated Press poll, the Wolverines rolled up a total of 117 first-place votes to step away from the pack with a grand total of 1,885 points. Notre Dame with 1,615 votes and North Carolina with 1,568 placed second and third respectively in the poll.

The Tar Heels were runners-up to Michigan in the first-place balloting with 46 blue-ribbon votes. California and Army rounded out the national Big Five. Included in the second five were Georgia Tech, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Northwestern, and Nevada.

Clemson, Georgia, and Tulane represented the South in the second ten in the weekly newspaper poll.

Maybe it's still the aftermath of the season's opener between Duke and State, in which the two tied 0-0, but they are still sticking together, in the Williamson ratings at least. Both teams were given 88.3 ratings by the system.

Wade Rallies

By calling eighteen of twenty games correctly in last Saturday's pigskin predictions, Jake Wade, Carolina sports publicist, now trails Dick Jenrette, associate sports editor, by a margin of three contests, Wade holds a season mark of 72 correct with 23 misses, while Jenrette leads the prognosticators with an average of .789 or a 75-20 record.

Publisher Orville Campbell claimed runner-up honors for Saturday's games by scoring successfully in 17 contests against three wrongs. Jenrette and Jeff came through with 16 winners and four lossers each, and Billy Carmichael III tallied a 13-7 mark. The experts' biggest upset was the Alabama 10 to 7 victory over Mississippi State since all went along with the Maroons.

Following Jenrette and Wade in season totals is Jeff with a 69-26 record; Carmichael, 66-29; and Campbell, 65-30.

"Tonight"
IT'S MELODY TIME
—at—
CAFE SEVILLE
Come In
And Refresh Yourself
to the Music of the
Jim Peace Trio
8:30 - 10:30
BEER WINES
SANDWICHES

Tar Heels Drill Into Night As Snavely Prepares For Vols

Hindered by the long list of injuries and the fact that many of the squad members had late classes yesterday, Coach Carl Snavely put the Tar Heels through a lengthy workout that lasted until after darkness.

Emphasis was placed on offense as the untied, undefeated locals began preparation for the forthcoming struggle with the potent Vols of Tennessee.

Justice, Szafaryn Out

Charlie Justice and Len Szafaryn, both All-American material, were in light equipment for the second straight day as they continued to heal bruises suffered in the LSU game. However, neither is seriously injured and will be back at practice today.

Bob Kennedy, who shifted to wingback in last week's contest, was out yesterday with a slight cold, but is expected to be back working today. The regular list of injuries, Ted Hazelwood, Al Bernot, Don Hartig, Fred Sherman, and Paul Rizzo are still out and with the exception of Rizzo, all will probably be out for some time.

Bunting at Tail-Back

Dick Bunting was operating in the tailback slot and Joe Gurtis called signals as the Tar Heels polished up their passing and running plays. In the running attack emphasis was placed on tricky backfield maneuvers and spinners.

Rizzo, who dislocated his shoulder last Saturday, will probably see action in the Tennessee game, but will be hindered due to lack of practice this week. He will probably be required to wear a brace if he sees action come Saturday.

While the Big Boys were making preparations for their jaunt into the hills of Tennessee, the Freshman squad was hard at work preparing for their big test with Wake Forest's Baby Deacs Friday night. The game will be played in Fayetteville under the lights.—BUDDY VADEN

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS

53	ADPi	Alpha Gam 2	28
68	Alpha Gam 1	McIver	18
57	Chi O 5	Spencer	10
31	ADPi	Chi O 2	26
44	Tri Delt 3	Chi O 1	36

Tri Delt won from Alderman by forfeit.

Ruth Reposes

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 26.—(UP)—The body of Babe Ruth finally lay today in its earthly resting place, a grave on a wooded hillside in gate of Heaven Cemetery near here.

Ruth's funeral was held on Aug. 19 at St. Patrick's Cathedral, but until yesterday his mahogany casket had reposed in a receiving vault at the cemetery, awaiting selection of a cemetery plot by his family.

In a brief service yesterday afternoon, the casket was carried from the vault and placed in the grave chosen by his widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth.

Tracksters Card Second Weekly Meet Thursday

The second of the weekly Blue-White intrasquad track meets will be held on Fetzer field track tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Coach Dale Ranson last week divided his team into two sections in order that they might run regular weekly meets to stay in shape. The squad was split as evenly as possible and a number of freshmen were included in the two squads.

Last week's meet was won by the Blues by a score of 138½ points to 112½ for the Whites. Points were awarded for the first six places.

Ranson's boys turned in some fast times in several of the events. Top hurdler Taylor took a first in the 70-yard highs and another in the lows. His times for the respective events were 8:9 and 13.6.

Freshman Frank Scott, who scored all his team's 16 points in the Virginia state track meet last year while running for Petersburg high, is one of the Tar Heels' outstanding prospects. Scott last week copped the 220-yard dash in 23 seconds flat.

Tomorrow's meet will feature mainly field events with a few track events left over from last week. According to the schedule which Coach Ranson has set up, half of the events will be run each week making each meet actually run two weeks.

SHOPPERS
Discover Great Values at Berman's Dept. Store
Shop and See in Our Store Before You Buy —SEE OUR—
WINGS SHIRTS — ARROW SHIRTS
COOPER "JOCKEY" SHORTS — COOPER SOCKS
TENNIS SHOES—Many Brands, Many Prices
CROSBY SQUARE SHOES—A, B, C, D, E Width
SWANK JEWELRY
SHOWER SHOES
SAMPSON CARD TABLES
Our Second Floor Has
New Lighting Fixtures
Come See Our New Lights and Line of Dresses
Carrole King
Martha Manning
Judy Nell Coats and Suits
Miss Ealaine Gowns, Slips, Panties
MADEMOISELLE SWEATERS—Large Assortment
BLACK SUEDE LADIES' SHOES AND SCHOOL SHOES
Buy VALUES at—
BERMAN'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
—East Franklin Street—

Dorms Dominate Tag Loop Play As Frats Rest

Dormitory play again dominated the scene in the Intramural Tag Football league yesterday as the Fraternities have been granted a respite in play this week because of the Frats' annual rushing programs. The Intramural Department considerately allowed the Frat boys a minimum of contests this week but this only amounts to a lull before next week's storm.

Once put in the spotlight, the Dorms have responded with some high class ball playing. Oakwood Drive won its fourth of the season yesterday to retain its untainted record with a resounding 20-0 shutout of the Termites and Emerson Hotel gained the top spot in league 1 with a close 6-0 overtime decision over a fighting Ruffin crew. The winning points were scored by John Senter and as a result of his effort, the Stadium boys notched their fourth win in as many starts.

Steamers Lead

In one of the feature clashes of the afternoon, two unbeaten titans tangled and the outcome caused Mangum to suffer their first reversal of the campaign, while their foe, the Stanley Steamers, took undisputed first place in league 2. The hard fought game resulted in a 13-0 triumph for the Steamers as Osborne tallied all the points for the victors. The Town nine won its fourth of the year in a torrid 7-6 verdict over a luckless AROTC 1 congregation. The poor Air Corps boys have failed in every attempt to win so far.

C Dorm sustained their initial setback at the hands of the Mud Dobbers to the tune of 12-6 but still maintained the lead in their league while conversely QH 356 showered last evening elated over their first win, a 13-0 decision over Everett 1. Other Dorm tussles saw Manley score in the first half on a touchdown by Jim Williamson and humble Nash, 7-0 while Old East, Wesley Rockets and Miller all advanced because of ever present forfeit.

The limited frat action saw Phi

Chi Phi 2 Routed

Delt 1, behind Ott Evans and Walt Haywood, run roughshod over a feeble Chi Phi 2 squad. 47-0. Incidentally this count tied the team high for the season and also vaulted the Delts into the lead of league 5. Phi Kap Sig also impressed in a one-sided 33-0 verdict over Zeta 1 while PiKA 1 nipped Sigma Chi on Charley Smith's TD. 7-0. The hapless Beta 2 crew again tried to score a victory and made it close, but they eventually succumbed to St. Anthony in a 7-6 overtime struggle.

Mural Schedule

FOOTBALL

4:00. Field 1. Lewis vs Whitehead: 2, Stacy vs Ruffin: 3, Y Cab vs Emerson: 4. Steele vs AROTC 1: 5, Town vs Wesley Rocks: 6. Chi Psi vs Lambda Chi 2: 7, SAE 2 vs Chi Phi 1.

5:00. Field 1. AROTC 1 vs Grads: 2, Bombers vs Law School; 3, Med School 2 vs Fireballs; 4, Graham Dwellers vs Med School 1; 5, Mangum vs A Dorm; 6, Phi Delt Chi vs Sig Eps; 7, KA 2 vs Zeta 2.

TENNIS

3:30. Court 1. Jim Carson vs Lindy Ward; 2, G. Dawson vs winner of Venable and Mackie; 3, Dick Young vs Frank Ashcraft; 4, Charlie Vance vs R. E. Giles; 5, Darden-Stewart vs McLain-Vinson; 6, Woodson-Nicol vs McColl-Watson.

4:30. Court 1. Mackie-Henson vs Chavasse-Leinbeck.

Clark Taylor and Charlie Rice will battle it out for the singles crown in the Open division this week while the Taylor-Rice duo have advanced to the finals of the Open Doubles and will meet the victor of the Wilder-Morris vs Kenfield-Gruner match for the

Graham Memorial Football Contest

For Games of Saturday, Oct. 30, 1948

RULES:

Only one entry is permitted for each contestant. Black out parentheses beside team you predict will win. Write "TIE" in each box if tie is predicted. Predictions must be made for all 20 games or entry will be disqualified.

Parentheses must be BLACKED IN, not merely checked or "X'ed." Predict score for Carolina-Tennessee game. Blanks must be placed in entry box in the main hall of Graham Memorial by Saturday Noon, Oct. 30, 1948.

Name Address

Time Blank Turned In.

Score:	Carolina		Score	Tennessee
( ) VPI	( ) Army		( ) Mich. State	( ) Oregon State
( ) Penn. State	( ) Colgate		( ) Virginia	( ) Princeton
( ) Cornell	( ) Columbia		( ) Brown	( ) Rutgers
( ) Georgia Tech	( ) Duke		( ) Baylor	( ) TCU
( ) Florida	( ) Furman		( ) SMU	( ) Texas
( ) Alabama	( ) Georgia		( ) Miss. State	( ) Tulane
( ) Ole Miss	( ) LSU		( ) N. C. State	( ) Wake Forest
( ) Illinois	( ) Michigan		( ) So. Carolina	( ) West Virginia
( ) Notre Dame	( ) Navy		( ) Richmond	( ) Wm. & Mary
( ) UCLA	( ) Nebraska		( ) Dartmouth	( ) Yale

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

Fine Watches Need Excellent Care . . .
A Complete Watch Repair Service at—
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE

Here's how YOU can win the Gold Bars of an Army Officer
TWO NEW WAYS TO JOIN THE RANKS OF AMERICA'S YOUNG LEADERS

DIRECT COMMISSION

A commission as second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps with a 2-year initial tour of active duty is ready for you if you meet these requirements: one year of honorable service in any of the Armed Forces between 7 December 1941 and 30 June 1947; have completed two years at an accredited college or university; U. S. citizenship; AGCT score of 110 or better; not more than 32 years old; physically fit. Once commissioned, you'll be assigned to a 3-month officers' training school, and, on successful completion, you'll be free to compete for a Regular Army Commission if you meet the competitive tour age requirements. Go to your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station for complete details at once.

OCS FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

If you've graduated from high school or can pass an equivalent examination, are between 19 and 28 years old, are a U. S. citizen, and have necessary physical qualifications, apply now for enlistment for Army OCS. After your application is approved, you'll be enlisted as a Sergeant and given basic training if you have not had it already, then sent direct to Officer Candidate School, subject to quotas, of course. Upon graduation, you'll be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Reserve, and placed on two years of active duty. Top OCS graduates are commissioned in the Regular Army—all others may compete for a Regular Army Commission. Get all the facts about applying for OCS entrance at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station without delay!

NEW ACTIVE-DUTY OPPORTUNITIES FOR OFFICERS
See Reserve or National Guard Instructor or local recruiting station.

U. S. Post Office
Durham, N. C.

Air ROTC Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Freshman Dance Slated at WC This Saturday

Freshmen will be honored at a dance at Woman's college Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Featuring 400 WC girls, the dance is free to all freshmen. Transportation is by bus and will cost $1.75 for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale at 10:30 Thursday morning in Memorial hall, or can be obtained from Tom Cunningham, in 219 Everett dorm at any time.

The dance is sponsored by the Orientation committee. The last such dance was held the weekend of the Georgia football game and was considered very successful. The dances are girl break and a different group of girls will be present from last time.

The men can escort the girls home after the dance. Girls will meet the men at the dance.

A dance which was to have been sponsored by the Freshman Friendship council of the YMCA in conjunction with the Woman's college YWCA for this weekend has been postponed to a later date.

Chancellor House Has Busy Schedule

Chancellor R. B. House will have a busy week ahead of him, in addition to his regular duties.

He spoke last night at the Methodist church in Greensboro, and he is scheduled to appear before the Burlington alumni club tomorrow night. Thursday he will address a meeting of the American Association of Archivists and Historians at the Carolina Inn.

WHILE A GROUP of French coal miners talk over the latest action by their government in sending troops to the struck mines, a group of soldiers (left, background) moves into the St. Louis pit at St. Etienne. Shortly after this picture was made, a French government guard was killed and more than 100 injured when the miners attacked the troops with rocks in an effort to oust them from the struck property.

Local Wallacites Visiting Homes

The house-to-house canvassing by the Wallace-for-President club to distribute Progressive party literature is in full swing, yesterday announced Aubrey Williams, member of the executive committee.

"We hope to visit every house in our area four times before the election date," Williams said, regarding the plan to make the party platform and candidates known to students and citizens throughout the neighboring communities.

When questioned about public reaction to the third party, Williams declared, "Although we have found a general apathy toward politics on the part of many people, they do express a willingness to listen to us."

The Wallace club meets every Wednesday evening in Roland Parker lounge, Graham Memorial. New members are always welcome and, according to Williams, little time is spent worrying about the politics of members so long as they work for Wallace and the party.

The Progressive party candidate for lieutenant governor, Kenneth Harris, is expected to speak here in the near future.

Radio newscasting has made the public more interested in reading news.

Wettach Talks To Assembly On Law School

Describing law as the chief agency of social control, Dean Robert Wettach of the University School of law gave a brief outline of the school's history yesterday to freshmen students during assembly.

The speaker, introduced by Bill Friday, assistant dean of students, said the minimum requirement for entrance in the school is three years of approved college work. He said the skill developed in these courses is of more importance than the course that is taken.

"If you want to be a lawyer, make up your mind to be a good one," Dr. Wettach said, adding that pre-law work is almost as important as the work in law.

"If you are interested, the thing to do is to start now," he advised.

Rev. Charles Jones To Talk Tonight

"Boy-Girl Relationships" will be discussed by the Rev. Charles M. Jones, pastor of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church, in Gerrard hall this evening at 7:30 under the sponsorship of the Freshman Y Council.

The public is invited.

-Tar Babies-

(Continued from page 3)

The Tar Babies will probably be at top strength for their game Friday. The trio of injured, Gantt, Hesmer and Blocking Back Paul Cuba have all sufficiently recovered from their ailments and were able to participate in practice sessions earlier this week.

Wake Forest, like both of Carolina's two previous foes, operates from the T-formation with Davis in the quarterback spot. Much of the emphasis on this week's drills will be on pass defense, but a large portion will also be devoted to working up a defense to stop the running of Smith and Stutts.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

11:30—OFFICIAL CLASS RINGS on sale in Y lobby until 2 o'clock.
1:00—MOVIE, "OF LIBERAL EDUCATION," Naval Armory.
3:00—ADM. J. W. ROPER, Chief of Naval Personnel in Washington, will speak in Memorial hall in observance of Navy day.
4:00—CAROLINA DOG FOUNDATION, meeting with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
4:00—STUDENT RECITAL, Hill hall.
4:00—STUDENT PARTY steering, campaign and freshman committees meet in Grail Room, GM.
4:30—BETA GAMMA SIGMA, honorary scholastic commerce fraternity, meet in 108 Bingham.
5:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Freshmen candidates nominated at rally urged to attend. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
6:00—WINSTON-SALEM CLUB, election of officers. Gerrard hall.
6:15—STEERING COMMITTEE of Campus Party, 103 Bingham hall.
7:00—GREEK STUDENTS, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
7:00—CAMPUS COUNCIL, Grail room, GM.
7:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Nomination of candidates for freshman offices. 103 Bingham hall.
7:15—JOHNSTON COUNTY CLUB, Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:30—FRESHMAN COUNCIL, YMCA. Rev. Charles Jones, speaker, on "Boy-Girl Relationships." Public invited. Gerrard hall.
8:00—WALLACE CLUB, Horace Williams lounge, GM.

Recital Schedule For This Afternoon

The third student music recital will be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Hill hall, and the public is invited. The program is as follows: "Sonata in B flat major" (Mozart), William Tritt, violin, Barbara Tritt, piano; "Avant de quitter ce lieux" (Gounod), Milton Bliss, baritone, Henry Lofquist, piano: "Nocturne in D flat major" (Chopin) and "Sorocaba" (Milhaud), Charles Somers, piano.

Horace Greeley was an early champion of women's rights.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

with CESAR ROMERO
WALTER ABEL · REGINALD GARDINER
20th CENTURY-FOX
—Also—
PETE SMITH NOVELTY
"PIGSKIN SKILL"
TODAY
CAROLINA

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

HEAR HENRY WALLACE TONIGHT! Wednesday, October 27, CBS, 10:30-10:45 p.m. (ch 1x1)

COEDS! TELEPHONE NOW INstalled in 3rd floor "C" Dorm. Call F-708. Have information ready concerning financial status, make and model of car. Calls limited to three minutes. (1-8005-1)

WILL THE STUDENT WHO PICKED up Glenn May's lab manual please bring it to Hut No. 27. (2-947-1)

DRESSMAKING, ALTERATIONS, AND repair work. If you want to star in the social firmament by increasing your wardrobe, see us. Over West Franklin St. Grocery Store. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT. 5A

FIVE ROOM FURNISHED HOUSE—Will consider two couples, or family. Contact me at 45 Rogerson Drive, Chapel Hill, N. C., between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Thursday, the 28th. (1-8009-1)

FOR SALE 6B

NEW FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREfoy Rd. Ashestos shingle with picture window, hardwood floors, tabletop water heater. Call 8756. (6-927-1)

COLLECTOR'S ITEM—EDMUND WILson's Memoirs of Hecate County—to highest bidder. Make offer evenings after six at F-2817. (1-8006-1)

FOR WIFE AND BABY, AND PRIvacy at lowest cost, you can't beat this trailer bargain. Butane stove, nursery addition, exceptional roominess. See 55A Trailer Court. (1-941-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

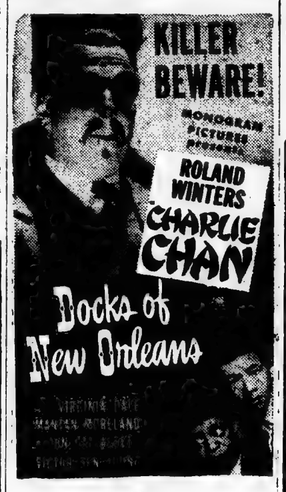
PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER. TYPING of all kinds. Neat work, quick service. See Mrs. Louise Graham, Trailer No. 42, Uni. Trailer Court. Phone 9031. (2-8004-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

RIDE TO TENN. GAME FOR DAILY Tar Heel photographer and assistant, leaving around 5:30 or six Friday evening. Call F-3371. (1-1200-1)

WANTED 24

FOUR GOOD TICKETS—OR EVEN fair—to the William & Mary game. I need 'em bad. Please call Dusty Moore, 60996. (2-950-1)



WHERE TO EAT 28

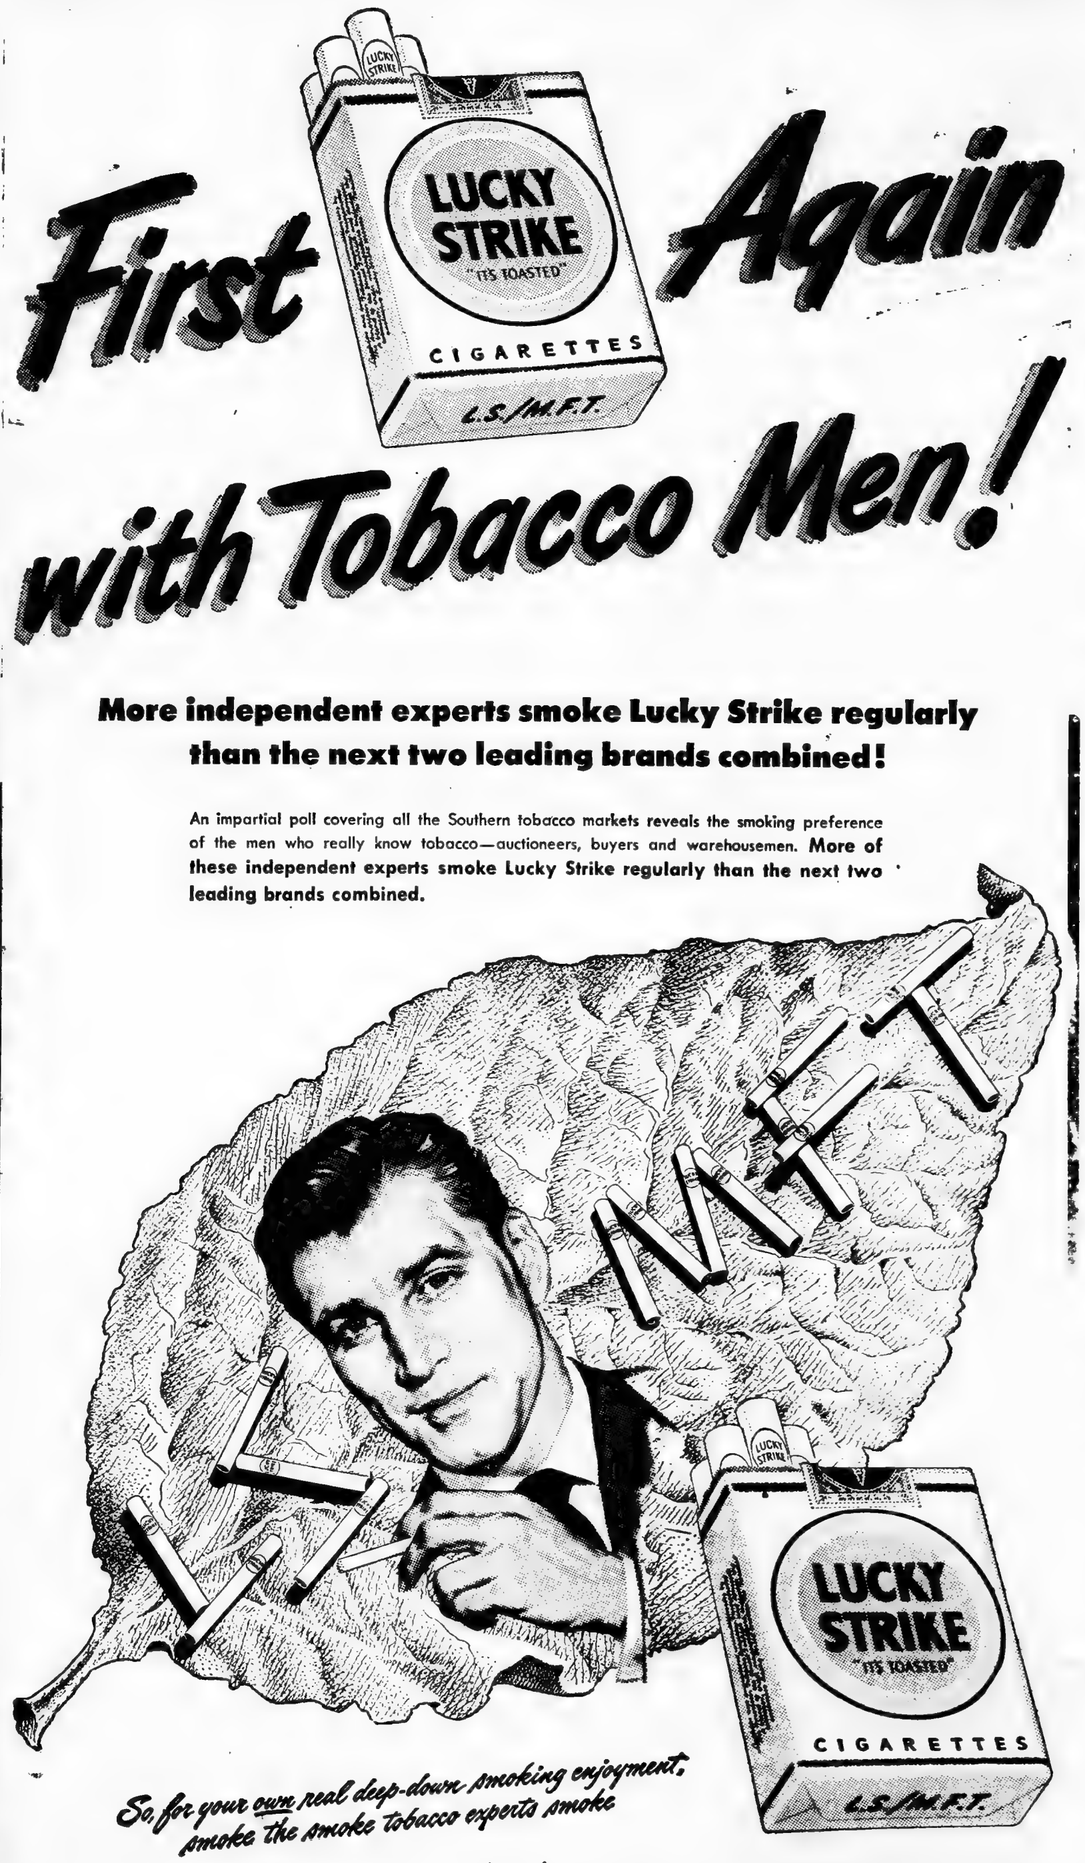
FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Room
TELEPHONE 4301

Students! Professors! Secretaries!
You Can Own a
ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER
For Only—
$35.33 Down
and $12.50 per month for ten months
YOU PAY AS YOU USE IT!
Take Advantage Now of Royal's Low Prices
OFFICE MACHINES, INC.
221 FOSTER ST. 9-2492
Durham, N. C.

—Also—
CARTOON — MUSICAL
TODAY
VILLAGE



Li'l Abner By Al Capp

Cheese Blintzes Today — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

First Again with Tobacco Men!

More independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next two leading brands combined!

An impartial poll covering all the Southern tobacco markets reveals the smoking preference of the men who really know tobacco—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen. More of these independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next two leading brands combined.

So, for your own real deep-down smoking enjoyment, smoke the smoke tobacco experts smoke

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO

So round; so firm; so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

TOBER 27, 1948

Oooooh! what she'll do to you!

BETTY GRABLE
LAS FAIRBANKS, Jr.
at LADY ERMINE
ECHNICOLOR
OMERO 20th CENTURY FOX
REGINALD GARDINER
ITH NOVELTY
ODAY
OLINA

in n!

arly

KE
TTES
A.F.T.

he draw

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER
Fair and mild.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
War Talks
Doing A Service
No Ku Klux

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 30

ABOARD THE PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL as it left Washington for Chicago are President Truman, his wife and their daughter Margaret. The Truman family flashes cheerful smiles as the chief executive departs on final tour of his campaign before the November elections. The last stop will be at the Truman home in Independence, Mo., where the president and his family will cast their votes.

Kerr Scott Will Make Talk Here

By Sam McKsel

W. Kerr Scott, Democratic candidate for governor of North Carolina, will end his campaign Monday night with a speech in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock.

Scott, who won the second primary over Charles M. Johnson, has been touring the state for the past 11 weeks. He will speak here under the auspices of the Young Democrats club.

Scott entered the 1948 campaign for governor against two strong candidates, Johnson, and Mayne Albright. He came in second in the first primary, but was close enough to Johnson to force a two man run-off.

Born in Hawfields community in Alamance county, Scott began his political career as county farm agent. In 1936 he was elected state commissioner of agriculture. At the start of the primary campaign, Scott resigned as commissioner, saying that no man should try to hold down two jobs at once. While commissioner, he sponsored the diversification of farm products, the doing away with the one-crop system. He also set up such an efficient administration in the Agriculture department that other states sent representatives to study the system.

Scott will be entertained at a banquet in the Carolina inn at 6:30.

Ten ROTC Men Receive Honors For Unit Work

Ten men in the Air ROTC unit have been designated as distinguished military students by Col. Byron R. Switzer, commanding officer for the unit, and Chancellor Robert B. House. This is the highest honor that an ROTC student can receive, Col. Switzer said.

The distinction is given only to those students who have shown outstanding qualities of leadership both in academic work and military science. Students who are named as distinguished military students are eligible to apply for appointments as 2nd Lieutenants in the regular Air Force, Col. Switzer said.

The 10 men who have been designated are; Cadet Major Robert M. McAllister, Cadet Lt. Col. Paul J. English, Cadet Capt. James W. Geiger, Cadet Capt. Robert A. Gray, Cadet Lt. Albert F. Howell, Cadet Capt. Lester P. Martin, Cadet Lt. Grey L. Adams, Cadet Capt. John D. Brown, Cadet Lt. William T. Luke, and Cadet Lt. Thomas E. Cunningham.

Pep Rally

Tookie Hodgson, vice-president of the University club announced yesterday that the pep rally preceding the Tennessee will begin in front of the Andrew Johnson hotel in Knoxville at 12:30 Saturday afternoon.

Students will assemble inside of the roped-off area in front of the hotel and then march along a special route to Shields-Watkins stadium. Norm Sper, head cheerleader, will lead the parade.

University students visiting Knoxville who wish to stay overnight may obtain aid from members of the University club who will be on hand to assist in obtaining hotel reservations, lodgings in tourist camps and to render general assistance.

Lois Cranford Resigns Post With Merchants

Lois Cranford has resigned as secretary to the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants' association, its was announced yesterday. Miss Cranford, for the past four and a half years has been employed by both the Merchants association and F. O. Bowman, dividing her working day between them.

"Both the association's needs and the requirements of Mr. Bowman's work have expanded to the point that each needs a full-time secretary," said Miss Cranford. "I have elected to become a full-time secretary to Mr. Bowman, and for this reason have asked to be relieved of my associational duties."

The board of directors instructed the president to appoint a committee to study all aspects of setting up a separate office for the Association, which has been using Bowman's office, under the direction of a full-time secretary. Mr. L. V. Huggins, president of the Association, named L. J. Phipps, chairman, Harvey D. Bennett, and E. C. Smith to serve on this committee.

Registrars' Books Stay Padlocked

By Herb Nachman

Local registration books for Tuesday's general election remained tightly closed last night despite a student's charge that an elections official promised that books would reopen if voters could prove they were unable to register between the hours of 5:30 and 6 o'clock last Saturday.

R. J. Smith of Hillsboro, chairman of the Orange county Board of Elections said flatly last night that the books were closed as of 5:29 Saturday evening and as far as he was concerned would remain closed.

Smith said the state election laws specify that the books must close at sundown on the last night of registration. "It doesn't make any difference if there are 100 people waiting, they won't get to register after 5:29," he pointed out.

J. B. Johns, member of the Chapel Hill Elections board, last night denied a statement he made two days ago that registrars had been instructed to remain at their posts until 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Johns also retracted a promise that qualified would-be voters who could prove they were at town hall with the intention of registering between 5:30 and 6 o'clock Saturday evening would be given another chance to register.

Smith explained that the south precinct in Chapel Hill had remained open the first two Saturdays of registration until 6 o'clock but he said the law specifies that on the last night, the books must close at sundown.

"They can stay open all night if they want to, until the last night, then they must close at sundown," he said.

Johns reported that the Rev. J. R. Green, registrar of the south precinct, had said that he would stay open until 6 o'clock the first two nights since he wasn't sure of the exact hour of sundown.

Mrs. John Gillin, president of the Chapel Hill League of Women Voters, said last night that the League was acting in good faith when it distributed signs saying that registration would be conducted until 6 o'clock. "Elections officials in Chapel Hill should be given a pat on the back for keeping the books open until 6 o'clock. The league acted under instructions from Mr. Johns when issuing the signs."

The student who filed the complaint with Johns was unaware of the ruling that on the last night of registration the books

(See ELECTION, page 4)

Negro Students Are Concerned In AVC Motion

The American Veterans' committee held their weekly meeting Tuesday night in the Presbyterian church, passing a motion to establish a special committee to investigate and assist other organizations in programs working towards the admission of Negro students to the University graduate school.

It was unanimously moved that letters be sent to Gov. Gregg Cherry and Judge Hubert T. Olive, chairman of the State board of elections, urging that civil liberties of all voters be respected regardless of race or party affiliations in the voting on Nov. 2.

A proposal that AVC request Abernathy's book store to preserve the unity of the United States by discontinuing the sale of Confederate flags was voted down by a majority.

At the next meeting of the AVC members will vote whether to have an open, public debate between Junius Scales, Communist party representative and Charles Sellers, on the aims of the Communist party within liberal, non-Communist organizations.

Knoxville Train Leaves at 7:15

The leaving time of the special train to Knoxville Friday night has been changed to 7:15 in the evening, instead of 8:00 o'clock as had previously been announced, J. S. Bloodworth, of the Southern Railway said yesterday.

Dorm Election Results Released By Council

Results of dormitory elections held during the last week and a half were released yesterday by the Interdormitory council. The elections began Oct. 18 and ended with runoffs Tuesday.

Bernard Plemmons is president of "A" dorm with Fred Ogden vice-president and Bill Wheeler secretary-treasurer. Officers of the other dorms in the same order are Alexander, Al House, Julian Albergatti, and Moe Huntley; Aycock, Bill Payeff, George Siebold, and Joe Kumpe; "B" dorm, John Sloan, Hassell Sledd, and Max Harris; Battle-Vance-Pettigrew, Sam Miller, Charlie Clapp, and Ralph Parks; "C" dorm, Harry Aycock, Dick Bunting, and Bob Payne.

Everett, Benjamin Kilpatrick, John Baker, and Morris Moser; Graham, L. A. Coman, Charles Coggin, and Leon Cowan; Grimes, Clarence Gilbert, Perry Henson, and Talmadge Jordan; Lewis, Carl Harris, John Eaton, and Coye Rogers; Mangum, Bill Lambert, Nat Swann, and Orman Hutcherson; Manly, Bob Birer, Clay Brittain, and Joe Bach; Miller, Dick Underwood, George Kennon, and Bill Jones; Nash, Lee Cannon, Charles Thompson, and William Chambers.

Old East, LeFoy Milks, Joe Putnam, and B. B. Ward; Old West, Charlie Hayes, Wallace Thompson, and Fred Patterson; Ruffin, Bob Marsh, Bill Brown, and Jack Ward; Stacy, George Blackwelder, Charles Bennett, and Maurice Wilson; Steele, Bill Rogers, Guy McFarland, and Sid Varney; and Whitehead, Harold Peedin, Glenn Moak, and Bob Smith.

Debate Council Slates Meeting This Evening

The Debate council will hold a practice session tonight at 7:30 in the Grail room for all students interested in extemporaneous speaking, dramatic reading, and poetry reading.

In expanding forensic activities for the forthcoming year the Debate council is also instituting a series of practice and tryout sessions each Thursday night in the following fields: oratory, announcing, and informative speaking. Successful contestants will participate in tourneys to be held this year in North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Michigan, and Louisiana.

The topics for the extemporaneous speaking tryouts Thursday night will be furnished by the Debate council. The contestants may select their own dramatic or poetry readings, but dramatic readings are limited to nine minutes reading time and poems to 50 lines.

Tryouts are still being held for the varsity debating squad which will begin a northern tour early in November. A campus intramural debate tournament is also scheduled for next month. Dates and rules for the tournament will be announced later.

Victory Bell

The statue of James Buchanan Duke looked on approvingly, as the Carolina victory bell pealed merry greetings to Duke university students at the presentation of the Duke-Carolina version of the "Little Brown Jug" trophy yesterday at 3 o'clock.

Tar Heels cheerleaders, led by Norm Sper, announced their arrival on the quadrangle in front of Duke Chapel by ringing the victory bell as they drove up. On the lawn in front of the statue the Duke cheering squad waited. Two Blue Devils raced around the truck as it came to a stop.

A crowd of over 150 Duke students gathered to watch the proceedings, as the cheerleaders exchanged greetings and lifted the heavy metal cart off the truck. As the comely coed cheerleaders of Duke inspected the blue and white wagon with a big D painted on the seat and a NC painted on the lower stand, Sper formally presented the bell to Loring Jones, Duke head cheerleader.

Phi Assembly Votes 15 to 3 On States Rights

By a vote of 15 to 3, the Philanthropic assembly endorsed civil and states rights during its meeting Tuesday night in Phi hall.

The bill, sponsored by Representative Brion Griswold, explained that the resolutions foresaw the necessity of federal interference within states which did not protect civil liberties.

Proponents of the bill included Trumanites and Dixiecrats. The Thurmond followers claimed states rights have been deleted by Mr. Truman.

Eloise Jacobi Wins Election As CICA Head

Eloise Jacobi, senior from Wilmington, was elected president of the Carolina Independent Coed association by acclamation yesterday to replace Betty Long of Salisbury, who resigned.

A transfer student from Woman's college, Miss Jacobi was a member of last year's Yack staff, treasurer of the Wilmington-Carolina club, and CICA vice-president. Marty Hinkle of Winston-Salem was elected to replace Miss Jacobi as vice-president.

The club discussed plans for the annual Sadie Hawkins' day, which will be held on campus early in November. Plans are under way to begin the activities at 1:30 with a parade from the Y to Fetzer field, where the "Human Race" will be staged.

Marty Hinkle and Gwen Baber were appointed to work on the Sadie Hawkins committee with members from the Town Girls' association and Western Carolina club. The group will meet today at 5 o'clock in front of Memorial hall.

Meeting time for CICA has been set for 7 o'clock every Wednesday night. Members are reminded of volley ball practice to be held at 4 o'clock today.

Dorm chairmen were appointed as follows: Joyce Harris, Alderman; Betty Long, McIver; Martha Hughes, Smith, and Renate Hoke, Archer House.

Safety Council Recommends Ban On New Areas

At the Tuesday meeting of the Safety council it was decided to recommend to the administration that two new areas be added to the restricted parking areas, Steve Millikin, council chairman, reported yesterday. Dormitory students living in the adjacent areas are to be given red stickers which carry parking privileges up to Sept. 1, 1949, Millikin said.

Areas recommended are between Cameron avenue and the county health office, and between Cameron avenue and the Alumni building.

Representatives of the student body, faculty, and administration were present for the meeting. The members present agreed that the traffic situation on campus has been vastly improved by the present system of red and blue stickers, Millikin said.

Elections Committee Will Discuss Bills

Members of the elections committee of Student Legislature will meet today at 4 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, Graham Memorial in order to act on two bills before tonight's meeting of the Legislature, Joe Leary announced yesterday.

Hazel Scott Concert Is Scheduled Tonight

By Margaret Gaston

Hazel Scott, who will appear tonight at 8:30 in Memorial hall, has selected a program which includes classics, semi-classics, popular pieces, and original boogie-woogie compositions. She will also render her interpretation of "Fur Elise" by Beethoven, in jazz time.

Sponsored by the Student Entertainment committee, the program will be available to students and faculty members only. Scotty Venable, student chairman of the committee, reported yesterday. Students must present their identification cards at the door for admittance. Venable warned that a "first-come, first-serve" basis will be used in determining who is to get the 1,850 seats. He urged students to come as early as possible, as a capacity crowd is expected.

Miss Scott has appeared in motion pictures, radio and night-clubs. Her talent for blending together classics and boogie-woogie makes her popular to both Jazz fans and music-lovers alike.

The Student Entertainment committee met yesterday to discuss future plans for the entertainment series. Tentative plans have been made to stage a series of five programs for the student body.

Four Speakers Will Continue Debate Series

Continuing in line with last night's Di Senate forum on the qualifications of the various presidential candidates, Al Lowenstein, Charles Long, Gran Childress and Aubrey Williams will discuss "How Best to Further World Government in the Coming Election."

This debate, sponsored by the United World Federalists, will be held in Roland Parker Lounge No 3 this afternoon at 5.

Chancellor House Appoints Group for Planning Board

A committee "to consider ways and means" of re-establishing a state planning board was named yesterday by Chancellor Robert B. House who presided over a three-hour luncheon conference at the Carolina Inn, attended by more than 125 prominent citizens from all sections of the State.

The committee is composed of Benjamin Cone, Greensboro, George Watts Hill, Durham, and City Manager Robert Flack, Durham, with John Sprunt Hill, Durham, as consultant. John A. Parker, head of the University's Department of City and Regional Planning, was asked to serve as executive secretary.

The assemblage included mayors, city managers, faculty members at Chapel Hill, North Carolina State, and Woman's college, and planning specialists from a number of North Carolina towns.

The group heard addresses by Walter Blucher, Chicago, executive director, American Society of Planning Officials; Col. E. W. Palmer, member of the Tennessee State Planning commission and president of the Kingsport press, and several state mayors and city managers, and then voted unanimously to inaugurate plans looking toward the re-establishment of a state planning board.

"This is the most important step being taken in North Carolina at the present time," said Hill, who declared he had been vitally interested in city planning ever since he became a citizen of Durham. "We ought to jump at the opportunity to establish a planning board in North Carolina on a permanent basis."

University Press Has Book Honored

"Bold Galilean," a novel of the time of Christ by LeGette Blythe, published by the University of North Carolina press, has been chosen as a spring, 1949, selection of the People's Book club.

This is the first time that a novel published by a university press has been selected by a major book club and only the third time in publishing history that any book of a university press has been so honored. A minimum of 125,000 copies of "Bold Galilean" will be sent by the club to its members after March 15, 1949.

The author, a Charlotte newspaperman and an alumnus of the University, has written two other books, "Alexandriana," and a biography of Napoleon's marshal, Michel Ney.

NROTC Students Hear Talk By Rear Admiral J. W. Roper

By Leonard Dudley

Rear Adm. J. W. Roper, deputy chief of naval personnel, addressed a group of 350 Naval ROTC students here yesterday in observance of Navy day.

"People ask why in this atomic age do we need a large Navy," Admiral Roper said. "We need it to establish and maintain control of those strategic areas which we use for our commerce."

"The Navy's mission," Adm. Roper said, "is to keep the peace, and if we don't keep the peace, to win the war. There are many who feel that armaments cause war. That's like saying that if we do away with automatic pistols we won't have burglaries or robberies," Adm. Roper said.

In trying to determine the size of our navy, Adm. Roper said that this would depend on several factors: the kind of world in which we live, what kind of support we wanted to give friendly nations, what kind of war we were fighting, and how we planned to fight it.

Adm. Roper pointed out that the size of the navy is determined by the government. The navy must be large enough to ward off the initial blow of an aggressor nation and give us time to prepare for war, he said.

Legal Fraternity Hears J. C. Smith

Julius C. Smith, Jr., executive vice president and general counsel for Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., Greensboro, spoke yesterday to the Ruffin chapter of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity at the Carolina Inn.

Introduced by Bob Perdue, third year member of the fraternity, Smith spoke briefly of the basic qualities required of lawyers. Chief among those enumerated were character, for which there is no substitute, the speaker said, and common sense, without which brilliance of mind is of no use.

Late News Bulletins

New Party

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 27—(UP)—South Carolina supporters of President Truman tonight formed a new state Democratic party and named a replacement for Gov. J. Strom Thurmond as party national committeeman.

Truman Lashes

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—(UP)—President Truman lashed out anew at the spread of Communism tonight and pledged that this nation "will not retreat" from its stand on the Berlin crisis.

Dewey Disagrees

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey took issue tonight with President Truman over Communism, picturing the chief executive as an unwitting exponent of Communist propaganda.

Steel Increase

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(UP)—Two subsidiaries of the United States Steel company announced tonight they were making increases in the prices of zinc-coated steel products because of a rise in the price of zinc.

War Talks

A retired wartime general suggested in an interview recently that the United States should "push through the Berlin blockade." He cited what another general would have done, if he had the opportunity. The general he referred to was Patton.

This ex-general Hap Arnold continued by saying that he may be wrong, but a show of force by the Americans would not be called by the Russians. He further said that "We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear. If our people will take the time coolly to analyze what Russia does and does not possess militarily, America will be greatly heartened."

It is paradoxical for General Arnold to tell the people of America and of the world that one should think coolly on one hand and on the other suggest the use of force now. He has been a great figure and has rendered great service when the country demanded men of action and daring. The country has paid its due respect to him, and he is now retired comfortably on a ranch in California's Valley of the Moon. We hope he is as successful in cattle-raising as he was in leading the Air Force.

However, we are of the opinion that Arnold has made a grave mistake in speaking as boldly as he did. His words will certainly add to the Kremlin's lyrics to its people that America wants war. Arnold's admonition that we should think coolly was well said, but he must realize that that is what our State department and our delegates at the United Nations are trying to do.

Has General Hap Arnold lost faith in the United Nations, that he must suggest that we use unilateral action to gain the ends the Western powers want for the people of the world? Does he want the United States to be like Athens of ancient Greece, which spread its Democracy by annexation and tyrannical sway?

We had thought that General Arnold fought, as did most Americans, for a chance for the peoples of the world to live in peace and to settle differences in a peaceful manner through the agency we the peoples created—the United Nations.

It is our hope that in the next few trying months, all of us including our present and past leaders will think coolly, and not set ourselves to belligerent action until we have convinced the world and ourselves that such a move is for a just cause and end. —L.K.

Doing a Service

In a democratic country the functions of government are of vital importance to every citizen, because the basic and final power of the government rests in the hands of the people. Yet Americans as individuals remain woefully ignorant of the processes by which they govern themselves.

In Chapel Hill one organization doing much to dispel some of this ignorance and to arouse more public interest in government is the League of Women Voters. Organized only a year ago, the non-partisan group has between 40 and 50 members, but its activity belies its numbers. In city and state elections held in the last year the League has been instrumental in spreading information to citizens on the procedure of registering and voting. Last spring the group published a pamphlet entitled "Your Local Government" which explained the organization of city government in Chapel Hill. Latest activity of the League was the posting of signs with information on registering for the national election—and incidentally the signs were not at fault in saying registration would be held open until six o'clock last Saturday. That was the time J. B. Johns, member of the Orange county board of elections, instructed the registrars to close their books, although election rules call for closing of registration at the hour of sunset.

The League of Women Voters is particularly interested in having students join its activities, and for those who expect to spend the rest of their lives in a democracy, now is a good time to become interested in the privileges and responsibilities of self-government.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sport Staff: Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasser, Wuff Newell, Chan Barksdale, Zane Robbins, Frank Allston.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

HATS, HATS, and more hats are just what they want down in the Rendezvous room tomorrow night. All you gotta' do is tie a few pieces of crepe paper together, or better yet, take an old felt or straw and dress it up a bit for the occasion. Why don't you fellows get your dates to work up something for you? You know, there's a prize for the most original creations; and you don't have to be another Lily Dache' to try.

LOST AND FOUND—this time we're lucky, what with a couple of "founds." Both of them are rings. Now, whether that means broken friendships—cast away friends, etc., we won't venture to say. One is a wedding band which was found at the last freshman assembly. It is now in the office of the "Y." The other is a class ring from Beaver high school in Bluefield, W. Va., with the initials IMJ on the inside. See Don Maynard about that one.

CONFESS. Whoever took the prize-winning ram from the Old East LSU display last week is a—well, we do have names for you, but we promise to keep them to ourself if you bring it back home.

WHY NOT TRY AGAIN? One frosh from Stacy and one soph from Aycock saw Gail Russell in a picture last weekend and got so hepped up over her that they came home and put in person-to-person call collect to Hollywood for her. Her father ended up on the other end of the line and told the operator that she was out and would be back in later. Discouraged so early in the game, the boys cancelled the call.

REBEL THOUGHTS have been roaming through Steve Wilson's mind, we hear. Seems he has brilliant ideas of open houses in the men's dorms, particularly after games. We'll not divulge the details of his plans, but ask him about his proposed rules and regulations.

FLIRTING? No, the Pi Phi's like the good ol' American term "rushing" better when it comes to entertaining somebody like Tan Verhaggen from Holland. Seems Tan was munching away on his first hot dog last Sunday night and telling the girls about the university system in his home country, where clubs similar to fraternities "flirt" instead of "rush."

WHERE'S HIS HATCHET? While on the subject, we must let you know what this week's rushing has done to men who at one time were considered to have at least normal intelligence. Fr'instance, there's ATO George Rodman from Washington, N. C.,—who goes rushing up to some rushee and blurts out, "Hello, I'm George Washington from Rodman!"

IN TOWN:

CHAPEL HILL DOGS seem to have us beat when it comes to the matter of intelligence. We hear that one of them treed a pigeon and, after playing with it awhile, hungrily gobbled it up.

ON THEIR TOES. The dance group under Foster Fitzsimmons, we hear, is thinking about having a monthly program meeting with guest speakers. Incidentally, such people as Betsy Brunk, Mrs. H. D. Beatty, and Mrs. John Gillin tell us the class is a whale of a lot of fun.

TOO BAD we couldn't have Cornelia O. Skinner come over here from Duke for another of her monologue programs. She was received with enthusiasm at the Women's campus there, we hear.

Next Act: Sawing a Party in Two

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Progressive Program

Marshall Plan Isn't Good

By The Publicity Committee Progressive Party of Chapel Hill

Public opinion toward the Marshall plan has changed considerably since that dramatic day when Henry Wallace broke with the Democratic party over it. Since then enthusiasm for this "humanitarian" program has definitely waned. To begin with, then, we should like to ask its supporters why, if the Marshall plan is primarily "humanitarian," was UNRRA destroyed, and by the very people who are now the supporters and administrators of the Marshall Plan? UNRRA did a superb job, helping rehabilitate the world on a non-political basis—the entire world. And why is it that the people who readily grant billions for the Marshall plan are those who destroyed OPA, obstructed a genuine housing program, sponsored Taft-Hartley, and vulgarly labeled Wallace's plans in 1946 for feeding the world as "globaloney"?

Below is a brief comparison of aid to Greece under the two programs:

UNRRA: Food, $90,000,000; Medical Aid, $7,540,000; Drachma exchange rate, 7,914 to the dollar.

MARSHALL PLAN: Food, $40,000,000; Medical Aid, $1,800,000; Drachma exchange rate, 11,510 to the dollar.

Prices in Greece under the UNRRA were stable though high; under the Marshall Plan, prices rose 32.5 percent on basic stuff. (All figures from the United Nations Bulletins.)

The obviously militaristic aim of the Marshall plan in Greece, as in China, has been a disastrous failure. For "strange" reasons, a guerrilla force of 25,000 cannot be destroyed by a finely equipped army of 150,000 armed with U.S. artillery and British planes.

To fully understand the Marshall plan one must know something of its history. A month before Marshall broke the plan at Harvard in 1947, Acheson launched a feeler at Cleveland in which he urged the rebuliding of Germany and Japan as the core of "world-recovery." Then Rep. Tabor came out openly for a separate peace settlement, and Vandenburg said that we could not wait too long for "peace." Coincidentally, an article appeared in "Foreign Affairs" by a mysterious "Mr. X" outlining State department plans for a Soviet blockade. It becomes clear that the Marshall plan was a normal extension of a policy developed since the end of the war to scuttle all wartime agreements, split Germany, isolate Russia, and make the Ruhr the main base of American monopolistic control of Europe.

The "humanitarian aspects" of the Marshall plan, to make it palatable to the people of western Europe and this country, have receded like winter snows in April during recent months. But the drift was apparent long ago, as Wallace declared again and again. Dulles (Franco's personal attorney, Rockefeller Corporation lawyer and America-firster) early called for a regional defense pact in connection with the Marshall plan. Churchill was enthusiastic, stating that we had even gone beyond his Fulton speech! Recently Britain was rudely awakened to the realities of the "humanitarian" plan. She is already spending 3 billion this year for arms. Increases, says Woodrow Wyatt, M. P., mean "chaos nearly as great as that of any war." Add to this the fact that Britain will not be eating adequately till after 1952 and the terrible implications of the true nature of economic reconstruction under the Marshall plan become clearer.

Thus it is plain that the fundamental contradictions in the Marshall Plan prevent its success. It urges a "strong production effort" but claims the raw materials of these countries necessary to make the effort good. It proposes "the growth of international trade" but checks the flow of goods between western and Eastern Europe. It cites the necessity of "sound economic conditions" but assumes a 1951 standard of living lower than pre-war! It anticipates soundness of European currencies while doing nothing to U.S. inflation which aggravates the serious dollar-shortage over there. It intones a theme of "genuine independence" in Europe and interferes in every respect of the co-operating economies. It holds aloft the high principle of "individual liberty" and then arms Greek and Turkish fascists, not to mention Dictator Salazar of Portugal. It extols the objectives of UN and then by-passes the organization completely. It recognizes the danger of war and furthers the march to war.

In conclusion, we say with Senator Glen Taylor that if the exponents of the Marshall Plan are sincere, they would hand its administration back to the United Nations, as his amendment, which received three votes in the Senate, proposed.

The Critical Ear

Audience Forgot Watches

By Donald Roberts

A piano sonata by Vincent d'Indy, Opus 63, in E Minor, was the highlight of the lecture-recital given by William S. Newman on Tuesday night. The sonata, previously unperformed in formal recital in this country, was one of three rare piano sonatas, ranging from Late Baroque to Late Romantic in form, which made up the program.

Dr. Newman performed the first two works, the Sonata in C Minor by Giovanni Platti and the Sonata in F-sharp Minor by Friedrich Rust, with a clarity of style which was notable for never becoming too heavy—especially in the former, where a tedious combination of firmness and light brilliance was required. But it was in the d'Indy that he demonstrated a remarkable ability for sustaining a large work over a long period of time and giving to it a totally convincing performance. For the work, with a playing time of thirty-six minutes, not only required tremendous technique but also good control over what is probably one of the most varied works in the history of piano music. From the introduction through the violent climax and what he himself termed a "Tristan" ending, the pianist was able to keep up excited musical interest.

His choice for an encore, the Fantasy in F Minor, Op. 49, of Chopin, was perhaps an unwise one since this enormous, seldom-played work, coming on the heels of a composition of such proportions as the d'Indy, was a bit exhausting. But the pianist's interpretation of it was an intelligent one, and there was little evidence of any loss of enthusiasm in its presentation.

In his comments on the music, Dr. Newman displayed a pleasing talent for winning the confidence of his listeners and at the same time setting them at ease. With just the right touch of informality, he spoke of the "sort of yearning" mood of the main theme in the last movement of the d'Indy or cracked at "today's streamlined recitals" where works of thirty-six minutes playing time are frowned upon. This, combined with an exciting performance, made the average listener forget to look at his watch.

Write Away

No Ku Klux Dragon

Editor:

Last week you published a letter from me which took slight issue concerning points in an editorial "Thoughts on Dixiecrats," and which mildly pointed out just how hard it was to know what Southern Democrats supporting Truman thought. I didn't think this would initiate much reaction or receive much notice. But, since then I have been greeted by friends and acquaintances on the campus wih such remarks as "I thought well of you—," "Hello demagogue, how can you be such an ignorant rebel?" or "You don't really—."

Now I'm willing to argue the political point with anyone, but be it known to all and sundry that I'm not associated with any secret, underground, or vicious fascist society; I wasn't aware of having departed with my senses overnight, I'm not campaigning for Jeff Davis and secession, and I'm not a Grand Dragon in the Klan or even a little green one.

Right now I feel pretty much like the Mississippi constituents when told by the late and little-lamented Senator Bilbo, "You ain't got but three friends, Eugene Talmadge, Sears-Roebuck, and God Almighty."

Bryan Griswold

One Step Too Far

Editor:

The other day a girl named Doris Something-or-other come by the place and wanted to leave my wife some literature, which she done. And which same literature if I caught my wife reading it, I'd break her arm.

Well, Sir, this Doris is running for the North Carolina House of Representatives, or some such, and I'll give 5 to 3 she don't make it this year, and in addition to an unsigned picture of herself which she give us, I noticed among the literature was the program of this Progressive party for the State of North Carolina, with pictures on the back of it of some very distinguished-looking citizens whom they are running for office. The one running for Lt. Gov. is a artist, which he looks it.

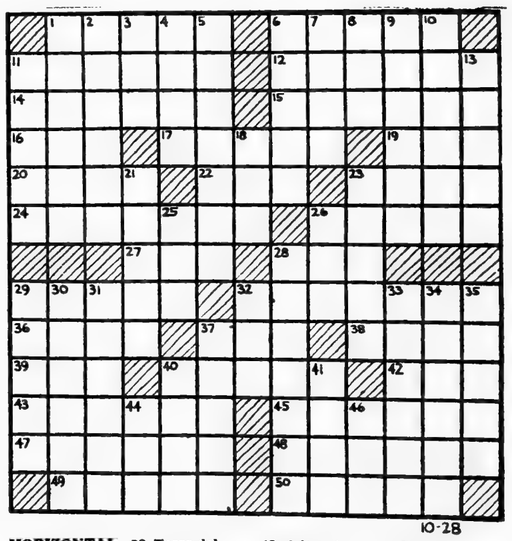
Well, to get to the heart of the matter, as the old Negro gentleman used to say, amongst the worthy items listed on this here program was one called "understandable sales at tobacco markets."

Now the way I feel about it is this: They can have their civil rights, as there never was nobody more in favor of civility than myself; They can have Washington, D. C., if they got to, as North Carolina has whipped the British, the North, Spain, and Alfred E. Smith in that order, and ain't likely to get sold out to no foreigners now; But Gentleman, by the bones of Nathaniel Macon, and the fine, brave voice of L. A. "Speed" Riggs, that long-haired, wild-eyed, un-integrated bunch of amateur politicans had better leave them tobacco auctioneers alone, as that is just going one durn step too far!

With best wishes for more recognition for Len Szafryn, I remain,

John W. McReynolds

Holding Out on Us



Editor:

I have just learned why many of my friends and I have been getting poor seats at the football games. I am not surprised but greatly annoyed.

The gentleman distributing tickets at the second gate from the main fence (card section) has been holding back, up to eighty of his best seats for his fraternity brothers. Ask him: perhaps he will admit it. I don't know his name; I don't know his fraternity, but, considering those who stand in line for long hours, I am convinced he is wrong and that either should be removed from his position or a control placed upon his distribution of tickets.

Brotherhood is fine, but——

John Foster West

10-28

HORIZONTAL
1. French possession in western Sahara
6. scantier
11. mourn
12. straightener
14. biblical character
15. rattlesnake's horny rings
16. Shoshonean Indian
17. frighten
19. narrow inlet
20. seed
22. employ
23. watch over
24. ancient Jewish ascetics
26. woody plants
27. performed
28. compete
29. move with strong even action
32. Mexican dishes
36. close comrades
37. prefix: imperfect
38. infinite duration
39. Terra del Feugian Indian
40. sonata finales
42. observe
43. speaks
45. more orderly
47. South American monkey
48. those who publicly cry sales
49. delineates
50. merits through effort

VERTICAL
1. rugged mountain spurs
2. restaurant cars
3. female ruff
4. topaz humming-birds
5. saved
6. city in Vermont
7. wings
8. ritardando (abbr.)
9. admission
10. line again
11. standard of comparison
13. peruses
18. donkey
21. ancient peoples
23. negotiate
25. pinch
26. diminutive
28. bed tester drapery
29. recite pompously
30. craved
31. click beetle
32. young child
33. hearken
34. Mohammedan princes
35. sages
37. leader of Israelites
40. boat personnel
41. anti-toxins
44. Greek letter
46. ventilate

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

P	E	R		A	L	O	H	A		G	I	N
A	T	E		S	O	L	E	S		R	O	E
L	O	N	G	S		D	E	S	T	I	N	Y
E	N	D	E	A	R		D	E	E	P
		E	M	M	E	T		R	E	S	T	S
E	R	R	S		V	E	S	T	S		A	I
P	A	S		B	E	N	T	S		D	U	N
I	N		M	A	T	T	E		S	I	T	S
C	A	R	E	S		S	A	L	E	S
		A	R	K	S		M	A	T	T	E	D
S	T	R	E	E	T	S		S	H	I	R	E
P	I	E		T	O	A	S	T		L	I	E
A	E	R		S	A	G	E	S		S	A	D

10-28

Average time of solution: 23 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MONOGRAM MUSINGS

By Bill Pritchard

The New Look

Seems even the local athletes can get in on this "new look" idea. hen fall letters are awarded, they will be in the form of chenille tead of the old felt variety. At the last Athletic Council meeting embers voted to fulfill the desire of the majority of the mono- mmers and change from the traditional old flat models to the re decorative and handsome new letters. The size will remain same, but the material will differ—with a white chenille NC upon a navy-blue background and the entire figure sewn upon sweater. The whole idea cropped up a year or so ago when e of the hometown yokels pointed out to a few boys home for cation that the present letter just did not look too varsity. Everyone who has seen the new monogram is in complete agreement that it is a great improvement over the present type.

For those concerned, it will be possible to replace old letters already awarded with the new ones as soon as they arrive. They will be available at the Carolina Sport Shop, but will have to be bought outright for a reasonable sum, unless you have won a monogram this year.

Tuesday's Meeting

Tuesday's meeting found white shirts and ties, plus monogram sweaters, the uniform of the evening as the NC boys gathered en masse to watch the Yack birdie. This year's record attendance was set with over eighty members turning out for the occasion.

Taking full advantage of the situation, president Gus ("Does anyone have a comb?") Johnston, stressed the importance of a representative attendance at all meetings for the furtherance of the many current and future activities and functions of the Club.

At the top of the "To Do . ." agenda is the furnishing of the Club room at the east end of the building. For this, a committee headed by Ben Szafaryn and composed of "Bulldog" Varney, Bill Buffaloe, Mike Morrow and Fred Sherman was appointed. This committee will assume the role of interior decorator extraordinary and should turn out a luxurious and lavishly furnished room in which the members may hang their hats.

Duke Weekend Affair

As part of the biggest weekend of the year, the Monogram club is sending printed invitations to all known living wearers of the NC monogram to attend an informal buffet dinner at the clubhouse prior to the game. In its first attempt at anything of this size or sort, the club is issuing approximately 1,600 invitations (according to Alumni Office reports). A large crowd is anticipated.

The idea behind this endeavor is a simple one. Aside from being a free meal and spot to sit down; it is the theme of the club to instill in all monogrammers, whether undergrads or alumni, that this is their club and no matter who, when, how old, or whatever, they will always be welcome and wanted here. The present members wish to show their appreciation to the athletes of the past and hope sincerely that as many of them as possible will attend this luncheon.

Big Success

For all the attending members and dates, the party following the game last Saturday night at Hogan's ever-hospitable lake was a terrific success. Although most of the participants scorned the provided means of transportation—a truck—, cars were thicker than blankets, and people poured out. It is rumored that the party was so good that a few of the boys decided to continue it through Sunday night a la Emerson Manor.

Miscellaneous

Following its policy of service to the campus and students, the Monogram club has selected a committee, headed by Jack Moody of NC track fame, to investigate the possibility of installing trophy cases in the clubhouse and gym to house the numerous trophies and medals won by university athletes and teams—a fine idea which has too long been neglected.

The Big Four Monogram Council will meet this week with the representatives, from the respective schools, to the Southern Conference in an effort to comprehend, and possibly, to take action upon certain eligibility rules that the Conference passed last year at its annual December meeting. As some of the students may be aware, several rules were passed at that time which have had an ill-effect upon a large number of Southern Conference athletes. The whole trouble of course cropped out of the recent war and the difficulty of making appropriate rules to fit highly-irregular circumstances. Although the officials were well-meaning in their judgment, three of these rules in particular are being widely questioned with respect to long-range wisdom and fairness.

One of the rules is a retroactive measure which causes the present rules to apply to the period of '43-'45, when all Southern Conference rules were suspended. This rule definitely favors men who participated in collegiate athletics while in service, which is perfectly fine, but it also discriminates against the participant who for any reason at all was not in uniform.

Another rule refuses to subtract even service time from a fellow's five year limit, within which he must play out his four years of eligibility or lose it if this service time was not begun before August 14, 1945 (V-J Day). This seems rather unfair since the draft—a wartime measure—lasted through March of '47. By this rule some men will be denied as much as three years of varsity participation, which is rightfully theirs, through no fault of their own.

Space prevents further elaboration, but this column will contain more on this subject at a later date.

Soccer Squad Battles Washington & Lee

Open Two-Game Virginia Series Against Roanoke

By Larry Fox

In search of wins number three and four, Carolina's booters will leave early this morning on their Virginia excursion which will see the Tar Heels face Roanoke college this afternoon in Salem, Va. and then move on to Lexington, Va. to battle Washington and Lee.

The traveling squad will board its bus at 7:30 and drive to Salem, playing in the afternoon. The booters will drive to Lexington immediately after facing Roanoke and spend the night there. They will return to Chapel Hill after the game Friday.

According to the form sheets, Carolina's off-and-on eleven should have a fairly easy time in the Old Dominion, although the Generals have a strong team.

The Tar Heels will have little trouble with either outfit if they display the form they showed in earning their two victories of the campaign—one against Loyola and the other over Virginia, but Washington and Lee, which holds two decisions over Virginia, will be a tough team to beat, especially on its home grounds.

The Generals lost to High Point college, the team which held the Tar Heels to a tie, earlier in the season, 2-0. However, Red Coble, Panther captain, scored both goals in the first minute of play for the only tallies. W & L blanked High Point the rest of the way.

Roanoke should be an entirely different matter though. When the Salemites came to Chapel Hill last season, they were soundly trounced, 7-0.

For the Roanoke contest, the Tar Heels' fifth of the season,

(See SOCCER, page 4)

Tar Babies to Face Blue Imps in Durham

The Tar Baby booters will also take the road today when they journey to Durham to face the Blue Imps of Duke.

This will be the second game of the campaign for the junior booters and their second contest with the Imps. Last time the two teams met, the Tar Babies took a close 1-0 decision on Fetzer field.

The team will leave for Durham at 1:45 for the second tilt of the four game series.

Ducats Gone

The Woollen ticket office announced yesterday that there are no more tickets for the Tennessee clash to be obtained here. Die-hards who are still interested in ducats can get them only by wiring Mrs. Edna Calloway, Athletic department, University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Only end zone seats are available and the cost of $4 must be sent with the request for tickets.

There are absolutely no tickets left for the Duke game.

Justice Pacing Tar Heel Backs In Individual Rushing, Passing

Just to make sure that the nation is fully aware of the gridiron prowess of the North Carolina Tar Heels, Jake Wade, university athletic publicist, yesterday released the over-all statistics for the first five Carolina games this year.

According to these latest statistics, Charlie Justice, the Asheville Ambler, leads the Tar Heels in passing, rushing, kicking and scoring. To date the Carolina Choo-choo has chugged up the field for 341 yards, has tossed the pig-skin for 516 more and boomed 28 punts for 1,203 yards, an average of 42.9 yards per kick. In addition, Charlie has scored seven touchdowns for high scoring honors with 42 points.

The team has run up an amazing total of 1,643 yards from scrimmage while holding their opponents to 798. This shows that the rough and ready locals have a better than two-to-one advantage over their five opponents. The Tar Heels have run up 75 first downs to 38 for the opposition, again a 2-1 advantage. The Tar Heels also hold the edge in rushing, 997 to 345 and in passing, 646 to 453.

Trailing Justice in the individual column is big Hosea Rodgers, who has picked up 317 yards rushing and 122 via the aerial route. Rodgers is also third in the scoring column with 18 points while End Bob Cox holds down the second spot with two touchdowns and 17 out of 19 points after, good for 29 points.

Meanwhile the team yesterday went through another scrimmage session on Navy field in preparation for the big game with Tennessee at Knoxville on Saturday.

Work this week has been mainly on the Tar Heel offensive pattern, but a share of the practice has also been devoted to defensive. Except for Center Al Bernot, Blockingback Don Hartig and Tackle Ted Hazlewood, the locals are expected to be at full strength Saturday.

Paul Rizzo, injured blockingback, was able to participate in the "stop on the whistle" scrimmage and should work the Saturday game, with a shoulder brace. Bob Mitten and Sid Varney, top offensive guards, were injured on Monday and sat out yesterday's session with shoulder bruises. —FRANK ALLSTON

Statistics Leader

CHARLIE JUSTICE, Carolina's triple-threat tailback, is the team leader in individual statistics for the first five games of the football season. Choo Choo has picked up 341 yards rushing and 516 passing for a grand total of 857 yards.

NCAB Statistics Rate Tar Heel Offense High

Statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau show that The Tar Heels are ranked third in the country on total defense, falling behind Georgia Tech and N. C. State. In five games Coach Carl Snavely's charges have allowed an average of only 159.6 yards per game.

The Tar Heels, largely due to the superb punting of Charlie Justice, topped the country in punting with an average of 43 yards per kick in five games. Justice himself placed third in individual punting with the same average.

Still on Justice, the Tar Heel ace managed a fourth place in total offense with a total net gain of 857 yards. In forward passing he is rated 13th with a completion average of .523 and 516 yards gained.

Art Weiner was the only other Tar Heel to make the top 15 in the nation. He ranked fifth in pass receiving with a total of 18 passes second on the basis of yards gained. He has covered a total of caught, two of them for touchdowns. However, he is rated 304 yards in five games.

Conference Standings

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
North Carolina	2	0	0	42	6
Clemson	2	0	0	19	7
Duke	2	0	1	20	12
Maryland	3	1	0	106	13
Wm. & Mary	3	1	0	87	37
Wake Forest	2	1	0	54	53
VMI	2	1	0	35	37
South Carolina	1	1	0	14	13
Furman	2	2	0	19	21
N. C. State	1	2	1	40	20
Richmond	1	2	0	7	28
Davidson	1	2	0	20	60
Geo. Washington	1	3	0	32	100
W&L	0	1	0	13	14
The Citadel	0	2	0	6	23
Virginia Tech	0	4	0	0	78

COUNCIL MEETS

The Intramural council will convene tonight at 7:30 in room 304 at the Gym.

All intra-mural managers are urged to attend.

Grads Score 65-0 Rout of Airotcees In Mural Football

Yesterday's perfect weather certainly must have had an invigorating quality to the Grad Intramural football squad for the old boys proceeded to step onto the gridiron, shook off any creaks that might have arose and then thrashed a bunch of young fellows representing the AROTC 2 by the humiliating score of 65-0. For the league it was the highest total yet amassed in either division, and for the Grads it was their 4th straight victory. They have a smooth functioning combine that may well retain the Dorm title that they won last year.

Not to be outdone. Emerson Hotel notched its fifth triumph of the season over Y Cab, 33-0. The Stadium crew now have won five and lost none to boast the best record of the Dorm league. Lewis also turned an impressive 45-0 count over hapless Whitehead as Don Skakle tallied a pair of six pointers for the winners.

Mangum won its fourth against one down in a more normal contest over A Dorm, 13-6 and it put Mangum in a deadlock for first with the Stanley Steamers in league 2. Med School 2 won their fifth of the year by humbling Graham Dwellers, 19-0 but still remained in the runner-up slot in league 1.

In other Dorm clashes. Law School achieved a four up and one down record as the result of a 20-12 verdict over the Bombers and Town nipped the Wesley Rockets 1-0. As usual there were forfeits and yesterday Ruffin and Steele were the beneficiaries of these gifts.

The feature Fraternity struggle resulted in 12-7 triumph for Lambda Chi 2 over the defending campus champs, Chi Psi. This was the deathblow to the Chi Psi's hopes of repeating last year's feat as the Lambs won their

(See MURALS page 4)

Today's Intramural Schedule

TENNIS

3:00—Court 1. J. S. Swift vs Charlie Vance; 2. Frank Bowman vs Walt Grimsley.

4:00—Court 1. Bowman-Moore vs Woodson-Nicol.

The following men should report to Bill Buffaloe today at the clay courts between 3:30 and 4:30: Jim Carson, Scotty Venable, G. Dawson, Gene Turner, Paul Keenan, Dick Young, John Wagner, Jim Winstead, Don Robertson, Francis Yancey, Keenan-Luxenburg, Yancey-Bergen, McLain-Vinson and Dameron-McCahan.

FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1. BVP vs Grads; 2. AROTC 2 vs QH 9; 3. Hut Dwellers vs Everett 1; 4. Mud Dobbers vs Nash; 5. Alexander vs Law School; 6. Oakwood Drive vs Aycock; 7, Bombers vs Miller.

5:00—Field 1, QH 356 vs Manley; 2 Pi Kappa Phi vs KA 1; 3. ATO 2 vs Sigma Nu 2; 4. Delta Sig vs TEP; 5. Phi Gam 1 vs DKE 1; 6. Beta 1 vs Kappa Sig 2; 7. ZBT vs Lambda Chi 1.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

DON'T START OFF RUN DOWN
Have Your Battery Recharged
BATTERIES FOR SALE
CASTON MOTOR COMPANY
Telephone F-3891 - - - - - - - - - East Franklin

PLAN A PARTY TO LISTEN TO THE GAME
"We'll Deliver"
K & M Beer Delivery
PHONE 3536

EYES HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION
Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST. TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

Each time you taste ice-cold Coca-Cola, you are reminded that here is the quality of genuine goodness. Experience . . . many a refreshing experience . . . has taught people everywhere to trust the quality of Coca-Cola.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY DURHAM COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
West Franklin Street

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Homecoming DANCE Homecoming
With Music By HARRY In Person
JAMES
AND HIS FAMOUS MUSIC MAKERS
—Featuring—
HIS FAMOUS STARS OF SCREEN, RADIO AND STAGE
Marion MORGAN • Vinni DeCAMPO • Willy SMITH
RALEIGH MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
SATURDAY NIGHT NOV. 6
Advance Sale—$2.50

SPECIAL SUNDAY DINNER
—at—
SEAFOOD GRILL
$1.50
U. S. Choice SIRLOIN STEAK
Head of Lettuce Salad with Thousand Islands Dressing
Potatoes Julienne — French Bread
DESSERT
Sponge Cupcake with Pineapple Topping
BEVERAGE
Pot of Coffee or Tea
Special Weekday Lunches — 85c * * * Also Wide Selection of Seafoods

Archivists Will Come to Campus This Afternoon

The 130 delegates attending the joint sessions of the Society of American Archivists and the American Association for State and Local History, being held in Raleigh yesterday, today and tomorrow, will come to the University for their afternoon and night sessions today.

The delegates will arrive at the University this afternoon at 3:30. They will be taken on a tour of the library where the Southern Historical collection is on display.

At 4:15 the delegates will convene in Gerrard hall to hear an address by James W. Patton, new head of the Southern Historical collection.

Lyman H. Butterfield, of Princeton university, will speak on "The Papers of Thomas Jefferson," at a complimentary dinner to be given by the University at the Carolina Inn at 7 o'clock tonight.

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

Fine Watches Need Excellent Care . . .
A Complete Watch Repair Service at—
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE

Moral, Religious

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—President Truman today appointed a nine-member committee to look out for the "religious and moral welfare" of youths who enlist or are drafted into the peacetime armed services.

Expanding a plan announced shortly after the selective service system was revived, he asked the committee to advise the armed forces on recreational programs as well as "character guidance" for men in uniform.

Frank L. Weil of New York, president of the national Jewish welfare board and a leader of the Boy Scouts of America, was named chairman.

Appointment of the committee was seen as a move to reassure parents that their sons will not be exposed to immorality if they are inducted.

—Election—

(Continued from page 1)

must be closed at the time the law specifies.

However, Johns said that if any person could prove that he was at the registration office before 5:29 Saturday evening and found it closed he would personally see that his name was entered on the books if he was a qualified voter. But Johns said that he felt sure Miss Betsy Brunk, registrar for the north precinct, had not left before the specified hour.

Smith said that apparently someone had failed to read the election laws and that was how the mixup occurred. Johns said that he knew nothing of the signs distributed by the league and added, "It was news to me."

Officers Elected By WNC Members Tuesday Evening

Officers were elected and plans for the future were made Tuesday night at a meeting of the Western North Carolina club in Graham Memorial.

Walter Allen of Asheville was elected president of the club, with Bob Edwards serving as vice-president; Betty Brown, secretary; Frank Kilpatrick, treasurer; Martha Allen, publicity director and Ralph Bennett, entertainment chairman.

Members of the club going to the Carolina-Tennessee game plan to meet for a party in Asheville, Saturday night after the game. Plans are under way for participation in Sadie Hawkins day events, and for a Thanksgiving get-together, to be followed later in the year with Christmas dance.

Any North Carolina student living west of Hickory is eligible for membership in the club.

—Murals—

(Continued from page 3)

fourth in league 1 competition.

SAE 2 turned in a minor upset by edging Chi Phi 1 with a strong second half spurt, 9-7 while a touchdown by John Hay was enough to give Sig Eps a 6-0 verdict over the winless aggragation from Phi Delt Chi. Zeta 2 lengthened its margin in league 1 by winning their fifth of the campaign over KA 2, 14-0.

Armaments

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—(UP)—The Russians are arming some German police units in their occupation zone with mortars, machine guns and armored cars, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander-in-chief, said today.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

3:30—SOCIETY OF AMERICAN ARCHIVISTS, tour of library.
4:00—ELECTIONS COMMITTEE of Student Legislature. All members urged to be present as two bills must be acted on before legislature meeting tonight. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:00—BAND OFFICERS meet in Hill X.
4:00—YOUNG DEMOCRATS CLUB, Grail room, GM.
4:15—SOCIETY OF AMERICAN ARCHIVISTS, address by James W. Patton, Gerrard Hall.
4:30—CHI DELTA PHI initiation. Grail room, GM.
4:30—TOWN MEN'S ASSOCIATION, Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:30—BAND REHEARSAL, Hill X.
5:00—SADIE HAWKINS COMMITTEE, all members from CICA, Western North Carolina club and Town Girls association urged to attend. Gather in front of Memorial hall.
5:00—WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB, Hill hall.
5:00—WORLD FEDERALISTS, discussion on "How Best to Further World Government in the Coming Election." Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
5:30—SOPHOMORE DEADLINE for Yack pictures.
6:00—WINSTON-CAROLINA CLUB, election of officers and plans for Thanksgiving dance. All area students invited. Gerrard hall.
7:00—ELECTIONS BOARD, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
7:00—ELECTIONS BOARD, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
7:15—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT, monthly master point tournament, Main lounge, GM.
7:30—STUDENT LEGISLATURE, special session, Di hall, New West.
7:30—YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB, Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:30—DEBATE COUNCIL, practice session for activities other than debating. Grail room, GM.
8:30—HAZEL SCOTT, Memorial hall.
9:30—CAROLINA SCIENCE-FICTION CLUB. Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.

Sophs Must Have Pix Made Today

Sophomores will not be photographed for the 1949 Yack after today, Bert Kaplan, sophomore editor, announced yesterday. In addition, Bill Duncan released the following deadlines for photo poses: Pharmacy school, tomorrow; Law school, Monday, junior class, Wednesday, senior class, Friday.

Bill Steele, Yack coordinator, advised students to: "Return proofs to studios at once, or the studio will be forced to select the proof to appear in the Yack. It will be impossible to have retakes done without written permission from Chidnoff studios in New York."

Studio hours in Graham Memorial are from 9 to 6, except for the hour between 12 and 1 o'clock. Pictures will be taken from 9 to 12 Saturday mornings. To alleviate the line situation, an extra photographer will be on hand starting Monday.

All students who have their white photographer's card are requested to come in for a sitting as soon as possible.

—Soccer—

(Continued from page 3)

the fourth different lineup of the campaign will start the game. The only definite change will occur at center forward where Jim Gwynn will open. Dave Boak, the regular occupant of the slot, will not make the trip to Roanoke, but will join the team in Lexington.

Bill Moore, has been showing up very well in practice this week and may get the nod over Joe Bach in the right wing position. John Langley and Pete Hexner are still waging a fight for the inside left berth with Langley holding a slight edge.

Gus Johnston, who was injured in the Virginia game, will be ready to go against Roanoke and will be joined by the two other incumbents, co-captain Jesse Greenbaum and Lyons Co-captain Frank Blankenship who share fullback duties with Williams in the nets.

TAR HEEL BARBER SHOP
"We're Tops on Tops"
WEST SIDE OF AMBER ALLEY

—Special Feature—
CARD STUNTS — L.S.U. AND STATE GAMES
THURSDAY — FRIDAY
CAROLINA

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

HEAR HENRY WALLACE TONIGHT! Thursday, October 28th, ABC, 8:30-8:45 p.m. (ch 1x1)

TYPING OF THESES, TERM PAPERS, letters or any kind of copy work. Call 3982. Reasonable rates. (1-946-1)

FOR RENT 6A

APARTMENT CLOSE TO CAMPUS for man and wife. No pets or children. Excellent neighbors, kitchen privileges. Reasonably priced. See Archie Daniels, 8-11 at 310-A West Rosemary St (2-8001-1)

FOR SALE 6B

NEW FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Rd. Asbestos shingle with picture window, hardwood floors, tabletop water heater. Call 8756. (6-927-1)

ATTRACTIVE THREE CUSHION SOFA with slip covers. Excellent condition. Reasonably priced. May be seen at 221 McCauley St. any time. (1-8008-1)

BEAT THE HOUSING SHORTAGE and save money at the same time in this unusually large trailer with nursery. Just $1200. 55-A Trailer Court. (1-8003-1)

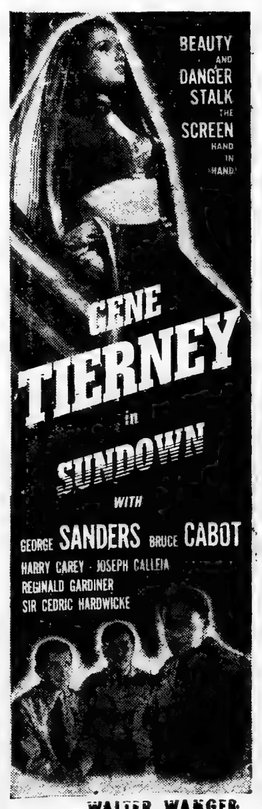
FOUND 6C

ONE PAIR OF FIELD GLASSES WITH case in student section after game Saturday. Owner contact O. H. Allen, 30 Oakwood Drive. (1-8007-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 15

PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER. TYPING of all kinds. Neat work, quick service See Mrs. Louise Graham, Trailer No. 42, Uni. Trailer Court. Phone 9031. (2-8004-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28



FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Room
TELEPHONE 4301

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

NURSERY PICTURES
By Ars Sacra
The BABY SHOP
Under Ledbetter-Pickard

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

—Also—
BUGS BUNNY CARTOON
—TODAY—
VILLAGE

Ten, Jack, Queen, King—HARRY'S—Always Good

Our 89th Anniversary
A&P BRINGS THESE BIG VALUES
1859 1948

ANN PAGE—WITH PORK & TOMATO SAUCE
Beans . . . . . 16-oz. Can 10c
PACKER'S LABEL ORANGE
Juice . . . . . 46-oz. Can 23c
WASHBURN'S
Pea Beans . . 2-lb. Pkg. 29c
PACKER'S LABEL
Tomatoes . . 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
CAMPBELL'S TOMATO
Soup . . . . . 2 10½-oz. Cans 21c
IONA YELLOW CLING
Peaches . . . . No. 2½ Can 27c
A & P FANCY TINY
Peas . . . . . No. 2 Can 25c
SUNNYFIELD SELF RISING
Flour . . . . . 10-lb. Bag 77c
A & P'S OWN VEGETABLE SHORTENING
dexo . . . . 3 Lb. Can $1.11

LIBBY'S CORNED BEEF HASH 16-oz. Can 35c
LIBBY'S VIENNA SAUSAGE ½ Size Can 19c
LIBBY'S POTTED MEAT ¼ Size Can 9c
LIBBY'S LUNCH TONGUE ½ Size Can 27c
LIBBY'S POTTED MEAT ½ Size Can 15c

White House Evaporated MILK 3 Tall Can 40c

MILD AMERICAN CHEESE Lb. 53c
GOLDEN MAID MARGARINE 1-lb. Bag 29c

SAVE UP TO 5c BUY 3-LB. BAGS
MILD AND MELLOW COFFEE 8 O'CLOCK, 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
RICH AND FULL BODIED RED CIRCLE, 3 Lb. Bag $1.24
VIGOROUS AND WINEY COFFEE BOKAR, 3 Lb. Bag $1.29

Fruits & Vegetables

ORANGES, Florida, Full of juice 2 doz. 39c
PEARS, Oregon State 2 lbs. 23c
GRAPES, Fancy Tokay 2 lbs. 23c
ONIONS, Yellow 2 lbs. 09c
CABBAGE, Fresh Green 2 lbs. 08c
POTATOES, Idaho Russet 10 lbs. 59c
APPLES, Washington State Delicious 2 lbs. 25c
Chestnuts, New crop 33c lb.
Cranberries, Fancy 23c lb.

PALMOLIVE SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 19c
VEL Lge. Pkg. 31c
SWEET HEART SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 19c
LUX TOILET SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 19c
OCTAGAN SOAP 2 Bars 17c
CASHMERE BOUQUET SOAP 2 Bars 23c
BLU-WHITE FLAKES Pkg. 9c
LIFEBUOY SOAP 2 Reg. Bars 19c
LUX TOILET SOAP 2 Bath Bars 27c
AJAX CLEANSER Pkg. 11c

MEATS
SUPER RIGHT
Leg-o-Lamb (half or whole) 69c lb.
Lamb Shoulder cross cut 55c lb.
Pork Roast Rib or loin end 59c lb.
SUPER RIGHT BEEF Chuck Roast 69c lb.
Short Rib 39c lb.
Veal, Shoulder or Chuck Roast 65c lb.
Picnics, small, Avg. 55c lb.
Bacon Squares 47c lb.
Fryers, Table dressed 65c lb.
Hens, Table dressed 58c lb.

Fresh Seafood
Perch Fillets 35c lb.
Haddock Fillets 45c lb.
Flounder Fillets 55c lb.
H. & G. Whiting 18c lb.
Fresh Shrimp 55c lb.

A&P Super Markets

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

, OCTOBER 28, 1948

nston, who was injured
Virginia game, will be go against Roanoke and oined by the two other nts, co-captain Jesse
m and Bill Lyons. Co-
Frank Nelson and Buck ship will share fullback ith Al Williams in the h ary

HESE
LUES
AUCE
16-oz. Can 10c
46-oz Can 23c
2-lb. Pkg. 29c
No. 2 Cans 29c
10½-oz. Cans 21c
No. 2½ Can 27c
No. 2 Can 25c
10-lb. Bag 77c
NG
3 Lb. Can $1.11
AMERICAN
EESE
53c
MAID
ARINE
29c
TO 5c
B. BAGS
COFFEE Lb. Bag $1.15
3
ODIED Lb. Bag $1.24
E. 3
WINEY COFFEE Lb. Bag $1.29
MEATS
SUPER RIGHT
Lamb 69c lb.
Shoulder 55c lb.
Roast 59c lb.
Chuck Roast 69c lb.
Short Rib 39c lb.
65c lb.
small, Avg. 55c lb.
Squares 47c lb.
Table dressed 65c lb.
Table dressed 58c lb.
resh Seafood
35c lb.
k Fillets 45c lb.
r Fillets 55c lb.
Whiting 19c lb.
Shrimp 55c lb.

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and not much change in temperature.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS

CICA Is Re-activated
Carolina Cheering Songs
Insult Is Too Much

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 31

Drive Workers Push Campaign Toward Quota

Community Chest and Overseas Relief drive workers will continue the campaign to meet the quota of $12,000 for the chest and $8,000 for overseas relief, Roy Armstrong, chairman of the drive, announced yesterday.

Armstrong reported that $7,806.46 for the chest and $2,696.50 for overseas relief had been contributed, and that all reports had not come in.

Headquarters at Strowd's Motor co. were closed Wednesday, Mrs. Kemp Kate, headquarters manager, announced. Persons are requested to mail their donations to H. C. McAllister at Howell hall, or to bring their contributions to Mr. Paul Eubanks at Eubanks Drug store.

Armstrong praised the work of the committee chairmen, captains, and workers. "All have done a superb piece of work and have spent much time helping the drive to be a success," he said. Over 100 workers are under 18 captains in the campaign. Chairmen of the committees are Orville Campbell, publicity; Collier Cobb, Jr., special gifts; Mrs. George Shepard, captains; Mrs. J. B. Linker, collector; Kenneth Jones, Negro residents of Chapel Hill; Tom Roseman, business districts; and Rev. B. V. Munger, overseas relief. Nine organizations are participating in the drive.

In discussing the campaign as a whole, Armstrong said the Negroes have given generously under direction of Joe [illegible]. He added that a lot of townspeople have not yet had an opportunity to contribute, and he urged them to do so as soon as possible. "If 400 people donate $20 each, the drive will go over the goal," he said. The chairmen and workers feel confident that the goal will be reached.

Paul Wager is chairman of the evaluating committee of the Community council. The committee arrived at the quota for the drive, and Wager reported that the quota is set at a minimum level on which the agencies can function. Mrs. U. T. Holms is president of the council.

Late News Bulletins

'Never Retreat'

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 28—(UP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion declared today that Israel "will never retreat" from positions seized from the Egyptians during an eight-day offensive in southern Palestine.

Russian Request

PARIS, Oct. 28—(UP)—Russia asked the United Nations today to order all "foreign troops" out of Greece and denounced the report of the UN Balkans commission as "a pile of garbage."

Demand Rejected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(UP)—A Soviet demand for information on a secret meeting of American military leaders in Japan on Oct. 12 was rejected summarily by the United States tonight on the grounds that it was none of Russia's business.

Program Criticized

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight criticized the present Social Security program as "not good enough for America." He advocated a plan of higher old age pensions and widely-expanded social security coverage.

1,000 More Tons

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, chief of the combined United States-British lift, disclosed today that the quota of supplies for blockaded Berlin has been raised by more than 1,000 tons a day.

TAR HEEL AND DUKE CHEERLEADERS perform a playful tug of war over the Carolina-Duke victory bell which went to the Duke campus Wednesday to remain until the Tar Heel-Blue Devil football classic, when the winner will win the trophy until the game the following year. Left to right, above, are Tar Heels Claudia Lee, Sarah Jane Farlow, Bill Ayers, Durwood Jones and Norm Sper (standing); Blue Devils Bill Evans (top) and Paul Fitzgerald (bottom); Duke cheerleaders Charlie Dayton, Loring Jones (standing), Lee Sterling, Jan Ross, John Snow, Micky Olson, Micky Brinkman, Bill Wood and Don Sibley (face hidden). The picture was taken by Duke photographer Jimmy Whitley.

Freshman Class Hears Coach Bob On Sportsmanship

"You reflect the attitude, the sportsmanship, the spirit of the University," Coach Bob Fetzer, director of athletics, told members of the freshman class yesterday in assembly.

He said, "We got our team this far, let's don't desert them. Let's stay with them." This appeal for continued team support came after the director spoke to freshmen on the advancement and growth of the physical educational plant which has remained in pace with the "other side" of the University.

Saying physical education is "a way of living" and not merely an activity course, Coach Fetzer discussed the all-season sports in that department.

"Sportsmanship," he said, "is the application of the golden rule. We learn in athletics, if we learn sportsmanship, to be modest and gracious in victory—courageous and undaunted in defeat."

Legion Delegate Back From Miami

Paul H. Robertson, local American legion member who represented Chapel Hill Legion post 6 during the national convention in Miami, reported yesterday that he had a very enjoyable trip to Miami and back.

Robertson, accompanied by H. David Dillehay, left Chapel Hill Oct. 16 and returned Oct. 23.

"Although James Green, my candidate for national Legion commander, wasn't elected," Robertson, "I still had a very good trip. Robertson said he served on the credentials committee before he was appointed assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Dewey Pays Visit To Archbishop

BOSTON, Oct. 28. — (UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of Boston visited for 20 minutes with Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston tonight.

Shortly after arriving here for a campaign speech, Dewey drove to the archbishop's residence with his wife and was welcomed at the front door by the Catholic prelate.

Playmakers Schedule Experimental Tuesday

"Egypt Lan'," first original full length play to be presented as an experimental production under the new Carolina Playmaker policy of stressing the three-act form in student writing, will be presented next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 in the Playmaker theater.

The play was written by Robert G. Armstrong, Jr., special graduate student from Bessemer, Ala. It is being directed by dramatic art department head Samuel Selden, and is the first play that Professor Selden has personally directed here in several years.

The new Playmaker policy of staging full-length plays as experimental productions means that they have to be cast, rehearsed, and staged in about half the time that is spent on major productions. The new plan includes stressing the full length form in the dramatic writing courses, except for beginning playwrights, and producing experimentally three full-length plays during the year. Under the old plan only one original long play was presented, but it was staged as a major production.

Playmaker staff members feel that the changes will help the student writers and encourage them to try the full-length play form after they understand the principles of writing one act plays.

One-act plays will still be staged by the Playmakers, and the schedule calls for production of 12 one-acters on three bills of experimental showings.

Costumes for "Egypt Lan'" are being designed by Marty Jacobs, and Lynn Gault is building the "basic" scenery that is standard procedure for experimental productions. Stage lighting will be handled by Mark Sumner. Don Draper is stage manager.

Group Conducts Directors' Meet In Carolina Inn

The 26th annual directors' conference of the Carolina Dramatic association will be held at the Carolina Inn tomorrow morning, and directors of school, community, and college theaters from every section of North Carolina are expected to attend.

Plans for the coming year and for the annual spring drama festival will be discussed during the business session. Mrs. Doris C. Holsworth, Atlantic Christian College, president, will preside over this session which opens with a breakfast at the Inn.

The conference program will be highlighted by a talk, "Fourth Down on Broadway," by Walter Prichard Eaton, former playwriting professor of the famed 47 workshop at Yale university, who is guest lecturer with the dramatic art department here. Eaton, who has written numerous books, plays and essays, was at one time drama critic for the old New York Sun. He has long been associated with the leaders of professional theater in New York.

W. R. Taylor, head of the dramatic art department of the Woman's College of the University at Greensboro and director of the Burnsville Playhouse, will speak on "The College Theater in Extension."

Clifton Britton, director of dramatics, Goldsboro high school, will talk on "The High School Theater and the Community;" Dr. Elizabeth Welch, Salem College, will lead a panel discussion on "The CDA Takes An Inventory." All three are past presidents of the association.

Lange Lecture Slated Tonight

Francisco Curt Lange's illustrated lecture on Latin American music will begin at 3:30 this evening in Hill Hall.

The lecture is being co-sponsored by the Institute of Latin American studies and the Music department. All students and Chapel Hill residents are invited.

Truman Says Tom Dewey Follows Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(UP)—President Truman described Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight as his "little shadow" who was following him around the country but who wouldn't follow him into a discussion of party records on campaign issues.

The President said Dewey still would be trailing him when election returns were counted and predicted the one place the Republican candidate wouldn't trail him into was the White House.

Many thousands lined the streets to greet Mr. Truman as he entered New York city late this afternoon in the homestretch of his campaign for a two-day visit aimed at capturing the state's 47 electoral votes.

From the time his train pulled into Grand Central station at 4 o'clock until he concluded a Madison Square Garden appearance at 11 o'clock, the President made six speeches, toured Manhattan in an open car and attended a CIO dinner honoring Sen. Robert F. Wagner, author of the Wagner act.

In his prepared speech at the Madison Square Garden rally, Mr. Truman reiterated his support of a "prosperous, free and independent democratic state" for the Jewish people in Palestine. He did not refer to the Bernadotte proposal before the United Nations but said Israel must be "large enough, free enough and strong enough to make its people self-supporting and secure."

He hit hard at depression travails under President Hoover, warmly praised the administration of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, charged the Republicans with hindering U. S. preparedness for World War II and asserted that Dewey couldn't get GOP backing for progressive ideas.

In a sarcastic vein, Mr. Truman said he had a feeling for days that someone was following him and that he had been relieved to learn it was the Republican presidential candidate.

Woman's College Again Plays Host To UNC Freshmen

Roy Cole and his orchestra plus 500 freshmen girls will be featured at the freshmen dance Saturday night at the Woman's college in Greensboro.

The dance is being jointly sponsored by the Carolina and WC freshmen orientation committees, and will begin at 8 o'clock. Special buses will leave Graham Memorial at 6 o'clock. A free supper will be served to the Carolina freshmen at 6 o'clock at WC. Identification cards will be required for admission to the dance, so all freshmen are requested to carry their ID cards with them. Any freshman interested in attending the dance can purchase bus tickets and receive further information from Tom Cunningham, 219 Everett. Round trip bus tickets to Greensboro will be sold for $1.75.

Saturday night's dance is the second in a series of dances designed to acquaint Carolina freshmen with WC freshmen. The girls who attend the dance will not be the same girls who participated in the first dance, and will represent the second half of the WC freshman class.

The dance will be the last social affair of the freshmen orientation committee before the freshmen elect their own officers and arrange their own affairs.

Election Argument Leads To Killing

WILSON, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Five days before election, Jessie B. Varnell went on trial today on charges of killing Charlie Harrell in an argument over the merits of President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Sheriff J. W. Thompson testified that Varnell told him he shot Harrell July 16. Varnell denied that he meant to kill Harrell.

Dewey Noses Truman Out In CPU Candidates' Poll

Governor Thomas E. Dewey will be the successful candidate in the current presidential campaign if figures compiled in a poll conducted by the Carolina Political union this week can be believed. The New York governor received the endorsement of 39 per cent of students questioned, while President Truman received 36.29 per cent, Thurmond got only 8.11 per cent of the vote and Henry Wallace was squelched with a tiny 1.93 per cent. Norman Thomas received 1.54 per cent and the remainder was distributed between a 12.36 per cent listed as undecided and .77 per cent for the other candidates.

A total of 259 students were questioned in the poll in a plan mapped out by CPU member Wellborn Phillips and Sam B. Lyerly of the Psychology department. The student body was divided into "workable" categories based on class, sex, veteran or non-veteran. CPU members interviewed individual students, obtaining a predetermined number of opinions from each group.

The actual number of votes cast for each candidate were: for Dewey, 102; for Truman, 94; for Thurmond, 21; for Wallace 5, and for Thomas 4. Thirty three students were "undecided as to their choice. If their decision should be for Truman, Phillips pointed out, the President could win his fight for re-election, at least in Chapel Hill.

The poll was comprised of two divisions, the student's preference for president and questions relating to what are considered the main national issues in the election.

Four questions asked the students polled with the results are as follows: 1) Who is to blame for high prices and inflation? 25.48 per cent blamed the Republicans, 11.20 per cent blamed the Democrats while a 55.99 per cent majority blamed both parties equally and 7.33 per cent voted undecided. 2) Are you in favor of Truman's Civil Rights program? 25.87 per cent indicated agreement with the President while 62.93 per cent opposed his stand. 11.20 per cent were undecided.

3) Do you approve of the Un-American Activities committees investigations? 52.63 per cent of those polled showed approval to the plan while 30.25 per cent were against it and 17.12 were undecided. 4) Do you think OPA controls should be re-established? 45.17 per cent were against OPA, 41.70 per cent were in favor of it while 13.13 per cent had no opinion.

A division of the Dewey-Truman supporters on the four questions showed that 59.57 per cent of Truman's supporters are

(See DEWEY, page 4)

Council Head Measure Enacted By Legislature

By Bill Buchan

The chairman of the Student Council will perform the duties of the presidency of the student body in the event that both the president and vice-president leave school or are not qualified to fill the position, according to a bill passed by the Student legislature.

The council chairman will serve in the office until a new president and vice-president can be elected at a date not more than four weeks after the chairman takes over the position.

The bill was passed to replace a bill that allowed the Secretary-Treasurer or a chairman of a committee to take over the president's position in the event of his absence. Proponents for the bill argued that the position should go to a student who was elected by the entire student body, rather than an individual who was elected from a dormitory or town district, as would be the case of a legislature member receiving the job.

The remainder of the session was devoted to the introduction, discussion and recommitting to committees of the majority of the bills discussed. Among these was a bill to appropriate $300 to the University Club, a bill to pay a $1100 debt owed to Graham Memorial by the Student Entertainment committee and a bill to have all bills that are to be introduced into the legislature mimeographed and distributed to student leaders before the student session meets.

The last bill got the best argument of the evening by a simple process of the lack of sufficient copies of bills introduced for all members to have them in their hands while they were being discussed.

Also passed was a bill for the appointment of an attorney general to assist the President of the student body and to represent him at various meetings, and a bill authorizing the foundation of a National Students Association committee on campus. The new committee will be composed of a chairman and five students, two of whom will be members of the legislature. It will serve as a liaison organization between national NSA headquarters and will sponsor any NSA projects here for the group.

Among the bills introduced and referred to committees was one to provide for representation of the town men on the Graham Memorial Board of Directors and an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the placement of a town man on the Dance committee and University Club.

DR. HAROLD A. BOSLEY

Bosley Lectures Begin on Monday In Gerrard Hall

Dr. Harold A Bosley, dean of the Duke Divinity school, will deliver the first of a series of five lectures on the theme, "Our Faith Rests on Facts," Monday evening at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

The talks will be sponsored by the Young Adults class of the Methodist church.

Dean Bosley came to Duke in September, 1947, after serving as pastor of the Mount Vernon Place church in Baltimore for nine years. Last year he was visiting lecturer in the Philosophy of Religion at Cozer Theological seminary, Chester, Pa. Dr. Bosley received his B.D. and PhD degrees from the University of Chicago in 1932 and 1933. Nebraska Wesleyan conferred upon him the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1942.

The lecture series was initiated in the spring of last year. Dr. Bosley continues the talks begun this fall by Dr. B. W. Anderson, who lectured on Monday evenings during October.

All students and residents of Chapel Hill are invited to attend the series.

Norman Thomas Wins Balloting By Di Visitors

If students who attended the Dialectic senate debate on the presidential candidates at Gerrard hall Wednesday night have their way, Norman Thomas will be the next president of the United States.

Speaking before an estimated gathering of 100 students, Al Lowenstein, Grey Childress, Charlie Long, Bob Harper and Charles Hodson debated the merits of Thomas, Truman, Dewey, Wallace and Thurmond respectively.

What started out to be a serious debate wound up in a free-for-all fun campaign with Thomas-booster Lowenstein stealing the show. The audience paid appreciative attention to Long and Harper while they discussed Dewey and Wallace, laughed at Hodson while he pushed the campaign of Thurmond and applauded Childress as he fought for Truman.

Lowenstein spoke last as a "Republican for Thomas" and after methodically tearing the other candidates apart proceeded to cite his reasons for voting for Thomas. If the other speakers made the audience laugh or applaud, Lowenstein put them in hysterics with his attacks on major and third party candidates.

When he finished, however, the audience showed their approval by giving Thomas 25 of the total votes cast. Truman came in second with 23, Dewey edged out Wallace with 11, Wallace received 10 and Thurmond got 6.

Final Examination Schedule

EXAMINATION HOUR	CLASSES
Mon., Dec. 13 8:30	All 3 o'clock classes and Chem. 163.
Mon., Dec. 13 2:00	All 2 o'clock classes and Zool. 103.
Tues., Dec. 14 8:30	All 1 o'clock classes.
Tues., Dec. 14 2:00	Commerce 71 and 72, and all other classes not otherwise provided for.
Wed., Dec. 15 8:30	All 12 o'clock classes, except Zool. 103.
Wed., Dec. 15 2:00	Common Exam. (All French, German, and Spanish courses numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4.)
Thurs., Dec. 16 8:30	All 11 o'clock classes except Chem. 163.
Thurs., Dec. 16 2:00	All 10 o'clock classes.
Fri., Dec. 17 8:30	All 9 o'clock classes.
Fri., Dec. 17 2:00	All 8 o'clock classes.

No student may be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University infirmary, in case of illness; or by his General college adviser or by his dean, in case of any emergency compelling the student's absence.

Hostess Service Gives Welcome

By Leonard Dudley

How does it feel to be visited by a total stranger who brings along $22 as a gift?

Just ask Mr. and Mrs. Olen C. Cook of Barclay Blvd, Airport development. That's what happened to them recently when they were called upon by Mrs. F. F. Bradshaw, hostess for a group of 22 merchants in Chapel Hill and Carrboro.

Cook is a pre-med student from Blowing Rock and Mrs. Cook is from Lincolnton. They are building their own house and having quite a time shifting around from one room to another in the process, Mrs. Bradshaw said.

Mrs. Bradshaw Is Merchants' Delegate

Cook, who attended Wake Forest before coming to the University, said that there had been some member of his family here since 1900, which is something of a record.

The Cooks were the 100th couple visited by Mrs. Bradshaw since the "Hostess service" was started in Chapel Hill in August. The service is designed to welcome newcomers to Chapel Hill and Carrboro and as a gesture of good will on the part of the merchants.

Any new couple, or family, who have come here since August is entitled to receive the 22 certificates which are good for 22 dollars worth of merchandise at the stores of the sponsoring merchants.

Mrs. Bradshaw calls on the new people as fast as she can locate them. "I get my names from all kinds of sources," she said yesterday. "Some are sent to me by the housing office, the University Service plant, the dean's office, Chancellor House's secretary, and the merchants themselves. In a lot of cases the girls work and it's difficult to catch them at home."

When plans were first made to

(See HOSTESS, page 4)

Carolina Cheering Songs

For convenient clipping purposes, in order that Carolina boosters can be ready at all times to break into the different Carolina cheering songs, we are printing six of the favorite among the student body. Cut 'em out and put them away for use next week or carry them along to Knoxville today.

Carolina Fight Song

Car-o-lin-a, Car-o-lin-a
Fight for N.C.U.
All hail your colors white and blue
Let's make a touchdown
Car-o-lin-a
Fight, fight, fight
For alma mater
Fight, till day is thru
We'll sing your praises
Car-o-lin-a
Fight, fight for N.C.U!

Alma Mater

Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices,
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises
Shouting N.C.U.
Hail to the brightest star of all
Clear its radiant shine,
Carolina, priceless gem
Receive all praises thine.
Chorus:
For I'm a Tar Heel born
I'm a Tar Heel bred
And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead
So it's Rah, rah, Carolina - lina
Rah, rah, Carolin - a
Rah, rah, rah.

Tar Heels on Hand

Tar Heels on hand
To send the thunder from the sky
Then take our stand
As every man does right,
For the Blue and white
We'll give the Tar Heels an hand
To cheer them on to do or die,
Yea, all of us are from U.N.C.
And you can bet we're proud to be
The Tar Heels on hand

Rah Carolina

Rah, Carolina - lina
Rah, Carolina - lina
On to victory today.
Fight, Carolina - lina
Fight, Carolina - lina
We will win the game today
Fighting, Fighting
Smashing down the field
On, on, on, we'll make the enemy yield
Rah, Carolina - lina
Rah, Carolina - lina
We will win to-day.

Carolina Victory March

There'll be a Carolina Victory
Across the field the foe has fled
Cheer that team to victory
For we are Tar Heels born and bred
Rah, Rah, Rah
Glory, Glory UNC our hearts will live with thee,
Fight, Fight, Fight for blue and white
Are rolling to victory.

Here Comes Carolina

Here comes Carolina - lina
Here comes Carolina - lina
We hail from N.C.U.
We've got the spirit in us
We've got the will to win it
We wear the colors white and blue
So, it's fight, fight, fight
For Carolina
As Davie did in days of old
As we gather round the well
Cheer that Tar Heel team like hell
For the glory of NCU

CICA Is Re-activated

A few days ago, a group of Carolina Independent Coed association members met to make their plans for the year. Their past president has resigned and the new president Eloise Jacobi started things rolling.

On their agenda were projects which would take careful planning and hard work. The first of these is the famous Sadie Hawkins day when the gals get them guys. Plans are in the blue-print stage for a fashion show, dance, and several parties.

Although the primary emphasis is social, the leaders of the CICA encourage their group to participate in extra-curricular activities. They also strive to promote more friendliness between the independent coeds.

Their requirements for membership are stringent and their initiations are simple. The only identification that they wear is a CICA bracelet. However, their spirit and cohesiveness is strong and admirable.

We congratulate the newly re-activated CICA. We hope it has a successful year.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

MORE POWER to Bill Miller who has zoomed to the heights of scholastic fame with a 91 on a Spanish test. Chris White seems a bit perturbed about the situation, though. She's afraid he's letting it go to his head and getting involved with other brains at Danziger's.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE? We want to ask Tag Montague about that initiation on the porch of the Pi Phi house. Something about "Pi Lamda Rho" seems to be involved in the situation.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS. If you ever wanna' have a good, old-fashioned duel, line up with John Van Hecke and Dave Sharpe for your arrangements. John is a bit disappointed with his beginning in the business since his first man failed to show up at the vital moment, but he still has four water pistols ready for use.

CUTE AS A KITTEN. Becky Otter, assistant hostess in McIver, has justification in asking people to come in and see her etchings. She has a magnificent collection of cat prints on her walls—enough to make you want to sit down to a big bowl of milk with them.

LEND AN EAR, my boys! Heaps of you have been yelling so loud at the games that you haven't heard the name of the cheerleader who has been doing such a beautiful job of singing the national anthem —She's Lucielle Arnott and hails from Tennessee.

WE'RE STILL WAITING for the walls of third floor McIver to burst out with the energy that's confined up there—'specially in the room of Tommy Olive and Sue Stokes — two of the goingest girls in this town.

SI, SI. Have you ever noticed the way Vic Johnson beams when somebody mentions his trip South of the Border? 'Spect to see him come forth with a sombrero before long.

VENUS PERSONIFIED. Edie Knight hit the jack pot for the week's prize remark of complacency when she blurted forth at the bakery, "I must get plenty for breakfast because I always wake up ravishing!"

CURIOSITY may have killed the cat, but we're willing to take the chance. We hear that Ray Sarbaugh is truly one interesting person to talk with, and we're on fire with curiosity to hear him.

TAKE HIS PULSE, TOO. Goofiest comment out of the Western North Carolina Club meeting was Sandra Sisk's effort to "amend Ralph Bennett's emotion."

JUST HAVE PATIENCE. The Rendezvous will be serving coffee again just as soon as their paper cups get here. Seems the health inspector didn't like the idea of those china cups without three tubs of water heated to something like 250 degrees.

UP IN THE AIR. What's this about Alderman's assistant hostess, Dot Faucett, getting lodged between floors on the laundry elevator. Just what was she trying to do, anyhow—find out if it all comes out in the wash?

IN TOWN:

ANOTHER WHO DUNNIT. Tough about the 20 dollars that vamoosed from Harry's last week. Guess we'll have to go down and give him enough business to make up for it.

WE'LL BE MISSING Lois Cranford down at the Merchants' association when she leaves. She tells us that the volume of business has gotten so heavy that they need a full-time secretary for the job.

OUR STAR. Betty Grable, we hear, has a new co-star who hails from Carolina—one Whit Bissel of the class of '32. You'll have to get Ed French over at the NROTC to tell you all about him.

There's More Action In The Middleweight Class

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Democratic Dicta

The Insult Is Too Much

By Hugh Wells

The Republican candidate for President, Mr. Thomas Elusive Dewey, had, indeed, established a direct line of communication with the Carolina campus. Or maybe Mr. T. E. didn't have to establish one; perhaps the honorable Russel G. Baldwin just happened to be born with traits like Tom's. Anyhow, they're a cinch for being equally adept at underrating the intelligence of the average voter, especially southern style voters.

In his column Tuesday, Baldwin apologizes for his late arrival upon the political scene, but goes on to assure his readers that his absence has contributed no less to the knowledge of students as to things political than have the columns presented by other political groups. Right away he announces himself as the last word in political wisdom, and this is just what our friend (?) Dewey has been doing for weeks. And not without some help from people like Baldwin.

For instance, Hugh Scott, the brand new Republican national chairman talks just like that and even goes on to the extent that not only are Republicans in possession of all political wisdom, but that they are also the only specie of American citizens worthy of holding public office. The Republicans are the good people, so they say, and all the rest are but poor, misguided fools who but for their devotion to democracy might be just as worthy of being called Republican as any Dewey, Scott or Baldwin.

How can so many of us have lived so long and not realized that, next to the Heavenly Host, the Republican party offers more of the best things in life than any other agency in existence!?!

The answer is easy! The Republican party has long been offering the best things in life to a lot of people, but it so happens that the "lot of people" aforementioned don't constitute the rank and file of the voters. Dewey and his yes-men can offer, with assurance, that, if elected, they will see that the government is returned to "normal" and that the country is returned to "normal" and that we will have "unity" in abundance and that sunshine is good for anyone who doesn't have a sunburn already and so forth ad infinitum. As Phillip Murray has said, Dewey has stated unequivocably that automobiles run better with gasoline in them, that he is in favor of streams full of fish, and that the future undeniably lies ahead of us.

The insult is too much!! The Democratic party does not pretend to be made up of Little Boy Blues who never do wrong and make no mistakes. Being human, the leaders of the Democratic party expect to make mistakes, but history will demonstrate that the Democratic leadership has shown its ability to learn and profit by its mistakes (and those of its opposition) while the Republican leadership shows a tendency to want to prove its mistakes really were mistakes by pulling the same boners again. Harry Truman is no Roosevelt and has never tried to be, but he more closely approximates a great Democratic leader of the past than does anyone else in the party today, while Dewey can claim no kin to any Republican leader of the past (since Abraham Lincoln) because he knows if he did, it would be political suicide.

Talk is not enough, Mr. B. and Mr. D. The American people are noted for believing that action speaks louder than words, and the Democratic party has certainly shown itself to be the party of action and not reaction in this country.

Lines on Literature

Worthy Of The Adjective

By Roy C. Moose

Out of the morass of historical novels saturating the market in recent years Inglis Fletcher's "Roanoke Hundred" emerges as a book worthy of the adjective "historical." The fifth volume in the famous Carolina Series, "Roanoke Hundred" is the story of the first English settlement in America on tiny Roanoke Island.

Using the 108 men who actually made up the settlement, Miss Fletcher has succeeded in producing one of the most authentic stories yet in the present era of historical prostitution. There are very few fictional characters in the book and the ones Miss Fletcher does introduce are necessary to unify the story.

Throughout "Roanoke Hundred" the reader is introduced to the illustrious men of the reign of Elizabeth, the Sovereign Queen—Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Philip Sidney, Sir Richard Grenville, Sir Francis Drake. Each emerges as a living character disturbed by the power of Spain and cognizant of the opportunities in the new land beyond "the Irish sea." Of the fictional characters Colin is especially well drawn and in many instances he overshadows the authentic characters.

Miss Fletcher's women, however, seem to be the weakness of the book. This is due probably to the fact that she had little action in which to place them, for this is essentially the story of men following dreams of exploration. In fact, the women seem a little forced at times.

The story of Roanoke Hundred is essentially the story of Colin, the servant. Although the expedition was conceived by Raleigh and carried out by Grenville, the spirit of the venture and of the book is embodied in Colin's search for equality. He volunteers along with other young men of Devon and Cornwall because he wishes to be more than a slave—to own land like the gentry. The story of the hardships suffered by the 108 men and their year on Roanoke Island is familiar to everyone, especially since the production of Paul Green's Lost Colony which tells the story of the following expedition to the same place.

To those who have either read or seen Green's Lost Colony Miss Fletcher's book will be especially interesting. It is a much fuller treatment of that period of history and some of the more obscure historical fact in Green's play is clearer in the Fletcher book.

As in her previous works Miss Fletcher again proves that history can be interesting as well as truthful, something the more pedantic historians have to learn. And her choice of North Carolina history to popularize is particularly gratifying. To her North Carolina owes a tremendous debt for she has made known to the whole country what many North Carolinians have believed—that the story of the founders of the state is one of the most interesting and exciting tales in all history.

Write Away

Editing Was Untair

Editor:

I feel that you did an unfair job of "editing" my letter which appeared last Sunday. If it was too long for your column, I think you should have returned it to me with a note to that effect, or even have omitted to print it without any explanation. Either action would have been more graciously received by me than the emasculated version which you did print, which makes me almost as dyspeptic as Harold Ickes.

As a long-time teacher of English, I resent the grammatical and rhetorical butchery you performed almost as much as I deplore the excision of content. Your amputation of the closing paragraph was especially an abomination, taking away from the letter any sense of form. Furthermore the emphasis left by your version was not at all the emphasis I intended. My words are doubtless not golden, but (to switch the metaphor) they are the particular ones which brick by brick build the structure which I am content to call my own. Who wants a house without a roof?

Your limitations on length do not, I suppose, allow me at this time adequate space in which to re-state the ideas which you omitted. Permit me merely to repeat that Mr. Lowenstein's indiscriminating Red smear of all Progressives is in my opinion an insult to such distinguished men of integrity as Thomas Mann, Rexford Tugwell, Elmer Benson, John Rogge, Carl Van Doren, Hugh DeLacy, and F. O. Matthieson (to mention only a few), as well as an affront to millions of us unimportant but sincere people who believe that Henry Wallace is the intellectual heir of Franklin Roosevelt and that the Progressive party is the logical continuation and extension of the ideas of the New Deal.

Edward A. Stephenson

(Contributions to Write Away are limited to 300 words. All letters exceeding this limit should be submitted with the understanding that they are subject to editing at the discretion of the editor.)

Question Repeated

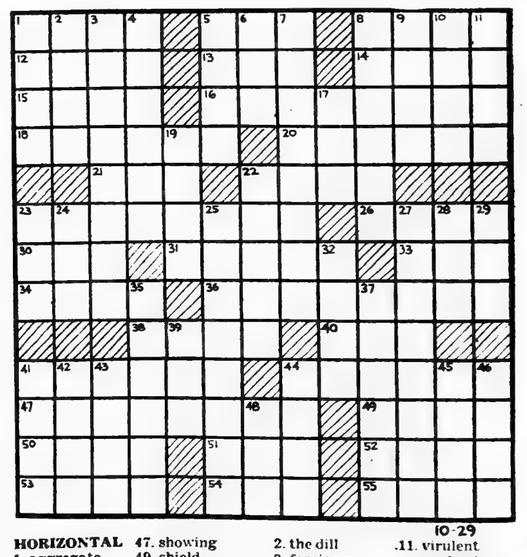
Editor:

I'm still trying to find out wherein "non-Communist" Wallaceites disagree with their Red allies. Last week I asked this seemingly simple question in a letter. I was careful not to call all Progressives "communist." I was just seeking enlightenment. For my pain I was denounced as "scurrilous" and accused of "distortion and misrepresentation" by one Edward Stephenson.

Mr. Stephenson undoubtedly is a sincere person who devoutly wishes world peace. One wonders, however, if the Mr. Stephensons in the Wallace movement do not occasionally feel concerned over the reasoning which has lead their noble aspirations for humanity into alliance with apologists for violence, deceit, and suppression. . . .

It is odd that in the monumental struggle between free men and Communist dictatorship in Europe, it is with the dictators that these "Progressives" stand.

People who justified Hitlerian tyranny in the '30's were properly called "pro-Nazi," Mr. Stephenson. Do you see an analogy?



At its Philadelphia convention the Wallace party roared down the so-called Vermont Resolution, which stated that the Progressives did not endorse in its entirety the foreign policy of any nation. In Chapel Hill the Wallace club rejected a proposal that it record its opposition to "imperialism by any nation."

The Mr. Stephensons in the Progressive party may be guileless and well-intentioned people, but so long as they find themselves in accord with the Communist party on all significant current issues, they are also pro-Red people; and it is not "smearing" them to say so.

So I must again ask: What are the differences between "non-Red" and Red Wallaceites on significant issues of the day? And when Mr. Stephenson, or anyone else, has shown these differences, he can legitimately protest being called "pro-Red." I for one have been called "Red" too many times, to indulge in such descriptions lightly. . . .

The Progressive "movement" may not be like a "dead mackerel in the moonlight." But there sure is something fishy about its "progressiveness"—and the movement sure is dead.

Al Lowenstein

10-29

HORIZONTAL
1. aggregate
5. pouch
8. ram down
12. grafted (her.)
13. artificial language
14. musical wind instrument
15. anti-toxins
16. small tarts
18. stable compartments
20. small rill
21. born
22. capital of Italy
23. reduced in rank
26. hazard
30. twilight
31. ascends
33. by way of
34. obstacles
36. treat wrongly
38. Ireland
40. air: comb. form
41. American Revolutionary general
44. vaulted passageway
47. showing
49. shield
50. characterization
51. observe
52. slight depression
53. female sheep
54. coal scuttle
55. being

VERTICAL
1. disorder
2. the dill
3. foreigner
4. official weight certifier
5. perches
6. feminine name
7. rusts
8. rang, as a bell
9. Adam's son
10. speck
11. virulent epidemic
17. diminutive for Timothy
19. Shakespearian character
22. plant exudation
23. society bud (abbr.)
24. feminine name
25. lessen
27. general types
28. narrow inlet
29. take nourishment
32. asterisk
35. fish-nets
37. withdraw
39. legendary bird
41. part: comb. form
42. affirm
43. vex
44. grows old
45. continuous loud noises
46. Italian family of nobility
48. new: comb. form

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

A	D	R	A	R		B	A	R	E	R
G	R	I	E	V	E		A	L	I	N	E	R
A	E	N	E	A	S		R	A	T	T	L	E
U	T	E		S	C	A	R	E		R	I	A
G	E	R	M		U	S	E		T	E	N	D
E	S	S	E	N	E	S		T	R	E	E	S
			D	I	D		V	I	E
S	W	E	E	P		T	A	M	A	L	E	S
P	A	L	S		M	A	L		T	I	M	E
O	N	A		C	O	D	A	S		S	E	E
U	T	T	E	R	S		N	E	A	T	E	R
T	E	E	T	E	E		C	R	I	E	R	S
	D	R	A	W	S		E	A	R	N	S

10-29

Average time of solution: 25 minutes
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Untair

ting" my letter which your column, I think note to that effect, or y explanation. Either eived by me than the hich makes me almost sent the grammatical almost as much as I utation of the closing taking away from the emphasis left by your ended. My words are metaphor) they are build the structure vants a house without pose, allow me at this the ideas which you

Mr. Lowenstein's inves is in my opinion
rity as Thomas Mann,
gge, Carl Van Doren, mention only a few),
important but sincere
s the intellectual heir ive party is the logical
the New Deal.
ward A. Stephenson
ted to 300 words. All itted with the under-t the discretion of the eated

n-Communist" Wallace-week I asked this seemreful not to call all Pro-enlightenment. For my d accused of "distortion
Stephenson.
ere person who devoutly ver, if the Mr. Stephen-asionally feel concerned ir noble aspirations for for violence, deceit, and uggle between free men d is with the dictators

in the '30's were prop-
Do you see an analogy?
llace party roared down stated that the Progres-e foreign policy of any rejected a proposal that y any nation."
e party may be guileless as they find themselves all significant current t is not "smearing" them

fferences between "nonissues of the day? And shown these differences, ro-Red." I for one have ulge in such descriptions be like a "dead mackerel mething fishy about its ire is dead.

Al Lowenstein

10-29

11 virulent epidemic
17 diminutive for Timothy
19 Shakespearian character
22 plant exudation
23 society bud (abbr.)
24 feminine name
25 lessen
27 general types
28 narrow inlet
29 take nourishment
32 asterisk
35 fish-nets
37 withdraw
39 legendary bird
41 part: comb. form
42 affirm
43 vex
44 grows old
45 continuous loud noises
46 Italian family of nobility
48 new: comb. form

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

Truth or Friction

THERE IS A NEW FORMULA for friction. It isn't the one you find in the current Physics books, but merely a pair of groups who seem to be moving in the same direction, but won't ride together since they don't tie their shoes the same way.

The University club and Norm Sper's Rally committee seem to have different ideas concerning the manner in which the Carolina spirit is to be distilled. Neither will admit the animosity, but how blind can you be? The roar of dissension is soft, but audible.

Mr. Sper, whose name once only rhymed with cheer, but now has become synonymous with it, seems to have been first on the scene. He spent many months in preparation of his high-pitched yell program which has been praised from the roof tops, especially in the color card department.

Rally, Rally Everywhere

THE UNIVERSITY CLUB, on the other hand, had nothing but history and its unsoiled dignity at the start of the current school year. It had not been too active during the past year, but with football stock rising, interest in the club did also. Club members immediately became indignant over the way that Sper "was running the show." They enlisted the sympathy of a few local news hounds and were off to the races.

The result was that students almost got two pep rallies for the price of one before the Texas game. The two groups got momentarily together and combined effects for a Oscarating performance. Then they split again, both claiming credit for their success. The spirit was moved—back and forth.

As the season has progressed, so have the relations between the Committee and Club, but there is too much of a UNish touch to the whole affair. Nobody's happy, nobody's pleased, and everybody's not getting into the act. The time has come not to hiss, but make up. Mr. Hodgson, meet Mr. Sper.

Still a Good Job

REGARDLESS OF THE FEUDING, fussing and fighting, a fine job has been done by the student body in backing the team like 7,000 Broadway producers. They have followed any and every leader in sight. Among the leaders, Mr. Hodgson's delightful idea to stage the Powder bowl failed through no fault of his own. He was the victim of the greatest Administration bucking passing poor Washington has ever endured. Needless to say, he has more up his sleeve.

Mr. Sper, on the other hand, has witnessed a tad more success in his acoustical and eye-filling endeavors. His color cards are the talk and toast of football fans everywhere. Sper, not stunted in growth by pride, borrowed the best of the West coast ideas concerning card tricks and then improved upon them. Today, the local displays rival even Charlie Justice for space in the current periodicals.

Behind the success of the color cards, besides the students that hold them, is their illustrator, Bill Harrison. He speaks the praises of the Tar Heels with his hands each week in the drawings he cards and discards. Harrison shares with the rest of the cheerleaders, committee and club members the satisfaction of their part in a winning football team.

United they're grand, divided their call weakens.

Intrasquad Tank Meet Slated

By Billy Burgess

The Carolina varsity swimmers will hold an intrasquad meet in Bowman Gray Pool this afternoon, the meet being the third in a series of weekly intrasquad meets that have been held the past three weeks. The purpose of these events is to give the candidates some competition and also to help Coach Casey in seeing how well his boys are developing.

The times in the various events have been quite encouraging considering the fact that it is early in the season. Coach Casey believes that his boys are further along than they were at this time last year, but practice began later last year.

In the two previous meets, some of the men showed that they are beginning to approach their form of last year. Jim Thomas, distance swimmer, has already turned in times of 2:21 and 5:11 on the 220 and 440, respectively, although he has been practicing only a week because of a recent nose operation. Swimming with Thomas in the distance events will be Sam McCauley, Ike Norwood, Noah Wilson, and Frank McNeil.

In the last meet John Bippart indicated that he will be the man to beat today in the backstroke as he swam 150-yd. in 1:46. Other promising candidates in this event are Oscar Cordle, Bob Page, and Eddie Clement. Norm Sper, another backstroker, has just reported this week, and the head cheerleader has shown great improvement in his first week's work.

The outstanding divers in the meet today will be Gil Beam, Jack Wichard, Darrell Byerly, and maybe Buddy Crone, who is not practicing regularly as yet.

Floyd Drew has turned in the best time in the 50 yd. freestyle, and Dick Twining, in the 100 yd. freestyle. Both of these boys are being pressed hard by Steve Osborne, another outstanding letterman sprinter. These three boys will form the nucleus of the sprint relay team, but Coach Casey is still looking for a fourth member to complete this relay team.

Carolina Posts 3-0 Victory Over Roanoke

Jordan, Ferebee, Boak Score Goals In Third Period

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

SALEM, Va.—After a sluggish first half, Carolina's potent soccermen came to life here yesterday to score three goals in five minutes and defeat Roanoke college, 3-0.

The Carolinians will journey to Lexington, Va., today to meet the Generals of Washington and Lee university at 3 p. m. The W&L booters, like the Tar Heels, have been an off-and-on club all season, and the team that gets hot this afternoon should have an easy time.

Washington and Lee dropped a 2-0 decision to High Point college earlier in the season after Carolina had tied the Purple Panthers a short time before. This is the only basis for comparison of the two teams and gives Carolina a slight edge over their Virginia rivals.

Dave Ferebee tallied the first Tar Heel marker after one minute of the third quarter had elapsed. Ferebee took the ball on a pass from Joe Boak and drove in for the score.

Three minutes later Boak passed to Tom Jordan who took the ball in for the second Carolina tally to clinch the game. Boak himself scored the final marker on a pass from Jordan sixty seconds later to run the score to 3-0.

At this point Coach Marvin Allen cleared the Tar Heel bench and played his reserves throughout the remainder of the game. The Virginians were still unable to score after the jayvees had taken over and Carolina posted its third straight white-wash job.

The Tar Heels were in complete command throughout the game and the ball stayed in Carolina territory for the greater part of the game. The Carolinians took approximately twenty-five shots in the course of the battle whereas the boys from the Old Dominion could manage only eight cracks at the Tar Heel goal.

Duke Frosh Booters Edge Carolina, 2-1

DURHAM, Oct. 28 — Duke's freshman soccer team edged out the Tar Baby booters, 2-1, here today to even up the series between the squads for the season at one triumph and one loss each. The Tar Babies had previously earned a 1-0 victory over the Blue Imps in Chapel Hill.

Mal Lindstrom came through with both markers for Duke, scoring once in the first half and again after the intermission to break the 1-1 stalemate which existed at halftime. The Tar Babies' only score came in the second period when Tom Williams made a boot count.

Carolina will have an opportunity to resume the leadership in the series when the two squads meet again later in the season.

TAYLOR WINS

By besting Charlie Rice, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, Clark Taylor won the singles crown in the open division tennis tournament.

No Cigars for UNC

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 28.—(UP)—Twenty-three teams are being considered as possible contenders in next January's Cigar Bowl game here, it was announced today.

J. Rex Farrior, chairman of the bowl selection committee, said the performances of the following teams were being watched, but emphasized that the final selections would not be made until the end of the football season:

East — LaFayette, Muhlenberg, Delaware, Lehigh, Middleberry.

South — Sewanee, Marshall, Murray State, Milligan, Wofford, Chattanooga, Southwestern Louisiana, Mississippi College, Presbyterian, and Mississippi Southern.

Midwest — Missouri Valley, Heidelberg, Wabash, Denison, Bowling Green, and Hanover.

Southwest — Texas College of Mines and Hardin-Simmons.

Farrior said bowl officials hoped to play host to undefeated teams from different sections of the country for this year's game.

Statistics Chart

Team Totals

	NC	Opp.
Total points	131	34
First downs rushing	43	17
First downs passing	27	20
First downs penalties	5	1
Total first downs	75	38
Net yards rushing	997	345
Net yards passing	646	453
Passes attempted	87	107
Passes completed	42	42
Punts	29	48
Punting average	43.1	38.3
Times lost fumbles	10	7
Number penalties	23	22
Yds. lost penalties	245	204

Individual Rushing

Players	Attempts	Net	Ave.
Justice	71	341	4.8
Rodgers	86	317	3.7
Clements	20	103	5.1
Flamisch	8	52	6.5
Maceyko	7	65	9.2
Hayes	7	—10	—1.4
Sherman	2	8	4.0
Weiner	5	44	8.8
Kennedy	15	65	4.3
Britt	1	4	4.0
Bunting	2	9	4.5
Purcell	1	—10	—10.0
Norcross	1	3	3.0

Individual Passing

Player	Attempts	Comp.	Yds.	Int.
Justice	65	34	516	5
Rodgers	15	6	122	1
Maceyko	5	0	—	2
Hayes	1	1	9	0
Bunting	1	1	—1	0

Player	Passes Caught	Total Yds.
Weiner	18	304
Cox	3	62
Justice	1	13
Flamisch	2	34
Powell	5	71
Kennedy	1	9
Cooke	6	89
Hartig	1	5
Britt	2	5
Weant	2	41
Rizzo	1	—1
Rubish	1	9

Individual Scoring

Player	T.D.	P.A.T	T.P.
Justice	7	...	42
Rodgers	3	...	18
Maceyko	1	...	6
Hayes	1	...	6
Weiner	2	...	12
Cox	2	17	29
Powell	1	...	6
Kennedy	1	...	6
Weant	1	...	6

Punting

Player	Kicks	Ydg.	Ave
Justice	28	1,203	42.9
Reynolds	1	45	45

Final Heavy Drill For Tilt with Vols Stresses Passing

Coach Carl Snavely and his undefeated Tar Heel footballers put emphasis on offense yesterday as they wound up preparations for the forthcoming contest with the potent Vols of Tennessee tomorrow in Knoxville.

With Paul Rizzo back in at blocking back after several days absence due to an injury incurred in last week's game, the Tar Heel offensive squad worked into the night on passing, kicking, and running. With Charlie Justice and Hosea Rodgers doing most of the passing, the Carolina crew looked to be in top shape for the Vols.

Aside from the now regular list of injuries, guards Sid Varney and Bob Mitten were still in light equipment. However, both are suffering only minor bruises and will be ready Saturday.

With Rodgers and Billy Hayes alternating at the fullback slot and Rizzo and Bobby Weant playing in the blocking back position, and Justice at the tailback, the Tar Heels clicked on many tricky passing plays. Mike Rubish, the shoeless kickoff artist, and Joe Neikirk, who has been doing the kickoff chores in the past two games, worked together with the offensive and defensive teams on the kickoff.

A total of 42 players, along with the coaching staff and managers, will leave Chapel Hill this afternoon by bus and arrive at Raleigh-Durham airport where they will take the plane to Knoxville. Take off time is scheduled at 3:30.

The word from General Bob Neyland's camp is that the Vols are suffering more from injuries than are the Tar Heels. However, Neyland predicted a Tennessee victory earlier last week.

White Cinder Squad Defeats Blue Outfit

The Whites defeated the Blues by a 148-136 score yesterday afternoon on Fetzer field in their weekly intrasquad meet. The Blues, winners of last week's meet, couldn't quite match the Whites' power yesterday.

One of the most exciting events of the day ended in a three-way tie between Moody and Saunders of the Whites and Joyner of the Blues in the high jump event. All three cleared the bar at the six-foot mark but could go no higher.

Joe Baldwin and Frank Scott of the Blues turned in fine performances in a vainless effort. Baldwin hurled the disc 152 feet to win that event and Scott ran the 100 in 10 seconds flat.

Sam Magill turned in an outstanding time of 7:23 for the winners in the one-and-a-half-mile run.

ARCHERY WINNER

Dick Fayssoux, Victory Village, will be presented with a trophy for placing first in the archery tournament. Fayssoux, fourth ranking archer in North Carolina, had a score of 424 out of a possible 540.

John Moore with a score of 371 placed second and will receive a cup. Becky Holten, the only girl to turn in a score, had a 296 for third place and will be given a medal.

COLOR CARD MOVIES

Movies of the Carolina color card stunts at the LSU and State games will be shown at the Carolina theater today.

Freshmen Engage Wake Forest On Fayetteville Grid Tonight

By Frank Allston

The Carolina freshman football squad will leave this afternoon for Fayetteville where they will play the Wake Forest frosh team at 8 o'clock in Municipal stadium.

Forty-eight players will make the trip and they will leave Woollen gymnasium at 2:30. The return trip will be made tomorrow night.

The Tar Babies have won both of their previous starts, edging the South Carolina frosh, 27-26; and topping the Virginia yearlings, 20-0. The Wake Forest frosh are also undefeated, holding victories over a strong N. C. State team and a rather weak Duke aggregation.

Coach Crowell Little's squad is expected to be at full strength for this all-important contest tonight. Several players who had been suffering minor injuries have recovered and will make the trip to the Cumberland county seat.

The starting Tar Baby backfield will probably feature the actions of Dick Weiss, C. C. White, Fred Brady, Skeeter Hesmer and Bob Gantt. All are proven runners and Weiss has shown brilliance in the role of a passer.

North Carolina's 1947 high school all-state backfield is featured on the Wake Forest roster: and three of the boys, Billy (Nub) Smith of Fayetteville, Dickie Davis of Wilson, and Bobby Stutts of Burlington form the core of the starting backfield. Davis is the quarterback and is known for his passing ability, while Smith, Stutts, and a host of others provide a top-notch running attack.

The Tar Babies wound up their week's work yesterday afternoon with a light workout and received their final instructions for the big game. Yesterday's work climaxed a week of rather heavy practice sessions which included two scrimmages.

COED HOCKEY CLUB

Immediately after the coed volleyball tournament is finished the hockey tournament will begin. According to Randy Hudson, no girl may play in the tournament unless she has participated in six practices either in hockey class or in the Hockey club. The class is at 2 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday, and the club meets at 4 o'clock.

Duke, Tech Notes

DURHAM, Oct. 28—(UP)—The injury hex hit at Duke again today as Tackle Lloyd Eisenberg remained on the sidelines with a fresh hurt in his already-lamed leg. Eisenberg had to be helped from the practice field yesterday.

Tailbacks Fred Folger and Bill Cox and Fullback Paul Stephanz were still not up to muster today as the Duke Blue Devils drilled grimly to meet Georgia Tech, the terror of the Southeastern conference.

Chapel Hill To Meet Hillsboro Club Today

Chapel Hill high school will seek its sixth win of the season this afternoon when they journey to Hillsboro to tangle with the Hillsboro high eleven in a 3 o'clock encounter.

The local team has notched wins over Oxford, Mebane, Siler City, Methodist Orphanage, and Durham County. Hillsboro has had a mediocre season and was trampled by Durham high, 33-0 in the season's opener.

Coach Bill Grice's Chapel Hill team will be at top strength with tailback Collier Hill and fullback Bill Butler expected to share most of the offensive action.

COED VOLLEYBALL SCORES

Chi O	3	Kenan	16
Town	41	ADPi	21
Pi Phi	2	Tri Delt	1
Carr	32	Pi Phi	3

35 30 31

Pi Phi 1 forfeit over CICA.
Chi O 4 forfeit over Alpha Gam 3.

Here Is Roundup Of Day's Action In Mural Leagues

Intramural tag football play was high lighted again yesterday by the high scoring of the powerful Grad eleven as the old timers made it 100 points in two games with a 35-0 win over BVP.

Edwards scored two touchdowns and an extra point to lead the high-flying Grads, but Dick Worsham captured individual honors for the day by racking up four TD's as Pi Kappa Phi swamped KA 1, 25-6. In other fraternity arguments, ATO 2 blanked Sigma Nu, 13-0, and Delta Sig edged TEP, 6-0. Phi Gam 1 defeated DKE 1, 1-0, in the frat's only overtime tilt. The Beta 1 gridsters were victorious over the Kappa Sig 2 eleven by a 12-0 count while ZBT 2 whitewashed Lambda Chi 2, 8-0.

Jim Jackson tallied three times and George Vestal converted four times as Oakwood Drive smashed Aycock, 36-0 in dormitory competition. A second half rally led by Clark and Kissiah gave the Miller entry a 7-6 win over the Bombers. Second half TD's by Sol Kimerling of Quonset Hut 356 and J. M. Williamson of Manley forced the two teams into overtime play before the Hutters took a 7 to 6 decision.

CAROLINA - DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE
Six Miles from Chapel Hill
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"FOR YOU I DIE"
with
Cathy Downs - Paul Langston
Shows at 7:15 and 9:30
COLOR CARTOON AND SHORT

All the Way . . .
CHUG - A - LUG
Let's Make Tennessee No. 6
K & M Beer Delivery
PHONE 3536

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a baby. Fussy about clothes. Demands frequent change of wardrobe. Hits bottle daily. But finds life incomplete. Is just waiting for day when he can wear smart "Manhattan" shirt.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Wthe shirt. Your day has come to enjoy one. Very smart. Widespread collar points, and stays to keep 'em flat. Fabric residual shrinkage 1% or less.

CAMPUS FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY

See the Outstanding Manhattan Collar Styles
at
JACK LIPMAN'S
Wide Spread and Button Down
French Cuff

The greatest story of our time!
ROY DEL RUTH'S
"THE BABE RUTH STORY"
WILLIAM BENDIX · CLAIRE TREVOR · CHARLES BICKFORD
Produced and Directed by ROY DEL RUTH

Also
CARD STUNTS — L.S.U. AND STATE GAMES TODAY
CAROLINA

AL CAPP L'il Abner

Let us squeeze you—a fresh orange juice—at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon MILTON CANIFF

U.S., British Leaders Seek New War, Stalin Charges

MOSCOW, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Premier Josef Stalin accused the leaders of the United States and Great Britain today of seeking to "unleash a new war" but said they would be repudiated by those who want peace.

In a question-and-answer interview with the Communist party newspaper organ Pravda on the Berlin crisis Stalin bitterly denounced France and the six "neutral" countries on the United Nations Security council also for supporting "a policy of aggression, a policy of unleashing a new war."

"How can all this end?" Pravda's interviewer asked in his sixth and final question.

"It can end only with the disgraceful downfall of the instigators of a new war," Stalin replied.

"Churchill, the chief instigator of a new war, has already succeeded in depriving himself of the confidence of his nation and the democratic forces of the whole world. The same fate awaits all other instigators of war.

"The horrors of the recent war are too alive in the minds of the people, and the social forces in favor of peace are too great, for Churchill's pupils in aggression to be able to overcome them and to deflect them toward a new war."

(Some United Nations delegates in Paris interpreted this part of Stalin's statement as a forecast of President Truman's defeat in Tuesday's election.)

Playmakers Slate Public Tryouts For Second Play

Public tryouts for the second major production and tour play of the Carolina Playmakers, Sheridan's "School For Scandal," will be held next Thursday, according to associate professor Harry Davis, who will direct the play.

"School For Scandal," which will be the first play to be taken on tour by the Playmakers since 1941, is scheduled for production here on Dec. 1, 2, 3, and 4. The tour will be from Jan. 6 until Jan. 15.

Davis said, "All students who try out should be certain that they meet the university's regulations governing eligibility."

Bristol Chosen First President Of Iredell Club

Cowles "Cokie" Bristol was elected president of the Iredell-Carolina club at a meeting held in Gerrard hall Tuesday night. The club selected the title "Iredellians" as the name of their new club, and made plans for a Christmas dance to be held in Statesville during the Christmas holidays.

Also elected at the meeting were C. M. Adams, Jr., vice-president, Bob Bunch, secretary, Howard "Rat" Kivett and P. McNeer Dillon, public relations.

–Dewey Noses Truman Out in Poll–

(Continued from page 1)

against his Civil Rights program while only 32.98 per cent are in favor of it. On the Dewey side of the ledger, 62.74 per cent are against the bill and 24.53 per cent are in favor of it.

20.50 per cent of the Dewey voters blame the Democrats for high prices and 10.90 per cent blame their own party. 58.80 per cent put the blame equally on both. In the Truman camp, 43.55 per cent blame the Republicans and only 2.12 per cent blame the Democrats. The majority, however, some 52.06 per cent felt that both parties were at fault.

Democrats approved of the Un-American activities committee by 52.13 per cent, while 31.91 per cent are against their investigation work. The Republicans favored the committee by 53.93 per cent against a 28.42 per cent disapproval vote.

The Dewey men are against the return of OPA with a majority of 56.90 per cent in comparison to 36.30 per cent in favor of it. The Democrats reversed the voting, however, by voting 47.87 per cent in favor of OPA's return to a 35.11 per cent vote against it.

A division of the veterans and the non-veterans in their choice for presidential candidate showed no significant difference in the preferences.

The States Rights Democrats voted 95.25 per cent against President Truman's Civil Rights program with a very small minority of 4.76 in favor of it.

–Hostess–

(Continued from page 1)

start the service here some of the local merchants and Mrs. Bradshaw went to Burlington to see how the service worked there.

The idea belongs to three members of the local Merchants association, Mrs. Bradshaw said. They are Jim Davis, of the University Florist, Jim Strowd, of Johnson-Strowd-Ward furniture, and Roy Strowd of the Farmer's Dairy Co-op.

Field Trip Set By Geologists For Tomorrow

Geologists from North and South Carolina will gather at the University tomorrow morning to make a Carolina Geological society field trip through the Deep River coal basin, Dr. W. F. Prouty, head of the Geology and Geography department, has announced.

With the University chapter serving as host the group will leave Chapel Hill from New East building at 8 o'clock and make a trip to the various bases, boulder beds and formations in the Deep River basin.

They will return to Chapel Hill in time for dinner at the Carolina Inn at 7 o'clock where J. A. Reinemund of the U. S. Geological Survey will give a technical and informal talk on the day's findings.

The same territory will be inspected Sunday morning by the group.

Aquinas Club Holds Meeting

Religious problems of Catholic students were discussed at the meeting of the Aquinas club Tuesday at the Y. Rudy Tropea, president, presided.

Rev. Father Francis J. Morrissey, Father Albert S. Folley, S. J. and Father Peter J. Kenney, S.S. J. were guest speakers.

The Aquinas club meets every other Tuesday at 7:30 in the evening on the second floor of the Y building. The next meeting will be held Nov. 9. All students who are interested in hearing the speakers or taking part in the discussions are invited to attend.

JOHNNY SATTERFIELD

Second Dance Set Tomorrow Night

The second in a series of Saturday night dances sponsored by Graham Memorial will be held tomorrow night at 8.30 in Woollen gym. No admission is charged for the dances.

The special series is intended for students who remain in town over weekends. Plans are already being made for a third dance Dec. 4.

Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will furnish the music for three and one half hours. Married students are especially invited to attend the dance.

DDT Discoverer Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Prof. Paul Mueller of Basel, Switzerland, won the Nobel prize for medicine today for his discovery of the insecticide DDT.

YW Committee Offers Service To All Parents

Forty-three coeds, members of the Social Service committee of the YWCA, have volunteered to do baby sitting for students and members of the faculty.

As last year, there is no charge to students for this service. However, a fee of 25 cents an hour will be asked of staff and faculty members. Proceeds will be used for YWCA social service projects.

Memeographed lists of coeds names and a schedule of the days they can sit have been delivered to all married students living in the trailer courts and in Victory Village and to members of the faculty. Any student living in town interested in taking advantage of this free service may pick up a schedule at the YWCA office.

Several suggestions have been made so that the project may be carried out with the most convenience to both baby sitter and parent: The girl must be called by 4 o'clock on the day that she is to baby sit: transportation to and from the dormitory is necessary; the girls must be in on time, (11 o'clock).

Soccer Socker Socks Vehicles On Main Drag

Jim Hammerstein made his freshman soccer game at Duke yesterday afternoon but not until he had blazed a well-marked trail down Franklin street.

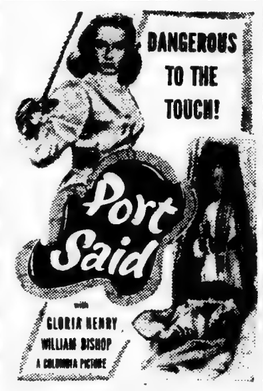
The 20 - year - old freshman from Boylestown, Pa., was driving a 1936 Ford touring sedan east on Franklin street. He was heading for the Carolina-Duke freshman soccer tilt in Durham.

According to local police, Hammerstein said he hit a depression in the road near the Institute of Government, then began a little jaunt through two cars parked on the south side of the street.

First he hit a blue Nash belonging to Mrs. Villera M. Besset, causing slight damage to the left rear fender. Next, he struck a Ford sedan belonging to a jailer of the city of Greensboro. Damage to the Ford was not estimated.

Chief W. T. Sloan said Hammerstein was released on $100 bond after being charged with reckless driving and damage to property. He was taken on to the game by acting coach Frank Murray.

United States Denies Statement



PARIS, Oct. 28.—(UP) — The United States tonight denied formally and completely the statement of Premier Josef Stalin that America and Great Britain repudiated an agreed solution of the Berlin crisis during negotiations here.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

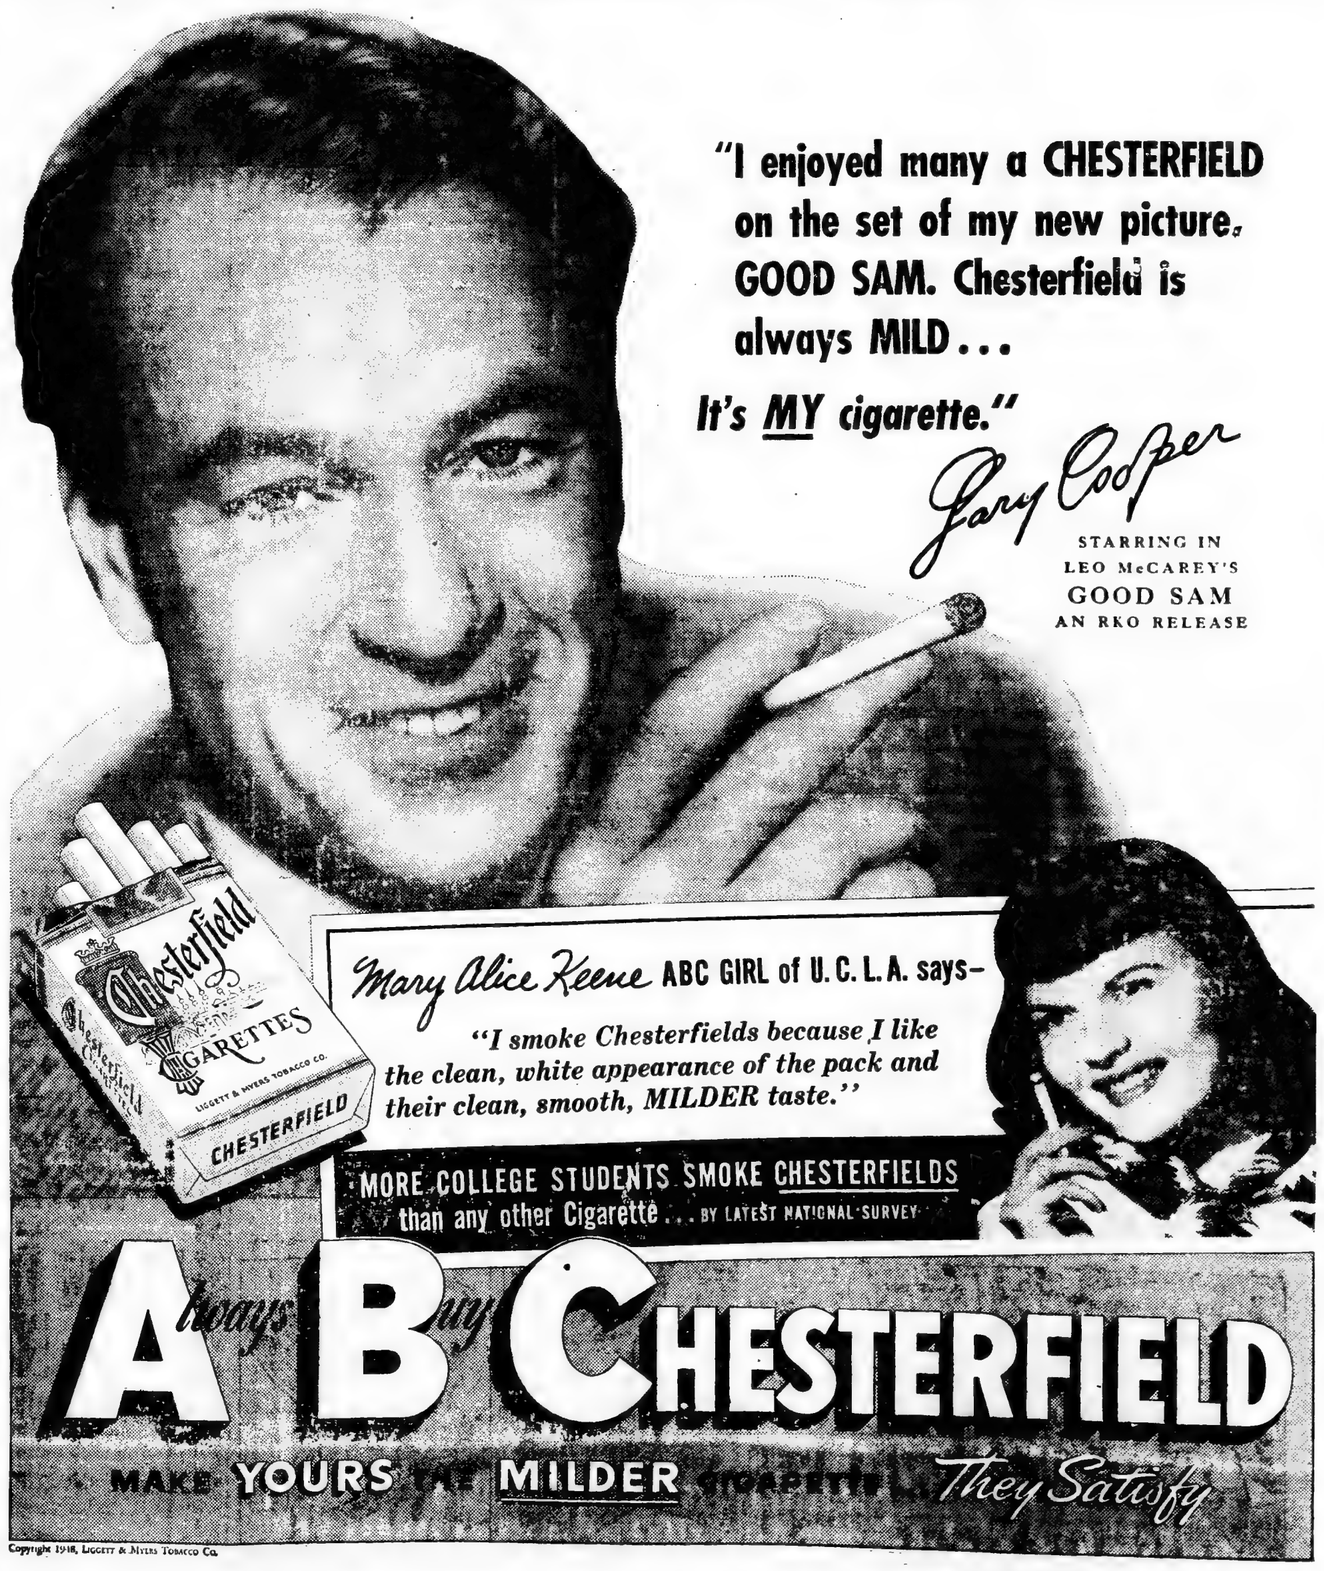
FURNITURE . . .
• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

ROY COLE and His Orchestra
See: E. C. LEONARD
305 Cameron Ave.
or
Write: P.O. BOX 902

TODAY
—Also—
Cartoon—News
TODAY
VILLAGE

We're on Our Toes
With Quick Towing Service
If you've ever been stuck for hours—waiting for a tow truck, you'll appreciate our 24-hour service. We're on our way as soon as we get your call. Keep our phone number in your glove compartment.
For Night Emergency Service Call
Gilbert Clark, F-3681 — Bill Merritt F-2291
If above numbers do not answer
Call 5881
HAZZARD MOTOR CO.
(GENERAL MOTORS)
Phone 4771 -:- -:- Chapel Hill

DRAPERIES
SLIPCOVERS
BEDSPREADS
Selection of Material on Hand
Miss Lillian Edwards
CAROLINA DRAPERY SHOP
In Ogburn Furniture Co.



Over Andrews-Henninger
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

The Buccaneer
CLUB LUNCHEONS
75c 60c 50c
Chef's Special
Hamburger Steak
French Fried Potatoes
Green Salad Coffee
Served Daily Except Sunday
12 Noon - 3 P.M.
Airport Rd. Chapel Hill

Europe
ROUND TRIP $280 UP
Tickets available now for steamship accommodations
SUMMER 1949
Personally Conducted Tours $700 up
UNIVERSITY TRAVEL CO.
Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass.

The COLONIAL INN
Hillsboro, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

The ORIENTAL
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CTOBER 29, 1948

d an agreed solu-
Berlin crisis during here.

REWS-HENNINGER
The
RN SHOP
Nylon Wool, Too!

Buccaneer
LUNCHEONS
60c 50c
f's Special nburger Steak
n Fried Potatoes
Salad Coffee
d Daily Except Sunday
Noon - 3 P.M.
RD. CHAPEL HILL

rope
ND TRIP $280 UP
s available now for ship accommodations
SUMMER 1949
ally Conducted Tours $700 up
RSITY TRAVEL CO.
d Sq., Cambridge, Mass.

E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
N RESTAURANT

ERFIELD
icture.
is per RING IN CAREY'S
D SAM
RELEASE

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER
Fair and continued mild.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Funny Men
Way To Choose Ordinance Help

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 32

Tar Heels Face Tennessee In Knoxville Today

Progressives Hit By New Dealers

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.—Dr. Frank P. Graham and 35 other close associates and advisers of the late President Roosevelt, today condemned the Progressive party in a signed statement released by the Americans for Democratic action headquarters in Washington.

The statement describes actions of the party as "the most serious attempt in the history of our nation by a totalitarian group to capture and destroy American liberalism."

Three former Roosevelt cabinet officers, Harold L. Ickes, Interior; Francis Biddle, Attorney General; and Frank C. Walker, Postmaster General, joined the other key New Deal figures in charging that the Progressives constitute "a major effort to break up the liberal-labor coalition which brought about the great gains of the past 15 years."

Other former top officials in the Roosevelt administration who joined in urging rejection of Wallace included Aubrey Williams, director of the National Youth administration; Ernest Gruening, governor of Alaska; Leon Henderson, administrator OPA; Elmer Davis, director of OWI; Dean Acheson, Under- Secretary of State; Nathan Straus, housing administrator and Grace Tully, personal secretary to President Roosevelt.

They cited opposition to the European Recovery program as "the major theme of the Wallace campaign," and assailed the Progressives for having "lined up unashamedly with the forces of Soviet totalitarianism."

The statement recalls that President Roosevelt had described the Soviet Union as "a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world."

Dismissing Wallace's domestic program as "an incidental concession to political necessity," the New Dealers said that "the chief motivation of the Progressive party is the promotion of its foreign policy."

Regarding President Truman, the statement pointed out that Truman is a candidate "on the

(See WALLACE, page 4)

Chi Delta Phi Hears Address On Literature

"You don't write literature because you're interested in plumbing," said Dr. Archibald Henderson, speaking Thursday night at the initiation banquet of Chi Delta Phi literary sorority in Durham's Ivy room.

"Will, enthusiasm, confidence and determination are things you must have," the nationally known mathematician, historian and biographer declared, entitling his talk, "How to Become a Great Writer."

Guests at the banquet included the 10 members of the University chapter, who were initiated at ceremonies Thursday afternoon; members of the Duke chapter, and Miss Katherine Carmichael, a Chi Delta Phi alumna.

Describing some of his experiences with George Bernard Shaw, for whom he is official biographer, Dr. Henderson gave the young writers advice from the great dramatist.

Shaw's secret of literary success, according to Dr. Henderson, is to write five pages a day, and to be able to write under any circumstances. The speaker described seeing Shaw writing on buses and trains, and during interviews with reporters and his public. "You must be able to isolate yourself from what goes on around you," he said.

"The first, last, and middle thing you must do," Dr. Henderson concluded, "is to study people —life, more than literature."

Members of the University chapter of the national honorary group will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, Graham Memorial, for their first closed meeting of the year. Material written by chapter memebers will be read and criticized.

Late News Bulletins

Dewey Confident

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey came to the end of a 15,000 mile campaign road tonight, confident that the White House was only a few days away.

Army Reorganizes

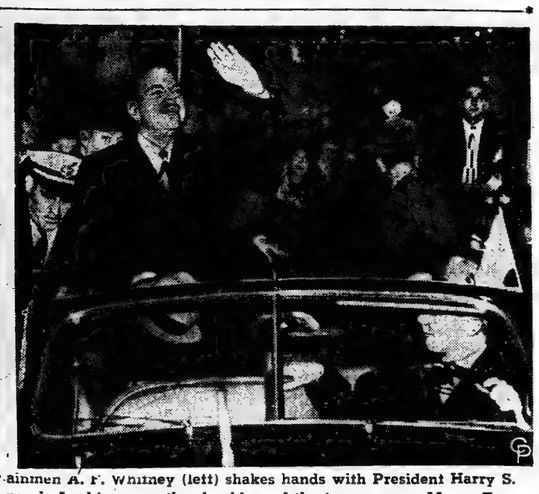
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(UP)—The Army tonight announced a top level reorganization effective Nov. 15, to place its headquarters "on a peace or war footing."

U. S. Drops

PARIS, Oct. 29.—(UP)—The United States suddenly dropped today its support for a proposal which might lead to United Nations penalties against the Jewish State of Israel as the result of the fighting in the Negev area of Palestine.

Truman to Rest

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—President Truman will go to Key West, for a brief vacation soon after Tuesday's election, it was learned today.



Soviet Youth

MOSCOW, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Youth organizations representing more than 33,000,000 members promised Premier Josef Stalin today to defend the interests of the Soviet State "under any conditions and at any cost."

UVA Club to Open

The UVA clubhouse will be open this afternoon in order that members may listen to the broadcast of the Carolina-Tennessee game. The club will open at 3:15, fifteen minutes before game time. Game time will be at 3:30 here because of an hours difference in Tennessee and North Carolina time.

PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen A. F. Whitney (left) shakes hands with President Harry S. Truman as the latter arrives in Cleveland for a major campaign speech. Looking over the shoulders of the two men are Mayor Tom Burke of Cleveland and former Sen. Robert J. Bulkeley. In the photo at right, Governor Thomas E. Dewey waves his hand in response to cheers that greeted him as he leaves Cleveland. The two candidates are winding up their vigorous campaign tours with speeches from major northern cities.

N.Y. City Overrun With Candidates

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)— You could hardly walk down a New York street today without bumping into a candidate for president.

For the Messrs. Truman, Wallace and Dewey all were in the big city and a harassed police department had to assign half the force to shepherding them through the crowds.

Mr. Truman startled early bird pedestrians with one of his habitual 7 a.m. strolls. Wallace popped around like a pogo stick performer with 11 speeches from the lower end of Manhattan to the Bronx.

Dewey effectively tied up homeward-bound commuters at Grand Central station by showing up there at 5:42 p.m. and packing the big lobby around the information booth with an overflow crowd of 7,500.

Sirens wailed, fireboats sprayed, bands played and taxi drivers cursed from dawn to dark as the candidates' paths intertwined and tied up traffic.

Mr. Truman and Gov. Dewey were staying in hotels only two blocks apart and, had he chosen, the President could have looked out the window of his 10th floor suite in the Biltmore and watched the Republican candidate's arrival at Grand Central.

But the closest they came was when Mr. Truman rode past the National Women's Republican club where Mr. and Mrs. Dewey were honor guests at a reception.

Wallace spoke during the day in the Bronx, Harlem and Queens. So did Mr. Truman. Dewey, who had followed the President through Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and now New York, was set to make Madison Square Garden appearances unanimous with his final major speech of the campaign.

Norman Thomas Carries Voting In UWF Debate

Debaters sharpened their claws Thursday afternoon and argued the topic, "How best to vote for world government in this election," for the United World Federalists' debate.

Sides in the debate were Al Lowenstein for Norman Thomas, Gran Childress speaking for President Truman, Charlie Long for Thomas E. Dewey, and Aubrey Williams, Jr., on the side of Henry Wallace.

Thomas came out on top, as he did in the Di senate debate earlier this week, with a total of 13 votes. Dewey placed second with eight votes; Wallace third, with seven votes and Truman last, garnering three votes.

If these debates are any indication of the feelings of the rest of the country, Mr. Thomas should be the next president.

He has 36 percent of the vote in both debates; followed by Truman with 24 percent; Dewey with 17 percent; Wallace with 15 percent and Thurmond with six percent.

Yack Photos

Yack photographers will be available from 9 o'clock to 12 noon today for those students wishing to have their yearbook pictures taken.

Draft Dodger

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Most draft dodgers don't get an opportunity to reconsider their refusal to register for selective service, but Stuart Zane Perkhoff, 18, got his third chance to change his mind today, and he took it.

Perkhoff, 18, St. Louis, Mo., New York's first post-war draft evader, announced after a three-week sample of life in jail that he would rather register than go to prison. With none of his earlier cockiness he said he would like to report to his draft board right away.

Citizens Flock To Blood Bank

SHELBY, N. C., Oct. 29.—(UP)—If citizens of Shelby flock to the Red Cross blood collection unit which opened up for business today, chances are fate has a hand in it.

On the eve of its arrival a young mother and her newborn child lay dying in a hospital here. An emergency call for blood went out and State Highway Patrolmen raced a supply from the regional blood center at Charlotte.

Officials said the blood which saved the pair's life may have been collected elsewhere by the unit which made its first visit today.

Playmakers Scripts Are Now Available

Copies of Sheridan's play, "School For Scandal," have been placed in the reserve room of the library, and are available to students who are interested in trying out for roles in the play next Thursday.

Busses to Take Freshmen to WC From GM Tonight

Busses will be on hand this evening at 6 o'clock, outside of Graham Memorial to transport Carolina men to the freshman dance at Women's college in Greensboro. Round trip fare will be $1.75.

Identification cards will be required for entrance to this, the second in a series of dances designed to acquaint students at Chapel Hill with the freshman girls at W. C.

The second half of the freshman class, numbering 500 strong, will welcome the visitors from Chapel Hill at 8 o'clock in the WC gym.

Further information on the dance, which is the last of the series, may be obtained from Tom Cunningham at 219 Everett.

Pinwheel Leads Cop to Invent

GREENWOOD, S. C., Oct. 29.—(UP)—Police Sgt. W. L. Skidmore watched a child skipping along with a home-made pinwheel spinning in the breeze two years ago, and he got to thinking "why not an engine."

So he invented one, on the pinwheel theory.

Now this engine of Skidmore's requires no starter, no rods, no pistons, no rings, no carburetor. It does use one spark plug.

It will operate on gasoline, fuel oil, kerosene and powdered or flowered coal, the sergeant explains.

What's more, says Skidmore, his turbine-type internal combustion engine will operate on one-sixth the fuel used by present engines.

This unparticular engine works on the principle of a pinwheel set in a casing, driven by combustion pressure fed through pots, Skidmore explains.

It weighs 190 pounds and will turn up 151 horsepower.

Just to make sure nobody else gets ideas watching a kid with a pinwheel, Skidmore had patented his contraption.

Poly Sci Course Pays Dividend

Political science 41 paid a $50 dividend to Charlie Rights recently when he answered the University Veterans association jackpot question correctly.

The question was "How many amendments to the constitution of the United States are still in effect?" Rights nosed out the other three jack-pot finalists, Dave Burney, Dot Smith, and Duke Smith by a split second, and master of ceremonies Bob Allison declared him the winner.

Next week, the UVA quiz shows will begin again and $10 will be the featured jack-pot prize.

Carolina To Try For Sixth Straight Win

By Billy Carmichael III

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. Oct. 30.—Coach Carl Snavely and his undefeated, untied Tar Heels of North Carolina arrived here yesterday afternoon by plane from Chapel Hill and began preparations for what will probably be the toughest game on the Carolina schedule this year.

The Tar Heels, 42 strong this trip, have always had a rough time against General Bob Neyland and his potent Vols of Tennessee. Tennessee is currently leading the series, with nine wins to the Tar Heels' seven. Only one game ended in a tie, that one being a 0-0 affair back in 1919.

Last year at Chapel Hill Carolina came out on top with a 20-6 decision. The show was all Charlie Justice, who scored one touchdown and flipped passes to John Tandy and Bob Cox for the other two. The only Tennessee score came on a 42 yard pass from Hugh Becker to Ronnie Bergmeier.

Held Tennessee

Other than that touchdown pass, the Tar Heels seemed to hold the Vols in check, allowing them only 11 yards on the ground and 88 yards through the air. The Tennesseans collected only three first downs to the Tar Heels' 19.

However, it may be a different story today, for the Tar Heels have no less than four key men out of the lineup due to injuries. Tackle Ted Hazelwood, Center Al Bernot, and backs Fred Sherman and Don Hartig are all out for possibly the remainder of the season.

But Carolina is still very capable of putting a first class team against Neyland. The starting backfield of Justice, Hosea Rodgers, Paul Rizzo, and Johnny Clements is one of the best ever seen in these parts and the Vols will be hard pressed to put a stop to their customary shenanigans.

Take To Air

The Tar Heels will present a passing attack today that features Justice, Rodgers, and Billy Hayes in the pitching department and sensational Art Weiner, Bob Cox, Ken Powell, and Max Cooke on the receiving end. Weiner starred last week against LSU when he made a spectacular one-handed catch of a Justice pass as he fell to the ground 10 yards short of the LSU goal line.

A potent running attack will be mixed in with the Tar Heel passing. With Justice taking over the role of "Mr. Outside" and Rodgers that of "Mr. Inside", Carolina will be putting a strain on Tennessee's defensive abilities.

But the Vols, ranked ninth in the country on total defense, have strength to put against Snavely's men. The Neyland line has given

(See FOOTBALL, page 4)

H.S.T. Assails Tom Dewey's Policy Views

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—President Truman said tonight that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had attacked the conduct of foreign affairs in a manner that had "torn off the mask of bipartisanship."

Asserting that Dewey had seen fit to drag foreign affairs into the political arena, the President devoted an entire major speech to that subject, attacking the Republican party as a force of isolation and reaction that could "end the hope for which this generation of mankind has sacrificed so much."

He charged that the Republicans were preparing to kill the reciprocal trade program, that they had tried to "mutilate" the Marshall Plan and that American Communists were working for a Republican victory as the surest method of insuring a depression that would weaken U.S. influence abroad and spread misery at home.

His prepared speech was delivered at a Brooklyn rally after another busy day of campaigning in the nation's busiest city which included motorcades and speeches in Westchester county, the Bronx and Harlem.

The Presidential party leaves for St. Louis tonight for an election-eve address there before Mr Truman goes on to Independence to vote and await the election outcome.

"I had hoped we would get through this political campaign without the Republican candidate dragging American foreign policy into party politics," the President said in his Brooklyn speech.

"But he has seen fit to attack the Democratic party's record on foreign policy. He has attacked my conduct of foreign affairs in unmeasured terms. He has torn off his mask of bipartisanship and revealed the ugly partisan passion underneath."

Then he discussed the record of the two major parties on foreign affairs. In so doing, the President indirectly answered Russian Premier Josef Stalin who said in a Pravda interview yesterday that Anglo-American leaders were trying to foment a new war.

"The leaders of the Soviet Union are the victims of their own iron curtain." Mr. Truman said.

Some Veterans To Miss Checks

Over 90 veterans will not receive subsistence checks this month because they have not turned in certificates of eligibility to the veterans office, veterans advisor F. C. Shepherd announced today.

Certificates of eligibility are marked in the lower left-hand corner as VA Form 7-1950 or VA Form 7-1953, Shepherd said.

The certificates must be turned in to the veterans advisor's office, 315 South building, before a veteran can be placed in training and draw subsistence allowance.

If any veteran has not turned in his certificate of eligibility, or is in doubt as to whether he has the right form, he should contact the veterans office immediately, Shepherd declared.

Chickens to Get New Look in '51

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29.—(UP)—You can expect a different looking chicken about 1951, a U. S. Department of Agriculture expert said today.

Just what the new bird will be like, H. L. Shrader would not guess. He said, however, he was sure it definitely will pack more and better meat.

Groundwork for the chicken of the future was laid at a meeting of poultry men on the University of Kentucky campus here. The poultry men decided to launch a "chicken-of-tomorrow" contest. It will be on a state and regional basis in 1949 and 1950, with a final National contest in 1951.

The breeder who comes up with the most robust rooster or the huskiest hen will get a sizeable cash price, amount not yet determined.

The poultry experts think this may improve the whole fowl situation.

Poor Management Of Program Blamed on SEC

By Sam Whitehall

Poor management of Memorial hall by the Student Entertainment committee for Hazel Scott's recital Thursday night caused confusion and hard feeling among a number of students who, after waiting in registration-size lines, were finally admitted to the auditorium.

Scotty Venable, student chairman of the committee, had previously urged that students should arrive as early as possible because of the expected capacity crowd. He stressed that seats would be on a "first-come, first serve" basis. The concert was scheduled to begin at 8:30.

However, people who arrived at 7 o'clock were greeted by locked doors, although 100 or so students could be seen inside the hall, down in the front-row seats. All side exits were locked, and when one of these doors was finally opened, a surly man of some official capacity snapped that orders were to open the doors at 7:30. When someone remarked that the Daily Tar Heel story had said, "First come, first serve," the official answered "that's too bad." He shut the door.

By 7:30, two double lines flowed away from Memorial hall into the dark. The crowd was so bulky when the doors finally opened about 7:45 the required I.D. cards were, in most instances, unnecessary.

Students were not the only ones to note or complain of the careless preparation for the program. Miss Scott was left in a somewhat uneasy situation, also. She arrived at the auditorium between 6 o'clock and 6:30 o'clock, accompanied by her traveling companion. A small group of Scott enthusiasts had ambled in through a lone open side door, and they were treated to an unexpected impromptu practice session.

The very cordial Miss Scott did not object to the audience, but she was chagrined—and rightly so—by the coat of dust on the keyboard. She left the stage, and her companion came out with a cloth and cleaned the keys.

A talk with the pianist a few minutes later revealed that she had been told nothing of arrangements for a microphone or electricians. As a matter of fact, there was no one backstage at the time except Miss Scott, her companion and a DTH reporter.

Chairman Venable was located by telephone and he seemed surprised that Miss Scott was on campus. There had been some confusion about the time of arrival and the hour of the concert, he said. Venable added that everything would be taken care of and that he was coming right over. It was after 7 o'clock.

The lights and microphone were finally set up, but an entrance cloth which Miss Scott had requested and which would have protected the beautiful white satin gown she wore, never materialized.

By 8 o'clock the hall was full. By 10:30 the artist had captivated the entire audience but the preconcert rush and helter-skelter management of the hall will be remembered by many of those present, and perhaps by Miss Scott as well.

Look At The Funny Men

Presidential elections are always funny if you have that remarkable ability of raising yourself from the earth and looking down and laughing at all these funny little people running around down here on earth for no apparent reason or for an unusually funny reason.

Dewey stumps the country calling for unity. He doesn't have to commit himself to anything. He has the election in the proverbial bag already. Why make any more enemies?

Truman has to fight like a winning horse that is headed down the last lap two lengths behind a dark-horse. He has to make emphatic promises, definite commitments and base accusations. He is on the defense and has to stay there.

Wallace sees that his chances of election are entirely gone. He realizes that people don't even care to toss tomatoes at him any more. He is exhibit A of a complete loss of faith.

Thomas, the perennial best man for the presidency, continues to make sane speeches that keep the people of the country thinking. He realizes that to leave a man with an idea to wrestle with is ofttimes better than winning an election.

Thurmond fights in the South for the things that he believes are right, proving the point that if you say a thing long enough, you begin to believe it yourself.

Other candidates continue to discuss, at varying degrees of madness, subjects such as vegetarianism, prohibition and even greenbacks.

All goes to show that if you could look down on us here on earth, you would probably play a soft tune on your harp, nestle up closer in a silvery cloud and muse to yourself "Look at those funny men down there." —G.C.

No Way to Choose

A large number of those who have decided how to vote Tuesday seem to have arrived at their choices by a process of elimination; by selecting the lesser, in this case, of five evils. At a glance, this speaks ill for the candidates in the race; also for the nation, as if it could produce nothing better.

Perhaps, the real fault for this choosing the least bad man lies not in the men themselves but in the apathetic attitudes of so many voters. In each of the five camps there are hard workers who certainly did not offer their ardent support after an eeny-meeny process.

In this first post-war election, every shade of political opinion is represented on the presidential slate. For anyone who has seriously harbored or formulated a set of political principles there will be no difficulty in selecting a man who agrees with his ideas in part at least. Only the unthinking lackadaisical "voter" will wait until the polls open to make up his mind, or, worse, will select the lesser of real or imaginary evils. —B.F.

City Ordinance Might Help

This University isn't the only school having trouble with football ticket scalping. Midshipmen of the U. S. Navy academy sold so many tickets for today's Navy-Notre Dame game to scalpers that the city council of nearby Baltimore rushed through an ordinance forbidding ticket speculation.

Only two more games face the Tar Heels in home territory—those with William and Mary and with Duke. Seats for these games, however, are at such a premium that scalping is expected to reach a new high in Chapel Hill. Perhaps a city ordinance here forbidding the practice might help the situation. Maybe the local police could do a more effective job of curbing the negotiations than SBI agents have been able to do heretofore.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

NOTHING LIKE IT! Chuck Odell still chuckles up his sleeve about teaching a music lab where everybody but himself was in arts and sciences. Guess he could at least psychoanalize his pupils.

LONG TIME NO SEE. Then all of a sudden it hits people like Anita Gatis that she was a neighbor of Ann Marshall Emmert for six years; and that's how-come they thought they'd seen each other before.

BELATED LAURELS to Dr. Williams Newman of the music department. When praises began to flow among his music students about his recent concert and with them rumors that he would give an "A" to all who attended, he informed one class that he would "give at least two more good grades."

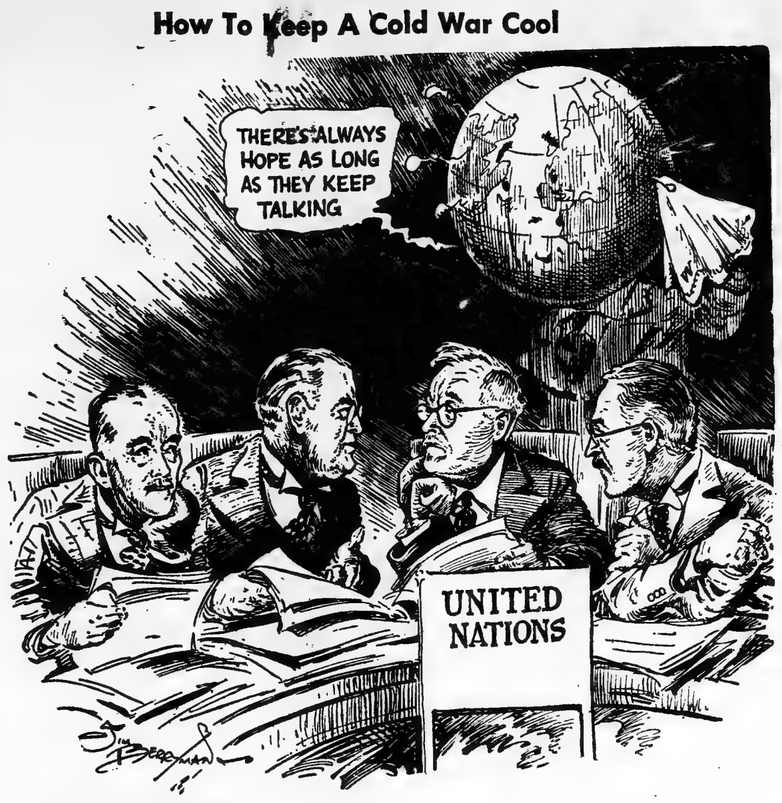
IT'S A BET, says Joe McLean, that Mike Mercer and Norma Jean Dew can be beat by anybody's turtle brigade. Seems we got fouled up and accused the wrong McIver room of being behind time. Why don't we have a race and find out who's right?

JUST WHEN are we going to have a dressy enough party for Kit Finney to wear her new blue satin dress? She looked wonderful in that perfect fit, midst all sorts of silk scarves and cashmeres at the Little Shop. Gads! A body could sink a life-time's earnings in that place.

BLACK BALLED. Skip Hoyle has declared that he has balled himself from entering any more ping pong tournaments. Seems Skip put the last contest on and doggone if he didn't win the thing! So, now that we all have a better chance of winning, let's get in the next one. Incidentally, Ray Morris mopped up on the latest tourney.

THAT'S OUR MAN! We hear the folks who went down to hear the speeches about presidential nominees ended up wanting to put Al Lowenstein up for the honored office. 'Course they almost forgot about Norman Thomas.

CUTE ON CUTIE. Seems "Cutie" Matthews has such good-looking clothes that her neighbors just walk out of her room wearing them. Poor "Cutie" never ceases to be amazed when she sees her corduroy coat going across the "Y" court when it's supposed to be home in the closet.



WALKING TRAVEL AGENCY. Anytime you want a ride anywhere, just pack up your toothbrush and pajamas and see "Mo" Ward 'cause you'll be rolling within the next two hours. That boy knows every car that leaves the city limits—

IN TOWN:

UNHAPPY TROOPS. The Town Men's association is a most unhappy group at this point. Here they go and plan for a big dance in cooperation with the town girls; and proof! No can do. In case you've wondered why, it's 'cause we can have only nine pay-at-the door dances a year; and we have to limit them.

CELEBRATED VISITOR. Have you heard that H. Allen Smith is spending a little time in town? We hear he's picking up material here for a new book.

How To Keep A Cold War Cool

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

The Critical Ear

Scott Made Piano Tremble

By Donald Roberts

"The amazing pianist" became an understatement of Miss Hazel Scott when she took over a trembling Steinway Thursday night and literally baffled the above-capacity crowd in Memorial Hall. The first half of her program Miss Scott devoted to Bach, Mendelssohn, Liszt, Chopin, and Rachmaninoff; the second half she devoted to all the cats who like a good, steady beat and improvisation that comes from a pianist who is truly a master of the art.

Beginning with her own composition, a thunderous barrage called "Caribbean Fete" and depicting Trinidad carnaval scenes, Trinidad-born Miss Scott succeeded only in introducing her tremendous technique with few signs of intelligent musicianship. But any doubts concerning her musicianship were dispensed with later when she played "Gigue" by Graun, the Bach "Prelude and Fugue in C-sharp Minor from The Well-Tempered Clavichord", and the Mendelssohn "Rondo Capriccioso". After hearing her well-controlled presentation of the Bach, and especially her exciting performance of the Mendelssohn, it seemed odd that she should have used the raucous "Caribbean Fete" for an opener.

Miss Scott used the "Concert Etude in D-flat" and the "Valse Oubliee" of Liszt to her advantage as showpieces for her agile technique. She gave adequate interpretation to the Chopin preludes numbers eight, fifteen and sixteen, with some novel ideas for sustaining interest in the repetitious "Raindrop" prelude. But the Rachmaninoff "Etude-Tableau," Opus 33, No 7, became another loud, fast and furious jumble of notes which accented speed and nothing else.

Her encore, the frequently played "Warsaw Concerto", "she may have intended as a "go-between" for the first and second halves of the program. But she added little in her arrangement to what was already there and the overall impression at intermission time was one of having had a lot of notes stuffed down the throat without any let-up in speed—an impression which did injustice to her excellent performance of the Mendelssohn and the Bach.

The second half of the program saw a complete shifting of gears. Scott became Scott the artist, the genius of improvisation. With a light, almost sassy nonchalance that was nothing short of exhilerating, she whipped through a medley of Fats Waller compositions. There followed a combination of Vincent Youmans' "More Than You Know" and "Tea For Two" in which she demonstrated the powers of her famous left hand.

For her fifth group Miss Scott did the thing she is probably most noted for: swinging the classics. And swing them she did. The treatment she gave Beethoven's "Fur Elise" was one Elise probably would have liked, and the rhythmic excitement in her arrangement of the familiar "Hora Staccato" was something the average jazz lover had deemed impossible.

After the conclusion of her program with two original boogie-woogie compositions, "Blues In the Nightmare" and "A Rainy Night in G", Miss Scott played and sang a medley of the Gershwin tunes she performed in the motion picture "Rhapsody in Blue" and demonstrated "bop", or what she termed "the New Music".

Miss Scott possesses a stage presence that would make her a success even if she were not one of this country's top pianists. She evidently enjoys her audience as much as her audience enjoys her, and at all times her listener has the feeling she is not only giving an exciting performance but is having a lot of fun besides. Before her last encore she wiped the perspiration from her brow, flashed a broad smile and quipped, "This is the kind of audience that'll make a person kill himself."

With an introduction like that, she could have played middle C and gotten a response many artists can only pray for.

This 'n That

Moving Toward A Comeback

By Bill Buchan

Despite setbacks in two programs which they had planned, the rejuvenated University club seems to be headed back to its old traditional title of being chief hosts for visiting teams and for sponsoring the famous Carolina spirit through pep rallies and other means.

The group, composed of one representative from every dormitory, sorority and fraternity on campus is conducting regular meetings and making plans for the remainder of the football season. The members are enthusiastic and say they'll stop at nothing to make their programs a success. The fact that the Powder Bowl and the street dance failed to materialize was not their faulty, but is attributed to other factors.

Folks here and there have criticized the group for various and sundry reasons. However, they're back on their feet again this year for the first time in several years and they should have all the cooperation possible. There are those of us who still think a torchlight parade would have been extra fine for Homecoming weekend though, and would also be appropriate for the William and Mary affair.

Just for a matter of record, the Rams Head Rathskeller has taken a new lease on life since the now past days of noisy singing and complaining neighbors. Signs tacked up in various places notify any would-be choir students that singing is "verboten." For those who like imported beer, (and those who can afford it) rumor says that Dutch beer on tap will soon be available. That, my buddies, is what this corner calls really going fancy.

The criticism of the excess noise was justified, but now with the no singing signs about and genial Don Scott at the door, the noise has been eliminated.

* * *

Speaking of downtown businesses, an item in one of the papers recently mentioned the fact that someone is planning to build another restaurant. The more the merrier. Looks like they could build five or six more and they could all make money from the business in Chapel Hill. The quickest way to fame and fortune—especially fortune—it seems is to own a local eatery.

And while we're on the subject of eating, from what we've seen, the service downtown seems to be exceptionally good this year. Which is another plug in the hat for the Merchant's association.

Write Away

Reply To Dunnagan

Editor:
Attention Claude Dunnagan:

In your recent contribution to this column, you very coyly defended your stand as a "progressive." (And a "bully" to you for trying old boy!) You pictured yourself as an ordinary, down-to-earth American student. You all but chuckled to yourself in print, at the thought of working in the salt mines. The truth of the matter, unfortunately, is that should the so called "Progressive party" ever reach its goal in this country, the salt mines would probably turn out to be a reality instead of a joke. With your party and your candidate being steered by the hand of such an able Communist and racketeer as Vito Marcantonio, what more can we poor capitalists expect?

But seriously Claudie (if I may be so chummy), since you say you are such a simple, homelike fellow, such a hearty, clean-limbed American youngster, I should like to make a suggestion. In my opinion, the press is not quite as great an outlet for your propaganda as you deserve. I suggest a switch to radio, where more people would benefit from your philosophy. I opine that it would be ideal for you to replace "Just Plain Bill" with a program of your own called "Just Simple Claude" (It would be a "must" with all progressive housewives.) What better method, other than a Fuller Brush man, could you use to reach the hearts of millions of simple, downtrodden proletarians? Or you might even feature a new quiz program entitled "Stop The Music But Not The Progress.' And for prizes you could give away thousands of pairs of Thom McAnn shoes, with reinforced soles for the explicit purpose of collecting more Wallace petitions. Why, there're numerous opportunities Claude. Thanking you from the bottom of my Wallace button, I am.

A dirty capitalist.
A. Frank Moore

Uncertain Identity

Editor:-

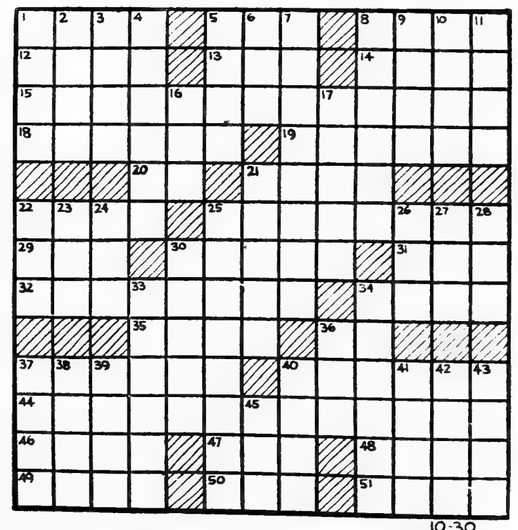
I offer the following, if you please, as scoop of the week. There is no such person as Claude V. Dunnagan!

That name is not to be found on the Chapel Hill tax list, nor is there any such person registered in this University.

I thought it was somebody having his little joke with the student body when I read the first letter. What a comic! Such beautiful parody! So like the real thing that it fooled everybody. I was positive when I read that guff about Scales, all about how he is courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, friendly, intensely courageous, etc. You know darn well nobody would say things like that in public about a man he really liked!

You know what I bet? Remember when "Claude V. Dunnagan" said he was a "hack writer?" I bet he's really Bob Smith, of the Tarnation—there's a hack writer, if there ever was one! To say nothing of the odd sense of humor!

Yours for Len Szafaryn for first-string All-America.
John W. Reynolds



(A man walked into our office last week and identified himself as Claude Dunnagan. We didn't ask for his credentials. —Ed.)

Non-Smoker Gripes

Smoke everywhere and not a chance of getting a breath of fresh air! Also the cough of the smoker drowning out the voice of the professor. Over half of them do not cover their mouths when they cough. This is typical of the classrooms on the campus.

Have students forgotten everything they once learned about health from their homes and schools? Something should be done as soon as possible. If the students do not take the responsibility for their actions and think of the welfare of others, then they'll have to be aided by a law about smoking in the classroom. It is not healthy for those who smoke two and three cigarettes during the class hour, neither is it healthy for those who do not smoke. Oh yes, there are students who do not smoke, and they should be respected instead of being subjected to smoke and the smokers' cough for fifty (50) minutes.

Don Newman

10-30

HORIZONTAL
1. mail
5. curve
8. self-controlled
12. mental concept
13. impediment
14. father
15. inclusion
18. three-legged stand
19. removed dust
20. diminutive for Edward
21. Persian fairy
22. grease
25. type of roof (pl.)
28. feminine name
30. power
31. hurry
32. business
34. multitude
35. Anglo-Indian nurse
36. jumbled type
[illegible]mpeats
[illegible]ge-bodied
[illegible]ct
[illegible]elative
46. wings
47. silkworm
48. grafted (her.)
49. hairless
50. the sun
51. free space

VERTICAL
1. an ancient Highlander
2. scent
3. prefix: half
4. touched gently
5. in bed
6. college cheer
7. belief
8. variety of cinnamon
9. death notice
10. hautboy
11. come ashore
16. scepter
17. nurture
21. scorch
22. varnish ingredient
23. commotion
24. constellation
25. bogs
26. Greek letter
27. god of lower world
28. unyielding
30. woman (Fr.)
33. disfigured
34. delay
36. woodland spirit
37. wound incrustation
38. Anglo-India weight
39. spoken
40. drudge
41. tenon: comb form
42. within
43. stalk
45. argument for

Answer to yesterday's puzzle

M	A	S	S		S	A	C		T	A	M	P
E	N	T	E		I	D	O		O	B	O	E
S	E	R	A		T	A	R	T	L	E	T	S
S	T	A	L	L	S		R	I	L	L	E	T
		N	E	E		R	O	M	E
D	E	G	R	A	D	E	D		D	A	R	E
E	V	E		R	I	S	E	S		V	I	A
B	A	R	S		M	I	S	T	R	E	A	T
			E	R	I	N		A	E	R
M	A	R	I	O	N		A	R	C	A	D	E
E	V	I	N	C	I	N	G		E	G	I	S
R	O	L	E		S	E	E		D	E	N	T
E	W	E	S		H	O	D		E	S	S	E

10-30

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

unnagan

s column, you very coyly
e." (And a "bully" to you rself as an ordinary, down-but chuckled to yourself in he salt mines. The truth of uld the so called "Progres-his country, the salt mines ity instead of a joke. With steered by the hand of such s Vito Marcantonio, what so chummy), since you say low, such a hearty, clean-like to make a suggestion.

as great an outlet for your a switch to radio, where philosophy. I opine that "Just Plain Bill" with a ple Claude" (It would be s.) What better method,
I use to reach the hearts eterians? Or you might estled "Stop The Music
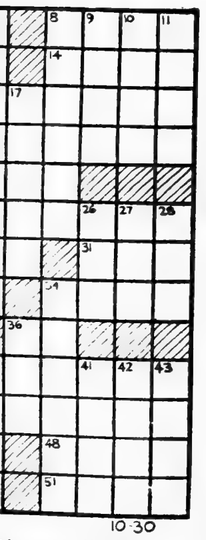
s you could give away
rs with reinforced soles
more Wallace petitions.
Claude. Thanking you

A dirty capitalist,
A. Frank Moore

dentity



is scoop of the week:
V. Dunnagan!
the Chapel Hill tax lists,
ed in this University.
his little joke with the letter. What a comic! Such ng that it fooled everybody!
about Scales, all about how eerful, friendly, intensely nobody would say things really liked!
Claude V. Dunnagan" n's really Bob Smith, of there ever was one! To ng All-America.

John W. Reynolds
*week and identified him-
't ask for his credentials.*

Gripes

ance of getting a breath of oker drowning out the voice do not cover their mouths
e classrooms on the campus.
ng they once learned about Something should be done
o not take the responsibility elfare of others, then they'll oking in the classroom. It is and three cigarettes during or those who do not smoke. not smoke, and they should d to smoke and the smokers'

Don Newman

10-30

10. hautboy
11. cone ashore
16. scepter
17. nurture
21. scorch
22. varnish ingredient
23. commotion
24. constellation
25. hogs
26. Greek letter
27. god of lower world
28. unyielding
30. woman (Fr.)
33. disfigured
34. delay
36. woodland spirit
37. wound incrustation
38. Anglo-India weight
39. spoken
40. drudge
41. tenon comb form
42. within
43. stalk
45. argument for

22 minutes
dicate Inc

With The TAR HEELS

By Dick Jenrette

With most of the Carolina students either in Tennessee for the big game or at home for the weekend, Chapel Hill should be a quiet place today. But the sports-conscious fans that remain on the campus won't have to look far to find a good football game for the afternoon's entertainment.

Over in Durham, Duke, still unbeaten despite two ties, goes up against Georgia Tech at 2 o'clock, and in Wake Forest the Deacons will play hosts to their old rivals from State college at 2:30. Both games will provide a good brand of football, and a record number of fans may possibly turn out for the two tilts.

The Duke-Tech battle seems to have grabbed the spotlight, for the visiting Engineers are regarded generally as the strongest team in the Southeastern conference and Carolina's most potent opponent for honors as the mythical grid championship of the South. Coach Bobby Dodd's Georgians have swept through Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Washington & Lee, Auburn, and Florida on successive weekends with little trouble on either occasion.

Southeastern vs. Southern

The experts are rating Duke a two touchdown underdog, but we expect the Devils to prove a little tougher than this. It will be noted that Tech's last three opponents were all noticeably weak opposition. That big Duke line will cause the visitors plenty of trouble. Moreover, Duke will have the advantage of playing before a friendly home crowd.

As for the crowd, Duke officials are hopeful it will be the biggest of the year in this state. Carolina has captured Duke's old crowd appeal. But with the Tar Heels on the road, the prospects for filling the big Durham horseshoe stadium are better today than at any other time this season.

There is one other angle to this Duke-Tech battle. The grid reputation of the Southeastern conference is being jeopardized this year by members of the Southern conference. Carolina has already beaten Georgia and Louisiana State from that circuit and is favored over Tennessee today. A Duke win over Georgia Tech would clearly indicate the superiority of the neighboring teams over their more southern rivals.

State Spirit Is Difference

The Wake Forest-State battle generally is rated a tossup. In such a keen rivalry as between these two clubs, the winner usually decided by the little psychological edges. Last year, Wake Forest, after beating Carolina, 19-7, was an odds-on favorite to defeat the Wolfpack, which had dropped a 41-6 decision to that same Carolina team. The results: State 20, Wake Forest 0.

Wake Forest appears to have the superior offense, but State's line has the edge in this department. From this corner, it looks like a tight defensive struggle with the determined State spirit throwing the victory balance in the Wolfpack's favor.

The local grid program is an attractive one, but most Tar Heel rooters at the games will have ears open for any news of the Carolina-Tennessee affair. For the record, we'll pick the Tar Heels to win by 21-6.

* * * * *

Here's Campbell's Reason

Each Saturday morning when the Daily Tar Heel's five-man board of football prognosticators comes up with their selections of the day's winners, many students are upset because Orville Campbell always picks Carolina's opponent as victors over the Tar Heels. Here's his reason: Campbell started the season with a prediction that Texas would beat Carolina. Figuring that he probably had jinxed the Longhorns by selecting them to win, Campbell resolved always to pick Carolina's opponent. He has kept up this policy for five weeks, and five times Carolina has been victorious.

Soccer Squad Wins; Frosh Eleven Triumphs

Goals by Ferebee, Boak Give Locals Shutout Victory

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 29—The University of North Carolina soccer squad, coached by Marvin Allen, gained its fourth win of the season today by blanking the Generals of Washington and Lee, 2-0.

The Tar Heels, unable to break through the Generals' defense for the major part of the first period, rallied near the end of the initial stanza when Dave Boak booted the ball into the nets. The score came at 18 minutes of the first period.

It looked like that was going to be the score going into the third period, but seconds before the half ended, Dave Ferebee managed to boot the ball past the Washington and Lee goalie for the second and final tally.

The Washington and Lee match ended a two-day road trip for the Tar Heels who defeated Roanoke College yesterday. Previously, Allen's squad had defeated Loyola and Virginia, and tied High Point College. Their only loss came at the hands of the Midshipmen of Annapolis when they were forced into an overtime bout.

Soccer, a comparatively new sport on the Tar Heel campus, was introduced in Chapel Hill last year and the Tar Heels finished last season with a record of six wins and three losses.

Monday's Murals

FOOTBALL

4:00. Field 1. St. Anthony vs Phi Delt 1; 2. AEPi vs Kappa Psi; 3. KA 3 vs Kappa Sig 1; 4. SAE 2 vs KA 2; 5. Phi Kap Sig vs Sigma Chi; 6. Zeta 1 vs Beta 2; 7. PiKA 1 vs Shi Phi 2.

5:00. Field 1. PiKA 2 vs ATO 1; 2. DKE 2 vs Pi Lamb Phi; 3. Phi Gam 2 vs ATO 2; 4. Chi Psi vs Sig Eps. 5. Lamb Chi 2 vs Chi Phi 1; 6 Phi Delt Chi vs Zeta 2.

TENNIS

3:30—Court 1. McLain-Vinson vs winner (Woodson-Nicol vs Bowman-Moore); 2. L. Dameron-D. McAdams vs winner (Yancey-Bergen vs Keenan-Luxenberg); 3. S. Naroutunian vs winner (P. Keenan vs Dick Young); 4. Jim Winstead vs winner (John Wagner vs George Burches); 5. Gene Turner vs winner (Scotty Venable vs George Dawson); 6. Frank Bowman vs Jim Carson.

VOLLEYBALL OPENING

Play in volleyball will begin on Tuesday, Nov. 2, instead of Nov. 1 as formerly scheduled.

Chapel Hill Wildcats Down Hillsboro, 20-0

Chapel Hill High school remained undefeated yesterday as they trounced Hillsboro High school, 20-0 in Hillsboro.

The Wildcats scored once in each period except the first. Bill Butler and Collier Hill continued their brilliant performances as Butler scored the first touchdown on a buck from the six yard line and Hill galloped 60 yards for another.

The final marker came when Joe Hoenig galloped over the goal on a reverse from ten yards out.

The Five Crystal Gazers Look at Stars Again

GAME	B. C., III	JENRETTE	JEFF	WADE	CAMPBELL
Carolina-Tennessee	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Tennessee
VPI-Army	Army	Army	Army	Army	Army
Penn. State-Colgate	Penn. State	Penn. State	Penn. State	Penn. State	Penn. State
Cornell-Columbia	Cornell	Cornell	Columbia	Columbia	Cornell
Georgia Tech-Duke	Georgia Tech	Georgia Tech	Georgia Tech	Georgia Tech	Georgia Tech
Florida-Furman	Florida	Florida	Florida	Furman	Florida
Alabama-Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Tie	Georgia	Georgia
Ole Miss-LSU	Ole Miss	Ole Miss	Ole Miss	Ole Miss	Ole Miss
Illinois-Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan
Notre Dame-Navy	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame
UCLA-Nebraska	UCLA	Nebraska	Nebraska	UCLA	Nebraska
Mich. State-Oregon State	Mich. State	Mich. State	Mich. State	Oregon State	Oregon State
Virginia-Princeton	Princeton	Princeton	Princeton	Princeton	Virginia
Brown-Rutgers	Rutgers	Rutgers	Rutgers	Brown	Rutgers
Baylor-TCU	Baylor	TCU	TCU	TCU	Baylor
Miss. State-Tulane	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane
N.C. State-Wake Forest	Wake Forest	N. C. State	Tie	N. C. State	N. C. State
So. Carolina-West Virginia	So. Carolina	So. Carolina	So. Carolina	So. Carolina	So. Carolina
Richmond-Wm. and Mary	Wm. & Mary	Wm. & Mary	Wm. & Mary	Wm. & Mary	Wm. & Mary
Dartmouth-Yale	Yale	Dartmouth	Dartmouth	Dartmouth	Yale

Tar Heels Buck Airplane Jinx Begun in Texas

By Steve Snider

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Sidelights on some of Saturday's top collegiate football:

Goblins, witches, and Halloween are just around the corner but two major teams are bucking jinxes this week with supreme confidence. . . North Carolina, flying out to Tennessee, made an air trip just once before—and lost to Texas. . .Baylor is up against it at Texas Christian, too. . .The Bears haven't won in this series in six years nor returned a victor from Fort Worth since 1939.

Nobody has been able to stop Notre Dame for 15 minutes, let alone for an entire ball game. . . Navy, beaten five straight this year, has only a fair chance of being the first team to prevent the Irish from scoring in every period. . .Purdue, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Nebraska, and Iowa couldn't.

Michigan is favored at 19 points to knock over Illinois but it may not be that much of a pushover . . .The Illini handled Minnesota's mighty line but lost by a touchdown and a week later limited Purdue to 97 yards rushing.

Mississippi's Farley Salmon, a 148 pound T-quarterback, is a work-horse despite his lack of size. . .In addition to passing, he tops the squad in number of rushes and is the team's leading ground-gainer, a rare feat on a team using the T. . .He's the gent Louisiana State will have to stop to swing that first southeast conference victory of the year.

Like Father, Like Son

Harvard and Holy Cross will present an interesting clinic on the merits of the single wing and T-formations. . .Harvard, coached by young Art Valpey, is a spittin' offensive immage of Fritz Crisler's Michigan teams and Bill Osmanski at Holy Cross is using a strict Chicago Bears T. . .In manpower, however, Harvard may have a little the better of it.

One of the oldest intersectional rivalries, in football comes up with Virginia at Princeton. . . Started back in 1890 with a game Virginia would like to forget—a setback by 115-0. . .Dartmouth, at Yale this week, fared a little better in its 1884 opener with the Elis. . .Lost only 113-0.

Swami Picks Carolina, State To Win Today's Grid Battles

By Zane Robbins

As I ambled up to the corner of Franklin and Columbia streets yesterday afternoon I saw my prophetical friend, "Meatball" Hoffer, known in the backrooms at Harry's, Jeff's and other equally famous Chapel Hill business establishments as "The Swami".

"Seems to me", the "Swami" began, "that Carolina should be two or three touchdowns better than Tennessee's Vols. Reports say that General Bob Neyland has a greatly improved club, but so has King Carl. Justice. Rodgers & Co. should go to town in Knoxville this afternoon to win by a 28-7 score.

"This Duke-Tech game is really going to be some clambake. After battling to a deadlock in their first two games against the Cow college and Tennessee, the Blue Devils have won three straight. The Techmen have won five straight and are being ranked as the second best team in the confederacy. Georgia Tech, 27-0.

"Davidson goes against VMI in Lexington, Va., and should be easy pickin's for the Cadets. The Wildcats will be tough but I see VMI, 28-13.

"State college journeys to Deacon Hollow this afternoon for its perennial battle with rival Wake Forest. The Deacs looked impressive against Duquense last week, but against State's powerful defense, it should be another story. On a hunch I'll take the boys from the pasture in West Raleigh, 14-7. A toughie.

"I guess maybe you'll want a few tips on the big tilts throughout the country now" drawled my prognosticating friend. "Army should run wild against VPI's Gobblers. VPI hasn't scored this be a real thriller. The Methodists have proved to be pretty good wranglers thus far in the season and should be able to hogtie the Longhorns behind ace cow-pokes Doak Walker and Gil Johnson. I'll stick with the SMoos and say 20-14.

"This SMU-Texas tilt in the Southwestern Conference oughta year and today should be no exception. Army, 34-0.

"California's Bowl Bound Golden Bears need a victory over Southern Cal to put them firmly in the Pacific Coast driver's seat. Jeff Cravath will have the Trojans "up" for this one, but their chances of dulling the shine of the Golden Bears is slim. A vote for California, 21-7."

We had moved on down to Jeff's during the course of this one-sided conversation and "Meatball" cast a glance up toward the big blackboard filled with games to be played this afternoon. "Gotta run in a coupla minutes", he began again. "I'll just skip the chalklines here for a few of the big games and then run.

(See ROBBINS, page 4)

He Showed 'Em

GREENVILLE, Oct. 30—(UP)—Jim Johnson, East Carolina Teachers college football coach, is a guy who drives his points home with a shoulder if necessary.

Johnson suddenly showed up for his ECTC Pirates' practice Thursday in full equipment—shoulder pads, pants, helmet and all. For the next hour he played quarterback and ran his varsity eleven dizzy.

Tar Babies Score Upset Over Deacs With 14-13 Win

By Frank Allston

FAYETTEVILLE, Oct. 29—The surprisingly powerful Tar Baby freshman football squad upset the potent Wake Forest first year men here tonight, 14-13, before 6,000 thrilled fans.

The Tar Babies, definite underdogs before the game got under way, started early by scoring their first tally before two minutes of the game had passed. Their final touchdawn came in the last period with approximately seven minutes left to play.

Coach Crowell Little's charges were ahead all the way, allowing the Baby Deacs to score two touchdowns late in the final quarter.

White Leads

Wingback C. C. White led the Tar Babies to victory with a brilliant exhibition of broken field running. He tallied the second score when he intercepted a Wake Forest lateral on the Deacon 30-yard line and went all the way unmolested.

On the sixth play of the game fullback Dick Weiss, form Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, got the pass from center on his own ten-yard line, escaped two would-be tacklers and raced 85 yards for the first touchdown. Egbert Williams converted the first of his two extra points.

Dick Travagline scored the first touchdown for the Baby Deacons with a 15 yard run around left end after a drive form his own 10 yard line.

Wake Scores

The second Wake score came in the fourth quarter with only two minutes remaining in the game. Dick Davis, who displayed fine passing ability, passed to Nub Smith in the end zone. Travagline's extra point try was good, but the Deacons were still trailing by a one point margin.

Williams' two perfect placements proved to be the margin of victory as the Tar Babies were forced to hold off three Deacon drives that penetrated to their four, eight and 26 yard lines.

Good Defense

Three times the Tar Babies were inside the Deacon ten yard line, but each time they were turned back by good defensive work. Early in the third period a Tar Baby drive was halted on the Wake ten. A few minutes later the Tar Babies were again knocking on the door of the Deacon end zone, but a pass interception on the eight yard line broke up the attack.

Harriers Run Today

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 30—Cooch Dale Ranson's Carolina cross country squad, always a power in Southern cinder circles, steps out of conference play by running against the Tennessee harriers tomorrow.

The meet will be at 11 o'clock here Saturday morning and is part of a big sports weekend for the Tennessee campus. It will serve as a preliminary to the Carolina-Tennessee football game which gets underway in afternoon.

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

"A French 'MR. CHIPS' . . . Excellent singing in almost Sistine style by superb child actors who sing like angels . . . Very much worth your while!"—THE NEW YORKER
A Cage of NIGHTINGALES
THE DISTINGUISHED FRENCH COMEDY
Staring France's Beloved Comic Artist
NOEL-NOEL
VILLAGE THEATRE
WEDNESDAY

HIGHLY INDIVIDUALIZED AND SUPERBLY TAILORED GARMENTS OF THE CHARACTER AND QUALITY FAVORED BY GENTLEMEN WHO DRESS WITH TASTE AND CORRECTNESS.
SUITS AND TOP COATS
$62.50
AND UP
SPORTSWEAR • OVERCOATS • EVENING WEAR
HATS • HABERDASHERY • SHOES
EXHIBITION
MONDAY And TUESDAY
November 1st And 2nd
at VARSITY
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE AT 46th ST. NEW YORK

LATE SHOW TONIGHT
CAROLINA

Listen To TENNESSEE
CAROLINA
GAME
At The
BEER—CHEER
JAM SESSION
In The RAMSHEAD
RATHSKELLER
2:00 P.M. TILL VICTORY
Coat And After
7:00 P.M.

A toast to you—with eggs—any style—at HARRY'S

Justices Live Quiet, Peaceful Life In Tiny Green Shuttered House

By Wink Locklair

The rumor that Choo Choo Justice lives mansion-style, with Carl Snavely and "Coach Bob" Feszer satisfying his every whim, is, of course, untrue. However, a couple of sentences in a recent Time know-it-allticle, gave that impression. To set things straight, we paid a call on Mrs. Justice the other afternoon and discovered her and the Justice diggings to be engaged in their simplicity and informality.

We were greeted at the door of the white-with-green-shutters house by Sarah Justice, Charles Ronarld Justice, their 7 weeks-old son, and "Choo," their 2-year old Boxer, a fierce-looking, but somewhat lazy animal, who was presented to Charlie as a Christmas present. "Choo" gave us a rather thorough inspection, but we managed to pass somehow, and he leaped up on a couch and was still asleep when we departed later.

Mrs. Justice put Ronnie ("Please don't call him Little Choo Choo," she pleaded.) to bed and returned to the living room, where a small flame was smoking out in an open fireplace. "We were lucky to get this house," she said, flopping down into a large, roomy chair. "We traded with a couple we know. For awhile we were living in one room, but when the baby came we had to get a larger place."

Everything in the Justice household reflects comfortable, yet conservative living. The living room is snug. There is a couch, several deep chairs, a coffee table, and a large picture of Justice, in football uniform, hanging over the mantle. There are three other pictures of him in the room, and two trophies: the Most Valuable Player Award for 1947, from the Durham Athletic Club, and the Oustanding Player of the Carolinas award, from the Charlotte Quarterback club. These stand at either end of the mantle.

The routine in this house is not too different from that of any other house in Chapel Hill. Sarah is up with Ronnie about 6 o'clock, and Charlie is dressed for breakfast at 7. His class schedule is non-stop: 9, 10, 11, and he eats his training meals with the team. It's usually 7 o'clock when he pulls into the family driveway. Then he tackles the books. "On Friday nights, Charlie usually sleeps away from home. He's always nervous before a game, and Ronnie wakes up at 2 for his feeding, so there isn't much chance for rest here," Sarah remarked.

Because their boy is so young, Charlie and his wife don't go out very often, although team mate Bob Cox's wife baby sits now and then. Girls from the high school volunteer, also, on special occasions (e.g. home football games.) Another Carolina player lives nearby, too: Dan Stiegman, and his wife.

One of the most likable things about Mrs. Justice is her apparent unconcern for her husband's highly rated gridiron position. It is possible to believe that she would be just as happy to have Charlie clerking at The Farmer'c Co-Op. They went to school together in their hometown, Asheville, and were married there 5 years ago this November in Trinity Episcopal church. They have a picture of their church exit in the living room. Charlie was an enlisted man in the Navy at the time (Sp. A) and Sarah was working at the Naval Observatory in Washington. Charlie entered Carolina in 1946.

We inquired about people wanting stories and pictures. "They haven't been too bad so far. It was worse last year, I think," the lady-of-the-house answered.

As we neared the end of our visit, we noticed a handsome folding console radio in the corner. It was a gift from Sarah's mother, we were told. You push a button and an automatic record player comes sliding up from the floor. "Charlie is crazy about Dorothy Shay," his wife said. "I guess the Park Avenue Hillbilly is his favorite," she added, pointing to a large stack of records on a nearby table.

When we reached the door, Mrs. Justice thanked us for coming by. It's usually the other way around, which is just another way of saying that there is nothing fancy or pretended in the home of Carolina's most newsworthy All-American candidate.

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The
YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

The
COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

"You have to see 'The Roosevelt Story' twice. Your orbs are crowded with tears the first time." —Walter Winchell
THE ROOSEVELT STORY
The Most Important Picture of the Century!
MONDAY
VILLAGE

Also
KENNEDY COMEDY
TODAY
CAROLINA

-Wallace-

(Continued from page 1)

most liberal platform ever adopted by a major party" and observed that "the record of the 80th Congress shows that whatever the current amiable inclinations of the Republican candidates, their party is still controlled by its most conservative elements."

The statement goes on to say that in the two national campaigns President Roosevelt flatly repudiated the Communists and rejected their support, the group of his top-ranking advisers declared that "the striking and fundamental divergence between the Progressive party and Roosevelt's political philosophy is its theory of collaboration with Communists."

"The Philadelphia convention of the Progressive party demonstrated conclusively that collaboration with Communists means control by them," the statement added.

Signers of the statement rejected the candidacy of Governor Dewey, and scored his failure to urge the special session of Congress to act on the provisions of the Republican platform.

Expressing this conviction that there is a "liberal alternative to both the Republican party and the so-called Progressives," the signers asserted that this alternative "lies in whole-hearted support of the candidacy of President Harry S. Truman."

-Football-

(Continued from page 1)

up an average of only 90.4 yards per game and boasts of such hefties as Al Russas, Ralph Honeycutt, and Ray Drost.

Potent Backs

And the Vol backfield is nothing to be tallied with, for J. B. Proctor, passing back, is still with the team. His passing, combined with the efforts of Hal Littleford, who is an excellent kicker as well as a fine runner, will probably give the Tar Heels a rugged time.

On top of that, Tennessee possesses end Jim Powell, who is currently in third place among the nation's top ends with a record of 19 passes caught for 252 yards.

The Tar Heels, who haven't won a game in Knoxville for the past 13 years, will be seeking victory number 6 and their 13th in a row since last year's loss to Wake Forest. Previously the Tar Heels have downed Texas, Georgia, Wake Forest, N. C. State, and LSU.

Tennessee has played five games, one of which was a tie with Duke. Neyland's gang had little trouble in walking over Chattanooga.

-Robbins-

(Continued from page 3)

"Georgia over Alabama. Johnny Rauch to outpitch 'Bama's Ed Salem, 21-14.

"Northwestern over Ohio State. The Wildcats are Rose Bowl bound and their superior backfield should make a difference. I'll pick the 'Cats, 20-14.

"Notre Dame over Navy. The Middies have Baysinger, Hawkins, Williams, and 0-5 record. They'll be tough for the Irish, though. Notre Dame, 27-14.

"Minnesota over Indiana. The Gophers' forward wall has been a thing of beauty all year and should bring them victory num-

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR IMMEDIATE OCCUPANY for one or two male students. Private entrance. For information contact D. T. H. Call F-3371. (3-8011-1)

FOR SALE 6B

ALL METAL VAGABOND HOUSE trailer with large enclosed porch. See it at lot 85, Pittsboro Road. (4-8015-1)

APPROXIMATELY 20,000 BEAUTIFUL hand made colonial tapestry brick was purchased for the finest building in the South! Apply at J. A. Jones construction company, Morehead Building, Chapel Hill. Phone 8361. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

IDENTIFICATION BRACELET CONtaining name Daniel Byrd Miller somewhere near Woollen gym. Finder please contact owner at EAE House. Phone F-2031. (1-8016-1)

WILL THE STUDENT WHO BORrowed my eversharp pen October 26th at YMCA—please return it to YMCA Lost and Found as I need it. (2-8017-1)

I. D. BRACELET BEARING NAME Bob Allen—Please contact same at 108 Evertee. Thanks. (3-8018-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

At U.N.C—
BILL MACEYKO has the EDGE in Football
...and in razor blades
PAL
HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
DOUBLE or SINGLE EDGE
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

Armstrong Is Versatile Writer

By Mark Summer

Robert G. Armstrong, Jr., of Bessemer, Ala., author of the full length experimental drama, "Egypt Lan'," to be produced November 2 and 3 by the Carolina Playmakers, has a varied and interesting background upon which to base his writing. He has been a steel worker, coal miner, farmer, collegiate football player, soldier, and actor.

His new play is the first full-length original drama to be tried out as an experimental under the new policy of the Dramatic Art Department of the University which emphasizes the full-length play. It is being directed by Samuel Selden, who directed Paul Green's "The Lost Colony," and will be produced in the Playmakers Theater here.

Tall, ruggedly built Armstrong received his master's degree here last winter. He was one of the first students to return to the University for special study in the Dramatic Art Department's newly instituted 299 Workshop course for graduate students.

Mr. Shelden explained that "the course was established in order to give promising graduate students a chance to develop their interests on a more professional level.

"Armstrong's play, his second full length one, has encouraged us greatly," Mr. Shelden said. "It makes us feel that the 299 Workshop will soon be one of the most valuable that we offer."

"Egypt Lan'," considered by many to be the most powerful drama written by a student here in many years, tells of a man's search for happiness. It deals with the Negro people, but instead of being one of the usual "social problem" plays, it tells the story of all men. "Egypt Lan'" is set in three acts with seven scenes, and the locale is Alabama.

The play is being acted by students, and the scenery is being constructed by staff member Lynn Gault. Graduate assistant Martin Jacobs, Greensboro, is supervising the costumes, and graduate student Mark Sumner, Asheville, is designing the lighting.

Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Armstrong of Bessemer, Ala., became interested in dramatics writing after he had entered Howard College on a football scholarship. When an injury kept him from playing football, he turned to the Howard College Masquers. This group produced three of his one-act plays, and he acted in several of them.

Before going to college, Armstrong had worked as a farmer and as a coal miner, and after leaving Howard College he spent several years in the Air Force. He came to the University in 1946 to work and study with the Playmakers.

In 1947 he was awarded the Frederick H. Koch Memorial Scholarship in playwriting. For the past three summers he has played the leading role, John Borden, in Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony" at Manteo. He has appeared in many Playmaker plays, including "Macbeth" and "Saint Joan."

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 CAMERON AVENUE WRITE: P.O. Box 902

CAROLINA - DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE · CHAPEL HILL, N.C.
Six Miles from Chapel Hill
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
"FOR YOU I DIE"
with
Cathy Downs - Paul Langston
Shows at 7:15 and 9:30
COLOR CARTOON AND SHORT

Dancing Classes To Start Tuesday

Dancing classes for children of University students will begin Tuesday afternoon at the UVA club, sponsored by the YWCA.

Instructor for the class will be Mrs. James Saxon Childers, who is devoting her time for this social service project. Mrs. Childers, wife of the well-known author, studied ballet with Fokine. She also specialized in work for young children with the late Madame Sonia Serova of New York, and operated her own studio in Birmingham, Ala., for seven years.

Ida Constable is chairman of the dance class committee. Others on the committee include Mae-Bell Conley, Jo Ann Darden, Tink Gobbel, Helen Hord, Betsy Lowrence, Barbara Payne, Helen Strawn and Caroline Tillett.

Holland was the home of freedom of the press in the ea... 16th century.

Early newspapers were real... nothing more than news lette...

VILLAGE
TODAY
Silent Conflict
With
BILL BOYD
Also
KENNEDY COMEDY

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

CHAPEL HILL BABY CONTEST
LET THE MERCHANTS OF CHAPEL HILL
GIVE YOU A PORTRAIT OF YOUR BABY
INTRODUCTORY OFFER BY WOOTTEN-MOULTON
CHAPEL HILL PHOTOGRAPHERS
Wootten-Moulton will give a regular $4 (3x5) portrait of your child.
HOW—Purchase five dollars worth of any type merchandise from any of the merchants listed below.
WHO —All children between the ages of six months and six years.
WHEN—Starting immediately.
SO —Just ask your local merchant about the contest. Obtain a contest blank from him and you will receive your appointment by mail from Wootten-Moulton.
WEEKLY AND MONTHLY PRIZES:
Judges will select the winner of the weekly and monthly prizes.
weekly prizes — one 8x10 monthly prizes— one 8x14 other prizes by local merchants
Contest portraits will be displayed in the various store windows.
Additional portraits may be obtained at remarkably low prices.

WE FEATURE
a complete line of baby accessories made by such nationally famous manufacturers as:
- GORHAM
- INTERNATIONAL
- WALLACE
- FRANKIE WHITING

WENTWORTH and SLOAN
167 E. FRANKLIN ST.

BUY
at
HUGGINS HARDWARE

Varsity
Shopping Headquarters For
- Babies
- Juviniles
- Teen-agers
- College men and women

Courteous Sales Persons to Serve You Make Varsity Your
Regular Shopping Headquarters

Come in and see our new pattern books.
We have just received and are featuring Nylon Yarn that is Non-irritating t... babies and young children. The longer lasting quality of this yarn makes it a definite bargain.
YARN SHOP
Over Andrews-Henninger's

Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER
Fair and continued mild.

The Daily Tar Heel

Sports Final
★★★★★★★

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 33

Carolina Whips Fighting Vols, 14-7

Cheering Tar Heels Parade Through Tennessee Campus

By Chuck Hauser

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—A small group of lusty voiced Tar Heels let the Tennessee Volunteers know they were in town today as they made a mile-long march from the Andrew Johnson hotel in the center of town to the heart of the University of Tennessee campus.

The cheering, singing Carolinians began the afternoon with a big rally in front of the hotel at 12:30. Cheerleaders Norm Sloan, Lucille Arnot, and Wray Farlow led the crowd into the center of one of the main streets for a 15 minute session of warm-up cheers before the parade through town the the campus. Traffic came to a standstill as the Tar Heels ignored red lights and slow-moving automobiles. The parade wound through some eight city blocks before it converged on the twisting drive up a hill into the main campus.

Knoxville is the largest town in which an away-from-home game has been played this year. It seems to have been built on more hills than Chapel Hill's famed seven.

The campus reflects the same topographical conditions. In place of Carolina's tradition-filled sand and brick walks are many stone steps going up and down and curving. Hill-and-dale drives which careen back and forth to miss familiar-looking, hap-hazardly placed University buildings.

At the top of one of the highest campus hills is the large administration building, which shares much of its space with classrooms and faculty offices. Nearby are the student center, bookstore and the campus post-office, a sight which brought favorable comments from Chapel Hill visitors.

Attractive Tennessee coeds were stationed along all thoroughfares on the campus today soliciting contributions for a new student union building to replace the crumbling temporary structure which serves that purpose now.

One can see the stadium and even the football games by standing on the edge of the administration-building hill. Looking in the other direction one sees an undulating array of building, walkways and drives.

Tar Heel feet were tired and Tar Heel voices were hoarse late this afternoon as the happy visitors trudged back toward town to relax and discuss the football game which ended happily for everyone except the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee.

UNC Radio Show Featured On Air This Afternoon

The consolidated University of North Carolina will take to the air lanes this week with the first of a series of weekly radio programs to be broadcast over nearly 40 stations throughout the state.

The first program, which can be heard this afternoon at 4 o'clock over WDUK of Durham and 5 o'clock over WPTF of Raleigh, will be entitled "Freedom Story" and will have the theme of the right-to-vote.

The 30-minute programs, entitled the "University Hour," will be statewide public service variety shows using musical talent from Woman's college in Greensboro, State college in Raleigh and the University here. Expected to be both entertaining and informative, the programs will feature dramatizations, news roundtables, and documentaries about vital activities concerning all three institutions.

Each of the 26 programs to be broadcast between Oct. 31 and April 24 will be recorded at the radio studios in Swain building. The master records will be sent to RCA Victor recording company in New York, where they will be processed, pressed, labeled, packaged and shipped to the various North Carolina stations who will carry the programs.

The series was written by Robert Schenkkan, who will work in conjunction with personnel from the three schools. Miss Jane Grills of the Communications Center is over-all producer, with Mrs. Bess Rosa and Ed Fitzpatrick of Woman's college and Milton Gibson of State as her associates. John Young does the recording work and handles the controls.

YDC to Stage Scott Banquet

Reservations for the Young Democrats Club banquet for Kerr Scott may be made through O. Max Gardner in the Law school. The banquet will be at the Carolina Inn Monday night immediately preceeding Scott's address to the student body. All members of the club are invited to attend.

In an effort to get all eligible voters to the polls in next week's election, the club has launched a campaign for securing absentee ballots. Those students who have not already received these ballots are asked to contact some member of their family and have the ballot mailed to them.

The University chapter of YDC will work with the town precinct chairman next Tuesday afternoon in an effort to provide rides for voters to the polls, Sandy Harris announced.

Minnesota Scores Over Indiana, 30-7

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30—(UP)—Minnesota at last found its scoring punch today as it pummeled Indiana 30-7, before a capacity crowd of 64,926 homecoming fans at Memorial Stadium. The Gophers spotted the Hoosiers a first-period touchdown and then roared back with 16 points in the second quarter and "insurance" scores in the third and fourth. They were knocking on the touchdown door again when the game ended.

Dance Group To Meet In GM

The first program and business meeting of the newly formed University dance group will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

An illustrated talk on "Beginnings of Ballet" will be given with the aid of pictures and recordings, and the activities of present-day ballet troupes will be discussed by the group. Miss Emily Pollard of Chapel Hill, a member of the group, will have command of the program.

Dance practices, under the direction of Foster Fitz-Simmons of the dramatic art department, are held three times a week—from 4 to 6 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and from 10 to 12 Saturday mornings. The recently inaugurated program meetings will be held once a month, at a place and time to be decided tonight. All students, faculty, and townspeople interested in working out with the group, or only in attending the program meetings are invited to do so.

'Mardi Gras' Play Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets for Sound and Fury's production of the "Mardi Gras" will go on sale Monday from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock inside the Y, Al Wehrhahn, business manager, announced. The price of the tickets is 55 cents, tax included. This sale will continue through Friday.

The new show is a highly revised version of last summer's production, including an almost completely new cast. New songs are by Fred Young and a few of the best from Tread Covington's originals.

The hold-overs from the summer cast are Faith Adams as "Nita," Bill Sanders as "Keith," Jerry Weiss as "Murphey," and the dancing of Dusty Moore.

New-comers to the show are Anita Gates as "Meg," Bob Thomas as "Beau," Bunnie Davis as "Zenobia," George Grizzard as "Dues ex Machina," Fred Young as "Charon," Jim Hammerstein as "Judge," Dan Morgan as "Pa LaFitte," Gene Hines and Nancy Norton as 'Cora and Millie," Jo Darden as "Maggie," and Colbert Leonard as the "Street Singer." A new dancer starring in the chorus will be Barbara Austin.

The show was written and is being directed by Pete Strader. Pete is also the set designer. The music was composed and is being directed by Tread Covington and Fred Young. Special lighting effects are designed by Colbert Leonard and the Master Electrician is Walter Johnson. Make-up is handled by Fred Whisenhunt and Ed Fleming, and the prop mistress is Eveline Ruspini.

Walker Awarded Zete Scholarship

Richard Isley Walker, of Winston-Salem, has been awarded a $200-scholarship sponsored by the Zeta Psi Educational foundation, Dr. E. L. Mackie, chairman of scholarships and student awards, announced yesterday. Previously Walker received the Phi Beta Kappa award for the highest scholastic average as any rising junior.

The scholarship was presented to the Scholarship committee, chairmanned by Mackie, by the foundation to be awarded to a student not a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity, to be selected at the discretion of the committee.

The Educational foundation established a number of scholarships, one of which is a district scholarship award of $200 to the active of Zeta Psi who at the end of his sophomore or junior year shall have the highest cumulative average. The foundation also donates $200 to the University in which the student winner resides.

Kerr Scott To Speak In Gerrard Tomorrow

W. Kerr Scott, Democratic nominee for the governorship of North Carolina, will wind up his campaign tour here tomorrow night when he speaks in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock.

Scott, who has to go through the November election merely as a formality, won the Democratic nomination in a primary run-off with Charles M. Johnson. Scott's election broke the old East-west tradition that for so many years has worked in North Carolina. He will speak here under the auspices of the Young Democrat club.

Scott, born in Hawfields, in Alamance county in 1896, entered state politics in 1936 when he ran for Commissioner of Agriculture. Elected, he remained in that position until February 14, 1948, when he resigned to become a candidate for governor. The term he was serving would have expired December 14, 1948. When resigning, Scott said that he thought that no man should hold a high state office while campaigning for another one.

Born and raised on a farm in Alamance county, Scott graduated from North Carolina State College in 1917 with honors. He served as County Agent and as Regional Director of the Farm Debt Adjustment program before being elected Commissioner of Agriculture.

Speaking in Gerrard hall instead of Hill hall, as had been formerly announced, this will be Scott's last appearance before the election on November 2.

Notre Dame Gets 24th Win in Row By Beating Navy

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Notre Dame's mighty football legions, which display their wares for paying customers every gridiron Saturday, put on their weekly show before 63,314 persons in Babe Ruth Stadium today, with Navy the victim by a score of 41-7.

Actually, it wasn't a ball game at any time. The Fighting Irish could have won by any margin they wished, but when they scored touchdowns the first two times they got possession of the ball, they more or less called it quits. They coasted from that point on.

It was an easy thing to win today against a Navy team which lost its eleventh consectutive game. It was the twenty-fourth win for Notre Dame without a defeat.

Emil Sitko raced 53 yards, then dove over left tackle for the first of six Notre Dame touchdowns. John Panelli took the ball over from the 18 for the second. The third came on a five yard pass from Tripucka to halfback Gay. Bob Williams tossed a 25-yarder to Lank Smith for the final score of the first half.

Pete Williams scored Navy's lone touchdown, their first in three years against Notre Dame, on an eight-yard smash after a Notre Dame kick went out on the Irish 36. Notre Dame wound up the scoring with touchdowns by reserve backs Spaniel and Landry.

Dr. Epps To Speak Here Tuesday Night

Dr. Preston H. Epps of the classics department will read a paper entitled "Greek Tragedy Mere Tragedy of Fate" Tuesday evening at 7:30 when the Philological club meets in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial. All members are urged to be present.

Pledge Bids Available At Gerrard Tomorrow

Fraternity rushing on the Carolina campus comes to an official end tomorrow with pledge bids available at Gerrard hall for those students who are pledging a fraternity.

Interfraternity Council President Jack Thompson announced last night that the bids may be obtained between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock at Gerrard. Thompson emphasized that "all men to whom fraternities have issued an invitation to pledge should be sure to come by and pick up their pledge cars."

He also urged that those students who are in doubt as to whether they were issued an invitation should check by Gerrard.

On receipt of the pledge card, each student will pay a $1.00 pledge fee and have his card initialed by the IFC representative present to indicate he has paid.

After picking up his bid at Gerrard, the student then should go to the house of the fraternity to which he has pledged. The pledge card must be given to the rushing chairman of the fraternity at this time.

Thompson stated that it is the responsibility of the rushing chairman to collect the cards and then return them to the Dean of Students office in South building. The rushing chairman should be at his fraternity house on Monday afternoon to receive the bids from the pledges, and he in turn should carry them to the Dean of Students as quickly as possible.

The fraternity rushing period at Carolina began two weeks ago today. It was composed of two formal rushing periods, separated by an informal period. Shake-up day was last Thursday night.

Original plans for rushing called for a continuation through the first part of this week. But the IFC voted last week to shorten the period in an effort to give both rushees and fraternity men more time for their studies and because it was felt the rushees had had sufficient time to become acquainted with the fraternities.

The list of pledges by fraternities will be announced later this week.

November Issue of Tarnation Will Appear on Campus Soon

The groans that have been emanating from the basement of Graham Memorial for the past month were made by Bob Smith and Tom Wharton, editors of Tarnation magazine.

"We had about every technical difficulty in the book," Editor Smith said. Everything is all straightened out now, though, and the first edition of the humor magazine is due to hit the campus in the next few days.

This first issue, dedicated to football, will contain features by Jim Henderson, Bill Kellum, Tookie Hodgson, Charlie Burns, Fred Burgess, and others.

One of the items, a super-secret job by Bob Smith and Jack Niles, will be especially pleasing to Cartoonist Al Capp as well as to local readers.

Jim Henderson does a feature on football scouting and Tookie Hodgson has written some letters of invitation to friends to see the home games.

There will be a full page pin-up, a page of cartoons by Jack Taylor and more and better jokes than ever before, Smith said.

Another feature, by Fred Burgess, is a fantasy based on the end of the political dynasty of the world. Bill Kellum writes four humorous stories on the football coaches of the Big Four teams, very good.

These are only a few of the things you can expect to see in this first issue of Tarnation for 1948-49.

Watch for it at your favorite news stand.

Rambling Wreck Rallies To Win Over Duke, 19-7

DURHAM, Oct. 30.—(UP)—Georgia Tech grabbed Duke's Blue Devils by the tail today and was more than happy to come out of the threshing battle with a 19-7 victory that kept the Yellow Jackets among the unbeaten elite.

A crowd of 32,000 warm fans watched the Georgians, getting the worst of the breaks and baffled by a defense pattern that would have made a general jealTech's famed passes were far off the target but the Jackets kept punching behind the generalship of Jimmy Southard and Joe Brown and got on the top end of the score in the third period. They were in full command at the finish to extend their record to six victories in as many games.

Big Derogatis, a standout in the double-tough Duke wall, made the first break when he fell on a Georgia Tech fumble on the second play. Though Duke got nowhere and the ball went over, Tech stalled on its own 26 and Derogatis rumbled into the Tech backfield again to block buster Humphreys' punt.

Duke center Carl Perkinson pounced on the ball.

One play later, tailback Fred Folger passed 14 yards to halfback Tommy Hughes on the two. Fullback Paul Stephanz blasted over and end Mike Souchak kicked the point to give Duke a 7-0 lead.

Folger Intercepts

Little sub halfback Billy Queen, 155 pounds of hustling Engineer, zoomed 47 yards to put Tech in scoring position late in the first period, but Folger intercepted a Tech pass in the end zone to end the threat.

But the next time Tech got the ball, quarterback Jimmy Southard passed from the Duke 47 to end Jack Griffin. The lanky flankman nabbed the long heave on the ten and raced over. Fullback Dinky Bowen missed the kick and Tech was still a long point behind.

Ant-sized Jimmy Jordan, 135-pound Tech sub raced 34 yards to the Duke 27 to spark the next Tech march in the third period. Southard threw 14 yards to end George Broadnax, then Queen and fullbacks Morris Harrison and Frank Ziegler crunched to a first down on the one. Ziegler slammed over. Bowen missed the point.

In the fourth period Tech's ground attack began to click against the tiring Duke squad. Running plays rolled from the Tech 35 to the Duke seven, and halfback Joe Cobb raced around end to score. Bowen kicked the point.

Two Justice Passes Provide Sixth Win

By Billy Carmichael III

KNOXVILLE, Tenn, Oct. 26.—North Carolina's chief justice Charlie and a jury of stern-faced Tar Heel footballers deliberated for some two and one half hours here today before handing a victorious verdict of "Nols Vols" to a tenacious Tennessee team that didn't feel quite guilty of defeat. The majority ruled by 14-7.

The game, which was witnessed by some 50,000 fans, was a wild and woolly undertaking which saw the visiting Tar Heels exact a pair of quickies in the first session and then sit back to watch the Vols attempt to tear down their argument.

The Vols didn't spare the forces. They came back in the second half and played the Tar Heels on and off their feet as Carolina fans saw first their money and almost their untouched record go down the Shields-Watkins drain. But the Tar Heels, it turned out, hadn't rehearsed the script in that manner. They held on with seven-point courage until the time clock came to their rescue and nipped the upset bloom slightly below the stemming of the Tar Heels unbeaten tide.

At the end of the game, it war hard to tell who was the more unpopular—the Tar Heels or the officials—as both were being booed by the majority of the fans with equal vigor. The officials, it seems, were held to blame for the calling back of a 90-yard punt return in the second quarter by Vol Hal Littleford, who ran around, by, and through the majority of the Tar Heels for a psuedo-touchdown. A clip back on the Tennessee 20 which took Carolina fullback Hosea Rodgers to the turf unexpectedly, cost the Vols the score that would have later tied the ball game.

At this point in the campaign the Tar Heels were leading by 14-points and looked all but ready to score a third, fourth, and fifth touchdown and sending the home boys fleeting for the hills. In the end, those 14-points were the Tar Heels' money for the day.

The scores both came early in the game. Tennessee won the toss—their physical consolation for the day and elected to receive. After doing so and running two plays from the 21 the Vols' Littleford kicked to Justice weakly on the Carolina 45 where the lithe-legged lad from the Land of the Sky fair caught the ball amid the boos of the Tennessee stands.

Hosea Takes Over

Here Hosea Rodgers personally took over and over the local line for 13 yards in two plays and a first down on the Tennessee 42. After two more plays had netted but three yards, Justice flung up the middle to Cox on the 28, who grazed on down to the 23 before being tackled.

Then another running play failed the Vol blockade, but Justice again passed, this time to Johnny Clements on the 14. Rodgers bammed the middle for a first down and then carried on a team surge to the 5. The Vols here stiffened. But with third down and a touchdown to go, Justice with arm cocked passed into the arms of Bill Flamisch in the deep left end zone. The Vols merely stood and waved as the ball passed overhead.

Cox came through to pass his bar examinations and the Tar Heels led, 7-0, after almost seven minutes.

Clincher

The Tar Heels' clincher came a wee bit later in the opening period. After an exchange of punts following the kickoff, the Vols found themselves backed down in a hole on their own 8, the consequence of a clipping penalty on a Littleford punt re-Tennessee kicked out on the first play with said Mr. Littleford

See EARLY SCORES, Page 7

Late Football Scores

Princeton 55, Virginia 14.
Harvard 20, Holy Cross 13.
Penn State 32, Colgate 13.
Rochester 14, R.P.I. 7.
Army 49, Virginia Tech 7.
Lafayette 33, George Washington 14.
Brown 20, Rutgers 6.
Notre Dame 41, Navy 7.
Wesleyan 53, New England College 0.
Cornell 20, Columbia 13.
Michigan 28, Illinois 20.
Denison 7, Muskinkum 6.
Georgia Tech 19, Duke 7.
William & Mary 14, Richmond 6.
Pennsylvania 40, Washington & Lee 7.
Dartmouth 41, Yale 14.
Boston U. 12, Syracuse 7.
Gettysburg 27, Western Maryland 0.
Amherst 14, Tufts 13.
Union (N.Y.) 19, Williams 7.
Johns Hopkins 22, Drexel 0.
Bridgeport 25, Kings Point 20.
NYU 21, Lehigh 20.
West Virginia 35, South Carolina 12.
Massachusetts 33, Vermont 0.
Delaware 12, Muhlenberg 0.
Wake Forest 34, N. C. State 13.
Ohio U. 14, Duquesne 13.
North Carolina 14, Tennessee 7.
Virginia Military 33, Davidson 6.
Nevada 79, Oklahoma City 13.
Tulane 9, Mississippi State 0.
Georgia 35, Alabama 0.
Minnesota 30, Indiana 7.
Northwestern 21, Ohio State 7.
Iowa 19, Wisconsin 13.
Kentucky 28, Cincinnati 7.
Florida 39, Furman 14.
Michigan State 46, Oregon State 21.

Bosley Lecture Slated Tomorrow

Dean Harold Bosley of Duke Divinity school will deliver the first in a series of five lectures tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Sponsored by the Young Adults class of the Methodist church, the series is a continuation of that begun by Dr. B. W. Anderson of the University department of religion. Theme of the series is "Our Faith Rests on Facts," and tomorrow night's lecture will be "We Believe in God."

Birth Announcement

A bulletin from the Lambda Chi Alpha house last night announced the arrival of 12 pups to the fraternity's dog, Blackball. Bill Rogers somewhat excitedly reported that 11 of the new arrivals were coming along fine. All the brothers are exceedingly proud of Blackball and her family.

California's Bowl Bound Bears Edge Southern California, 13-7

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(UP)—California's mighty Golden Bears had the closest shave of their drive towards the Rose Bowl today as they barely defeated an inspired University of Southern California football team, 13-7.

Before the largest football crowd of the season — 90,890 fans — the savage charging Southern Californians scored in the last 48 seconds of play and had three possible touchdown drives halted by fumbles or penalties.

But it was the playing of California's two great backs, Jackie Jensen and Jack Swaner that was the difference between the two great teams.

Jensen's and Swaner's drives resulted in first and third-period scores as the tricky players made every opening a gain.

Against those hard-charging backs, Southern California threw in the desperation tackles of their secondary, featured chiefly by the work of halfbacks Don Doll and Don Garlin and fullback Ralph Pucci. It was not enough but it gave the near-capacity crowd in Memorial coliseum its most thrilling game of the year.

The smooth-functioning California team also had the asset of the best pair of ends seen here all year, pass catching Frank Van Derden and John Cunningham.

In the last minutes of play, Southern California got the ball on California's 41 on a punt. Jim Powers, until that point and goat of the game, passed to ends Dave Lloyd and Jack Nix to put them on the 13. Jack Kirby then cut over right end to the one and on the next play dived over for the score. Dean Dill converted.

Time Out For Thought

"The world is too much with us. . ." A moth-eaten quotation, but true. And true here at the University as well as elsewhere. Constantly surrounded by friends and aquaintances, pressed by the demands of classes, studies, work, social affairs, extra-curricula organizations and innumerable other activities, alone only when a book or magazine momentarily shuts out the surrounding hubbub—too few of us ever make the effort to get away from the world for a quiet talk with ourselves or our God. We drift aimlessly along the path our associates and activities direct and never take time-out to consider where the path leads or to chart the course we intend to follow.

Here at the University with its crowded conditions of living and its multitude of diverse interests to attract us, it is admittedly difficult to find either time or place for such self-consultation. But here at the University and at this period of our lives are the place and time when we should take time-out to re-evaluate and make concrete our beliefs and to set the goals toward which we strive.

We need occasionally to get away from the hustle and bustle of the world for a period of quiet self-analysis. We need the opportunity to relax, to slow down from the rush of living so that we may readjust our values and start again, refreshed with a clearer concept of our purpose in life.

Word to Rushees

The end of two weeks of rushing comes tomorrow when rushees formally pledge themselves to the fraternity of their choice. Between two and six tomorrow afternoon rushees will pick up their bids at Gerrard hall. Full instructions on pledging procedure will be found on page one of today's paper.

If a rushee does not receive an invitation to join the fraternity of his first choice, he may do one of two things. If he feels that he will not be happy in any group other than the one he has selected, he may refuse other bids and ask that fraternity to consider him again in an informal rushing period. However, if he has received a bid from another fraternity which he likes almost as well as the first, it is usually more advisable for him to accept it.

Men who have found it hard to choose between several fraternities should bear in mind that they are under no requirement to pledge tomorrow. If they wish to take more time before making a final decision, they are free to do so. Most fraternities after once issuing an invitation are glad to hold it open at the recepient's request until he has made up his mind.

The fraternity system can be either an asset or a detriment to a school, and if it becomes a detriment it deserves to be eliminated. While fraternities are primarily social organizations, they have on this campus taken on the definite responsibility of promoting the general welfare of the University. Fraternity life is not confined to parties alone. In pledging themselves to a fraternity tomorrow new members should realize this and be willing to exert themselves for the betterment of the University and of the whole fraternity system as well as for the betterment of their own fraternity.

Time of Decision

One of the bitterest presidential campaigns in recent political history will be culminated Tuesday when the American people go to the polls to elect their national leader for the next four years. Speeches and statements filled with charges and counter charges and a great deal of ambiguous balderdash aimed at getting votes rather than clearing issues have almost obscured any concrete proposals set forth by any candidate.

Nevertheless, we, the people, must choose a president. Moreover, we must choose a party, for regarless of his personal ideas, he is the representative of his party and as such must adhere to the general policies of his party.

Choosing a leader for a nation with as great an influence upon the affairs of the world as the United States is a serious undertaking at any time, and the present time with its problems at home and abroad is no exception. Therefore the selection of a president and a party to direct the course of the United States is a tremendous responsibility upon us, the voters. We here at the Universtiy are not excused from this responsibility simply because as students we are still in the training period of our lives.

It is our personal opinion that Harry Truman and the Democratic party and the Democratic party are the best candidates for the leadership of our country, but it is not the purpose of this editorial to expound that opinion. It is our purpose here to point out that regardless of political defief all students eligible to vote should shoulder their responsibility and exercise their right on Tuesday.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

SHE'S A REAL GONE GAL. Classics, pops, boogie, bop and personality, Hazel has it . . . certainly fouled up the Yack photographer when the stage-door-johnnies churned their way backstage to see that great gal in person . . . we'll take odds that Miss Scott's secretary felt like a scalper with a fist-full of Duke ducats, selling them at cost, when he was passing out the autographed pics of Hazel . . . as she climbed into her Cadillac some gone cat yelled, "Take me with you, Hazel, baby". . . Ray Jefferies, running like a chicken with his head cut off, trying to shoo the fans from Miss Scott's dressing room . . .

TAR HEELS TAKE NOTE. Phil Stone had some very nice things to say about the Carolina student body Thursday night after the concert: "I'm a Southerner, and proud of it; I'm going to a southern school, and I'm proud of that; but the thing that makes me swell with pride most is the ovation rendered Miss Scott tonight." We're proud too, Phil.

TRIPLETS. Did you know that ADPi has not one, nor two, but three teams entered in intramural competition? There's that ratio again.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. Plans have seeped over to this column of a get-together of all New Jersey-Carolina students to be held this Christmas vacation up in Yankee-land. Ask about it over in Alderman.

PASS THE BIB, PLEASE. We don't like to complain, but someone ought to get out his stepladder and clean the area under the face of the bell-tower clock. We should look our best for this coming Nov. 20, you know.

THREE BIRDS with one platter is the aim of a coed in Spencer. Heard over "Our Best to You" a song dedicated by her to a boy at State, another here at UNC, and still another in Korea! Who dares to say our coeds don't get around?

HOME ON THE RANGE. Strains of that melody have been heard about campus since the wire fences were erected to keep pedestrians off the new-born grass. Tsk, tsk, wish we could learn to keep off of our own free will. Are we cattle or are we Tar Heels?

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Jody Armstrong, Jim Dickinson and Jerry Lewis. Also, the Chapel Hill Weekly and Orange Print shop, both celebrating their 25th anniversary. Today opens Girl Scout week. Many happy returns, all.

WINNER TAKE ALL. Charlie Rights, not content with winning the UVA's fifty bucks, had to take one of its big quiz show signs and hang it in his room. On display in Manley. Wonder if that bottle of champagne has lasted out this weekend. . .

THE PANTS ARE TOO LONG. Gloria Jackson is petitioning for the Village Grill to install a counter that would take care of all orders. She's plumb tuckered out, running from the cheeseburger stand to the short order grill, and then to a booth. . .

SHORT SNORTER. Joe James and Fred Ogden have the solution to all chug-a-lug problems. They're advising all to get aholt of a "jigger-chaser," on sale downtown.

YO HO AND A BOTTLE OF RUM . . . fifteen men on a dormitory floor, all stomping to the tune of "Dixie" at 7 Old West's "stomp party" the other night. Roan Lowe was last seen crouched in a corner of his room below, in the midst of a shower of plaster.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN . . . Evening prayers of a gal in 318 Alderman have been revised from "All the way, Choo-choo," to "All the way Goo-goo." . . . and he's only a freshman, too.

WELCOME to Dan Wall, his missus and li'l one who are setting up house here on the Hill.

The Last Round-Up

Distributed by King Features Syndicate
Arrangement with The Washington Star

CPU Roundtable

Wicker's Plan For Peace

By Jake Wicker

Tonight the CPU will discuss what is admitted by all to be the most pressing problem of today: World Peace. Each member is to assume that he is President of the United States, and come to the meeting with his personal program to promote world peace. Politics and the individual's political affiliations will take a back seat, while the members offer some constructive plans for obtaining peace.

Proposals for immediate action by the United States cover a wide range of activities, both ideological and political. Quite a number of outstanding Americans feel we should "call Russia's hand" at once in regard to the Berlin situation. They believe Russia is not prepared for war, and that a strong move by the U. S. would force Russia to retreat on the Berlin question and thus give the U. S. a victory in this phase of the cold war. They think once Russia has given in on one point there would be little aggressiveness from her for some time, and thus peace would be obtained.

However, such a program presents two grave aspects. First, there is the possibility that Russia might not give in, and war would result. And second, even if Russia did give in, the result would only be a temporary peace by virtue of U. S. military superiority. It is a permanent peace that is needed.

The peace program of the United States must have two objectives. First is the security of the United States in the immediate future. In order to do this we must maintain a reasonably large military force and the atomic bomb until some more satisfactory way of handling national and world security is settled upon; they must not be considered as a method of securing lasting peace.

The second objective must be establishment of a world organization with power to maintain peace. Present methods open to the United Nations, requiring action by nations against other nations to stop aggression, are inadequate since, in the final stages, this action is war. Peace is not maintained by war. Thus the problem can only be solved by strengthening the United Nations into a world government.

Government is necessary, for only government can make laws and enforce them. As John Foster Dulles observed, there is no international law for the United Nations to enforce now. The Security council acts, not in accordance with justice and law, but in the individual national interest of its different members. Given government and law, the Security council would have something to enforce other than the national interests of the member states.

The United States must work for a General conference of the United Nations, at which time amendments should be offered to strengthen the U. N. The General Assembly should be reorganized so it could make laws binding upon individuals rather than nations. Representation in the assembly should be based upon population and educational and industrial development of the different nations. Legislation should be by a majority, with no veto power for any nation. The Security council should become an administrative agency to enforce laws made by the assembly.

There should be established world control of the atom bomb and of the dangerous phases of atomic energy. Inspection forces would insure that no nation or individual made unauthorized use of atomic energy.

All heavy armaments should come under the control of the world police force, which would operate under the Security Council. Only light armaments necessary for the internal policing would be retained by the individual nations.

The International Court of Justice should become the judicial branch of the world government, with compulsory jurisdiction over disputes between states and/or individuals which endangered world peace.

Under a political structure such as this, the peoples of the world could move forward toward that goal of Christian brotherhood which would afford an enduring basis for world peace and prosperity.

Socialist Say

An Attitude Toward Life

By Kent Erickson

Please permit me simultaneously to compliment and supplement Mr. Lowenstein on his excellent support of the Socialist candidate, Norman Thomas, in Wednesday's debate by the Di.

Social problems may be approached in two ways. One may think in terms of how men can best regulate social forces, or one may consider how these forces in turn regulate mens' thoughts.

Many of us are vaguely aware of a certain monotonous similarity among the major political parties (and you may include the Dixiecrats). Perhaps this is due to the fact that they all pursue the first approach to the exclusion of the second.

Try to recall the atmosphere characteristic of three major speeches delivered recently in this area. President Truman at the fair last week created the impression that the safest policy is to stick to the tested formula of the Democratic party. Senator Taft a week earlier defended the Republican domestic policy as an attempt to keep the machinery of free competition well oiled. And still earlier this month, Governor Thurmond told us that local vs. central authority is the most important issue of this campaign.

Each party asserts that if its policies are disregarded, a restriction of our individual rights will result. The implication, however, is that such a development will be against the wishes of the majority. Thus such adjectives as "fascistic" and "undemocratic" are among the most popular epithets of the day.

Contrast with this the second approach to social problems. This approach, for instance, does not examine capitalism, discover merely that power accompanies wealth, and then call for anti-trust laws. It sees more, namely, that a system based upon human cupidity is not a system productive of a healthy mental atmosphere. Freedom, tends to becomes a measure of what you managed to get. Power as a concomitant of wealth likewise assumes added significance, for inasmuch as men desire wealth, it has power over them.

Now let us consider domestic affairs, which Mr. Lowenstein dismissed (and perhaps rightly) as not being of primary importance. It is in this realm that Norman Thomas appears as the only candidate with a viewpoint broad enough to encompass both approaches to social problems. Unfortunately, however, the general public's viewpoint, like that of most political parties, remains highly objective. From such a viewpoint, socialism has the appearance of being merely another newfangled method of regulating social forces, and any argument such as the one you are now reading becomes incomprehensible.

Vegetarian Vittles

Jump on the Cart

By Jack Robinson

The other day on this page a column which called itself—Republican Report— apologized for its late arrival on the political scene. This column merely apologizes for its arrival, b but it goes the Republican Report one better in expressing t sentiment that its absence has contributed no less to the student's knowledge of the political issues confronting the nation than previous political columns. This column, had it arriv earlier, might well have eliminated the need for all the ma collvums good DTH readers have had to dig through in sea of the right party to pledge their worthy allegiance.

It seemed the opinion of the political writers that each ar every other party but their own has been feeding the vot bum steers. Let it be clearly stated here that our party—t Vegetarian Party—has never once been quilty of giving anyon a bum steer. The Vegetarians promise, above all else, if th candidates are chosen for the countries highest offices, ou good country will be free of bum steers for good. This is mo than a promise, it is one of the pillar platforms of the part

The Democrats and the Republicans talk of inflation. Neith have offered sound solutions. The Vegetarians promise actio on this all important problem. With the Vegetarians in pow meat will be only something the commies eat. The cutting o meat prices entirely, by the Vegetarians, will eliminate that inflationary commodity from the American housewives' worry.

And the American farmer. How he will benefit from a Vegetarian landslide! The fat war years which put the farmer back on his plow, when looked back upon, will appear—in comparison to the days under Vegetarian administration—as lean as a $1.2 per pound stsak. What other party has dared make this claim?

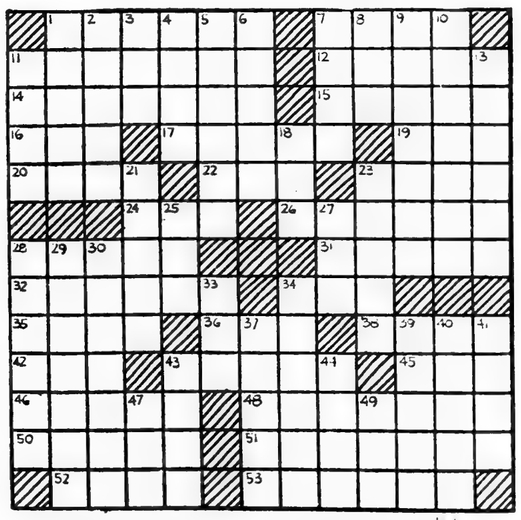
What a political battle this has been! The Democrats say that Dewey is but a lamb in the Wall Street manger; the Republicans retort that Truman lacks the liver required for good leadership; and the Wallacites beef about everything and everyone but the biggest ham of them all. Meanwhile, as expected the Socialists and the Socialists-Laborites continue to show plenty of mutton, while the Dixiecrats persist in making a rac of it.

One thing is certain, there are plenty of hams running fo office. A vote for the Vegetarians at this time would seem mos timely.

The time is late but never too late to jump on the cart wit the Vegetarians. Ours is a party which has been steadily growing in strength. There has been no threat of party breakup such as the Democrats have experienced. The declaration that corn-pone would be made the national dish if the party tastes sweet victory in November has completely won over the southern block to our side of the table. Further evidence of th growing Vegetarian movement can best be supplied by you local butcher.

See you at the poles, Ol' beans.

Write Away

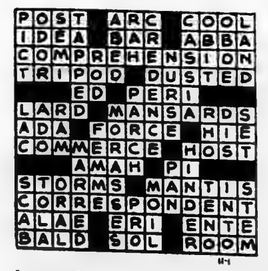


Summary Is Liked

Editor:

The Executive council of the Baptist Student union has directed me to express its appreciation for the feature which you recently instituted as a regular part of your Sunday edition, in which you include a summary of the religious events available to students during that day. The informal way in which it is written is an asset which we would like to recognize as extremely effective.

Allow me to add my own personal satisfaction in seeing this report, and I trust this emphasis on so vital a part of campus activity will not only be continued, but will also be expanded.



Dan Shropshire

HORIZONTAL
1. bully tree
7. defile
11. chief constituent of hair
12. young bird of prey
14. running away
15. trap
16. edge
17. beleaguerment
19. wrongdoing
20. exploit
22. age
23. cast off
24. ceaselessly, contracted
26. flower-cluster
28. level
31. fragrant wood
32. mutiny
34. measure of Siam
35. kiln
36. beer
38. a cheese
42. for each
43. military power
45. Arabian cloth
46. wipe out
48. moving company
50. licit
51. source of phosphorus compounds
52. impart
53. envoy

VERTICAL
1. misrepresent
2. agreeable odor
3. fold
4. monkshood
5. much smaller
6. choler
7. position
8. beard of grain
9. gashed
10. Brazilian bird
11. channel made by saw
13. soft
18. pike-like fish
21. part of mortise
23. place of action
25. lamprey
27. flying expert
28. drive
29. hare in first year
30. ordinary
33. marble
34. Mexican blanket
37. not broad or general
39. ship's crane
40. moderate
41. long hair on animal's neck
43. vend
44. haul
47. salt
49. language of Mindanao

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

e Cart

m which called itself—
late arrival on the po-gizes for its arrival, but better in expressing the ted no less to the stu-
s confronting the nation column, had it arrived
e need for all the mad to dig through in search hy allegiance.
l writers that each and been feeding the voters ve that our party—the quality of giving anyone above all else, if their es highest offices, our s for good. This is more platforms of the party.
lk of inflation. Neither getarians promise action
h. Vegetarians in power eat. The cutting of ans, will eliminate that an housewives' worry.
ll benefit from a Vegeck, put the farmer back ll appear—in comparison ation—as lean as a $1.25
ld make this claim?
en' The Democrats say
Street manger; the Re-
Liver required for good f everything and every-
Meanwhile, as expected, ates continue to show
pursed in making a race ty of hams running for e would seem most

o pump on the cart with has been steadily grow-
reat of party breakup.
d. The declaration that i don't the party tastes ely won over the south-
Further evidence of the st be supplied by your

Liked

t Student union has dior the feature which you
of your Sunday edition,
e religious events avail-informal way in which uld like to recognize as satisfaction in seeing this o vital a part of campus will also be expanded.

Dan Shropshire

RIO AI
- gashed
- 10 Brazilian bird
- 11 channel marks by saw
- 13 soft
- 15 tuck-like fish
- 21 part of mortise
- 23 place of
- 25 lamprey
- 27 diving expert
- 28 rice
- 29 nate in
- last year
- 30 ordinary
- marble
- 34 Mexican blanket
- 37 broad or general
- 39 ship's crane
- 40 moderate
- 41 long hair on animal's neck
- 43 send
- 44 haul
- 47 salt
- 49 language of Mindanao

COOL
ABBA
SION
STED
ARDS
TIME
HOST
NTIS
DENT
ENTE
ROOM

FRANKLY SPEAKING

By FRANK ALLSTON, Jr.

Four Dim Forms

After experiencing their narrowest escape of the season yesterday at Knoxville, the Tar Heels, unbeaten and untied, come back to Chapel Hill today to survey the rocky path that lies ahead. Looking down the home stretch of the 1948 season, the Carolina eleven can pick out the dim forms of four very formidable enemies, all with guns drawn and ready to meet the rampaging Tar Heels. These four, William and Mary, Maryland, Duke, and Virginia all tasted the stinging effects of defeat last year and all could conceiveably upset the dope bucket on any of the next four Saturday afternoons.

None of the four remaining contests could be considered as breathers. Only the Wahoos of Virginia have failed to show signs of having a great ball club, but they too, could give the locals plenty of trouble. William and Mary has been pointing for next Saturday's game all year and the genial chieftan of the Williamsburg tribe, Rube McCray, will spare no tomahawks in his attempt to scalp the loyal lads who toil for Carl Snavely.

As a rule, terrapins may not have as good or as long a memory as elephants usually do, but there is a group of Terps up Washington way who have a fair recollection of what the Tar Heels accomplished on a wet field in Griffith Stadium last November. This little remembrance which the Tar Heels left on the Maryland '47 record, will doubteless be returned if at all possible.

Then, of course, there is that one lone sentinel which always stands guard over the victory column when the Tar Heels reach that ninth game, which is oh so close to the end of the line. That sentinel, who paces the banks of "Durham's ditches" with an elongated cigarette over his shoulder and diabolical horns eminating from his cranium, is none other than one spirt of Duke university. He is he loathes that sound of "Beat Dook," which continually harasses him. If the Blue Devil of Dook has anything to say on the matter, there will be trouble for the Tar Heels on November 20.

Getting Ahead In The Game

Ever watch those soccer boys in action down at Fetzer? They are the fellows who are supposed to get a big kick out of the game. They spend several hours on the field running up and down, yelling at one another and generally giving that little bag of wind known as a soccer ball quite a workout. It's one game where you have to stay ahead.

This little maneuver of bouncing the ball off one's noggin is quite a trick. It keeps the crowd in high spirits and most of the time keeps the ball high in the air. There seems to be more fun in using your head in that game than in wearing out the cleats on the bottom of the brogans in which you run around. The goalie, however, has more fun than anybody else. He puts everything into it and sometimes gets patted on the nose by somebody else's foot when trying to prevent a goal by the big, bad enemy.

The local boys seem to be quite adept at the game, which is starting its sophomore year at Carolina. Boys like Jess Greenbaum, Frank Nelson, and Gus Johnson are old hands at the game, having been standouts last year. There have been several boys who have blossomed out lately, among them Dave Ferebee, who scored the first goal in last week's game with Roanoke and wound up the contest with an insurance marker against W & L the next day.

Coach Marvin Allen has done a fine job in making soccer a part of the old school athletic program and he has had as many as a thousand victory-hungry Chapel Hill partisans down to see the action. The record of three wins, a loss and a tie in fairly rough competition, would bring credit to the record of any man's team. Coach Allen has received praises and his team has likewise, but you can't write about the booters once and forget 'em. Soccer is fast becomming a tradition that won't let itself be forgotten.

There's A Great Day Coming

By thumping the Wake Forest Baby Deacs rather handily down in Fayetteville Friday night, the Carolina freshman gridders showed that the fortunes of future Tar Heel elevens won't sink as low as some people imagined when graduation makes its annual trip through the ranks. The Crowell Little charges showed outstanding form and completely outplayed the Deacs most of the night, even though the final score stood at only 14-13.

The Tar Babies uncovered a host of backs for the benefit of the local citizentry who passed the buck to the gatemen as they entered the Fayetteville high school bowl. Among the standouts were fullback Dick Weiss, tailback Skeet Hesmer, wingbacks Fred Brady and C. C. White and blocking back Paul Cuba. This Cuba shows signs of making a great little field general for the locals when the time rolls around.

Then, too, the big frosh line gave the Deac forward wall a few rough moments that would have shaken even the stanch pillars of Graham Memorial. They charged hard on offense and held well on defense. Of the two Wake scores, one came on a side end sweep and the other was a long pass. The Baptists from Deacon Hollow knew well what awaited any unauthorized trips through the nether-nether land that was the Tar Baby line.

Yes, it looks like there's a great day coming.

MONDAY – TUESDAY – WEDNESDAY

Special Announcement

We have had a great many inquiries concerning Encyclopaedia Britannica which, as you know, is usually sold only by authorized Britannica representatives.

We have managed to persuade the Britannica people to place copies of the new 1948 Britannica and Britannica Junior—"The Children's Encyclopaedia"—in our store for your examination; also to have an expert present to explain the famous Britannica Research Service.

This Display will be here for three days ONLY—Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 1st through the 3rd. Come in between 2 and 6—the first three days of the week.

AB'S BOOKSHOP

MONDAY – TUESDAY – WEDNESDAY

Harriers Suffer Defeat; Magill Places First

Tennessee Scores Victory by 22-38 In Cross Country

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 30.—Carolina's once-mighty cross country squad took it on the nose again today as the Tennessee harriers raced to a 22-38 victory on the local course this morning.

The defeat was the third of the season as against but one victory for Coach Dale Ranson's Tar Heels, who last year were undefeated. The only triumph thus far was scored over N. C. State.

Sam Magill, brilliant Carolina cross country star, paced a losing cause here today.He finished first in the race, but his team mates gave him little support.

After Magill had crossed the finish line, Tennessee completely dominated the picture. The Vols copped the majority of the remaining low point places in the 14-man filed.

The triumph was the fourth straight of the season for the Tennessee outfit, which is regarded as one of thestrongest units in the South.

William & Mary Wins Over Richmond, 14-6

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 30.—(UP) Tailback Tommy Korczowski and fullback Jack (Flying) Cloud hit Richmond with a stunning one-two scoring punch in the second period to lead William and Mary to triumph, 14-6, over the Richmond Spiders before some 10,000 homecoming fans here today.

The Richmond Spiders never fully recovered after Korczowski and Cloud ripped the lid off the bitterly-fough defensive battle.

William and Mary threatened dangerously first with a drive to the Richmond one in the second period before halfback Graham Morris puted out to the William and Mary 49. On the next play, Korczowski blasted 19 yards to the Richmond 32, where Cloud took over to shake off a half-dozen Richmond players and bulldoze downfield to the end zone in one long run. Halfback Buddy Lex kicked the first of his two extra points.

It was Korczowski again with halfback Jack Bruce heading up a William and Mary drive in the third period to the Richmond 23. There wingback Henry Blanc took a handoff from Cloud and burst through the right side of the line for the remaining 23 yards to the end zone.

Wake Forest Gains 34-13 Win Over Wolfpack Before 23,000

Wisconsin Upset

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 30—(UP)—Iowa, unveiling a surprising ground attack to go with Al DiMarco's passing, came from behind with three second-half touchdowns today to whip Wisconsin, 19-13, before 38,400 wildly cheering fans.

Wisconsin, frustrated by successive defeats on three previous Saturdays and trying hard to win one for Coach Harry Stuhldreher, exploded its vaunted ground power in the second quarter after a first period of cautious sparring by both teams. The Badgers punched over two touchdowns and led, 13-0, at halftime only to have Iowa return from the dressing room to completely reverse the proceedings in the second frame.

WAKE FOREST, Oct. 30—(UP)—Wake Forest, hungering for a win over North Carolina State since 1945, gorged itself today on a 34-13 victory spiced up by the brilliant running and passing of halfbacks Harry Dowda and Bill Gregus.

Working smoothly from its hammering T formation, Wake Forest opened with a burst of power and forged ahead 20-0 within 11 and one-half minutes. State fought the blazing Wake Forest attack bitterly all the way, and tried to strike back wih fullback Ogden Smith toeing off booming punts, pitching deadly passes and pile-driving at the line.

State Fumbles

Wake Forest brought the 23,000 fan homecoming crowd to its feet roaring when a State fumble gave them the ball on the State 29 with the game just three minutes old. Dowda and Gregus, with fullback James Lail, stormed to the three and Dowda smashed over from there. Tackle Bill George made the first of four conversions.

Two minutes later State fumbled again on their own 20, and End Ed Bradley snatched it up and raced to the next score. Before the quarter ended, quarterback Tom Fetzer capped a Lail-Dowda drive by passing 20 yards to left half Bob Jones on the six-inch line. On the next play Jones bucked over.

Passes Click

Smith's passes finally clicked in the second period when he hit wingback Dick Kirmeyer with a 20-yard heave on the goal line for State's first score.

It was Smith again, passing and plunging to the Wake Forest three to set up halfback Dick Johnson's plunge to the score.

Gregus cut loose with two aerials for Wake Forest's next touchdown, hitting end John O'Quinn with the second one on the State 23, and O'Quinn was away to the marker. The third period deadlocked, but the fourth Dowda and quarterback Tom Fetzer started passing to move the ball from Wake Forest's 24 to State's 43. From there quarterback Carroll Blackerby pitched 29 yards to O'Quinn for the big end's second score of the day.

Improving Georgia Routs 'Bama, 35-0, In Southeast Test

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 30.—(UP)—The mad-dog Bulldogs of Georgia handed Alabama its worst defeat since 1910 today, burying the Crimson Tide 35-0 before a record 45,000 fans.

The Crimson Tide, known from the Rose Bowl to the Polo Grounds as a football powerhouse, has not been so humiliated since Georgia Tech won 36 to 0 nearly four decades ago.

The snappy Bulldogs played "trick or treat" with the sophomoric Alamamians on this Halloween eve. The Crimson Tide treated the Bulldogs to the two fumbles and six pass interceptions. Georgia converted two fumbles and one pass into touchdowns.

Georgia, playing precicely and hitting hard, struck quickly in the first quarter for two touchdowns. Johnny Rauch's accuracy on passes was never better than on the first two drives.

He passed to end Bob Walston from the 19 for the first score and to Joe Geri from the 34 for the second six points. For the day he had a record of six successful passes out of 12 tries for 127 yards.

Joe Jackura, a towering center from East Chicago, Ind., intercepted Bob Cochran's pass on the Georgia 20 and raced 80 yards for a tochdown.

Early Scores Win For Snavely's Club In Knoxville Test

(Continued from page 1)

booting weakly from his end zone to the Tennessee 28. There stood Johnny Clements, who though surrounded by the enemy, grabbed the pigskin riskily out of the air and went down with the pack in his tracks.

Rodgers bombarded the Vol line on the first play for three and then turned the spotlight over to Justice. The Choo Choo took immediately to the air lift. Failing on a warm-up toss to Weiner, but then contacting Rizzo with a ball that finally came to rest on the Tennessee 12.

Rodgers failed to gain on the first down, but on the second, Justice cavorted hard to his right and then did a sudden about race to find, throw, and hit Art Weiner, standing reasonably alone in the opposite side of the end zone. Cox did a return engagement on his former conversion and the count went to 14-0 as the clock pushed to 12 minutes.

All For Day

That was the Tar Heels' scoring for the first half and in the final outcome, for the ball game. They threatened again shortly later on another pleasure excursion into Vol territory, but this moment came to an end when a Justice to Weiner fourth down pass just missed making the necessary 10 yards.

The rest of the first half turned out to be a routine of run a couple and kick for both sides with the exception of Littleford's nullified touchdown run.

The second half was mainly a Tennessee effort with the Tar Heels resting on their laurels of the opening stanza. The big Tennessee line, which failed with its mystery defensive in the early part of the game, rallied to the fore and kept the Carolina running game coaling in the station.

Only through the air could the Tar Heels threaten as several bad fumbles by Tar Heel backs continually fell into the wrong hands. Once at the opening and once at the close of the second half, the visitors almost collected points.

The beginner was concocted by Bob Kennedy who intercepted a Vol aerial near middle field. This drive failed when Bob Lund of the hometowners intercepted Justice's pass to Flamisch on the one-yard line.

The finisher was a Tar Heel passing drive late in the game with Justice hurling away, that just missed the goal as Art Weiner thrice juggled an almost impossible catch from his favorite thrower.

In between, the Vols were in almost full control. They rampaged around the field, prodded by Tar Heel errors and finally scored late in the third period when J. B. Proctor, the injured Tennessee star, wandered over from the university infirmary to pass 32 yards to teammate J. W. Sherill on the Tar Heel 20, who

See FOOTBALL, Page 4

Statistics Chart

Team Totals

	NC	Opp.
First Downs	11	6
Net yards rushing	94	42
Net yards passing	127	123
Passes attempted	25	24
Passes completed	12	10
Passes intercepted	2	3
Number punts	7	12
Avg. dist. punts	44	38
Fumbles	5	1
Ball lost on fumbles	3	0
Number of penalties	6	8
Yards Penalized	50	73

Individual Rushing

CAROLINA	Attempts	Gained
Justice	13	47
Rodgers	22	41
Clements	4	8
Weiner	1	1

TENNESSEE	Attempts	Gained
Baltsaris	6	11
Miller	3	10
Beeper	2	11
Bergmier	1	7
Cooper	5	5
Sherrill	2	-1
Lund	1	0

Individual Passing

CAROLINA Player	Attempts	Comp	Yds.	Int
Rodgers	7	2	31	0
Justice	17	10	107	2
Maceyko	1	0	0	1
TENNESSEE
Littleford	11	5	27	1
Cooper	3	1	17	1
Proctor	11	4	76	0

From	To	Yards
Justice	Cox	1, 8
Justice	Clements	10, 13
Justice	Flamisch	3, 17
Rodgers	Justice	25
Justice	Rizzo	12
Justice	Weiner	12, 3, 7
Rodgers	Clements	6

Larger Loans on Anything of Value

Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop

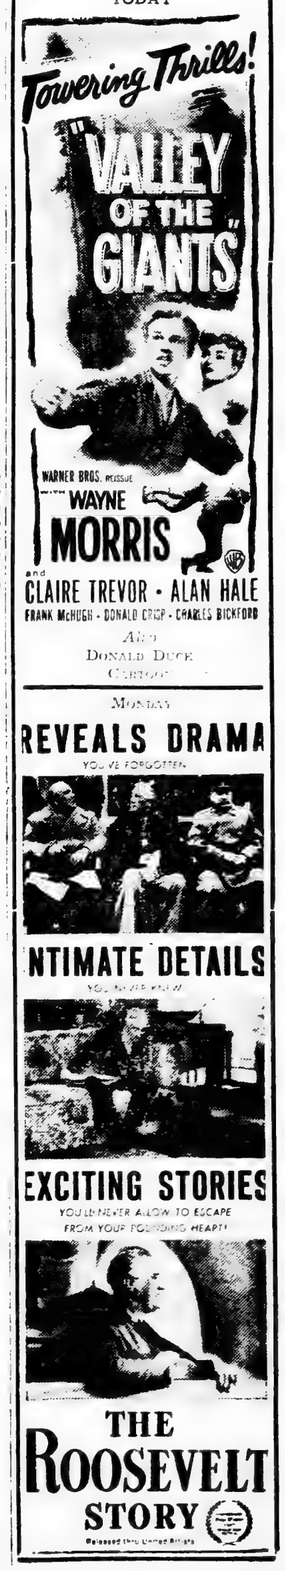
MAIN LOAN OFFICE

Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

Michigan Ekes Out 28-20 Win Over Illinois

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 30.—(UP)—Mighty Michigan had to battle for its life today to scratch out a 28-20 victory over a fighting Illinois team which almost blocked the Wolverines' way to their 20th consecutive win.

End Harry Allis, a 20-year-old sophomore, and sheer luck were the biggest factors in Michigan's triumph over a team which amazed the 85,936 homecoming fans with its refusal to believe in Michigan's invincibility.



Tempers flared in the final stages of the game and officials called three personal fouls — two against Michigan and one against Illinois. The Michigan linemen mixed briefly with the Illini during the closing minutes.

The teams played on even terms in the first half, each striking for one touchdown and missing one scoring chance, but the Wolverine jugger naught rolled to two markers in the third period for the victory margin.

SMU Triumphs

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 30.—(UP)— Southern Methodist's magnificent Mustangs and dazzling Doak Walker today overpowered Texas, 21-6, before 68,750 fans in Memorial stadium

VILLAGE
TODAY

Throat specialists report on CAMEL MILDNESS

30-Day test of hundreds of Camel smokers revealed

NO THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

{Not a single case!}

From coast to coast, the reports were the same: Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

These reports were based on a total of 2470 examinations by noted throat specialists of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

And these men and women smoked on the average of one to two packages of Camels a day!

Yes, Camels are that mild! But prove it for yourself. In your own "T-Zone"—T for Taste and T for Throat. Smoke Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days. Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the full, rich flavor of Camel's choice, properly aged tobaccos. And let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you about that marvelously cool Camel mildness!

Prove it Yourself!

Make the Camel 30-Day Test in Your "T-Zone"

Money-Back Guarantee: Make the 30-day Camel test yourself. If, at any time during these 30 days, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you have ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund your full purchase price, plus postage. This offer is good for 90 days from this date.

(Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

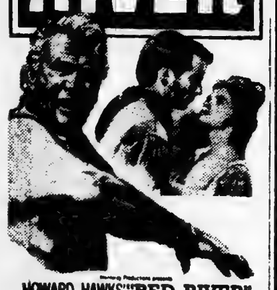
Sorority Girls Feature Parties

The Alpha Gam Delta's pledged the following girls last week: Jo Ann Armstrong, Winchester, Va.; Tommie Olive, Charlotte; Catherine Linton, Kinston; Barbara Nell Crawford, Raleigh; Allene Marie Warren, Dunn; Margaret Hubbard, Clinton; Margaret MacKay Neal, Lockport, N.Y.; and Obeda Hood, Richlands.

Three girls were initiated into the sorority on Monday night: Ruby White Arnold, Fuquay Springs; Libby Ann Koontz, Louisville, Ky.; and Ginny Forward, High Point. Tuesday night the Alpha Gam's entertained Dell Proctor Kestler, an alumna, at a surprise baby shower. The house was decorated with animals and toys, with a blue and pink color scheme. The chapter is having an open house tonight. Everyone is invited to come to the house at 6 o'clock for the coffee hour.

The Pi Phi's are giving a coffee hour at 5:30 today for their pledges. Everyone is invited. Wednesday afternoon thy initiated the following girls: Susan Walton and Libba Royal. Going to Annapolis this week-end are: Charleen Greer, Jane Griffin, Anne Wells, Jean Sloan, Julie Compton, Julia Pennix, Bootsie Taylor, and Ginny Nash. Bound for Princeton is Charmain Griffin. Miss Madaline Kline, new Pi Phi house mother, was honored at a tea given by the chapter Tuesday afternoon. Jane Pointer, social chairman, and her assistant, Jean Marie Lester, were in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. J. M. Saunders, of the Alumnae advisory board, served; and housemothers, assistant hostesses and alumnae were guests.

The Tri Delts had Twig Branch, Dean Katherine Carmichael, and Cappy Swain as guests of honor at luncheon last Sunday. Tonight and tomorrow night Cynthia Cannon, New York City; Mintie Cantrell, Etewah, Tenn.; Heath Hartsell, Concord; and Getsy Ann Horton, Winston-Salem, were initiated. The entire chapter went over to enemy territory, Duke, Tuesday night for an informal get-together with the Duke Deltas in their chapter room. The Tri Delts gave a tea Wednesday in honor of their new house mother, Mrs. Drake. Thursday afternoon the pledges of Delta Delta Delta entertained the pledge classes of the other sororities on campus with an informal Halloween party. The house was decorated in orange and black, with real pumpkin jack-o-lanterns! Everyone is invited to the informal coffee hour tonight from 7 'til 8 o'clock. Added to the list of Tri Delt pin-ups is Margaret Gaston to Ed Joyner, ATO.



The Alpha Delta Pi's pledged Gussie Young last week after a period of informal rushing. Adding a happy note to a week of volley ball and sore muscles, they will hold an open house tonight at 7 o'clock in honor of their new pledges. Everyone is invited to drop in for awhile.

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION
Burham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

BLAZING IN ITS ACTION—THUNDERING IN ITS DRAMA—STIRRING IN THE SWEEP OF ITS MAGNIFICENT PRODUCTION...
YES—
IN 25 YEARS ONLY THREE..
"COVERED WAGON"
"CIMARRON" and now...
HOWARD HAWKS' GREAT PRODUCTION
"RED RIVER"

HOWARD HAWKS' "RED RIVER"
with
JOHN WAYNE · MONTGOMERY CLIFT
WALTER BRENNAN · JOANNE DRU
Also
LATEST NEWS
SUNDAY—MONDAY
CAROLINA

Churches Give Services And Entertainment

EPISCOPAL: The Women's Auxilliary of Chapel of the Cross Episcopal church will hold a tea for all foreign students of the University this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parish house.

The regular early morning communion service will be held at 8 o'clock. In the 11 o'clock morning prayer and sermon, the Rev. Mr. Yates will speak on "The Need to Be Alone." His theme for the evening 8 o'clock prayer service will be "The Meaning of Halloween."

Canterbury Club for young people will meet at 6 o'clock in the parish house for supper followed by the regular meeting.

PRESBYTERIAN: The Rev. Mr. Jones will hold two services this morning, at 9:45 and 11 o'clock. Carl Perry will present a solo at the earlier service. A class for University students will meet in the new building at 11 o'clock.

At the 6:15 o'clock meeting of the church's young people, there will be a discussion of the youth's convention at High Point, which 14 members attended. The young married students and their wives will meet in the new building at 6:15. Led by the Rev. Mr. Jones, the group will continue their study of the Old Testament by discussing Moses.

CONGREGATIONAL. The Congregational Christian Church will hold two services in commemoration of Reformation Day. At the morning service, the Rev. Mr Munger will preach on the question, "Who Wants a Protestant Church." This sermon will deal with the responsibilities of Protestantism. At the 8 o'clock service, in addition to the story of Luther's work and the singing of his great hymn, there will be a sermon entitled. "That Chris May Stand First." This sermon deals with the spirit of Protestanism.

Monday night at six o'clock the student Fellowship will meet at the parsonage on 232 McCauley St. for supper. At 7 o'clock, they will attend religious lecture in Gerrard Hall led by Dean Bosley

BAPTIST: Mrs. Paul White will lead the Sunday school dission at 9:45. Chancellor R. B House will deliver the 11 o'clock message. Sunday night Chaplain J. C. Herrin will speak at the supper forum at 6 o'clock on "Postscript to a Political Speech." After this discussion, members will vote for candidates for the election Tuesday.

METHODIST: The Rev. Mr Ruark will preach at 11 o'clock on Communism vs. Christianity. The Wesley Foundation will meet at 5:45 for supper, and Rev. Mr Ruark will lead a discussion on Discovering Jesus Christ. Morning Watch will be held on Thursday and Friday mornings at 7:15 Vespers will be held at 7:15 on Thursday, followed by a committee meeting.

Mrs. Otto Altuschuls, wife of Edward Danziger's former right hand man in the Candy Kitchen is staying in the Danziger's home while her husband is in the Durham hospital for an operation. Following the operation, Altuschuls will join his wife here.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

HEAR HENRY WALLACE TONIGHT!! Sunday, October 31st, on ABC, 7:00-7:15 p.m. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY for one or two male students. Private entrance. For information contact D.T.H. Call F-3371. (3-8011-1)

APPROXIMATELY 20,000 BEAUTIFUL hand made colonial tapestry brick. Was purchased for the finest building in the South. Apply at J. A. Jones Construction Co., Morehead Building, Chapel Hill. Phone 8361. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

I. D. BRACELET BEARING NAME Bob Allen — Please contact same at 108 Everett. Thanks. (3-8018-1)

WILL THE STUDENT WHO BORROWED my Eversharp pen October 26th at YMCA please return it to YMCA lost and found as I need it. (2-8017-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 24

ANOTHER COUPLE OR FAMILY TO share large, nicely furnished house at reasonable rent. Information may be obtained from Mr. Wadsworth, Housing Office. (2-8019-1)

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

TUXEDO RENTALS
It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.
Lewis-State College
RALEIGH
HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

BETTY McMAHAN (center) and Harold Cummings (right) get a few pointers on their dance steps from Lib Stoney at the Rendezvous Room dance session on Tuesday night.

Lib Stoney's Dancing Class Scores Hit With Students

By Caroline Brunnen

Take it from the University's potential hep-cats and fox-trotters, Lib Staney's dancing lessons in the Rendezvous room Tuesday evenings are a big success.

Forgetting foot work and concentrating on Carolina gentlemen, one of the coeds claims the dancing lessons "are great fun. Of course we aren't all professionals yet," she added, "but there's fun while learning."

On the other hand, a Carolina gentleman insists all dancing students are rapidly approaching the professional status. "There's always a good turning out for the dances," he said, "and Lib's instructions are easy to understand."

Even the prof. herself praises the efforts and accomplishments of her "talented" students. Lib said she expected some "fancy stuff coming out of the dancing group."

At the beginning of the lessons teacher Stoney took a poll to find out just what her students wanted to learn. From the returns of the poll she found one of the students were talented in naming the ordinary dance steps and variations.

One student wanted to learn the "double dip with a little hesitation" while another requested "slo" dancing. "Hot stuff" was listed by many of the future ball room artists, who requested every type of dancing.

So Lib went to work giving her students what they wanted. In the first month of the course, Lib taught the fox trot, the waitz, jitterbugg ng, and at the last session, she turned to a few South American shakes and turns.

South American "good neighbor policy" necessitates learning our neighbor's dance steps, so the versatile University students are going to their duty wholeheartedly. With the hip movements of the rumba, tango and somba differing slightly from that of our American faster numbers, a few difficulties come up.

Carolina students being what they are, however, the difficulties will soon be ironed out, and the greatest Latin-American "bombshell" will meet competition here, Lib said.

The shag is becoming popular, especially in North Carolina; so Lib will soon begin her instructions along this line. Jitterbugging, although still popular among college students, may be replaced by the shag. But Lib's students will not fall behind in the latest "hot stuff" fads.

Lib, who taught dancing in a nationally known studio in New York, is a senior here. She worked with the Lost Colony, doing dancing and costuming and was last winter a winner in the professional dancing contest in New York city.

Lutherans Meet In Gerrard Today

Today is the 431st birthday of the Protestant Reformation and it is being celebrated by the Lutheran congregation at their 11 o'clock service in Gerrard hall.

Rev. E. C. Cooper, pastor of the congregation will have as his subject this morning "The Faith of the Church."

This is the second in a series of five sermons that Mr. Cooper will preach on this subject.

"Most Likely to Succeed"
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL

First choice in nylons among smart college girls is the seam-free hosiery that bears the Seal of the DANCING TWINS. Exclusive, patented heel* gives snug fit at ankle, heel and instep; the famous Gussetoe assures comfort! No twisting seams to worry about. Look for them under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.
DANCING TWINS
*U. S. Pat. No. 2288648

Fraternities End Rushing, Catch Breath

A fall weekend at Chapel Hill without a football game and immediately following a strenuous two weeks of fraternity rushing can only spell a noticeable lag to social functioning. So it was with this one. Plans for future events, however, move steadily onward.

Elliot Lawrence and his band will spend some of their free time next week-end at the Pi Lambda Phi fraternity house. Lawrence, a Pi Lam from the University of Pennsylvania, will play at the house for the William and Mary chapter which has been invited down en masse. Members from the rival shcool will also be entertained at an open house on Saturday night, at which members of the Sound and Fury musical comedy organization will entertain. Arrangements for the weekend are being handled by the social committee headed by Jerry Weiss and including Perry Frankel, Steve Wollman, Mel Westreich, Steve Platt, and Henry Golding.

Delta Kappa Epsilon members journeyed to Sanford this week-end to attend the wedding of a graduate member, Frank Frazer to Irene Williams, a Tri Delt in school here last year. Groomsmen were William Jabine, William Lord, J. T. Miller, B. F. Paty, and Robert Francis. Some of the other Dekes at the occasion were Jim Francis, Roy Holsten, Thurman Williams, Paul Mengel, Tinsley Campbell, Bill Dodson, Joe Miller, Bill Thorpe and Jack Thorpe.

Hosts to several distinguished visitors last weekend were the Pi Kappa Alphas. Ken Sawyer and Wendell Craft, president and vice-president respectively of the Louisiana State university student body, were the honorees at a Friday evening informal dinner, which President Jess Dedmond also attended.

Officers for the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity who were recently elected are: Al Katz, president; Joe Lefkowitz, vice president; Jerry Blum, secretary; Leon Zimmerman, treasurer; Bob Beyer, house manager; Howard Wainer, steward; Nelson Posner, parliamentarian; and Jerry Daniel, corresponding secretary.

Norm Ripps has been chosen to serve as treasurer of Pi Lambda Phi fraternity for the fall quarter. Lenny Kaplan, who did not return to school this quarter, will assume his regular duties in January.

"A French 'MR. CHIPS' . . . Excellent singing in almost Sistine style by superb child actors who sing like angels . . . Very much worth your while!"—THE NEW YORKER
A Cage of NIGHTINGALES
THE DISTINGUISHED FRENCH COMEDY
Staring France's Beloved Comic Artist
NOEL-NOEL
VILLAGE THEATRE
WEDNESDAY

...Social Lights...

SOCIETY EDITOR: ..... Rita Ayl...
STAFF: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Caroline Brunner, Jan Gower, Lynn Hammock, Ann Gamble, Lucielle Conley, Ka... Altizer.

-Football-

(Continued from page 3)

danced away from assorted Tar Heels, noticeably John Clements, for a score. Captain Jim Powell added the point.

Hard Day

It was a hard day for the Carolina team. They faced their fifth keyed-up team in five weeks and had to extend a lot more than usual at some points to win the ball game. General Bob Neyland's lads were outstanding in defeat and to many observers, seemed to be playing their best effort of the year.

Carolina lead in the statistics in almost all departments. In the long run, they proved the better team.

Though they may have disappointed some, the Tar Heels had what they needed, when they really needed it.

CAROLINA - DUKE
DRIVE-IN THEATRE
CHAPEL HILL - BUY
Six Miles from Chapel Hill
SUNDAY and MONDAY
"WONDER MAN"
with
DANNY KAY and VIRGINIA MAYO
In Technicolor
COLOR CARTOON AND SHORT

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

The Finest... By Far
that's
PARKER "51"

The World's Most Wanted Pen
Your Choice of Regular or Demi Size
$12.50
OPEN AN ACCOUNT

PARKER "51" PEN AND PENCIL SET
Another amazing Parker "51" value . . . for Christmas gift giving . . . the precious Parker "51" pen and matching pencil in a gift box.
$17.50

Want to be the best Santa in the world? It's easy . . . give Parker "51" . . . famed for its jewel-like beauty . . . unequalled in value and performance! No other gift is so wanted . . . no other pen writes dry with wet ink!

A. Brilliant Diamond Solitaire $75.00
B. Lady's 15 Jewel Elgin . . $35.75
C. Handsome 15 Jewel Elgin $42.50
Convenient Terms Arranged
Wentworth & Sloan
JEWELERS
EASY TERMS ARRANGED

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

GLORY-FRIED—chicken—at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

OCTOBER 31, 1943

...hts...

Rita Adams
...elme Brunner, Jane
...icielle Conley, Kitty

...OLINA - DUKE
...IVE-IN
...RE CHAPEL HILL BLVD.
...es from Chapel Hill
...AY and MONDAY
...ONDER MAN"
...with
...AY and VIRGINIA MAYO
...n Technicolor
...CARTOON AND SHORT

STEAKS
CHICKEN
ANDWICHES
at
TTS GRILL
Miles South
Pittsboro Road
OF FREE PARKING

...y Far
that's
RKER
"51"
The World's Most Wanted Pen
Your Choice of Regular or Demi Size
$12.50
...the Lost Sons in the world?
...ove Parker "51"s, famed
...r the beauty, unequalled
...and performance! No other
...s writes... no other pen
...s will write!

EASY TERMS
ARRANGED

...—ON THE CARGO VESSEL
...Y...
...THE FIRE'S DIED DOWN, REED! YOU CAN GO ASHORE AND SEE YOUR FATHER NOW!

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER

Fair and cool.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY NOVEMBER 2, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 34

EDITORIALS

Guard Well
Debs Proxy
Socialist Haven

Truman, Dewey Close Campaigns, Await Vote

County Votes On 11 Names For 3 Posts

By Herb Nachman

The official Orange county ballot in today's election carries a total of 11 names for three offices. There is one position open in the town of Chapel Hill, that of constable.

L. W. Sparrow's name appears on the Republican ticket for the office of constable of Chapel Hill. Frank Maddry, also of Chapel Hill, recently declared himself candidate on the Democratic ticket for this office.

Although Maddry's name does not appear on the township ballot, voters may write-in his name under the Democratic box.

In the county as a whole, there are three offices on the ballot. These being state senator for the 16th district, house of representatives and county commissioner.

Candidates for state senate are James Webb, Democratic and John F. Crawford, Republican.

Candidates on the county ballot for house of representatives are: J. W. Umstead, Jr., Democratic; Max C. Weaver, Republican; and Doris Friedland, Progressive.

For the position of county commissioner for Orange county three names appear on the Democratic ticket, they are: Collier Cobb, Jr., Ben F. Wilson and H. G. Laws.

The Republican ticket for county commissioner includes D. L. McBane, W. S. Hunt and Ruffin Pendergraft. The Progressive party has no candidates for State senate or county commissioner on the ballot.

Fire Breaks Out In Spencer Room While Girls Out

Three Spencerites weren't around Sunday night at 8:30, but they almost lost their room and everything in it.

Fire broke out in room 302 Spencer from an unknown cause, and before it could be brought under control, it destroyed several window panes, a window shade, a floor lamp, a blanket, a radio-phonograph set, and numerous text books and notebooks belonging to the occupants of the room.

The fire drew a sizeable crowd including the man next door, Dr. Frank Graham. Bystanders said that local police politely told Dr. Graham they were very sorry but he couldn't go into the dormitory to see how things were getting along.

Firemen said the occupants of the room, Pegge Misenheimer, Armeria Eure and Ann Lewallen had not been in the room for several hours. One of the blaze-battlers remarked, "Imagine their surprise on returning. We still don't know what caused the flames."

Election Party

The Young Republicans club will hold an election returns party starting at 9 o'clock tonight in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

President Bill Hipple said yesterday that he expected the party to turn into a victory celebration by about midnight. He said no time limit had been set on the party.

All campus Republicans and other persons interested in the Republican candidates were invited to be present.

—Photo by Harold Davis, courtesy Knoxville News-Sentinel

TENNESSEE BACK HAL LITTLEFORD is shown starting his 91-yard touchdown punt return in Knoxville Saturday which was nullified by a clipping penalty called on Tennessee's Chaddie Baker, who is seen clipping Hosea Rodgers. The play took place in the second period when the Volunteers were fighting to overcome a 14-0 lead the Tar Heels held at the time after tallying twice in the first quarter. Umpire Walt Hoffman called the penalty, while Art Weiner and Len Szafaryn seem to have seen it, too, not to mention George Balitsaris of Tennessee. The 50,000 fans at Shield-Watkins stadium rose to its feet when Littleford made his TD run, but it soon sat back again, some relieved, as the run was called back. The Volunteers put over a real touchdown in the third quarter, however, to make the final score Carolina 14, Tennessee 7.

Candidates Make Talks On Last Day

By United Press

President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey brought their blazing campaign fight to a close last night with 11th-hour appeals for a record turnout in the voting that will decide the presidency of the United States between sunrise and midnight today.

The odds were long that the confident young New Yorker would unseat Mr. Truman and give the nation its first Republican administration since the New Deal was born 16 years ago.

But there was no defeatism in the Independence, Mo., home where Mr. Truman and his family sweated out the final hours of the campaign. The president prepared a brief radio talk calling for the Democrats to get to the polls in record numbers. That appeared to be his only hope of victory.

Dewey drove from his home at Pawling, N. Y., to GOP presidential headquarters at the Roosevelt hotel in New York city, and went on the air to rally his own followers.

Gov. Earl Warren, the Republican vice-presidential candidate chimed in from his native California, and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Mr. Truman's running mate, joined the presidential broadcast from Paducah, Ky.

The Democrats' election day strategy was keyed to the remote possibility of a 60,000,000 popular vote in which the labor strength of the heavily-populated industrial Northeast would weigh heavily.

But the political dopesters were forecasting a turnout of 47,000,000 to 50,000,000. They looked for Dewey to poll something like 24,000,000 votes and to run upwards of 3,000,000 ahead of Mr. Truman.

DTH Will Use Special Staff To Cover Voting

The Daily Tar Heel will have a full election staff working tonight to give the campus and town the most complete elections report possible in tomorrow morning's paper, Managing Editor Chuck Hauser announced yesterday.

Bill Buchan, who was managing editor during the summer, will be in charge of the special staff working tonight. Handling tabulations of local and county elections will be Roy Parker, Jr., while Night Editor Jack Brown will be in charge at the DTH night offices in Carrboro.

Handling the actual coverage of returns in Chapel Hill and Carrboro precincts will be Town Editor Herb Nachman. Working with Graham Memorial to post the latest national and state returns from the wires of United Press and county and local returns compiled by the DTH staff will be Campus Editor Sally Woodhull and Rita Adams.

Other staff members, including Lincoln Kan, Jim Dickinson, George Carter, Don Maynard, Ed Brown and others, will be serving in various capacities to aid fast, accurate compilation of returns.

Pledges

The Daily Tar Heel was not able to publish the list of fraternity pledges in today's paper due to space limitations.

The seven fraternities who did not turn their lists in last night are asked to do so today, and the names will be run in tomorrow's DTH.

Returns Available

The Daily Tar Heel offices will be closed to all visitors tonight from 6:30 until all election tabulations are in.

All persons desiring election results and information are urged not to call the Daily Tar Heel. DTH phones must be kept clear for incoming election returns from voting precincts in Orange county and for election information from staff members covering the election in town and elsewhere.

Anyone desiring results or other election news may call the Graham Memorial office, 9881, where the Daily Tar Heel will furnish office workers with the latest tabulations as they come from the wires of United Press. In the Graham Memorial lounge a blackboard with late returns will be set up.

Playmaker Original Begins Run Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 the Carolina Playmakers will present an experimental production of Robert G. Armstrong, Jr.'s, full length drama, "Egypt Lan'."

First full length play to be presented under the new Playmaker policy of emphasizing the longer form in dramatic writing, "Egypt Lan'" will be presented again tomorrow night in the Playmaker theater. It is under the direction of Professor Samuel Selden.

Leading roles in the production will be handled by Andrew Griffith as Mose Rivers, Betty Lokey as Sarah, Venitah Sanders as Esther, Barbara Edwards as Mamie Lou Johnson, Christine White as Irene Smith, and Sam Green as Isaiah Rivers.

Feature roles will be acted by Helen Dortch Harrison as Olgar, Easy Elkins as Jackson Latham, Bill Collins as Coal Oil Wilson, Sidney Shertzer as Mr. King, George Levine as Amos Smith, and Elizabeth Savage as Ruth Smith.

Other roles are to be portrayed by Reuben Marlowe, Bryan Smiser, Mac Shaw, Ethel Perry, Dot Underdown, Elizabeth Dawson, Lewis Sikes, Gordon Argo, Leonore Noll, Ruth Groce, W. P. Covington, III, Charles Norton, and Lloyd M. Tyndall.

Scenery for the production is by Lynn Gault, lighting is by Mark Sumner, and costumes are by Marty Jacobs. Make-up is being supervised by Sue Davis, and Don Draper is stage manager.

Voting Age Set For Phi Debate

Gov.-Nominee Kerr Scott's proposal to lower the voting age of North Carolinians to 18 will be discussed by the Philanthropic assembly tonight at 7:30 in New East building.

Phi officials said that the Phi would furnish an election chart with late returns all through the evening in New East. They said all students and other interested persons were invited to hear the debate on Scott's proposal and to keep account of election returns after the discussion.

Gates, Thomas Take Leads In Remodeled 'Mardi Gras'

Anita Gates and Bob Thomas, new-comers to the Carolina campus, hold the leading roles in Sound and Fury's newest musical comedy, "Mardi Gras," to be presented Thursday and Friday.

As the heroine and hero of "Mardi Gras," Anita plays the part of Meg de Tourleville, a struggling young artist of New Orleans, and Bob is cast as Beau St. Charles, originally a young Ohio farmer.

In the first act Beau is killed, but, because he lacks a lowly dime with which to pay Sharon for the ferry boat ride across the Styx, he is sent back to the world of the living to obtain said dime. Oddly enough, he finds himself in New Orleans at the time of the fabulous Mardi Gras Festival where he accidentally meets—and falls in love with—Meg.

Accompanied by Deus ex Machina, (George Grizzard) useful invention of the playwrights, Beau solicits the aid of Meg and Zenobia (Bunnie Davis), a fortune teller and one time vaudeville queen, in his search for a dime.

The hilarious situations brought about by his quest and Meg's attempt to thwart his success form the basic plot of "Mardi Gras," which draws from Greek mythology for some of its most amusing characters.

Fair Weather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—The weather bureau today predicted generally fair weather through the nation for tomorrow's election.

In a final revised forecast, it said that rain previously forecast for some areas will end during the morning or hold off until nightfall.

Rain is in prospect for the Ohio valley and the southern Great Lakes region. But rain in the upper and middle Mississippi valley should end during the morning.

Monogram Club Will Sponsor Sunday Air Show

An air circus, featuring nationally-known aerial artists, will be sponsored by the University Monogram club Sunday afternoon, President Bill Pritchard, announced yesterday.

The troupe will come to Chapel Hill directly from Washington, D. C. The University has granted permission to the club to use the institution's field for the show.

Scott Winds Up Campaign With Gerrard Speech Here

Candidate Asserts State Is 'Natural For Atomic Age'

By Gordon Huffines

Climaxing an 11-week campaign tour, Kerr Scott, Democratic candidate for the governor of North Carolina in today's elections, told students here last night that, "North Carolina is a natural for the atomic age."

Speaking in Gerrard hall, in his last address before the election, Scott called for an "all-weather rural road system. I am certain that the lack of good rural roads is the biggest bottleneck in North Carolina progress," he said.

"We are now in the middle of an atomic age without realizing it," the Democratic candidate said. Maintaining that the present national defense program called for the decentralization of industry, Scott asserted that North Carolina was an ideal state for the location of new industries.

"If new industries are to come into the state," he said "they must have the base from which they can draw labor broadened." The former agricultural commissioner asserted that better rural roads would enable industry to draw its labor supply from agricultural areas. "The people can live on farms and work in nearby factories." Scott asserted.

Advocationg a policy of agricultural and industrial development, the Democratic candidate

(See SCOTT, page 4)

W. KERR SCOTT, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, said in Gerrard hall last night that North Carolina was a 'natural for the atomic age.' Scott said that the atomic age calls for the decentralization of industry, and called for a better system of rural roads in the state to bring more industry here.

State Voters Remember '28, GOP Victory

(Special to Daily Tar Heel)

RALEIGH, Nov. 1.—North Carolinians remembered the Republican victory in 1928 as they prepared to go to the polls tomorrow to vote in an election that will give the answer to one of the most extensive Democratic-Republican state campaigns since Hoover and his ticket won here 20 years ago.

The polls will open at 6:30 this morning and close at 6:30 tonight in the state's 1,959 precincts. Democrats bolted away from Al Smith in 1928 to give the electoral vote to Herbert Hoover, but State Democrats were sure that the Republican would not be repeated.

Running on the state ballot are for senator, Democratic nominee J. Melville Broughton, Republican John A. Wilkinson and Progressive William T. Brown. For governor: Kerr Scott for the Democrats, George M. Pritchard for the Republicans, and Mary Price for the Progressives. In the lieutenant-governor's race, H. P. Taylor for the Democrats, Kyle Hayes, Republican, and Kenneth Harris, Progressive.

Thad Eure is running for reelection as secretary of state against James S. Dockery on the Republican ticket. Henry L. Bridges, Democrat, opposes M. V. Hickman, Republican, for State Auditor and Brandon P. Hodges is opposed by Ben L. Spence for State Treasurer.

With The Candidates

President Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 1.—(UP)—President Truman departed from the custom of non-partisan election eve statements tonight and appealed for a Democratic victory in tomorrow's voting in the interest of world peace and domestic prosperity.

The president made a bluntly partisan speech. The election eve statements by presidential candidates have by custom been general appeals to the people to vote.

"I believe that the Democratic party is the party of the people," Mr. Truman said. "I believe that through the Democratic party, all classes of our citizens will receive fairer treatment and more security."

Henry Wallace

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Henry A. Wallace wound up his third party campaign tonight, still stumping for votes but with a virtual admission he has no chance of election to the presidency.

In an election eve statement, Wallace said the two major parties will have a real fight ahead in 1950 and 1952.

Thomas E. Dewey

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight made an election eve apter the voting and work for a and asked Republicans and Democrats to "close ranks" afthe voting and work for a united America.

Speaking briefly during a one-hour Republican broadcast, the GOP presidential candidate called on Americans to show the world "beyond all ppssible distortion of the truth that human beings can be free in a nation that is united.

The foremost issue rising clear and high above all others is whether in this solemn hour, the United States of America is going to be a strong, united nation—a nation that can meet the challenge of a dangerous world," he told a nationwide audience.

J. Strom Thurmond

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States Rights Democratic presidential candidate, wound up his campaign tonight with a statement that he was sure Southerners would not vote for either Truman or Dewey.

Three Yack Photographers To Finish Pictures Friday

There will be three Yack photographers working all day this week, the last week for students to have their pictures taken for the 1949 Yack, Bill Duncan, Yack editor announced yesterday. "The lines are very short, and we guarantee rapid service," he said. With the three photographers working from 9 to 6 o'clock daily, it is estimated that 1,500 students will be accommodated this week.

The Chidnoff studios' photographers will definitely leave Saturday, closing out a two month's stay here at the University, posing approximately 5,000 students during that time.

The Yack photo final deadline for juniors, seniors and all Pharmacy students will be this Saturday, Duncan said. Hours on Saturday will be from 9 to 12 o'clock noon. To ease congestion, juniors are requested to come in today and seniors, Thursday. Pharmacy students may come in any day this week.

Freshmen and sophomores who have not had their pictures taken may come in this week, and students who have their white photographer's cards are urged to come in for their sitting as soon as possible, Bill Steele, Yack coordinator said.

Guard Well the Privilege

(This letter from a former University student now at the University of Michigan we believe of such significance that we are printing it in its entirety as an editorial.)

Editor:

During the two years which I spent at Carolina, representatives of at least four political parties (including the present Progressive and Socialist candidates for president) spoke from public platforms there. Two campaigning candidates for governor (all were invited) and one for United States senator spoke frankly as candidates. In addition, several current office holders spoke in a non-partisan position on the program of the Carolina Political Union, discussing both foreign and domestic issues of the day and defending or explaining their own positions thereon.

I personally attended a great many of these meetings, though I was never actively associated with any sponsoring organization. As a voting citizen I considered it a privilege as well as a real duty to hear these speakers. But I cannot ever recall having thought that it was anything more than my natural right.

I was well aware that Dr. Frank was under frequent bombardment from conservative elements within the state when such speakers as Miss Flynn of the Communist Party and Mr. Wallace of the Progressive Party appeared. I suppose I thought it a courageous stand for him to take against those forces which would bar free speech, but again I cannot recall having thought it anything more than his actual duty as the president of the university.

But I have had the light in which I view these matters considerably altered by more recent experience. Since June of 1948 I have been a student at the University of Michigan, which will undoubtedly be acknowledged by all as one of the great universities of the nation. I do not ever recall having heard it referred to as a great liberal institution (something we Carolina folks have a way of tossing around), but I cannot but say that I was profoundly shocked when I discovered that the freedom of political discussion in public assembly which I formerly took so for granted and even with apathy is here completely forbidden.

The situations are, so far as I can see, very similar. This is a state institution, supported by legislative appropriation. It has a Board of Regents which corresponds to Carolina's trustees. It has a president who is unquestionably a man of personal integrity. But somewhere in that legislature-regents-administration chain of command someone has chosen to forget the basic liberty to which any university is entitled. Being a newcomer to the campus, I dare not lay it at any point along that line. I cite the instance merely to make a point.

I am afraid that many of you at Carolina are as indifferent to your heritage of freedom as I was, and this letter is intended as nothing more than a warning against it. Apparently there was a time when this sort of attitude which eventually led to a ban of political speakers appearing on the Michigan campus was in formation, and at that crucial hour no representative student group came forward to declare their right to hear the issues discussed by the men who were going to legislate those issues into action. The result is that today there is no such right left on the Michigan campus, and its restoration will be a slow and painful process.

The point is clear: in a rising tide of reaction, it will be all too easy for those in positions of influence to overcome the people like me who enjoy the right to hear all we can but seldom get enthusiastic enough about the priviledge to press for its continuance.

In the post-election doldrums, with so many other issues crowding for our attention, it will be a tremendous temptation to relax our insistence on hearing all sides of the picture from the folks who know those sides. The democrat's extremity is the reactionary's opportunity. So long as Dr. Frank remains president of the university, I have no fear from that link of the chain. It is of students that I urge constant effort.

Be non-partisan if you can. Be partisan if you must. But don't be indifferent! Don't let the University of North Carolina share the fate of the University of Michigan.

Lee Copple
Ann Arbor, Mich.

today is election day

VOTE

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $3.00 per year, $2.00 per quarter.

Editor ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Betty Huston

Odds And Ends

ON CAMPUS:

WE'RE FROM DIXIE, TOO! And you really can tell these Carolina Dixielanders when you get out on the highway. Every other car for a 50-mile radius has the stars and bars waving from the front end and a UNC sticker on the back end.

STANDING THE TEST. It's always so refreshing to get back to your home town and find out what folks there are doing and talking about—and they're usually watching us like hawks, too. Fr'instance, it is mighty nice when somebody like June Fleenor spends her first few weeks here at Carolina and then goes home looking perky and pretty as usual. Kinda' makes everybody happy.

BACK TO NATURE. At least, that's the only place we can think of for a retreat. If you have many relatives and friends wanting tickets and places to stay for the Duke-Carolina week-end, you might as well start running now.

ON THE BALL. Doris Beasley coined the phrase of the week when she completely missed a volley ball and yelped, "Look, no hands!"

THE GYPSY IN HER. All Jane Gower needs is a pair of golden ear rings and a tamborine to make her look the part of the travel bug that she is. It's good to get away every now and then, but you know, there are folks who miss her on week-ends.

FEW AND FAR BETWEEN. You know, every now and then we come across people on this campus who go out of their way to be helpful; and when we do find them, we can't help saying something about it. So here goes. Even if Charlie Long is a Republican (sorry if we don't join the ranks of subtle columnists), we gotta' admit he has a heart under it all.

MATCH IN THE GAS TANK. If you want to see an expression of utter disgust, tried patience, and helplessness, just ask Charlie Burns if he wouldn't like to go on a picnic to Kings Mountain.

TOUGH, OLD MAN. Too bad that announcer of last Saturday's game didn't get to see Tennessee come out on top. Never have we heard such gleeful exclamations when one of Carolina's men fumbled—"He dropped the ball—he dropped it—heh, heh, yes, he dropped it!"

YES, SON, THAT'S PAPA. In years to come it's gonna' be mighty hard to convince Junior that his papa and mama really looked like those annual pictures. After looking at proofs like those of the Roper twins, we wonder if it can ever be done.

VERSITALITY PERSONIFIED. Edna Dooley may have you thinking that she's always the calm, cool, n' collected little lady she was in "I Remember Mamma," but she can also bubble over just like a five-year-old at three ring circus. Just watch her the next time she's getting ready to leave for a week-end and see what we mean.

TO EACH HIS OWN. We may go on rampages at times, but when folks do what we think is right, we mean to tell you so. Now, here's what we're driving at—Several weeks ago we lamblasted the campus Chesterfield representatives; but since that time they have been doing a marvelous job. Now, we wonder what ever became of the Philip Morris man. What with a mighty sweet lil' gal wearing his ring, last year's representative, J. C. Brown, has no time for the job.

Decorating the Iron Curtain

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

More Write Away

Liberals Hurt Themselves

Editor:

From time to time we are exposed to the writings of the so-called liberal students of our University. With different degrees of absurdity, they seem to have a calling to "save" or "deliver" the Negro people.

One of the more recent debacles was entitled "Liberation of the Negro." Think about that for one minute—one of our fellow students is going to liberate the Negro. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

I don't know the aims of these quasi liberals but I know their accomplishments are the direct antithesis to the things they profess to seek.

I have been told that one of Hitler's slogans was, "Divide and conquer." For Hitler's purpose it was very apt; whether or not it is their purpose, this group of so-called liberals is dividing and disuniting the South.

I don't claim to have a complete answer to the Negro question, but it is evident that the radical approaches advocated by these quasi liberals would cause strife among the white and Negro people.

The progress of the Negro will be made by the Negro. Let the Negro demonstrate by his living standards, intelligence, and conduct that he is the equal of any man. When he has done this, the entire world, including the South, will accept him, regardless of its effect, for truth is truth and must prevail; but when there is no proof we have a right—we have a duty—to consider the effect of an unsupported hypothesis.

No section of the country is more vitally interested in the progress of the Negro than the South; no section of the country has made more progress in finding a workable solution to the Negro problem. Naturally, Southerners are resentful when the North, aided by these quasi liberals, attempts to cram a civil rights program down their throats.

The world must be convinced by demonstration, not by propaganda and agitation. The present civil rights program is making enemies of the Negroes' friends. Anything that arouses hostility towards Negroes can not fail to bring about a corresponding curtailment of their civil, political, and economic advantages and interests.

D. Byron Barnes

Socialists Furnish Haven

Editor:

At the Di debate the other night, Al Lowenstein stated an absolutely ridiculous hypothesis, then proceeded to defend it with such cleverness and wit that the normally free enterprise-loving audience elected a Socialist, Norman Thomas, in the poll that followed. What was Mister Lowenstein's hypothesis? He, usually a good Republican, said the only way to protest against the bi-partisan foreign policy is to vote for Norman Thomas.

Now let me quote from the editorial of the Nov. 30 issue of Collier's. "So far as foreign policy is concerned there are no important differences between Democrats and Republicans. . . . There is not even any difference in the international field between Democrats and Republicans on one side and the Dixiecrats and Socialists on the other. The voters would have to elect Henry A. Wallace to get a real change in foreign policy."

In his speech on this campus, Norman Thomas praised the Marshall Plan, the very heart of the bi-partisan foreign policy which has as its purpose the destruction of socialism everywhere. Norman Thomas is not even a genuine socialist. If his brand of "socialism" were the slightest threat to the huge profits and expansionist aims of big-business, you can be sure it would not be so respectable to support him.

The Socialist party has a function, but serving as a protest against our imperialist foreign policy is not it. The real function of the Socialist party in this election is to furnish a haven of immaculate respectability for those liberals who cannot risk their self-esteem by associating with the business-owned Democratic, Republican, or Dixiecrat parties, yet do not have the fortitude to get into a real people's party, get a little red smeared on them, and fight to save America from fascism and war.

The only way to defeat the drive of the imperialists toward war and fascism is to vote Progressive.

John Myers

A Plug For Campus Party

Editor:

I should like to express herewith my observations about one of the three parties maintained here on the campus. The party of which I speak is the Campus party whose chairman is Jack Worsham.

My first encounter with the Campus party occurred down in the book exchange when I received a very useful book mark from one of their representatives. Afterwards, after a cordial invitation from some of the members, I attended several of their meetings and I was favorably impressed by the policy of the Campus party. This party is what you might call a "middle of the road group." They are neither rad- You may say a party is progressive and that it is an active organization, but I really know that this particular party is going places.

We have had some lively discussions about the different business that has been brought up. It is quite interesting to be in a party that is full of life and wants to work for the students as a whole. Incidently, the Campus party seems to be making one of the best showings on the campus. An impressive number have been attending the meetings, and among these were an unusually large number of freshmen. In my opinion student governmental or extremely conservative. ment can make great strides this year, and the Campus party is going to the front as the pacemaker.

I should like to earnestly request that all freshmen try to interest themselves in their student government. In a few days the nominations will be made down in freshman assembly of the candidates for the different parties. Freshmen, take a look and see who is running for office. Investigate the Campus party candidates and get to know the swell bunch of fellows which we will put up. They will be representing the party that is going places when the time for election rolls around. —Harris L. Evans, HL

Write Away

Proxying for Debs

Editor:

It's a strange state of affairs when the Socialist party advertises its candidate, Norman Thomas, as not being a "dangerous radical." Their spokesman, Jonathan Marshall, might profitably read the life of Eugene V. Debs, founder of the party and five times candidate for President.

Gene Debs, twice railroaded to jail, knew well that whoever seriously threatens the profits of monopolies is a "dangerous radical" for the newspapers they control; Debs took pride in the abuse they heaped upon him. He realized that one must choose between respectability and militancy on behalf of the underdog. He chose the latter, built the Socialist party, received 920,000 votes while in jail, and died the idol of the workers and an object of hate of the lords of industry.

"Uncle Thomas" prefers the praise of the master. When announcing his candidacy, he was congratulated by the same New York Times which had called Debs "an enemy of the human race." No wonder; didn't "Uncle Thomas," with but mild reservations, endorse the bipartisans abroad and the loyalty purge at home? He provides Wall Street's "loyal opposition"—opposition in words, support in deeds.

Old Gene Debs wouldn't take long to select his candidate for President. He would select the man who went on the picket lines in Detroit, addressed unsegregated audiences in the South, and is vilified by the monopoly press the way Debs was.

Though Wallace is not a Socialist, all who sincerely want socialism will back him. For only his program against war and fascism which menace our country can maintain the right of the American people to establish socialism whenever they choose.

Hans Freistadt

No Place to Park

Editor:

I'd like to stick in my two pesetas worth about the parking situation. I see by the papers they want to rope off two of the three remaining parking areas in the central campus area. Things are rough enough for the blue sticker boys as it is. I can find it in my heart not to begrudge the red sticker people the four exclusive parking lots they have already, but let's leave the rest of us a little space.

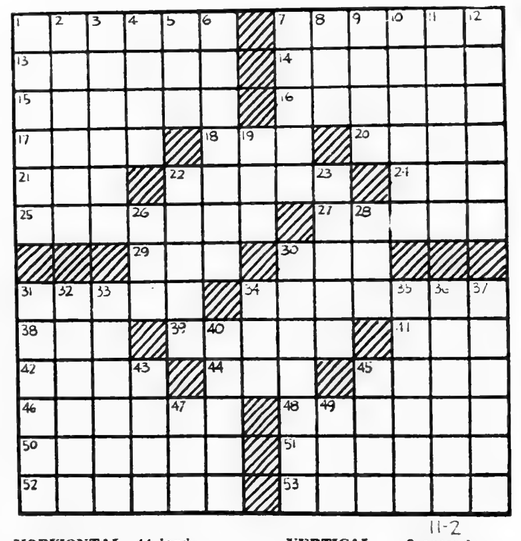
I brought my car up here to ride in, not to leave sitting around outside my billet while I walk several miles around the campus every day. I live on the outskirts of the so-called "convenient walking distance area," and I'd like to have some place to park my car when I show up for my first class every morning about 7:45. It's really very annoying to see lots of empty spaces and not be able to park in them.

It says in the paper that there were representatives of the student body, faculty, and administration present at the meeting at which this ban was recommended. I'll bet a cuppa coffee there wasn't anybody there who would have to walk over a couple of blocks if this ban were put into effect.

Ed Williams

Intended Omission

Editor:

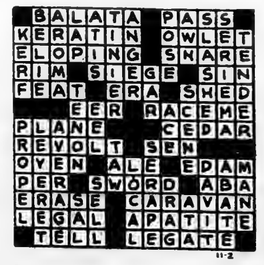


I'd like to call attention to an example of distortion by omission. Last Wednesday I read the following quotation from Bill Robertson's column in a letter by Charles H. Hubbell:

"It would be foolish for us to make the mistake of the liberals in Germany, who succumbed to. . . Adolf Hitler, only to find themselves together with the Communists in the same concentration camps."

The full sentence in Bill Robertson's column reads as follows: "It would be foolish for us to make the mistake of the liberals in Germany who succumbed to the demogogic red-baiting and race-baiting of Adolf Hitler, only to find themselves together with the Communists in the same concentration camps."

It can be seen from this that Mr. Hubbell's omission was not accidental.



Jimmy Wills

HORIZONTAL
1. contended
7. connected succession
13. fields of combat
14. beard
15. makes lively
16. fire-arm
17. Shoshonean Indians
18. slender finial
20. Charles Lamb's pen-name
21. high hill
22. positive pole
24. olden times (archaic)
25. pierced
27. stratagems
29. French article
30. bombycid moths
31. witchcraft
34. makes beloved
38. entire amount
39. humble
41. Hawaiian garland
42. mineral springs
44. land-measure
45. quote
46. ringworms
48. hags
50. surround with anything
51. outstanding ability
52. swayed drunkenly
53. mountain in California

VERTICAL
1. military greeting
2. a marine snail
3. return to
4. single units
5. advance guard
6. ancient Jewish ascetics
7. relishable
8. silkworm
9. ascend
10. agave fibers
11. lustrous satin fabric
12. dishes of greens
19. seed container
22. beetle-nut palm
23. eat away
26. Hebrew high priest
28. employ
30. minute invertebrate animals
31. subdue
32. relating to the Alps
33. quick look
34. auditory organ
35. straightens
36. that which is retained
37. afternoon rest
40. founded
43. close hermetically
45. African tree
47. ashes (Scot.)
49. college cheer

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Debs

ocialist party advertises g a "dangerous radical."
ght profitably read the party and five times

new well that whoever polies is a "dangerous
l: Debs took pride in realized that one must aney on behalf of the Socialist party, received dol of the workers and y.

the master. When anatulated by the same n enemy of the "human with but mild reserva-
d the loyalty purge at opposition"—opposition

select his candidate for went on the picket lines nees in the South, and Debs was.
ll who sincerely want ogram against war and maintain the right of whenever they choose.
Hans Freistadt

Park

orth about the parking to rope off two of the ral campus area. Things vs as it is. I can find it sticker people the four but let's leave the rest to leave sitting around ides around the campus

so-called "convenient ave some place to park ss every morning about of empty spaces and not representatives of the present at the meeting bet a cuppa coffee there to walk over a couple t.

Ed Williams

ission

e of distortion by omis-ing quotation from Bill
H. Hubbell:
e mistake of the liberals olf Hitler, only to find s in the same concentraolumn reads as follows:

mistake of the liberals nogogic red-baiting and nd themselves together ntration camps."
bbell's omission was not

Jimmy Wills

IICAL
ry ine to nuts ee
t h
s able ors zzle

GS
ET ARE SIN
HED
EME
DAR

DAM ABA
VAN
ITE
TE

minutes

9 ascend
10 agave fibers
11 lustrous satin fabric
12 dishes of greens
19 seed container
22 beetle-nut palm
25 eat away
26 Hebrew high priest
28 employ
30 minute invertebrate animals
31 supreme
32 relating to the Alps
33 quick look
34 auditory organ
35 straightens
36 that which is retained
37 afternoon rest
40 founded
43 close hermetically
45 African tree
47 ashes (Scot.)
49 college cheer

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

Six Tan Footballs

SIX TAN FOOTBALLS, which in their limited lifetimes have been kicked around, tossed about, and pounced upon with utter abandon, have now found a resting place with the local footballers of North Carolina. They represent six weeks of grid effort and signify by their number that the Tar Heels are well over the hump on the road to the kind of season you just don't talk about this time of year.

The hump just surpassed turned out to be bigger than it had looked in the distance as the Tar Heels found that talent plus incentive can become almost a match for talent plus period. For the lads from Tennessee, whether playing from the mind, the heart, or the hills, turned on a show of defensive prowess that left the Carolina squad wondering if the Vols weren't taking the whole thing a little too seriously.

In the final outcome, the Tar Heels passed their regular Saturday afternoon test, but not until they had overcome a few things they hadn't had in class thus far this year. General Bob Neyland tossed what could have been a heart- breaking curve Vol defense at the Tar Heels which made ground travel extremely perilous even with an armed guard along.

The defense, like most blondes, looked like all the rest at the start, but upon close examination it could be found that among other things, the Tennessee strong side line backer played outside his own end and on and off the line of scrimmage. This gave the home town almost a seven man line and made the wide game and the end around of the Tar Heels far too unsuccessful. The other backer positioned himself within whispering distance of the Vol guards and definitely limited pleasure jaunts up the middle.

To the Airways

THE RUNNING PLAYS that should have gone against this setup, safe to say, didn't, and the Tar Heels were forced in the course of the time to butter their bread in a different manner. So having come the first 350 miles against the Vols by the air route, the Tar Heels figured that wouldn't be a bad way to traverse the last three and 12 yards respectively. They calculated the whole thing rather well, as both flights landed safely in Carolina hands for two Carolina touchdowns.

This all happened in the first part of the ball game and after that the Tar Heels, not to be greedy, sat back to give the other fellows a chance with the ball. For some people's money they gave them a little too much of one.

The Vols scored two touchdowns of their own, but the scoreboard, which knows all, tells all, and usually determines the final winner, doesn't at last glance, carry but one. The other, a punt return with the stimulation value of a double high ball, was 90-yard effort that rolled on and then off the pages of history when Shield-Watkins field turned into a high class clip joint in the second quarter.

Safety in Numbers

IT SEEMS, according to one official and a couple of lensy newspaper cameras that a certain Tar Heel named Hosea Rodgers happened to be rolled in the process of the play in a manner not considered gentlemanly by the book of ethics and legal by the book of rules. It was actually the first time this season that the Tar Heels in part or as a whole have been brought to their knees by anyone.

The recall of the daring dash by one of the striped gentleman brought the greatest cauldron of boos from the stands heard since the Bronx has been founded. Though you couldn't do it to them, the officials did and the crowd roared greater disapproval. If the Tennessee offense had been as good as their offensive enunciation, the Tar Heels might possess one less pigskin at this moment. There were words used Saturday the definitions of which the younger of us had to have explained.

The Volgar home towners had previously registered their chagrin at young Charlie Justice, who wisely fair caught several Tennessee punts in the early part of the ball game. As for the rest of the Tar Heels, there wasn't one on the field the faithful Vol following didn't say boo to. Each time an official hankerchief or an injured Tar Heel went down, the chorus went up. They wanted blood and in the end got a little of their own for their efforts.

Pity the poor Tennessee fan who removed his hanky to relieve nasal congestion and got booed out of the ball park. It looked as if Southern hospitality had gone out for a sandwich with the Democratic party.

If You Must Cry

IF ONE FEELS the urge to cry, why not sob for the poor Tar Heels. The pictures will show and the officials even ruled at one time that the Tar Heels scored an additional two points on an intercepted pass play. Seems one Vol had the audacity to intercept a Charlie Justice pass intended for Bill Flamisch. He was going away from the Tennessee one-yard line towards his own end zone at the time and got bodily escorted to the earth behind the goal line by the Tar Heel on the scene.

It was obvious to all interested partisans except the referee that Vol back propelled himself in two point territory and therefore awarded the Tar Heels a safety according to the rules. The official at first ruled two points for the visitors until the brass arrived from up the field and changed all minds with a stroke of the palm. He awarded the ball to Tennessee under their goal posts while being awarded a different honor by the Tar Heels under their breaths.

From the sound of things back here at the homestead, the Tennessee announcers who leaned as far toward the Vols as gravity allowed, didn't relate a few more things: Such as the time Art Weiner was taken out of one pass play on a four-point block right in front of "How To Play Football." Or when Charlie Justice fell in the open after taking a Rodgers pass a little off the old stride. Or how close Weiner came to bringing to Mama a Justice aerial that was batted in his general direction by two helpful Tennesseans.

There are two sides to every story, my friends, and two sides to every scoreboard, too.

Tar Heels Still Third In AP Ratings

Jenrette Leads

For the second time this season, sports editor Billy Carmichael III came through the weekly grid wars with the greatest percentage of correct predictions in last Saturday's prognastication contest. Carmichael's prowess enabled him to jump from fourth to third on the season.

Dick Jenrette, associate sports editor and current leader in the season's totals, came in second in the week's pickings by correctly tabbing fifteen of the twenty winners.

Last week's winner, Jake Wade, director of the athletic publicity office, came in third in the week's sports emporium and publisher Orville Campbell again trailed the pack with 13-7.

The standings for the year to date are:

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB
Dick Jenrette	90	24	.789
Jake Wade	86	28	.754	4
Billy Carmichael	83	31	.728	7
Jeff	82	32	.711	8
O. Campbell	78	36	.683	12

Snavely Attacks Tennessee Crowd For Game Booing

Coach Carl Snavely, obviously chagrined over the booing tactics of the Knoxville fans at the Tennessee-Carolina game this weekend, struck back at the fans, declaring the crowds were guilty of "bad manners and poor sportsmanship."

Snavely's comments were inspired by the actions of some of the fans who left their seats at halftime to argue with the officials who had called a clipping penalty to nullify a 90-yard touchdown sprint by the Vols' Hal Littleford.

"Sports writers and football fans from other sections of the country who attend games down South go home frequently with poor opinions of the fans and therefore occasionally of the teams," the Tar Heel mentor added.

"I have no objection to fans wanting to see us beat," he explained. "But regardless of where the booing occurs, it is going to bring criticism and discredit on Southern football."

A photo taken by one Knoxville photographer later proved the officials correct in ruling a clipping penalty on Littleford's run.

A crowd of some 50,000 fans watched the game in Tennessee's Shields-Watkins stadium.

TENNIS RESULTS

Novice Division

George Dawson advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Gene Turner; Paul Keenan defeated Haroutunian to advance to the semi-finals. Bowman and Moore have advanced to the finals and will play the winner of Mackie-Henson vs Dameron-McAdams.

Notre Dame Tops For Third Week; Wolverines 2nd

The Associated Press, in its weekly polling of the nation's sports writers has again picked the unbeaten Tar Heels as the number three grid team in the nation. The Tar Heels were forced to travel behind Notre Dame and Michigan, who are again this year waging all-out war for the top position.

Coach Carl Snavely's charges turned up with 1,458 votes while the Irish of Notre Dame sported 1,762 ballots to 1,759 for the Wolverines. Army took the fourth spot again with 1,249 votes while California rounded out the top five with 1,132.

Although barely winning a toughie from the fighting Volunteers of Tennessee, the locals managed to retain their third place position on the strength of the large Southern block of votes which has been going their way all year.

A decrease was noted, however, in the number of first place ballots. Last week, 46 of the nation's sportswriters placed the Tar Heels at the top of the heap. This time, only 36 of them thought that the locals were deserving of the number one spot.

While Notre Dame was able to compile a larger portion of the total votes, the Wolverines captured a greater number of first place nominations. The tabulation gave Michigan a 68-56 edge. This is much the same case as in the third poll when Carolina had more first place votes, but Notre Dame had more of the important second and third place votes.

Army had only seven first place ballots, but showed an increase in the total after walloping Virginia Tech.

Dick Mayer Leads North-South Golf

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 1.—(UP) — Dick Mayer, a young Greenwich, Conn., amateur, led a field of some 54 qualifiers in the 46th annual North and South Open Golf championship tournament here today as he steamed around the rugged 6,952-yard Pinehurst Country club with a five-under-par 67.

Mayer, last year's New York state champion, was rifling his shots along the fairways all day, and rang up four birdies on the first eight holes.

Charles T. Bassler of Catonsville, Md., was low pro among the qualifiers, turning in a 33-35—68. He and Mayer were in the same threesome, and Bassler might have tied the young amateur's score until he hit trouble on the long par-five 16th. His second shot was hole-high, but buried itself in the trap and he bogeyed with a six.

Mayer, who plays at the Winged Foot club, Westchester, N.Y., birdied the first, third, sixth and

(See GOLFERS page 4)

Grid Team Gets Day of Rest; Have Movies, Lecture Period

A battered but victorious Tar Heel grid team was given the day off yesterday before beginning drills for this week end's battle with the Southern conference defending champs, William and Mary. Coach Carl Snavely kept the boys inside for a lecture and a movie of last year's Carolina-Indian game, which Carolina won, 13-7.

The now regular list of injured remained unaltered with the exception of a few minor injuries sustained in the Tennessee clash. Tackle Ted Hazelwood, recent victim of his own shooting, reportedly will play in the William and Mary contest.

The Indians took it easy last week and were very unimpressive in handing the Richmond university Spiders a 14-6 Southern conference setback and should be in top shape for the Tar Heels. The Williamsburg tribe will definitely be out to revenge their only 1947 loss.

Coach Rube McCray will bring his Indians into town with two outstanding linemen and several backfield standouts. Center Tommy Thompson and tackle Red Caughron anchor a stalwart forward wall. Fullback Jack (Flying) Cloud, tailbacks Tommy Korczowski and Buddy Lex and wingback Henry Blanc are the top backs in McCray's single-wing attack.

Carolina will also have reason to look for revenge down in the local gridiron arena this Saturday. Although the Tar Heels downed the Tribe, 13-7 in the Virginia institution's own backyard, the Tribe nevertheless won the S. C. crown by compiling a record of six wins and one loss to Carolina's four wins and a single loss. — ALLSTON and ROBBINS.

Loop Standings

Team	W.	L.	T.	PF.	OP
North Carolina	2	0	0	42	6
Clemson	2	0	0	19	7
Duke	2	0	1	20	12
William and Mary	4	1	0	101	33
Maryland	3	1	0	106	13
Wake Forest	3	1	0	88	66
VMI	2	1	0	68	43
South Carolina	1	1	0	14	13
Furman	2	2	0	19	21
N. C. State	1	3	1	53	54
Richmond	1	5	0	13	42
Davidson	1	3	0	26	93
George Washington	1	3	0	32	100
W & L	0	1	0	7	10
Citadel	0	2	0	6	23
VPI	0	4	0	0	78

Johnston Injures Knee in W&L Tilt, Benched for Week

In possession of a three-game winning streak fashioned out of a trio of shutouts, Carolina's booters settled down after returning from their Virginia trip to prepare for Thursday's encounter with undefeated Duke here in Chapel Hill.

The only dark spot on the excursion, which netted the Tar Heels two victories, was the injury of center half Gus Johnston. Johnston turned the same knee he hurt against Virginia last week and it is doubtful if he will be able to play this week.

Otherwise it was all sunshine and light for the Allenmen, who padded their record with wins over Roanoke and Washington and Lee to the tune of 3-0 and 2-0, respectively. The Tar Heels now own a 4-1-1 slate for the season.

Second - string goalie, Dave Sobel played the entire Roanoke game and was credited with one of the shutouts. Al Williams was in the nets against the Generals.

The entire eleven looked very good against the strong W&L aggregation and Coach Marvin Allen had special praise for the play of co-captains Jesse Greenbaum and Frank Nelson. In addition, he said, "the forward line played its best game of the campaign."

"Speed and ability to head the ball" were also credited by the mentor as contributing to the Carolina success against the Generals, who fielded a surprisingly strong outfit.

Although he missed the Roanoke encounter, center half Dave Boak held on to the lead in the scoring race by registering his fourth goal of the campaign against the Generals. The lanky center is one ahead of Dave Ferebee, who has notched three. Ferebee has tallied in each of the last three games for his total and so probably ranks as the "hottest" man on the squad. Tommy Jordan, Joe Bach and Pete Hexner have each counted twice, while John Langley has accounted for one score.

Mural Schedule

FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1, BVP vs Whitehead; 2, Grads vs QH 9; 3, Lewis vs Fireballs; 4, Old East vs Ruffin; 5, Stanley Steamers vs A Dorm; 6, Steele vs Wesley Rocks; 7, Mangum vs Town.

5:00—Field 1, AROTC 2 vs Med School 2; 2, Graham Dwellers vs Emerson; 3, C Dorm vs Nash; 4, Hut Dwellers vs Manly; 5, Mud Dobbers vs QH 356; 6, Termites vs Aycock; 7, Alexander vs Miller.

TENNIS

2:30—Court 1, Jim Winstead vs J. S. Swift.

4:00—Court 1, George Dawson vs winner (Frank Bowman vs Jim Carson); 2, P. Keenan vs winner (Jim Winstead vs J. S. Swift); 3, L. Dameron-D. McAdams vs Makie-Henson.

Frat Contests Dominate Mural Football Action

Fraternity games completely dominated Intramural football play yesterday afternoon, with the Greek lettermen taking part in all contests in order to make up for time lost during rush week.

The powerful Zeta Psi 2 gridders, led by Collier Cobb, who scored two touchdowns, Heath Alexander, and Jim Ballou, remained undefeated in six starts by romping to a 32-0 win over Phi Delta Chi. Dyke Peeples' two six pointers gave the unbeaten SAE 1 aggregation a 12-6 decision over the hapless Sigma Nu 1 outfit, which suffered its fifth straight loss.

Paced by Harry Watkins, who carried the pigskin into paydirt four times, the Phi Delta 1 eleven preserved its unblemished record with a 40-0 whitewashing of St. Anthony. The Kappa Sig's fifth straight victory was a close one, with Hollingsworth's last half TD and Caudle's extra point giving them a 7-6 win over a fighting KA 3 team.

Chi Psi blanked the Sig Eps, 14-0, while a terrific second half rally led by Langley, Dunbar, and Wright gave Sigma Chi a 20-12 victory over a Phi Kappa Sig club that was ahead 12-0 at intermission. ATO 2 outlasted Phi Gam 2, 7-6, in an overtime tilt, and DKE 2 stopped Pi Lambda Phi, 6-0, behind Meade's TD. PiKA trounced Chi Phi 2, 26-0, while Bill Belle's last half score was all the ATO 1 gridsters needed for a 6-0 decision over PiKA 2.

KA received a 20-7 thrashing at the hands of SAE 2, and Chi Phi 1 edged Lambda Chi 2, 7-0. Zeta 2 and Beta 2 were each charged with a loss in a double forfeit.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, SAE 2 vs Sigma Nu 3; 2, ATO 2 vs Zeta Psi 2; 3, Phi Gam 2 vs Sigma Chi 2; 4, Beta 2 vs Chi Phi 1.

5:00—Court 1, Chi Psi 1 vs Kappa Sig 3; 2, Phi Gam 3 vs TEP 2; 3, DKE 2 vs Delta Sig Pi 1; 4, KA 2 vs Zeta 3.

HUNT STROMBERG presents
GEORGE SANDERS
LUCILLE BALL
CHARLES COBURN
BORIS KARLOFF
PERSONAL COLUMN
SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE - JOSEPH CALLEIA
ALAN MOWBRAY - GEORGE ZUCCO
—Also—
LATEST NEWS
Today
VILLAGE

Chapel Hill
Baby Contest

Let us GIVE you a portrait of your Baby.

How
Purchase five dollars worth of any type merchandise in our store.

Who
All children between the ages of six months and six years.

When
Starting immediately.

So
Just ask us for a contest blank and information. Appointments will be made by mail.

Check Your Needs
- Vitamin Supplements
- Milks
- Baby Oils, Powders
- Formula Pitchers
- Baby Scales
- Indoor Toys
- Stork Gifts
- Prescriptions
- Bottles and Nipples
- Thermometers

VILLAGE PHARMACY
Phone 5336
Opposite Bus Station

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

GOLDEN PRODUCTIONS Presents
GUY MADISON
DIANA LYNN
in
"TEXAS, BROOKLYN and HEAVEN"
with
JAMES DUNN
MICHAEL CHEKHOV FLORENCE BATES
LIONEL STANDER
—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
Today Only
CAROLINA

THE BUCCANEER
CLUB LUNCHEONS — 75c 60c 50c
Chef's Special
Hamburger Steak
French Fried Potatoes
Green Salad Coffee
SERVED DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY
12 Noon - 3 P.M.
Airport Road -:- -:- -:- Chapel Hill

Homecoming DANCE Homecoming
With Music By HARRY In Person
JAMES
AND HIS FAMOUS MUSIC MAKERS
—Featuring—
HIS FAMOUS STARS OF SCREEN, RADIO AND STAGE
Marion MORGAN • Vinni DeCAMPO • Willy SMITH
RALEIGH MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
SATURDAY NIGHT NOV. 6
Advance Sale—$2.50

Handsome All Wool SLACKS in Gabardines and Flannels
Smart Styling and Tailoring Are Featured in this Wide Selection
Sizes 28 to 44
Tan—Blue—Green
Gray—Brown
12.95 up

JACK LIPMAN'S

Over Andrews-Hennigher
The
YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

For Peace, Freedom, Abundance Vote
PROGRESSIVE X
President
Henry A. Wallace
Vice-President
Glen H. Taylor
U. S. Senator
W. T. Brown
Governor
Mary Price
Lt. Governor
Kenneth Harris
Attorney-General
C. O. Pearson
Commissioner of Agriculture
John W. Stubbs
Congressman
M. H. Ross
Legislature
Doris Friedland

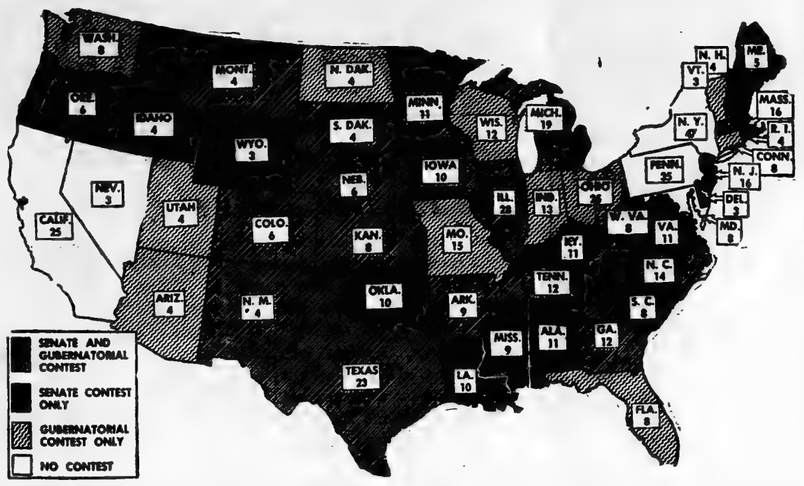
Dr. Guy Johnson To Speak Tonight On Civil Rights

Dr. Guy Johnson, professor of sociology and anthropology, will speak on "Civil Rights" tonight at 7:30 at the weekly YWCA Coffee Klatsch.

Dr. Johnson completed his undergraduate work at Baylor university, his master's degree at the University of Chicago, and his doctor's degree at Chapel Hill.

From 1944 to 1947, Dr. Johnson was a director of the Southern Regional council, an organization devoted to the improvement of relations between racial groups, particularly in the South.

Everyone is invited to attend this informal meeting, and participate in the discussion period.



The first Democratic newspaper appeared in 1808.

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's
Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

New Luxurious Cashmere Sweaters $16.95
All Wool Grey Flannel Pants ..... $ 7.95
Genuine Shell Cordovan Shoes $15.95
Double Breasted Tuxedos $44.95
Corduroy Sport Coats $17.50
Grey and Dark Blue Flannel Suits $42.50
Puritan "Natch" Coat Sweaters ..... $ 9.50
White Basketweave Shirts ..... $ 3.95
Tailor-Made Suits — 2½ Weeks Delivery
For Your Convenience—
Open until 8:00 P.M.
Milton's Clothing Cupboard
Located Across from Graham Memorial
NEXT TO THE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
(The Big White House with the Big Values)

"A French 'MR. CHIPS' . . . Excellent singing in almost Sistine style by superb child actors who sing like angels . . . Very much worth your while!"—THE NEW YORKER
A Cage of NIGHTINGALES
The Distinguished French Comedy
Staring France's Beloved Comic Artist
NOEL-NOEL
VILLAGE THEATRE
WEDNESDAY

THIS YEAR'S NATIONAL ELECTIONS, according to observers, will most likely change the entire political complexion of the United States, with many hot contests raging for senate seats and governorships. The above map shows where the voters will choose new congressmen and state chief executives. Numerals indicate the number of electoral votes to which each state is entitled in the presidential election. (Central Press)

LeGette Blythe To Discuss New Book At Bull's Head Bookshop Tomorrow

LeGette Blythe, author of "Bold Galilean," will be the speaker at the Bull's Head Bookshop November tea which will be conducted in the library staff room tomorrow at four o'clock.

The author, an alumnus of the University and classmate of Paul Green, well-known author and playwright, will speak on his novel of the time of Christ. Recently published by the University Press, "Bold Galilean" has been chosen as a spring, 1949, selection of the People's Book club and a minimum of 125,000 copies will be sent by the club to its members after March 15, 1949.

Dr. Reece Berryhill, dean of the University Medical school and classmate of Blythe, will introduce the speaker.

Blythe has also authored "Shout Freedom," two other books, and for the past 20 years has been with the Charlotte Observer.

University students are especially invited to hear Blythe speak at the second in the series of teas at the bookshop.

Ex-Beauty Queen May Wed Nobleman

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Peggy Maley, whose name was linked romantically tonight with Marquess of Milford-Haven, is the daughter of an Atlantic City policeman.

The father, James, was noncommittal about the possibilities of becoming father-in-law to an important English nobleman.

"I don't care what my daughter does as long as she's happy," said Maley, champion pistol shot of the police department.

—Golfers—

(Continued from page 3)

eighth holes going out to turn in a four-under-par 32 on the first nine. Coming home, he kept it up to birdie the long 10th, the 12th and the awesome 16th.

Mayer's aim went off on the 11th for a boey, and a bad tee shot hit a bunker on the 17th to bring him in with a 35 for the rest of his top score.

—Scott—

(Continued from page 1)

said that good roads would improve the state school transportation system, cutting down children's diseases resulting from exposure while waiting for school busses.

Discussing his political campaign, Scott said that he had made over 500 speeches and traveled more than 50,000 miles.

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
Plenty of Free Parking

Check Late?

All veterans, including public law 16 and public law 346, should receive subsistence checks by today, veterans advisor C. F. Shepherd announced.

If any veteran does not receive a check by Nov. 10, he should contact the veterans advisors office and have a tracer put on his check, Shepherd said. However, checks are not considered late until Nov. 10 and a tracer will not be put on them before that time.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Today

4:00—WINSTON-SALEM-CAROLINA CLUB, will discuss plans for Thanksgiving dance, Gerrard hall.
5:00—WILMINGTON-CAROLINA CLUB, Gerrard hall.
5:30—JUNIOR DEADLINE for Yack pictures.
6:30—DELTA PHI ALPHA will hold first meeting of year to discuss coming plans, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
6:30—FRENCH CLUB members meet for supper, Carolina Inn lobby.
7:00—CAMPUS PARTY, 103 Bingham hall.
7:30—UNDERGRADUATES PHYSICS CLUB will hold initial meeting to map plans for coming year. All undergraduate physics majors invited. 212 Phillips.
7:30—LE CERCLE FRANCAIS, election of officers. Caldwell "Y".
7:30—PI MU EPSILON math fraternity, 323 Phillips hall.
7:30—INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB discussion, Grail Room, GM.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY, Phi hall, New East.
8:00—WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CLUB, Horace Williams lounge, GM.
9:15—IREDELL-CAROLINA CLUB, 101 New West.

Tomorrow

3:00—RULES COMMITTEE of the University party, Graham Memorial.
4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY steering committee, Horace Williams lounge, GM.

Carolina Attendance Rises in Home Games

Old Gus Fan, football's faithful follower, is showing his deep appreciation of collegiate football by turning out in greater numbers than ever before to witness the weekly struggles of the nation's gridiron powers.

As this 1948 pigskin season passes its midway mark, Gus and his kind have clicked the turnstiles over 100,000 more times than they did at this same time last year and practically every higher institution in the nation is proud to report that the attendance is rising continually in response to the pleasing brand of football that is being played every Saturday.

Every section of the country, except the Pacific coast, is enjoying this increase of fans with the Midwest, the 1947 leader, again first in attendance followed by the South and the East.

Ohio State, although supporting a mediocre eleven, can boast the highest total attendance and average with a five game percentage of over 61,000 enthusiasts per contest. In Dixieland, Tulane has played before 151,000 in four clashes to set the pace in totals but the Green Wave gives way to the Tar Heels of North Carolina in game average. Although second in the South in total attendance, rabid Carolina partisans have packed Kenan Stadium in three home games to award the Tar Heels the leading Southern average of 43,000 per tussle.

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

GENERAL CARPENTER AND REpair work. Phone 9472, P. O. Box 814. (1-C8022-1)

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR SINGLE PERSON. PRIvate entrance. 504 North Street. Phone 5201. (1-8027-1)

HALF OF A ROOM TO BE SHARED with a student; has a private entrance and adjoining bath. 125 North St. Phone 4506. (1-C8023-1)

FOR SALE 6B

ALL METAL VAGABOND HOUSE trailer with large enclosed porch. See it at lot 85, Pittsboro Road. (4-8015-1)

APPROXIMATELY 20,000 BEAUTIFUL hand made colonial tapestry brick was purchased for the finest building in the South! Apply at J. A. Jones construction company, Morehead Building, Chapel Hill. Phone 8361. (ch 1x1)

FULL DRESS SUIT FOR FORMAL wear (tails) size 38-39 long. Midnight blue. In good condition. See D. Evans 306 Grimes. (4-9013-1)

FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Road. Asbestos shingled, Coleman floor furnace, table top water heater & hardwood floors. Picture window. Call 8756. (4-8020-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1936 PLYMOUTH COUPE WITH RUMble seat. Reconditioned engine, new parts. A bargain at $350. See Sam Langell at 212 Lewis (4-8026-1)

1937 HARLEY-DAVISON MODEL 74 good running condition. See C. N. Capin, 113 Aycock. (2-8025-1)

LOST 12

I. D. BRACELET BEARING NAME Bob Allen — Please contact same at 108 Everett. Thanks. (3-8013-1)

SET OF BOOKS—LEFT IN CAR THAT was Wilmington bound on Finder please call Jim Evans at 5661 or contact same through Davie Hall. (3-8022-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

WANTED 2 DUKE-N.C. TICKETS. Old West. (2-8024-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnight, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Short and to the point

The shorter-point Van Preen with "Comfort Contour" collar
Perk up your shirt wardrobe with Van Preen, a beauty of a shorter-point, fused collar—one of Van Heusen's campus-chosen collar classics. See it—wear it, on Van Heusen shirts famous for their fine, lab-tested, Sanforized fabrics . . . a new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size! $3.50, $3.95, $4.95.
You'll find college men's collar favorites in Van Heusen
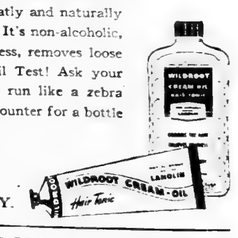
the world's smartest
shirts
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., N. Y. 1, N.Y.
"VAN HEUSEN" IS A TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

NURSERY PICTURES
By Ars Sacra
The BABY SHOP
Under Ledbetter-Pickard

Fine Watches Need Excellent Care . . .
A Complete Watch Repair Service at—
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE



The
COLONIAL INN
Hillsboro, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
West Franklin Street

BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
"Bold Galilean"
By LeGette Blythe
(Appearing here Wednesday)
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

Why Not Drop In for a
MARDI GRAS Ice Cream
SPECIAL ALL THIS WEEK
at the
CAROLINA PHARMACY

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

IT'S EASY to laugh at someone else's wild untamed hair. But when it's your own, it's a horse of a different color. So why go through life with three stripes against you? A little Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic grooms your hair neatly and naturally without that greasy, plastered down look. It's non-alcoholic, contains Lanolin. Relieves annoying dryness, removes loose dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test! Ask your barber for professional applications. And run like a zebra down to your nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube, today! Your hair will look and feel better than it ever veldt!
* of 327 Burroughs Drive, Snyder, N. Y.
Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil
Get it at
SUTTON'S
DRUG STORE
Your Walgreen Agency

Let's Get a Pitcher of GOOD Draft — at HARRY'S

NOVEMBER 2, 1948

SERY PICTURES
By Ars Sacra
BABY SHOP
Ledbetter-Pickard

Fine Watches Need Excellent Care . . .
plete Watch Repair Service at—
CKWOOD
OCIATE STORE

The LONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

RADIO
EPAIRS
Hour Service
GBURN
rniture Co.
Phone 5841
ST FRANKLIN STREET

D BOOKSHOP
Galilean"
TE BLYTHE
re Wednesday)
BUY • RENT

or a Cream
WEEK
ARMACY

ildroot Cream-Oil
nger-Nail Test

ed hair. But ler. So why
tle Wildroot rd naturally
on all kinds.
t! Ask your like a zebra for a bottle

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS
To Those Who Lost
The Eternal Ten Per Cent
Where Credit Is Due

The Daily Tar Heel

★★★★★★★
Election Final

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 35

Truman Leads Dewey In Early Returns

Democrats Take Lead Locally For State And County Posts

Late Orange county election returns from Carrboro and Chapel Hill precincts showed a decisive lead for Democratic candidates for the offices of county commissioner and State house and senate.

In Carrboro and Chapel Hill south precinct on the township ballot Sparrow (Rep.) was leading Frank Maddry (Dem.) by 417 votes to 281, while in seven county precincts President Truman held a lead over Gov. Dewey of 1056 votes to 1056. Henry Wallace had 141 and Gov. Thurmond had polled 183 votes.

In the State senate race Webb (Dem.) had taken the lead over Crawford (Rep.), 1173 votes to 3[illegible].

For the State house John W. Umstead held an overwhelming lead over his Republican party and Progressive party rivals. Umstead had 1162 votes to 394 for Weaver (Rep.). Doris Friedland, the Progressive party candidate, trailed with 70 votes.

In the race for county commissioners three Democratic candidates had polled votes 3 to 1 over the Republican candidates.

Democrats Cobb, Wilson, and Lewis had 1186, 1156, and 1146 votes respectively, while Republic Candidates McBane, Hunt, and Pendergraft showed votes of 370, 358, and 357, respectively.

All election returns above except the presidential race include only the Carrboro and Chapel Hill south precinct tabulations. The presidential returns includes Carrboro and Chapel Hill noth and south precincts plus four other precincts.

Thurmond Takes Three States As Truman Leads in Dixie

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 2—(UP)—The States' Rights party took at least three states away from the Democrats today. But Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was running behind in his bid to make the break-up of the solid South a three-way division.

President Truman led in six deep-south states.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, standard bearer of the States' Righters who broke with the Democrats over civil rights, held prohibitive leads in his own state. Alabama and Mississippi. The issue was still between him and President Truman in a fourth state where the States Righters are strong—Louisiana.

Governor Dewey had expected to give the Republicans their first major inroads in the South since 1928, with Tennessee, Florida and Virginia the states he had the best chance.

The Democrats' margin in Tennessee extended to the senatorial race, one of the eight crucial ones on which hinge the control of the next senate, and the governorship contest. Rep. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., was almost 40,000 votes ahead of former GOP National Chairman in the senate race and Gordon Browning led hillbilly Roy Acuff, Republican hopeful for Governor, by about the same amount.

The early returns gave Mr. Truman the lead in Georgia, Arkansas, Florida, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Louisiana. Thurmond led in Alabama, Mississippi and his home state, South Carolina.

Concerts Here Will Have Same Rules As Dances

The conduct of all dances in the University is completely under control of the University Dance committee. George Kenyon, chairman of the committee, reminded students that concerts are also under the jurisdiction of the committee and will be governed, insofar as applicable, by the same rules that govern dances.

No cups of beverages of any kind will be permitted in Memorial hall during a concert, and no pass-out checks will be given at any time at a dance or concert at this University, he said.

The Dance committee and the Order of the Grail published a booklet entitled, "So You're Coming to a Carolina Dance," for the benefit of any student asking an import up for a dance. The booklet explains to the girl some of the Carolina traditions connected with dances, such as no flowers, and conduct at the dances. Students may obtain the booklet at the "Y" building.

The following rules govern conduct on the dance floor:

1. Any girl desiring to leave the dance hall during any evening dance with the intention of returning must be accompanied by a chaperone during her entire stay from the dance.

2. Anyone showing signs of drinking or other misconduct shall be dealt with according to the discretion of the University Dance committee.

3. Anyone giving wrong name is automatically suspended indefinitely.

4. Anyone bringing intoxicating beverages on the dance floor is automatically suspended indefinitely.

5. Any organization giving a dance outside of Chapel Hill will be subject to the jurisdiction of the Dance committee and must provide transportation for the doormen and invited dance committeemen.

6. No smoking whatsoever and no refreshments of any kind will be allowed on the dance floor at Woollen gymnasium or the Women's gymnasium.

New Production Of 'Mardi Gras' Opens Tomorrow

All of the gaity and frivolity of the colorful New Orleans festival has been captured in Pete Strader's newest musical comedy "Mardi Gras." Voodoo, music, dancing, romance and comedy have been combined under his guiding hand in an entirely new production of his summer show.

The official opening begins tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 with a gala parade. The first performance will be given tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Tickets are now on sale at the Y.

Using the same basic plot of the efforts of the dead young Beau St. Charles to procure the fare demanded by Charon for the ferry ride over the river Styx, Strader has retained only the summer title, names of leading characters, and the best of the songs.

Cast in the leading roles of the struggling young artist Meg is Anita Gates and as the hero Beau is Bob Thomas, both newcomers on the campus. The sultry fortune teller and ex-vaudeville queen is played by Bunnie Davis, and the personification of the famous device "Deux ex Machina" is played by George Grizzard.

Takes Over

WILDWOOD, Fla., Nov. 2.—(UP)—White-robed Ku Klux Klansmen rode through seven central Florida towns in an election-eve demonstration last night, burning crosses and declaring they were "out to stop the Communist movement in Florida."

A Klan spokesman said the hooded riders were not demonstrating against Negroes alone. The anti-Communist warning applied to "both white and black," he said.

About 150 Klansmen in 70 cars made the 40-mile ride through Plymouth, Vellwood, Mt. Dora, Taveres, Lisbon, Leesburg and Wildwood.

Lowe Captures GM Contest With 20 Perfect Predictions

Walter Lowe reached into the football grab bag this week and pulled out twenty correct guesses to place first in the Graham Memorial football contest. Lowe, who lives in 209 Ruffin, was the only would-be Swami who came out with a perfect score. For this feat he will receive a carton of cigarettes and a theater pass book.

Not quite so lucky, but doing all right for themselves along the line of prognosticating were nine masterminds who missed only one game. In this group were Tom Hosick, Mel Winstead, Ira Godwin, J. P. Stagg, Kay Lewis, Julian Knott, J. C. Sigmon, Harvey Cohen, and Joe Lawrence.

Some people thought Carolina would run rampant over the Vols and some thought the Vols would run rampant over the Tar Heels, but only four people dared to submit a score of 14-7. How right can four pickers be? Stars in this department were Billy Poole, Carl Jolley, Hal Ingram, and Jim Hamlin.

Puzzled Editor

ROME, Nov. 2.—(UP)—The United Press telephoned the editor of a local Communist newspaper with the first election results from the United States—Hart's Location, N. H., which gave 11 votes to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and one to President Truman.

There was a slight pause, then:

"What, no Wallace?" the editor asked.

Local Debaters Will Go North On 6-Day Tour

The Varsity Debate team which will represent the University on the Northern swing next week consists of Dave Pittman and Herbert Yates on the affirmative team and Herbert Mitchell and Paul Roth on the negative team.

Pittman debated for the University during the 1945 and 1946 seasons, while Yates and Mitchell are carryovers from the Varsity team of last year. During his high school career Roth was once a runner-up in a nation-wide speaking contest.

On next weeks tour the team will debate the University of Virginia on Monday evening and Georgetown university on Tuesday evening, and will follow with engagements with the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton university on Wednesday and Thursday nights, respectively.

A debate scheduled for the team at Boston university on Friday evening will be broadcast, and the final debate of the tour will be held with Harvard university at Boston on Saturday afternoon.

Locally, the council's affirmative team of Gus Graham and Jack Rock and a negative team of Emily Baker and Alice Middleton have tentatively been scheduled to meet Randolph-Macon college here late in November.

The Council holds tryouts on Thursday evenings in Graham Memorial for orations, declamations, poetry reading and radio announcing. All students interested in these fields of forensics are invited to attend the meetings.

Truman Carries State; Scott, Broughton Win

RALEIGH, Nov. 2—(UP)—President Truman ran two and a half to one ahead of Thomas E. Dewey and far ahead of other opponents in early, inconclusive returns in North Carolina tonight.

Returns from 789 of the 1,959 North Carolina precincts gave: Truman 190,729; Dewey 74,173; Wallace 1,179; Thurmond 25,186. For senator, 327 precincts gave Broughton 65,162; Wilkinson 21,-639; Brown 122.

For Governor, 321 precincts gave Scott 64,937; Prichard 18,-436; Price 118.

In Congressional races, districts one through seven sent Democrats to Congress as was expected, but in five Piedmont and Western districts, with the rural Republican vote still untabulated, Republicans were presenting a strong showing.

In the 10th district, Roy Harmon, R., had 3,284 to Hamilton Jones, D., 2,894, at 11 o'clock, with 28 of 177 precincts reporting. Other close districts were: eighth—(47 of 207)—C. B. Deane D. 6,439; Lafayette Williams R, 4,-926., ninth—(33 of 178)—Robert Doughton D, 5,345; Clyde Green R, 2,806, eleventh—(31 of 151)—Alfred Bulwinkle D, 4,896; Calvin Edney R, 3,175, twelfth—(23 of 198)—Monroe Redden 4,431; W. W. Candler R, 2,780.

Sorority Mother To Be Honored

The alumnae advisers of the Epsilon Beta chapter of Chi Omega sorority are invited to a tea given in honor of Mrs. Jessie Clamp, new housemother of the sorority, at the home of Mrs. Guy Johnson, 18 Westwood drive, on Thursday.

Still fighting—President Harry S. Truman

Democratic Senators Lead In Early Returns

Democrat senatorial candidates were leading in early returns from six crucial states Tuesday night but it still was in doubt whether they could wrest control of the U. S. Senate from the Republicans.

GOP candidates were leading in two other vital contests. One of these was Sen. Joseph H. Ball, R., Minn., who had only a slight edge over Mayor Hubert S. Humphrey, D., of Minneapolis. Pre-election forecasts indicated Ball's defeat.

All told, 32 senate seats were at stake and the early standings showed that six Democrats and one Republican had been elected. Democrats led in 10 other contests and Republicans in eight.

The battle for house control developed two upsets, both of them in Connecticut. There Abraham Ribicoff, D., defeated incumbent William J. Miller, R., a legless war veteran, and Rep. Ellsworth B. Foote, R., was far behind John A. McGuire, D.

Control of the senate depended on the outcome of less than a dozen close races.

On the basis of returns at 10 p.m., E.S.T., Sen. John S. Cooper, R., was leading in Kentucky by a comfortable though not conclusive margin over Rep. Virgil Chapman, D.

In Oklahoma, former Gov. Robert S. Kerr, D., was threatening the GOP-held seat soon to be vacated by Sen. E. H. Moore. He had a sizeable lead over Rep. Ross Rizley, R.

Former Sen. Matthew Neely, D., held a slight lead over Sen. Chapman Rivercomb, R., W. Va.

With most of the returns from Democratic strongholds in Chicago, Paul H. Douglas, D., had a good-sized lead over Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, R.

In three other key states where Democratic states were at stake—Montana, New Mexico and Tennessee—Democrats were leading.

Rep. Estes Kefauver, D., seeking the Tennessee seat held by Sen. Tom Stewart, who was beaten in the Democratic primaries, was nearly two-to-one ahead of former GOP national chairman B. Carroll Reece in early returns.

Among those definitely returned to the house were Democratic leader Sam Rayburn of Texas and Democratic whip John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Just Hand Me One

CHARLESTON, S.C., Nov. 2.—(UP)—A determined woman marched to the polling place at Charleston's ward 11 today and said "hand me one of those divorce amendments."

South Carolinians are balloting today on whether to make South Carolina the 48th state in which divorce is allowed.

"I," said the woman grimly, "want a divorce."

Friday Is End For Yack Pix

"If Carolina students have the spirit they're supposed to," said Yack Editor Bill Duncan yesterday, "they should want to be represented in their year book."

Today, tomorrow and Friday are the last opportunities for students to have their pictures made. Chidnoff's studios now have three photographers working on Graham Memorial's second floor, and there is no waiting.

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, pharmacy and law students should come up immediately, Duncan said.

441 New Pledges Selected By 22 Campus Fraternities

University fraternities pledged a total of 441 new members during the rush season. The new pledges, and their fraternities, are as follows:

ALPHA TAU OMEGA: Bill Absher, Dick Andrew, Jack Atwater, Larry Botto, Bryan Broadfoot, Ned Burgess, Jimmy Burns, Hamlin Caldwell, Bruce Cartier, Pete Clewis, Tom Fitzgerald, Tom Harrington, Jim Heldman, Bill Kidd, Lawrence Mason, Brad Morton, Roy Parker, Sam Patrick, Jack Reuter, Duffield Smith, Mark Snoddy, Bill Todd, Dave White, Jack Woodell, Bob Wiley.

BETA THETA: David R. Hayworth, Hugh Morrison Boyer, William R. Cuthbertson, Jr., Hubert G. Tolson, Arthur R. Willis, Alexander Haughton, Jr., James D. Poag, William F. Black, Jack C. Fields, William W. McLendon, Fred M. Council, Claude S. Burton, Thomas A. DeVane, James H. Wilkinson, Gerald N. Bryant, Julian M. McGee, Donald F. Sutphen, William P. McKay, Jr., Jacob H. Froelich, Richard A. Harder, Francis O. Clarkson, William H. Boyer, William G. Rand, Millard M. Heyward.

CHI PHI: Roddy Rourk, Robert L. Johnson, John Stoiff, Blake Leckie, George Valentine, Grady Moretz, Dick Conrad, Dick Nunis,

(See NEW PEDGES, page 4)

Democrats Take Lead Over Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(UP)—Harry S. Truman held a lead over Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency on the basis of national election returns compiled at 1 o'clock this morning. At that hour the United Press had counted 18,-913,103 popular votes. Mr. Truman had 9,483,063 and was leading in 24 states with 308 votes in the electorial college.

Dewey had 8,368,839 and was leading in 21 states with 195 votes in the electorial college. Their percentages of the entire popular vote compiled at that hour: Truman 50.14, Dewey 44.25.

Democratic candidates had been elected by 1 o'clock to 11 seats held in the House by Republicans. Democrats were leading in contests for 38 additional house seats now held by the GOP.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(UP)—Democratic candidates from President Truman down were leading their Republican opponents Tuesday night on the basis of incomplete and inconclusive election returns from all 48 states.

Voters apparently were piling up a record breaking poll.

At midnight the United Press had tabulated 20,638,-885 votes with 31,200,000 or more still to come.

At that hour Mr. Truman was leading Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, in 25 states with 323 electorial votes. His popular vote was 7,-573,384.

Dewey was leading in 20 states with 180 electorial votes and had an aggregate of 6,269,391 popular votes.

Democrats had gained eight seats in the House of Representatives at the expense of Republicans and were leading in 12 other contests for GOP seats. The gains were in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New York.

Democrats were leading in all 11 of senatorial contests where control of Senate of the next Congress will be determined.

This reversal of form on early returns exploded Democratic headquarters watch parties in big cities into wild celebrations.

Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, Jr., discounted early returns. Earlier he said Dewey was in easily with at least 24 states and 295 electorial votes.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Brownell said:

"As in all elections, the big cities in which the Democrats normally have majorities are reported during the early hours after the polls close. That has been happening tonight but the Democratic majorities in practically every instance have been substantially smaller than would be necessary for the Democratic candidates to win."

Brightest Republican spot before midnight was Maine where Democratic State Chairman James A. Morang conceded Dewey had won.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights presidential candidate, was running third to Mr. Truman and Dewey. Henry A. Wallace was fourth. Thurmond had 343,286 popular votes and was leading in three states with 28 votes in the electorial college. They were Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina. Mr. Truman was ahead in Louisiana which the States' Righters expected to carry.

Where Credit Is Due

The Student Entertainment committee's presentation of Hazel Scott last Thursday was so successful that the slight amount of confusion accompanying her arrival (see Write Away column) was inconsequential. Miss Scott pleased her audience better than has any other entertainer sponsored by the committee in several years.

The Scott concert marked the beginning of what the committee hopes will be a year of successful entertainments. On a voluntary basis last year, the student entertainment series collapsed after failure to sell enough tickets to the first attraction left it seriously in debt. Since then the Student legislature has voted to place the series back upon an involuntary payment basis and this year allotted it $5,250 of student fees. With a definite amount of money to work with, the committee has been able to plan within a budget and to line up a well-balanced series of attractions.

More work than many realize goes into planning the entertainment series, negotiating with artists and making arrangements for their appearance. The entertainment committee, headed by Scotty Venable and composed of Harriet Sipple, Billy Carmichael, III, David McAdams, Dr. Newman of the music department, Dr. Selden of the dramatics depratment and Mr. Tom Stanback, is due much credit for work already done. More credit will be due if other presentations approach the success of the concert by Miss Scott.

The Eternal 10%

In spite of hell and the devil, there's always the ten per cent that never gets the word. Two bits says there will be some suckers next spring when the Yackety-Yack comes out who will wake up and realize that their pictures aren't in it. Then they'll storm up to the Yack office and want to know why they had to pay good money for space they didn't use. It happens every year. And yet year book photographers have been here since the beginning of the year and have received enough publicity so that everyone should have got the word.

The Yack photographers will work only three more days—today, tomorrow and Friday. On Saturday they will pack up and leave. And on Monday part of the ten per cent will show up to have their pictures made. The situation will be the same on senior rings. They are now on sale one day a week, Wednesday, in the Y lobby, but at graduation time next spring the ten per cent will be trying to find out when and how they can place orders. Procrastination is such an easy habit that everyone falls victim to it once in a while and many people become habituals at it. Sometimes it's a bit inconvenient, to be sure, like the time we put off buying tickets to the Maryland game until we realized they were all sold out. But on the whole it's quite pleasant to play Scarlet O'Hara and say, "I can't be bothered with that today. I'll think about it tomorrow."

Then comes the day when we are ninety years old and realize we won't be hanging around much longer—and when that day comes, the ten per cent will be there, wearing a bewildered expression and wondering why someone didn't tell them the years were slipping by.

To Those Who Lost

Today the United States will know its next President. Some people will like the outcome of the election, some people will not. Those who are dissatisfied have a right, even an obligation, to voice their objections and to make them heard. They should remember, however, that the President was chosen by a majority of the people and that as leader of the country he deserves the full support of all the people in so far as they can conscientiously give it.

Those who object to the actions of the President and the congress should base their objections on their idea of what is best for the country as a whole, not upon personal prejudices or upon disgruntlement at the defeat of their candidate or party.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler.

Sports Staff: Frank Alston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

UMOC. Taking a lead from Emory U. in Jaw-Ja, we were wondering just how many fellows and gals would be interested in a contest to find the "Ugliest Man on Campus." Now, this is just a feeler for bigger things to come, but if you have some ugly cheeild in mind, and would be interested in entering him--or her—in this battle of the faces, just give us a buzz, or drop a penny card to us, care of the DTH.

ANOTHER IDEA. How about installing an "Automat-style" coffee vending machine in some convenient spot on campus? Such a do-dolly certainly would save man and gal-folks loads of time. There's one drawback, though, it might introduce the panhandler to Carolina. "Gotta nickle for a cuppa joe?"

MAN OF DISTINCTION. The Sigma Nu boys may not have caught this one, so we'll pass it along. Fulton Lewis, Jr., a former Sigma Nu at Virginia was caught holding the distinction glass in a recent issue of Time mag. Mr. Lewis is an outstanding radio commentator.

UNSUNG HEROES. Here's a quick rah-rah for the janitors hyar-bouts. If it wasn't for those tidy gentlemen we poor college students might be lost in a heap of trash, including empty bottles, old newspapers, and coed files . . . coed files?

DON'T TELL. Maybe we're not supposed to say anything, but, there is a rumor floating around that perhaps we will be plagued with the presence of Calamity Sam this Nov. 13, the official date of Sadie Hawkins Day, and will have to hold the celebration, and race some other time. That's all for now—but just wait. . .

THANK YOU, RITA. Thanks from IJM, whose school ring was found by us last June. Rita Adams mentioned it the other day, bless her heart, and Sunday night a friend of IJM walked up to us and said she could return it to her. Fortunately we had the ring right handy, by now it should be well on its way to Miss IJM, whoever she is.

PARTY'S GETTING ROUGH. A friend of ours, who does not want to be quoted, he's afraid his fingerprints are on one of the flying pop bottles thrown at the officials in Tennessee last Saturday, told us that the bottles held "soft" drinks. No one was hurt, but that isn't very sporting, hope no other Tar Heels were involved.

IT HAD US GUESSIN'. We finally had to go inside to Mr. Wentworth and Sloan to find out just what did make their plastic pen and ink display go 'round and 'round. It's simple once you know the secret.

SOME OTHER GUY. We thought we saw Jim Mead answering the phone the other day. Our suspicions were verified when we heard that he was being dropped from the candidacy for the office of "the man most likely never to answer the phone again." A candidate must be careful, and not step out of character like that, Jim.

JUST AN ELF. Ask Gene Johnstone how he inherited that new nickname of "Brownie." We heard he came into sole possession of it the morning after the Tennessee game in Knoxville.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to: Marilyn Stanley, Betty Smith, Alonzo Clark, Al Ludwick, and Bob Kelly. Many happy returns to all.

MORAL FOR TODAY: Never stop in the Arboretum to smoke a cigarette with your gal. The man in the blue coat can spot that red glow a mile away, we know.

Every Man For Himself

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This Changing World

Christ Was A Communist

By Bill Robertson

(The circumstances of the world are continually changing, and the opinions of men change also.—Thomas Paine)

On several occasions we have referred in our column to the tendency of the American "free" capitalist press to suppress news because of its political significance. When Theodore Dreiser, world-famed American novelist, became a Communist the fact was virtually ignored. Now we have in our possession an article by George Bernard Shaw, one of the owners of the London Daily Worker (or didn't you know that?) So far the only newspaper in this country in which we have seen this article is "The Daily Worker." We quote it in full:

"Nothing in the sham that now passes for democracy is more childishly foolish than legislation in the U. S. A. nor so conclusive as to the failure of its schools to teach history. In America today the number of citizens who have read the Communist Manifesto, books of Marx and Engels or of Hammonds and Upton Sinclair and have been converted to Communism by them hasn't been counted: But it can hardly be less than 1 per cent of the population of upwards of 130,000,000. Illiterate as the world still is we estimate its Marxists at 1,250,000. To suppress Communism the American government has arrested 12 persons and charged them with advocating the overthrow of the government by force and violence, which is exactly what Washington and Jefferson did, thereby creating the United States of America.

"The founder of Christianity was a Communist with 11 faithful apostles, chief of whom struck a man and his wife dead for keeping back their money from a common pool instead of sharing it. But American legislators, ostensibly Christians, don't read the Bible, much less Karl Marx. They would charge Saint Peter with sedition as well as murder if he were not beyond their reach."

I refrain from comment. The situation speaks for itself.

We do not know whether Mr. Archibald Henderson, the official biographer of George Bernard Shaw, has read this article. However, we hope that we shall be able to read about this glorious closing chapter in the life of one of the world's greatest artists, in a definitive biography.

In the meantime other men of intellectual integrity should consider carefully the profound significance of this article, which shines forth like a bright beacon in the dark turmoil of decaying capitalist culture

Presidential Comments

Student Presidents Meet

By Jess Dedmond

Our football team was not alone in furnishing interesting activity in Knoxville last weekend. Among the other activities was the meeting of the Southern Association of Student Body Presidents which convened on Friday morning at the University of Tennessee. The association is now two years old and promises to be a worthy enterprise. Attending this years meeting were representatives from all the states of the Old South except Louisiana. North Carolina was represented by Duke and North Carolina State as well as our University.

The original plan of the association was to have a free exchange of ideas and discussion of problems which affect student governments throughout the south. Our meeting amply fulfilled the plans of the originators, but the most I received from it was a great pride in the democratic tradition of our campus. Of all the schools represented only the University of Florida had a student government which rivalled ours in scope and an honor system as all encompassing. One needs only to see first hand the lack of student liberty in the democratic process at other schools to appreciate fully the fine thing we have here in Chapel Hill.

Our final discussion centered around three points which may be of benefit to our campus: 1. Ways and means of securing orchestras for college dances at a substantial saving; 2. Ways and means of securing classical artists at a saving; and 3. A method of providing some system of continuity to important student government functions which might be lost through lack of adequate knowledge of precedent.

The final acts of the recent meeting were to establish a permanent secretariat of the association at the University of Tennessee and to fix next year's meeting place at the University of Florida.

Of interest to freshmen of our campus should be the forthcoming freshman elections. Nominations will be made in the freshman assembly November 9 and balloting will follow on November 18. With a little imagination the nominating session may be turned into a first class political convention. At this time the plans are to have no holds barred. The only thing which will not be permitted will be parading when candidates are nominated. This should turn out to be one of the liveliest and most interesting affairs of the year. And if all freshmen are as imaginative and active as those in Stacy Dormitory recently were, we can all look forward to the finest freshman election in a decade. Now is the time for freshman political pots to start boiling. We will be expecting them at 212 degrees on the ninth.

Write Away

Clearing the SEC

Editor:

An article blasting the Student Entertainment Committee appeared last Saturday. Evidently the writer didn't care to consult me on the details of the situation.

There was confusion preceding the Hazel Scott concert, but some things should be clarified. According to contract Miss Scott was to rehearse at 5 o'clock, and I was advised she would arrive shortly before that time. Mr. Fearrington, head of the buildings department, and I waited from five until six for her. At six I phoned the Teachers College in Durham and was informed that she was practicing in the auditorium there. I left a message that we would look forward to her arrival between 7:30 and 8:30.

Miss Scott did not get the message and she arrived at 6 amid considerable confusion. Shortly before seven I was informed Miss Scott had arrived and was worried about a microphone and lighting. All this had been arranged for through Mr. Fearrington. Miss Scott also requested cheese cloth for the floor to prevent her dress from soiling. Usually artists request by letter any added necessities they require, but not so in this case. I tried to secure the cheese cloth, but at that late time there was none obtainable.

Miss Scott said to me personally that she was sorry to have missed rehearsal, and that the mix-up was her fault. I might add at this point that Miss Scott is a very good sport and a gracious lady. She was cooperative and obliging and I think students who saw the concert will agree that she put on a bang-up performance.

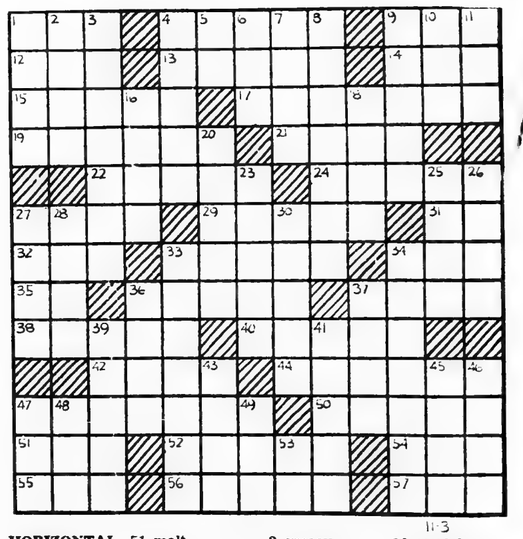
Arrangements were made for all doors to be locked at 6 o'clock and opened at 7:30. One door was left open and a hundred or so students came in through it and the windows before we could stop them. It took extra time to check their I. D. cards while people congregated outside the main door. Even so, everyone who arrived by 8:30 was admitted.

A tentative plan for future attractions is as follows:

1. Since future programs are set for 8 o'clock, the doors will be opened at seven and those first to come will be admitted first. 2. Students will be admitted on presentation of I.D. cards. 3. Faculty members and their wives and student wives will be admitted on purchasing a ticket at the door. At five minutes before time of performance, towns people will be admitted on purchasing a ticket in the event there is extra space.

Scotty Venable

What's in a Name?



Editor:

A letter written by one John Reynolds recently appeared in your letters to the editor column. The text of this letter stated that I, Bob Smith, a hack writer by trade, am the author of a certain letter signed Claude V. Dunnagan.

Now, one must realize that I am called upon, through the very nature of my position as a hack writer, to sign as many as a thousand papers a day. I get very tired and toward the end of my day I sometimes forget exactly who I am. Also, I find the name Bob Smith a rather shoddy excuse for identification. I often improvise something a little more elaborate. It is very possible, then, that somebody slipped a piece of paper in front of me which I signed, for want of a better notion, Claude V. Dunnagan. I don't believe I really wrote the thing, though. I seldom write letters of any kind.

However, I do remember having met a Claude Dunnagan once. He looked a great deal like an ex-instructor of journalism named Paul MacReynolds. I submit that Paul MacReynolds is both Dunnagan and Reynolds.

Bob Smith

11-3

HORIZONTAL
1. male swan
4. use frugally
9. commotion
12. suffer
13. capital of France
14. tear violently
15. official list of candidates
17. ensnares
19. despot
21. paint badly
22. saltpeter
24. experiments
27. son of Adam
29. nostrils
31. sun god
32. speak
33. small orifices
34. wooden pin
35. street railway (abbr.)
36. Biblical weeds
37. stir by prodding
38. city in Ohio
40. more mellow
42. helps
44. cuddle
47. dirigible
50. water-wheel
51. malt drink
52. spherical
54. insect
55. aeriform matter
56. British-Indian monetary units
57. affirmative

VERTICAL
1. throw with force
2. greasy
3. wheedling flattery
4. exhausted
5. father
6. land-measure
7. skin
8. landed properties
9. Moors
10. immerse
11. goddess of fertility
16. caudal appendage
18. regrets extremely
20. singing voice
23. more uncommon
25. journey
26. wise man
27. aboard ship
28. thwart
30. plant exudation
33. mythological character
34. delineate
36. labor
37. Mexican coin
39. harsh respiratory sounds
41. awaits settlement
43. shortly
45. narrow streak
46. corrodes
47. pouch
48. wing
49. outlet of Niger river
53. North America (abbr.)

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

S	T	R	O	V	E		S	E	R	I	E	S
A	R	E	N	A	S		A	R	I	S	T	A
L	I	V	E	N	S		P	I	S	T	O	L
U	T	E	S		E	P	I		E	L	I	A
T	O	R		A	N	O	D	E		E	L	D
E	N	T	E	R	E	D		R	U	S	E	S
			L	E	S		I	O	S
M	A	G	I	C		E	N	D	E	A	R	S
A	L	L		A	B	A	S	E		L	E	I
S	P	A	S		A	R	E		C	I	T	E
T	I	N	E	A	S		C	R	O	N	E	S
E	N	C	A	S	E		T	A	L	E	N	T
R	E	E	L	E	D		S	H	A	S	T	A

11-3

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SEC

tertainment Committee er didn't care to consult azel Scott concert, but ding to contract Miss was advised she would arrington, head of the five until six for her.

n Durham and was inuditorium there. I left to her arrival between and she arrived at 6:30 re seven I was informed ed about a microphone for through Mr. Fear-e cloth for the floor to artists request by letter not so in this case. I hat late time there was she was sorry to have was her fault. I might very good sport and a bliging and I think stu-

at she put on a bang-up to be locked at 6 o'clock en and a hundred or so indows before we could their I. D. cards while oor. Even so, everyone

ns as follows:
8 o'clock, the doors will e will be admitted first.
tation of I.D. cards. 3.
student wives will be e door. At five minutes ple will be admitted on s extra space.

Scotty Venable

Name?

olds recently appeared text of this letter states
ade. am the author of a
h. alled upon, through the writer, to sign as many ired and toward the end who I am. Also, I find xcuse for identification. I re elaborate. It is very piece of paper in front better notion. Claude V. te the thing, though. I

net a Claude Dunnagan
-instructor of journalism at Paul MacReynolds is

Bob Smith

16. caudal appendage
18. regrets extremely
20. singing voice
23. more uncommon
25. journey
26. wise man
27. aboard ship
28. thwart
30. plant exudation
33. mythological character
34. delineate
36. labor
37. Mexican coin
39. harsh respiratory sounds
41. scouts settlement
43. shortly
45. narrow streak
46. corrodes
47. pouch
48. wing
49. outlet of Niger river
53. North America (abbr.)

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Copyright 1948, The Daily Tar Heel.

A Problem of Logistics

LOGISTICS, IT SEEMS, is a rather hazily-defined word having to do with the plain and fancy art of transporting, quartering and supply of the troops. The troops in question are the shock gentlemen of Coach Snavely and logistically speaking, they are harder to handle off the field than they are on.

It takes quite a bit of ye olde effort to run the mission off without any major hitches. In fact, if you were statistically minded you might bother to figure out that over a hundred hours of planning and plugging are expended behind the scenes for every hour the Tar Heels spend on some unfriendly gridiron somewheres. The trouble you have to go to, to play a football game.

To carry out this task of toting barge, bail and ball players, a large organization of big work-no credit fellows are needed and necessary. At Carolina the logistics are divided into three parts—planning, preparation, and execution.

A Hypothetical Ride

TAKE A HYPOTHETICAL trip to Tennessee. First, you decide the way of travel. If you choose the air route, you'll need an airplane. You call an airline, go down to your telephonic knees and beg. Now that you have a plane, you'll need transportation to the field from Chapel Hill and from the filed in Knoxville to the hotel. Oh, then come the hotel rooms, for there will be 30 of those necessary and meals for the team on the regular three-a-day basis. That will take care of the barest necessities of life.

Meanwhile, on the lower floors of the Gym, the playing gear is being prepared for the trip. Forty-four men will go which means a similiar number of individual bags of hip, shoulder, rib pads, pants, jerseys, socks, shoes and the rest to be packed for each and every ball player. It helps if the equipment turns up in his size also. It will be better to carry two sets of jerseys. The Tar Heels might need a change if it rains.

Besides the regular playing gear, you carry six couple extra uniforms in case of loss, damage or trouble. Then add the medical supplies, enough tape to run from here to Durham, 44 hoods, helmets, a set of telephones, a blackboard, chalk, a projector, a screen, films of everything short of Mickey Mouse and a few other objects that may slip the mind of everyone but the managers. That includes a dozen footballs.

The Joy Boys

THE MANAGERS, so they say, are the key to the whole project. It is their problem to pack the gear, unpack it at Knoxville, repack it and then unpack it again at home. These trunky flunkies are the boys that get the main part of the trip started, by trucking their bundles off to the field where the airline takes over for the moment. The player party is, meanwhile, gathered, gotten on their buses, and checked for possible missing persons.. The noses are counted almost as often as they are blown.

At the field, equipment and players are coordinated together and placed aboard the DC-4. The party numbers 50-odd: players, coaches, trainers, and managers. The rest of the outfit have either gone ahead a day or so before to blow the warning trumpets and make arrangements, or will follow by train to arrive on the day of the game.

In Knoxville, city buses meet the plane, and players are hustled to hotels, suppers, and beds. More preparations to be made. On the day of the game organized chaos exists. The managers move to the field at an early hour to prepare the equipment for the game. The players are fed, sent back to rest, then taped at the hotel before moving on to the field. Oranges and a motorcycle escort to the stadium are arranged for. The buses shuttle the team to the field.

The Payoff Comes

AT THE STADIUM, the players find their equipment arranged before their lockers. Mitten's jersey won't fit over his extra pads, so pulled him out a larger size. And don't forget to notify the press box of the change. The sideline gear is unpacked and arranged. The water buckets are filled. Everything is ready. But wait, the phone to the press box spotter is out of order, and there is no telling if and when the Vols intend to fix it. The Tar Heels will rig their own, and so the phone set and cable is broken out and strung. Preparedness again saves the day.

During the game, all the managers remain permanently on the hop. One mops dampened brows. One charts the Tar Heels' course and the plays run. Waterboy Morris Mason handles the watering chores at time out whistles. Everybody gets into the act. Then come the final whistle, a brief victory yell for dear old Carolina, and back to work.

Showers go on and towels must be at hand. Field and playing equipment has to be gathered and packed. It will take the field managers from now to plane time to ready and send the gear to the field. The players return to the hotel and enjoy their winners' feast. After an hour, the buses arrive for the field. The head manager counts his flock and collects the hotel keys; then the trip home begins. They move to field to plane to buses to home.

All But the Shouting

A TIRED BUNCH of managers return their equipment to its home shelf. If they have done their job as well as they usually do, little or nothing is missing. The trip is offically declared to be at an end when the stragglers return by train Sunday morning. Everyone and everything is present or accounted for.

There is still the bills to be paid, lost clothing to be returned from Knoxville, and some odds and ends to be settled. Tennessee is but a memory in the minds and a victory on the scoreboard. What the scoreboard doesn't show is the work behind those 14 big points—the buses that arrived on time, the meals that were served on time, the equipment that was ready on time.

The cost? High, but so was the price of tickets at four dollars a head. One doubts they conduct these activities at loss. Worth the trouble? Some 50,000 screaming, booing fans seemed to think so. And they still say Ringling Brothers is the greatest show on earth.

Carolina Begins Practice For Indian War

W&M Scouts Bring Worries to M'Cray; Objectives Cited

Coach Carl Snavely led his Tar Heels onto Navy field yesterday for initial drills preparatory to Saturday's clash with defending Southern conference champs, William and Mary. The Snavelymen took the day off Monday after last week's tough battle with surprisingly strong Tennessee.

Reports from The Indians' camp in Williamsburg, Va. say that Big Chief Rube McCray has been moanin' low for the past few days and is none too happy over the prospect of meeting the number one team in the South.

Three Objectives

William and Mary scout Jim Ford has watched the Tar Heels in every game this season and has cited three goals for the Indians to accomplish in order to defeat the Carolinians. He says that the Indians must stop Justice's end sweeps, Rodgers' plunges, and the Justice to Weiner aerial combo.

Crowell Little, Carolina scout, told the Tar Heels yesterday that the Indians were much stronger than recent scores have indicated and that the boys will have to be on their toes in Saturday's battle. He tabbed William and Mary tailbacks Tommy Korczowski and Buddy Lex as "outstanding". Jack "Flying" Cloud is also expected to figure largely in the Indians attack on Saturday.

Indians Ready

Carolina was the only team to defeat the Indians last year and "Rube" McCray will have his boys primed for this year's battle in an attempt to avenge that bitter loss.

Coach Snavely reported yesterday that the Tar Heels came through Saturday's battle in the hills of Tennessee without any serious injuries. Tackle Ted Hazelwood is expected back in time for the William and Mary clash but will probably be used sparingly by Snavely.

—ZANE ROBBINS.

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS

Sigma Nu	3	SAE	2 1
Zeta Psi	2 2	ATO	2 0
Phi Gam	2 2	Sigma Chi	2 0
Chi Phi	1 2	Beta	2 0
Chi Psi	1 2	Kappa Sig	3 0
Phi Gam	3 2	TEP	2 0
KA	2 2	Zeta	3 0

DKE 2 won from Delta Sig Pi by forfeit.

Carolina Climbs

Michigan's Wolverines stayed atop the Williamson ratings again this week despite the fact that the Big Nine champs barely managed to edge past Illinois' none-too-powerful aggregation by a 28-20 score last Saturday. Carolina's Tar Heels clung to second place and moved two-tenths of a point closer to the leader during the past week. The Carolinians closed in on the Wolverines on the power of their 14-7 victory over Tennessee.

Georgia Tech, Army, and Notre Dame ranked third, fourth, and fifth respectively in the ratings. Tulane and the University of Georgia were other Southern teams placing in the top ten. Wake Forest was ranked thirty-second. Duke was in the thirty-eighth clot, and North Carolina State rested in the fifty-sixth position.

Dormitory Action Dominates Intramural Football Program

Yesterday's action on the Tag Football gridiron was limited entirely to Dormitory clashes and as a result many Dorm teams terminated their season with yesterday's conflicts.

In an important contest for the two squads involved, Mangum kept even with the Stanley Steamers for the leadership of League 2 by knocking a fighting Town crew, 14-13. Mangum scored early and then held off a determined Town rally in the second half to retain its one point margin.

Another first place deadlock resulted when both the Mud Dobbers and C Dorm finished their slates with indentical records of five up and one down. Both nines emerged victorious over League 3 rivals yesterday as the Mud Dobbers nipped QH 356 in an overtime tussle, 1-0 and C Dorm was the recipient of the common forfeit from Nash.

Emerson Hotel managed to keep up its torrid pace although they were extended by a determined squad from Graham. The Stadium inhabitants won by the margin of Angelo Vertianno's second half touchdown and then held this lead to be triumphant, 6-0.

Easily one of the most impressive teams of all the circuits, the Grads had no chance to display their power as their scheduled foes from QH 9 failed to appear at the battleground. This 1-0 decision gave the old boys their sixth win and strengthened their grasp on the top spot of League 5. Old East clashed with Ruffin in a battle of the cellar and the former emerged with a 12-0 verdict while Miller eked out a close 1-0 decision in an overtime struggle against Alexander.

The Stanley Steamers exhibited class as they rolled to their fifth win of the season on the strength of a decisive 35-6 rout over A Dorm and Lewis also was victorious when they shutout the Fireballs, 20-0. In closer frays, Bob Dulin's extra point following Ken Laury's six pointer provided the margin of victory for Wesley Rockets over Steele, 7-6 and Whitehead scored at the game's outset and blanked BVP, 9-0.

The Hut Dwellers attained a .500 record to end its slate with a forfeit win over Manly and Aycock scored their first victory on another forfeit extended to them by the Termites.

NEW POLICY

Because of a large and enthusiastic turnout to the weekly open house policy at the gym, the Intramural department has announced that it will conduct this program two evenings a week. Wednesday nights will now be used in addition to Mondays for this policy.

TENNIS TODAY

3:00—Court 1, Dameron-Mc Adams vs Bowman-Moore; 2, G. Dawson vs winner of Bowman vs Carson.

Jim Winstead is requested to be at the varsity courts at 3:00 so pictures may be taken.

STANDINGS

Dormitory Division

LEAGUE 1

	W	L	PCT.
Emerson Hotel	6	0	1.000
Med School 1	5	1	.833
Y Cabinet	4	2	.667
Graham Dwellers	2	4	.333
Old East	2	4	.333
Stacy	1	5	.167
Ruffin	1	5	.167

LEAGUE 2

	W	L	PCT.
Stanley Steam	5	1	.833
Mangum	5	1	.833
Town	4	2	.667
Steele	3	3	.500
Wesley Rocks	3	3	.500
A Dorm	1	5	.167
AROTC 1	0	6	.000

LEAGUE 3

	W	L	PCT.
Mud Dobbers	5	1	.833
C Dorm	5	1	.833
Hut Dwellers	3	3	.500
Everett 1	3	3	.500
Manly	2	4	.333
QH 356	2	4	.333
Nash	1	5	.167

LEAGUE 4

	W	L	PCT.
Oakwood Drive	5	0	1.000
Law School	5	1	.833
Termites	3	3	.500
Miller	3	3	.500
Alexander	2	4	.333
Bombers	1	4	.200
Aycock	1	5	.167

LEAGUE 5

	W	L	PCT.
Grads	6	0	1.000
Lewis	5	1	.833
Fireballs	4	2	.667
Whitehead	4	2	.667
Med School 2	3	3	.500
BVP	1	5	.167
QH 9	0	6	.000
AROTC 2	0	6	.000

Scheduled Today

TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Table 1, Pi Lambda Phi 1 vs Zeta 1; 2, Lambda Chi 1 vs Phi Gam 3; 3, Sigma Chi 4 vs Kappa Psi; 4, Chi Phi 1 vs Kappa Sig 1; 5, Sigma Chi 5 vs KA 3; 6, Phi Delt 2 vs Lamb Chi 2; 7, Phi Gam 4 vs AEPi 2.

5:00—Table 1, SAE 1 vs Sigma Nu 1; 2, Phi Delta 1 vs Zeta 2; 3, Sigma Chi 1 vs Delta Sig Pi; 4, Phi Gam 2 vs KA 2; 5, ATO 2 vs Kappa Sig 2; 6, Pi Lamb Phi 3 vs KA 1; 7, Sigma Chi 2 vs AEPi 1.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Med School 1 vs Manly B 1; 2, Town vs Grimes 1; 3, Emerson 1 vs BVP; 4, Mud Dobbers vs Whitehead.

5:00—Court 1, Ruffin vs Miller; 2, Fireballs vs Nash; 3, Old East vs Law School; 4, Bombers vs Alexander.

TAG FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1, Sigma Nu 1 vs KA 1; 2, Pi Kap Phi vs TEP; 3, Delta Sig vs Phi Gam 1; 4, Beta 1 vs Lambda Chi 1; 5, ZBT vs Pi Lamb Phi; 6, PiKA 2 vs DKE 2; 7, AEPi vs ATO 2.

5:00—Field 1, Kap Sig 2 vs ATO 1; 2, Sigma Nu vs Kappa Psi; 3, Phi Gam 2 vs KA 3; 4, SAE 1 vs Kap Sig 1; 5, Phi Kap Sig vs Beta 2; 6, Sigma Chi vs Chi Phi 2; 7, Zeta 1 vs Phi Delt 1.

State Cubpack Scheduled Next For Tar Babies

Coach Crowell Little's freshman football team will seek the fourth win of the current campaign over ih West Raleigh this Friday afternoon when they tangle with the State college frosh eleven.

Now safely over the hump and sporting wins over the strong South Carolina and Wake Forest yearlings and the rather weak Virginia beginners, the Tar Babies will be heavy favorites over the Cubpack. The local frosh thumped Wake Forest, 14-13 last Friday night while the Baby Deacs had previously turned in a three touchdown win over the State frosh.

Dick Weiss, offensive standout in the game at Fayetteville, will be expected to carry the brunt of the Tar Babies' attack in the game Friday. Weiss will get plenty of support from a host of other backfield talent on the squad roster.

Weiss will probably be the starting fullback and he will be joined in the backfield by Paul Cuba at blockingback; C. C. White, wingback; and Skeet Hesmer, tailback. Wingback Fred Brady and fullback Bob Gantt will also be expected to see a good deal of action in the contest coming up.

Justice Picked As All-American

United Press sports writer Fearless Oscar Fraley lived up to his name again yesterday when he came forth with the first All-America team of the season. Fraley named three players from the South, three from the Pacific Coast, three from the Mid-west, and one each from the East and Southwest.

Charlie Justice was the lone Carolina player named by Fraley on either of the two teams he picked. Other Southern representatives were Barney Poole of Mississippi, who was named as first-string end for the fifth consecutive year, Jack "Flying" Cloud of William and Mary, Rebel Steiner, Alabama; Wah Wah Jones, Kentuckey; Bill Healey, Georgia Tech; Johnny Rauch, Georgia; and Clyde Scott of Arkansas.

The first team included Poole and Leon Hart of Notre Dame at ends; Bob Hendren of Southern Cal and Phil O'Reilly of Purdue at tackles; Leo Nomellini of Minnesota and Mike Dimitro of UCLA at guards; Chuck Bednarik of Penn at center; Justice, Cloud, Doak Walker of SMU, and Jackie Jensen of California in the backfield.

Graham Memorial Football Contest

For Games of Saturday, Nov. 6, 1948

RULES:

Only one entry is permitted for each contestant. Black out parenthesis beside team you predict will win. Write "TIE" in each box if tie is predicted. Predictions must be made for all 20 games or entry will be disqualified.

Parentheses must be BLACKED IN. not merely checked or "X'ed." Predict score for Carolina-William and Mary game. Blanks must be placed in entry box in the main hall of Graham Memorial by Saturday Noon, Nov. 6, 1948.

Name..... Address.....

Time Blank Turned In: .....

Score:..... Carolina Score:..... W & M

( ) Texas	( ) Baylor	( ) Iowa	( ) Illinois
( ) Stanford	( ) Army	( ) Notre Dame	( ) Indiana
( ) UCLA	( ) California	( ) Navy	( ) Michigan
( ) Furman	( ) Clemson	( ) Purdue	( ) Minnesota
( ) Colgate	( ) Cornell	( ) Kan. State	( ) Nebraska
( ) Columbia	( ) Dartmouth	( ) Virginia	( ) N. C. State
( ) Richmond	( ) Davidson	( ) Pittsburgh	( ) Ohio State
( ) Wake For.	( ) Duke	( ) Missouri	( ) Oklahoma
( ) Florida	( ) Georgia	( ) Penn State	( ) Penn.
( ) Tennessee	( ) Ga. Tech	( ) Maryland	( ) So. Carolina

Rose Bowl Dope

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 1—(UP)— The Tournament of Roses Association, sponsors of the New Year's day football game in the Rose Bowl here, tonight was preparing to ask that the Big Nine send its champion team to the annual gridiron classic.

The association's executive committee met over the weekend and voted to instruct its football committee to prepare the request to be forwarded to the midwest league by the Pacific Coast conference.

Under agreement signed two years ago by the PCC with the Big Nine, no team from that conference may play in the Rose Bowl more than once in three years.

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

THE PINES
Announces
The Opening of
The Oyster Bar
THURSDAY, NOV. 4
Dinner Served in the Dining Room
Drive out 1½ miles on the Raleigh highway for steamed Oysters and Delicious Meals.

ORCHESTRE NATIONAL OF FRANCE
CHARLES MUENCH, Conductor
at
PAGE AUDITORIUM, DUKE UNIVERSITY
Durham, N. C.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26
At 8:15 P.M.
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00 AND $3.50 (Tax incl.)
Phone Durham 112, Ext. 112; or Write J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C., for Reservations.

• Go in Style
• Go in Comfort
• Go in Clothes That are Thoroughly Clean!

Wherever you go, whatever you do, you'll want your fine clothes looking and feeling their best. How do you get them that way? Simple. Just call us, we'll pick up your clothes promptly and renew them with Sanitone, the Better Kind of Dry Cleaning!

• Stubborn Spots Banished
• Dulled Colors Rejuvenated
• Better Press Lasts Longer
• No Dry Cleaning Odors

We Pickup and Deliver

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
Today
CAROLINA

TUXEDO RENTALS

It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.

Lewis' State College
RALEIGH
HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

Eye-Catching
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL

This hosiery of superb fit, comfort and seam-free loveliness is identified by the Seal of the DANCING TWINS. Note the exclusive, patented heel*—secret of fit, the Gussetoe—designed for comfort! And no seams to twist out of line. Sold under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.

*U. S. Pat. No. 2387618

YUM!
Best Ice Cream In Town

It's—
MARDI GRAS
ICE CREAM
SPECIAL ALL THIS WEEK
CAROLINA PHARMACY

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—3 YACK PHOTOGRAPHERS begin taking students' pictures. Second floor, GM.
11:30—OFFICIAL CLASS RINGS on sale in Y lobby.
3:00—RULES COMMITTEE of the University party, GM.
4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY steering committee, Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:00—STUDENT PARTY campaign committee, Grail room.
4:30—IZFA Palestinian Folk Artsgroup. All students interested in Eastern European and Near Eastern blendings of the song and dance as interpreted in Israel today are invited. Second floor of Y building.
6:00—SANFORD-CAROLINA club. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
7:00—CICA. All new members and girls interested in joining are urged to attend, as plans for initiation will be made. Town Girls room, second floor of Y building.
7:00—JOHNSTON COUNTY-CAROLINA club. Presentation of scholarship to most deserving high school senior from Johnston county entering the University; plans for Christmas dance; taking of group picture for Johnston county papers. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

441 New Pledges Selected

(Continued from page 1)

Charles Burns, Mike Kiser, Douglas Roycroft, Joe Hamilton, Ray Bond, Bill Peacock, O. C. Pennington, Jim Willingham, Robert Braswell, Johnny Jones, Francis Buchanan, Sam Haddock, Gerald Smith, Edwin Williams, Allen Tate, Jimmy Harris, Simon Terrell, Aubrey Hoover, Allen Milledge, Bill Biatt, Elliott Griffin.

CHI PSI: William W. Newman, Alexander D. Hutchinson, Lewis Chapman, Zane Robbins, Charles E. Melvin, Frank J. Allston, Harris L. Evans, William W. Jones, Walter T. Tice, Robert L. Nowell, Stephen A. Wilson, Jack Henry Steed, William F. Davenport, James D. Proctor, Warren W. McNeill, Earle Blue McDonald, Banks C. Talley, William C. Edwards, Thomas W. Steed, Quinton Qualls, Karl Dane Stuart, Harry Rockwell, Darius Wells.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON: David W. Allen, Robert Blades, Zebulon C. Brinson, David W. Darr, Marsden R. deRosset, Julian B. Green, James B. Hammerstein, John W. Hughes, John Huske, Jr., Cecil A. Pless, Jr., William W. Rhoades, Bretney Smith, Edward C. Smith, Jr., Lewis C. Strudwick, Fred K. Williamson, Clement G. Wright, James W. Woollcott.

DELTA PSI: Tim Borda, Norman Bowles, David Edens, Nevin Kennedy, John Slemp, Doug Smith, Ken Wallenborn.

KAPPA ALPHA: Ed Anthony, Gil Bean, Bill Bostic, Jim Connelly, Dick Davenport, Tom Davis, Dick Elliot, Howard Fogleman, George Freeman, Ed Garner, Bill Giles, Allen Goslin, John Griffin, Allen Ham, Maurice Hill, Harry Huntley, Bob Kirby, Ed Love, Ted McDonald, Bill Moore, Ira Montague, Jack Niles, Jack Pennington, Tom Pettigrew, John Robinson, Charles Sasser, Tom Sloan, Vernon Suit, Harry Teele, Buddy Tulloch, Jim Whitlock, Gene Wilson, Steve Horne.

KAPPA SIGMA: William Ferris Badgette, David R. Brenegar, Christopher A. Carpenter, John Dortch, Olin Hunter, John Long, Thomas L. Maness, Henry V. Modlin, Jr., Van Mosely, Richard Penegar, Oliver Sapp, William J. Spillers, T. D. Stokes, Jack Stratford, Marshall Dan Taft, Bill Taylor, Charles W. Trent, Bill Warren.

LAMBDA CHI: Spencer Blaylock, Joe Bowen, Bill Bowen, Charles Bridger, Clay Brittain, Elliott Cannon, Roy Clar, James Daughtery, Charles Dwiggins, Charles Fowler, John George, Elliott Griffin, William Harvey, Hugh Johnson, Johnnie Jones, William Link, Guy McFarland, Bob Mebane, Archie Meekins, Robert Messner, Albert Moore, Stephen Moore, Augustus Muckenfuss, Taylor Newton, Robert Pickard, Robert Reed, Andrew Shveda, William Simpson, John Stewart, John Wright.

PHI DELTA THETA: Ed Baesel, Charles Behrens, George Blackwelder, Charles Bridges, Eugene Brigham, Bob Buckmaster, George Christie, Fulton Claire, Fred Cutts, Bunny Davis, John Edwards, Jim Fanseen, Art Friemuth, Bill Fulwiler, George Hutton, Ralph Jordan, Don McDonald, Bob McGimsey, Jim Montague, Bill Qualls, Bill Rogers, Lloyd Smith, Buddy Vaden, Dave Wiley.

PHI GAMMA DELTA: Bradford Cantwell, Tom Williams, Jr., Carson Greenwood, Duncan McCalman, Grover B. Walser, Robert S. Hays III, Billy Quarles, Fred Blair, King Marshburn, Blackwell Sawyer, Jr., Neill Lee, Hallett Ward, Jr., Arthur Winsor, Claude R. Wilson, James R. Montgomery, Sam Moore, David Moore, Murdock E. Dowd, Jr., William B. York, John A. Holcomb.

PHI KAPPA SIG: Thomas Angel, John Bond, James Carson, Cyrus Earnhardt, Peter Galanides, Robert Garrett, Walter Horton, Roger Jennings, Durward Jones, Jord Jordan, Robert Lee, Charles Martin, Turner Martin, William McCaslin, Jack McCready, Francis McMahon, Robert Milam, Thomas Reich, Roland Sasser, Charles Schultz, Robert Shores, David Simpson, Robert Simpson, William Swink, John Talley, Rickard Taylor, John Uzzell, Robert Warren, Russell Whiteheart, Thomas Whitlock, Hoyle Wilkes, Claude Yates.

PI KAPPA ALPHA: Bob Allison, Ben E. Atkins, Staton Bass, Allman Beaman, Bynum Brown, James H. Butler, Louis H. Campbell, James F. Cloniger, Joe Conine, Joseph D. Fesler, Bob Gaines, Bill Garrison, Joseph Gray, Jr., Lee Griffin, Gordon Hamrick, James Hale, Linsay W. Hill, Bill Hogshead, David A. Kelly, William S. Kelly, Howard Kivett, George Lewis, K. P. Lindsley, Thornton M. Long, Harry Mauney, Clarence M. McGill, Andrew C. Miller, Nick John Miller, John Morton, Steve G. Neely, Jack Phelps, Charles Reaves, Harry Reavis, Alex P. Rickman, Bob Tally, James Teague, Beverly Warner, Woody Williams.

PI KAPPA PHI: Bill Wilkerson, Denny Aldridge, Aaron Jones, Bob Johnson, Dave Cameron, Crawford Hart, C. L. Ezzell, Eddie Seagle, Willard Apple, Harvey Jones, Glen Tucker, Drennen Mann, Nat Magruder, Jim Gaines, Joe Higdon, Jerry Womack, Bill Setzer.

PI LAMBDA PHI: Barry M. Farber, Leonard J. Guyes, Richard Jacobson, William N. Kingoff, Robert L. Kurtz, Sheldon J. Plager, Richard S. Rosen, Alan L. Susman.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON: Marshall Smith, John Smitherman, Victor Grainger, John DeLoach, Frazier Perry, Ed Williams, Jim Reuning, Gordon Johnston, Dalton Ruffin, Barney Boardman, Henry Turner, Ed Gant, John Ross, Sonny Price.

SIGMA CHI: Cullie Adams, James Adams, Julian Albergotti, Buddy Dedgood, Andy Bell, Doug Berger, Mike Carver, Jay Clark, Norman Harden, Francis Hardison, Skeet Hesmer, Sid Hoots, Robert House, Lonnie Johnson, Rodney McKnight, Herman Moore, Vernon Mountcastle, Thomas Price, Bill Rue, John C. Rush, Baird Sills, Lem Smith, Rabbit Smitherman, Joe Terrell, Jack Thompson, Ken Tilley, G. O. Tuck, Ray Weems.

SIGMA NU: Milo Crawford, George Darden, Allan Donald, Paul Edmundson, Robert Fairley, John Ferebee, Richard Fetherolf, Harry Fowler, Arthur Goodwyn, Harry Graves, Sheppard Grist, Irving Holdash, David Howard, Ben James, Jr., Robert Page, Clifford Peacock, Douglas Phipps, Joe Sargent, Buck Small, Bernice Smith, Peyton Smith, Joe Tarlton, John Tayloe, Mac White.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON: Stanley Avery, John Brockman, Douglas Carter, Elwood Clinard, Kent Coward, William Cowburn, Jack Dillon, Norman A. Gillis, Jack Greene, Sterling Hennis, David C. Huntley, Frank Klages, Jr., James L. Merritt, Hunter Morgan, James W. Moore, Herman N. Pickett, Jr., Robert G. Pipkin, Thomas M. Ray, Robert W. Sheek, Jr., Hubert D. Terry, James V. Thompson, John Weaver, George Webb, Robert F. Whitney, Adger Williams.

TAU EPSILON PHI: Al Oringer, Morton Glasser, Billy Schwartz, Roy Buchman, Art Mackler, Bobby Evans, Sol Kimerling, Irwin Sawitz, Aubrey Bronstein.

ZETA BETA: Robert Raskin, Donald Mendel, Donald Prago, Jerry Sternberg, William Karesh, Shelton Gorelick, Bob Goodman, Bob Heiman, Lowell Dreyser.

ZETA PSI: Bob Arthur, Ed Brown, Charles Clayton, Tommy Coxe, Brent Currin, Edgar Betty, John Gower, Spencer Gregory, Bobby Hattaway, Copie Hill, Bill Skinner, Charles Winston, Cal Woodard, Neil Vanstory.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

ONE 5x7 SOLAR ENLARGER, WITH or without lens. Can be seen between 1:30 and 2:30 this afternoon at DAILY TAR HEEL office. See James A. Mills. (1-3000-1)

FULL DRESS SUIT FOR FORMAL wear (tails) size 38-39 long. Midnight blue. In good condition. See D. Evans 306 Grimes. (4-9013-1)

1937 HARLEY-DAVISON MODEL 74 good running condition. See C. S. Capin, 113 Aycock. (2-8025-1)

HELP WANTED 8

PART-TIME MUSIC TEACHER FOR small school. If interested contact Mrs. Orville Coward, 158 Bagley Drive, Vietory Village after 5 p.m. (1-8029-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

LATE 1946 BUICK SUPER AUTO. Radio, heater, cushion tires, excellent condition. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St., after 1 p.m. (3-8031-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

WANTED 2 DUKE-N.C. TICKETS. 29 Old West. (2-3024-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

The
COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

RARE OPPORTUNITY!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL
in SPAIN
BARCELONA GROUP — 65 Days — June 29, 1949
MALAGA GROUP — 65 Days — July 2, 1949
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Information Write
SPANISH STUDENT TOURS
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

NOW!
Better, Brighter Clothes
with
DuPont "Perclene"
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Office)
Synthetic Cleaning Fluid
There's no odor left in garments cleaned with "Perclene"—DuPont's newest and best synthetic cleaner. Removes dirt, grease, oil—with speed and thoroughness. Leaves clothes with original brightness and softness—No shrinkage or damage.
Smith-Prevost
Cleaners
N. COLUMBIA ST. -:- -:- -:- PHONE 3531

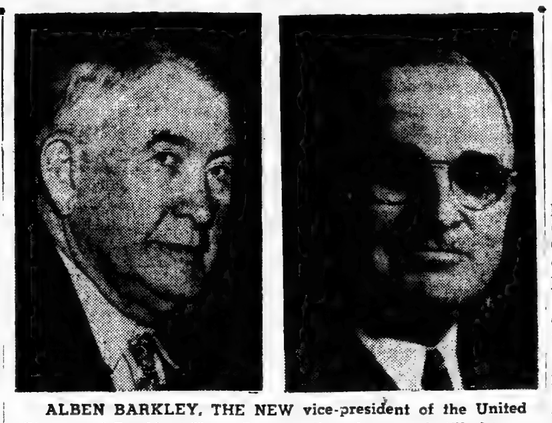
Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

Well, I'll be—Here 'tis Blintz Day again—at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49



EDITORIALS
The People Win
Why Truman Did
Folly's Cholly

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Cool and probable rain.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 36

Dewey Concedes As Truman Takes 304 Electoral Votes

ALBEN BARKLEY, THE NEW vice-president of the United States, and President Harry Truman, the winner and still champion, are shown with facial expressions typical of those they wore through their campaigns. For the last several months, when Mr. Truman was not seen smiling, he has worn the look of bulldog tenacity (above) which some observers say helped win the election for him.

Student Observes Election Deep In Republican Camp

By Jonathan Marshall
(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS, NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—At 4:15 this morning there was still a large crowd in the great ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt, Thomas E. Dewey's campaign headquarters.

Everybody was tired but most of them were still waiting to hear what would happen in the most exciting election in many years.

Early in the evening campaign workers and guests sat quietly watching television sets or the giant results board in the ballroom. They were confident, expecting the rural areas to sweep the Republicans into office.

The workers said it had been an easy campaign because they had known they would win. This confidence waned slowly as the evening wore on.

The first doubts came when it became obvious about 10 o'clock that Chester Bowles would win in Connecticut and then when Bradford conceded Massachusetts they realized that it would be close. Nobody could understand why the rural districts weren't electing GOP congressmen. They listened to returns quietly.

At 11 o'clock I went down to the great ballroom where there was a wait of ten minutes before I could push in. Firemen were watching the crowd carefully, keeping it below 500. But despite the multitude it was orderly.

On one side of the room a band played popular and light classical music. Television cameras were grinding and numbers were being posted on a large board covering one wall of the room. During one lull the television men asked the crowd to cheer so that they could film it for release later on.

The next stop was the sixth-floor headquarters where the staff was still at work. In one room three teletype machines were working and the news was torn off and sent back to various offices. When it was bad it was often held back from the crowd in the ballroom. By that time they knew the Senate was lost but still were confident of the House and presidency.

There was only one noisy party still in progress with dancing and drinking in one room and returns in another. Later this broke up as the news grew more sobering.

Back in the second floor suite where leaders gathered to hear returns, talk, and have a drink, they were worried. William Chadbourne, LaGuardia's campaign manager, said it was hard to tell what was happening because the radio wasn't saying which districts were coming in in each state.

At 1:30 columnist George Sokolski told me Wallace's failure was responsible for the large Truman vote. He said, "We're not saying anything on the radio anymore. We don't dare."

Suddenly, at 2:45 the phone rang and we were told to go down to the ballroom because Dewey was going to speak. When we got there the crowd was pouring back in and the cameramen were getting ready to shoot pictures. The leaders couldn't figure out what Dewey could say at that time. Soon the rumor came down that Herbert Brownell, not Dewey, would speak and we waited. More police and secret service men came in and the tension increased.

The television lights moved

(See GOP HQ, page 4)

Dewey Says Not Again After Three Failures

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Stunned but still smiling, Thomas E. Dewey, who tried three times for the highest office in the United States and failed each time, today said he would never try again.

There were tears in the eyes of women and deep emotion on the faces of men as the defeated presidential candidate said he was proud of his campaign, that he was "as surprised as anybody else" and that he still believed above all in American unity to establish world peace.

Beaten by Wendell Willkie for the GOP nomination in 1940, by Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency in 1944 and now by Harry S. Truman in one of the most spectacular upsets in U.S. political history, Dewey wrote "finis" to his brilliant political career at the age of 46.

He said he would never seek the presidency again nor would he run for re-election as governor of New York when his present term expires two years hence.

"I simply have no plans," he said.

Glass Menagerie Will Come Here In Southern Tour

"The Glass Menagerie," a play by Tennessee Williams, will be presented by a professional touring company at the Playmaker theater on November 11, under the sponsorship of the Carolina Playmakers. The company is headed by Gilbert Leigh, Broadway actor and member of the American National theater and academy (ANTA).

Against a Southern background, the play unfolds a tender story of the hopes, fears, and dreams of a mother, son, and daughter, and the daughter's "gentleman caller." Like life itself, it is deeply touching, very funny, hauntingly sad, and in a quiet unpretentious way it speaks some profound truths.

"The Glass Menagerie" has received more awards than any other play including that of the Drama Critics: and it has been directly responsible for the meteoric rise of Tennessee Williams, its author, to the top ranks of American playwrights. Miss Helen Hayes, America's first lady of the stage is now playing the leading role in London, where the play has been enthusiastically received.

Knowing that "The Glass Menagerie" would be especially interesting to Southern audiences, the Southern states tour has been organized with a distinguished New York cast, all of whom incidentally are from the South. It is being presented by Mr. Leigh, who will play the "gentleman caller." Mr. Leigh is from Birmingham, Alabama. Mr. Lew Sisk, well known actor of stage and radio, will play the part of the son and narrator; Mr. Sisk is from Covington, Ky.

The November 11th production will be the only appearance in this area of the professional touring company. Reserved seats are now on sale at Ledbetter-Pickard's on Franklin street, and at the Playmaker business office in Swain hall.

Latest Returns

By United Press

The presidential popular vote late last night was:

Truman 21,994,652; Dewey 20,217292; Wallace 1,016,577; Thurmond 848,175.

Truman was safely holding his lead in 28 states having 304 electoral votes; Dewey in 16 states having 189; Thurmond in four states with his same 38 electoral votes. Necessary to elect: 266.

The congressional situation was:

Senate—Elected: 24 Democrats, 9 Republicans; holdover: 30 Democrats, 33 Republicans; new total for 81st congress: 54 Democrats, 42 Republicans; 80th congress: 51 Republicans, 45 Democrats; necessary to control: 49.

House of Representatives—Elected: 255 Democrats, 161 Republicans, 1 American Labor; leading in their races: 10 Republicans, 8 Democrats; indicated total for 81st congress: 263 Democrats, 171 Republicans; 1 American Labor; 80th congress: 243 Republicans, 184 Democrats; necessary to control: 218.

Campus Party Calls Meetings Today

The Campus Party has called a meeting tonight at 8:30 in 103 Bingham hall to organize for the fall general elections.

The CP campaign committee will meet in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 2 o'clock this afternoon, party spokesmen said yesterday.

'Mardi Gras' To Open Two-Day Run Tonight

The first performance of "Mardi Gras" will be given tonight in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock. The newest musical comedy written by Pete Strader and produced by Sound and Fury will run again tomorrow night and tickets will be on sale at the door for both performances.

The revised version of "Mardi Gras," which was first given this summer, features an almost entirely new cast and many new songs by Fred Young are added to some of the best by Tread Covington. The exotic dancing of Dusty Moore will again be highlighted.

Bob Thomas plays the hero, young Beau St. Charles, who has been killed and is searching for a dime to pay Charon for the ferry boat ride across the Styx. Anita Gates is cast as the heroine, Meg.

Abetting the romance of Meg and Beau are the fortune teller, Zanobia, played by Bunnie Davis and the personification of Deus ex Machina played by George Grizzard.

Faith Adams and Bill Sanders retain their parts from the summer production as Nita, the pseudo-sophisticate, and Keith, the heel. Jerry Weiss again plays the landlord, and Charon, the ferry boatman, is played by Fred Young.

Campus Leaders Meet for Talks About Vandalism

By Sam McKeel

Making an early attempt to stamp out vandalism in any form, student government leaders from Duke and the University met at Duke Tuesday night and discussed various ways to stop pre-game vandalism.

Pointing to the fact that practically no damage has been done to either school in the past two years, those present at the meeting commended students at both schools for their excellent conduct both at and before the games.

Emphasis was brought on the fact that last week the new victory bell trophy, was carried to Duke by the University cheerleaders. This campus had possession of the bell through the first half of the present season and then turned it over to Duke. The winner of the Duke-Carolina game will take the bell and have possession until the next football game between the two institutions. The bell will be at stake at each football game between the two schools.

Dean Herring of Duke emphasized the fact that while all possible measures will be taken to stop vandalism before it starts, preparations will also be made to apprehend and punish any individual caught in the act of doing any material damage to the school.

Herring said he is "against anything which endangers the good feeling between the two schools. These things," he said, "pop out of a very small element of the student body. It is not representative of the student bodies." Herring went on to say, "I think we should concentrate on two things. First, we should see that we are well protected. We should have adequate police protection on each campus."

County Goes Democratic; Sparrow In

By Herb Nachman

Returns from 15 out of 16 precincts in Orange county showed last night that the Democratic presidential ticket took over 60 percent of the 5,762 votes cast in this county.

The vote was Truman 3,474, Dewey 1,788, Thurmond 355, and Wallace 145.

For the office of constable of Chapel Hill, Republican candidate L. W. Sparrow polled the county election officials reported last night that Democrat Frank Maddry might have won if the people who wrote his name in had X'ed the ballot. Maddry's name was not on the ballot.

In the 6th Congressional district race, the tabulations showed a decisive victory in this county for Carl Durham, D., with 4,206 ballots, Smith, R., had 1,067 and Ross, P., had 148.

For the position of U. S. senator, Democrat Melville Broughton polled 4,060 votes for short term and 4,060 votes for regular term over Republican candidate John Wilkinson's 1,226.

In the race for county commissioner, the three Democratic candidates, Cobb, Wilson and Laws polled a total of 11,770 votes over Republican opponents McBane, Hunt and Pendergraft's 3,860.

For the state House of Representatives, John Umstead won by a one-sided tally of 4,056 over Republican opponent Weaver who took 1,260 votes. Doris Friedland, P., took 119.

Democratic candidates took Orange county by overwhelming majorities for the state offices of governor, lt. governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, atty-general, supt. of instruction, comm. of agriculture, comm. of labor and associate justice state supreme court.

A breakdown of the constitutional amendment vote was not available last night. However, Hillsboro reported that only one amendment, that for raising legislative salaries, got the nod in the county.

One precinct in Orange, Patterson, had not reported by the time election offices closed last night.

Identification Urged for Dogs In Chapel Hill

University dog-owners were urged yesterday to provide proper identification for their pets if they wish to keep them in Chapel Hill this winter. An announcement from the local SPCA stated that all stray dogs on the campus will be placed in a private kennel if arrangements can be made for them. If no arrangements can be made, the dogs will be taken to the Chapel Hill city pound.

Dogs taken to the pound are kept for five days in order that their owner may claim them, if they are not claimed, they are destroyed. A flat fine of $2.50 is charged any owner who claims his pet after he has been placed in the pound by authorities.

Proper identification for the dogs includes a collar, a city license and a tag indicating a rabies shot. These should be acquired as soon as possible as efforts will be made to collect any stray dogs before the arrival of cold weather.

Democrats Win Control Of Congress

By United Press

Harry S. Truman won the presidency of the United States and a solidly Democratic Congress yesterday in one of the most astonishing political upsets in history.

He won against impossible odds after the tightest presidential race in 32 years.

Counted out long ago by the public opinion polls and deserted by his own party's left and right wings, the man from Missouri jumped into the lead on the first scattered returns Tuesday afternoon and never was headed.

The race ended at 11:14 yesterday morning when New York's Republican Governor Thomas E. Dewey threw up his hands and conceded defeat.

The news was flashed to the far corners of the earth and into a Kansas city hotel room where Mr. Truman was waiting.

He grinned a big Missouri grin and hugged his brother, J. Vivian Truman.

"I just want to deserve the honor," he said.

Thus the Democratic regime that Franklin D. Roosevelt swept into power in 1932 and passed to Mr. Truman on his death in 1945 was extended again and will cover a span of at least 20 years.

Millions of young Americans who cast their first presidential vote Tuesday cannot remember a Republican administration.

Returns still were coming in from outlying districts across the land. But the president was a million and a half votes ahead of the 46-year-old GOP challenger in popular votes and 28 states with 304 electoral college votes were in his grasp.

That was 38 more than a winning majority of the 531 electoral college votes.

Mr. Truman and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, were in.

And Dewey, a 15-to-1 shot in election eve to reverse the defeat he suffered at the hands of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944, probably had come to the end of the political trail. Twice-beaten at the polls, he said he would never seek the presidency again.

Crushed with him in the stunning Truman victory were the Southern States Rights rebels led by Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and the left-wing New Dealers who followed Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party banner.

Dixiecrats Are Stuck With Their 38 Votes

ATLANTA, Nov. 3.—(UP)—The States' Rights Democrats were thunderstruck tonight in the shock-waves of the Truman upset. They had 38 electoral votes and they were stuck with them.

There was a barely discernable sign that they might seek to return to the regular Democratic fold. States' Rights presidential entry J. Strom Thurmond remarked that the civil rights rebellion, after all, had been "a fight within our own family."

Thurmond then felicitated Mr. Truman by telegram but he did not come right out and congratulate him on his victory.

Loyal Democrats who had been caught in the middle in the civil rights fight were as jubilant as the holders of long-shot sweepstakes tickets.

Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama, for instance, had been on the brink of political eclipse before the presidential outcome became known. Tonight he rode high in authentic Democratic circles because he had waged an election-eve battle to deliver Alabama's 11 votes to Mr. Truman even though the president wasn't on the state score-sheet.

Other Southern Democratic leaders, such as incoming Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, had cannily played it down the middle all the way and were in strategic position to ride along with the Truman tide. The same would have been the case for them had Thomas E. Dewey won and the States' Righters become a dominant Southern faction on the strength of their contribution of a Truman defeat.

The States' Righters carried Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi

(See DIXIECRATS, page 4)

Senate Approves Nomination Bill By Close Ballot

Spirited discussion of coed election procedures was settled this week when a new bill, to go into effect at the December voting, was passed by Coed Senate at a special session Monday night, with Speaker Fran Angas's vote breaking a 9 to 9 deadlock.

Although the bill will not affect party nominations, it sets up a procedure intended to provide a more democratic method of nominating for coed offices, and also provides that members of Coed Senate shall be elected directly by their constituents rather than by the entire coed student body.

Nominations will be made at a compulsory coed mass meeting to be held two weeks before elections, which occur on the same date as other campus voting. Each nomination presented at the mass meeting must be accompanied by a petition signed by 15 women students, with no majority coming from any one social organization.

One week before the mass meeting, coeds will attend house meetings at which regulations, qualifications and formalities of elections will be explained.

Among Elections Listeners It Was Truman Ten to One

By Bill Buchan

Approximately 10 avid Truman men took their seats in Graham Memorial's main lounge early Tuesday night and when Dewey conceded the election at 11:15 yesterday morning, they were still there.

During the evening they were joined by a large number of students representing all sides of the political ledger, but if there were any there besides Democrats after midnight, they kept the secret strictly to themselves.

The group who weathered the fight with Truman left the lounge only to eat breakfast. At least two of the loyal Democrats were on hand at all times to listen to the radio and keep the large blackboard up to date.

During the very early morning hours there were more than 25 students listening to the steady election news, but many of them took short naps on the couches. The highlight of the evening came just before midnight when Truman went ahead of Dewey in New York for a few minutes. After the state went back to Dewey, it was a slow matter of adding up the electoral votes of the smaller states with an occasional lead in a major state for Truman.

One loyal Dewey man sported a blue necktie with his candidate's picture. This disappeared, however, around 4 o'clock. During the morning hours yesterday the lounge was filled with hopeful Democrats and hopeless Republicans. Those watching the returns never were able to find out what happened to the Young Republican club which had slated a victory meeting on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

Aerial Thrills Planned Sunday For Air Circus

Aerial thrills galore will be presented to students and residents of Chapel Hill Sunday afternoon when the all-star air show takes over at the Chapel Hill airport, Monogram club president Bill Pritchard announced yesterday.

The air-show is being sponsored by the Monogram club and will begin at 3 o'clock with a delayed parachute jump from 10,000 feet altitude. Twelve acts will feature the two hour program.

Stunt pilots will perform automobile-airplane pick-ups and wing-walking events, an airplane will be landed on the top of an automobile, and a pilot will fly an airplane while sitting on a wing strut outside the cockpit during the show.

In order that spectators may see all the stunts closely, special arrangements have been made by Pritchard for cars to be parked on the airfield.

Kansas Wet

By United Press

Kansas is going wet, South Carolina ditched its anti-divorce law, and Massachusetts voters refused to authorize doctors to give birth control information to married women.

These were among the first results to emerge from the tabulation of returns on more than 175 special issues put to voters in more than half of the 48 states in Tuesday's elections.

Proposed state bonuses for World War II veterans were given a mixed reception. Iowa, South Dakota, and Indiana voted "yes" in a big way.

In Washington, a bonus proposal was leading on the basis of incomplete returns. But Wisconsin and Nebraska turned thumbs down on bonuses, and Missouri was following at the half-way mark in the vote count.

Sadie Hawkins Day Frolics Scheduled for Next Friday

By Rube Dickinson

Next Friday is Sadie Hawkins Day 'bout everywhere from Dogpatch to Shmoosville, and consequently campus folks hereabouts are laying plans for a git-together and funfest the likes o' which will have never been witnessed in these parts.

The woman-chase-man regalia will get started at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at Y court with a parade which is scheduled to sally through the village business district and by the dormitories, then onward to Fetzer field and the feature event of the day, the Hooman race.

Everything's gotta be handled by somebody with a flair for showmanship, so sponsoring this year's day of festivity will be three organizations, the Carolina Independent Coed association, the Western North Carolina club and the Town Girls association.

Marryin' Sam, the rotund gent who follows the unpopular trade of marryin' up willin' wimmin wif unwillin' men, will be on hand to throw a hitch-knot around those couples which consist of one fast woman and one slow man.

A square dance in Woollen gym will top off the day's proceedings and will feature the giving away of prizes to those who had extra good costumes and floats at the parade.

To this git-fiddle affair gals can start draggin' their "catches" any time from 8:30 on and can rest assured that no one will let their newly-weds out until the stroke of midnight.

The People Win

Anybody want to buy a dozen public opinion polls cheap? They are going at a sacrifice today since their owners have recently decided to take options on some nice street corner locations and go into the retail apple business. Several well known news columnists and radio commentators are also offering free to anyone who will take it off their hands the title of "political expert."

Cause of these quick transactions is Dark Horse Harry Truman who crossed up the know-all, tell-all boys yesterday and left their reputations for accuracy in a pretty bankrupt state.

The pollsters and prognosticators weren't the only ones caught off base as Truman and the Democratic party swept national and state elections. Most of the country—including the majority of Democrats—was more than somewhat surprised, and well they might be, for all indications pointed against Truman. The Wallaceites and the Dixiecrats weakened the Democratic party, most of the American press backed the Republicans, and even the Democrats themselves appeared to be paying only lip service to their candidate. In fact everything was against Harry Truman except the people.

The election was significant in several ways. For one thing, it demonstrated that the Democratic party should never be sold short. For another, it showed that no one knows public opinion except the public—and the public doesn't know it knows. Most important, however, the unexpected victory of the Democratic party proved that in spite of pressure groups, money and propaganda the American government still belongs to the people.

Why Truman Succeeded

The people spoke election day. They had confidence in the Democratic party and its policies. But actually in our opinion it was the confidence the people had in the manner our government had carried their share of the duties to the world.

They repudiated Wallace, because Peace as a platform is a nebulous dream without practical American action. Dewey was repudiated, because his helpmates did not give assurance to the people that every effort towards peace would be taken, but rather that the flexing of Yankee muscle would be tried. Thomas was disregarded, because he had no new idea to present to the people that they had not heard before, and which had not already been incorporated into the platforms of the major parties. Thurmond did carry a few states, but the people of this nation condoned the action of those states, because they knew that education was still lacking there; otherwise there would have been an abhorance of anything that smacked of the riders in the night—the Klan.

The American people voted and showed the world that they believed in the successor to the man who had conceived the United Nations; however haltingly Truman may have acted so far. Time will tell. At least the American people know that the policies that have been followed by the intelligent and careful lieutenants Mr. Truman has selected are right, and we wish them to continue.

The champ is still the champ. Let us all pull and pray that he will be a great champ who will have the world at heart.

—LK

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Dan Wallace, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Mary Frances Johnston, Jimmie Foust, Norma Neville, John Van Hecke, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawlee, Bob Fowler.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hydson, Shasta Bryant, Lowell Brittain, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

ON CAMPUS:

ON THE ROAD. Those happy-go-lucky Yack photographers decided that their time at the Hill was just about up—that it was time to pack up and go—sooo one sticks another one in a big, black box and closes the lid on the poor yelping fellow. And they're off!

POLITICIAN'S SPECIAL. The comment that brought Prof. Cathey's class back into consciousness was a monotone from the front row the day of the big election, "All these confounded politicians should have one song dedicated to them—'You Can't Be True.'"

MO' POLITICS. Just why does Jim Mead in Everett claim he's never, never going to politic again? That's all the scoop we have on his latest statement for the press. And what's the deal on Art Ingle's note to Bill Payeff which reads: "How about that job you promised me if you got elected?"

CLUB CLOCK. We have all sorts of hometown-Carolina news for you; so we'll just put it all together for digestion at will. First of all—congratulations to the new officers. On the Wilmington slate we find George Daughtry holding the reins, with the help of Dan McClain, Pat Hardwick, and Eloise Jacobi. And Pfohla Wilmoth has taken over Bob Haire's position as president of the Winston-Salem group. The other officers are Roy Braswell and Marty Hinkle, who are now working out plans for a Thanksgiving dance in the Twin City. Incidentally, the Wilmingtonians are breaking all records with meetings and more meetings this fall.

ALL OUT for election day was Dan Harris, whom we've all come to recognize by his omni-present Wallace button, hit the jack-pot Tuesday with TWO buttons.—one on his shirt and another on his coat.

CLOSE SHAVE. Talk about getting clipped—just check that gash on Phil Stone's sideburn and hear his wae-begone tale of a severe barber.

PATIENCE PERSONIFIED. Of all the faces we've seen lined up and down the hall powdered and shaved for mug cuts, the most patient was that of Marietta Duke. There she sat knitting away on a pair of argyles for a 45 year-old man.

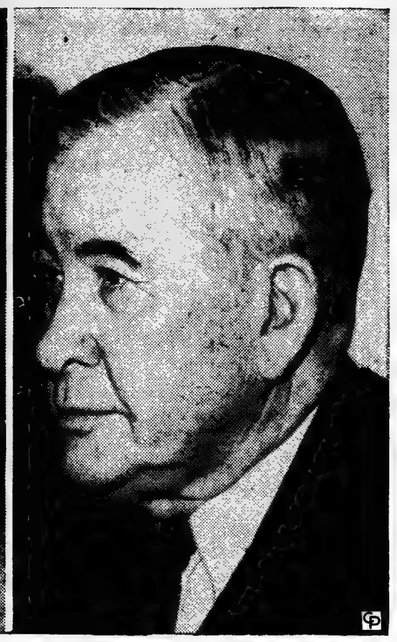
TALENT DISCOVERED! Barbara Young, was quite the surprised lil' girl last weekend when her singing led to a wire recording. Betcha' her date Dave Burney was mighty proud of her.

UP A POLE. Just what the dickens were those two characters doing on top of that light pole last Friday night. Some people just climb poles; some use them to lean against; others use them for lights; but never before have we seen two people perched on top of one.

ALL THE WAY. Big as ever on the engine cab in the current movie, "Red River," was the number 22. All of which proves that more than one Choo Choo is named 22. Incidentally, we hear our boy is more than somewhat superstitious. When he left his cherished one-half cent piece at home last week-end, he almost called Sarah to bring it to him.

MANY THANKS from the Graham Memorial staff to the sorority pledges for the help they've contributed on the tabulation of student activity cards. And while we're talking about it, you folks at the head of organizations best make use of those cards this year. They could be a lot of help to you.

IN TOWN.



He MUST BE A BRAIN! Did you know that Ted Danziger is a Phi Bete graduate of Carolina, with a major in chemistry?

HERE'S HOPING that Mrs. J. L. Sutton is getting along better after her accident with the cash register. Seems that piece of plunder fell on her and gave her quite a knock.

Starring on the First Team

HARRY S. TRUMAN

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

Chóllie's Follies

Gung Be "Two Two Twain"

By Charlie Gibson

TOUSHAY for TODAY: The person who gets into the public eye may still be just a little squirt. Consider the grapefruit.

PROS and KANS: "Mardi Gras," S and F show breaking loose Thursday and Friday, is reported re-Stradered completely. Enough new gags to make the Spinx rock like jello. Donotmissit . . WSSF . . Hold the phone! Why are Carolina Inn inmates the only telephone users in town required to deposit nickles for local calls? . . WSSF . . The only time anyone will ever see Wayne Brenengen sitting down, relaxed, with nothing to do around campus, will probably be during his graduation exercises this January . . WSSF . . The Monogram Clubhouse directors better hustle and start serving meals to the public soon. That swanky new building must draw larger crowds to succeed as the dorm area's delux oasis.

FOURTH ESTATE STATIC: Bill Duncan, already Yacking away industriously, says the next yearbook theme will be "Yesterday and Tomorrow" . . WSSF . . Notice the timely short story entitled "The Gentle Bounce" in the latest New Yorker. Tis really written by one of Carolina's own—David Schermerhorn—about one of Carolina's own fraternities . . WSSF . . The new Carolina Quarterly debuts in early December with the best in student fiction and articles by such big-name contributors as Paul Green, Archibald Henderson, and Hardin Craig . . WSSF . . Added to the local writing colony is Chris White, May Court cutie last year. Chris graduated, then missed Chapel Hillife so much that she returned, determined to become an author, a Playmaker, part-time student, or even sorority housemother. Now lads are dreaming this season of both a White Christmas and a Miss Chris White.

Passing Sentence

Four Years Goldbricking

By Jonathan Marshall

In one of his seminars here last week Lewis Mumford, well known author, architect, and city planner, said that atomic warfare is already out of date—whole continents can have their population wiped out in a year by biological warfare.

Perhaps it would do us some good to do some serious thinking for a change.

I have lived on two other college campuses before coming to Chapel Hill last year. Nevertheless, despite the fact that students in other places refuse to face their responsibilities, I was amazed at the degree of escapism here.

It is true that we have a fine and active student government, numerous political groups, and several good discussion groups. Nevertheless, only a small fraction of the student body takes part in these activities. We are called the leaders of the future, but few of us avail ourselves of the opportunity to prepare to be leaders; a quick look at the present world situation shows the need for intelligent leadership.

There will always be students coming to college just for a degree, to find a husband or wife, to have a good time, or to pass four years goldbricking, and little can be done to make them think. The majority, however, would think if they received a little prodding.

What can be done to make us face our responsibilities? The faculty can raise standards and make the students study—no, this isn't heresy, for most professors are too lenient for our own good. The administration might institute required convocations on important current problems—weekly, or they will be of no use. Perhaps there should even be examinations on world problems before students are permitted to advance from one class to the next.

We seem to be living in an age typified by the quiz show, we want to get everything for nothing. It is true that man has not yet discovered a means of making himself face reality, but both student and faculty leaders should give some thought to arousing the student body from its lethergy—our sleep is only broken for weekend football games, parties, and dates.

As students we have two choices. We can participate in trying to build a peaceful and prosperous future by thinking and working for the good of mankind. Or, we can selfishly live only for ourselves until we are all killed.

This Is Carolina

S&F Let The Music Roar

By Lincoln Kan

Let the music roar and the drums thunder. After many trying years the Sound and Fury, Carolina's music and fun group seems to be here to stay.

Its history is interesting. Way back when, the group was called the Wigue and Masque. The leaders who were then receiving their academic, as well as musical training, were such big names as Kay "How yu'all" Kyser, Hal Kemp and Norman "Met" Cordon. If we had a time-machine, it would be interesting to say the least to go back and catch one of their shows.

However, time waits for no man . . . so . . . we move on to 1940 when the present day Sound and Fury begat itself. It all began with a series of jamboree whee programs for the benefit of the students and faculty. The original founders of S&F wanted something that would give the chance to fellow students to emote without dramatics and tears. In other words, a ham's paradise was offered.

That first year in May, Carolina's first Billy Rose, Carroll McGauhey, Jr. directed "One More Spring." It was a take-off on college activities in a small southern town on a dance weekend. Jack Page, Jim Byrd and an old friend of this columnist Sanford Stien put their sadism together and proceeded to lampoon the "H" out of us. The authors of "One More Spring" got more than just student praises, for they were awarded a joint $720 scholarship by the American Society of Composers and Authors over the heavy competition.

The following year the S&F kept up with the times and introduced the Dixie-conga. Students shook out of Memorial Hall throwing their sacroiliacs out of joint as the show ended. There were a tear or two when Jane Dickinson sang "The Willow Tree Cried."

In 1942, the S&F got patriotic while their former grads were out in Uncle Samuel's big show. They took "Bagdad Daddy" to Fort Bragg and showed the khaki boys the sultans 365 wives; however, as we heard it, there were only 75 people in the cast (one wag said some of the wives must have been on vacation.)

Then the S&F went into hibernation until our own Billy Carmichael the third led the crew in "What a World" in 1947.

Let the curtain rise, and hold on to your seat folks; If the S &F can't make us laugh well then it's a helluva world.

Write Away

Comments on DTH

Editor:

I think that Mr. Stephenson (Edward A., that is) is a little mixed up or can't he count (or read) up to no. 300—words that is. On the whole, I think that Mr. Lowenstein is right about the Wallacites—. But don't you think that he is being just a little narrowminded about it all? (1)

What happened to the crossword puzzle that we had last year? I propose that you get it back; the one that we now have is entirely too hard for an average college student to work. Agree? (2)

Please, couldn't we have Drew Pearson back. Mr. Peggler and these others are very nice people but their minds are just a little bit warped—to put it mildly. (3)

In order to preserve sanity I suggest that we never again have an article about "cranberry sauce." If you get that bad off for something to fill the space with, go ahead and put Peggler in it. There might be someone on the campus who would enjoy it. I am sure that Mr. Buchan was the only one that enjoyed Mr. Buchan's article. "Odds And Ends" is a very good article, but I think that it could be improved if you would use more names and get a wider variety. In other words, write about people other than your friends. (4)

Don't you think Lincoln Kan is in a rut? (5)

All kidding aside though, I think that the present DTH is one of the best we have ever had here at Carolina. Love and kisses. . . . . (6)

Marvin Angel

(1—Nope. 2—University of North Carolina students are supposed to be above the average. 3—Under consideration. 4—We're working on it. 5—Aren't we all. 6—Thanks.)

Matter of Opinion

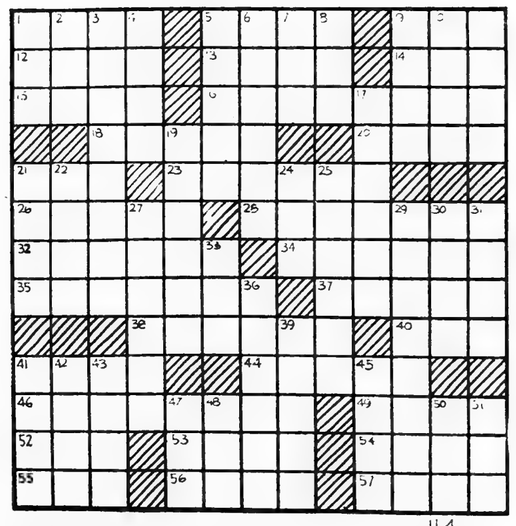
Editor:

In a recent letter, Al Lowenstein made a comment about the Progressives siding "with the dictators" in their "monumental struggle" against free men. Mr. Lowenstein perhaps confuses the Progressive Party with some other party. The Progressive Party is against Franco, against the Greek royalists, against Chiang Kai-shek, against rebuilding the Krupp and IG Farben empire, against Jim Crow and the Un-Americans.

Mr. Lowenstein also wished to know the points of diagreement between the Communist and non-Communist supporters of the Progressive coalition; they can be stated fairly simply:

(1) Socialism (Of course, I don't know if "Socialist" candidate Norman Thomas still considers socialism a "significant issue");

(2) Marxism as a world outlook; especially



(3) The precise nature of civil liberties.

It is true that in the current cleavage of the world into two camps, Wallace and the Communists are on the same side: the cleavage, however, is not American-Russian. On one side are the bi-partisans, for whom the world exists for the exclusive exploitation by a few banking houses, and are ready to enforce their program by war. Opposing them are all those who feel the earth belongs to its inhabitants; despite very serious disagreements within this camp, there is no issue too big to be settled by mutual compromise.

By the same token, Mr. Lowenstein and Norman Thomas find themselves in the bi-partisan camp, the tone of which is set by the Un-Americans, not by their pseudo-liberal allies. There is no "third force." The "Socialist" governments of France and England (the "free men" of Europe to Mr. Lowenstein) play third fiddle to the State department. These "free men" aren't interested in freedom for Indo-China, Madagascar or Malaya; they are using troops to break strikes; while monopoly profits are steadily rising in "Socialist" England.

The world-wide struggle between the bi-partisans and the Progressives is monumental indeed. Unfortunately, Mr. Lowenstein is on the wrong side.

Hans Freistadt

HORIZONTAL
1. fearless
5. small rugs
9. the sun
12. avow
13. Great Lake
14. wine vessel
15. devastate
16. quieted
18. web-footed, long-necked birds
20. serf
21. personal pronoun
23. metric units of length
26. type of velvet
28. promoted
32. Mohammedan princes
34. juice of bully tree
35. lowers
37. ornamentation
38. term of office
40. high explosive (abbr.)
41. comfort
44. danger
46. saddle parts
49. river in Russia
52. soggy mass
53. the dill
54. Russian ruler
55. printer's measures
56. pike-like fish
57. mountain in Thessaly

VERTICAL
1. obstruct
2. eggs
3. diminished
4. American actor
5. middle point
6. awn
7. sesame
8. observe
9. pouches
10. portent
11. load
17. cuddle
19. mulct
21. box
22. draft harness part
24. recede
25. primer
27. neither masculine nor feminine
29. undiplomatic
30. type of jacket
31. javelin
33. Japanese coin
36. evening meal
39. desists
41. being
42. solar disk
43. takes small drinks
45. within
47. remnant
48. Spenserian character
50. duct
51. macaw

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	O	B		S	P	A	R	E		A	D	O
A	I	L		P	A	R	I	S		R	I	P
S	L	A	T	E		E	N	T	R	A	P	S
T	Y	R	A	N	T		D	A	U	B
		N	I	T	E	R		T	E	S	T	S
A	B	E	L		N	A	R	E	S		R	A
S	A	Y		P	O	R	E	S		P	E	G
E	L		T	A	R	E	S		P	O	K	E
A	K	R	O	N		R	I	P	E	R
		A	I	D	S		N	E	S	T	L	E
B	A	L	L	O	O	N		N	O	R	I	A
A	L	E		R	O	U	N	D		A	N	T
G	A	S		A	N	N	A	S		Y	E	S

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Soccer Eleven Will Face Duke Here Today

MONOGRAM MUSINGS

By Bill Pritchard

Mammoth Air Show

As part of the big football and German Club weekend, the Monogram Club has added to the program one of the largest and most spectacular air shows in the United States. After securing special permission from the Civil Aeronautics Board, plans were completed for the presentation of the Haskell A. Deaton All-Star Air Show next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chapel Hill airport. In sponsoring this great show, the club will be completing a plan begun last spring when it first contacted Mr. Deaton concerning the possibility of such a venture. This weekend was selected as one of the largest of the fall term and thereby was chosen for the occasion. The admission fee will be only $1.00 (children escorted by parents will be admitted free).

This show will be just the thing for those ol' Sunday morning "coffee nerves" fellows, and is guaranteed to make you forget that Sunday marks the depths of despair due to the beginning of a new school week. To be seen during the course of the two hours will be such breath-taking feats as an airplane landing on the top of a moving automobile; a delayed parachute jump from ten thousand feet up with the 'chute not opening until only a few hundred feet over the ground; a radio-controlled plane which will take some selected spectator, from the audience, on a thrill-a-minute ride in a pilotless plane; plain ol' everyday wingwalking and many other equally exciting and dangerous feats of skill and iron nerve.

The program is scheduled to begin promptly at 3 o'clock Sunday. Spectators are advised to come early in order to avoid congestion. Parking space has been obtained at the airport and there will be room for cars. Early arrivers will be parked so as to permit them to witness the entire show from their car.

In a statement today concerning the show, President Gus Johnston said that he was very pleased to be presenting this type of program to the students. Depending upon the outcome and interest shown by attendance Sunday, the Monogram club might very well arrange for more of this type of entertainment to be presented here under its sponsorship in the near future.

All in all, the show should prove very interesting as there will be at least twelve closely-knit and fast-moving acts to keep interest from lagging, and it will certainly prove to be a novelty for routine Chapel Collich, if nothing else, so plan to come out that afternoon and enjoy a wonderful show.

Good Neighbors

As a part of the good neighbor policy of the local club and in connection with the Big Four Monogram Council, Gus Johnston has invited the officers, and their dates, from the other three Big Four Schools to be guests of the home club for dinner Sunday and the air show which will follow that afternoon. Arrangements have been made with Mr. West, who is manager of the club dining room, to have dinner as a group, at the clubhouse. The visitors will be shown over the building and possibly the entire campus, if they so desire. Following this, there will be short discussion period between the officers for the purpose of exchanging ideas and thoughts concerning the betterment of respective clubs and interscholastic relations of the athletic and social nature. Upon the end of this discussion, the guests will be escorted to the airport for the show.

In initiating this type of thing, the Monogram Club has the interest of the students as well as the campus, in general, at heart. It is sincerely hoped that through get-togethers such as these that the four schools can become better acquainted with one another and fashion an everlasting policy of good sportsmanship and brotherhood between the students of the respective institutions. Contact at athletic events is a good starter. . . keep the ball rolling.

No Movies

Due to the Sound and Fury production scheduled for Memorial Hall this Thursday night there will not be a showing of the Tennessee movies this week. However, next week they will definitely be shown along with the movies of the Wm. and Mary game.

Locals Oppose Unbeaten Devils On Fetzer Field

By Larry Fox

If it rains this afternoon when Carolina's booters attempt to extend their winning streak to four games at the expense of the undefeated Duke eleven on Fetzer field, the Tar Heels will be ready for it.

For the local booters scrimmaged most of yesterday afternoon amid the downpour, prepping for today's encounter. Game time is 3 o'clock at Fetzer field.

Included in the trio of consecutive wins are three whitewashings, so the Tar Heels are shooting at a double goal. Virginia, Roanoke, and Washington and Lee have all fallen to locals via the shutout route.

Duke, which has essentially the same team as last year when the Blue Devils split a two-game series with the Allenmen, will be no pushover. Sparked by several Latin American booters, the most outstanding win for Duke thus far in the campaign came over Richmond Professional institute to the tune of 12-1.

One of the South American stars accounted for six goals while another notched five, to provide a challenge for the strong Tar Heel defense, which has yielded only seven goals in six games. Carolina has scored 14 goals in fashioning its 4-1-1 record.

Coach Marvin Allen will field still another combination today, among the halfbacks. Centerhalf Gus Johnston will probably be unable to play, due to a knee injury, and co-captain Jesse Greenbaum will be moved over from left halfback. Bill Lyons will remain at right half and Mac Hagaman will enter the lineup in Greenbaum's spot.

Joe Bach also has a bad leg, but he will probably start against Duke.

Otherwise, the starting Tar Heel eleven will be the same as usual. Tommy Jordan, Pete Hexner, Dave Boak, Dave Ferebee, and Bach will comprise the forward line.

The defensive allignment will also be the same, with fullbacks Buck Blankenship and co-captain Frank Nelson and goalie Al Williams.

The Rains Came

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 3 —(UP)—The players who were supposed to run away with the prizes had plenty of ground to make up today as the annual North and South open golf tournament moved into the second round with veteran Chick Harbert and unknowns Glenn Teal and Julius Boros in front.

Each of the three pacemakers fired a four-under-par 68 in the opening round yesterday over the Pinehurst country club course as the big-namers ran into trouble and dropped behind.

Harbert of Detroit carded a 34-34 as did Boros, an amateur from Bridgeport, Conn., while Teal of Charlotte, N. C., had 35-33. One stroke off the pace was veteran pro Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, and then came Slammin' Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with 70.

Carolina Seen As Logical Choice By Bowl Officials

With the 1948 football season more than half over the proprietors of the nation's bowls are beginning their serious shopping for suitable New Year's day matches.

Most of the nation's top teams are eagerly awaiting initial bids to some post-season game. Only the holier than thou Big Nine and Ivy League teams are turning deaf ears on the New Orleans, Miami, Dallas, Birmingham, Jacksonville, or Memphis invitations.

The University of North Carolina leads all contenders as they are on the tentative list released by every major bowl. Wake Forest is the only other North Carolina team being considered by one of the five major bowls that have signified their intentions.

The New Orleans Sugar bowl, generally acknowledged as the top New Year's day battle, has Carolina at the top of its list along with Southern Methodist and Georgia Tech. The Orange bowl scouts are eyeing Carolina and Georgia Tech among others. The Cotton bowl always features the Southwest conference champion and the odds-on favorite to cop the Southwestern title is SMU, but Texas and Baylor are still in the running. Carolina, Missouri, and Oklahoma are being considered as the other team for the Cotton bowl. Birmingham's Dixie bowl, an up-and-coming post-season attraction, is considering Carolina, Wake Forest, Clemson, Villanova, Baylor, SMU, and Oklahoma. The Jacksonville Gator bowl has sent scouts to watch Carolina, Texas, Boston College, Clemson, Oklahoma, and Tennessee.

Steve Snider Says Carolina, Deacons Will Win Saturday

By Steve Snider

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Only one of the nation's nine major unbeaten football teams appeared likely today to be toppled from the perfect record circle this weekend.

All but Pennsylvania have a clear-cut pre-game edge. Penn tackles unbeaten but once tied Penn State at Philadelphia and we'll take a flier on Penn State in this struggle of single-wing power attacks.

Among the rest only Georgia Tech has much of a tussle in prospect against Tennessee, which proved in the North Carolina game it can be pretty rugged on defense. But Tech still figures to be the Southeast's best.

Carolina Is Choice

The unbeaten: Army over Stanford—Too much for the fast-improving Westerners. Penn State over Pennsylvania — An edge, maybe, on attack. Michigan over Navy — Everybody's doin' it. California over UCLA—By 14 or more. Notre Dame over Indiana—Hoosier iron men don't figure to hold 'em. Georgia Tech over Tennessee—On speed, power and finesse. North Carolina over William and Mary—Not so tough as last year. Nevada over Santa Clara—Heath adds plenty to his passing record. Clemson over Furman—Easy.

The East: Dartmouth over Columbia — Developing into real power. Cornell over Colgate—By 14. Harvard over Princeton — Should be close.

The Midwest: Northwestern over Wisconsin—More power and reserves to back it up. Minnesota over Purdue—An edge up front. Missouri over Oklahoma — Tossup. Both have been belting the Southwest.

Wake Over Duke

The South: Georgia over Florida—Georgia is rolling fast. Tulane over VMI—A setup. Wake Forest over Duke — A killer-diller. Don't bet the rent money.

The Southwest: Baylor over Texas—A tight squeak. Southern Methodist over Texas A. and M. —A romp for Walker. Arkansas over Rice — Razorbacks have enough for this.

The Far West: Oregon over Washington—Washington is near the cellar. Washington State over Oregon State—Sharper offense.

Weather Cramps Mural Play

Old Man weather was the deciding factor yesterday in Intramural tag football and tennis competition, with all games and matches called off because of the Chapel Hill precipitation.

Fraternity teams were scheduled to play their sixth game of a seven game schedule, as the first round of play is rapidly drawing to a close. Only six teams boast perfect records, Zeta Psi 2 being tops on the list, with six straight wins in league 1. Pi Kappa Phi has a 5-0 slate in league 2, but Sigma Nu and Phi Gam 1 are still very much in the running.

A red hot game is expected today when the unbeaten Beta 1 outfit tangles with an ATO 1 eleven that has dropped only one tilt in five starts, in a game that might decide the loop 3 championship. In league 4 Kappa Sig 1 and SAE 1 appear to have things well in hand, with five victories apiece against no defeats. The Phi Delt 1 gridders are well ahead of the pack in league 5, having won five and lost none.

Frosh Harriers Meet Duke Friday

The freshman cross country track team went through time trials yesterday afternoon in preparation for their meet with Duke freshmen on the local course tomorrow afternoon. The frosh harriers were very impressive according to coach Dale Ranson in their running of the two and a half mile course.

Gorden Hamrich paced the winners with a time of 13 minutes and 49 seconds. Don Thurber and Fentriss Segroves finished in a tie for the runner-up spot. Jim Conley took the fourth position while fifth and sixth went to Hubert Tics and Tom Field respectively.

Roundup of Mural Activities

Football Standings

(FRATERNITY DIVISION)

LEAGUE 1

	W	L	PCT.
Zeta 2	6	0	1.000
Lambda Chi 2	4	2	.667
Chi Psi	4	2	.667
Chi Phi 1	4	2	.667
SAE 2	3	3	.500
Sig Eps	2	4	.333
KA 2	1	5	.167
Phi Delta Chi	0	6	.000

LEAGUE 2

	W	L	PCT.
Pi Kappa Phi	5	0	1.000
Sigma Nu 1	4	1	.800
Phi Gam 1	4	1	.800
KA 1	3	2	.600
Delta Sig Pi	3	3	.500
TEP	2	3	.400
DKE 1	1	5	.167
Phi Delt 2	0	7	.000

LEAGUE 3

	W	L	PCT.
Beta 1	5	0	1.000
ATO 1	4	1	.800
Kap Sig 2	4	1	.800
DKE 2	4	1	.800
ZBT	2	3	.400
PiKA 2	1	4	.200
Pi Lambda Phi	1	5	.167
Lambda Chi 1	0	4	.000

LEAGUE 4

	W	L	PCT.
Kappa Sig 1	5	0	1.000
SAE 1	5	0	1.000
ATO 2	3	2	.600
Kappa Psi	2	2	.500
Phi Gam 2	2	3	.400
AEPi	1	3	.250
KA 3	1	4	.200
Sigma Nu 2	0	5	.000

LEAGUE 5

	W	L	PCT.
Phi Delt 1	5	0	1.000
Phi Kappa Sig	3	2	.600
Sigma Chi	3	2	.600
PiKA 1	3	2	.600
Zeta 1	2	2	.500
St. Anthony	2	3	.400
Chi Phi 2	1	4	.200
Beta 2	0	4	.000

TRACK MEET TODAY

There will be a Blue-White intrasquad track meet today on Fetzer field track starting at 3 o'clock. This is the third in a series of practice meets which has found each team winning one of the previous contests.

TAG FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Field 1. Oakwood Drive vs Bombers: 2. BVP vs QH 9; 3, Whitehead vs Fireballs: 4. Grads vs Med School 2; 5, Lewis vs AROTC 2: 6. PiKA 1 vs St. Anthony; 7; Chi Psi vs Chi Phi 1.

5:00—Sig Eps vs Zeta 2; 2, Lambda Chi 2 vs KA 2; 3. Phi Delta Chi vs SAE 2; 4. TEP vs KA 1; 5. Sigma Nu 1 vs DKE 1; 6. Pi Kap Phi vs Gam 1; 7, Beta 1 vs ATO 1.

VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Court 1, Sig Epsl vs Phi Kap Sig 2: 2, Beta 3 vs KA 3: 3. DKE 1 vs Sigma Chi 3: 4. TEP vs Kappa Sig 2.

5:00—Court 1, Chi Psi 2 vs Kappa Psi; 2. Chi Phi 2 vs Phi Kap Sig 1; 3, Y Cab vs Stan Steam; 4, Manly a vs Steele.

TABLE TENNIS SCHEDULE

4:00—Court 1. Emerson 1 vs Mangum: 2. Alexander 2 vs Town 2; 3, Alexander 1 vs Stacy; 4, Phi Gam 1 vs PiKA 2; 5, Pi Kap Phi vs PiKa 4.

5:00—Court 1. Old East vs Oakwood Dr.; 2. Pi Lamb Phi 2 vs Sig Chi 7; 3. Sig Chi 3 vs Pi KA 3; 4. Sig Chi 2 vs Pi KA 5; 5. Everett 2 vs Whitehead.

MORE MURALS PAGE 4

Rain Fails to Halt Tar Heel Grid Practice

By Frank Allston

Preparations for the all-important William and Mary game, in Kenan stadium on Saturday, moved into high gear yesterday as Coach Carl Snavely put his charges through a stiff practice session. Despite the wet field and damp atmosphere, spirits were high and the Tar Heels appeared ready for anything that the Indians might have to offer.

Yesterday's actions went as scheduled while heavy rains descended on Navy field shortly before the 4 o'clock starting time. Finally decided that a practice session in the rain would do the team some good as the long range weather forecasts indicate rain is in the scene on the day of the game.

Snavely had a couple of new plays for the boys to toy with while, at the same time, the defensive pattern was getting its now weekly overhaul. With tailbacks Tommy Korczowski and Buddy Lex on the pitching end and flanker Vito Raggazzo and wingback Henry Blanc on the receiving end, the Indians have a formidable aerial game to go with their Korczowski, Lex and Jack Cloud ground attack.

In between discussions of the political scene by the various opposing factions on the team, the Tar Heels managed to run through their session, winding up at 5:30 under the lights. Art Weiner, Hosea Rodgers and Charlie Justice were leaders in the political discussion which added a cheerful note to what was otherwise a dismal day.

There were no injuries of note to report. Hosea Rodgers, who missed the Tuesday workout, was back in heavy equipment. Don Hartig, Al Bernot and Fred Sherman are still out and the status quo of Ted Hazelwood is indefinite. Hazelwood reportedly will perform in his regular tackle spot for Carolina this week end.

Today's schedule finds another full day of work on tap for the locals at Navy field.

For Those
Pre-Game Parties
Try
K & M
Beer
Delivery
PHONE
3536

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
WEST FRANKLIN STREET

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

The Buccaneer
CLUB LUNCHEONS
75c 60c 50c
Chef's Special
Grilled Frankfurters
Cole Slaw
Baked Beans
Pickles Coffee
55c
Served Daily Except Sunday
12 Noon - 3 P.M.
AIRPORT RD. CHAPEL HILL

Each time you taste ice-cold Coca-Cola, you are reminded that here is the quality of genuine goodness. Experience... many a refreshing experience... has taught people everywhere to trust the quality of Coca-Cola.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY DURHAM COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

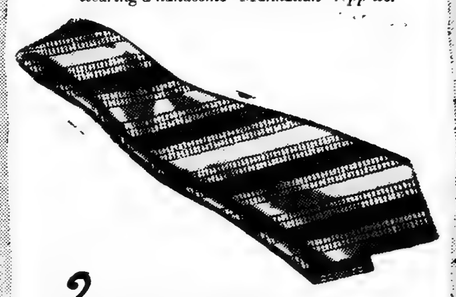
Helpless...Alone...
SHE HEARD HER OWN MURDER BEING PLOTTED ON THE TELEPHONE!



The prize-winning radio suspense drama that thrilled 40,000,000 people... now electrifies the screen!
BARBARA Stanwyck
BURT Lancaster
in
"SORRY, WRONG NUMBER"
with
ANN RICHARDS · WENDELL COREY · HAROLD VERMILYEA
A HAL WALLIS PRODUCTIONS, INC., PICTURE
Paramount Release
So Suspenseful —So Exciting— No one will be seated during the last five minutes!
—Also—
NOVELTY — NEWS
HOURS OF FEATURE
1:28 — 3:24 — 5:20 — 7:15 — 9:12
—Today and Friday—
CAROLINA

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a blind date. Note the Gnu Look. Exclusively hers. Don't shudder. How do you look to her? It's a cinch to look mighty sharp when wearing a handsome "Manhattan" repp tie.

2. This is a "Manhattan" repp tie. Comes in a multitude of distinctive stripings exclusively "Manhattan." Knots without slipping. Resists wrinkles. See these fine repps and other outstanding "Manhattan" neckwear at your favorite men's shop today.

CAMPUS FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1948, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

Brazen Pillar
MEETING
THURSDAY NIGHT
7:30 P.M.
Phi Hall
All Master Masons Cordially Invited

The
COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

A Campus Favorite in ANGORA...

The softest, most luxurious slipover ever... for classes, dates and sports.
Only $4.95 Postpaid
You'll love this all-occasion flatterer. Beautifully knitted in finest French Angora and rich wool, yet priced to please your allowance. 5 stunning campus colors—snow white, cherry, aqua, jade, baby pink, maize, baby blue. Sizes 34-40.
Specify 1st and 2nd color choice
Order by Mail. Money-Back Guarantee
Send check or money order only to COLLEGIATE Outfitters
225 West 34th Street, New York 1, N.Y.

Grail Commences Sale of Tickets To Spivak Dance

Tickets for the Charlie Spivak dances and concert scheduled for the Duke-Carolina weekend of Nov. 19 and 20 go on sale at the Y building today through tomorrow, Gus Johnson, delegata of the Grail, announced yesterday.

Concert and dance tickets are to be sold separately. Tickets for Friday's concert, Nov. 19, from 4 to 6 o'clock, are $1, and dance ticket books are $5, including both Friday and Saturday nights. Johnson said 1,800 tickets were available for the concert, and 2,000 tickets for the dances, which are semi-formal.

Tickets will be sold in the Y lobby today from 9 to 12 o'clock, and from 1 to 4 o'clock. Tickets will be sold tomorrow morning from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Minister Speaks To Frosh Group

Advising students to be intelligent, honest and open-minded in learning of religion, the Rev. Charles Jones, Presbyterian minister, told freshmen students Tuesday during assembly not to take over the "inherited faith of their fathers."

"Lots of people are losing their religion because they are refusing to think beyond the God of their fathers," the Rev. Mr. Jones said.

Religion, he said, is one of the things a person must go beyond in order to have something that is needed and something that is better.

"Your religion is going to die unless you let it grow," the speaker said, warning against thinking there is nothing to learn in Christianity. He pointed out the difficulty and pain that will accompany learning and said to expect confusion when new ideas begin.

-GOP Hq-

(Continued from page 1)

around the room blinding the audience and making the ballroom uncomfortably hot. The crowd waited, quietly bewildered and tired, but nothing happened. The only people who still seemed to be in a good humor were the much - overworked newspaper and radio men who were still joking and laughing.

By 4 o'clock everyone knew that there would be no speech for quite a while. They knew that Congress was probably lost but they couldn't understand how the polls could be so wrong. One leader said the polls had made the Republicans too confident and they had played defensive politics when they should have fought for votes.

When I got to the press room, it was quieter than at other times. The morning copy was in and reporters were certain that nothing would happen for several hours. Reports were still coming in and typewriters stopped occasionally to listen to a new report. The victory celebration had not been held and a few people were beginning to leave downstairs, most of them disillusioned.

The corsages worn by almost all of the women had begun to fade and the early smiles worn by everyone were completely faded. They seemed to feel that the electorate was against them and they could not understand why — especially why the farm vote was weak.

THE PINES
Announces
The Opening of
The Oyster Bar
THURSDAY, NOV. 4
Dinner Served in the Dining Room
Drive out 1½ miles on the Raleigh highway for steamed Oysters and Delicious Meals.

Off Base

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Wall Street was caught off base by the surprise victory of President Truman and sold stocks heavily today. Prices broke one to seven points in the busiest session on the stock exchange in six months.

The break was the worst in more than two years and wiped out over $3,000,000,000 in market values. During the first four hours of the session the pace was the fastest for any day since the Nazi invasion of France on May 21, 1940. But there was a lull around 2 o'clock and sales volume for the day aggregated 3,230,000 shares, the most since May 14 compared with 1,220,000 in Monday's pre-election session.

Monday's trading showed how strongly Wall Street anticipated a Dewey triumph.

Seven New Names Placed on Roster Of YW Advisors

The Advisory Board of the YWCA has been increased to 17 with the addition of seven new members this week, Mary Anne Daniel, Y president, announced yesterday.

New members are Dr. Gordon Blackwell, of the institute of social science research, Mrs. Frank Graham, Mrs. Frank Hanft, wife of a professor in the law school; Mrs. Warren Ashby, whose husband teaches philosophy; William Friday, assistant to dean of students; Mrs. William Friday, in public health work, and Mrs. John Sims, former president of the YWCA at Woman's college.

The advisory board meets quarterly and has as its chief function assisting or giving technical advice to members of the Y cabinet. The board also serves as advisor to the resident secretary and selects the secretary in case of a vacancy.

Ol dmembers of the board are Mrs. N. B. Adams, Twig Branch, Dean Katherine Carmichael, Dean E. L. Mackie, Mrs. C. C. Shotts, Mrs. Walter Spearman, Mrs. Robert Swain, Dean Fred Weaver, Mrs. R. H. Wettach, and Miss Frances Yocum.

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

CAMPUS CALENDAR

3:00—UNIVERSITY DANCE GROUP will meet at Veterans' club instead of Memorial hall.
4:00—STUDENT PARTY CAUCUS, All SP legislators required to attend. Grail room, GM.
4:00—TOWN MEN'S ASSOCIATION. Informal social session. All members invited to attend and bring dates if desired. Rams Head Rathskellar.
4:00—SADIE HAWKINS DAY committee. All members urged to attend. Y building.
5:00—WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB. Hill hall.
7:30—IZFA, Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
7:30—DEBATE COUNCIL, Grail room, GM.
8:00—LAW WIVES, Horace Williams lounge. GM.
9:30—CAROLINA SCIENCE-FICTION club. Roland Parker lounge 3.

Mural Results

(Continued from page 3)

TABLE TENNIS RESULTS

Pi Lambda Pi 1,	2	Zeta 1,	1
Lambda Chi 1,	3	Phi Gam 3,	0
Sigma Chi 4,	3	Kappa Psi	0
Chi Phi 1,	3	Kappa Sig 1,	0
KA 3,	2	Sigma Chi 5,	1
Phi Gam 4,	3	AE Pi 2,	0
Sigma Nu 1,	3	SAE 1,	0
Zeta 2,	3	Phi Delta 1,	0
Phi Gam 2,	3	KA 2,	0
ATO 2,	3	Kappa Sig 2,	0
KA 1,	2	Pi Lambda Phi 3,	1
AE Pi 1,	3	Sigma Chi 2,	0
Phi Delt 2,	0	Lambda Chi 2,	0 (double forfeit)
Sigma Chi 1,	0	Delta Sig Pi	0 (double forfeit)

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS

Emerson 2		BVT	0
Ruffin 2		Miller	0
Nash 2		Fireballs	1
Bombers 2		Alexander	0

Town won from Grimes 1 by forfeit Mud Dobbers won from Whitehead by forfeit Law School won from Old East by forfeit

Commerce Bulletins To Be In Bingham

Students now registered in the School of commerce and those transferring from general college to commerce are requested to check the bulletin boards in Bingham hall for registration information.

-Dixiecrats-

(Continued from page 1)

and South Carolina and thus gave Thurmond the first electoral vote for a minor party candidate since the elder Bob Lafollette in 1924. But neither they nor the Republicans dented Mr. Truman's front elsewhere in the South.

For practical political purposes, the Southern revolt failed to pay off for any of those who wished to see Mr. Truman defeated.

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR OR TWO MALE STUDENTS. Immediate occupancy. Private entrance. Little [illegible] - car a convenience. Call DIAL [illegible] F-2371. (2-8033-1)

FOR SALE 6B

ALL METAL VAGABOND HOUSE trailer with large couch and couch. See it at lot 85, Pittsboro Road. (4-9015-1)

STILL DRESS SUIT FOR FORMAL wear (tails) size 38-39 long. Midnight blue. In good condition. See D. Evans 306 Grimes. (4-9015-1)

FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Road. Asbestos siding, oil [illegible] floor hardwood floors, picture window. Call 9156. (4-9020-1)

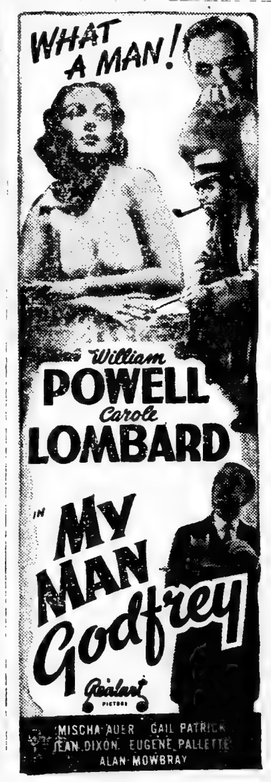
GETTING TIRED OF BRIEFING CASES and more by hand? Secure Royal typewriter - 156 Bagley Drive, Victory Village. Priced right for movement. (1-8051-1)

2½ X 3½ SPEED GRAPHIC, F 3.5 ZEISS Tessar in Compur Shutter, Kalart Rangefinder [illegible] accessories. Contact James L. Roberts, 25 Rogerson Drive. (2-8029-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

LATE 1946 BUICK SUPER AUTO. Radio, heater, custom tires, excellent condition. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St., after 1 p.m. (2-8021-1)

1927 HARLEY-DAVISON MODEL 74 good running condition. See C. S. Capen, 113 Aycock. (3-8025-1)



LOST 12

STRING OF PEARLS, PROBABLY ON Pittsboro Road. If found please call 7781, Mrs. Ted Harris. (1-8032-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Wade Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. [illegible] midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

EUBANKS DRUG CO.
Fifty-five years of dependable service
Free Delivery Service

—Also—
LATEST NEWS
—Today—
VILLAGE

HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION for Durham Optical Co.
215 W. MAIN ST. TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

TASTE-PLEASING TREATS
Budget Pleasing Prices
A&P

SPANISH BAR CAKE Jane Parker 22-Oz. Cake 35c
JANE PARKER JELLY ROLL 11-Oz. Pkg. 33c
ANGEL FOOD BAR CAKE Jane Parker Each 49c
CARAMEL PECAN ROLL Jane Parker 12-Oz. Pkg. 29c
POUND CAKE Jane Parker Plain or Marble 13-Oz. Cake 27c

Jane Parker Sugar DONUTS 1-Doz. Pkg. 18c
Marvel DINNER ROLLS Pkg. of Nine 10c
Home Style - Sandwich - Regular Pan MARVEL BREAD 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c

JANE PARKER FRUIT CAKE 1½-Lb. Cake 1.25, 3-Lb. Cake 2.45

MILK White House Evaporated 3 Tall Cans 40c

LA CHOY CHINESE STYLE FOODS
BEAN SPROUTS 2 No. 2 Can 27c
Chinese Dinners 18-oz. Pkg. 51c
CHOY SUEY MIXED VEGETABLES No. 2 Can 29c
MEATLESS CHOP SUEY No. 2 Can 37c
CHOW MEIN NOODLES 4-oz. Can 18c

FRESH PRODUCE

Bosc PEARS 2 lbs. 23c
Fancy Tokay Grapes 2 lbs. 23c
Yellow ONIONS lb. 5c
Chestnuts lb. 29c
Florida—Full of Juice ORANGES 2 doz. 35c
Green Top CARROTS 2 bunches 19c
CRANBERRIES lb. 23c
Washington State Delicious APPLES 2 lbs. 25c
Idaho Russet POTATOES 10 lbs. 59c
Extra Large GRAPEFRUIT 5 for 29c

LUX FLAKES Lge. Pkg. 34c
SWAN SOAP Reg. Bar 10c
RINSO Lge. Pkg. 34c
P&G SOAP 2 Bars 17c
GRANULATED SOAP PERK Lge. Pkg. 34c

Soap SWAN 2 Lge. Bars 35c
"Junket" Assorted POWDERS 2 Pkgs. 19c
Mild and Mellow Coffee 8 O'CLOCK 3 Lb. Bag 1.15

SUPER RIGHT MEATS

Small—Avg. PICNICS lb. 55c
SUPER RIGHT BEEF—
Boneless Chuck Roast lb. 79c
Boneless Rib Roast lb. 89c
Morrell Pride BACON lb. 69c
Rib or Loin End PORK ROAST lb. 59c
Whole or Half LEG-O-LAMB lb. 69c
Cross Cut LAMB SHOULDER lb. 55c
VEAL SHOULDER or CHUCK ROAST lb. 65c
Table Dressed HENS lb. 59c
Thick FAT BACK lb. 31c
RIB SIDE lb. 37c

- Fresh Seafood -

Perch Fillets lb. 35c
Haddock Fillets lb. 45c
Flounder Fillets lb. 55c
H. & G. Whiting lb. 19c
Fresh Shrimp lb. 55c
Cooked Shrimp, Crabmeat, Fresh Salmon and Fresh Halibut

Orders Taken Now for Thanksgiving Turkey

Outstanding Values

Mild American CHEESE Lb. 49c
Ann Page—With Pork and Tomato Sauce BEANS 16-Oz. Cans 10c
Campbells' Tomato SOUP 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
Iona Tomato JUICE 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
Sunnyfield Flour for PANCAKES 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
Karo Blue Label SYRUP No. 1½ Glass 20c
A&P or White House APPLE SAUCE 2 No. 2 Cans 25c
Packers Label TOMATOES 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
Ocean Spray Cranberry SAUCE 16-Oz. Can 19c
Washburn's PEA BEANS 2-Lb. Pkg. 29c
Packer's Label ORANGE JUICE 46-Oz. Can 23c
A&P Green and White ASPARAGUS No. 2 Can 39c
Golden Maid MARGARINE 1-Lb. Pkg. 29c

A&P Super Markets

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

You KNOW you're getting a GOOD meal—at HARRY'S

MILTON CANIFF
Steve Canyon

Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

OVEMBER 4, 1948

BILITY

STORE

TS

A&P

CHOY CHINESE STYLE FOODS
N SPROUTS
No. 2 Can 27c
ese Dinners
18-oz. Pkg. 51c
OY SUEY MIXED
EGETABLES
No. 2 Can 29c
MEATLESS
HOP SUEY
No. 2 Can 37c
HOW MEIN
NOODLES
4-oz. Can 18c

FLAKES
34c
N SOAP
10c
INSO
34c
G SOAP
17c
ULATED SOAP
PERK
34c

alues
... Lb. 49c
16-Oz. Cans 10c
. 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
. 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
... 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
.. No. 1½ Cans 20c
. 2 No. 2 Cans 25c
. 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
.. 16-Oz. Can 19c
.. 2-Lb. Pkg. 29c
.. 46-Oz. Can 23c
.. No. 2 Can 39c
.. 1-Lb. Pkg. 29c

arkets

EDITORIALS
It's An Ill Wind
Comment Sampling
E Day Plus One

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Cooler with showers

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | Number 37

Unclad Coeds Are Awakened By Pranksters

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Male students invaded a girl's dormitory at the University of Manitoba on Hallowe'en, dumped the girls, some sleeping in the nude, onto the floor and covered them with soap flakes, mud and feathers, it was revealed today.

Dr. A. H. Gillson, university president, said today it was just a "student prank" and there was no truth to reports of a mass expulsion of the boys involved.

"It may have gone a touch too far in the matter of good taste," he said. "But it was a thing performed without malice or forethought."

The Manitoban, university newspaper, said the raiders discovered a number of co-eds sleeping "sans everything."

The raid was described as an annual hallowe'en stunt. About 80 young men, hiding their faces in masks, participated.

A decoy lured the night watchman from his post while the other members of the raiding party crept into the dormitory. They took up strategic positions near the beds of the sleeping girls and then began dumping them when one of the "raiders" whistled the signal.

One coed confirmed that two girls near her were sleeping "raw."

"But it all happened so quickly I'm sure the boys didn't even notice," she said.

Dr. Arnold Nash Delivers Address Before Assembly

Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the department of religion of the University, spoke to the freshman class during assembly yesterday. President Jess Dedmond announced that freshmen nominations will take place at the Tuesday assembly.

Dr. Nash, using numerous illustrations during his address, told the students, "If you wish to grow in religion, associate yourself with one or more of the religious groups in Chapel Hill."

He said the purposes of the department of religion are to give students a study of Christian religion with other phases of life.

"We have to make a decision as to what we are going to serve," he said, adding that there must be an ultimate goal behind that decision. A decision in religious activities on campus must also be made, he said.

Dean Fred Weaver introduced Dr. Nash.

Monday Meeting Of UVA to Name Officer Slate

University Veterans association elections will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the UVA club house, UVA president Hugh Wells announced today.

The elections will follow the regular monthly business meeting of the UVA officers, and a discussion of the fall social program will also take place.

Present officers of the UVA who will be subject to re-election Monday evening are Hugh Wells, president; Jim Chesnutt, vice-president; John Eason, treasurer; and Joe Jones, secretary.

Interdorm Council Fix Are Scheduled

Members of the Interdormitory council who are now in graduate school must have their yearbook pictures taken today if they have not already done so, according to Pete Gerns, president of the council. These students are requested to leave their names with the Yackety Yack at the time their pictures are taken so that the yearbook business manager can be reimbursed one dollar per student by the Interdormitory council.

ACCUSED OF CONSPIRING to achieve forceable overthrow of the U.S. government, ten of the leading members of the Communist party in the United States are pictured outside Federal court in New York. Because of the absence of William Z. Foster, national party chairman, their trial date was postponed until November 15. Pictured (left to right) are Henry Winston, Eugene Dennis, Benjamin J. Davis, Gus Hall, John Williamson, Carl Winter, Irving Potash, John Gates, Robert G. Thompson and Jack Stachel.

Hot Time

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov 4—(UP)—Students at Mississippi State college today were still joking about their donkey barn burning and trying to figure out if there was any significance that it occurred about the time it was announced that President Truman had surged ahead.

Fire broke out in the large wooden frame campus mule barn at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when tabulations showed Truman forging ahead. However, college officials said there is no suspicion of arson.

Flames destroyed the barn and stored equipment valued at $60,000 before the fire department arrived.

Delta Sigma Pi Pledges 37 Men Tuesday Evening

Delta Sgma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, pledged 37 new members at a formal ceremony Tuesday evening. The pledge period will run through the rest of this quarter.

New pledges include Fred Adais, Bill Austin, Dan Barker, Oscar Boyette, Al Bernot, Love A. Coman, Bob Callahan, Lunceford Creech, Carlyle Davis, Steve Davis.

Joe Eldridge, Pete English, Hugh Fortesque, John Green, Larry Humes, Carl J. Hinson, Asa Hollwell, X. Wallace Kirby, Dick Lowe, Bill Luke, Carrol Melton, Jess Moss, Frank Newton.

Carter Rhinehart, John Russell, Bill Rutherford, Charlie Rogers, Clyde Rosser, Jack Sapp, George Simpson, Ned Towell, Claude J. Totheran, Lee Van Winkle, J. W. White, Kenneth Wyatt, Lowell McColluck, and Reese Overcash.

Williams Indicted By Student Party

By Bill Buchan

"The Student Party will prosecute Thurman Williams, chairman of the Student Legislature Rules committee before the Student council for negligence of duty in his committee, Gran Childress, party spokesman, said yesterday. Williams replied to the charges immediately, accusing the SP of mudslinging and of lowering the dignity of the councils. He also accused Legislature clerk Jack Worsham of negligence of duty.

In their regular party meeting this week, SP members voted unanimously to charge Williams with negligence on two counts after evidence had been presented by party members.

The two counts on which Williams will be charged, Childress said, are (1) failure to conduct regular Rules committee meetings and failure to ascertain if members who have been absent from the legislature have proper excuses for their absences, and (2) failure to publish the names of the absentees in the Daily Tar Heel. Both of the charges are required by the by-laws of the Student Legislature.

In a report obtained from Legislature clerk Jack Worsham, Childress said "Evidence was shown that Williams had picked up only one list of absences after the four meetings held this year. This list," he added, "was for the last meeting and was not obtained until four days after the legislature." The by-laws require the list to be picked up by the rules committe chairman after each meeting.

When questioned about the charges yesterday afternoon, Williams stated, "I charge Worsham with negligence in keeping the records of the Student Legislature. When as chairman of the Rules committee, I requested lists of members absent from meetings this quarter. Worsham replied that he had misplaced the official attendance records and they were not available."

"I am guilty," he continued, "of not submitting lists of absentees to the Daily Tar Heel for publication. This was purely an oversight on my part. There is no provision in the by-laws of the legislature for expelling a member regardless of the number of meetings missed. The University party believes that there should be such a measure and in next Thursday's meeting, the party plans to sponsor such a bill."

"As for the taking this matter before the Student council," he added, "I feel that no honor council should be called upon to decide a matter which is purely an effort on the part of the Student party to smear the name of the University party. The University party is not a name-calling party and does not intend that the dignity of the council should be lowered by trying matters which are simply political maneuvers."

Requests will be made, Childress said for excuses of absentees who have missed two or more meetings of the legislature this fall. If the legislators cannot furnish satisfactory information, they will be asked to resign from

(See POLITICS, page 4)

New Braswell Scholarship Winners Announced by Student Aid Officials

Winners of the 1948-49 Braswell scholarships awarded annually by the University were announced yesterday by Edwin Lanier, director of student aid.

Awards this year go to Ruffin Wilkerson Blaylock, Apex, Luke Robinson Corbett, West End; Edwin Harrison Dixon, Jr., Monroe; and William David Woodruff, Oxford. Alternates for these scholarships are James Albert House, Jr., Hobgood, and Thomas Herbert Mathews, Henderson.

Valued at $200 each, scholarships are awarded annually to four entering freshmen on the basis of scholastic ability, financial need, and promise of future success.

The scholarships are provided by a fund of $21,000 set up in 1938 by an anonymous donor as an endowment in memory of Dr. Frank R. Braswell of Rocky Mount, class of 1888. The income from the endowment is designated for the four scholarships of $200 each annually.

Last year's winners were Charles Winston Hall, Sanford; Adrian Smith Lineberger, Jr., Chapel Hill; Claude Richard Stamey, Canton, and Herbert Seawell Yates, Rockingham.

Torch Rally Set Tonight At Y Court

"Let's all get lit!" is the clarion cry of Head Cheerleader Norm Sper and the University club who will lead the campus on the initial pre-game torchlight parade of the pigskin season beginning at 7 o'clock tonight.

The procession will assemble in Y court where the fiery beacons will be distributed to all marchers on a first-come basis.

From that point the group will begin its tour through the village streets and dormitory areas. Supplementing the illumination of the fire-sticks will be the usual array of horn-tooting, yelling, cymbal-clanging and music-making.

The procession will end at the portals of the Forest theater where a knock-down, drag-out pep rally will be held and also the crowning of the "Mardi Gras" queen.

Dan Stiegman, Tar Heel co-captain, will serve as master of ceremonies for the program which will present to the crowd Sound and Fury's "Miss Mardi Gras," whose identity has not been released. Also taking part in the program will be other members of the football squad.

Joe Ward, president of the University club, and Jerry Weiss, president of Sound and Fury, announced yesterday that co-captain Hosea Rodgers and Charlie Justice will be on hand to do the honors of crowning the "Mardi Gras" queen.

Tookie Hodgson, vice president of the University club, said yesterday that students need have no fear the pep rally will cause them to miss any part of the Elliot Lawrence dance which will be touched off in Woollen gym tonight. It is expected that festivities will be over in plenty of time for all to change to formal attire before dance time.

Dialectic Senate Takes Fourteen

Fourteen new members of the Dialectic Senate were accepted in the campus society Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the group. The new members who were accepted, as announced by Jim Southerland, president of the Senate, were: Robert M. Brooks, Carrboro; William O. Foster, Jr., St. Petersburg, Fla.; Lee Gore, Zephyrills, Fla.; Harry H. Horton, Jr., Asheville.

William P. Kellam, Chapel Hill; James L. Lamm, Mt. Airy; Edgar Love, Lincolnton; Arthur G. Murphy, Jr., Macon, Miss.; Morley A. Schlesinger; Talbot R. Shelby, Dudley; Frank Utley, Jr., Sanford; David Woodruff, Oxford; James T. Leeson, Rocky Mount, and James S. Hix, Jr., Thomasville.

Late News Bulletins

Folsom Fights

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Gov. James E. Folsom said today that he still intends to file suit in court to order Alabama's Democratic electors to cast their vote for President Truman, despite reports to the contrary.

Defense Alliance

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Lester B. Pearson, Canadian minister of external affairs and chief of his country's delegation to the United Nations General assembly, said today that the U.S., Canada and the Western Union nations might get together "any day now" to draft an Atlantic-defense alliance.

U. of Miss. Prexy

OXFORD, Miss., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Charles William Dean, Shaw, Miss., today became president of the University of Mississippi student body upon the resignation of George Worthen, Union.

U. S. Insists

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(UP)—The United States will insist that Soviet authorities take action against "the murderers" in Austria of Irving Ross, an American foreign recovery official, a State Department spokesman said today.

Planes Overdue

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.—(UP)—A DC-3 Pacific Alaska airlines plane with 11 passengers aboard was overdue on a flight from Sitka, Alaska to Annette Island near Ketchikan, the Seattle Coast Guard reported today.

Jap Army Blamed

TOKYO, Friday, Nov. 5—(UP)—The International Military Tribunal of the Far East today blamed the Japanese army for starting the nation on the road to aggressive war.

Victorious Truman Cheered By Thousands Along Route

ELLIOT LAWRENCE

Elliot Lawrence Slated In Weekend Festivities

A weekend of football and musical fanfare begins today with dances scheduled for tonight and tomorrow night in Woollen gymnasium with music furnished by Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra.

The two-day score will be touched off from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon in Memorial hall when Lawrence and his musical group will present a concert.

The dances are being sponsored by the German club and constitute the annual fall presentation of dances by that group. A host of attractive girls will serve as sponsors for the dances.

Tonight's dance will be held from 9 until 1 o'clock with coeds attending having late permission until 2 o'clock in the morning. Tomorrow night's dance goes from 8 o'clock until midnight with coed hours set at 1 o'clock. Dances will be formal on both nights.

Members of the University Dance committee wish to remind those attending the dances that rules and regulations as set up by the committee should be closely observed.

Rules state that no intoxicating drinks will be allowed and that any girl leaving the dance with the intention of returning must be chaperoned during her entire absence. Also no smoking will be permitted on the dance floor.

Elliot Lawrence and his group are commonly typed as a sweet band but Elliot insists that they feature all kinds of music on one-nighters and college dates. The band has scored enough of a hit in just one year to win the No. 1 spot in both the disc jockeys' and college polls of new bands, as conducted by Billboard magazine.

PL16 Veterans With No Checks Must Contact VA

Public law 16 veterans who have not received subsistence checks yet, and who believe the Veterans administration is at fault, should contact the VA office, 111 Peabody hall immediately, veterans adviser Wilson Honeycutt announced yesterday.

Veterans who come to the VA office in search of delinquent checks are requested by Honeycutt to have a short letter addressed to the VA regional office explaining their case.

The letters will be forwarded to the VA treasurer from the regional office, Honeycutt explained, and the VA will put a tracer on missing checks. The VA will not issue duplicate subsistence checks if the original check is stolen. Honeycutt said. However, if the VA is responsible for the loss of a check they will replace the original with a duplicate.

Coeds Will Receive Late Leave Tonight

Coeds attending the German club dance tonight will receive late permission until 2 o'clock. Women's Interdorm council and the office of the Dean of Women announced yesterday.

Red-Backed Progressives' Showing Is Poorest Since Turn of Century

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(UP)—The election showing of Henry A Wallace's Communist-supported Progressive party was the poorest of any highly organized third party movement since the turn of the century.

The Wallace-Taylor ticket polled little more than 1,000,000 votes — a mere two per cent of the combined Truman-Dewey total. Wallace had predicted he would get "millions."

But he had hoped and expected to go into the election with broad labor support. Instead, among labor, he was backed only by the left-wing minority of the CIO. Most of the rest of organized labor fought the Wallace party as a creature of the Communists.

Wallace's own hopes for future success assume that he can enlist labor support. He believes the present labor split over the Communist issue must be healed but he does not know how that will be done.

He is depending on factional differences to cause a crackup of the Democratic party, with his party inheriting its labor backing. But he knows there is little chance of getting that support while labor is divided by the Communist issue.

Wallace has said many times that his party will keep going whatever his vote this year.

Voters Turn Out To Cheer Humble Man They Backed

ENROUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Nov. 4.—(UP)—The voters who kept Harry S. Truman in the White House turned out by the thousands tonight to cheer him on his triumphant return to Washington.

But the President was humble in his victory. He said he would not "crow" over the election sweep, and it was learned from friends that he was not interested in a third term.

At St. Louis, a big town in the President's home state, a cheering crowd of 10,000 jammed union station in an impromptu victory celebration.

Again at Vincennes, Ind., where the President's train made a five-minute service stop, a crowd estimated at 10,000 was on hand.

Mr. Truman appeared on the rear platform at Vincennes and told the cheering throng that "when I get back to work, I hope you people won't be disappointed with the results."

He was in high spirits and beaming jovially, but earlier as his train moved eastward from his home at Independence, Mo., he said he would not "crow" over his sweeping election victory.

He had been scheduled to meet only about 1,000 political leaders and others at St. Louis, but when he saw the big crowd gathered at the station he ordered the gates opened. The crowd crushed around his train.

He told the crowd at Vincennes that "I'm elated over the election results as I am overwhelmed with responsibilities."

A Hoosier mail carrier, Dave Reeves, stepped to the platform which the President used to carry his campaign fight across the country and handed Mr. Truman an old bank note on an Independence, Mo., bank.

"I have just received an old fashioned bank note," the President laughed, holding up the bill, "and the man tells me if I ever get broke to bring it to him and he'll redeem it."

Friends aboard the train said they thought it would be out of character for Mr. Truman to seek a third term, although he would be exempt from the anti-third term Constitutional amendment.

All along his route the President seemed filled with a deep sense of humility and the tremendous responsibility of conducting the nation's affairs for the next four years.

Freed to Give Lecture Sunday In Person Hall

A lecture by Ernest Freed, well-known artist and instructor at Fairmont State college, W. Va., will highlight the local celebration of National Art week, Sunday afternoon at Person hall.

In addition to Freed's address, "Space, Contemporary versus Renaissance," there will be a showing of 23 of his etchings and linoleum block prints.

New shows by North Carolinians Claude Howell and Philip Moose will open today and continue until the end of the month. Howell, of Wilmington, is now painting in New York on a Rosenwald fellowship. His group includes 17 oils, a gouache, and six water-colors.

Artist Moose is a Pulitzer prize winner from Newton. He will show seven oils and 19 water-colors.

Freed's etchings, two of them very large, will remain on exhibit until Nov. 26. The Friends of Person hall will give a reception for Freed immediately following Sunday's gallery talk. All students and Chapel Hill residents are invited to attend.

It's an Ill Wind...

Democrats are not the only ones who can find solace in Truman's home-stretch victory. An element of the Republican party, those liberals who were appalled by the convention's overriding of their preference, may also rejoice if somewhat weakly.

Last June the Republican convention had available in Harold E. Stassen the universal appeal necessary to secure a large independent vote. But their overweening assurance of the inevitability of victory and the insistence of the Old Guard led to the nomination of Dewey.

Wednesday morning some high-up Republicans must have realized finally, that the race is not to the seemingly swift nor battle to the apparently strong, for strength in politics cannot be disassociated from personal appeal, or the common touch. Having been caught with their political pants down, the G.O.P. has been presented with a bitter lesson. They violated one of their own principles, never to run a defeated man again, and another more obvious rule, to select the most popular man. By 1952, if the lesson has sunk in, liberal Republicans and the American people will profit by seeing a presidential nominee who, even if he does not win, will at least run a race worthy of his capabilities.—B.F.

Sampling The Comment

Three days after the national elections, the surprising outcome in the victory of Harry Truman and the Democratic party is still dominating the conversations of people across the country. Here are a few editorial comments on the subject as reported by United Press.

OMAHA WORLD HERALD—"Mr. Truman has won the most amazing victory in all the history of American politics. His fighting spirit brought out the fighters and the men and women who love fighters . . . . the whole American people have spoken and their verdict is decisive."

MEMPHIS PRESS-SCIMITAR—"Truman overcame his underdoggedness by his doggedness.

"Step aside, Mr. Mule, you've lost your stubborn title. The most stubborn of all is your Missouri pal, name of Truman."

LOS ANGELES TIMES—"The Truman sweep has apparently carried into office a Congress Democratic in both branches. But this does not necessarily mean that President Truman will control it. He could not control the 79th Congress, even before the 'civil rights' controversy arose to cause a deep rift with the southern wing of the party."

LOS ANGELES NEWS—"No barriers yet deny the right of the American people to move forward. This is the big lesson to be learned from the great Democratic victory."

LOS ANGELES MIRROR—"We still think Harry Truman is a weak man as president at a time when a man of great stature is needed. But if there is greatness in him, he has his opportunity to show it now."

THE DENVER POST—"We, and the rest of the American press, have an awful burden of explanation to offer for this refutation of our "expert" opinion. As a general conclusion, the reelection of President Truman must be interpreted as a continuing approval of the basic accomplishments of Democratic rule.

THE DENVER ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS—"We supported Governor Dewey. Now we expect with confidence that the vast majority of Americans, no matter how they voted . . . will join in cheerful, loyal support of their chosen leader. There are those in the world who hoped that this election would divide America. They will find that it has united America.

WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD—"It will be very interesting to watch Truman, now, as he goes to work on his enemies and his friends. There are, for instance, the people in his own party who didn't know him up to 11 o'clock, Tuesday night, Nov. 2, 1948, and now are wild, simply wild about Harry. We expect that H.S.T. is going to be very, very tough for these sweating Democrats to live with, and as for Dixiecrats, Republicans, faithless New Dealers, et al, they will get no consideration from him, at all, at all."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

ELECTION POLL. Things—including radios and shouts—have quieted down again after rolling through another presidential election, but it will be a long time before we forget some of the incidents that went on that long, long night of Nov. 2, 1948. There was Bill Cooke polishing his Truman button harder every time a return came in, racing back and forth across the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Glade Flake and Yvonne Stewart said to heck with being conscientious law students and took off on a picnic.

Helen Hord wandered up and down the halls of McIver 'till the wee hours of the morning when the last radio was turned off, and she was forced to go to bed. Claudia Dee attempted an explanation of the electorial college system but left her eager listeners bumfuzzled as ever—maybe because it was then 2:45 o'clock in the morning. Alfalfa Mills got in too big a hurry for the whole thing to get over and got a ticket for speeding in the process. "Ma" at the University cafe fixed up two steaming hot pots of coffee to keep the tabulating force in Graham Memorial on its feet.

Randy Hudson tried to sandwich in a marriage course review with the returns, but how far she got with either, we don't know. An American history prof took off out of town and left his class a quiz to knock themselves out over—kinda' ironical that they should be studying so hard about the factors that made it possible for Americans to vote that they didn't have time to listen to the returns. And we youngsters were singing the praises of Kerr Scott in hopes that he might put through his 18 year old voting age requirement. Tal Jordan was—and still is—gleefully yelping, "Let's celebrate!"

The night came to an end with many different reactions; but the prize one, we believe, was expressed on Charlie Long's face as he biffed his Democrat roommate on the shoulder and snapped, "Congratulations." Probably the happiest man on campus the next morning was Professor Woodhouse, who beamed like a neon sign all day.

ON DISPLAY. We hear Heath Hartsell has already started putting her wedding presents out in her room. Fact is, folks tell us you feel like you're in a gift shop when you walk in the door.

ONE MAN RECEIVING LINE. We think Nathan Booe should have a blue and white badge to wear—one that's even prettier than the ones the dance committee have. It would be fitting recognition of his constant vigil at the door of Bingham.

MORE POWER TO HIM. As long as people like Roy Moose can go three days without opening a Chaucer book and still get commended for his "keen insight" into the lesson, there might be hope for the rest of us rushed souls to get a degree. Incidentally, Roy was knocked so far off his feet that he hasn't uttered a word in the class since.

HAND ME THAT CANE! When you start seeing your friends "little brothers" names on pledge lists, it's time to check the latest styles in old lady's comforts and take on a more dignified air. Fr' instance, the latest addition to that list is Francis Clarkson. Just wonder if he's the one from Charlotte.

The police department here has devised quite a snazzy system of tabulating election ballots, we hear—something about separating the straight ballots from the split ones. 'Course they're liable to start sticking guns in our backs to make us vote straight tickets come the next election.

Passing Sentence

Notes On E Day Plus One

By Jonathan Marshall

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—New York City remained amazingly calm throughout the election, and the news of the Democratic sweep did not seem to shock people too much, although they still cannot comprehend it. Today the city is going about its business as usual.

There were many things that had not come out last night when I left Republican Headquarters, for the election was still in doubt. Even at six o'clock when I finally got to bed, the experts were uncertain who would win. This morning the people knew how it would end, and it was only a matter of time.

Down at the Hotel Roosevelt the press was still on duty, many of them had been up all night, and there were still many people waiting around, hoping that some kind of a miracle would turn defeat into victory. Last night while they still expected to win, the leaders were embracing each other; comments such as, "it was a long sixteen years," or "well, there'll be a lot of changes in Washington soon," were heard.

A close friend of Henry Wallace told me this morning that the Progressive party felt it had played an important part in the election despite the low vote. He said that Wallace had forced Truman to a more liberal and positive stand, and also that the early Wallace popularity had awakened labor.

At Dewey's headquarters the campaign workers and newspapermen felt that there were two main factors in the Democratic victory. The polls had made the Republicans too confident, and so they had not been aggressive enough; they had let the other candidates make the issues. The other point was that labor had been much more strongly united than anyone had expected.

In other places the feeling was that President Truman had gained many votes the last few weeks by his vigorous fight, and that these votes could not show in the pre-election polls. The old political adage that votes don't change at the last minute did not hold true, or perhaps the Democrats got the majority of the doubtful votes. Many leaders, even at Republican headquarters, secretly seemed to feel that the Democratic congressional candidates had been much stronger than expected and had pulled Mr. Truman with them. Early in the evening some even went so far as to say they thought Dewey could work better with men like Humphrey and Douglas than with many Republicans.

At Socialist headquarters Norman Thomas said the vote had shown that the people were much farther left than anyone had believed, and that they wanted a liberal government. He also said that the time was ripe for a new third party, and that he would throw his support to a good one if it developed.

It is now afternoon, and the city is back to normal again. Taxi drivers are shouting at each other, people are hurrying about the streets, and the results are being calmly accepted. The Republicans are still bewildered, they can't understand what happened or why. They are especially bewildered by the close vote in New York and the loss of such key states as Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and Illinois. In their talk one senses the growing feeling among the Republicans that they will have to revise their leadership and liberalize their policies if they are to survive.

Write Away

Introducing Paine

Editor:

It is about time someone supplies "Ole" Bill Robertson with a new quotation. That phrase of garble he starts his distorted column off with has long become just a black spot on paper. Besides, the column which usually follows has no remote connection with the quotation. The continual repetition reminds me of a little boy who keeps repeating a phrase over and over——first stage of psychosis—not knowing what he is actually saying. Also, the quotation appears to be about the best piece of verbal jargoning ever composed to Ole Bill.

Who is this revolutionary predecessor, Thomas Paine, so ardently admired by Ole Bill? This fellow Paine had an I.Q. so low he couldn't get along with anyone—not even his mother. So, through his natural delinquency he scrapes up enough cash to sail to America. Here, in Pennsylvania, at the outbreak of the Revolution, his hatred of the British amassed with such intensity that he almost went mad writing "Common Sense." And it happened accidentally that he wrote the highly polished phrase so oft quoted by Ole Bill.

This international delinquent who was once shut in The Bastille for shallow reasons had deaf tones on the ears of Jefferson and Franklin when he pleaded for mercy. When Ole Tom Paine came to his final rest, a six foot plot of ground had to be donated for the cause. Through his whole life he never knew the warm complacency of having made an accomplishment in the direction of advancement; it was continual failure, and he wanted to bring the rest of the world down with him. This, Mr. Editor, is the man OLE Bill has been quoting now for I don't know how long, but long enough that some changes ought to be made, or else you should save the student body some printing space for better things to come.

Camest L. West

Appraisal Reversed

Editor:

Various bright names have appeared on your editoral page in the arguments of the pro-Communists, anti-Communists, pro-Progressives and anti-Progressives. Now Bill Robertson, in the ardor of his advocacy, calls up Thomas Paine, G. B. Shaw and the Son of God in his piece "Christ Was a Communist."

If Robertson wants to interpret a typically beguiling exhibition of Shavian wit as a profession of allegiance to Soviet snobbism, why who's to say him nay? But if either he or Shaw expects anyone to take seriously the old chestnut that "Christ was a communist," then someone has to say him nay.

Jesus has been used as a straw man in every movement of any consequence in western civilization in the last 2,000 years. His eloquently simple words and his eloquently simple actions have been twisted to the demands of countless enterprises, some worthwhile, some shoddy.

Anyone who is content to see Christ appraised by the standards of Communism must, in all honesty, surely, be willing to see all Communists appraised by the standards of Christ. How refreshing it would be to find a Communist meek, poor in spirit, merciful, pure in heart, a maker of peace and abounding faith, hope and charity!

Name Withheld

Lines on Literature

Best Of The War Novels

By Roy C. Moose

Now that the country is recovering from the first shocks of the deluge of Democratic votes, it can begin to prepare itself for a similar downpour of war novels from the publishing companies. Evidently the printers of tomes have come to the conclusion that the recent armed conflict is distant enough in the past to warrant descriptions of the gory and glory of war.

The coming year will testify to the public's willingness to accept these war themes. Offering them now seems to be based on the idea that we forget much quicker in our double-time life of today. And the acceptance of the novels already appears to bear out this conception.

Thus far the publishing companies have scored hits with "The Naked and the Dead," "A Bell for Adano," The Young Lions," "Tales of the South Pacific," "Mr. Roberts," and "The Sky is Red."

But what seems to be the best novel that has emerged from World War II is John Horne Burnes "The Gallery" which appeared last year and is now beign re-issued by Sun Dial Press for $1.29.

Portraying what he calls the "conquered and their conquerors" in the Italian war, Burns has succeeded in recording one of the most realistic series of characters that ever participated in a war.

He has selected a single month—August, 1944—and a famous place—the Galleria Umberto in Naples—in which to pour nine divergent "Portraits" each dealing with characters familiar to all exservicemen. Each portrait is separated by a "Promenade" which is a factual description by Burns of the actual war from Casablanca to Naples. Either as pure fiction or as a travelogue the novel evinces extraordinary merit.

Of the portraits, Louella, the Red Cross girl, is the most interesting and the one in which Burns seems to pour satiric strokes heretofore unequalled in war novels. Louella might be classed as the Gertrude Stein of the Red Cross. Feeling that her contribution to the war lies mainly in consoling America's youthful fliers (she is 39), Louella gathers about her a select group of officers similar to the Stein coterie and feeds them a diet of philosophy and whiskey. Of course Louella is far too important to be concerned with the enlisted men and the "donut brigade." G.I.'s will read of Louella and nod their recognition.

Then there is Michael Patrick who is 27 and knows that he will never be 28 and who desperately wants the love of a woman. But Mike discovers music and weeps his lament the night before trudging into the hail of machine gun bullets.

Hal is a Hippolytian virgin who wanders in the ethereal world until he goes insane while Moe is a wounded Jew with a heart.

The most horrifying part is not war itself, though, but a portrait called "Queen Penicillin" which will cause many a GI to feel the imaginary prick of that long needle feared by all.

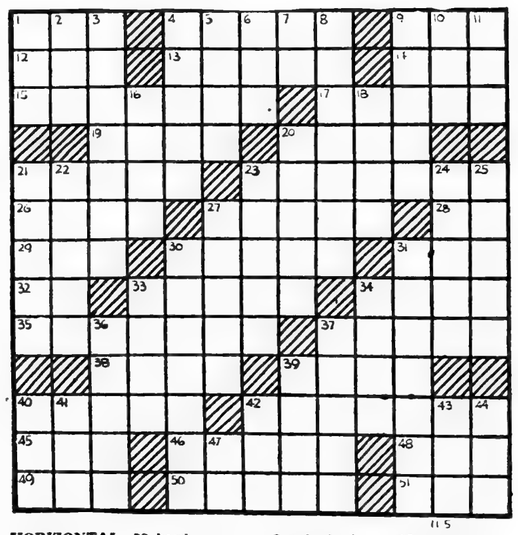
The Spotlight

'The UP Stands Indicted'

By Charles Long

Four times before last night the Student Legislature met and twice the lack of a quorum held up business. Important legislation is before that body which needs action, but action has not been forthcoming. Here in brief is what has been happening.

The legislature is controlled by the University party. That means all the important committees are in their hands. If the chairmen of those committes are absent, the rest of the legislators may as well stay at home and knit.



At the initial meeting a cry went up from the UP to put off the legislature until nine o'clock because of fraternity rushing. Jack Worsham, Clerk of the Legislature, took it upon himself to set the time up to eight o'clock as a compromise, but did the UP legislators show up? No sir! The noble UP with its proclaimed high interest in student government, chose to call a freshman rally which several legislators attended until dragged forth on an order from Speaker Godwin. Around 8:30 that night enough legislators had assembled to get a quorum, but many of the committee chairman were still absent, so the Legislature heard several reports and adjourned.

The second meeting was called for last Thursday night with about the same results. The meeting finally got under way about 7:30, but little business was transacted.

Main excuse given by the UP for this gross negligence of duty is that fraternity rushing was going on. Fraternity rushing was going on and we would not detract one bit from its importance. Getting the right men for your fraternity is very important, but we question the necessity of those members of the Legislature staying in their houses for the two or three hours necessary to conduct the affairs of this campus.

On this campus, as well as anywhere else, public office is a public trust. When you are elected to an office you assume a high responsibility to your constituants. That duty is not abated by a lesser duty to any group, and if any legislator in our body thinks it is, then he is a slacker in his duty, a disgrace to the Legislature and should resign his office to a person willing and concerned enough to carry through.

The University party stands indicated for gross negligence of duty. They have forsaken the trust placed in them when they were given control of the Legislature. Their members in the Legislature, who in the majority have stayed away from meetings and thus stopped the consideration of important legislation, should resign before an unwilling Rules committee finds it necessary to oust them.

HORIZONTAL
1. mountain gap
4. cubic metric unit
9. prefix: before
12. fourth caliph
13. artist's stand
14. moo
15. meddles
17. puff up
19. lubricates
20. uniform
21. theater-boxes
23. conferred
26. the birds
27. conquers
28. personal pronoun
29. god of lower world
30. outmoded
31. Japanese coin
32. printer's measure
33. adhesive substance
34. imitates
35. descendants of Shem
37. unsteady glare
38. insects
39. bard
40. equilibrium
42. trees of genus Betula
45. in addition
46. laughing
48. twilight
49. affirmative
50. kinds
51. old maxim

VERTICAL
1. feline
2. palm leaf
3. town in France
4. blinds
5. sailors
6. S-shaped worm
7. note in scale
8. promote
9. imbed firmly
10. decay
11. female sheep
16. pastries
18. camera part
20. efface
21. loads
22. sheep-like
23. tales of adventure
24. Mohammedan prince
25. thick
27. founds
30. moves with light quick steps
31. large flower cluster bracts
33. transfixes
34. herring-sauce
36. female servants
37. strongholds
39. liquid measure
40. discharge obligation
41. single individual
42. the legal profession
43. feminine name
44. stitch
47. moon-goddess

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

B	O	L	D		M	A	T	S		S	O	L
A	V	E	R		E	R	I	E		A	M	A
R	A	S	E		S	I	L	E	N	C	E	D
	S	W	A	N	S		E	S	N	E
S	H	E		M	E	T	E	R	S
P	A	N	N	E		A	B	E	T	T	E	D
A	M	E	E	R	S		B	A	L	A	T	A
R	E	D	U	C	E	S		D	E	C	O	R
		T	E	N	U	R	E		T	N	T
E	A	S	E			P	E	R	I	L
S	T	I	R	R	U	P	S		N	E	V	A
S	O	P		A	N	E	T		T	S	A	R
E	N	S		G	A	R	S		O	G	S	A

11-5

Average time of solution: 25 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Booters Hold Duke Eleven To 0-0 Deadlock

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Hard Life

THERE ARE A LOT of hard ways to make a living in this chilly world, but until the boys think up a harder one, it looks as if football coaching will take the rake and the raking. It just isn't a good way to win friends and influence people no matter how good or how bad you happen to be.

The fault doesn't primarily lie with the majority of the coaches themselves. Win or lose in this profession, somebody has it in for them. The nice guys, it is said, don't win ball games since Post's etiquette in the grid vernacular is simply the manner and form of kicking field goals and extra points.

The coaches get it going and coming. If you win all the time, nobody likes you except your own little tribe of followers. Everybody loves the underdog; that is, except the fellows who have to play them. Winning is like owning a Cadillac—nobody but you appreciates the fact that you do.

The loser, of course, is in a worse boat; not only one that sails alone, but is sinking to boot. There comes a time when a losing coach can count as his boosters only his family, and even here, children have been known to leave home rather than face another sadistic Saturday.

Badgered Badger

WISCONSIN'S HARRY STUHLDEHER is a striking current example of what happens when the cards and opponents' halfbacks seem to be running the wrong way. The ex-member of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame was almost turned out to graze by the Badger alumni simply because his team couldn't win. The alumni started a blazing fire of criticism under helpless Harry and the student body at Wisconsin arrived on the scene in time to heap new coals on the fire.

The action didn't help either side of the field very much as one claims that Stuhldeher was holding anything back in the way of power waiting for a rainy day. In the end, the critics relented, welcomed Harry to the bosom of the family, and almost won a ball game. Stuhldeher's wife, to prove that women make the best of any situation, was the only person to profit by the whole eye-brow raising. She wrote an article for the Satevepost on "Why Not To Be a Football Widow" and showed it can have its monetary advantages.

The situation proves one thing: a guy whose name is Harry can always get a vote of confidence when the rent comes due no matter how many mistakes he makes. Things can only get so bad.

Always Troubles

THE WINNING COACH, too, has his troubles, most of which come mainly from sports writers, alumni, and opponents. The writers, it seems, will give anybody a hard time for the sake of a writers, it seems, will kive anybody a hard time for the sake of a few lines of copy. They report almost as early as the footballers do in September and immediately expect a play-by-play description of each ball game for the coming season.

Then, no matter what the coacheroo has to offer, he finds himself in the newspaper doghouse the following morning. The writers will nail tim to the nearest crossbar one way or another. If the coach says he'll have a poor team, the writers say he's crying. If the coach professes a strong team, they say he's lying. If he tells them what the other fellows have, they say he's spying. And if he doesn't say anything, then he's denying. You can't beat a fellow who has the last word in the last edition.

The alumni are another headache of the winning coach. Not the loyal grads, but the ones who crawl out of the woodwork whenever you start winning, give 50 points in the betting every week, and then want to know why the coach only beats the boys 49-0. They want blood in the nature of a ten-touchdown transfusion.

The opponents are another worry of those mentors at the top of the scrap heap. They'll claim you ran up the score on them unnecessarily when you played everybody but the fellows holding the yard markers. They'll insist you punched the mall over the field while the officials stood by trembling, when your linemen come out of the ball game with a mouse under each eye the product of some rat on the "poor defenseless underdogs." You just can't win winning.

At the Controls

THERE ARE SOME COACHES of note who do much to control the feeling of the public on their brethren. The late Knute Rockne placed the football coach in the public eye and proved him to be a builder and moulder of men. There are stories at every banquet table in the nation of how the Rock could take beaten men and turn victory to defeat in a halftime of 15 minutes.

He told one Notre Dame team to go out and "Win one for the Gipper" which they did to the delight of Bill Stern and RKO studios. Another day he let the losing Irish sit quietly in their dressing room throughout the half in silence and then sent them back to the playing field with the simple command, "Let's go, girls!" Rockne taught by example.

Put the Blame on Somebody

ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE of the ledgers, one might feel that some of the nation's greater coaches, can and have detracted from the sport not by their actions, but by their statements. Duke's esteemed Wallace Wade did little good last season by blaming a mediocre season on the fans and the drinking in the stands. And his statement last week "that Georgia Tech is the greatest team I have ever seen" makes some tend to lose a little faith in a great man and a great football coach.

Columbia's Lou Little also doesn't sound too well far from the sour grapes department in his condemnation of the current two-team system. Even if the Lions don't have the manpower to play two platoon units, why shouldn't the other teams of the nation be allowed to fulfill the main purpose of athletics—to allow the most boys to take part in the game.

Coaches have a great responsibility not only in winning football games, but in their ability to shape the minds and futures of their players. They, like many others, received little credit and all the blame, but doesn't gray hair give a gentleman the look of the man of distinction.

Chapel Hill Plays

Chapel Hill high school's unbeaten Wildcats will be after win number seven when they take the field this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Emerson stadium against a strong Roxboro eleven.

Collier Hill, triple threat halfback who has scored 80 points for the locals so far this season, is expected to be the big gun in the Wildcat attack. Hill will be ably assisted by Bill Butler and Joe Hoenig. Coach Bill Grice is starting the same team that defeated Hillsboro 20-0 last week, with the exception of guard Jack Maultsby, who suffered a broken nose in that tilt.

Frosh Swim Team To Meet Jayvees In Practice Tilt

Coach Bob Ousley's freshmen swimming team will swim against the Tar Heel jayvee swimmers this afternoon in their initial test of the year. The order of events will be the same as that used by high schools, for most of the freshmen meets are with high schools.

Swimming in the breaststroke will be E. C. Smith, and Bob Raskin. Both of these boys have done well, and Coach Ousley, a former breaststrokeer, has been impressed by their work. Backstrokers will be Bill Fulwiler and Charles Milton, and the distance swimmers will be Cecil Milton and Charley Crone.

Dave Howard will be the outstanding man in the individual medley, and Kirby Ambler has shown signs of future stardom in the sprints. Coach Ousley, however, still needs more material in practically every event, as evidenced by the fact that he has only one diver, Tom Staton. He urges that boys interested report immediately for the team has a meet with State on Dec. 2.

The jayvee swimmers will be handled by Mike Morrow, assistant varsity coach. Coach Morrow has not announced his lineup for today's meet, but his team will be favored over the freshmen.

Williams, Nelson, Bach Standouts In Carolina Play

By Frank Allston

Carolina's booters yesterday afternoon held a previously unbeaten and untied Duke soccer team to a scoreless deadlock on Fetzer field. The teams played two extra periods after the final bell, but still neither team could break the ice to score.

The game was savage and hard-fought all the way with many anxious moments played beneath the shadows of both goals. The outstanding plays of the day were made by the respective goalies, Al Williams of the Tar Heels and Joe Duff of Duke.

Jess Greenbaum, Frank Nelson and Joe Bach were other standouts for Carolina. Bach had trouble getting clear this afternoon, but made several nice shots that were either blocked or went slightly wide.

Williams Saves Game

Williams saved Carolina from sure defeat early in the fourth period when he made a beautiful diving deflection of a straight and true shot by Rod Rigioni, Blue Devil center forward. Rigioni and Chico Craniotis, two Latin American boys, were Duke standouts along with Shin Tanaka, American-born Japanese halfback.

The front lines of both teams played several rough moments near mid-field with several players going down with injuries during the couse of the contest. Coach Marvin Allen substituted frequently for the Tar Heels while Duke mentor Jerry Gerard kept his line-up intact most of the afternoon.

Action was most intense during the second extra period even though only one real scoring threat was made during that time. However, both teams knew that time was growing short, so the action was even more rough than at other times and a good deal faster.

Rough First Period

The game got off to a good start early in the first quarter when both teams made several threats only to be stopped by hurried shooting or fine blocking by the defense. There was very little action at mid-field during this time.

Tar Babies Journey to Raleigh To Meet State Freshmen Tonight

North Carolina's Tar Baby grid outfit will invade Raleigh at 8 o'clock tonight to meet the Wolfcubs of North Carolina State under the lights at Riddick stadium.

The Carolina eleven will be gunning for its fourth straight victory of the campaign and pregame indications are that the Tar Heels will achieve it.

Comparative scores often backfire, but that is the only basis for comparison between the two teams. The Tar Babies downed the Wake Forest frosh, 14-13, in their last outing while the Deacon yearlings dumped the Wolfcubs by a rather lopsided score earlier in the season.

The power-laden locals also hold decisions over South Carolina and Virginia and Coach Crowell Little has been impressed with their performances. Their victory over the powerful Wake Forest frosh, who have all four choices on last year's All-State scholastic backfield on the roster, established the Tar Babies as one of the top freshman aggregations in the South.

Fred Brady, C. C. White and Dick Weiss will do most of the ball-carrying for the Tar Babies with Weiss also taking charge of the passing attack. Skeeter Hesmer and Hilliard Knight are also slated to see extensive action in the Carolina backfield tonight.

Egbert Williams, the man who kicks the extra points for the Tar Babies, will also play an important part in the contest. Williams' sure toe provided the margin victory in the Wake Forest contest and he is being groomed to take over the place kicking chores of Bob Cox, who graduates this year.

No injuries were reported in the Wake Forest game and Coach Little's team is expected to be in top shape for tonight's contest.

MURAL WRESTLING

The intramural department suggests that all students who aspire to compete in the annual intramural wrestling tournament should attempt to get in fairly good condition before the ordeal of actual competition commences after the weighing in on November 15. The wrestling room will be open from now until the 15th for all who want to practice.

Squad Track Duel

The Blue half of Coach Dale Ranson's track squad took a 2-1 lead in the season series by defeating the White outfit, 81-74, in another of the intrasquad meets yesterday.

Hurdler Dick Taylor turned in the outstanding times of the meet in copping both the high and low hurdle events. Taylor did the 70-yard high hurdle event in 8.8 seconds and the lows in 13.3.

Closest finish of the afternoon came in the 330-yard dash when Clarence McLain and Bill Crimmins came home in a dead heat in 0:37.0.

Tar Heels Practice For Indian Joust; Hazelwood Out

Coach Carl Snavely put his Tar Heels through a light drill yesterday on Navy field as he began tapering off practice for Saturdays battle with William and Mary's Indians in Kenan stadium.

The Carolinians drilled in mud again yesterday although the rain that was present on Wednesday had passed away. Should Jupiter Pluvius visit Kenan stadium for his first game of the season on Saturday, the Tar Heels should be capable mudders with two days of mushy drills behind them.

Something new has been added to the Carolina repertoire this week. Coach Snavely has installed a few new single-wing plays and has drilled his boys further on plays installed last week. The Tar Heel aerial attack came in for its share of brushing up again yesterday with Choo Choo Charlie Justice, Hosea "Ramrod" Rodgers and Billy Hayes doing the tossing.

Ted Hazelwood, the big Carolina tackle who has been out for the past few weeks, will not be in action against the Indians this week. It was reported earlier in the week that the husky lineman would be ready for this week's battle, but Coach Snavely has decided to hold him out of action another week to give his leg wound more time to heal. No new injuries have been reported this week and the Tar Heel eleven will be intact on Saturday with the exception of the now regular list of side-liners, Hazelwood, Al Bernot, Don Hartig, and Fred Sherman.

COED VOLLEYBALL

Chi O 2	49	McIver	28
Kenan	56	Alpha Gama	18
Pi Phi 2	64	ADPi 2	21
Pi Phi 3	51	Chi O	13

NOW!
3 weeks delivery on your Tailored Suit
JERRY the TAILOR
Over N. C. Cafeteria

Dorm Grid Slate Ended Yesterday; Playoffs Coming

After a day of rainy respite, the boys competing in the Intramural football league resumed action with increased fervor yesterday and a result of their play was termination of the regular Dorm seasonal play; except for one cancelled tilt.

A potent Oakwood Drive aggregation closed out its highly successful season with a 34-0 shutout of the Bombers. For the former it was their sixth consecutive win and clinched first place for them in League 5. The Fireballs notched their fifth victory against two setbacks by edging a strong Whitehead crew in a thrilling overtime tussle, 9-7.

Forfeit triumphs for Lewis and BVP just about finished the Dorm action for the year except for a cancelled contest between the Grads and Med School 2, which will be played next week. The Grads must cop this game to retain top spot in League 6.

In the still surviving Fraternity leagues, Zeta 2 trampled the Sig Eps, 35-0, to capture the honors in League 1. The Zetes have won seven out of seven and can't possibly be overtaken in their quest for the league championship. Chi Psi and Chi Phi 1 participated in the afternoon's closest tilt with Chi Psi emerging victorious on the strength of Jim Kelly's three extra points, 21-19.

Paced by Frank Gossett, Lambda Chi 2 marched to a decisive 25-6 decision over KA 2 and gained a deadlock for second in League 1 with Chi Psi. Don McLeod had a tremendous afternoon for KA 1 as he personally tallide nineteen markers and led his teammates to a victory over TEP, 26-0, and Pi Kappa Phi took its sixth straight over Phi Gam 1, 26-7.

Other fraternity action saw PiKA 1 route St. Anthony, 26-0, while Sigma Nu 1 managed to nip a hapless DKE 1 squad, 6-0, on a first half counter by Bruce Jones. Phi Delta Chi won its initial game of the closing season by shading SAE 2 in an overtime clash.

Mural Results

TABLE TENNIS RESULTS

Phi Gam 1	3	PiKA 1	0
Pi Kappa Phi 2		PiKA 4	1
Sigma Chi 3	2	PiKA 3	1
Sigma Chi 7	3	Pi Lamb	0
Stacy 3		Alexander	0
Mangum 2		Emerson	1

Town 2, Oakwood Drive and Everett all won by forfeit.

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS

Chi Psi 2	2	Kappa Psi	1
Sigma Chi 3	2	DKE 1	0
Sig Eps 1	2	Phi Kappa Sig 2	0
Kappa Sig 2	2	TEP	0
Pi Kap Sig 1	2	Chi Phi 2	0
Stanley Steamers	2	Y Cab	0
Steele 2		Manly	0

KA 3 won by forfeit from Beta 3.

THE PINES
Announces
The Opening of
The Oyster Bar
THURSDAY, NOV. 4
Dinner Served in the Dining Room
Drive out 1½ miles on the Raleigh highway for steamed Oysters and Delicious Meals.

To Quench Your Thirst
Before the Game
Try
K & M
Beer
Delivery
PHONE
3536

Cross Country Teams Engage Duke Here Today

Coach Dale Ranson's varsity and freshmen cross country squads return to their home course today to engage Duke university's harriers in a pair of meets here. The varsity event will get underway at 4 o'clock from Fetzer field.

The Carolina varsity has only a record of one victory as against three defeats. The lone triumph was scored over State college last week. Navy, Virginia Tech, and Tennessee have defeated the Tar Heels.

The freshmen also have met with little success, dropping decisions to Duke and State in their only two starts to date.

The Duke record this season is considerably more impressive than that of the Tar Heels. The Blue Devil runners have turned in wins over State, Davidson, and Georgia Tech. The win over Georgia Tech was by a very close margin in a meet in Durham on Monday.

Duke probably rates the favorites nod because of its superior record. However, Carolina mentor Ranson has high hopes for victory. He feels his boys have improved considerably in the last few time trials.

One encouraging factor in the Tar Heel camp is that Sam Magill has returned the victor in all four of the team's meets thus far. He will be favored to win today's event.

Coach Ranson also is expecting things from Frank Hooper, who has been running second to Magill in all the meets and practices thus far.

Others who will run are Captain Julian McKenzie, Jim Hunt, John Ross, Jerry Lewis, Norman Barringer, and either Otis Huneycutt or Mark Burnham.

Burnham, former Tar Heel star, reported late and may not get into the race today.

For the freshmen Gordon Hamrick, Don Thurber, and Fentress Seagroves are expected to be the leaders. Dick Hollander coaches the Tar Heel frosh.

EXECUTIVE CAREERS IN RETAILING
One-year Course leads to Master's Degree
• Prepare to step into a responsible executive position in the retailing field: buying, advertising, fashion, personnel. Specialized training, exclusively for college graduates, covers merchandising, personnel management, textiles, store organization, sales promotion, and all phases of store activity. Realistic approach under store-trained faculty. Classes are combined with paid store work. Students are usually placed before graduation. Co-educational. Master's degree. Tuition $350. Four full-tuition scholarships available. Limited enrollment. Write Admissions Office for Bulletin C.
RESEARCH BUREAU FOR RETAIL TRAINING
UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH • Pittsburgh 13, Pa.

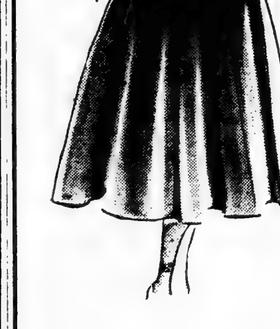
ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 CAMERON AVENUE WRITE: P.O. Box 902

Come on down —
CAFE SEVILLE
Don't Like the Piccolo — Try the Piano.
Don't Like Bottle Beer — Try the Pitcher.
GOOD CONVERSATION with TASTY SNACKS
BEER
STUDENT OWNED AND OPERATED
STEVE STEFANOU, Prop.

"Do as I say... or you've got only three minutes to live!"
Three fear-fraught minutes . . . stretching into an eternity of suspense...as a woman listens to her own murder being plotted on the telephone!
BARBARA Stanwyck
BURT Lancaster
"SORRY, WRONG NUMBER"
ANN RICHARDS
WENDELL COREY HAROLD VERMILYEA
A HAL WALLIS PRODUCTIONS, INC., PICTURE
TODAY
CAROLINA
HOURS OF FEATURE
1:28 — 3:24 — 5:20
7:16 — 9:12

Q: What brand of shorts do college men swear by but not at?
A: ARROW SHORTS
WHY? Because Arrow's seamless seat and patented crotch construction prevent chafing and creeping and give ample sitting-room where needed.
TRY Arrow shorts next time for real comfort. They come in oxford and broadcloth with gripper fasteners or buttons. Try Arrow undershirts too.
ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

DRAPERIES
SLIPCOVERS
BEDSPREADS
Selection of Material on Hand
MISS LILLIAN EDWARDS
CAROLINA DRAPERY SHOP
IN OGBURN FURNITURE CO.



AIR CIRCUS
SUNDAY
Nov. 7 — 3 P.M.
Chapel Hill Airport
SEE
★
Airplane Land on Top of Automobile
★
Low Level Special-Built Airplanes Do Acrobatics Close to Ground
★
Airplane Pickup of Man from Automobile
★
10,000 Foot Delayed Parachute Jump
★
12 Great Acts
Direct from Cleveland National Air Races
★
COME EARLY
Free Parking at Airport
★
ADMISSION
$1.00
(Children Free with Parents)
★
SPONSORED
By the
MONOGRAM CLUB

Phi Votes Down 18-Year-Olds' Right to Vote

The right of 18-year-olders to vote in North Carolina elections was turned down by the Philanthropic assembly 11 to 6 Tuesday night in New East.

Representatives Dave Sharpe, Bill Duncan, and Pete Gerns speaking in opposition, argued that young voters would be subject to persuasion by radicals. The negative claimed military capabilities do not necessarily qualify a citizen for the ballot.

Page Harris and others favoring the bill declared better and more democratic government will result from lowered voting ages. The activity of local students in all parties was regarded by the affirmative as indicative that young voters would not be more misled than older people.

—Also—
CARTOON — NEWS
—Today—
VILLAGE

FEATURED AS THE "WORLD'S SMALLEST AIRPORT," the automobile-airplane landing stunt will be only one of 12 stunts to be seen at the Chapel Hill air show Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The show is to be sponsored by the Monogram club and will provide a complete two-hour program of aerial thrills.

Hilton, Penrose To Make Survey

L. L. Hilton and William O. Penrose, director and associate director of the general Extension Service of the University of Arkansas will make a survey of the University Extension division, according to Russell M. Grumman, director of extension.

Penrose, who is in charge of a junior college established at Little Rock by the University of Arkansas, will make a survey of the North Carolina college centers.

Little Time Left For Picture-Taking

With little time remaining for students to have their Yack pictures made, only about 4,200 pictures have so far been taken by the Chidnoff studio photographers, Yack Editor Bill Duncan said yesterday.

The photographers will definitely close up shop this week, Duncan said, two of them leaving Friday and the third remaining to take any stragglers who appear before noon Saturday.

Through Duncan admits that he is happy because his staff will have much less work to do with the small number of pictures, he insists that students should be better represented in their year book.

Cowden Authors Two Text Books

Dr. Dudley J. Cowden of the University Commerce school was the co-author of two volumes on statistics released for publication by Prentice-Hall in October, officials announced yesterday.

The first, written in collaboration with Dr. F. E. Croxton of Columbia university, is a revision of "Practical Business Statistics," the first copy of which came out in 1934.

The other publication released is "Practical Problems in Business Statistics" by Prof. and Mrs. Cowden. Designed to accompany "Practical Business Statistics," it is the successor to Exercise and Problems in Business Statistics," which first appeared in 1935. The publishers report that more than 140,000 copies of these three publications have been sold up to now.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—LAST DAY for Yack pictures. Second floor. GM.
3:00—CRIL. Short meeting. YMCA.
4:00—GERMAN CLUB CONCERT — Elliot Lawrence. Memorial Hall.
6:00—YACK PHOTOGRAPHERS STOP.
7:00—PEP RALLY and Torch Light Parade from Y Court to Forest Theater.
7:30—HILLEL FOUNDATION. Roland Parker lounge 3. GM.
8:00—"MARDI GRAS," Sound and Fury production. Memorial hall.
9:00—GERMAN CLUB DANCE. Woollen gymnasium.

–Politics–

(Continued from page 1)

the student assembly.

In taking the action, Childress explained, "The Student party is not interested in attacking any one of the three parties on the campus. We feel however, that students should be aware of the situation that exists in the Student Legislature. The only way that the excessive absences for social and political reasons can be corrected is through cooperation from all members of student government. Those members of the legislature who have been absent for two or more meetings this session are not contributing their best to student government and they should be replaced by students who will take an interest."

Summer Degrees Available Now

All students who completed work for degrees during the summer are asked to call at Central Records office, 302 South building, to get their diplomas. Office hours are from 9 to 1 o'clock a.m. from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The
COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

The Buccaneer
CLUB LUNCHEONS
75c 60c 50c
Chef's Special
Baked Ham
Potato Salad
Cole Slaw
Rolls Coffee
Only 75c
Served Daily Except Sunday
12 Noon - 3 P.M.
AIRPORT RD. CHAPEL HILL

The ORIENTAL
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT

ANDREWS-HENNINGER
Gay Gibson Stresses Black
FOR DATES THAT RATE . . .
The most feminine Black dress we've seen in a long time. It looks like a little of you peeps through at your waist, but it is actually inset bands of coral blossom Crepe under black Net Lace. Sheer wisdom in Rayon Evergrand Crepe for only 00.00. Junior sizes 9 to 17.
Gay Gibson juniors

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9357 — Pittsboro Rd.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR ONE OR TWO MALE students. Immediate occupancy. Private entrance. Little distance out-car a convenience. Call DTH office F-3371. (2-8033-1)

FOR SALE 6B

2½ x 3¼ SPEED GRAPHIC, F 3.5 ZEISS Tessar in Compur Shutter, Kalart Rangefinder, and other accessories. Contact James L. Roberts, 25 Rogerson Drive. (3-8029-1)

FULL DRESS SUIT FOR FORMAL wear (tails) size 38-39 long. Midnight blue. In good condition. See D. Evans 306 Grimes. (4-9013-1)

SOUNDSCRIBER — PRACTICALLY new. Excellent condition. In portable leather case. Makes permanent records for twenty-two cents an hour. Phone F-2401. (1-8037-1)

21-FOOT HOUSE TRAILER, FULLY equipped, ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. Occupancy Dec. 18. A bargain at $1200. 86 Trailer Court. (1-8034-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

LATE 1946 BUICK SUPER AUTO. Radio, heater, cushion tires, excellent condition. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St., after 1 p.m. (3-8031-1)

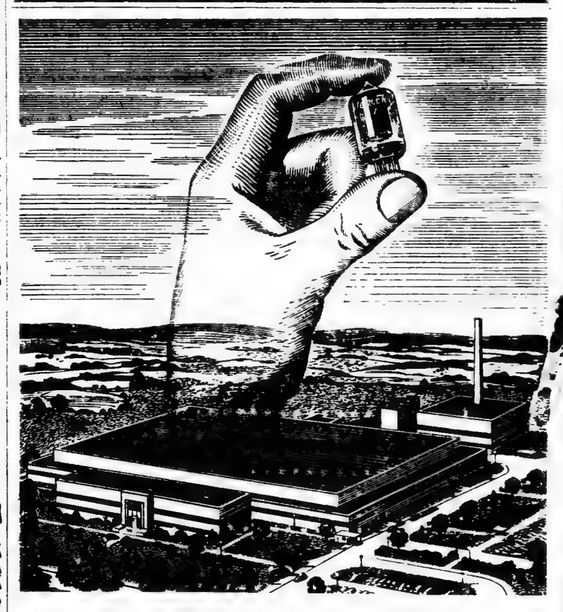
LOST 12

ONE TAN GABARDINE RAINCOAT after LSU game. Coat had a MAN'S STORE, ASHEVILLE label in it. Contact Sterling G. Gilliam, 122 "B" Dorm. (2-8035-1)

PARKER '51 PENCIL BETWEEN Bingham X and Bingham Y around 10 Wed. morning. Black and silver. If found, please return to Gwen Baber, 318 McIver. (1-8036-1)

WILL THE PERSON WHO TOOK A grey gabardine overcoat with an AMBRIDGE, PENN. label from the Phi Gam house by mistake during rushing please return it to Bill Wardle at the Fiji house? (1-1200-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28



FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

We're on Our Toes
With Quick Towing Service
If you've ever been stuck for hours—waiting for a tow truck, you'll appreciate our 24-hour service. We're on our way as soon as we get your call. Keep our phone number in your glove compartment.
For Night Emergency Service Call
Gilbert Clark, F-3681 — Bill Merritt F-2291
If above numbers do not answer
Call 5331
HAZZARD MOTOR CO.
(GENERAL MOTORS)
Phone 4771 -:- -:- Chapel Hill

STEAKS — SANDWICHES
— BEER — CHICKEN —
Before the Game . . .
After the Game. . .
You Can Enjoy Good Food Here
•
Open Daily — 11:00 A.M. to 12:00 P.M.
PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE
WATT'S GRILL
Only 2 Miles Out on Pittsboro Road

Just to give your voice a lift

When you make a long distance telephone call, your voice would soon fade out were it not for vacuum tube repeaters. They give your voice a lift whenever needed—carry it clearly from coast to coast.
Vacuum tubes and other electronic devices are playing an ever-growing part in your Bell telephone service. As the manufacturing unit of the Bell System, Western Electric makes millions of these intricate little things.
To produce them to highest standards of precision and at lowest cost, Western Electric has just completed its new Allentown, Pa., plant—latest addition to vast telephone making facilities in 18 cities. Now, and in the years ahead, this new Western Electric plant will help to make your Bell telephone service better than ever.
Western Electric
A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

HEARTY meals — for hearty appetites — at HARRY'S

OVEMBER 5, 1948

their diplomas. Office om 9 to 1 o'clock and o'clock.

Buccaneer
LUNCHEONS
60c 50c

ef's Special
Baked Ham
Potato Salad
Cole Slaw
Coffee
Only 75c

ed Daily Except Sunday
Noon - 3 P.M.
CHAPEL HILL

DWICHES
CKEN
e Game. . .
Food Here
to 12:00 P.M.
SPACE
RILL
tsboro Road

your ft istance telephone can take out were the repeaters. They however needed—
to coast
ieties are playing one service. As the Western Electric is of precision and completed its new to vast telephone in the years ahead, help to make your lectric
EM SINCE 1882

BOX 990
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

EDITORIALS

Produce Or Get Out
Russia Makes Threat
On 1948 Campaign

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and Cooler

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 38

Tar Heels, Indians To Battle In Kenan Today

University Makes 18 Million Dollar Request

Carmichael Calls Budget Hearing 'Second Round'

Says First Round Was This Summer

The budget hearing last Wednesday was actually the second round in the campaign for necessary funds to operate and expand the Greater University of North Carolina," said Controller W. D. Carmichael yesterday.

The $18,417,846 request was to complete permanent additions, which lack funds for completion and for new facilities at the University out of a total of $45,696,325. The first round took place this summer when an improvement commission made up of the board of trustees surveyed the campus at Chapel Hill and other branches of the Greater University for its needs and requirements.

The completion of hospital, library and utilities facilities head the list of buildings yet to be completed. And with a $47,000 request made for improved laundry equipment and building the total sum was $4,997,779.

New requests totaling $13,420,067 was made for permanent structures which included a School of Commerce building, addition to the Law building, 3 new dorms similar to the ones recently completed and a new Institute of Government building, as well as other classroom and laboratory facilities for the science departments.

On interests to the University is the projected Journalism building which will require $338,750 which includes the structure, as well as the needed equipment.

The statistics showing the expenditures and receipts of the University reveal that there is an estimated drop of seventy percent in receipts from veterans. Receipts from veterans in 1948-1949 were estimated at $1,140,205. and for the next fiscal year they are estimated at $424,800.

Normal operating funds of $2,562,783 was requested in order to balance out the expected drop in receipts resulting from a decline in veterans receipts, utilities, increasing costs, salary and wage increases (unanimously agreed to by the trustees) and other declines in receipts such as gifts and endowments. A. H. Shepard, assistant business manager of the University said that one of the reasons for the utilities decrease is the fact that although salaries and wage rates are expected to be raised there will be no increase of utilities rate to further the up-spiralling cost of living. It is also reported that there will be an average decrease of students of about 150 each year bringing the total enrollment to 7000 students.

Four-Year School Of Medicine Is Set for Fall, '51

McLendon Says Plans Call for 400 Beds

RALEIGH, Nov. 5—(UP)—A four-year medical school is expected to be in operation at the University of North Carolina by the fall of 1951, it was disclosed during budget hearings for the Greater University here yesterday.

Maj. L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, chairman of the Medical school committee of the University Board of Trustees, told the commission that present plans call for completion of a 400-bed teaching hospital at Chapel Hill by Sept. 1, 1951. He said that the hospital and extension of the medical course from two to four years were parts of the state's good health program.

McLendon revealed the plans in requesting the commission for an increased budget for the Medical school. He said the state should begin now to strengthen the school in preparation for the four-year course.

Dr. James Robinson of Wilmington, president of the state Medical society, told the commission, "It will take two years, at least, to obtain the men we need to set up the departments in the expanded school."

The present operating budget of the Medical school called for $179,483 for the first year of the biennium and $188,724 for the second. Spokesmen requested $438,658 for the first year of the 1949-51 biennium and $574,658 for the second.

An additional $3,262,000 was asked to finance the hospital construction, for which the General Assembly of 1947 appropriated $3,790,000 and the federal government approved $1,500,000.

Rho Chi Holds Monthly Meet

Rho Chi, highest honorary pharmaceutical fraternity, held its monthly meeting Thursday night, and initiated nine new members. These were:

Ben F. Cooper, J. K. Turner, Jr., Ralph L. Knox, Virginia Callahan, James E. Brookshire, William Taylor Dement, Frank Barnett, Jr., William M. Jordan, and H. Dale Smith.

SMOKE POURS FROM THE zinc works of the American Steel and Wire co., plant at Donora, Pa., which was closed after "smog"—smoke, fog and industrial fumes—caused twenty deaths in the town. Gov. James H. Duff ordered an investigation to determine whether the disaster could have been prevented.

Deferments

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(UP)—The White House today announced appointment of a 20-member committee to work out policies on draft deferments for scientists and collegiate science students.

Selective Service headquarters had previously called upon local draft boards to grant deferments to about 44,000 college men studying to be doctors, dentists, veterinarians or osteopaths.

Director Lewis B. Hershey said the recommendations of the new committee for deferment of scientists and science students will also be referred to local draft boards for application at their discretion.

The committee is composed of educators, businessmen and government officials.

Group Leaders Asked To Pick Reporters

Dorm managers, fraternity and sorority presidents are requested to appoint reporters for the Daily Tar Heel and turn in their names to Ed Joyner, editor, immediately.

First Snow

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Tornadoes killed at least 10 persons in the South today while the season's first big snow howled into South Dakota and touched other plains

Late News Bulletins

Charges 'Falsehood'

PARIS, Nov. 5. — (UP) — John Foster Dulles today charged Russia's Andrei Vishinsky with uttering a "vicious falsehood" when he said the United States was converting Greece into a base for aggression.

Fourteen Hanged

LANDSBERG, Germany, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Fourteen war criminals, including several minor Nazi leaders, were hanged here today for the "cold-blooded and inhuman" murder of U. S. fliers and concentration camp prisoners.

Nanking Menaced

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Powerful Chinese Communist armies north and south of Nanking menaced Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's capital today and the U. S. embassy advised more than 4,000 Americans in the Shanghai-Nanking area to leave the country while there still was time.

Taft-Hartley Repeal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — (UP) — Vice President-elect Alben W. Barkley predicted today the 81st Congress will repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law and enact a broad anti-inflation program, including the "standby" rationing and price control powers repeatedly sought by President Truman.

Folsom Sues

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5—(UP)—Gov. James E. Folsom sued in U. S. district court today to force Alabama electors to cast their 11 votes for President Truman.

Enough Fuel Oil

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — (UP) — Sen. Brien McMahon, D., Conn., said today oil industry and government officials are "practically unanimous" in the belief that "fuel supplies will be adequate to see home owners through the coming winter."

Old Story

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 5—(UP)—Broadcaster Grady Cole came up today with a new version of the old gag about what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina.

Cole, farm director of WBT, interviewed Tar Heel governor-elect Kerr Scott after the election and asked him what he would have to say to the Palmetto state chief executive.

... The reply, as reported by Cole:

"Come on back into the party, suh."

Local Professor Discusses Polls

Dr. William G. Madow Says Gallup Must 'Learn to Pick the Right Way'

By Edna Dooley and Lincoln Kan

The independent voter claimed by public opinion polls to have swung the election is not the only factor behind the poll failure.

That is the opinion of Dr. William G. Madow, statistician of the University Mathematics department. "Dr. Gallup has been slipping in recent years. His polls have proportionately increased in descrepancy," said Madow.

Madow was in agreement with Dr. V. O. Keyes, chairman of Johns Hopkins Political Science department in that sampling methods were the basic causes for the failure of the pollsters to prognosticate correctly. Madow said, "Polls are machines and as machines must not and cannot be operated at the whim of the pollster or the interviewer."

Dr. Madow gave three reasons why the public opinions were so far off base:

1. "An interviewer is told to get so many representatives from a certain class. There is no assurance that he will get true ones, because there is a tendency on the part of the interviewer who is usually a college graduate to ask the cleaner, neater farmers or laborers. In other words, it is left up to his discretion whom to interview.

2. "Another reason is that it has been ten years since the last census was taken and there has been a change in the proportion of people to be interviewed as representing these classes which may have been taken by polling experts.

3. "Too little polling has been done in such places as the North Carolina hills.

Dr. Madow disagreed with Dr. Keyes in that the correction to future polls lies not in one income bracket as Keyes suggested. In all income brackets there must be an improvement in sampling technique. Any attempt to improve the technique will necessitate a very expensive survey of the proportion of people in various income groups and the training of better interviewers.

As far as the over-estimation of Wallace strength was concerned, Dr. Madow said, "Wallace had strength until the issues were clear. Many people probably had

(See POLLS, page 4)

Delta Sigma Pi Holds Banquet At Carolina Inn

The Alpha Lambda chapeter of the international fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi celebrated Founder's day with a banquet in the ball room of the Carolina Inn.

Monroe Landreth, master of ceremonies, opened the program by asking Mel Finch to give thanks. Honor guests of the evening were R. A. Fountain of the Farm Supply co. of Fountain, and H. A. Rhinehart, vice-president of the Fidelity bank of Durham, charter members of the Alpha Lambda chapter. Fountain and Rhinehart passed several compliments for the work of the chapter since their days at Chapel Hill. Faculty members present were Dr. D. D. Carroll, dean of the commerce school, and honorary brothers Dr. Wolf, Dr. McGregor, Dr. Heath, and Mr. Barrett, also of the commerce school.

The master of ceremonies called on Head Master Hubert Aenchbacher and K. B. Stallings for highlights in the history of the chapter and the fraternity.

Huge Crowd Welcomes President

Truman Arrives In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(UP)—Nearly a million Washingtonians roared a welcome to Harry S. Truman today when he came home winner in the presidential wars. It had been a different story 12 days ago when he left here on his final campaign tour, a lonely figure almost forsaken by those who didn't care to cheer a "sure loser."

It was a happy but humble man who rode in triumph from the railroad station up the "Avenue of Presidents" to the White House waving his hat and smiling at the milling, exuberant throngs that shouted "you showed 'em, Harry."

If the president remembered that only a handful of those same people had bothered to see him off, he kept the though to himself.

"Thank you very much," he told the enormous crowd in an impromptu speech from the White House steps. "I can't tell you how very much I appreciate this warm and cordial welcome. It makes a man study and wonder whether he is worthy of the confidence, worthy of the responsibility which has been thrust upon him."

It was Harry Truman's big day and he seemingly had no wish to rub it in, or to scorn fair weather friends.

He never stopped smiling from the moment when his "victory special" backed into union station, promptly at 11 a.m., EST, with President standing only with secret service men on the rear platform.

Lenior Alumni Meet In Kinston

Barbecue and a talk by Victor Bryant, chairman of the Trustees Visiting committee, highlighted the election night meeting of the Lenoir county University alumni chapter in Kinston.

Another feature of the program was movies from the Georgia-Carolina football game. J. M. Saunders, alumni secretary, and Bill Shuford, assistant secretary, attended.

Secretary Saunders announced that an extensive membership campaign is underway in Greensboro this week. George H. Roach, '31, is president of the Greensboro chapter.

Czech Arms Note Reply Declared 'Unsatisfactory'

Continue Running Guns To Israeli

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(UP)—The State department disclosed today that Czechoslovakia has delivered an "entirely unsatisfactory" reply to an American request that Czech authorities halt illegal arm shipments to Israeli forces.

A department spokesman said the Czech government did not deny that such arms traffic was going on. He added that the Czech reply was "entirely unsatisfactory and evasive."

Other quarters said that, despite the American request, the shipments are continuing.

Student Pets Who Go To Class To Be Checked

Students who take their dogs to class were requested yesterday afternoon by the local SPCA group to ascertain whether or not their instructors objected to the pets before carrying them into various classrooms.

The request was made after numerous objections had been received from various departments on campus complaining about "stray" dogs in such buildings as Saunders, Caldwell and Bingham.

It is believed, however, that the dogs are not actually strays, but are pets of students in class. Therefore, to prevent further complaints, students should get permission before allowing their dogs to enter buildings.

Dog owners were urged again to buy proper tags of identification for the pets, in order to prevent their being picked up and carried to the city pound as "strays." The pick-up drive will be conducted next week, SPCA leaders pointed out.

The drive will not be carried out in an effort to take any dogs away from students, but rather to prevent any of the pets from freezing or starving to death during the winter months. A fine of $2.50 is charged any owner whose dog is carried to the pound by local authorities.

Snavelymen Favored To Take 14th In Row

Crowd of 40,000 to See Old Rivals Play As 1948 Champions Test Current Leaders

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's unbeaten Tar Heels, current leaders in the Southern conference, run up against last season's defending loop champs, the William and Mary Indians, in Kenan stadium this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Tar Heels have been installed as heavy favorites, with many observers rating Coach Carl Snavely's charges 27 points better than the visiting Indians. But the game probably will turn out to be a much tighter battle than the odds indicate.

Carolina will be seeking to continue its great two-year record of 13 straight wins, and William and Mary would like nothing better than to snap the Tar Heel victory streak. It will be remembered that this string of 13 wins was begun against the Indians a little more than a year ago. Carolina won that contest, 13-6, in Williamsburg, Va.

Indian Record

Thus far the Indians haven't enjoyed a particularly successful year. On the basis of the 1947 season, in which they lost but one game, the visitors were regarded as one of the South's strongest teams in pre-season predictions. But already the Indians have been defeated by Wake Forest, 21-12; and St. Bonaventure, 7-6.

Carolina romped over Wake Forest, 28-6, in the only game which serves as a basis of comparison between the locals and Indians.

Both clubs ran into stiff competition this past weekend before coming through with expected victories. Carolina marched to a pair of early touchdowns and then staved off Tennessee's determined Vols, 14-7, in a rugged battle in Knoxville. William & Mary also experienced difficulty in subduing Richmond, 14-6.

On Rebound

Neither Tennessee nor Richmond have particularly good teams this season, so both Carolina and William & Mary should be on the rebound after their close calls of the past weekend.

Despite the none-too-impressive performance against Tennessee, Carolina was able to hang onto third place in the Associated Press national grid ratings for the past week. Notre Dame, which plays Indiana today, and Michigan, which meets Navy, were the two teams ahead of Carolina.

A crowd of 40,000 is expected to turn out for the local game today.

Coach Carl Snavely is taking no chance of his Tar Heels falling victims of over-confidence. The team tapered off to light drills yesterday, but prior to that the three previous workouts were considered the roughest of the season. The Carolina mentor worked his outfit long and hard, with the lights of Navy field being turned on nearly every evening to afford a longer practice period.

Injury Problem

Four Tar Heels are slated to miss the game because of injuries. But they have already been out for several weeks. Those on the ailing list are Ted Hazelwood,

(See RODGERS, CLOUD, page 3)

SP Denies 'Mudslinging' Charge

By Bill Buchan

UP Not In Issue, States Childress

The Student party battle to prosecute University party chairman Thurman Williams before the Student council because of "negligence on his part in performance of his duties as chairman of the legislature rules committee" went into its second round yesterday afternoon with Gran Childress, SP, spokesman issuing a statement flatly denying Williams' charge of "mudslinging against the University party."

Childress, replying to Williams' charge in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel, stated, "In its plan to prosecute Thurman Williams for negligence in his duty as chairman of the rules committee, the Student party has made no mention of the University party. Mr. Williams' dismissal of the charges as 'mudslinging against the UP' will not stand up as a defense for his actions."

"The Student party severly criticizes certain members of the UP for their continual absense from the legislature," he continued, "however, at the moment we are not blaming them, but rather Mr. Williams for his negligence. It was his duty as chairman of the rules committee to call meetings of his committee to ascertain if their absences were excusable or not. In no case has he done so.

"Jack Worsham, legislature clerk, may be at fault for not having records at the present time for the first three legislature meetings, however, after talking with him and hearing his explanation, I do not feel he is to be blamed. If Mr. Williams had made an attempt to get the list of absentees from Worsham after the meetings, he would have done so. It should be pointed out too, that Mr. Williams himself has been absent from the last two meetings without any feasible excuse."

Who Does?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(UP)—An elderly woman put down her newspaper, turned to her companion on the bus and said:

"I can't believe the polls any more. I don't even know whether to trust the Kinsey report."

Produce or Get Out

Coach Carl Snavely is a more successful teacher than I am. He is a more successful teacher than any professor in my department and more so than most professors in the University."

It is slightly surprising to consider this statement made by a University professor and to realize that it is absolutely true. It is also somewhat disturbing. For the man who made that statement was a teacher of political science, and he was admitting that the teaching of a game is more successfully performed here than the teaching of the vital business of governing the United States.

Why is that true?

"Coach Snavely has to produce or get out," the professor said. "Moreover, his students reach out and grab for everything he can teach them. Every man on the football team is eager to learn as much as he can about the game."

And why are they so eager to learn

Because they, too, must produce or get out. Snavely keeps no deadwood on his squad. Many are called but few are chosen; and because this is so, playing on the team becomes a goal to be attained and an accomplishment to be proud of. Every player works six days a week at learning football—and it is hard, dirty, driving work. Each man works because he knows that to succeed he must be not just good but in his specialty he must be among the best. It is a challenge to prove himself, and the man who meets the challenge best receives the most in return.

The desire to be "the best" has been so developed by the American competitive system that it has become almost inherent in the American make-up. If this challenge will work in teaching football it should work in teaching other subjects. We have said before that it is too easy for both students and professors to get in and to stay in this University. Of course, there are exceptions: the Law school, the Medical school and other graduate schools are tough, as is the Commerce school. It is noticeable that the tougher the section of the University, the more highly is it regarded and the wider does its reputation spread. But the level of instruction and of student endeavor is disgustingly low in the general college and in most of the University departments. Some professors such as Craig in English, Cameron in math, Cathy in history and Newman in music, are hard taskmasters. They are competent teachers and can afford to be tough, and because a grade from them means something in knowledge gained, students work for them. Many of our teachers however, are mere hacks at their trade, bored with their work and boring their students. The knowledge is there if the student wants to dig for it, but, if he does not, he can piddle along and pass anyway. There is no incentive for him to do his best. He is wasting his own time, taking up needed space and slowing down students who do want to learn.

The University of North Carolina is a great university, but it can be even greater. The principle of "produce or get out" can make any university great. It needs to be applied here.

Russia Makes a Threat

By an overwhelming majority of 40 to 6 the general assembly of the United Nations last Thursday upheld the Baruch plan of international atomic energy control. Of course Russia can again walk out in protest to the majority decision if she wants. But one thing has been proven—the nations of the world can agree on something that is vital to their welfare.

However, there is one sour note. Vishinsky said in reference to the vote on the AEC, "The control organ would have to have armed forces to enforce its order." This means that if the control organ wishes to investigate a nation suspected of making or storing bombs, they may have to use force even to get a chance to look. That would mean war or would nullify any attempts at international control made by the commission.

Let us hope, however, that Russia has learned a lesson from the recent U. S. elections. The voice of the majority of the people can not be denied. Even now as the polling booths are swept clean, the parties are unanimous in their support of the people's choice.

Listen to the voice of the world's people, Russia.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

TO BE OR NOT TO BE a debutante from Carolina is a good question at this point. The girls this year are watching every football game and chewing their nails over getting to the Sugar Bowl, 'cause they know that if we do hit New Orleans, they'll have one more tough time making the ball and the game in two days. And chief marshals like Dick Stoker are likewise upset about the matter.

PONY EXPRESS. What with his many trips to and from the Twin City; Graham Memorial director Bob Watson is a mighty busy man. Mike Loftis has suggested that we take up a collection to buy Bob either a motor scooter or a Shetland pony.

HOW FAST can the Carolina mails get? We begin to wonder when we hear about air mail letters between Spencer and the ATO house. Whazza matter—somebody have tired feet?

STILL WAITING. We have yet to get a report of a mud pack in the new barber shop. Say, why don't you fellows drop in down there and talk the matter over with Jim the barber? You might get a haircut while you're there even if you don't like the idea of having mud on your face.

NO CAN DO. It's down right impossible to keep rules at times; and we hear that Carrington Gretter has found one of those times. He's been so happy about the election results that he can't keep from talking about it, even if he is supposed to be working a quiet job behind the desk at the library.

AND SHE'S OFF! It's folks like Liddy Bett Myatt who make us feel like so many turtles. When that gal takes off at 8:56 for her 9 o'clock class, she's gone like a streak of greased lightning.

THE HOUNDS ARE OUT, but Tarnation is not. The editors say it will be out when we see it. In the meantime, if anybody sees "Scoop" Campbell, put a ball and chain on him and bring him around to the Tarnation office. That might help matters a bit.

NO CHECK—CHECK! When you fill out those football score-guessing forms, be sure to black the blanks. They're easier to tabulate that way.

SO RIGHT. That freshman down on the steps of Lenoir knew what he was talking about when he made his profound statement on the election. And we quote: "Well, the national polls were right on one point—We states' righters really did take the lead in our four states.

COME 'N GET IT! The boys in Elliot Lawrence's orchestra have mail in the office of Graham Memorial they haven't even used yet. Fact is, it looks as if they'd be booked up for the next six months if they'd come by for it.

THANKS, COW COLLEGE. We're happy to report that 16 boys from State brought the lost ram's head home to Old East last week.

NEUTRAL TERRITORY? Wish you'd help us explain this one. Student party freshman class president nominee—gads, what a title!—Bill Prince and another member of the party—namely Frances Green—were seen addressing cards for the Campus party the other day.

PLEASE, PLEASE, and another please! Whoever took the note book with "OGB" on the cover bring it back to the DTH office or get it to Bob Smith. Otherwise, yours truly will be in no less than 16 sliced bits.

HOPALONG PETER. Tough about that football game that almost took Pete Burk's leg away from him. Best he stay here at the Hill and not take off to wild, wooly places like Charlotte.

These Days

On The 1948 Campaign

By George E. Sokolsky

I spend election night from 6:30 p.m. to 10 a.m. at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, the headquarters of Governor Dewey. And there I had a wonderful opportunity to study psychology. What's the use of trying to analyze the votes; let's talk about people.

During the early hours of Tuesday night, the assembly was gay. It was a sure walkover. The new day was dawning. Then the Truman votes came rattling in and the gloom began to spread. The walkover, the sure thing was not what it seemed to be. I had made it my business to look carefully for the Old New Dealers who had hopped on the Dewey bandwagon when it was rolling along. They were there up in front; the smart converts. Somehow toward the middle of the night, they began melting away. They had hopped too soon. I regretted that duty (I had suddenly become a commentator on television) kept me from going to the Biltmore Hotel, where the Democrats were gathered. Perhaps those New Dealers who had bet on Dewey as a sure thing were now making their peace with Senator McGrath.

And the same is true of lots of folks on the air. There ought to be monitors about to tell some of them what they had said the week before. Some of these prophets had studied the Gallup and Roper polls and had decided to get in right with Dewey before he actually reached the White House. And it was terrifyingly interesting to see how they were soon throwing out hints that they had known it all along.

Well, nobody knew it all along. Nobody seriously concerned with politics expected what happened to happen. Seventy-four per cent of the American newspapers, according to the Twohey Analysis of Newspaper Opinion, supported Dewey and expected him to win; nine per cent supported Truman and expected him to win. Most of the politicians and foreign observers and the man-on-the-street expected Dewey to win—and most of them anticipated a landslide. And nobody has an alibi. It just went the other way.

But you should have listened to the discussions between 4 a.m. and 8 a.m. on Wednesday. Each one had a different explanation, ranging from the people liking the little scrapper to nobody turns out an administration during a period of prosperity. The best argument I think was that the Solid South remained Solid South and that the Wallace vote did not materialize.

The latter point is very interesting:

In July, it was expected that Henry Wallace would get about 5,000,000 votes. By October, it looked like 2,500,000. While this discussion raged, Henry had under 1,000,000 votes, but Truman bettered Dewey by 1,300,000 votes, so it was assumed that the 1,500,000 who failed to vote for Wallace voted for Truman and that made the difference. Well, maybe! Who knew in July or October what the Wallace vote would really be?

Most of us finally gave up trying to understand what had gone wrong. It did not seem to matter much. I cannot get excited about it. I believed firmly that the country should have elected Dewey and by a decisive vote. A large number of voters differed and that is each man's right in a free country. Men here do not have to agree or follow a leader or accept the dictates of anyone or even the wisdom of the pundits.

Slightly Satiric

The New Saga Of Roland

By Bev Lawler

We are proud to announce the birth of another campus tradition. It seems that late at night the boys in the Quonset huts can hear weeping and wailing from the deserted hut at the edge of the forest. Whenever they investigate they find a small 39 pound ghost, who shimmers and glows rather unconvincingly and who advises everyone to go to the drugstore if they ever have a sore throat. Being rather blase individuals, the boys listen for a while, yawn, and then retreat to their beds, but the TAR HEEL reporters are made of sterner stuff; so here is the complete, uncopyrighted story.

The ghost's name is Roland and the story begins many centuries ago when meat was cheap and automobiles plentiful. It so happened that Roland was hoarse from cheering the Big Team to another routine victory, so he strolled to the dispensary to succor his wrecked membranes. Casually giving his name to the receptionist, our unwary hero walked into the examination room and found it empty. Never one to miss an opportunity for sacktime, he relaxed in a comfortable chair and let his natural inclination take its course. He never heard the door open and never saw the doctor stride into the room, eyes flashing, nostrils aquiver with anticipation, every sense alert for the smallest, most elusive symptom. Gently prodding Roland to his usual state of near-conciousness, the doctor pushed him upon the examining table and began a series of short left and rights to the midriff.

"Does it hurt," he inquired?

Roland rubbed his battered abdomen and gave an emphatic, "Hell, yes," nod.

Firmly grasping Roland, the doctor ordered a nurse to prepare a bed. This rang alarm bells in the noble cranium of our hero, who sat up to declare his need of a little medication of the throat. Assuming that he was reaching the delirious stage, the doctor laid him low with a gentle rabbit-punch.

Awakening, Roland found a lovely young nurse applying a king-sized needle to his posterior regions. Blushing at his embarrassing position he unwittingly called attention to his revived condition, for Roland was the type that blushed all over. Catching her eye, he emitted a croak intended to convey his disapproval of the entire situation, but she only backed away, flexing her muscles. Roland started to sit up, but memory of his last attempt and the resulting "coup de grace" convinced him it was better to remain dormant and concious.

Ten days later they decided that Roland could go free, since they had given him all possible tests and decided that he was free from cancer, heart trouble, chiggers, and needed no pre-natal care. His bed was filled by a young man who had a flat tire in front of the Medical Building and walked in to ask if they had a spare wrench.

Rested up, athough he was down to 39 pounds, Roland strolled over to his dorm room. It was filled with pin-ups and people. They carefully explained to him that since he had not been in possession of his room for so long, the Housing Office had demoted him to the Quonset Huts. Since Roland had waited three and a half years to get a room, he hastened to see Mr. Pilesworthless and complain, in his penicillin-shot voice, about the situation. Mr. Pilesworthless promised a room inside of two years.

Wearily dragging his meager belongings behind him, he retired to an abandoned hut and sat down to count his resources. They came to $17.50. At that moment he received his first letter in days. It said, "Ten days meals at Dispensary @ $1.75 per day. . . . . .$17.50. Roland thought of the salty soup at $.58½ per lukewarm bowl and then tried to draw consolation from the free water, but he failed. That is why the boys so often hear the ghost of poor Roland—39 unhappy, ectoplasmic pounds.

Stooping to Steal

Black Eye For Honor Code

By Pete Gerns

The newsboys working at Lenoir hall and the YMCA are doing the student body a service by making newspapers available to us during all hours of the day. Rising at six in the morning, they deliver their papers that we may get them in time for breakfast. The same service is performed for the other meals.

It so happens that the newsboys are trying to make a living. They are students like ourselves, some of them married, working on a self-help job to keep themselves in school. Their sales of newspapers constitute their livelihood.

It seems, therefore, preposterous to assume that there are students among us who would stoop so low as to steal (strong language, but true) papers rather than give up a nickel. Think I'm kidding? Let me tell you the facts, then:

The fellow who handles the Winston-Salem papers, taken at random, during the week ending October 16, lost $4.85!! That's almost 70 cents per day. The boys taking care of the Durham and Raleigh papers find themselves daily in the same predicament. Think it's odd, with an honor code on the campus? You can bet those fellows do, too.

I took off the other day to check with one of the fellows some of the coin boxes. We started out at the YMCA. He had 45 papers there when he started in the morning and should have found $2.25 in his cache at the end of the day. But no, five people had helped themselves to a free paper meanwhile. The Durham paperboy lost almost $1.00 on a single day last week.

An interesting side light, although not an excuse, is that the lack of government checks and the running out of money that the veteran gets from Uncle Sam has a direct bearing on the losses sustained by the boys. Losses increase toward the end of the month.

Maybe you think that the blame shouldn't be put on students? We thought of that too. So what do you think when one of the paperboys stands near his stand in Lenoir one day a couple of weeks ago and sees two of his buddies swipe his mealticket. Well, he'd rather not make enemies, and he doesn't call them down.

Think of all this when you get a paper next time. IF YOU GOT A NICKEL, PUT IT IN THE BOX (The girl at the cigar counter will gladly make change for you). If you haven't, read your buddy's paper - Let's not make the paperboys suffer from lack of decency on our part.

Write Away

No Proof of Talk

Editor:

Until now it has been possible to regard the letters and columns of Communists and their sympathizers as merely imbecilic but I'm beginning to wonder how long this definitely minority group will continue to fill with their inanities space far out of proportion to the size of that group on this campus.

I have yet to see any definite proof of their so plentiful statements. To quote from the latest:

"Nothing in the sham that passes for democracy is more childishly foolish than legislation in the U.S.A." Mr. Shaw may be a great writer and a great wit, but as a critic of other people's government which he must criticize in order to express his dear little individuality or something, he's a great bag of wind. Evidently he thinks his insulting words will camouflage his lack of sense.

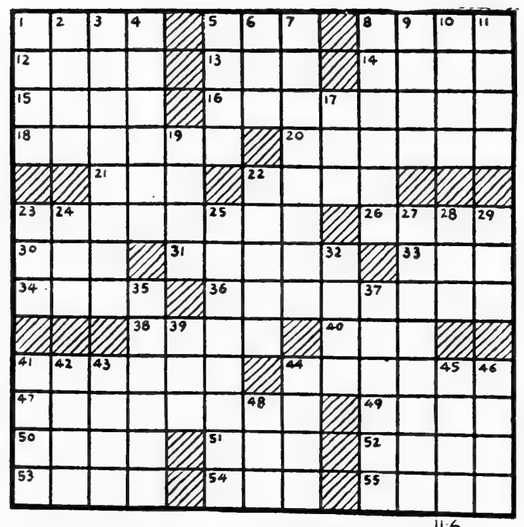
"To suppress Communism the American government has arrested 12 persons and charged them with advocating the overthrow of the government by force and violence, which is exactly what Washington and Jefferson did, thereby creating the United States of America." Washington and Jefferson didn't create the U. S. by themselves, there were a lot of other people there, too. It was by the desire of all the people, or at least a vast majority, that the Declaration of Independence was framed, not that of a minority under the pay and or influence of a foreign power.

"The founder of Christianity was a Communist with 11 faithful apostles, chief of whom struck a man and his wife dead for keeping back their money from a common pool instead of sharing it. But American legislators. . .don't read the Bible." Neither, obviously, does either Mr. Robertson or Mr. Shaw. According to my Bible it was God, not Peter, who struck down Ananias and Sapphira, and Peter's reproof made more of the lie they told than of their failure to yield all the money.

If Mr. Robertson is an example of a man of "intellectual intelligence" I prefer to remain criminally backward, since I personally am having rather a good time in this "dark turmoil of decaying capitalist culture," a sight better than the average citizen of Communist-held countries, anyway.

Mary E. Barker

On Visiting Spain



Editor:

I wish to congratulate you upon your new advertiser. Surely Gen. Franco will not feel too out of place in the pages of your liberal newspaper of this liberal university. "Rare opportunity," states the ad; (as well it might) "travel in Spain." Might I suggest a visit to the Majorcas on which Junkers 88's used to fuel up for their raids against North Africa? And a visit to the southern ports from which careful watch was made, and reports promptly forwarded, of our convoys entering the Mediterranean? I am sure that hundreds of our G. I's who went down beneath the blows of Nazi dive-bombers in those waters would appreciate the suggestive ad.

Yes, do visit Nationalist Spain. Visit the flourishing black markets; and I hear the slums of Barcelona and Madrid are something to see. One night visit the many prisons as well, in which hundreds of thousands of political prisoners still languish. One might even be so fortunate as to witness some of the daily executions of those who fought against Hitler's legions and Mussolini's brigades. And, before leaving Spain, one must remember to visit the thousands of American graves of those young men who died at the Ebro, at Mologa, at Jarowa in the battle that ended in Berlin. It would be particularly educational to visit Garcia Luca's grave. Franco so loved this poet he could not bear him to suffer living.

Yes, visit Spain. I am indeed happy to see that Gen. Franco is welcome in the liberal pages of your liberal newspaper.

Sidney Shanker

11-6

HORIZONTAL
1. tumble about
5. obstruct
8. post
12. river in France
13. cyprinoid fish
14. feminine name
15. the bear
16. was indignant at
18. berated
20. throws
21. legal charge
22. tax paid in land produce
23. curbing
26. stretch over
30. ogle
31. scoff
33. narrow inlet
34. spreads for drying
36. soberly
38. islands (Fr.)
40. aeriform matter
41. inquiring gazer
44. saucier
47. one who invests
49. weary
50. English school
51. feminine name
52. Mohammedan titles
53. observes
54. twenty-four hours
55. cozy retreat

VERTICAL
1. cardinal number
2. Italian coin
3. hardened like bone
4. resounded
5. warm-blooded feathered vertebrate
6. citrus drink
7. re-exhibited
8. clergymen's residences
9. insects
10. Indian arrow poison
11. youths
17. eternity
19. lampreys
22. bodily joints
23. wager
24. cereal grass
25. put in
27. renown
28. suffer
29. negative vote
32. fury
35. fire-whistles
37. a plaid
39. French article
41. pastries
42. grafted (her.)
43. cry of bacchanals
44. supplicate
45. epochs
46. remainder
48. eggs

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	O	L		S	T	E	R	E		P	R	E
A	L	I		E	A	S	E	L		L	O	W
T	A	M	P	E	R	S		E	L	A	T	E
		O	I	L	S		E	V	E	N
L	O	G	E	S		G	R	A	N	T	E	D
A	V	E	S		B	E	A	T	S		M	E
D	I	S		P	A	S	S	E		S	E	N
E	N		P	A	S	T	E		A	P	E	S
S	E	M	I	T	E	S		F	L	A	R	E
		A	N	T	S		P	O	E	T
P	O	I	S	E		B	I	R	C	H	E	S
A	N	D		R	I	A	N	T		E	V	E
Y	E	S		S	O	R	T	S		S	A	W

11-6

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Talk

letters and columns merely imbecilic but itely minority group
e far out of propor-
ts.
f their so plentiful

democracy is more
S.A." Mr. Shaw may ritic of other people's r to express his dear
bag of wind. Evidenage his lack of sense.
government has ar-
advocating the over-nce, which is exactly creating the United son didn't create the er people there, too.
least a vast majority,
caned, not that of a foreign power.
munist with 11 faith-
d his wife dead for ol instead of sharing the Bible." Neither, Shaw. According to down Ananias and of the lie they told of "intellectual intel-ard, since I person-

rk turmoil of decay-
e average citizen of

Mary E. Barker

pain advertiser. Surely the pages of your

"Rare opportunity," n." Might I suggest
's used to fuel up visit to the southern nd reports promptly editerranean? I am down beneath the s would appreciate

e flourishing black nd Madrid are somes as well, in which still languish. One of the daily execuions and Mussolini's
t remember to visit
ung men who died
that ended in Ber-visit Garcia Luca's bear him to suffer

that Gen. Franco is newspaper.

Sidney Shanker

11 6
6 citrus drink
7 re-exhibited
8 clergymen's residences
9 insects
10 Indian arrow poison
11 youths
17 eternity
19 lampreys
22 body joints
24 cereal grass
25 [illegible]
27 renown
28 [illegible]
29 negative vote
32 fury
33 fire-whistles
37 a plant
39 French article
41 pastries
42 grateful (her.)
43 [illegible]ry of [illegible]chanals
44 supplicate
45 epochs
46 remainder
48 eggs

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

May Their Tribe Increase

WILLIAM AND MARY, may their tribe increase, will be out to tack the old Indian sign on the Carolina Victory wagon this afternoon when they creep softly into Kenan Stadium for a little pigskin powwow with the homesteading Tar Heels before some 40,000 fans who have laid the wampum on the line.

The Indians come to this thriving Southern community in an attempt to scout up their first major victory of the current season, an item sadly lacking in their teedee teepee. And in their efforts they will probably stay as long and fight to the end that an Indian-minded Mr. Custer did when he made the mistake of not blowing the Little Big Horn when the opportunity presented itself.

The Tribe, it seems, has no horn to blow at this time and if they chose to stand on their record, the Virginians would not maintain such a position for long. Yet, on his roster, Coach Rube McCray carries a group of names signifying gentlemen who at the right time, place, and combination can be the team to force the Tar Heels to give the team back to the Indians. The question is: How long can a team equipped with hot water run cold.

Clouds Drifting By

THE FATE OF THE VISITORS in today's offering looks to be very much in the hands of one Jack Cloud. Mr. Cloud is a question mark that might turn into an exclamation point at any moment, though he has failed to fill out all the letters of some words used to describe him at the start of the season. It will be well to compare Cloud to his clippings this afternoon in his debut before the Kenan critics.

Though William and Mary will count mainly on the ability of Cloud to go drifting by the Tar Heels, they are not without further staff to tend the chores of offensive football. Mr. Bob Lex will be at hand to entertain the crowd along with a teammate whose name sounds like a good healthy sneeze. Both of these fellows, if allowed to come and go as they please, will keep the Indian side of the scoreboard functioning for at least the sake of laughs.

Financially, the visitors are in fine shape at the start of the ball game and probably continually throughout. The bookies, who seem to think more of the Tar Heels than their own mothers do, have made the locals the outstanding 27-point favorite since some fellow named Dewey ran for president. There must be something in the Taft-Hartley bill to prevent such an outrage.

The Ups and Downs

THE TAR HEELS will hold down the fort with the same old faces that have made safe passage through six opponents of all sizes and caliber this season. It will be their fourth appearance at home, giving the Snavelymen, the same record as Norm Sper's color cards. Like a Ford, the Tar Heels seem to give better performance around town than they do on the road.

According to the paper and pencil work, it is an "up" week for the Carolinians. They have exhibited a little more gusto on the odd weeks this year in flitting by Texas, Wake Forest and LSU. On the even weeks, things have evened up a trifle if you have any sentiments for the opponents, with Georgia, State and Tennessee proving to the Tar Heels that all that glitters is not the goal posts.

For those who study figures aside from the general campus form, it might be well to add that the locals average 32 points a game when soaring and 16 points a game when flooring it. The opponents have received seven points each week, compliments of Wheaties and personal fortitude any way you look at it. That places today's score at 32-7, with the count libel to be kicked a little way by the weather or Bob Cox's tremendously trained toe. Now, if they'd only call plays with that slide rule.

The Weather Report

THE WEATHERMAN may be the hero or villain of the afternoon depending on how one looks at it. He predicts scattered showers for the day which means that all the clouds may get into the act. Weather is the great equalizer, the good book says, and if there is anything the Indians seem to be needing at this point in the program, it is an equalizer.

The Tar Heels have yet to play in the rain this year, being pretty dry behind the ears after six sun-kissed engagements. That isn't a sign of the times, though, for the locals have worked many a practice hour in the rain without the effect of dampening their spirits. As for the fans, they can always bring their own.

Line play excels in the rain and mud, and the big Tar Heel forward wall, third toughest grid obstruction in the country on paper, would probably turn out to be a delightful group of mudders for the day. When it rains, they floor. Both teams are of the single wing specie, which means the boys will be getting themselves in and out of jams and joy rides with the same method of madness.

Change of Luck

THE TAR HEELS ARE STILL looking for a little of the stuff that goes with four-leaf clovers. The brakes they've had for the last five games couldn't pass the North Carolina state inspection. The equality that goes with Justice must definitely be on the Tar Heel injured list. It may be ready for action this afternoon.

Charlie Justice, the Great White Father of Tar Heel football, it is sufficient to say, is scheduled to teach his regular Saturday afternoon football lab from two until five. The local Chief Justice will be out to hit the Tease 'em Trail again this afternoon after engineering both of the Tar Heels touchdown flights against Tennessee last week and Justice has rolled to sevens twice this year, having scored that number of touchdowns both flipping and hipping this season.

His usual colleagues will be on hand to aid and assist in instructing the Indians in the finer points of the game. Justice, together with Rodgers, Szafaryn, and Weiner who are already playing for two Tar Heel teams, will be out to make another tomorrow—the one that does no work and collects no bruises—the All-American squad.

So step right up, gentlemen, and try your luck on the Tar Heel wheel of football fortune! The odds seem to favor the house.

The Indians comment, "Ugh!"

WHATEVER YOU NEED

—Visit—

SLOAN DRUG CO.

Drugs—
Prescriptions filled with care and accuracy by skilled pharmacists.

Fountain—
Cokes, sundaes, milk shakes. All of the very best—at the hangout on the corner.

Cosmetics—
Many nationally known brands to choose from.

Magazines—
A complete stock to pick from.

Tar Heel Harriers Down Duke By 26-29

Magill Breaks Course Record For Fifth Win

By Larry Fox

Carolina's cross-country team upset the form sheets yesterday afternoon by out-running the favored Duke harriers on the local course by the close score of 26-29.

Sam Magill, who set a new course record, surprised no one by coming home first for his fifth straight personal victory of the campaign. The Tar Heels, however, have not been quite so successful; today's win giving them a 2-3 slate for the season.

Magill charged home way ahead of Bill Griffith of Duke, who finished second, in the record-breaking time of 21:38.4 to eclipse the old standard of 21:45 he had set against VPI earlier in the season. The star Carolina distance man finished strongly, displaying a great kick in the final lap around the Fetzer field track.

A strong fight was waged for all of the remaining berths as the Tar Heels strived to snap back after losing to Tennessee in Knoxville.

Griffith led most of the way in his battle for second place with Frank Hooper. Hooper never could catch the flying Blue Devil, who finished the race in 22:43.3. Hooper ran the distance in 22:52, two seconds slower than his fastest time on the Chapel Hill course. Hooper is only a sophomore and Coach Dale Ranson expects great things from the diminuative harrier.

Blue Devil Matt Spack took fourth place from Tar Heel Captain Julian MacKenzie by 8.2 seconds. Spack turned in a 22:55.2 for the course.

Jim Hunt and John Ross were the other Tar Heel finishers who figured in the final score. Hunt came in seventh while Ross was tenth.

The summary:

1. Magill (C) 21:38.4 (new course record); 2. Griffith (D) 22:43.3; 3. Hooper (C) 22:52; 4. Spack (D) 22:55.2; 5. MacKenzie (C) 23:03.4; 6. Bulloch (D) 23:14; 7. Hunt (C) 23:25.2; 8. Ellsworth (D) 23:51.4; 9. Grisso (D) 24:12.2; 10. Ross (C) 24:29.2.

Local Frosh Defeated By Blue Imps, 17-38

With two Duke yearlings finishing in a tie for first and another copping third place yesterday, Carolina's freshman cross-country team had little chance to upset the favored Blue Imps. Duke won, 17-38.

Charley Thomlinson and Red Kulpand came home hand-in-hand in 13:08.4 to tie for first while Mickey Salazar finished third for the Blue Devils.

Gordon Hamrick was the first Tar Baby finisher. He came in fourth.

Pigskin Prognosticators Post Prediction Prayers

Game	Bill Carmichael	Dick Jenrette	Jake Wade	Jeff Thomas	Orville Campbell
Carolina-W & M	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	W. & M.
Texas-Baylor	Texas	Texas	Texas	Texas	Baylor
Stanford-Army	Army	Army	Army	Army	Army
UCLA-California	Calif.	Calif.	Calif.	Calif.	California
Furman-Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson
Colgate-Cornell	Cornell	Cornell	Cornell	Cornell	Cornell
Columbia-Dartmouth	Columbia	Dartmouth	Columbia	Columbia	Dartmouth
Richmond-Davidson	Davidson	Davidson	Davidson	Tie	Richmond
W. Forest-Duke	W. Forest	Duke	Duke	W. Forest	W. Forest
Florida-Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia
Tennessee-Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Tennessee
Iowa-Illinois	Illinois	Illinois	Illinois	Illinois	Illinois
Notre Dame-Indiana	N. Dame	N. Dame	N. Dame	N. Dame	N. Dame
Navy-Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan
Purdue-Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Purdue	Minnesota	Minnesota
Virginia-State	State	State	State	State	State
Pitt-Ohio State	O. State	O. State	O. State	O. State	O. State
Missouri-Okla.	Missouri	Missouri	Okla.	Missouri	Missouri
Penn. State-Penn.	P. State	P. State	Penn	Penn	Penn
Maryland-S. Carolina	Maryland	Maryland	Maryland	Maryland	Maryland

Carolina Freshman Win Again, Beating State in Raleigh Tilt

RALEIGH, Nov. 5—Carolina's Tar Babies unleased a powerful attack coupled with an effective defense here tonight to win their fourth consecutive victory of the season over N. C. State frosh, 34-6.

After battling through the first quarter without scoring, the Carolinians came back strong in the second period. Dick Weiss tossed a 28-yard aerial to Ben Walser on the three to set up the initial touchdown, and one play later he plunged over the goal for the payoff. Williams' extra point attempt was no good.

Carolina took advantage of a break in the same quarter when Walt Ferrell's kick rolled backwards to the State 29. With Carolina in possession of the ball Leon Carson flipped a 20-yard pass to Fred Brady on the nine. On the next play Brady took the ball on a reverse over left tackle for the touchdown. Williams' extra point was good this time.

The State men came back in the third stanza for their only touchdown of the evening. Dinan took the ball on a reverse shortly after the opening of the second half and slipped 20 yards through the Carolina defenders to tally State's only marker. The try for extra point was no good.

Carolina quickly retaliated with a pass from Weiss to Kelso, putting the ball on the State ten. Two plays later Weiss bucked over, with Williams again converting to make it 20-6.

The fourth touchdown came after a sustained drive of 62 yards. The running of Bob Page featured the drive. One of Page's jaunts was for 30 yards. Brady finally went over into paydirt on a short plunge. Williams converted for the third straight time.

A pass—Hesmer to Brady—was good for 30 yards and the final touchdown of the night for Carolina. It came in the fourth quarter, with Williams again converting to build the score to 34-6.

Bob Cox, Tar Heel's great extra point kicker, has successfully booted 19 out of 21 attempts in Carolina's six games thus far this season.

Substitution Rule Subject of Debate By Grid Coaches

By Steve Snider

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—(UP)—Battle lines were forming today for the biggest football rumpus in many a year on this matter of free substitutions.

Coaching ranks are split wide open. Bitter words are flowing between exponents of the two-team system and others who want a return to the good old days when "iron men" were the order of the day.

There are sound arguments on both sides. Personally, we like the old substitution rule purely for selfish reasons—chief of which is the fact that, for our dough, a ball game is easier to watch when you know who is on the field. It's virtually impossible to keep track of the ebb and flow today.

Pro-Present

Arguments for the present rule, permitting use of separate teams on offense and defense, as presented by leading exponents:

1. Reduce the number of injuries by keeping fresh players on the field. A tired player can't protect himself as well.

2. Play is speeded up, thrills increased, by fresh men.

3. Many players, not as versatile as others, can participate as specialists instead of being relegated to the scrubs.

4. In limited practice hours, a coach can dole out more and better instruction to specialists on one phase of play than he can

(See SUBSTITUTIONS, page 4)

Old North State In for Busy Day In Grid Warfare

By Zane Robbins

A roundup of today's top games in the Old North State shows four top Southern conference duels on tap. The Carolina-William and Mary tilt in Kenan stadium this afternoon will top the day's action with the Duke-Wake Forest battle in Durham providing serious rivalry. Other Southern conference action will throw Richmond University's Spiders against Davidson, and N. C. State against Virginia.

The Wake Forest-Duke affair promises to be a real knock-down drag-out affair from start to finish with the Deacons striving to break the jinx Wallace Wade has held upon them lo these many years. The boys from Baptist Hollow are favored to whip the jinx and the Blue Devils, but in this perennial dilly anything can happen.

State will entertain Virginia's Cavaliers as the highlight to their homecoming day festivities. The Wolfpack took a terrific beating at the hands of Wake Forest last week while the Old Dominion lads were losing a lopsided battle to Princeton. The Wolfpack came out of their slugfest with less bruises than did their Virginia rivals and rule as slight favorites in today's game.

The Richmond - Davidson go will feature two of the weak sisters of the conference but should provide an afternoon of good entertainment. It'll be close but the Spiders should win.

Rodgers, Cloud To Feature Game At Kenan Stadium

(Continued from page one)

Al Bernot, Fred Sherman, and Don Hartig.

Coach Rube McCray has also encountered considerable difficulty with the injury jinx. His ace tailback, Tom Korczowski, has a bruised leg and was held out of the rough work this week. There remains considerable doubt to his ability to play today. Also Chet Mackiewicz missed the week's drills because of a sprained ankle Mackiewicz is a veteran blocking back.

Most of the attention of the fans this afternoon will be centered around an expected duel between Hosea Rodgers and the Indian's Jack (Flying) Cloud for honors as the top fullback. To the victor in this individual duel probably will go the honor of being the All-Southern fullback for 1948. Rodgers' great work this season has been one of the main reasons Carolina is undefeated, while Cloud has sparked the Indians for the last couple of grid campaigns.

No Comparison

While William & Mary is able to counter-balance the offensive efforts of Rodgers with Cloud, the Indians have no back to compare to Carolina's Charlie Justice. Justice's versatibility is one of the biggest reasons for Carolina's favored role today.

Another factor in the Tar Heels favor is the two fine lines which Coach Snavely is able to field. William and Mary can't match the Carolina reserve strength. Len Szafaryn, a rugged tackle, has been the key man in the line thus far. But he has received able assistance from all the other Tar Heel forwards.

Chapel Hill Wins

Chapel Hill high school's powerful gridders continued their winning ways yesterday afternoon in Emerson stadium with a rousing 42-6 victory over a hard fighting Roxboro eleven for their seventh straight win against no defeats.

The first half was a rugged affair with the Wildcats leaving the field at intermission with a 9-6 edge on Collier Hill's 22 yard touchdown run and a safety. However, the last half was a different story as the locals ran wild for five more scores.

Led by the hard running of Joe Hoenig and Bill Butler, and the break-away gallops of Lee Hill, Chapel Hill completely dominated play in the final two stanzas, scoring almost at will, while breaking up all Roxboro drives before they got underway.

Penna Posts 285 To Win North-South

PINEHURST, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Smiling Toney Penna slammed one of the best shots of his career out of the rough today and came in through the dusk to win the 46th annual North and South open golf championship in 285 strokes, three under par.

Penna was in the last three-some of the day over the rough, 6,952-yard Pinehurst country club. When he hooked into the rough on the long 16th hole, the title seemed safely in the hands of Sammy Snead and Julius Boros, who had tied at 287.

Wentworth & Sloan

It's Baldwin's MARINE ROOM

Serving
Delicious Meals
from 7:45 to 8 p.m.
•
Sunday Meals a Specialty

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 Cameron Avenue Write: P.O. Box 902

AIR CIRCUS
SUNDAY
Nov. 7 — 3 P.M.
Chapel Hill Airport
SEE
★
Airplane Land on Top of Automobile
★
Low Level Special-Built Airplanes Do Acrobatics Close to Ground
★
Airplane Pickup of Man from Automobile
★
10,000 Foot Delayed Parachute Jump
★
12 Great Acts
Direct from Cleveland National Air Races
★
COME EARLY
Free Parking at Airport
★
ADMISSION
$1.00
(Children Free with Parents)
★
SPONSORED By the MONOGRAM CLUB

L'il Abner — Al Capp

Winner STEAKS all — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — Milton Caniff

VILLAGE
NOW!
ERROL FLYNN
ANN SHERIDAN
SILVER RIVER
WARNER BROS.
NEW OUTDOOR EPIC!
with THOMAS MITCHELL · BRUCE BENNETT RAOUL WALSH
—Also—
COMEDY — NOVELTY

Ten Groups Enter Teams In Mural Debate Tourney

Education Aid Will Be Topic On Nov. 16-18

Final arrangements for the Debate council-sponsored intramural debate tourney have been completed, Marcellus Buchanan, chairman of the intramural committee, announced yesterday.

The forensic battle will be held on Nov. 16-18. A faculty board will judge the talk fight. The debate question will be on the question of federal aid to education and will be run off in classrooms in Saunders hall between 7 and 8 o'clock during the three-day tourney period.

Ten groups have entered teams so far. They are:

Grimes dorm—Orman, Pennix, affirmative.

Smith dorm—Law, Dees, negative; Underdown, Thompson, affirmative.

Sigma Chi—Bondavora, Clayton, negative.

Delta Kappa Epsilon—Manning, Graham, affirmative.

Miller hall—Schlesinger, Evans, negative.

Alpha Gamma Delta—Middleton, DeGrange, affirmative; Alizer, Newell, negative.

Chi Phi—H. Davis, Morrison, negative; Linard, L. Davis and Leckie, Burns, affirmative.

McIver dorm—Cantrell, Tate, affirmative; Snead, Larue, negative.

Old East dorm—Dixon, Keener, affirmative; Parker, Von Cannon, negative.

Phi Gamma Delta—Stack, McLean, affirmative.

Buchanan urged all other groups who wish to enter teams to do so before the end of next week. Four-man teams are desirable, but two-man entries are permissable. All entries should be sent to Marcellus Buchanan, 116 Bagley Drive.

A permanent Debate council cup, a rotating Di-Phi cup, and individual medals will be presented to the winning team. Whitehead dorm won the affair last fall.

TWO PLANES BOLTED TOGETHER. the Trasher brothers, star dare-devils of the all-star air circus, took the left wing from one plane and the right wing from another and bolted the result together. It is the only airplane of this design in the world and will be seen doing stunts at the air circus scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chapel Hill airport.

Judge Whitfield Handles 26 Cases, Collects $521.10 From Convictions

By Herb Nachman

Judge Henry Whitfield's recorders court disposed of 26 cases Wednesday and collected a total of $521.10 in fines, Moody Durham, clerk of court said yesterday.

One case was bound over to superiod court in Hillsboro, and there were no jail sentences. Judge Whitfield acquitted or ruled "no further prosecution" in five cases. In six cases defendants were forced to pay court costs only.

The complete docket is as follows:

Leroy Eaddy, Negro, reckless driving, improper state license, no chauffeur's license, $50 and costs; J. F. Fowler and J. J. Fowler, permitting a person to operate a vehicle without driver's license, nol pros.

Robert W. Plenthner, Negro, reckless driving, $75 and costs; Brodie Edwards, speeding 75 to 80 m.p.h. and reckless driving, license suspended for four months; W. A. Gallagher, forcible trespass, nol pros; John L. Perry, Negro, reckless driving and damage to property, costs; Charlie Fuller, Negro, driving while drunk, reckless driving, injury to persons, damage to property, $100 and costs, license suspended, and must pay $40 damages.

Herbert S. McNairy, driving while drunk and public drunk, $100 and costs, license suspended; Edward G. Young, Negro, no driver's license, costs; Frank Flynt, larceny, bound over to Superior court on $200 bond; E. J. Miller, Negro, drunk, $25 and costs.

E. E. Vaughan and Mrs. E. E. Vaughan, trespass, acquitted; Mrs. E. E. Vaughan, assault with deadly weapon (a pole), acquitted. Otis Davis, Negro, assault on wife and non-support of wife and three children, costs and subject to pleasure of the state.

James E. Williams, speeding, costs; John D. Robinson, Jr., reckless driving, costs; John Cates, Jr., speeding, $5 and costs; John Neal, parking on sidewalk, $7.80; James Hammerstein, reckless driving and damage to property, nol pros; James P. Yates, speeding, $10 and costs, license suspended for three months.

Frederick F. Wilson, driving while drunk, $100 and costs. Henry Sellars, Negro, drunk, $10 and costs; Benjamin Mason, Negro, drunk and resisting arrest, costs and subject to pleasure of court. Robert Anderson, speeding, costs; William W. Minton, reckless driving, speeding, failure to obey officer, costs; John C. Christenson, speeding, costs.

YM Is Sending 2,000 Students Members' Cards

Group Operating On Broader Basis

The YMCA is sending out membership cards to nearly 2,000 students who have contributed financially to the organization.

At the same time new members are being invited to participate in the expanded YM program.

This year the YM is operating on a broader basis than in previous years. Eighteen different areas of activities have been defined, each of them providing for participation of an increased number of persons.

The programs vary from taking part in study groups and conferences to the rendering of services in the local community.

The development of the YM program during the coming year will be according to the needs and interests of the students who participate in them.

-Substitutions-

(Continued from page 3)

trying to teach his entire squad everything.

Those are a few of the best and are subscribed to wholeheartedly by Earl (Red) Blaik of Army, Benny Oosterbaan of Michigan, Carl Snavely of North Carolina, Ivan Williamson of Lafayette, Lefty James of Cornell, and doubtless many others.

Anti-Present

Against free subs are these arguments which started the whole fuss:

1. Specialization permits too much offense. Steve Owen of the football Giants says he gets "tennis neck" watching some of his games.

2. Spectators are suffering from eye strain from constantly referring to their programs to find out who's playing where.

3. Players lose their personalities. You don't see the stars long enough to get to know them.

4. Works a hardship on smaller squads and particularly on a lad who has to go 50 or 60 minutes against fresh players.

Stumping for reform for reasons like those are Lou Little of Columbia, Hook Mylin of New York U., Jimmy Phelan of the Los Angeles Dons, Earl (Greasy) Neale of the Philadelphia Eagles, and others.

But we don't believe there's a single one who won't admit that present day football is plenty okay if you've got a bunch of guys who can block and tackle. That's one phase of football that never changes.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

2:00—CAROLINA-WILLIAM & MARY FOOTBALL GAME. Kenan Stadium.

8:30—ELLIOT LAWRENCE DANCE. Woollen Gymnasium.

Tar Heel Cagers Pose, Scrimmage

Each member of Coach Tom Scott's varsity basketball squad posed for the photographer in immaculate white game uniforms yesterday but quickly changed into practice attire when the varsity tangled with Jim Hamilton's freshman boys in the first practice game of the coming season.

The frosh gave their older brethren a hard battle but it was easily discernible that both crews need much more work to sharpen up before the season begins in December.

Mentor Scott opened with a quintet composed of Sherm Nearman, Coy Carson, Hugo Kappler, Dan Nyimicz and Howard Deasy. Nearman used his size to good advantage off the boards while Carson and Kappler demonstrated scoring abilities.

-Polls-

(Continued from page one)

considered him closest to Roosevelt except on foreign policy. When Ickes and Mrs. Roosevelt came out solidly for Truman, those people swung to Truman.

"Polls will lose some ground as far as the confidence of the people is concerned," Madow said, "however, market research into which corporations pour huge sums of money are also opinion polls. I do not think polls will lose out completely. Maybe it is good to have a little scepticism."

Dr. Madow continued, "Dr. Gallup will have to be more accurate than just two or three percent either way. Most elections could have been decided by that two or three percent. He'll have to learn to pick the right way."

Thomas Jefferson aided in establishing the National Gazette in 1791.

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

OVER ANDREWS-HENNINGER
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

NICE ROOM FOR RENT TO MALE student. Would consider exchange for housework. Call S. H. Basnight, F-458. (ch 1x1)

HALF OF A ROOM TO BE SHARED with a student. Has private entrance. Adjoining bath. 125 North Street, phone 4506. (1-8039-1)

FOR SALE 6B

FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Road. Asbestos shingled, Coleman floor furnace, table top water heater, and hardwood floors. Picture window. Call 9256. (4-8020-1)

2¼ x 3¼ SPEED GRAPHIC, F 3.5 ZEISS Tessar in Compur Shutter, Kalart Rangefinder, and other accessories. Contact James L. Roberts, 25 Rogerson Drive. (3-3029-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1939 FORD TWO DOOR SEDAN, GOOD mechanical condition—clean through. 9695. Strowd Motor Co. Your Ford dealer. Call F-444. (ch 1x1)

1937 BUICK SEDAN, CLEAN, REBUILT motor, passed state inspection. Reasonably priced. Call F-2841 or see at Patterson Auto Supply. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

ONE TAN GABARDINE RAINCOAT after LSU game. Coat had a MAN'S STORE, ASHEVILLE label in it. Contact Sterling G. Gilliam, 122 "B" Dorm. (2-8035-1)

TAKEN BY MISTAKE 20

WILL PERSON WHO TOOK ALLIGATOR raincoat by mistake at Carolina Inn Wed. about 7:30 please call 4916 for exchange. Valuable keys in pocket. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 24

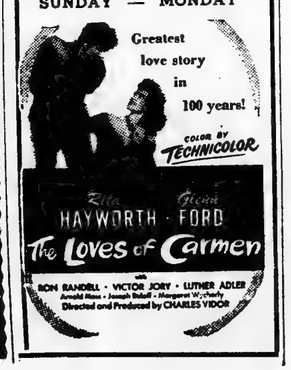
SEVEN TICKETS TO CAROLINA—Duke game. Together or separate. Will pay premium. Call F-5576 after 10 p. m. (ch 1x1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

WANTED TO SWAP 46

WILL TRADE TWO CAROLINA—Duke tickets for a naval officers' tropical worsted khaki uniform. Size 37. If interested, call Raleigh 22877 to work out details. (1-c8036-1)



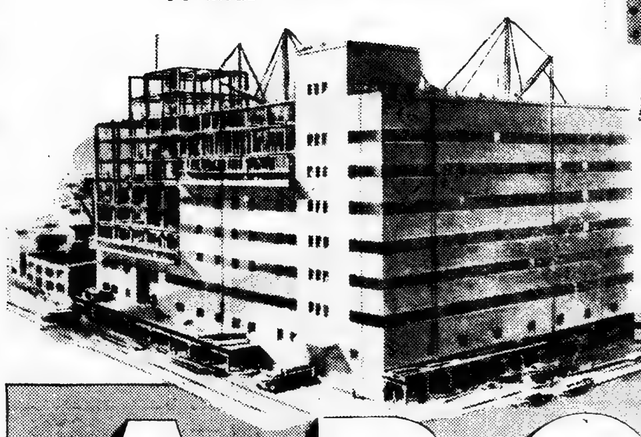
THE PINES
Announces
The Opening of
The Oyster Bar
THURSDAY, NOV. 4
Dinner Served in the Dining Room
Drive out 1½ miles on the Raleigh highway for steamed Oysters and Delicious Meals.

CAROLINA TODAY

—Also—
SPORTLIGHT — CARTOON

LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY

Low Prices? Yes!
Quality Goods? Yes!
Delivery? Yes!
It's—
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE



CHESTERFIELD IS BUILDING ANOTHER FACTORY
BECAUSE ALL OVER AMERICA MORE MILLIONS OF SMOKERS ARE ASKING FOR The Milder Cigarette

Soon our newest factory will be taking its place in the Chesterfield sky line in Durham, N. C., where the Chesterfield factory group is already "A city within a city."

With the addition of this modern factory, efficient in every way, Chesterfield will continue to keep smokers from coast to coast well supplied with the cigarette that is—

SO MILD THEY SATISFY MILLIONS
SO MILD THEY'LL SATISFY YOU—

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

A always B buy C CHESTERFIELD
MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE ... They Satisfy

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Serials (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

"All the news that fits, we print."

The Daily Tar Heel

★★★★★★★
Sports Final

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 34

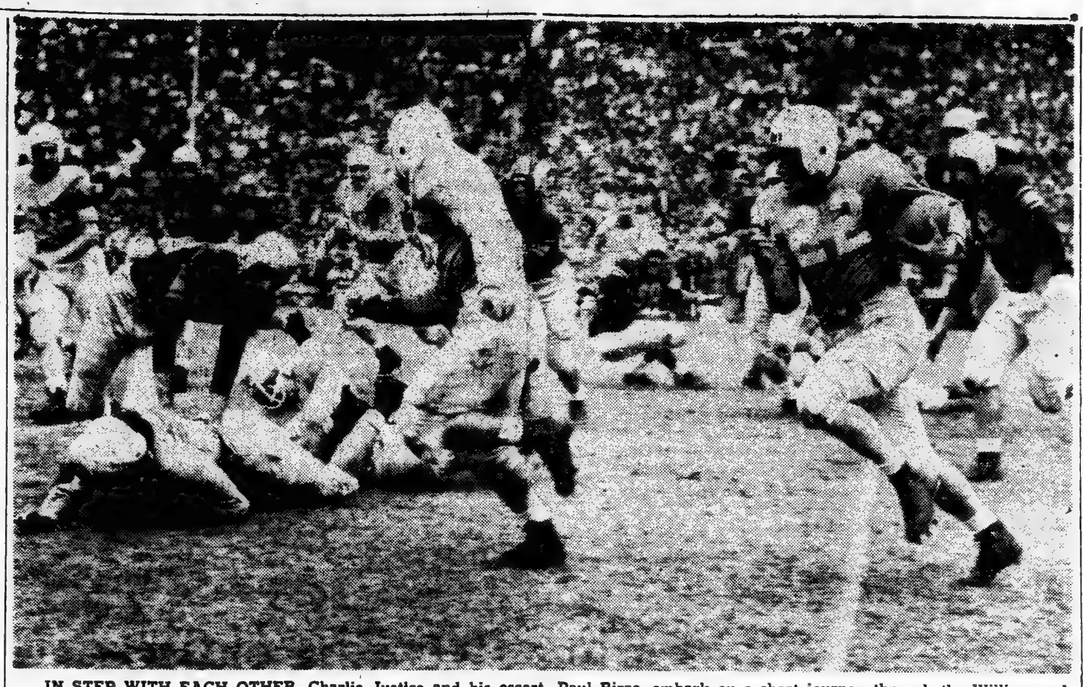
Indians Ambush Tar Heels Into 7-7 Tie

Deacs Top Duke With 27-20 Upset

Gregus, Blackerby Star in Win As Wake Forest Overcomes Jinx

DURHAM, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Wake Forest beat Duke today for the second time in 24 years, scoring a sweet 27 to 20 upset by mixing little Carroll Blackerby's soaring passes with big Bill Gregus' bone-cracking lunges at the line.

Only 20,000 fans turned out for the struggle between the traditional rivals as a strong wind swept the field and lowering clouds threatened rain. The gloomy weather held down the scoring in the first half but both teams went all out at the finish.



The climax brought everybody to his feet as Duke surged 81 yards to a touchdown only to lose out when Wake Forest matched that one with a spectacular 77-yard kickoff return by Gregus, followed by the winning score.

Duke's hold 'em and wait-for-the-breaks strategy fizzled from the start when the Blue Devils forgot to hold and Wake Forest slammed over for the first score with the game little more than three minutes old.

Left halfback Bill Gregus, an old-fashioned line-smasher, slammed over from the two behind flawless blocking. Tackle Bill George converted.

Duke's big line led the Blue Devils back in the second period until fullback Jack Mounie, Duke's big gun of the game, bulled over from the one. The kick was no good.

Seconds later Duke recovered a fumble on the Wake Forest 21. Tailback Bill Cox, surrounded by the enemy, leaped high in the air and speared halfback Tommy Hughes in the end zone.

IN STEP WITH EACH OTHER, Charlie Justice and his escort, Paul Rizzo, embark on a short journey through the William and Mary tacklers. The run occurred early in the first quarter of the battle which saw the underdog Indians tie the late-starting Tar Heels under cloudy skies at Kenan yesterday. —(Photo by Mills)

Georgia Tops Florida Crew Behinds Rauch

Takes Loop Lead By 20-12 Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6.—(UP)— Georgia's red-shirted Bulldogs took over the Southeastern conference lead the hard way today, scoring a 20 to 12 victory over Florida by dint of Johnny Rauch's passes and some hardy defensive work in the closing minutes.

It took Rauch's accomplished flipper to set up the scores, but the Bulldog runners had to carry the burden all afternoon against a fiery, ornery Florida line that played its best game of the season.

It was Georgia's fourth league victory and, coupled with Georgia Tech's 13 to 6 loss to Tennessee, put the improving Bulldogs on top of the conference. Their only loss has been to North Caroline outside the loop.

Sophomore Billy Mixon, a little-used halfback heretofore, added spectacular ground support to Rauch's overhead brilliance.

Rauch gave Georgia first blood in the initial period on a one-yard quarterback sneak after setting up the maneuver with long passes to ends Bob Walston and Gene Lorendo and halfback Floyd Reid.

Florida's Johnny Cox bulled 10 yards over the goal to put the homelings back in the ball-game. The Bulldogs went further ahead on Floyd Reid's two yard plunge a few minutes later. Chuck Hunsinger kept Florida threatening with a winding, flashy 64-yard punt return to score.

Versatile Joe Geri cemented Georgia's margin in the third quarter on his nonchalant 13-yard stroll behind perfect, three-man blocking.

Georgia didn't look like a champion team. The Bulldog forwards were outcharged and Rauch was forced to hurry all his throws. The Yeardon, Pa., senior eventually wound up with seven completions in 15 tries for 121 yards.

Jimmy Kynes, the shoulder-tackling 'Gator linebacker, kept Georgia Coach Wally Butts tearing his hat and hair all afternoon.

Maryland Wins

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 6.—(UP)—A wiry mudder named Vic Turyn gave Maryland a 19 to 7 "form" victory over South Carolina today before a soggy homecoming crowd of 12,000 fans.

In the second period, the Terrapin quarterback slung a short flat pass out to end Bob Betz for a touchdown and a few plays later he scooped up his own fumble at the Carolina three and fell across for another tally.

Gamecock Steve Wadiak thrilled the little assemblage with a 65-yard scoring gallop in the final quarter.

Army Rolls Over Stanford, 43-0

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Army's undefeated football powerhouse handed Stanford's hopeful but soon disillusioned Indians one of their worst gridiron defeats at Yankee stadium today when they buried the western invaders under an avalanche of touchdowns for a 43 to 0 triumph.

In command all the way before a crowd of 46,695, the all-conquering cadets scored in just about every way possible to humiliate a club which hoped to have history repeat.

Twice in the past Stanford had gone against a favored Army team and accomplished the almost impossible by upsetting the Cadets. They had hoped to do it again today but this Army club, with the first set of backs in the nation, rolled over them without effort.

Virginia Defeats Wolfpack, 21-14

State Homecoming Crowd Watches Papit Spark Cavalier Victory

RALEIGH, Nov. 6—(UP)—Virginia had to depend on the savage line jabs of fullback Johnny Papit and almost forget her dazzling aerial attack today to beat a stubborn North Carolina State Wolfpack, 21-14, before some 12,000 disappointed State homecoming fans.

Penalties studded through the game slowed up both attacks, and a strong cross-field wind all but ruined most of the passing attempts. But Papit jolted into the fighting State line steadily to punch out first-down gains.

State's tailback Bill Thompson and fullback Dick Johnson cracked the Virginia defenses for three or four yards almost every time they tried. It was State Wingback Ogden Smith, however, who engineered the longest play of the game when he armed a 47-yard pass to end Freddie Miller on Virginia's 31.

State scored in the first period after two penalties against Virginia helped State reach the Virginia seven-yard line. Thompson's bullet pass to wingback Oscar Bozeman was good for the score, and guard Jim Byler kicked the extra point.

Virginia struck back quickly in the second period after tailback Stephen Osisek took a windstalled State kick on the Wolfpack 42 and ran back to State's 26. Tailback Bernard Gill broke through tackle on the next play, cut wide to the right and ran the rest of the way to the end zone. Left end Carlton Eliott kicked the first of three extra points for the Virginians.

Osisek got Virginia's passes going in the third period when the winds lulled.

Four-Man Squad Slates Debates In Northern Tour

A four-man University debate squad will leave Monday for a northern tour that will take in four states and the District of Columbia and includes debates with five teams.

Members of the squad are Dave Pittman, Rocky Mount; Herbert Yates, Rockingham; Herbert Mitchell, Asheville, and Paul Roth, Asheville.

The tour will open Monday night at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. Tuesday night the squad will be at Georgetown university in Washington, Wednesday afternoon at the University of Pennsylvania, and Thursday at Princeton.

SP Weekly Meeting Set Hour Earlier

The Student party will hold its weekly meeting an hour earlier than usual tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial. The floor will be open for nominations for junior class and legislative offices. The fall elections will be discussed. All interested students are urged to attend.

FOOTBALL SCORES

SOUTH

North Carolina 7, Wm. & Mary 7.
Wake Forest 27, Duke 20.
Tennessee 13, Georgia Tech 6.
Virginia 21, N. C. State 14.
Clemson 41, Furman 0.
Geo. Wash. 14, The Citadel 0.
Richmond 6, Davidson 0.
Georgia 20, Florida 12.
Miss. State 20, Auburn 0.
Wash. and Lee 14, VPI 7.
Maryland 19, South Carolina 7.
Alabama 27, Mississippi Southern 0.
Kentucky 13, Villanova 13.
Vanderbilt 48, LSU 7.
Mississippi 34, Chattanooga 7.
Tulane 28, VMI 7.

EAST

Army 43, Stanford 0.
Cornell 14, Colgate 6.
Penn State 13, Penn 0.
Princeton 47, Harvard 7.
Holy Cross 16, Duquesne 13.
Boston U. 33, Fordham 7.
Temple 20, Syracuse 0.
New Hampshire 27, Tufts 18.
Dartmouth 26, Columbia 21.
Wesleyan 28, Williams 7.
West Virginia 48, Ohio U 6.
Wash. & Jefferson 18, Bucknell 13.

MIDWEST

Michigan 35, Navy 0.
Notre Dame 42, Indiana 6.
Michigan State 47, Marquette 0
Ohio State 41, Pittsburgh 0.
Illinois 14, Iowa 0.
Northwestern 16, Wisconsin 7.
Iowa State 2, Drake 0.
Nebraska 32, Kansas State 0.

SOUTHWEST

SMU 20, Texas A&M 14.
Rice 25, Arkansas 6.
Texas 13, Baylor 10.
Oklahoma 41, Missouri 7.
Oklahoma A&M 19, Tulsa 0.

FAR WEST

California 28, UCLA 13.
Colorado 28, Utah State 14.
Arizona 14, New Mexico 6.
Oregon 13, Washington 7.

Carolina Boasts Statistics Edge

Rodgers Gets Local Touchdown Before 43,000 Surprised Fans

By Dick Jenrette

William and Mary's Indians, pre-game underdogs by 27 points, provided the surprise of the 1948 football season on a gloomy Saturday afternoon in Kenan stadium yesterday by tying mighty Carolina, 7-7, before 43,000 stunned spectators who turned out for the Southern conference battle.

Thus it was that Carolina's string of 13 consecutive victories, six of which were scored this season, came to a painful end. Ironically enough, the victory streak was begun against this same William and Mary team up in Williamsburg, Va., last year.

The game was played under similar conditions to last year's Wake Forest-Carolina struggle in Kenan. The skies were overcast, and showers plagued the fans and players throughout the afternoon. Wake Forest won last season's dreary game, but fortunately the Tar Heels survived without defeat yesterday.

So, the team still remains undefeated with the next objective being Maryland in Washington, D. C., this coming weekend.

Carolina Dominates Statistics

The amazing thing about the game was Carolina's complete domination of the game from a statistics standpoint. Coach Carl Snavely's men marched to 17 first downs while William and Mary could muster but one through the big Carolina line. A look at the game statistics would indicate a rather convincing Tar Heel triumph.

But William and Mary yesterday played what constituted a near perfect game. The Indians simply made no mistakes. Never was Carolina able to recover a fumble or intercept a pass anywhere near the Indian goal, and always there were the booming punts of Buddy Lex to set the Tar Heels back. Lex averaged 54 yards per try on his boots in the first half, but slowed down in the second to drop to a 43.0 average.

Perhaps these are the main reasons that William and Mary, with the benefit of only one first down, was able to tie Carolina: (1) The Indians intercepted four Carolina passes, (2) They recovered three Tar Heel fumbles, and (3) Carolina's passing game was off form. The Tar Heels attempted 26 passes, completing only seven for 83 yards.

Tech Goes Down

Carolina, however, wasn't the only highly-touted Southern team to take its bumps. Georgia Tech, last week termed by Duke Coach Wallace Wade as "The best team I've ever seen," bit the dust as Tennessee scored a 13-6 victory over the previously unbeaten Engineers.

Clemson now remains the only unbeaten, untied outfit in the Southern conference. The Tigers must get by a strong Wake Forest team before they can take the loop title. So, Carolina's chances for the honor are still excellent.

The Indians scored first yester-

(See CAROLINA, page 4)

State Upsets Pennsylvania In 13-0 Fight

Rogel Is Spark In Lion Victory

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6—(UP)—A clawing Penn State Nittany Lion came out of central Pennsylvania's mountains today and in a battle of unbeaten Eastern giants, thrashed Pennsylvania, 13-0, in a victory that left no doubt it was authentic.

Buoyed by implicit confidence in its own power, undefeated Penn State outrushed, outpassed, and outplayed Penn and then sprang fullback Francis Rogel for two touchdowns to run their own streak to 16 games without a loss.

Rogel, a strapping 196-pound powerhouse, scored State's first touchdown in the second period when he darted 44 yards. His second, which spelled the end of Penn's 14-game streak and marked their first loss in six starts this season, was one which had to be seen to be believed.

It came after six minutes of the fourth period and was a combination of deception at the start, and juggling acrobatics at the finish. First Rogel took the pass from center, handed off to quarterback Chuck Drazenovich who in turn handed off to Elwood Petchel, the wee lad with the mighty arm.

Petchel, who completed seven of the 15 for the game, whipped the ball 13 yards into the end zone. There was Rogel. He leaped into the air, juggled the ball, let it slide along his chest and held it. All this came with two defenders trying to take it away.

Rogel with diminutive Petchel, was the offensive star as the Lions outrushed Penn 141 to 28.

Gridders Blame Themselves For Tie With William and Mary

By Buddy Vaden

"You win some, you lose some, and some are rained out!" That seemed to be the general opinion of the Tar Heels after tying William and Mary, 7-7, yesterday. Art Weiner, who played an exceptional game, was the spokesman for the team as they entered the dressing room after the game.

On the whole, Coach Carl Snavely's boys blamed themselves for what they termed the "defeat." Charlie Justice, not in too gay a mood commented, "I'm running 20 laps tomorrow. I bet I'll be in shape next week. We were just lucky to pull a tie. It had been coming all along."

Cox Explains

Bob Cox, although not offering an alibi, had an explanation for the game. "We made too many fumbles, had too many penalties, and just didn't play like we should have." William and Mary had a good club, but they weren't that good!"

Larry Klosterman, not too happy about the results, declared, "I'm gonna sell peanuts at the next game." Chan Highsmith piped in with, "Anything I say about this game you wouldn't be able to quote."

Coach Snavely had an answer for it. Said he, "When a team has a day like that they're lucky to come out of the game with a tie. We made bad breaks for ourselves. It was bound to come. It was coming closer and closer with every game."

McCray Comments

Indian coach Rube McCray, understandably elated over the outcome, explained why William and Mary didn't take to the air during the final period. "Carolina has some fine break-away runners and if they had intercepted one of our passes that would have meant the end of the game for

(See LOCKER ROOM, page 4)

Mostly It Rained

DAVIDSON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Mostly it rained, but Richmond blocked a Davidson punt in time to win, 6-0, before some 7,500 soaked and unhappy Davidson homecoming fans here today.

Both teams sloshed around futilely and couldn't get started at all as the continuous showers turned Richardson field into one big puddle and the ball into an elusive pill. Davidson tried desperately to come back in the fourth period, but a series of frantic passes armed off by fullback Bert Anderton ended up six inches of a first down on the Richmond 24.

Student Scalpers Have Hard Time Selling Tickets

Automobiles were not the only thick traffic on Franklin street yesterday morning as scalpers, five deep, attempted to get rid of Carolina-William and Mary football ducats which dropped in price faster than the hands of the clock dropped toward game time.

Professional scalpers were not so much in evidence yesterday, partly because they knew the State Bureau of Investigation had not relaxed its vigilance and partly because they knew the game would not be a sell-out.

The vendors desperately tried to palm off 50-yard line seats for as low as $3 and $5 each. They had a hard time giving away end-zone tickets.

The familiar face wearing the red tie, one of the habitual week-end "I buy, sell or trade" merchants was missing. Most of the ticket salesmen were students yesterday.

One student stuck with 50-yard line seats remarked pessimistically that he was heading for Kenan stadium to try his luck there. "I think I'll have to let them go at 50 cents apiece before the game starts," he muttered.

VPI Still Down

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 6.—(UP)—Washington and Lee spoiled game little Virginia Tech's hopes for a tie when they turned on the heat in the last period here today and forged ahead to win, 14-7, before 9,000 fans.

Tech, which hasn't won a game this fall, opened up first in the second period. Fullback Roger Noel headed a charging attack into Washington and Lee's suddenly crumbly line, finally bulling over from the seven-yard line. Tackle Ross Orr added the extra point, to top Tech's second touchdown of the year.

Pilots, Stuntmen Scheduled To Show Aerial Tricks Today

Pilots and stunt men of the Deaton Air Circus will take to the sky at the Chapel Hill airport this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The air circus boasts a series of acts with special-built aerobatic airplanes, parachute jumpers, airplane-automobile and combinations. This will be the first time an act of this type has been attempted in the Orange county area.

Featured on the 12-act program will be the Thrasher brothers who will land a Piper airplane on the top of a speeding automobile. Known as the "World's Smallest Airport" the landing platform is built on the top of a car and is shorter by seven feet than the airplane itself.

In addition, the Thrasher brothers will pickup a man from the top of a car by an airplane with a ladder dangling from the wing and replace him on the car.

The duo will fly an airplane while sitting out on the wing strut with no one in the cockpit.

In order that spectators may view the show at close range, approval to park the cars on the airport property has been given by Bill Pritchard, Air Circus chairman of the Monogram club.

Tickets will go on sale at the airport entrance at 11 o'clock this morning. Proceeds from the show will go to decorating and re-furnishing the Monogram clubroom.

Clowning Footballers Turn Pep Rally Into Sidesplitting Comedy Session

The University club didn't know how easy it would be to turn their pep rally skit over to half a dozen clowning footballers Friday night, but the crowd in the Forest theater ate it up.

Whether the whole thing was carefully planned or not certainly wasn't evident because such stars as Weiner, Cox, Justice, Rodgers, Fowle, Stiegman and Joe Romano kept the 1,500 students in stitches for over 15 minutes.

Weiner seemed to be a little "nose-conscious" as he concealed his proboscis with his hand. Stiegman said, "There's been a rumor that all these great catches Art's been making have been because he's been carrying footballs around in his nose."

In speaking of Cox, Weiner said, "Bob has two speeds on the playing field, slow and stop."

Romano made the crack of the evening when he remarked, "Our offensive team's heading for the Sugar bowl and we're going to send the defensive team to the Orange bowl."

Principle of Progress

Last Tuesday the voting populace of this nation once again indorsed the principle of progress that was the goal of that great champion of democracy, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. The ballot was for social security, medicinal improvements, and—in brief—a vote for prosperity for the little man who today enjoys the highest standard of living that history has recorded, Communist arguments to the contrary.

And now the Greater University of North Carolina has stepped forward to claim its righteous heritage of continuing improvements so that the youth of this state as well as those transients from other states may enjoy the fullest possible educational advantages at this institution.

In round figures, the Greater University has asked $18 million. One of the greatest advantages to a grant of this sum by the trustees would be the erection of a teacher's hospital for medical students. And with this construction would naturally follow a situation wherein more Tar Heels would be able to attain the education that is necessary to the surgeon, physician—to all the Ph.D.s of this profession.

Additional construction in the library would open more shelves for the manuscripts which now fill the crates and boxes. Perhaps there is a Voltaire, a Shakespeare, or even a volume on "How to Play Football" by Peahead Walker.

To list the expected, and desires, improvements would be mere repetition since it ran in the Saturday issue of the Daily Tar Heel.

Nonetheless we can emphasize the above points—perhaps we did have tongue in cheek for the Honorable Peahead—in the hope that the board of trustees will follow the mandate of the people issued last Tuesday and cast a vote for progress.

Could we consider a negative vote the poor man's Strom Thurmond.

—E.H.

Here Goes the Politics

The Student party showed up on the campus political scene the other day with a statement that it would haul Thurman (University party chairman) Williams up before the Student council on charges that he neglected his duty as chairman of the Student Legislature Rules committee.

The SP charged that Williams failed to call a certain number of meetings of his committee and that he failed to publish the names of legislature absentees in the Daily Tar Heel. So, the boys said, they were going to charge him with his discrepancies before the Student council.

Williams had a couple answers to make. First, he countered with a charge that legislature clerk Jack Worsham had failed to keep complete lists of absentees of legislature meetings this quarter. When Williams asked Worsham for complete lists, the former's statement said, the latter allegedly replied that he had lost them. Williams charged inefficiency and neglect of duty. His second answer was that he did not think the dignity of the councils should be impugned by hauling purely political matters before them.

We think that Williams forgot to say one small thing. And we intend to say it before this thing goes any further:

The Student party waited for a convenient time (with December elections looming not too far off) before pulling what seems to be an obvious political trick. Too obvious.

—C.H.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS.

OUR CELEBRITIES. We can all babble over with pride now that the latest edition of "Varsity" has hit the newsstands. There Charlie Justice is on the front cover; and inside we find pictures of Joan Lucas, Fern Hughes, Hilda Sharkey, Pat Hole, and Chris White, with comments on what they think about kissing a boy on the first date.

NEVER AGAIN. Pat Bailley says she never wants to hear one more word about Old West. Seems some fellow who inhabits the place came up to the Yack office and got the girl so befuddled that she was putting down "Old East—no!—New West—no!—New East—ohhh."

AND THEY'RE OFF. In the coming campus election for the most ugly and repulsive man, George Byrum, Jess Jernigan, and Bill Hocutt are vying hotly for the Sigma Nu representation—please, no accusations! We quote from John Spinks' report.

PLEASE HELP US. Jim Blount and Bill Maceyko claim they have no incentive to come home now that their puppy Champ has disappeared. She's a fuzzy, little whote spitz-looking creature who whines at night. If you see her, how 'bout contacting them at the Sigma Chi house?

WORKING MAN. We've just found out that Percy Weeks was responsible for a great big job on the renovation of the Sigma Epsilon house. And it looks so good, too!

LIBERAL EDUCATION, TOO! You know, the initiates into—what the heck is the name of it?—Club 13 maybe aren't such nitwits after all. Fr'instance, there was one of them counting in French in front of the "Y" this week.

KINDA' LATE, but we still to wish Dr. Jan Schinin of the music department a happy birthday. We hear he had quite a surprise party at Danziger's last week—a cake and all the trimmings.

AND ANOTHER ONE. George Drew, of local CCUN fame, also chalked up another year to his credit—all of which proves, maybe, that organization really does age people.

PINCHY WINCHY. Incidentally, that "Stop pinching me!" you heard in the first night of Sound and Fury was NOT in the script. It was just Jean Hines pinching Dan Martin for his cue. Then, dogone if they didn't both forget their lines!

WRONG NUMBER. Seems George Smith got thoroughly disgusted with the simplicities of home life recently. The simplicities, wehasten to explain, are the exactly-alike appearance of the quonset huts. George walked into one, climbed up on the top bunk, and settled down to read a letter and five seconds later got thrown out on his ear by the rightful owner of the hut and bunk. What we want to know is did the letter really belong to George?

LONG AND SHORT OF IT. Al Ludwick is still cackling about the fellow who borrowed a pair of tux pants; and when he got home and tried them on, realized that nobody could see his new bow tie.

ALLAH'S ALMIGHTY, or is he? The Carolina Allah in the blue turban was beginning to doubt the statement the day he tried to sell a coed a tube of toothpaste and got a door slammed in his face. "But it's good for your corns!" were his dying words.

SCOUT DEEDS. The Girl Scouts really have done a swell job of fixing up a display in Andrew-Henningan's window. Now, maybe they're trying to make a good impression on the Boy Scouts who are due in town this week-end.

CPU Roundtable

Analyzing Election Upset

By Herb Alexander

Tonight the CPU will discuss the reasons for, and implications of, a victory which last week seemed impossible. The election of President Truman, Senator Barkley, and a Democratic Congress at this time is an event the likes of which have never before been illustrated in American history, an event which has shocked the world, and surprised even those voters who supported the Democratic ticket.

In this election, democracy has proved its true value. The American people spoke and their voices were heard. It takes, unfortunately, an upset of such magnitude to reaffirm our belief in the people—the common men and women—whose thinking on basic issues is always reliable and sensible. And those voices can only be heard in a free election in a free, democratic nation.

In analyzing the victory, it seems evident that the major factor is that Truman was correct in waging his campaign against the 80th Congress and not against Dewey. Truman brought the main issues to the people, and he proved time and time again that when the Republicans were given power, as in Congress in 1946, they failed to use that power to benefit the collective interests of the U. S.; instead they fostered "privileged groups." The failure of the Republicans to curb inflation, their failure to act on housing, their smug and confident attitude—all these things and many more were responsible. Truman waged this campaign single-handedly, made the issues clear, and the voters responded. This is borne out by the fact that the Democrats won a landslide in the House, where these issues were often blocked.

The accurateness of public opinion polls now stands on feeble legs, the Wallace movement is dead, and the Dixiecrats, because of their futile revolt, are in no position to demand or receive patronage. Thus a bloodless revolution took place because all the experts refused to consider the "human equation" factor in the act of voting. It is always the people who run governments (or allow them to run), who start and then win or lose wars, and above all for us to remember, the people who will win or lose the peace.

The implications of the Democratic sweep are, I believe, centered mainly around the fact that Truman now has the support and confidence he needs to give himself and his policies a direction, a purpose, and a steadiness. I also feel that if the Truman second administration is to succeed, it must be somewhat more liberal than it has the past three years. This may mean new advisers, new faces in the cabinet, and new teamwork and connections with his Congress.

At the regular meeting of the CPU tonight at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial, this discussion will be broadened. Visitors are always welcome to come and participate.

Fax About Wax

Rating Record Releases

By Nelson Taylor
Klassification Key
* Fine
 Fair
 Futile
* Foul

SWING

With All My Heart

"Heart" is one of the best records for dreaming that has appeared in a long time. Pied Pipers do a fine job. Nostalgic. Fine backing by orchestra. The reverse, "Goodbye Romance," is poor attempt at comedy. Capitol.

*Summertime
Maid with the Delicate Air

Artie Shaw and group do a good job on "Time" with fine solos by Shaw and an unknown growl trumpet. Very fine rhythm all the way through. The orchestra work following these solos is wanting of inspiration. The back, "Maid," lacks anything it should have and is disappointing.

*Floatin'
A Woman Always Understands

Les Brown again tries to return to the good old days but doesn't quite succeed. Fine rhythm, uninteresting instrumental. Worrying tenor solo. Trumpet duel follows which is tasty regardless of "Down Beat's" opinion. "Woman" is not scintilating but is danceable. Lyrics are lousy. Columbia.

*I Hate to Lose You
*On a Slow Boat to China

Half heartedly played by an uninterested Benny Goodman. Must have gotten seasick on that boat. We can expect a lot better out of the King. Capitol.

*In My Dreams
Chocolate Choo Choo

Usual Vaughn Monroe slush. "Dreams" is listenable and Dinah Shore does up "Did I shout. The reverse is sickening.

VOCAL

What Did I Do
*Matador

Dina Shore does up "Did I Do" terrifically. Undoubtedly the best job done by anyone on this tune. Orchestration by Sonny Burke deserves much of the credit. Flip over is tricky vaudeville.

JAZZ

*No Time
Four Brothers

"Time" is typical Woody Herman with a little of the old Herman Herd punch and drive. Opens terrifically and there is a good tenor solo, reminiscent of Flip Phillips. Good drumming shines. Closing is tricky trumpet and rhythm. "Brothers" is dragging attempt at bebop. There is a fair solo by Herman. Not worth the effort.

National Emporor
If I Had You

"National" is one of the most controversial of the new bop tunes. Some say it is the greatest. It is terrific. Bop vocal backed by bass is unusual opening and good. Then Cy Wynding takes off on a fine trombone solo backed by bass and drums. Charlie Ventura takes a smooth ride and bop vocal and bass end things. "Had You" is a disappointment which tags on to "National."

Muskat Ramble
*Basin Street Blues

Two fine examples of old Dixieland featuring Pee Wee Hunt's fine combo. Best that has been recorded in many a day. "Ramble" is really fine, with trumpet, trombone, and clarinet work outstanding. "Basin" features Dixie vocal and stimulating trombone. Regent release.

*Jazz at the Philharmonic No. 8

This is the best of the series, both by balance and by music. Features duel between Flip Phillips and Illinois Jacquet. Both turn in fine work, though Phillips is superior and his number one side deserves the rating of ****.

Correct Time?

Your Watch Is Wrong

By Harmon W. Nichols

WASHINGTON.—(UP)— Look at your watch, man! Chances are it's either an hour fast—or maybe a hundred years slow.

And science, which ought to know what time it is doesn't.

A scientist, who has spent a lot of time figuring out what time it is, took his hair down in Chicago today. He is Harry A. Meahl, an engineer in the General Electric company's general engineering and consulting laboratory. He said what probably shouldn't have been said about time at a meeting of the national electronics conference.

Science, said Mr. Meahl, is beginning to have some doubts about its knowledge of the earth's accuracy as humanity's master time piece.

Time standards are set by the rotation of what we like to call "the world." These standards, alleged Mr. M., might vary as much as a second or more every four years.

Golly, that could add up over a couple million years—if you go back to the beginning of time.

Mr. Meahl pointed out, in scientific language, that the frequency standards now being used to check radio frequencies are timed by the "slightly erratic revolution" of the earth. So they could be off by more than one part in 100,000,000.

If that sounds a little far-fetched, as time goes, listen to what Capt. Guy W. Clark, superintendent of the naval observatory, has to say about it.

"Judged by the longitude of Mercury . . . the rate of the earth's rotation in 1929 was about one part in 20,000,000 faster than it had been in 1909. Since 1929, the earth has appeared to slow down again."

And so, of course, has your watch.

Science, including the great minds of the Bureau of Standards here, which measures everything from the atom to sheer of milady's stockings, is worried.

Mr. Meahl acted as spokesman for science when he said that "minor variations of the world as a timekeeper no longer are a matter of mere academic interest."

There is such a thing, said he, as extremely high-frequency equipment—like radar. It might be rolling along faster than sound. The error of the earth—as we catch our time—could throw us way off. Maybe has already.

"With modern technology," the man said, "a great deal can happen in the fraction of a second."

In lieu of the earth's timing, no other frequency standard has been accepted by science, as yet.

The naval observatory is working on it. The Bureau of Standards is working on it. Neither has failed me yet. I like the looks of my watch right this minute.

It's 5 p.m. on the dot. Quittin' time!

Write Away

Pointing to Peace

Editor:

The Winston Churchill speech, in which he declared that only the atomic bomb stands between freedom and Communist domination, was attacked October 10 by two Ministers of the British Labor party government.

The Minister of Health, Aneuran Bevan, charged that Churchill had done "deadly harm," since his speech "might give rise to the gravest possible misunderstanding" and make real peace between Russia and the Western powers the more difficult to attain. British Secretary of War Emanuel Shinwell characterized Churchill as "a danger to peace" and said his speech was inaccurate and distorted.

In a speech in Llandudno, Wales, October 9, Churchill stated: "Nothing stands between Europe today and complete subjugation to Communist tyranny but the atomic bomb in American possession." While stressing his belief in the need for atomic strength, he declared: "I will not encourage you with false hopes of a friendly settlement with Soviet Russia. It may be that some formula will be found or some artificial compromise effected which will be hailed as a solution and deliverance. But the fundamental danger and antagonisms will remain."

Churchill suggested no possible basis for settlement between the West and the Communist nations in order to prevent a third world war, other than stating that the Western nations should bring matters to a head and make their demands on Russia before the Soviet Union gets the atomic bomb.

The former Prime Minister of Great Britain abandoned the United Nations as a medium through which solution might be reached, declaring: "The assembly of the United Nations, which we fondly hoped would be the majestic center of world security, and later of world cooperation and finally of world government, has been reduced to a mere cockpit in which the representatives of mighty nations and ancient states hurl reproaches, taunts and recriminations at one another to marshal public opinion and inflame the passions of their peoples in order to arouse and prepare them for what seems to be a remorseless approaching third world war."

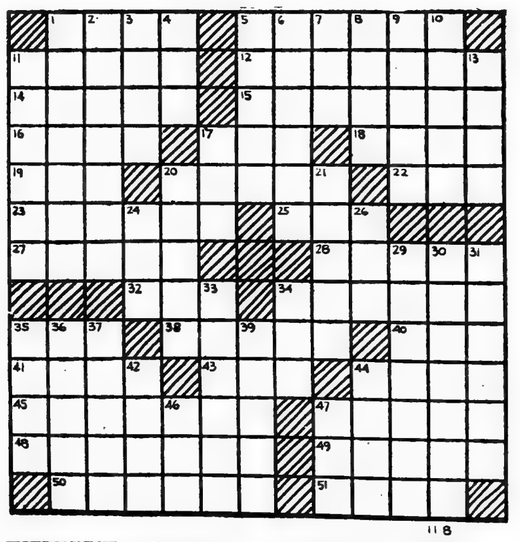
Winston Churchill did, as the British ministers charged, a great disservice to the cause of peace by implying that the use of the atomic bomb as a threat would bludgeon the Soviet Union into accepting Western demands. Moreover, he indicated his awareness that his suggestions offered no solution—that "the fundamental danger and antagonisms will remain."

But one statement Churchill made does point a way to peace. If, instead of decrying the UN as a mere cockpit of angry, impotent words, he had called upon the nations of the world to put power behind UN discussions, to give strength to the UN to enforce the decisions resulting from its debates, to build the world he mourned as lost, he would have made a great contribution to peace.

Sally Lineweaver

Why Not Keep Mum

Editor:

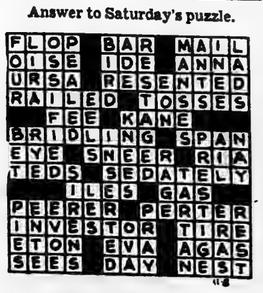


Attention Bill Robertson:

It seems that you failed to elaborate on that significant fact that Peter of the Disciples had to use the iron hand of death to punish a man and his wife for not kicking in to a common pool.

That act alone speaks thunderously for the 129,000,000 people of these United States who desire no part of your "share and share alike" plan of a perfect government.

You are so right. Your boys from over yonder work in just that fashion. Butcher them if they don't "doff off" with the tangibles. If and when your "scarlet" friends take over they might not like the pittance you'll be able to render. Why not keep mum for a while and give yourself twenty or thirty years more to think things out clearly.



B. Bennett

HORIZONTAL
1. Chinese wax
5. Mexican blanket
11. dimmer
12. noted
14. field
15. more distant
16. ineffective
17. bearing
18. mention
19. period
20. scorch
22. caustic
23. government official residing abroad
25. lug
27. record
28. stream
32. lamprey
34. triclinic feldspar
35. increase
38. full of roots
40. rested
41. front
43. an Indian
44. hoarfrost
45. obvious
47. of the morning
48. retaliate
49. expiate
50. give
51. venture

VERTICAL
1. a model
2. principle
3. smooth (Phon.)
4. macaw
5. finch
6. come forth
7. brink
8. soon
9. leaf of corolla
10. adversary
11. splendid residence
13. corner
17. trouble
20. more reliable
21. betimes
24. comprehend
26. vein of leaf
29. guest
30. fine bunting
31. a hydrocarbon
33. loll
34. devoured
35. southwest wind
36. capital of Delaware
37. impel
39. aquatic mammal
42. Elysium
44. Polynesian chestnut
46. limit
47. reckless

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Ties, Ties, Ties

THAT TIME AND TIES wait for no man was demonstrated to some 40,000 fans, dampened in spirit by what they saw and in reality by what they felt, in Kenan stadium yesterday afternoon. For it turned out that a group of war-pathing Indians of William and Mary there ambushed a horde of peaceful Tar Heels, seeking to colonize the Redman's end zone, and then proceeded to hold at least their own until time ran out before the reserves could come from the fort.

The Indians, billed as little more than that, played without reservations. They allowed the Tar Heels to roam around the middle regions of the field as they pleased and showed added courtesy in permitting the locals any number of mistakes that they might choose to commit. These misplays cost the Tar Heels the touchdown which the Indians tallied, and any number more teedees that might have been used to fatten up the Carolina side of the score card.

William and Mary had one good chance to score in the ball game and fearing the touchdown street car might not be coming their way again anytime soon, they hopped on it. After that, the boys from north of here retired to a defensive pose to try and see just how big seven points could get to look. At the end of the ball game, it had grown to gigantic proportions.

The Trouble Lay

THE TAR HEELS, in the meantime, had been finding trouble doing the right thing at the right time. The touchdowns didn't roll in as expected, leaving the fans to wonder if the Carolina team had left its punch on the banquet table. Drive after drive reputedly in the direction of the Indian goal line were initiated, but each time with the regularity of a day time serial, something went wrong.

The Tar Heels were partly to blame for their own undoing with the visitors receiving a kiss on each cheek for their contribution to the general havoc. One cylinder in the Carolina offensive machine was missing all afternoon—and that was the passing. The locals were buckshotting their passes instead of rifling them, and the result was that the ball sprayed all over the lot. The weather was definitely not suited for Carolina air operations with the scoreboard showing a zero ceiling in this department.

The local running game turned out to be a brighter spot on a dismal day all the way around. Ground work by Hosea Rodgers and Charlie Justice together with the leg work of the referee, who stepped off two 15-yard gains for the Tar Heels at critical points, provided the Carolina one and only touchdown. Before and after that, the machine sputtered and stalled with Dewey-like proficiency. The Tar Heels threatened almost as often as the weather did, but couldn't match the payoff ability of the heavens which four times delivered the watery goods.

Some Steam Gotten

AT THE START of the second half, the Tar Heels began like a house afire, but each time they'd throw a little coal on, the Indian chiefs would arrive on the scene in time to put out the blaze. The Explosive Six finally provided a touchdown which led most Carolina fans to believe all now would be well. But the well ran dry, and the Indians, tie-eyed by now, began doing everything in their power to prevent either team from winning the ball game.

The last period saw time outrun the Carolina backs with several well-cultured Tar Heel scoring chances going down the Kenan drains with the remains of the afternoon's showers. The clock sped upon its weary way, and in the end didn't quite move fast enough to suit the Tar Heels.

The game, it seems, ended with the Indians embarrassingly close to the Tar Heel goal line, the result of a faux pas on the part of the local passing arm. The next play that never came, might have been a field goal which would have made the skies an awful lot darker. Those are the times that tie men's souls. Yet it is better to have the hairline receded than to be scalped completely.

It Could Have Been

ALL OF WHICH PROVES it could have been worse. William and Mary fielded 11 men at the start who showed little respect for the Tar Heels or their clippings. Jack Cloud, like most of his contemporaries in the sky, threatened more than he produced. He was even outshone by teammate Tommy Thompson, a line backer who played the position as if he had invented it. A tackle named Creekmur also caught the eye especially if you were watching the ball carrier whom he was continually tackling.

Offensively the Indians had one thing—the touchdown with which they butter their bread. Past that, they ended up on the short side of the offensive statistics which only goes to prove that they might decide to award the American league pennant next year to the team having the most men left on base. The Indians won the toss to even things back up again.

Locally, the Tar Heels were their usually wonderful defensive self. The B Brigade—"we'll be all over them when the ball is snapped"—played shadow to the Indians all day, leaving them with an almost self-conscious look in their eyes. There is definitely not a truck route through the Tar Heel forward wall.

The Pressure's Off

THE TAR HEEL FANS were left in the stands to reason why or not as they chose. Their general comment was limited to a single word they lifted from the Indians themselves—"How?" Yet, it was wonderful to see how, when the going became the roughest, the student body edged that much closer in behind their team.

After weeks of steaming in the collegiate cooker, the pressure is off the Tar Heels. There is nothing left to do but play football for the next three weeks without worries about the ratings of the sports writers and the baitings of opponents to come. And the old school tie now has a running mate.

For Republicans and Tar Heels, it was a bad week.

TUXEDO RENTALS

It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.

Lewis' State College

RALEIGH

HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

Vols Down Georgia Tech, 13-6, In Upset

Littleford Leads Tennessee Outfit In Atlanta Game

ATLANTA, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Rocking-socking Tennessee rode the charged arm and mighty foot of Tailback Hal Littleford to a shocking 13-6 upset of Georgia Tech today before 38,000 fans.

The vicious Vols scored their two touchdowns on their only two chances and, incredibly, didn't use a first down in running up a 13-0 margin that Tech couldn't overcome.

The fighting-mad Volunteers clipped Tech right off the bat when Bud Sherrod, a matchless defensive end, recovered Frank Ziegler's fumble in the Tech end zone for a touchdown in the first two minutes of play.

Again, in two minutes of the second half, Gen. Bob H. Neyland's crew scored spectacularly on Littleford's unerring 47-yard pass to Wingback Bob Lund.

Tech's pass attack, which had functioned wonderfully all season, caught fire only once.

TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Court 1, Chi Psi 3 vs. TEP; 2, Bombers 2 vs. Town 2; 3, Bombers 1 vs. Nash 2; 4, Beta 1 vs. DKE 1; 5, Sigma Chi 7 vs. Phi Delt 2.

5:00—Table 1, Everett 1 vs. Nash 1; 2, Town 1 vs. Stacy.

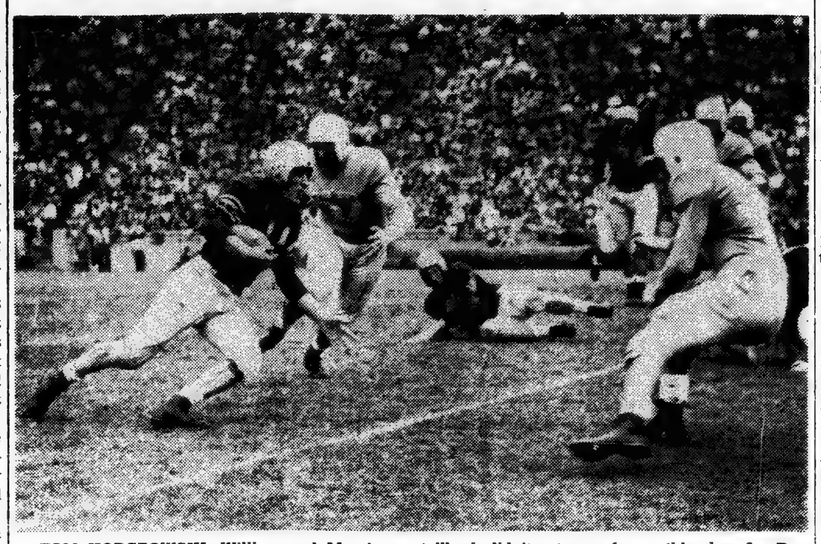
7:00—Monday night—Table 1, Chi Psi 2 vs. PiKA 1; 2, Phi Gam 2 vs. DKE 2; 3, AE Pi 1 vs. Beta 2; 4, Pi Lamb 1 vs. Lamb Chi 1; Sig Chi 4 vs. Pi Kap Phi.

8:00—Monday night—Table 1, Chi Phi 2 vs PiKA 5; 2, Chi Psi 1 vs PiKA 6; 3, Phi Gam 1 vs. KA 1; 4, ATO 2 vs. Sig Chi 3; 5, Chi Phi 4 vs. SAE 2.

TAG FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1, Kap Sig 2 vs DKE 2; 2, ATO 2 vs Kappa Psi; 3, AEPi vs KA 3; 4, SAE 1 vs Phi Gam 2; 5, Zeta 1 vs PiKA 1; 6, Lambda Chi vs Pi Lamb; 7, ZBT vs PiKA 2.

5:00—Field 1, Pi Kap Phi vs TEP; 2, Sig Nu 1 vs KA 1; 3, Sig Nu 2 vs Kappa Sig 1; 4, Phi Kap Sig vs Chi Phi 2; 5, Med Cch 2 vs Grads; 6, Beta 2 vs Phi Delt 1; 7, Sigma Chi vs St. Anthony.



The COLONIAL INN

HILLSBORO, N. C.

For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms

TELEPHONE 4301

Here's One Indian Who Didn't Go Far

TOM KORCZOWSKI, William and Mary's ace tailback didn't get very far on this play. Joe Romano, number 57, is the Carolina player preparing to make the tackle in the above photo. Korczowski did pass to Lou Hoitsma minutes later for the Indian's lone touchdown.

Statistics Chart

Team Totals

	UNC	W&M
First downs	17	1
Net yards rushing	184	19
Net yards passing	83	22
Forwards attempted	26	5
Forwards completed	7	2
Forwards intercepted	1	4
Punts	9	15
Punting average	45.2	43
Fumbles	4	0
Fumbles recovered	1	3
Yards penalized	50	45

Rushing

Carolina	Tries	Gained	Avg.
Rodgers	24	100	4.17
Justice	19	95	5.0
Clements	6	16	2.67
Flamisch	1	1	1.0
Wm. & Mary	Tries	Gained	Avg.
Cloud	12	44	3.67
Korczowski	9	—25	—2.78
Davis	6	16	2.67
Lex	2	5	2.5
Blanc	2	—1	— .5
Bruce	2	—14	—7.0

Passing

Carolina	Attmpt.	Comp.	Yds.
Justice	17	7	83
Rodgers	4	0	0
Hayes	4	0	0
Maceyko	1	0	0
Wm. & Mary	Attmpt.	Comp.	Yds.
Korczowski	4	1	21
Cloud	1	1	1
From	To		Yards
Justice	Weiner		17, 18, 12, 9
Justice	Cox		7
Justice	Clements		8, 12
Korczowski	Hoitsma		21
Cloud	Goodlow		1

Punting

Carolina	Punts	Avg.
Justice	9	45.2
Wm. & Mary	Punts	Avg.
Lex	15	43

California Remains Unbeaten With Thrilling Win Over UCLA

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 6—(UP)—California's unbeaten, untied juggernaut ground out a 28-13 victory over U.C.L.A. in one of the wildest football games of its season today.

The weird contest, which started with the Bears three touchdown favorites, ended with the Uclans winning all the statistics and everything but the ball game.

Coach Lyn (Pappy) Waldorf's club, racking up its eighth straight victory this year and its 12th in succession, scored on nearly every type of play in the book—on a sustained march powered by Jackie Jensen, on the interception of a U.C.L.A. pass and an 85-yard touchdown run; on a blocked punt, and even on a counter that was set up by California's woefully weak aerial attack.

The Bruins had all the advantage of everything except the score. They had the best total yardage, 262 to 174. In passing they bounced California 195 to 35.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Sig Nu 2 vs Delt Sig 2; 2, Sig Eps 2 vs Sigma Chi 1; 3, Everett 2 vs. Mangum; 4, Grads vs. Manley B 2.

5:00—Court 1, Pi Lamb 3 vs. SAE 1; 2, Lamb Chi 1 vs. PiKA 2; 3, Lamb Chi 2 vs. ATO 1; 4, Emerson 2 vs. Grimes 2.

—Locker Room—

(Continued from page one)

us. However, we weren't playing for a tie. We were out to win," he stated.

About Justice, McCray said, "Charlie is a great runner, a fine passer and kicker. And on top of that he's the best decoy I've ever seen."

Cloud-Rodgers Duel

The comparison between the two great fullbacks, Jack Cloud and Hosea Rodgers was the topic of the day. McCray thought that Cloud had the edge over Hosea. As proof, he said, "Jack was running behind his second string line most of the time whereas Rodgers had his first stringers in front of him. And then, consider how much time Cloud was in the game compared with that of Rodgers."

But Dr. Graham, who visited the Carolina dressing room after the game, said, "Cloud has power, but to find out who's the better of the two, I'd suggest that you read the statistics to find out."

Local Record Loses Lustre

(Continued from page one)

day, crossing the goal after about three minutes had elapsed in the second quarter. And it was a fumble which set up this score.

Indians Recover Fumble

With Carolina in possession of the ball, first and 10 on its own 27-yard line, a slow drizzle began to fall. At any rate Hosea Rodgers, who for the most part played a great game, fumbled on the 23, with Ralph Floyd pouncing on the pigskin for the visitors.

Jack Cloud picked up a couple of yards to the 21, but Sid Varney tripped up Henry Blanc for a yard loss on a reverse play. Tom Korczowski then drifted back and arched a high pass into the left corner of the end zone. Lou Hoitsma and a pair of Carolina defenders leaped into the air, with the Indian end proving the taller of the three. Hoitsma hung onto the pigskin, falling into the end zone for the touchdown. Lex added the all important extra point.

76-Yard Scoring Drive

From that point on, Carolina pushed the Indians about the field with apparent ease. But always a fumble, interception, or penalty nipped the rally in the bud. However, shortly before the third quarter ended, the Tar Heels did get a break. The touchdown drive at this point actually went 76 yards, but were it not for an important penalty, William and Mary might have been the victor.

With the ball on the Carolina 24, Rodgers bucked to the 30. Charlie Justice then sailed wide to the right, cutting in for a first down on the 41. Clements and Rodgers accorded another first down on the Indian 49 in two more tries.

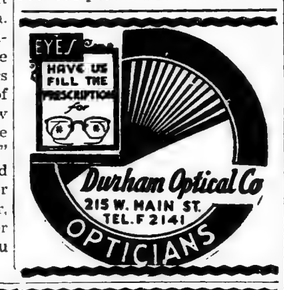
Justice, after faking a pass, sprinted to the 46, and Rodgers hit center for two more yards. Justice's pass to Powell was weak, and Carolina was forced to kick. Charlie got off a respectable boot, but a roughing the kicker penalty cost the Indians 15 yards and injected new life into the Carolina drive. The roughing penalty put the ball on the 30.

Fate Intervenes

Two plays later Rodgers had lugged the ball to the 18 for another first down. Justice rambled off tackle to the 10, but Rodgers fumbled on the next play. Fortunately for the Tar Heels, Ken Powell recovered the ball on the 20. Fate again stepped in on behalf of the home team, and a second roughing penalty put the ball on the 5.

Justice hit the line twice to get to the 2, and Rodgers crossed the goal on the third try.

Bob Cox entered the game, and produced a very timely point to tie the score at 7-7.



But only on this drive were the Tar Heels able to get any breaks. Most of the drives were checked before the Indian goal was seriously threatened.

Last Minute Threat

The game ended with a bit of a thrill. Carolina was attempting a series of desperation passes, and one of the tosses was intercepted by Joe Mark on the Tar Heel 25 and returned to the 10. The game ended before another play could be run.

A fine high school band display and more good card tricks by the Carolina cheering section brightened up a rather listless day in Chapel Hill.

But Carolina is still undefeated.

Larger Loans on Anything of Value

Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop

MAIN LOAN OFFICE

Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

AIR CIRCUS SUNDAY

Nov. 7 — 3 P.M.

Chapel Hill Airport

SEE

★

Airplane Land on Top of Automobile

★

Low Level Special-Built Airplanes Do Acrobatics Close to Ground

★

Airplane Pickup of Man from Automobile

★

10,000 Foot Delayed Parachute Jump

★

12 Great Acts Direct from Cleveland National Air Races

★

COME EARLY

Free Parking at Airport

★

ADMISSION $1.00

(Children Free with Parents)

★

SPONSORED By the MONOGRAM CLUB

So Mild!

● Yes, Camels are so mild that a nationwide 30-day test of hundreds of smokers revealed not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels! The people in this test — both men and women — smoked Camels exclusively for 30 consecutive days. Smoked an average of one to two packages of Camels a day. Each week their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 exacting examinations. From coast to coast, these throat specialists reported

NO THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

Prove it Yourself

MAKE THE CAMEL 30-DAY TEST IN YOUR "T-ZONE"!

Money Back Guarantee! Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you have ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Activities Round Out Period Of Rushing

Climaxing formal rushing most of the fraternities held their pledge ceremonies last week. The Sigma Chi's held their pledging Monday night after which the entire chapter honored its new pledges at a banquet at the Carolina Inn. Dr. Roy B. McKnight, Grand Praetor of the North-South Carolina Province of Sigma Chi addressed the chapter on fraternity meaning. The Sigma Chi Hymn, written by Hank Beebe and Dick Server, was introduced to the chapter for the first time.

The Pi Kappa Phi pledges were entertained with a banquet at Terrace View last Thursday night following their pledging. Entertainment for the banquet was furnished by the brothers.

Twenty four Chi Psi pledges were treated to a steak supper Monday night after their pledge ceremonies. To start off the fall Germans the Chi Psi's also had a party out at Hogan's Friday night.

Members of Delta Kappa Epsilon held their annual pledge party at the American Legion hut Saturday night. About thirty couples attended the buffet dinner affair. Plans are underway for the Tuesday night banquet at Carolina Inn honoring the new pledges, reports Shahane Taylor, social chairman for the group.

Tau Epsilon Phi's annual fall house party took place this weekend. Festivities, highlighted by the William and Mary game, included a formal dance at Carolina Inn last night and an informal gathering at the chapter house Friday night at which the brothers presented a skit for the entertainment of their dates. Irv Silver and Sandy Korschun were in charge of arrangements.

The Carolina Phi Delta chapter played host to twenty Phi Delta's from Georgia Tech this past weekend. The Georgia boys came up for the Duke-Georgia Tech game in Durham.

The Pi Lambda Phi's will travel en masse to Washington next Friday for the Maryland game. Parties have been planned, and many alumni of the chapter will gather there. Headquarters have been established at the Statler Hotel.

Thanks to the efforts of all the brothers and pledges of Pi Kappa Phi who returned to Chapel Hill a week before school opened to paint the outside and inside of the house, as well as refinish the floors, the newly decorated Pi Kap House was open to all alumni and guests after the William and Mary game yesterday.

Since school began this fall six PiKA's have become pinned: Jack Gates to Rosalie Prince, Dunn; Jim Boyles to Mary Beth Lockwood, Brunswick, Ga; Ted Wall to Mary Anne Jarrett, Shelby; Charles J. Hondros to Rue Guthrie, Charlotte; Ed Darnell to Ruby-White Arnold, Fuquay Springs; and Roy Green to Patty Shaver, Durham.

At UNC—
BILL FLAMISCH has the EDGE in Football.

...and in razor blades
PAL
HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
DOUBLE or SINGLE EDGE
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 5A

NICE ROOM FOR RENT TO MALE student. Would consider exchange for housework. Call S. H. Basnight, F-458. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

27 FT. HOUSE TRAILER, SCREENED porch, sleeps four. Excellent condition. No. 30 U.N.C. Trailer. Can remain on lot. (2-8050-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1942 PLYMOUTH COUPE — GOOD condition. Newly painted. Apply J. R. Martin, 305 Pittsboro Street—behind Trailer Court. (2-8041-1)

1939 FORD TWO DOOR SEDAN. GOOD mechanical condition—clean through. 9258. Stowe Motor Co., Your Ford dealer. Call F-444. (ch 1x1)

1937 BUICK SEDAN. CLEAN, REBUILT motor, passed state inspection. Reasonably priced. Call F-2841 or see at Patterson Auto Supply. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 2A

SEVEN TICKETS TO CAROLINA—Duke game. Together or separate. Will pay premium. Call F-4571 after 10 p. m. (ch 1x1)

WHERE TO EAT 2B

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

Over Andrews-Henninger
The YARN SHOP
We Have Nylon Wool, Too!

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
Plenty of Free Parking

Social Calendar

Tuesday, November 9, 1948
7-11 o'clock—Bridge Tournament at Graham Memorial

7-9 o'clock—Dance lessons at Graham Memorial

Friday, November 12, 1948
Floor Show in Rendezvous Room

Saturday, November 13, 1948
2 o'clock—Carolina vs. Maryland at Washington

8:30 o'clock—Grail Dance at Woollen Gym

Come In and See Us
—Featuring—
★ Crane, Eaton, and Montag Stationery
★ Bridge Tables with Chairs to Match
★ Personalized Napkins, Book Matches and Coasters
LEDBETTER - PICKARD

Sponsors for Gala Week-end

German Club Presents Dance With Music By Elliot Lawrence

The girls pictured above served as sponsors at the annual fall dances presented last night and Friday by the German club of the University. Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra furnished the music for the dances.

Top row, left to right are Carolyn Auld, Greenville, S. C., with Carl Durham, Jr., Chapel Hill, treasurer of the German Club and a member of Sigma Nu fraternity; Corinne Grimsley, Greensboro, with Henry Dowdy, High Point, secretary and member of Kappa Alpha; Jean Barnett, Westfield, N. J., with Rotcher H. Watkins, Durham, Phi Delta Theta; Barbara Fehr, Charlotte, with Roy McKnight, Charlotte, vice-president of the club; and Saso Morris, New Bern, with Walt Jones, Kinston, Kappa Sigma.

Middle row: Lib Schofield, Jacksonville, Fla., with Robert MacMillan, Chapel Hill, president of the club and member of St. Anthony Hall; Frances Griffith, Charlotte, with Harvie Ward, Tarborro, Zeta Psi; Louise Parker, Clinton, with Steve Jones, Clinton, Phi Gamma Delta; Joan Lucas, St. Petersburg, Fla.; with Walter Talley, Bradenton, Fla., Alpha Tau Omega; Candy Jonas, Ponte Vedra, Fla., with Joe Satterwaite, New Bern, Kappa Alpha.

Bottom row: Patsy McNutt, Greensboro, with George V. Strong, IV, Philadelphia, Pa., St. Anthony Hall; Edith Allison, Statesville, with Sonny Shelton, Statesville, Beta Theta Pi; Katherine Scruggs, Rutherfordton, with Rex Kennedy, Jacksonville, Pi Kappa Alpha; Elizabeth Myatt, Greensboro, with Roy W. Holsten, Glen Rock, N. J., Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Mary Moore, Lumberton, with Gene Graham, Charlotte, Sigma Chi.

Chapel Hill Churches Release Schedule of Week's Activity

EPISCOPAL: Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 and 11 o'clock this morning. At the later service the Rev. Mr. Yates will give a brief address entitled "Do This." At the 8 o'clock service he will speak on "Christian Kindness." Instead of the regular Tuesday night meeting, the Canterbury Club will meet tomorrow at 6 o'clock.

CATHOLIC: Regular 8 and 10 o'clock Mass will be observed this morning when the Catholics meet in Gerrard Hall. The Rev. Mr. Morrissey will make a special appeal for the North Carolina Catholic association at the 11 o'clock meeting.

BAPTIST: The new Baptist minister, the Rev. Mr. Samuel T. Habel, Jr., Suffox, Va., will be installed into the Baptist church this morning. Tonight before supper at 5:30 movies will be shown. After supper the first in a series of panel discussions on "Denominations—Their History and Function" will be held.

PRESBYTERIAN: This morning the Rev. Charlie Jones will speak at the two Presbyterian services at 9:45 and 11 o'clock. Members of Westminster Fellowship will leave from the Presbyterian Church tonight at 5:45 to go to Durham for a joint worship program on Religion and Prejudice.

LUTHERAN: Today at the 11 o'clock service the Rev. Mr. E. C. Cooper will deliver the third in a series of sermons on "The Faith of The Church." He will deal with the "Faith of the Church in Regard to Prayer." Meeting upstairs in the "Y" tonight at 6 o'clock, the Lutheran Student Association will have a Bible study and discussion. The general theme of the discussion is "If We Obey Him."

...Social Lights...

SOCIETY EDITOR: ..... Rita Adams

STAFF: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Caroline Brunner, Jane Gower, Lynn Hammock, Ann Gamble, Lucielle Conley, Kitty Altizer.

Presenting...
THE NEW STERLING PATTERN
Gorham Melrose
This lovely new pattern, created by Gorham craftsmen, was inspired by the ever-beautiful Melrose plantation in Natchez, Mississippi. Its perfect design... its luxurious heaviness capture the romance of old Natchez in fine sterling silver you will enjoy using today and everyday. Drop in and see the new Gorham MELROSE today.
$32.00 per place-setting including Fed. Tax
Wentworth & Sloan

Ways, Means Group Will Meet Monday

Student Legislature Ways and Means committee will meet tomorrow at 4 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

The first Southern newspaper was published in 1736.

Sorority Social Calendar Filled With Whirl of Parties, Pinnings

This week the Tri Delts added another pin-up to their growing list: Mary Dillard to Aubrey Talbert, Lambda Chi. The Tri Delt's will entertain the Betas with a Hillbilly Party Tuesday night. Tonight from 7 until 8 o'clock the girls are holding open house. Everyone is invited.

Wednesday night the pledges to Pi Beta Phi held an open house for the pledges of all the other sororities. Molly Blackburn has a brand new diamond: giver, Buzz Bush, Beta. The pledge class officers are Anne Chandler, president; Pat Sullivan, vice-president; Lucille Conly, recording secretary; Lenoir Williams, scholarship chairman; Bobbie Lowe, activities; Jane Gower, historian; Gene Denbo and Norma Jean Dew, co-chairmen of social committee; and Ruth Whalen, censor.

Mrs. Jessie Clamp, new housemother at the Chi O house, was honored at a tea given by Mrs. Guy Johnson Thursday. Anne Bumgardner, Ida Constable, and Martha Best Yorke were tapped this past week by Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology fraternity. Connie Conly was tapped by Chi Delta Phi, the campus literary sorority. The Chi O's are inviting everyone to be their guests at coffee hour from seven to eight tonight.

News comes from the Alpha Gam house that Rue Gutherie, an alumna, was pinned this past week of Charlie Hondros, PiKA. Ruby White Arnold was pinned to Ed Darnell, PiKA; and Jody Armstrong was pinned to a PiKA at the University of Virginia.

MONOGRAM MEETING

The Monogram club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Club house. Vic Huggins will be the guest speaker and all members are asked to attend.

CP Freshman Group Will Meet Tonight

The Campus Party freshman campaign committee will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

Chapel Hill Baby Contest
Let us GIVE you a portrait of your Baby.
How
Purchase five dollars worth of any type merchandise in our store.
Who
All children between the ages of six months and six years.
So
Just ask us for a contest blank and information. Appointments will be made by mail.
● Baby Needs
● Prescriptions
● Fountain Service
● Toiletries
VILLAGE PHARMACY
Phone 5336
Opposite Bus Station

Lumberton-Carolina Club to Be Formed

The formation of the Lumberton-Carolina club will get under way with a meeting in the [illegible] room of Graham Memorial at 4:30 this afternoon. Jim Prince, club organizer, announced yesterday.

The initial meeting of the club has been called for the purpose of electing officers, and for making plans for a Christmas dance to be held in Lumberton.

In 1827 a newspaper for Negroes was established.

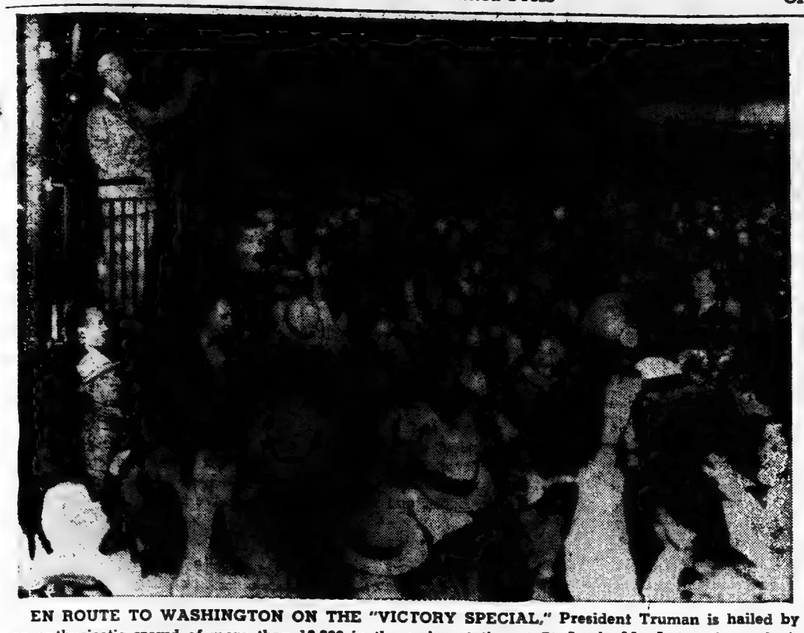
VILLAGE
TODAY
RAY MILLAND SAYS:— "Without A Doubt One Of The Best Suspense Dramas I've Seen!"
BARBARA Stanwyck
BURT Lancaster
The electrifying story of a woman who heard her own murder being plotted on the telephone!
SORRY, WRONG NUMBER
A HAL WALLIS PRODUCTION INC. PICTURE
A Paramount Release
—Also—
Dorsey Musical
MONDAY
The MASTERPIECE OF GREAT ENTERTAINMENT!
Alexander Korda Presents
Charles LAUGHTON
Robert DONAT
Merle OBERON
The Private Life of HENRY VIII
BINNIE BARNES
JOHN LODER
ELSA LANCHESTER
WENDY BARRIE
GOOD PICTURES LIKE GOOD BOOKS NEVER GROW OLD

THE WORLD IS FULL OF CARMENS. They may not know it except in their most secret day dreams.
COLUMBIA PICTURES presents
Rita Hayworth · Glenn Ford
The Loves of Carmen
with
Ron RANDELL · Victor JORY · Luther ADLER
Arnold Moss · Joseph Buloff · Margaret Wycherly
Screenplay by Helen Deutsch
Based upon the story of "Carmen" by Prosper Merimee
Directed and Produced by CHARLES VIDOR
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
NOT THE OPERA... but a dramatic version of the story of Carmen
NOW PLAYING
CAROLINA
—Also—
Pluto Cartoon
Latest News

Get up late — Breakfast all day — at HARRY'S

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

Steve Canyon
MILTON CANIFF



LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS
Professors Note
Dixiecrats Deny
Stick to Schedule

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Increasing cloudiness and warmer. Possible showers.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 45

EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON ON THE "VICTORY SPECIAL," President Truman is hailed by an enthusiastic crowd of more than 10,000 in the union station at St. Louis, Mo. Later, the nation's chief executive received a record-breaking welcome on his triumphant return to the capital. The president will rest for two weeks at Key West, Fla. He will be joined there by Vice-President-elect Alben W. Barkley.

President Truman Loafs At Key West

Newsmen Playing Billiards Are Surprised by Chief Executive

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 8.—(UP)—President Truman, in tan slack suit and long-billed fishing cap, loafed around the submarine base today and paid a surprise inspection trip to press headquarters.

Enjoying the first rest since his 30,000-mile campaign tour, he had a swim in the morning and visited press headquarters for about five minutes in the afternoon. The visit caught reporters, some of whom were playing billiards, by surprise.

He walked up behind one of the players and asked: "Who is behind the eight-ball?"

The player, startled, looked over his shoulder and missed his shot. Mr. Truman told them to go ahead with the game. They did. But the play wasn't as professional as some Mr. Truman has seen. He told them that Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington will be down next week and would give them some pointers.

It reminded the president of the time that Wallgren beat Andrew Jackson Higgins, New Orleans industrialist, when Mr. Truman and Wallgren were members of the Senate war investigating committee.

Mon used to be billiard champion of the United States and Higgins didn't know it when he invited him to play," the president recalled. "He won the game before Higgins ever had a chance."

Phi Discussion Will Feature Religion Talks

The question of religion versus free thought will be debated tonight at the regular Philanthropic assembly meeting in the Phi hall, New East at 7:30.

Winifred Ervin and Page Dees will take the lead in questioning orthodox religion and various denominational groups will take up the battle for the organized church and its theological doctrines. Pete Burks will speak as head of the YMCA, Gran Childress will represent the Presbyterian group; and the Baptist Student union, the Weslevan foundation, the Canterbury club and the Aquinas club are expected in force to defend their cause.

The floor of the assembly will be open to visitors for debate and a strict policy of allowing each speaker to state his case without parliamentary interference or heckling will be followed.

According to Speaker Pro-tem Ervin, the bill is the most controversial one to face the assembly this fall and a record crowd is expected to jam the hall.

W-S Club Schedules Thanksgiving Dance

The Winston-Salem Carolina Club will hold a Thanksgiving dance Friday, Nov. 26, Pfohla [illegible], newly elected president of the Twin Citians here on campus yesterday.

The holiday dance will be held in the Blue Room of the Robert E. Lee hotel in Winston-Salem. It will be an informal affair with music by Art Lopez. Tickets will go on sale in the "Y" lobby soon.

Gil Will Speak On Cuba Tonight

Dr. Federico G. Gil, popular professor of political science, will speak to the Spanish Club tonight at 8 o'clock in room 2, Caldwell Y on "Cuba, the Land and the People." All persons interested are invited to attend.

Student Dies

NEW BERN, Nov. 8—(UP)—Funeral services were planned today for Horace M. Hill, 19-year-old North Carolina university student who shot himself to death at his home here last night.

Coroner Raymond Pollock said Hill committed suicide. The youth had been ill for several months, Pollock said, and suffered a nervous breakdown, leaving his studies at Chapel Hill and returning home to recover.

Commission Requests

The North Carolina Medical Care commission, requested the state to assume almost the entire cost of building a teaching hospital at the University.

The request was made to the Advisory Budget commission in order that federal funds, earmarked for the Chapel Hill hospital, might be used to increase funds available for local hospital construction throughout the state.

Plans for building the teaching hospital which is needed to expand the present two-year medical course into a full four-year course contemplated a State appropriation of $3,790,000 which was made by the 1947 general assembly to be supplemented by $1,500,000 in federal funds.

The Medical Care commission asked that only $500,000 of these federal funds be used at the University and that the other $1,000,000 be replaced by a state appropriation.

Funeral Services Slated Tomorrow For Prof. Munch

Funeral services for Howard Frederick Munch, 66, professor of education and mathematics here, who died in New York city Sunday of a heart attack, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the University Methodist church, which he served as trustee and where he often pinch-hit as teacher for Chancellor R. B. House's men's class.

Burial will be in the Chapel Hill cemetery.

Professor Munch, a native of Holloway, Michigan, was graduated from Adrian College, Michigan, in 1904. Before coming to Chapel Hill in 1926, he taught in the public schools of Ohio, Iowa, Indiana and Illinois, being superintendent at Monmouth, Ill., before going to the University of Chicago in 1926 for his graduate work. He was a member of the Phi Delta Kappa honorary education fraternity there.

NROTC Scholarship Applicants Must Complete Forms by Nov. 15

All students who wish to apply for NROTC scholarships for the school year 1949-50 must fill out an application form by Nov. 15, Capt. D. W. Loomis, professor of Naval science, announced yesterday. Forms may be secured at the Naval armory.

The Naval college aptitude test will be given in Chapel Hill on Dec. 11, and students who want to take the test must have their application forms in by Nov. 15.

Scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis and winners will have their normal college expenses paid for four years plus $50 a month toward living expenses.

To be eligible for the scholarships, a student who is a non-veteran must be single and between the ages 17-21 and meet the physical requirements; veterans must be single and not more than 25 by the time of their graduation.

Students who are awarded scholarships must agree to serve two years on active duty after graduation as an Ensign with the Navy or as a second lieutenant with the United States Marine corps.

WSSF Drive Is Postponed Until Winter

New Drive Date Set Jan. 10-16

The World Student Service Fund drive which was to be held from Nov. 29 to Dec. 4 has been postponed until the winter quarter, Dortch Warriner, WSSF chairman, said yesterday.

"The postponement," Warriner said, "was necessary because student government elections and Thanksgiving holidays would make adequate publicity impossible at this time. It was also felt that the expense of football weekends and big dances drain students financially before they can contribute justly to world education.

"The new date for the drive will be Jan. 10 through 16. This is a week upon which the WSSF committee finally decided as more satisfactory for less competition with other campus activities."

Only event still planned for this month as part of the fund raising will be the sale of blue and white confetti at the Duke-Carolina game. All coeds who can assist at confetti booths throughout the campus on that weekend are asked to contact Lincoln Kan.

Other plans to be held over until January call for a novelty faculty auction, a beauty contest to name "Miss Payoff," and a "Take-a-Foreign-Student-to-Dinner" day. Students to work as subchairmen under Warriner next quarter are Joe Leary, solicitations; Dick Gordon, finance, and Charlie Gibson, publicity.

Among the national sponsors for the international charity to supply educational equipment all over the world this year is Dr. Frank P. Graham. Gretta Riddell, traveling secretary for WSSF in the South, recently visited the campus to assist in the local drive.

French Club Sets Meeting Tonight

Le Cercle Francais, local French club, will meet tonight at 7:30 in Caldwell "Y". Mademosielle Edith Lamarre of Haiti is guest speaker for the occasion. At present she is teaching at the North Carolina college in Durham.

The club elected officers at last week's meeting. Phil Kennedy is the newly-elected president, and other officers include Effie Westervelt, vice-president; Bob Hooper, secretary-treasurer; and Charles B. Brockmann, program chairman.

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock club members will meet in the lobby of the Carolina Inn for dinner.

Wake Forest Fund

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 8—(UP)—M. A. Huggins, general secretary of the Baptist state convention, reported today that some $5,000,000 was pledged to the fund for relocation of Wake Forest college in Winston-Salem.

Huggins said plans would be made for soliciting another seven to eight million dollars for the fund at the three-day state Baptist convention beginning here tomorrow.

AVC to Discuss Infiltration Of Communists

Communist infiltration into liberal non-Communist organizations will be discussed before the meeting of the local chapter of the American Veterans committee tonight at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church.

It was moved at the last meeting to conduct a debate tonight on this issue between Charles Sellers and Junius Scales, chairman of the Communist party in Chapel Hill.

Sellers states that he is looking forward to the opportunity to present his views on Communist infiltration to the members of the group. It is not known at present whether Scales intends to accept the challenge.

The meeting will be open to the general public. No admission will be charged, and everyone is cordially invited to what will probably be a warm discussion.

Also on the agenda will be nominations of delegates to the national AVC convention in Cleveland, and a discussion of proposed changes in the constitution. Tentative instructions to delegates are to be considered.

Williams Hurls Reply Back At SP Leaders

University Party Chairman Says SP Trying to 'Dupe Student Body'

By Bill Buchan

Thurman Williams, chairman of the University party and the legislature rules committee replied to Student party charges of negligence yesterday afternoon by accusing SP leaders of a "deliberate attempt to dupe the student body in believing three things which are misconceptions."

"I am guilty of nothing except by my own admissions," Williams stated. "I have yet to be notified by the Student council that they will have anything to do with such political maneuvers."

The three items, as listed by Williams, are (1) That he was unwilling to publish the names of members absent from the Legislature. "This is not so," Williams said. "In the future, this will be promptly attended to in order to give the student body an opportunity to see who is really serving them and to prevent such technicalities hurled as personal insults. In an effort to put an end to this whole unpleasant affair, I would like to withdraw all charges against legislature clerk, Jack Worsham.

Williams went on to explain what he termed the "second purpose of the political infamy" as "an effort on the part of the SP to lead students to believe that it is serving as a watchdog for the students. It is my sincere belief that the accusations did not stem from a desire to protect the students, rather, it was a deliberate attempt to smear the name of the University party."

"The third false allegation,"

(See WILLIAMS, page 4)

Late News Bulletins

Dixiecrats Hit

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(UP) Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today the Dixiecrats should be kicked out of the Democratic party for good. She suggested that some of the Southern conservatives might be welcomed into the Republican party "with whom they have voted so often in recent years."

Assassin Collapses

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 8 (UP)— Nathuram Vinayak Godse collapsed today after he told a special court that no one had conspired with him in the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi last Jan. 30.

Capture Nears

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 8—(UP)—Israeli forces in the Negev expect momentarily to capture Gaza, "capital" of the Palestine Arab government and last Egyptian stronghold in the Holy Land, reliable private dispatches from the fighting zone said tonight.

Plot Revealed

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 8—(UP)—The International War Crimes tribunal said today that former Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo wrote death across the face of the Far East by provoking war in a grand plot with Italy and Germany to dominate the world.

Parliamentary

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 8—(UP)—A former cabinet minister who yesterday appealed for United Nations help in ending the civil war, was beaten up by other deputies in parliament today.

American Promise

BERLIN, Nov. 8—(UP)—Col. Frank L. Howley, United States commandant in Berlin, told anxious German officials today that American troops would prevent any communist attempt to seize power by force in their sector of the capital.

Freshman Class Officers Will Be Nominated Today

Army May Ask Solons For Draft Of Doctors

Officer Says Draft Is Necessary Unless Volunteers Make Up Needs

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(UP)—The Army may be forced to ask Congress to draft doctors unless sufficient medical personnel volunteers, it was revealed today.

Col. Laurence Potter, procurement officer of the medical corps, said at a meeting of the American Public Health association that the "pinch is on" as far as medical manpower is concerned.

He quoted Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, surgeon general of the Army, as saying:

"If medical personnel sufficient to care properly for the health of the expanded Army does not come voluntarily, there will be no other recourse but to submit a bill to Congress to draft the necessary personnel."

Potter estimated the Army's present medical strength at 4,400 physicians, 750 dentists, 342 veterinarians, 4,350 nurses, 3,000 medical service corps.

This is enough to care for the present Army, he said, but the needs will be increased as the forces expand through the draft and present personnel drops through discharges and the release of "large numbers of non-volunteer officers now on active duty who will have completed their service."

Potter estimated the replacement needs of the Army medical corps at 1,500 a year for physicians, with other services in proportion.

Opera Tryouts Scheduled Today By Playmakers

Four sets of public tryouts will be held starting this evening at 7:30 for the joint production of Gilbert and Sullivan's famous light opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore," which will be staged by the University music department and the Carolina Playmakers. Tryouts will be held in Memorial hall.

Following tonight's tryouts, a second opportunity will be available Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, and another tryout session will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. The final tryout period will be Friday afternoon at 2:30.

The joint musical production is an annual highlight of the mid-winter activities of both groups. Last year the production was the highly successful "Mikado."

"H. M. S. Pinafore" is scheduled for presentation Jan. 28 and 29, after the start of the winter quarter. Tryouts are open to anyone, and all interested students and townspeople are invited to attend.

Factotum Mag To Be Available On Campus Soon

Factotum, a magazine of new writing, will appear shortly on the campus, the board of editors announced here today.

The coming issue features a new translation in verse of Marie de France's lai, "Laostic," by Dan McIntyre, and poetry by two noted American poets, Kenneth Rexroth, and Peter Viereck, whose new book, "Terror and Decorum," has just been published.

Poetry by Morton Seif, a former student of the University, and a short story by Robert Kaske, who is now working for his Ph. D. degree here, are also included. An added attraction is a new full-color cover.

The first issue of Factotum was a sellout when it appeared last spring and circulation is expected to double this year.

Senior Rings Will Be Sold Tomorrow

Senior class rings will be on sale in the Y building between 11:30 and 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Monroe Lamdreth announced yesterday. A $5 deposit will be required.

Second University Hour Program Carries Commerce Bureau Theme

The theme of the second week's state-wide University Hour program produced by the radio division of the Communication center will be the story of the activities of the Bureau of Business Services and Research, which is affiliated with the School of Commerce here. The Chapel Hill choral club and the University hour will also present the final movement of the Mozart Requiem mass.

The recorded programs in this second year of production are half-hour documentary dramas, presenting to the people of the state how certain activities of the three campuses of the university affect everyone in the state, directly or indirectly.

By presenting information from the Commerce school concerning chamber's of commerce, credit bureaus, merchant's associations, interviewing, etc., the program this week hopes to help the North Carolina businessman make his business more efficient and economical, thereby offering better and cheaper service to the average citizen.

Listeners in this area may hear the program Sunday afternoon at four o'clock over WDUK Durham, at 1:30 over WDNC Durham, or at 10:30 (Wednesday night) over WPTF Raleigh.

Jess Dedmond Will Preside Over Session

Nominees Will Be On Nov. 18 Ballot

Nominations for freshman class officers will be made this morning at freshman assembly in Memorial hall at 11 o'clock.

With President of the Student Body Jess Dedmond conducting the meeting freshmen will nominate candidates for president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman. Candidates nominated today will compete in the freshmen elections Nov. 18.

Jack Worsham, clerk of the Student Legislature, said yesterday that all candidates for nominations backed by campus political parties would have to be nominated from the floor by a freshman in the name of the sponsoring party.

Worsham stated that all freshmen seeking nominations on independent tickets would have to be nominated from the floor by a member of the freshman class, and a statement including the names of 25 freshmen endorsing the nomination would have to be submitted to the elections chairman. The statement must also include an agreement signed by the candidate to the effect that he will serve if elected.

Freshmen will vote for class officers Nov. 18 at Gerrard hall from 11:45 to 5 o'clock.

Chancellor House Set to Preside At College Meet

Chancellor R. B. House will preside in his capacity of president of the North Carolina College conference at the 28th annual meeting at the O.Henry hotel in Greensboro today and tomorrow.

The dominant purpose of the organization as expressed by their constitution "shall be to further the cause of higher education." The conference to be held today will discuss and study the various problems met by the institutions within this state.

The conference will open this afternoon with committe reports. Dean W. W. Pierson, head of the University Graduate school will give a report on "Organizing Higher Education" and R. M. Grumman, University Extension division director will read the steering committee report on veteran education.

Tonight the delegates will hear a program of music by the University music department, which will be followed by a speech by Henri Peyre, Sterling professor and head of the French department at Yale.

Wynn Addresses Directors Meet

This past week, Earl Wynn, Ed Freed, and Kenneth McIntyre of the Communication center gave demonstrations of the effect and use of various tools of communication before a meeting of the industrial safety directors of the state.

Grail Tickets

Tickets for the Grail-sponsored Charlie Spivak dance scheduled for the Duke-Carolina weekend will be on sale in the lobby of the Y building today and tomorrow.

There are 1,800 tickets at $1 each available for the Friday's concert. Dance books are $5. Tickets will be sold from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock today and tomorrow.

. NOVEMBER 7, 1948

berton-Carolina to Be Formed rmation of the Lumber-lina club will get under-a meeting in the Grail Graham Memorial at afternoon. Jim Phillips, anizer, announced yesitial meeting of the club called for the purpose ng officers, and for lay-s for a Christmas dance ld in Lumberton.

27 a newspaper for was established.

VILLAGE
TODAY
MILLAND SAYS— ithout A Doubt One f The Best Suspense Dramas I've Seen!"
BARBARA Stanwyck
BURT Lancaster
electri-g story woman heard own or be-plotted e tele-el
RRY, RONG NUMBER
L WALLIS PRODUCTION INC. PICTURE
A Paramount Release
—Also—
DORSEY MUSICAL
MONDAY
MASTERPIECE OF GREAT TERTAINMENT!
Alexander Korda Presents
Charles LAUGHTON
Robert DONAT
Merle BERON
Private Life of NRY VIII
NNIE BARNES
N LODER
A LANCHESTER
WENDY BARRIE
TURES LIKE GOOD BOOKS NEVER GROW OLD!
THE VALLEY —
YOU THREE ABNER'S ARE OF E GRENADE AND RUN!"
THAT'S ONE REASON WHY I ASKED HER TO LOOK OUT FOR REED IF SHE FELT GRIEF SHE'D HAVE AN OUTLET THROUGH THE OWING IT—IN ORDER TO EEP REED FROM FEELING ANY WORSE THAN HE DOES!
MILTON CANIFF

Professors Please Note

A struggling freshman, enroute from one quiz to another, remarked yesterday that he thought the general college should work out a system whereby the various departments could arrange their quizzes on different days, rather than pile them all on one day.

The remark is worth some thought. The task of drawing up an agreement between the English, Math, Social Science, Botany and other departments to arrange their quizzes on different days probably would be a difficult one. However, once it was arranged, the students in general college would have a heavy burden lifted from their shoulders.

By a simple schedule, the various instructors in the English sections could agree to give their quizzes only on Monday, the modern languages group could plan theirs for Tuesday, the Math teachers for Wednesday and so on through the week. These three courses along with social science and either Botany or Zoology are the main courses that freshmen and sophomores are taking during their first two years here and an agreement such as the one proposed will eliminate the frequent problem of having to study for three quizzes on one night.

Naturally, there are going to be some courses taken by those in general college which will not fit into the groups listed; however these will be in a minority and only a few students will be burdened by them.

Upon investigation, we have learned that such a system as is proposed here is now in effect at Georgia Tech and to all appearances is meeting with success.

The plan is certainly one worth considering by Dean Spruill and other administrative heads. Actually if such a plan were adopted, it would not be much more than an expanded final examination schedule.

Certainly the freshmen and sophomores, who sometimes must take as many as three quizzes one after the other, will be grateful if a quiz schedule can be worked out and adopted between the various departments. —B.B.

Dixiecrats Defy the Rules

The Dixiecrats evidently do not wish to live in a democracy, since they refuse to accept the democratic principle of majority rule. Before the election each political group put its platform before the people — and the people decided in favor of the Democratic party. The Republicans, largest dissenting group, although disagreeing with the choice, are not contesting the election. On the other hand, the smallest group of dissenters, the Dixiecrats, refuse to accept the decision of the people. They are now attempting to manipulate the electoral college to prevent Truman from becoming president.

They are using this maneuer as a bribe and a threat to force Mr. Truman to drop his civil rights program, and by doing so they are focusing attention upon the civil rights issue and giving Mr. Truman no opportunity to let the issue ride, even if he wanted to. They are forcing him to support the program more strongly than ever.

In using such threats to thwart the will of the people, the Dixiecrats are placing themselves in a category with the Communists, and in backing Mr. Truman into a corner on the issue of civil rights they are exhibiting utter stupidity.

Stick to Schedule

No one will deny that Graham Memorial, the campus student union building, is doing well the Herculean task of providing entertainment and relaxing space for needy members of a 7,600-member student body. But even Graham Memorial slips up on their efficiency rating every once in a while—meaning that there are some things the GM staff is not doing as well as it could.

The item in question is the Rendezvous room, a much-needed night-spot, snack bar and general campus meeting place.

We don't complain too much when we stop by the Rendezvous for a coke at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and find it closed. We hardly said anything the other night when we wanted to do a little Sunday night dancing and again found the doors locked. And we haven't made too much noise the other times the same thing happened.

All we ask, boys, is that the Rendezvous room set up a definite schedule telling when it will be open and when it will not, let the student body know that schedule, and then stick to it. —C.H.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $5.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

WE QUOTE! Our latest bulletin from Thompson-Leighton, Inc., reads as follows: "The college man should now have in his wardrobe at least one each of the following: cloth-of-gold sport shirts with three-quarter length sleeves; brocaded silk pajamas; Picasso pink sweaters with plunging necklines, and polka-dotted suspenders." And they also add, that "the sudden turn to color, oddly enough, tends to bring out the beast and the best in man, simultaneously."

GOING, GOING — but it's still not gone. We're speaking of the fountain pen one of the helpful sorority pledges left in Graham Memorial the day she played tabulator for the student activity records. It's down in the office waiting for her to call.

FAMILIAR FACES were here, there, and everywhere this week-end. but the one that got about the most welcome was that of Annie Ben Beale. We hear she broke all stag line records at the dance Saturday night.

TAKE NOTE the next time you're at one of the dances down at the gym of the signs above the doors — "No Pass Out" tickets. Just what do they expect?

TRAVEL BUREAU — the walking, talking variety. That's the best description we can think of for Al Moore. At this point he's supposed to have a complete line on all rides headed east.

CONGRATULATIONS! Lot's of us swallowed our eggs whole Sunday morning when we spotted Martha Manning's picture — and a might pretty one it was—in the News and Observer. Come December she and Ed Davenport are going to be the happiest people in this town.

POINT OF INFORMATION: Here's a bit for those folks who keep walking past the planetarium-to-be mumbling, "Those are the ugliest blooming bricks I ever laid eyes on!" They happen to be very expensive hand-made jobs that should definitely be admired. So remember that.

"ALL THE WAY." Can't think of Ben Wood without hearing that phrase over and over again. One of these days the boy is going to start out once too often and end up at the North Pole.

AND BE A CLOWN. After Elliot Lawrence's rendition of that piece, even more people here are taking the words to heart, as if the Hill doesn't already have enough clowns. Just take Stuart Sechriest for instance. We're safe—no more required journalism courses.

DANCE FLOOR REMARK. "Well, what do you want me to do, get down on my knees right now?" Don't know who said source was, but Nemo Nearman wasn't too far away with his date.

PRIZE PERFORMANCE. Sound and Fury has finally gotten a call for one of those promised shows — namely for the Pi Phi's tonight. And, incidentally, the cast are still on call.

JUST HOW choosy can we get? Wish somebody would tell us more about the reputed "purge list" now being made by certain organizations on campus. We might possibly like the idea a little more than we do now 'cause it doesn't sound like such a fine idea.

WE ALMOST FORGOT something when we were talking about the Pi Phi's—just what the dickens is that bright, orange ladder doing hitched to an upstairs window. We'll not make conjectures 'til we collect more facts.

DON'T TELL ANYBODY, but we just got a hot inside tip that the stork will be paying a couple visits to the campus before very long. The proud papa's will be KA Steve Stefanou and ATO Jack Lupton. We suggest they give Roy Armstrong those UNC applications right away.

The Upset Apple Cart

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This Changing World

No Smoke Without Doris

Bill Robertson

(The circumstances of the world are continually changing, and the opinions of men change also.—Thomas Paine)

"I would particularly call attention to the incalculably favorable circumstances in which Communism finds itself by virtue of the fact that the enemy whom it is fighting has, for all his powers, no moral foundation within himself."

These words, written in 1843 by Heinrich Heine, the great German poet, have especial significance today. For the world has changed considerably in the last one hundred years and we have entered into "an age in which all roads lead to Communism." More than that, we can clearly see the bright outlines of the future world Communist society appearing in the Soviet Union.

But let us cast a glance at what the capitalists say they wish to preserve. They are afraid to use the term "capitalism." Instead they boast about "free enterprise" and "democracy"—as though these terms justify stock markets, grain speculation, and the private ownership of monopolies. Further, they boast about the great achievements of American capitalist enterprises, ignoring the fact that these achievements were brought about by socializing the manner of producing things; that is, by bringing large numbers of men and women workers together in factories. The ownership of these factories has remained private; and an owner of a North Carolina textile mill, living in New York City, will insist that the wonders of socialized production are the results of his peculiar genius — that without him production would cease.

Yes, without Doris Duke there would be no more cigarettes. Without Barbara Hutton there would be no more efficient distribution of cheap goods in five and ten cent stores. So runs the argument, and it is fast running out.

Of course, all patriotic Americans take pride in the superiority of American technique of production. That is not the question. The question is: are our wonderful means of producing things to remain in the hands of a few multi-millionaires and billionaires or are they to become the common possession of all the people. The question is: are the products of our wonderful factories to be distributed in accordance with the profit-motives of a greedy few, or are they to be distributed in accordance with the needs of the people?

It is certain that we the people of America will take the road to socialism along with the rest of humanity. But we could avoid considerable suffering if we were to study and benefit by the heroic accomplishments of the Soviet people. For example, the present Soviet fifteen-year-plan to build forest shelter-belts and thereby to eliminate droughts forever over hundreds of millions of acres is wonderful. It should not inspire envy. Rather it should make us turn our eyes toward our own Missouri Valley and toward our own Southland. It should lead us to consider the rich store of latent talents and capacities in our own people, so many of whom are living out twisted and stunted lives in ghettoes and slums, fearful of tomorrow and the economic crisis that it will bring.

The future belongs to us, the American people, as we join all mankind in its march toward greater freedom and a more complete realization of meaningful living. But, first of all, we must become a great army of doctors. We must study the sick and diseased society in which we live. The scientific teachings of Karl Marx show clearly the nature of the disease. A crisis is approaching. But there shall be renewed life and vigor; for there are tremendous stores of energy. We must utilize our scientific knowledge to add to that energy and to hasten a complete and lasting recovery.

Chollie's Follies

The Voice Of The Fertile

By Charlie Gibson

TOUSHAY FOR TODAY: Any pennies left over from buying telescopes for the Moorehead Planetarium should be used to install pencil sharpeners in Saunders or water fountains in Bynum. Please, won't the next philanthropist be practical and just build the University a suitable auditorium instead of steam baths or tiddly wink courts?

THE WEAK IN REVIEW: How could the Smarty Party try a cheap campaign stunt against the Uppity Party without realizing that public scandal jeopardizes the reputation of the entire Student Legislature? . . . Exhibit A to prove that Monroe Landreth belongs in the Hall of Wheeldom here could be the fancy calling cards he had printed complete with campus address. Some say he's running for something soon—maybe city limits . . . What most males would run from fast as turtles: Lorraine Howard . . . "Fuzzy" Swain comes out fighting now every time she hears the bell — a cowbell, that is. Seems a careless bellringer at Wake Forest konked her kranium and knocked "Fuzzy" cold . . . Herold Amos was so electrified by the election that he commented, "When they told me Truman won, I felt just like someone had said Carolina had lost the '49 Sugar Bowl game!"

EYE - DENTITIES: The tumblers risking neck, limb, and G. I. insurance every weekend to support the Tar Heels are Bob House, Darryle Byerly, and Bryan Berry . . . Cute Barbara Thomas drives all the boys Barbaric . . . Stan Croner, best campus cameragician, has a fine two-page spread in the latest "Varsity" magazine. Stan shot such local SEEnery as Joan Lucas and Hilda Sharkey for a poll on first-date kissing; the gals answers are enough to make wolves predict freezing this winter . . . What's in a name? Look for the most effervescent smile here, and Gil BEAM is wearing it . . . For its next quiz question the Vets club might ask: "What's 'Nemo' Nearman's real first name?" Very few would come marching through with the right answer —"Sherman." . . . Well, Jane Castevens?

REMARKABLE: Overheard at Harry's: "Prohibition would be just like 'the new look'; the joints are always there, but sometimes they are harder to spot" . . . Marshall Pennix: "I poured some gasoline on my hands and, man, did it feel like Etheyl!" . . . Probably Charlie Justice, Jr.'s first synonyms: "Dada" and "Two Two Twain" . . . Jim Buck Harper on parents: "the kin you love to touch" . . . "Y" court: where the men are all cads and the women are all pads . . . If this column this week comes out intact enough to make as much sense as intended, praised be the Ediotr, the Prniter and Gdo!

Write Away

Support for Paine

Editor:

Would like to ask Mr. C. L. West a few questions regar[ding] his slanderous article on Thomas Paine.

In what way was Paine a "failure"? Had he failed [as] John Adams said this about him?"History is to ascribe the R[evo]lution to Thomas Paine." Had he, huh? Was he failing [as] Washington said the following about "Common Sense"?—"[Its] sound doctrine and unanswerable reasoning contained in [the] pamphlet 'Common Sense', will not leave numbers at a lo[ss] decide upon the propriety of separation." Was Franklin refe[r]ring to a "continual failure" when he said, "The pen of Th[omas] Paine made the sword of Washington possible." Would that [in]ventive genius, Thomas A. Edison have said this about a [re]linquent failure with a low I.Q.?"—"I have always rega[rded] Paine as one of the greatest of all Americans; never have we [had] a sounder intelligence in this republic." Ye gods poor [ill] informed fellow! If Thomas Paine was a failure, then who w[ould] you call a success—Henry Wallace? From what source did [you] get such an erroneous impression of one of the paramount fig[ures] of the American Revolution? History certainly doesn't record hi[m] as you do!

One other question, please: What do you mean by the statement that "he (Paine) wanted to bring the rest of the wo[rld] down with him"? Down where, Sir? Methinks it would be well nigh impossible for anyone to drag you down any further than you have dragged yourself by your contemptible condemnation of a great and generous man. Pray elucidate with specific and unequivocal FACTS regarding Paine's "dragging," or else make a public apology for attempting to vilify the character of one who took second seat to none among the intellectuals of his day!

Mr. Editor and fellow students, I have spoken!

J. R. Cherry Jr.

Christ-like Ideals

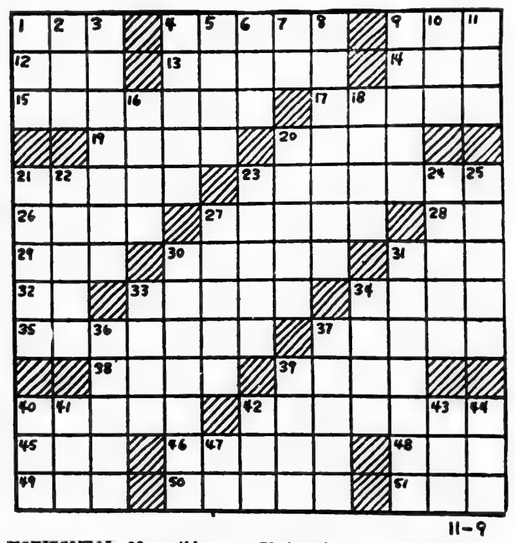
Editor:

A writer who refused to sign his name, had a few words to say about Bill Robertson's article entitled, "Christ was a Communist." In the last paragraph I read the following:

"Anyone who is content to see Christ appraised by the standards of Communism must . . . be willing to see the Communists appraised by the standards of Christ. How refreshing it would be to find a Communist meek, poor in spirit, merciful, pure in heart, a maker of peace and abounding in faith, hope, and charity!"

First of all, it must be pointed out that not quite all of the professed followers of the teachings of Jesus Christ live as he lived. Unfortunately, the ideals of Jesus Christ are not practiced in much of the so-called Christian world today.

Communists, of course, are not perfect people. But is not the goal of the Communists the brotherhood of man? And have not the Communists undergone great sacrifices for what they believe in?



Julius Fuchik, a national hero of the Czechoslovak people was tortured and put to death by the Germans during World War II. He was a Communist who died for his country and his ideals.

Gabriel Peri, a national hero of the French people, was put to death by the German invaders. He was a Communist who died for his country and his ideals.

If the ideals of these men, and countless others like them were and are similar to those of Jesus Christ, it is not for us to gloat over their imperfections. Instead we should examine more closely the nature of the movement which brought out such heroic qualities in these people.

David Preston

(We doubt the authenticity of the signature to this letter. Neither the student directory nor the Chapel Hill telephone book lists anyone named Preston. In the future the Daily Tar Heel will refuse to print letters signed with names not appearing in these two directories. Writers are requested to include address as well as signature on all letters.)

11-9

HORIZONTAL
1. flatfish
4. deep gorge
9. fireplace projection
12. lamprey
13. proportion
14. reverential fear
15. hermit
17. river in France
19. unchanged
20. slight depression
21. antiquated
23. deer flesh
26. embolden
27. canvas shelters
28. Odin's brother
29. inclination of head
30. country roads
31. power
32. diminutive for Edward
33. god of joy and mirth
34. need
35. legislative bodies
37. pouting grimaces of disdain
38. worthless scraps
39. title of nobility
40. adhesive substance
42. recluse
45. single unit
46. river in Germany
48. former European coin
49. dance step
50. American jurist
51. society bud (abbr.)

VERTICAL
1. river in Scotland
2. air: comb. form
3. consecrated
4. iniquity
5. detest
6. goddess of malicious mischief
7. note in scale
8. instants
9. male red deer
10. possess
11. insect
16. spar
18. cuckoos
20. sand hills
21. glass window sections
22. dwelling
23. planet
24. sheep-like
25. cozy retreats
27. brings into subjection
30. chance disposition
31. leaped over
33. wagon
34. exhausted
36. olfactory organs
37. club-shaped official staffs
39. serf
40. short, explosive sound
41. anecdotes
42. river-island
43. frost
44. young bear
47. exclamation of surprise

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

11-9

Average time of solution: 23 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Paine

ew questions regarding

' Had he failed when is to ascribe the Revo-
Was he failing when
'ommon Sense"?—"The ning contained in the e numbers at a loss to
" Was Franklin refer-
d. "The pen of Thomas ssible." Would that insaid this about a "de-have always regarded ans: never have we had
." Ye gods poor ill-
tature, then who would n what source did you
f the paramount figures inly doesn't record him

you mean by the state-
the rest of the world thinks it would be well down any further than ensible condemnation ise with specific and reading," or else make y the character of one nte'lectuals of his day!
stonken!

J. R. Cherry Jr.

leals

ome had a few words ntitled, "Christ was a d the following:
appraised by the stand-
to see the Communists ow refreshing it would spirit, merciful, pure in ng in faith, hope, and hat not quite all of the Jesus Christ live as he Christ are not practiced

d today.
people. But is not the ed of man? And have ervices for what they

Czechoslovak people was as during World War II.
untry and his ideals.
French people, was put a Communist who died

ntless others like them
Christ, it is not for us ad we should examine which brought out such

David Preston

ng ature to this letter.
pel Hill telephone book are the Daily Tar Heel names not appearing in sted to include address

11-9

ican
y bird
TICAL
ast ons.)
ested ty s of ows ief

uzzle.

P	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
E	N	T	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
T	E	R	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
A	M	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
L	Y	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
V	E	P	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
I	T	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
S	A	T	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
I	M	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
T	I	N	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
O	N	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■
R	E	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■	■

minutes
ate in

7. note in scale
8. instants
9. male red deer
10. possess
11. insect
16. spar
18. cuckoos
20. sand hills
21. glass window sections
22. dwelling
23. planet
24. sheep-like
25. cozy retreats
27. brings into subjection
30. chance disposition
31. leaned over
33. wagon
34. exhausted
36. olfactory organs
37. club-shaped official staffs
39. serf
40. short, explosive sound
41. anecdotes
42. [illegible] land
43. frost
44. young bear
47. exclamation of surprise

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Sun Dawned

THE SUN, AS EXPECTED, dawned as regularly scheduled Sunday morning. Saturday's game at Kenan stadium, it seems, hadn't changed a thing. The world went on, people went on, and the air show went on. Carolina's football team appeared, still a little dazed, but sporting a bright smile and a brand new sore-bought tie. It turned out to be just another football game.

Nobody doubted that Carolina is still a great grid power. They'd outshone some of the nation's favorite sons and were still the top choice for the nation's leading free-lance bowl. The majority still believed that no team could beat or tie the Tar Heels. The Tar Heels would have to do it themselves.

The locals had been fit to be tied or beaten for every week since the Texas game. The tedious task of being up week after week to meet teams who were making or breaking their season on a single game with Carolina, was too much pressure for even a great football team. Few teams play ten great games a year and still fewer teams play five. Perfection, unlike Wheaties, doesn't come in cardboard boxes.

Look Homeward, Points

THE WILLIAM AND MARY game pushed home a few wayward points to the searching observer. The Tar Heels, footballers and followers, had been taking their football too straight without any chaser. For both those on the field and in the stands, there was too little enjoyment out of the whole season. It was just a question of getting the ten games played without suffering loss and then grabbing a bowl ride somewheres.

Tar Heels worried so much about who was laying for their team come next Saturday they couldn't quite enjoy the game when they saw it. The season was a continual living up to expectations—goals and scores were predetermined with nothing left to do, but to see if the game would run true to form. Like working on a straight salary, a lot of the incentive of the game was gone with no commissions or extras for which to be worked.

The fans didn't worry as much about the games as they did on what the effects would be on the national rankings. Or who would make All-American. The pessimists sat around weakening the beer of winning enjoyment with their sobs of the black clouds laying ahead. Kenan was packed each week not only by those who had come to see the Tar Heels, but those who came to see the locals beaten. That athletics don't change human nature was readily proved by the number of Tar Heel subway alumni that went a little deeper underground last Saturday night.

'Twas a Cheap Lesson

THOSE CLOSE ENOUGH to the pulse of the Tar Heels to hear it beat, look to be of the opinion that William and Mary was a cheap lesson. And they are quick to add that the partial failure of one weekly quiz doesn't mean you can't make a good grade on the final. Sugar Bowl 49 is a tough course with three major assignments still ahead, but it can be passed.

The William and Mary test was one where the Tar Heels admittedly, for the most part, spelled their own defeat:

D—drizzly skies first took their toll. The ball was damp and the footing at times uncertain.

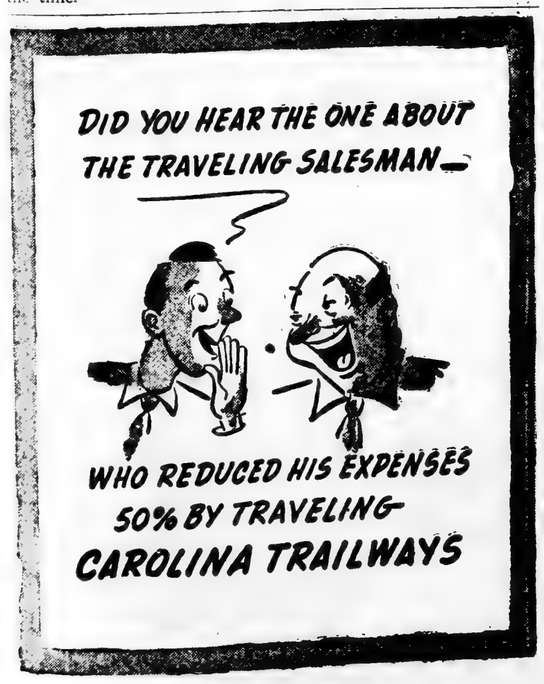
E—exceptionally poor passing on the part of the usually airlifted Tar Heels failed to bring home the bacony six points that could have won the ball game.

F—fumbling is still a vice that Coach Snavely has not stamped out among the Tar Heels. They still don't pay off on the long runs when you don't have the ball along with you.

E—eagerness seemed to cost the locals a touchdown in the fourth period. Their poise failed them for the first time this season in the last stanza, when they hurried themselves in errors without taking their usual time about operating.

A—attitude was a weakness before the William and Mary clash. It was a hard game for which to be mental "up", and the Tar Heels had reached a point where football was becoming a slightly tiring chore.

T—training looks somewhat unadhered to. The Tar Heels seemed tired and sluggish throughout the game. Overwork or overplay can make the Johnnies a dull football team. Then consider the physical beating that the locals have received in their opening six games. It all mounts up.



The cause and effect of Saturday's tie falls bluntly on no single head. It is the collective offspring of coaches, players, fans and writers alike. "The time has come," the walrus said, "for Tar Heels to go back ahead.—Burma Shave."

Back to the Roads

AS IF A PENALTY for last week's endeavour, the Tar Heels will spend next weekend on the roads. Their objective is football confact with the University of Maryland and the Carolina boys hope to make it the greatest march on Washington since the veterans tried it in the twenties. The Tar Heels, like the predecessors, will be after a bonus, one of touchdowns, to give a needed boost to Carolina's national grid stock.

The Terrapins will be a tough team to make hay with, sun or rain. They are once beaten by Duke, but aside from that, have continually seen the light of day. If observation helps, the Marylander will be all the more potent, for they had eight—count 'em—scouts eagle-eying the Tar Heels last weekend. One doubts they got their money's worth.

Which means another hard week ahead. Football, like radio, is definitely here to stay. But like the radio, you don't play it all the time.

Soccer Club Plays High Point Here Today

Two Teams Ended In 3-3 Deadlock In Last Meeting

By Larry Fox

The last time Carolina and High Point college played a soccer game, the contest ended in a 3-3 deadlock, but this afternoon the Tar Heels will be aiming to come up with a victory. Game time at Fetzer field is 3 o'clock.

Although they failed to add to their three-game winning streak when they met Duke last week, the Tar Heel defense can still boast a spotless record for the last four games. No opponent has been able to score against Carolina ever since the High Point game earlier in the campaign.

While the Blue Devils failed to score, the Tar Heels were also held in check and thus the battle ended in a 0-0 draw; giving Carolina its second tie of the season. The Blue and White record now stands at 4-1-2 and the Allenmen haven't lost a game since their opener against Navy.

Pointers Improved

The fact that the Tar Heels had such a hard time when playing in the Furniture city is reminiscent of last year when Carolina easily defeated the Panthers here, 2-0, but were pressed to the limit to edge High Point 3-2, later in the season.

Red Coble will be the man to stop on the High Point eleven, although he is assisted by ten very capable operatives. Coble came close to winning an Olympic berth and scored one of the goals against Carolina last time the two teams met. The Moran boys, Cliff and Ralph, scored the other two goals for the Pointers.

Same Defense Men

The Tar Heel defense, which has been so successful of late, will line up today with no change in personnel. Al Williams, who saved the day time and again against Duke, will guard the local nets while co-captain Frank Nelson and Buck Blankenship will open in the fullback slots.

The big question mark in the Carolina lineup is Gus Johnson. The fiery centerhalf hurt his knee against Virginia and it has failed to come around, although Johnston has played since then. He saw action against Washington and Lee and reinjured his leg.

If Johnston doesn't play, the line of halfbacks will be rearranged. Co-captain Jesse Greenbaum will move over into Johnston's place while Mac Hagaman will take over Greenbaum's left half slot. Bill Lyons will remain at right half.

MONOGRAM MEETING

All members of the Monogram club are requested to attend a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 in the dining room of the club.

Snavely Blasts Poor Blocking In William and Mary Contest

Coach Carl Snavely followed up his Sunday afternoon football discussions with some heated words directed at the assembled Carolina gridders at Navy field yesterday afternoon. Snavely told the Tar Heels that they were seemingly uninterested and that their blocking was very lax in the William and Mary game last Saturday.

Afterwards the Grey Fox sent the boys to work on the blocking dummies. The backfield performers also put in quite a lengthy period of ball handling in preparation for the Maryland game at Washington on Saturday.

Choo Choo Charlie Justice spent the afternoon on the sidelines with Chan Highsmith and Bob Mitten. Justice was slightly shaken up in the Indian war, but should be ready to go by the end of the week. Highsmith was sporting a large cut under his left eye and Mitten was suffering a separated shoulder.

Defensive Work Today

This afternoon the locals are scheduled for scrimmage and defensive work against the Maryland Split T. Last year the Tar Heel defensive line was very effective in bottling up the Maryland offensive and especially effective in stopping Lu Gambino.

The current Terp eleven has no Gambino, but has a couple of fleet footed halfbacks who many of the sports writers think are better than the famous Lu. These two speed merchants are Johnny Idzick and Jimmy LaRue. Both are very capable "mudders" and could turn a wet field in a valuable asset for the once-beaten Terps.

Quarterback in Coach Jim Tatum's offensive pattern is Vic Turyn, who last Saturday scored one of the Maryland touchdowns and passed for another as the Terps downed South Carolina, 19-7 in the mud. In Joe Tucker, Maryland has a quarterback who can more than capably fill Turyn's shoes if the necessity were to arise.

Terp Victories

To date the Terps have performed very well. Victories have been posted by the Terrapins over Delaware, South Carolina, G. W., Virginia Tech, Miami and Richmond while a heart breaking 13-12 loss to Duke is the only blot on an otherwise perfect record.

FRANK ALLSTON

Clemson Leads

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	O.P.
Clemson	3	0	0	60	7
North Carolina	2	0	1	49	13
Maryland	4	1	0	125	20
Wm. & Mary	4	1	1	108	50
Wake Forest	4	1	0	115	86
VMI	3	1	0	43	43
Duke	2	1	1	40	39
W. & Lee	1	1	0	21	17
Geo. Washington	2	3	0	46	100
Furman	2	3	0	19	62
Richmond	2	3	0	19	42
South Carolina	1	2	0	21	32
N. C. State	1	3	1	53	54
Davidson	1	4	0	26	99
Citadel	0	3	0	23	29
Virginia Tech	0	5	0	7	92

Sugar Bowl Keeps Eye On Carolina Eleven In Spite of W&M Tie

The Monday after and the nation's list of unbeaten teams continues to shrink like a dime store shirt. Penn, Georgia Tech, Nevada, and St. Bonaventure dropped from the nation's list of unbeaten teams and Carolina's Tar Heels had to settle with a tie with William and Mary's Indians. Seems the Williamsburg warriors had the Indian sign on the Tar Heels.

Despite their moral loss to the Old Dominion eleven, The Carolinians still rate as one of the nation's top teams. They are also odds-on favorites to wind up on one side of the field in New Orleans' Sugar bowl skirmish in January. Teams mentioned most often as possible Carolina opponents are Georgia Tech, Georgia, and Tulane.

Frat Competition Draws to Close; Season Ends Today

Today marks the last full day of competition in the Fraternity football league and but for a few exceptions, most of the secondary leagues have already been sewed up by powerful teams who are now awaiting for the all important playoffs to commence.

Phi Kap Phi enjoyed a prosperous day when they shutout TEP, 16-0 and thus captured sole and undisputed leadership in league 2. Phi Delt was quite impressive in registering a decisive 25-0 rout of Beta 2 and for the Delts, led by H. Watkins and his two tallies, it was their sixth victory in their fight the top honors of league 5.

In a true Merriwell finish, league 4 is providing some real excitement. Whereas the remainder of the Frat loops had their leaders from the start, the winner of league 4 will not be determined until the two remaining contenders clash this afternoon for the crown. Both Kap Sig 1 and SAE 1 notched their sixth victory against no setbacks yesterday to prepare the stage for their climatic battle today. Kap Sig managed to edge Sig Nu 2 on Jack Woodhouse's touchdown, 6-0 while SAE sharpened its attack with a 26-0 breeze over Phi Gam 2.

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

Today's Schedule

TAG FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 3, Delta Sig vs Phi Gam 1; 4, Beta 1 vs Lambda Chi 1; 5, ZBT vs Pi Lamb Phi; 6, PiKA 2 vs DKE 2; 7, Sig Nu 2 vs Kappa Psi.

5:00—Field 1, Kap Sig 2 vs ATO 1; 2, AEPi vs ATO 2; 3, Phi Gam 2 vs KA 3; 4, SAE 1 vs Kap Sig 1; 5, Phi Kap Sig vs Beta 2; 6, Sigma Chi vs Chi Phi 2; 7, Zeta 1 vs Phi Delt 1.

Protested games will be played to the following schedule: 4:00, Field 1, Chi Phi 1 vs SAE 2; 4:30, Field 1, Old East vs Graham; 4:00, Field 2, Mud Dobbers vs Manly.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Hut Dwellers vs Town 2; 2, Stacy vs Everett 2; 3, Emerson 1 vs Stan Steam; 4, Ruffin vs Steele.

5:00—Court 1, Med Sch 1 vs Manly B 1; 2, Med Sch 2 vs Lewis; 3, Chi Psi 1 vs PiKA 1; 4, Oakwood Dr. vs winner (Everett 2 vs Mangum).

TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Leslie Dameron, Lambda Chi, and Dave McAdams, Phi Mu Alpha, won the doubles novice tennis championship by defeating Frank Bowman and Jack Moore both from Old East.

Results

TABLE TENNIS

TEP 3	Chi Psi 3, 0
Phi Delt 2, 2	Town 2, 1
Bombers 2, 2	Town 2, 1
Town 1, 3	Stacy 0
Bombers 1, DKE 1 and Nash 1 won by forfeits.

TAG FOOTBALL

DKE 2, 7	Kap Sig 2, 6
KA 3, 33	AEPi 6
SAE 1, 26	Phi Gam 2, 0
PiKA 1, 6	Zeta 1, 0
Pi Lamb 21	Lamb Chi 1, 0
PiKA 2, 7	ZBT 0
Pi Kap Phi 16	TEP 0
Sigma Nu 1, 11	KA 1, 0
Kappa Sig 1, 6	Sigma Nu 2, 0
Pi Kap Sig 12	Chi Phi 2, 0
Grads 1, 1	Med School 2, 0
Phi Delt 1, 25	Beta 2, 0
Sigma Chi 40	St. Anthony 0

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
WEST FRANKLIN STREET

BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP
SPECIAL!
We wrap and mail books for Christmas Gifts
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

CAROLINA
TODAY AND WEDNESDAY
Hey! It's Kaye! He's On His Way!
HOW'S YOUR LAUGH-LIFE?
Who's the funniest man in pictures? It's Danny Boy—in the funniest, maddest, merriest role of his career!

Samuel Goldwyn PRESENTS
DANNY KAYE
VIRGINIA MAYO
'A Song Is Born'
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
with HUGH HERBERT
with the hottest men in music...
BENNY GOODMAN • TOMMY DORSEY
LOUIS ARMSTRONG • CHARLIE BARNET
LIONEL HAMPTON • MEL POWELL
Directed by HOWARD HAWKS
Released by RKO RADIO PICTURES, Inc.
—Also—
COLOR CARTOON

CAMPUS CAPERS...LAFF 'N LEARN

Build your vocabulary
HYMENEAL — Pertaining to wedding bells.
FLAGELLATE — To beat up systematically.
OSCILLATE — To shake.
HYGROPHANEITY — The state of being transparent when wet.
TERPSICHORE, PULCHRITUDINOUS — Come now, folks. We don't have to explain these.
CIGARETTE HANGOVER — That stale smoked-out taste, that tight dry feeling in your throat due to smoking.
APODICTIC — Beyond contradiction.
KOOKABURRA — An Australian bird also called the laughing jackass.
EPITHALAMIUM — A wedding song.

all joking aside, gang—
You'll be wafted right into the dreamy realm of maximum smoking delight when you CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS. Because PHILIP MORRIS is definitely less irritating than any other leading brand. That's why eminent nose and throat specialists *actually suggest PHILIP MORRIS in cases of irritation due to smoking! You'll be glad tomorrow, you smoked PHILIP MORRIS today!

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS
*PROOF! Letters from Doctors on File.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Thomas For Salary-Kickback

Charges Carry 32-Year Term For Conviction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—(UP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R., N. J., for two years head of the Congressional drive to ferret out communists, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on salary-kickback and fraud charges carrying a penalty of 32 years in prison. His former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell, was named as co-defendant in one charge of the four-count indictment.

Miss Campbell was Thomas' secretary for 11 years. She resigned last August about the same time the kickback charges were first aired by newspaper columnist Drew Pearson.

Arraignment of Thomas was tentatively set for Nov. 16, but the case probably will not be brought to trial before next January, officials said.

Episcopal Bazaar Will Sell Gifts

Articles which may be given as Christmas presents will be sold at the Episcopal bazaar at the Parish house, Chapel of the Cross, from 2 until 9 o'clock tomorrow.

No Fun At All

ROANOKE RAPIDS, Nov. 8—(UP)—Marvin Tyson of Greene county complained today that police never let him have any fun.

Tyson was arrested here for driving a street grader while drunk.

Mrs. Chamberlain To Address Dames

Mrs. Hope S. Chamberlain, author of "Old Days In Chapel Hill" and "This Was Home," will speak at the Carolina Dames club meeting Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Main Lounge at Graham Memorial.

Pre-Law Students To Meet Tomorrow

All University students who are planning on entering the Law School next year are requested to meet with Dean Wettach of the Law School in Gerrard hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Coach Bob Gets Award of Merit From Davidson

Robert A. Fetzer, director of athletics, was among 51 Davidson college alumni awarded "certificates of merit" at Homecoming convocation exercises held at Davidson college Saturday.

The group of 51 were selected as a result of ballots mailed to 6,000 Davidson alumni. The highest 500 were chosen from the 6,000 and a special committee selected 51 from the 500 group.

The awards went to distinguished alumni in various fields. Coach Fetzer was among several chosen from the educational group. His citation referred to him as "distinguished director of athletics at the University of North Carolina. Builder of character and sound bodies."

'What in the World Is CRIL' Query Answered by Chairman Charlie Britt

By Carolyn Bruner

"What in the world is CRIL?" is a repeated question by many students who desire some explanation of the principles and working procedure of this campus organization.

The Council for Religion in Life is composed of representatives from the Jewish and Protestant young people's groups and the YMCA and YWCA. Its main purpose is to help promote interfaith activities on campus.

Charlie Britt, Cril's chairman, said the organization also strives to "fulfill those religious needs of the whole student body, which are not met by the various religious organizations."

The main projects of Cril, which was reorganized last spring after being inactive since 1944, are to sponsor the World Student Service Fund drive, Religious Emphasis Week, and the clothing drive held each spring. The W.S.S.F. drive, previously held by the Ys, will last this year from Nov. 30 through Dec. 4 for the purpose of collecting funds for the needy students in foreign countries.

Religious Emphasis Week will highlight Cril's yearly work and will be held Jan. 23 through 29.

Shanghai Student Will Be Speaker

Ruth Ling, student from Shanghai, China, will be the speaker at the YWCA coffee klatsch tonight at 7:30 in the Y office.

PRESIDENT of the United Auto Workers union, Walter P. Reuther, grins happily from his bed at Duke hospital, Durham, as he scans messages praising his support of President Truman. Reuther is resting following an exploratory operation on his arm. It was shattered by shotgun bullets last April when an attempt was made on his life in his Detroit home.

Madow Misquoted On Gallup Poll

The statement in Saturday's Daily Tar Heel story about polls was in error in quoting Dr. William G. Madow, professor of mathematical statistics at the University, as stating that Dr. Gallup was slipping and that his polls have increased in discrepancy.

The interview was not directed against Dr. Gallup, but rather it was a discussion on polls in general.

Since there had not been an opportunity for Dr. Madow to see the previous story before press time, Dr. Madow had this to add yesterday. He said, "The improvement of the sampling method should include the adoption of some variant of area sampling. In that method we select the addresses of certain families as containing the respondents and the interviewer must interview them. Hence the method not the poller or the interviewer selects the final respondents."

Dr. Madow continued, "The opinion pollers have said that area sampling is too costly. I doubt that it is too costly per amount of information obtained.

Guess Who

CHERRY POINT, Nov. 8—(UP)—The white-gloved Marine sentry had his orders, and he was going to stick to them.

He stopped a busload of newspapermen returning to the Cherry Point Marine air station to fly south with President Truman yesterday. Marine Colonel Boeker Batterson leaned out the window and said, gently:

"Sentry, this is the press. We have to get down to the operations building."

"Sorry, sir," the sentry replied, "but the officer of the guard said not to let anyone by except the commanding officer and the chief of staff."

"That's right," smiled Batterson, "I'm the chief of staff."

"Pass, sir."

Sitterson Gets Association Post

JACKSON, Miss., Nov.8—(UP—Dr. J. L. Cappon, of Williamsburg, Va., research editor of the Institute of Early American Culture, has been elevated from the vice-presidency to the presidency of the Southern Historical association at the association's annual convention here.

Dr. Cappon succeds Dr. Robert S. Cottrill, president of Florida State university, Williamsburg, Va., was selected as the site for the 1949 convention.

Other officers named were: Dr. William C. Binkley, Vanderbilt university, vice-president, and Dr. J. Carlyle Sitterson, University of North Carolina, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. James W. Silver, University of Mississippi, and Dr. William D. Lynch, retired professor of history at Indiana university, were named to the executive council.

Town Men's Group Cancels Meeting

The Town Men's association will not meet today as planned, but will convene at its regularly scheduled time, Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in Graham Memorial.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—CHARLIE SPIVAK dance tickets go on sale through Grail representatives in Y lobby.

11:00—FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY. Nominations for class officers. Memorial hall.

5:00—WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB. Hill hall.

6:30—RALEIGH-CAROLINA CLUB. Election of officers, plans for Christmas dance. Gerrard hall.

7:00—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main Lounge, GM.

7:00—SANFORD-CAROLINA CLUB. Roland Parker lounge 1, GM.

7:00—COED SENATE. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

7:00—DANCING CLASS. Rendezvous room, GM.

7:00—"H.M.S. PINAFORE" tryouts. Memorial hall.

7:00—GASTON COUNTY club, Roland Parker lounge 2, GM.

7:30—ALPHA PHI OMEGA, Roland Parker lounge 2, GM.

7:30—YWCA COFFEE KLATSCH. Ruth Ling, student from Shanghai, speaker. Informal meeting with refreshments. Y office.

7:30—INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB, Grail room, GM.

7:30—ELISHA MITCHELL society. Dr. H. E. Lehman, Dr. W. deB. MacNider, speakers. 206 Phillips hall.

7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. Discussion on Religion vs. Free Thought. Visitors welcome, Phi hall, New East.

8:00—IREDELL-CAROLINA club. 101 New West.

8:00—YWCA ADVISORY BOARD. Both old and new members urged to be present. Y office.

8:00—WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA club. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

8:00—SPANISH CLUB. Dr. Federico G. Gil speaking on Cuba. 2nd floor of Caldwell Y.

8:00—CHAPEL HILL BIRD CLUB. C. L. Broley speaking on eagles. Wilson hall.

9:00—STUDENT PARTY meets to continue nominations and discuss party policy. Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

-Williams-

(Continued from page one)

Williams continued, "is that the legislators of the University party are not interested in the welfare of the entire student body. A mere examination of the record will show that the UP has not acted for the benefit of any single group, but for the entire student body."

"I do not object to having sensationalism created out of nothing and having to bear criticism," Williams said, "but the manner in which these persons have chosen to reprimand me is far beneath the dignity of any group working in Student Government, no matter how disgruntled they may be over their failures in last year's elections. It is my belief that the students will remember these foul practices in the coming elections."

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

Canadian Slated To Speak Tonight On Eagle's Life

C. L. Broley, famous Can... naturalist will lecture on e... tonight in Wilson hall at 8 o'cl...

Mr. Broley, a retired banker an expert on the life and habi... of the eagle. During the past ... years he has banded more t... 1,000 eagles, climbing alone ... their high nest to catch the young...

Arranged by the Chapel H... bird club, the lecture will be a... companied by a movie show... the bald eagle in all stages ... growth and plummage.

The High-Scoring Fashion
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL

For sheer, sheer loveliness here are the goal-getters: seam-free nylons identified by the Seal of the DANCING TWINS. They've an exclusive, patented heel* for ankle-hugging fit; a Gussetoe for comfort . . . no seams to twist out of line! Look for them under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.

DANCING TWINS
*U. S. Pat. No. 2385468

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

NICE ROOM FOR RENT TO MALE student. Would consider exchange for housework. Call S. H. Basnight, F-458. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

FOUR ROOM HOUSE ON PUREFOY Road. Asbestos shingled. Coleman floor furnace, table top water heater, and hardwood floors. Picture window. Call 1756. (4-8030-1)

CUSHMAN AIRBORNE MOTOR SCOOTER IN excellent condition, for sale cheap. See Tommy Haddon, 308 Whitehead or call 8056. (2-8045-1)

21-FOOT HOUSE TRAILER, FULLY equipped, ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. Occupancy Dec. 18. A bargain at $1200. 86 Trailer Court. (2-8034-1)

27 FT. HOUSE TRAILER, SCREENED porch, sleeps four. Excellent condition. No. 30 U.N.C. Trailer. Can remain on lot. (2-8049-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1942 PLYMOUTH COUPE — GOOD condition. Newly painted. Apply J. R. Martin, 305 Pittsboro Street—behind Trailer Court. (2-8041-1)

1937 FORD, PASSED INSPECTION. RADIO AND HEATER. Good Transportation. See Meek Carpenter, 4 Battle. (1-8042-1)

LATE 1946 BUICK AUTO. RADIO, HEATER, cushion tires, excellent condition. Reasonable priced. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St. after 1 p.m. (3-8044-1)

1946 PLYMOUTH 2-DOOR SEDAN EXCELLENT condition — 16,000 miles. $1400. Bill Snyder, 144 Daniels Rd. (2-8046-1)

LOST 12

MAN'S BLACK BILLFOLD CONTAINING valuable papers and keys. Please return to Elmore W. Sullivan, 500 N. Columbia St. (1-8047-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

ALONG WITH 50 MILLION OTHER PEOPLE would like to have from 1-5 Duke-Carolina tickets, any where in the stands. Gordon Hamrick, call 4151. (4-8043-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND — A GOOD PLACE TO EAT — Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

VILLAGE
TODAY

DU PONT Digest
For Students of Science and Engineering

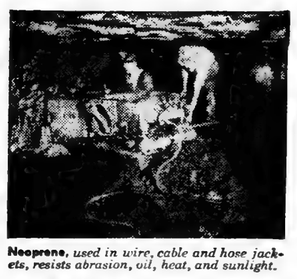
They said, "You can't do it!"

But Du Pont scientists developed a synthetic rubber with superior properties

"Synthetic rubber is an impossibility at any price!" declared a noted European scientist a number of years ago. And most people were inclined to agree because for more than a century chemists had been unable to duplicate natural rubber.

Du Pont scientists knew that all rubber had bad qualities as well as good. "Why struggle to duplicate its faults?" they asked. "Why not find a new chemical compound with all the good qualities of rubber, but none of the bad?"

They took as their starting point a discovery by Dr. J. A. Nieuwland of Notre Dame in connection with the polymerization of acetylene. By modifying this process, they made monovinyl acetylene. Adding hydrogen chloride, they made a new chemical compound called chloroprene—a thin, clear liquid at low temperatures. Like isoprene, it polymerized to form a rubber-like substance. But the new material, now known as neoprene, required no sulfur for vulcanization and was superior to rubber under many service conditions.



Today neoprene production is measured in millions of pounds a year, even though it is priced higher than natural rubber. Hardly an industry is not now using it, for such good reasons as these: neoprene products resist deterioration by oils and greases. They stand up under exposure to direct sunlight. Their aging and flame-retarding properties also are superior to those of rubber.

Three types of Du Pont research

Modern research involves time, money, manpower. To develop neoprene, for example, took six years of laboratory study, a research and development expenditure of millions of dollars, plus the work of skilled research chemists, physicists, engineers, and other scientists.

At Du Pont, research is continuous. Some of it is designed to develop new products or processes; some to improve existing products or processes; and the balance is fundamental research to uncover basic facts without regard to immediate commercial use. Each of ten manufacturing departments has its own research staff and is operated much like a separate company. In addition, the Chemical and Engineering Departments, which are not engaged in manufacturing operations, conduct research in the interests of the Company as a whole.

A typical Du Pont research team may include physicists, chemists, chemical and mechanical engineers, each of whom brings specialized training to bear on a specific phase of the subject. The man who joins one of these teams finds himself associated with some of the ablest minds in the profession and receives the opportunity and friendly support needed to make fullest use of his capabilities.

Neoprene, used in wire, cable and hose jackets, resists abrasion, oil, heat, and sunlight.

Neoprene gloves and protective clothing resist deterioration by chemicals, greases and oils.

Milling and compounding neoprene in the rubber experimental laboratory.

What you want to know about Du Pont and the College Graduate

"The Du Pont Company and the College Graduate"—newly revised, fully illustrated—describes opportunities for men and women in research, production, sales and many other fields. Explains how individual ability is recognized and rewarded under the group system of operation. For your free copy, address: 2521 Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Del.

The new research man has frequent contact with experienced supervisors. Here M. Hayek, Ph. D., Indiana '47, discusses data obtained in an experiment with F. B. Downing, left, a member of research supervision, and M. B. Sturgis, a research group head.

DU PONT
BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING
. . . THROUGH CHEMISTRY

More facts about Du Pont — Listen to "Cavalcade of America" Monday Nights, NBC Coast to Coast

You don't have to watch your MANNA—at HARRY'S

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS
Why The Surprise?
Long Overdue
Need A Drink?

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Mostly cloudy with occasional rain and mild temperatures.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 42

Dedmond Moves Elections From Dec. 7 Up To Nov. 30

Runoff Election Would Conflict With Exam Time

By Gordon Huffines

The date of the general campus elections has been changed from Dec. 7 to Nov. 30, Student Body President Jess Dedmond announced yesterday.

Campus elections were originally scheduled for the first Tuesday in December as provided for by the student constitution. In accordance with this provision the run-off elections were scheduled for Dec. 14.

Dedmond explained yesterday that since the run-offs would fall on the second day of final examinations for the fall quarter, he had decided to move up the date of the elections contrary to the provisions of the constitution. At present the run-off elections will be held on Dec. 7.

The president of the student body also announced that Nov. 19 had been set as the deadline for the submission of party nominations to the chairman of the Board of Elections. Time and place for the submission of nominations will be announced at a later date.

In order to qualify as candidates in the forthcoming elections independents must submit a petition signed by themselves and 25 qualified voters endorsing their candidacy to the Elections board by Nov. 19.

Commenting on the campus elections for members of the Student Legislature and junior class officers, Dedmond said, "This will be the first election held under the provisions of the districting bill passed last spring. It is my hope that the bill will accomplish its purpose in stimulating interest in campus elections and bringing student government closer to the students."

BOARDING A PLANE at LaGuardia Field, N. Y., Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is accompanied by sons, Tom, Jr., and John Martin, and his wife as he leaves for a two-weeks vacation at Tucson, Arizona. An estimated 5,000 persons thronged the Tucson airport to greet the defeated Republican presidential candidate as he stepped from the plane.

Gordon Appointed

Dick Gordon was appointed secretary-treasurer of the student body by President Jess Dedmond yesterday. Gordon will replace Bob Kirby who is withdrawing from student activities for the remainder of the fall quarter on the advice of his physician.

Dedmond said yesterday that, as there was no constitutional provision for handling Kirby's resignation, he was assuming the responsibility of asking Gordon to act as secretary-treasurer for the remainder of the fall quarter. At present Gordon is chairman of the student audit board.

Gordon's appointment will come before the Student legislature Thursday night for approval.

Winter, Spring Preregistration To Start Today

The preregistration appointment period for both winter and spring quarters will begin today.

Appointments for General college students may be made by signing a sheet in the main lobby of Memorial hall tomorrow except from 10:45 to 12 o'clock, and on Friday. After Friday appointments may be made by signing a sheet at the information desk, main lobby, South building.

The General college period will run from Nov. 15 to Dec. 4; Arts and Sciences, Nov. 15 to Nov. 24, Commerce, today, Nov. 10 to Nov. 30; Graduate, Nov. 15 to Nov. 30; and Pharmacy Nov. 15 to Nov. 20.

Students are urged to make appointments immediately since no "green forms" will be accepted after these dates.

Newton Elected UVA President; Replaces Wells

Gene Newton was elected president of the University Veteran association Monday night during a combined business and election meeting. Newton succeeds ex-president Hugh Wells who declined to run for re-election.

Other officers re-elected to their posts were Jim Chesnutt, vice-president; John Eason, treasurer, and Joe Jones, secretary. The officers will begin their terms of office Dec. 1.

It was decided to drop the weekly UVA quiz shows because of lack of enthusiam. A program of parties will replace the quiz programs.

History Group Opens Contest For Manuscripts

An annual North Carolina county history competition has been announced by the American Association of University Women.

Any history written within the last 10 years is eligible for the first award, which will be conferred at the meeting of the State Literary and Historical association in December.

Reverend Habel To Be Honored

The new pastor of the Baptist church, the Rev. Samuel T. Habel, will be honored at a reception tonight at 8 o'clock in the downstairs auditorium of the church.

Di to Discuss Chinese Issue

A resolution to send a delegation of 10 representatives from the United Nations to investigate the Chinese revolution will feature the discussion of the Dialectic senate when it meets tonight at 9 o'clock in the Di hall, New West.

The resolution, as passed by the Senate ways and means committee, condemns the action of the Chinese war and recommends the UN delegation as the only feasible means of ending the war in the far eastern country.

The resolution states that the UN delegation will report back to the United Nations in 30 days, making a report on the possibility of ending the war. If no probable ending can then be seen, the resolution recommends that the United States furnish the necessary money, supplies, and if needed, troops to defeat the Communist forces there.

Former Wesley Foundation Head Was in Berlin

J. Robert Nelson, recently Wesley Foundation director at the University, has been working under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee in Berlin, according to a release by the Board of Education of the Methodist Chuch.

Nelson has an article entitled "Building Behind the Blockade," in the November issue of Motive, the magazine of the Methodist Student Movement, in which he tells some of the experiences that the students and young people had in war-torn Berlin this summer.

Mr. Nelson is a graduate of DePauw university and Yale Divinity school. He and his wife will remain in Switzerland this winter where he will be studying with Emil Brunner.

Fourth Student Recital Slated

The fourth in a series of student recitals will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the public is invited.

By the Stars

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9—(UP)—Faye Butts, a University of Georgia journalism student, gets sports tips even before the sports editors do. Her dad's Wally Butts, Georgia head coach.

Today, in a classroom theme entitled "Life with Father who Is a Football Coach," she gave a tip on what might happen Saturday against Auburn.

An astrologer called her father a few nights ago. Miss Butts reported, to say the stars were right for halfback Joe Geri to score on an end sweep, on the first third down of the game.

Sadie Hawkins, Hooman Race, Squar' Dance Acomin' Friday

By Barnsmell Dickinson

The shmoos say Friday coming is Sadie Hawkins Day from sun-up till midnight, and will necessitate the postponement of all feuding (family and personal) in order that campus Dogpatchers can pool their tomfoolery into an afternoon parade and the Hooman race to be followed by a squar' dance to be held in Y court from 8:30 o'clock to midnight.

First gathering of the day comes at 3 o'clock in Y court where the Li'l Abners, Daisy Maes, He and She Shmoos, the Wolf Gal, Mammy and Pappy Yokum and all the rest will meet for a parade which will circle through the business district and will end up at Fetzer field for the foot-race of the year, the Hooman race.

Prizes for the best costumes, floats and most authentic characterizations of the day are being offered through the courtesy of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants association. Sponsoring the day's proceedings will be the Carolina Independent Coeds association, the Western North Carolina club, and the Town Girls association.

Eloise Jacobi, president of CICA, asks that all sororities, fraternities, other organizations and individuals not inflicted with Marylanditis and Washington fever get busy with costumery and floatfare sos'un they can walk off with some of these prizes.

"Dates" for the squar' dance in Y court will be determined in the afternoon wif a passel of fleet-footed unmarried gals doin' their durndest to put the catch on an assortment of unmarried males.

The gal what catches a man has him for her'n the rest of the nacheral day, her a footin' all necessary and unnecessary expenses. Marryn' Sam will be there to tie the wedding knots so that all the modest gals may sense a feeling of "legality" in the air.

As far as the parade is concerned, well, hoss and wagon teams are appropriate this year, let alone wheelbarrows, trucks, autos, bicycles, and furthermore, walking ain't crowded a bit.

Groups Are Urged To Name Reporters

Dormitory managers and fraternity and sorority presidents are requested to appoint Daily Tar Heel reporters from their groups and submit their names to Editor Ed Joyner as soon as possible.

Three Professors Will Read Papers

Three University professors will read papers during the 61st annual meeting of the Geological Society of America which gets underway in New York city Thursday morning.

Scott Wants Medical School Out Of Good Health Program

Greer States Campus Stand On Statement

Good Health Head Holds Other View

By Lincoln Kan

Governor-elect W. Kerr Scott's recommendation that the teaching hospital and four-year medical at the University be separated from the rest of the state-wide Good Health program as authorized by the 1947 General Assembly stirred a wave of interest and speculation here yesterday.

Scott's stand before the Advisory Budget commission in a public hearing requested by the Medical Care commission who wanted new funds for building hospitals and health centers during 1949-51.

The Medical Care commission also recommended that the state assume almost the entire cost of the building at the University, thus permitting federal funds which were earmarked for the Chapel Hill hospital to go toward increasing funds for local and rural hospital construction in the state.

Dr. I. G. Greer, president of the North Carolina Good Health association, said, "Insofar as the association is concerned in this matter, we feel that the Good Health program and the hospital should go along together. After all it is like having a good school building without good teachers if we neglect the training of doctors to man the projected local and rural hospital centers. There must be a fountain to provide the state with trained personnel."

He continued by saying that although there was some concern over the Medical Care commission recommendation, "Everything will be fine if the legislature can take care of the situation."

The hearing revealed that the legislature would have to provide a total of $2,730,000 which was provided for in the Hill-Burton act for building state-owned hospitals with federal funds. Of this sum $1,000,000 would be for a hospital at the University.

Freshmen Convention Makes Nominations for Class Officers

In a mock political convention in Memorial hall yesterday morning, the freshman class nominated candidates for class officers.

President of the Student Body Jess Dedmond presided over the nominations and keynoted the convention. The nominations for the officers of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman were accompanied by loud demonstrations on the part of the gathered freshmen.

Students nominated for the class presidency were Bill Prince, Student party nominee; Bill Bostic, University party candidate; Davis Byrd, nominated by the Campus party; and independents Dalton Ruffin and Mike Galifianakas.

Vice-presidential nominees are Julian Albergotti (UP), Larry Botte (SP), and Claude Burton (CP).

Candidates for secretary of the freshman class are: Howard Fogleman (UP), Allen Tate (CP), Bob Brooks (SP), and independent nominee Leonard Guys.

Nominees for treasurer are: Joe Privott (CP), Graham Holloway (SP), and Norman Hardin (UP).

Nominations for social chairman of the freshman class in-

(See FRESHMEN, page 4)

Cornell Prof Will Present Concert Here

John Kirkpatrick, associate professor of music in Cornell university, who as a concert pianist has made a specialty of new music and rarely-heard works, will give a concert in Hill hall Monday night, Nov. 15, at 8:30.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, who received training in France at the American Conservatory of Fontainbleau and in Paris, is a graduate of Lawrenceville school and attended Princeton university.

His program will include a selection of classics and rarely-heard works as well as several modern compositions for piano.

UNC Professor Dies in Mich.

Cecil J. McHale, professor of library science in the University of Michigan and former head of the circulation department in the University library, died last week in Ann Arbor, Mich.

McHale was stricken with coronary thrombosis while addressing the Ann Arbor Woman's club. Shortly before his talk he had stood in line for more than two hours to vote in the national election.

He came to Chapel Hill in 1929 and remained here until 1931.

Haydon Speaks Before Music Fraternity Meet

Dr. Glenn Haydon, head of the music department was guest speaker at a banquet Sunday night of the Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia of America, an honorary music fraternity. The banquet was held in honor of eight new members of the organization who were initiated Sunday.

Dr. Haydon spoke on the relationships between music and the college curriculum, emphasizing the aspects of music study which make it a general field and not one closed to all except professional musicians. He was introduced by Carl Perry, vice-president of the Alpha Rho chapter.

Howard Myers, president of the local chapter, welcomed into membership Milton Bliss, Dick Conrad, Colbert Leonard, Irving Silver, Charles Simpson and Bobby Whitesides.

CP to Nominate In Meet Tonight

Nominations for all officers to be elected in campus elections Nov. 30 will be made at tonight's Campus party meeting at 8 o'clock in 103 Bingham hall, Jack Worsham, party chairman, announced yesterday. Included are some 27 legislators and the junior class officers.

Brandis Speech Scheduled Today

Henry P. Brandis, Jr., of the University Law school, will discuss the arguments for and against a federal world government this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 3.

Dr. Brandis, who is being presented by the United World Federalist student chapter, accompanied Dr. Frank P. Graham on his trip to Indonesia last year. He has spoken extensively throughout North Carolina on behalf of world government.

Tar Heel Peggy Love Takes Leading Role in 'Menagerie'

By Mark Sumner

When the curtain goes up on the Carolina Playmaker sponsored production of "The Glass Menagerie" Thursday evening, you'll see a slim blonde girl playing Laura, shy daughter of Amanda Wingfield. For blonde young Peggy Love the performance marks a homecoming.

The talented girl from Hot Springs has returned to her native state via Broadway and California. "But no other place could ever be home," she says in a gentle voice that still retains a Southern cadence. "Most of the work in the theater is in New York—so you have to stay there," she adds wistfully.

The little girl in Hot Springs had no thought of becoming an actress. She dreamed of becoming a famous scientist: discovering new drugs, perfecting in her laboratory new cures for humanity's ills. She followed this dream through high school and college, where she majored in biology; and she followed it into Indiana, where she took her first job in a biological laboratory.

After a year there Peggy faced the fact that she was vaguely discontented. More and more her attention turned to the arts; she found solace in music, painting, sculpture. And more and more she remembered her feeling of contentment when she had worked with the dramatic clubs in school; her satisfaction in roles she had created, posters she had designed, costumes she had made.

(See PEGGY LOVE, page 4)

James Clark Calls Project Integral Part

McLendon Backs Clark on Point

RALEIGH, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Governor-elect Kerr Scott today wanted the proposed four-year Medical school and the teaching hospital at the University of North Carolina taken out of the state-wide Good Health program and made a separate project.

Scott told the Advisory Budget commission yesterday that unless that step was taken he feared that the hospital and Medical school would be given first claim on Good Health funds. As a result, he contended, less of the money allocated for the program as a whole would "get out into the country."

James Clark, chairman of the Medical Care commission said the Chapel Hill program was "a very vital and integral part" of the Good Health program. He pointed out that it is necessary to train doctors, nurses and technicians to man the county hospitals now being built.

L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, chairman of the Medical school committee of the University Board of Trustees, emphasized the same point.

Clark also defended the Medical Care commission's recommendation that after next June 30 no more federal funds should be used for state-owned hospital construction. He explained, "We could move forward more rapidly" with local hospital building if those funds were made available for that work."

The budget hearing brought out the fact that new rural hospitals in the state were being constructed at the rate of about 10,000 per year and the same rate was expected to continue for the next two years.

Study Groups Planned by Y Commission

The Religious Works Commission of the YMCA has instituted a plan for a series of religious study groups for the year.

The groups will be limited to 12 members each and will meet once a week.

One of the groups has already started its program and is being led by the Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The group meets every Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Y building and will welcome new members.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of one of these groups is asked to leave his name with Mary Godbee in the Y information office.

Washington Rides

The University club announced yesterday that it would attempt to aid students both in getting transportation and riders to fill half-empty cars going to Washington, D. C., for the Maryland game Saturday.

Nemo Nearman said last night that a board has been set up in Y court for persons wanting rides to sign their names. Students with cars who can take additional riders are asked to see Nearman in the Y court from 10:30 to 12 o'clock in the morning, or to contact Sam Manning in Whitehead dormitory, John Van Hecke in Graham Memorial or Molly Blackburn in Spencer dormitory.

This Is 'The New Army,' Mr. Jones; Yes, Sir!

Fort Dix Welcoming Committee Has Coffee, Donuts, Flowers Waiting

By H. D. Quigg

FORT DIX, N. J., Nov. 9—(UP)—This is the New Army, Mr. Jones.

There's a 15-year veteran sergeant here who goes gathering flowers by day—on his own time—just to put on your writing table. That's because he likes you so much. And also because he's been ordered to follow the "new attitude" the Army is adopting toward you, the postwar draftee and enlistee.

Here in this once-tough Army training camp you get doughnuts and coffee at the front entrance, uniforms are tailor-fitted, noncoms soft-bitten, profanity unheard, and reveille toots sweet in the Jersey dawning.

The new idea is to treat the draftees as persons with "individual dignity" and as "sensitive human beings"—to try to form a personal relationship with recruits. The first batch of postwar inductees now is being processed here. But as of now, the 17 and 18-year-old enlistees overwhelmingly outnumber the 25-year-old drafted recruits.

Sgt. Peter A. Walsh stood in the receiving room as a new group of recruits arrived. He herded them to their places and then beamed:

"Welcome to the Army and to Fort Dix on behalf of Maj. Gen. A. A. White."

He gave them forms to fill out and then they trooped in for a snack of coffee and doughnuts.

Nearby, Capt. Hubert L. Andrews, in charge of the receiving point, hammered away at some private carpenter work. A recruit in green fatigues approached and handed him a two-by-four. The captain arose.

"O.K., thank you," he said.

The recruit bowed with "individual dignity" and retired.

"The new draftees seem a little shyer than the enlistees," Andrews said. "Maybe a little quieter. Otherwise, you can't tell them apart. They're all treated the same here."

Over at the reading and writing room, where recruits are "invited" to write home pretty often, Sgt. Foster Vary, a veteran of 15 years in the Army and the kind of a fatherly guy the Army hopes all non-coms will turn out to be under the new attitude, explained his duties.

"A lot of these boys never had to write letters before," he

(See DRAFTEES, page 4)

NOVEMBER 9, 1948
dian Slated eak Tonight gle's Life
lev. famous Canadian ...ill lecture on eagles ... hall at 8 o'clock.
... a retired banker, is ... the life and habit ... During the past 10 ... handed more than ... mbing alone into ... to catch the young.
... by the Chapel Hill ... lecture will be ac... a movie showing ... in all stages of ... marriage.
The High-Scoring Fashion
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL
For sheer, sheer loveliness here are the goal-getters: seam-free nylons identi... Seal of the DANCING ... They've an exclusive, ...eel" for ankle-hugging ...ussetoe for ... no seams ...t of line. Look ...nder leading ...mes at your ...llege shop ...tore.
DANCING TWIN
U. S. Pat. No. 2389649
...NS
...ABILITY
STORE
...ble and hose jack... ...at, and sunlight.
...ture clothing resist ...greases and oils.
...pprene in the rub...
...ts, chemists, ...al engineers, ...cialized train... ...phase of the ... joins one of ...lf associated ... minds in the ...s the oppor... ...pport needed ...s capabilities.
...NT
...ETTER LIVING ...H CHEMISTRY
...ten to "Cavalcade ...BC Coast to Coast

Why the Surprise?

Much furor is being raised in Raleigh and throughout the state over the amount of money requested by the Greater University for permanent improvements and operating expenses for the next two years. $45,000,000 sounds like a lot of money, and it is. That is the amount requested for new buildings and improvements at all three units of the University. Of this amount the University at Chapel Hill requested $18,417,846, a figure entirely in line with the last request to the Budget commission.

Two years ago this branch of the University asked approximately $17,500,000 for permanent improvements. It received only $7,844,000. Consequently, much of this year's request is for projects which the Legislature authorized the University to begin but did not provide enough money to pay for.

Each year the Budget commission asks the University to draw up a list of the items it needs and an estimate of their cost. This the University does, dividing the list into "immediate needs" and "long range program." This list represents the most important of the needs of the University. The Budget commission and the Legislature then in turn go over the list and give the University as much as they can or as much as they care to. Never does the amount appropriated approach the amount requested, so in its next report to the Budget commission the University again includes the items not provided for by the last Legislature. It is a lead pipe cinch that not even the most optimistic expects the University to receive the total amount asked in any one year, or even in a short period of years; but the Budget commission asks for an estimate of the University's total needs and that is what the request represents. Why then should the state be shocked at the size of the request?

Long Overdue

The report from Washington is that the House Un-American Activities committee is going into hibernation for the rest of the year. Four Republican members, defeated in last week's elections, "are not in position at present to undertake lengthy hearings," and the United Press in a masterpiece of understatement says Chairman J. Parnell Thomas "has personal problems which make it difficult for him to devote full time to committee work."

Thomas, who raved and ranted when others appearing before his committee took refuge in their constitutional right of refusing to testify, pulled the same trick himself when called to testify on charges of padding his office payroll. It is about time both Thomas and his witch-hunting committee were shelved.

Need a Drink?

Need a drink? A cold soft drink, that is? Well, you may have it available right in your own dormitory soon, if the project which the Interdormitory council is working on materializes.

Up until now the coed dorms have been the only ones blessed with coke machines, since it was considered that loss of bottles would be too expensive if the venders were placed in men's dorms. Now, however, the interdormitory group—which has been particularly active this year—has discovered a machine which sells soft drinks in paper cups, and not just one soft drink, but three different kinds. The machine even goes so far as to make change if you don't have a nickel handy.

Inquiries are now being made to the machine company and the local powers which might be concerned about installation of the machines in dormitories. It is too early to predict a date when thirsty dorm residents may find refreshments no farther away than their hallway, but when that day comes, the Interdormitory council can stand up and take a bow.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

HERE'S THE SCOOP on how's come the Sadie Hawkins day exercises aren't going to be sponsored by Graham Memorial. A special program of activities was planned early in the fall. Nothing was planned for next week-end because members of the staff figured with good reason that folks would be headed Washington-ward come this Friday. And here's another point: money went to waste on a week-end dance held recently in the gym—on a week-end when a large number of students had taken off to the game. No, we're not fussin'; we're just letting you in on the facts of the case.

STRIKES ONLY ONCE. We've come across some murmurings from the AEPi house that the volitile bolt of lightning in the recent storm that shook everybody half way to the ceiling upset a fine game of poker. Our condolences, men.

LIKE "H" IN HORSE. It seems that Becky Huggins stepped into the Yack office recently and got into hot water over what her name was. The poor kid finally gave up and explained in desperation, "No, no, Huggins, as in HARDWARE." P. S. We'll notify the business department about that plug.

THAT MAN IS GOOD! We just found out that the man who carved the new sign hanging above Rathskeller Alley is none other than our old friend, Carl Boetcher. You remember—he's the one who hewed out that fabulous animal exhibit at the Circus Room.

SHE'S OUR GIRL! We sho' were mighty happy to hear that Marty Hinkle was a maid of honor at State's homecoming dance last week-end. And we were represented there even further namely when "Daisy" sang with Bill Allen's orchestra.

CHUG-A-LUG. We hear that in the near future the Chepple Collitch muggers will have a chance to drink some real, imported Dutch beer, ordered from Holland by the Danzigers. It's the first time that Heinecker beer, reputed to be the finest in all Europe, has been in this neck of the woods.

WE'RE SORRY! If we've done anything like disqualifying a freshman candidate for office, we're terribly sorry. Maybe we best start reading the daily paper around this place and keeping up with the latest rules.

ON THE AIR. All of you who are planning to stay here this week-end best make plans to be down in the Rendezvous room Friday night when they put on their first radio show from there. Sounds like big town doings, eh what?

WELCOME BACK! Folks tell us that the Adams brothers over at the PiKA house have finally prevailed on their brother Clarence to come back and see his almy mammy. Looks as if they're going to have a family reunion and then take off for the capital city.

TIME OUT. Just what did that character in Sutton Heights mean by slinging an alarm clock at a window? Tough luck that the window didn't happen to be open. Lose more glass that way.

SAD SACK. That's just how card man Norm Sper looked after the game last Saturday afternoon. There he sat with his head in his hands—or maybe it was his hands in his head—looking oh so woe begone.

INFLATION! When Bob Wiley asked somebody how much this year's Yack cost, he got the astounding answer, "72,000". Bob simply commented with a poker face, "Nope, I think I'll do without an annual this year; they're just too high."

United We Stand

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Passing Sentence

Truth Is The Best Weapon

Red baiting is a dangerous evil, and it often helps the Communists more than it hurts them. It is often uncalled for; however, when a Communist begins to pervert meanings and insinuate that anyone who disagrees with him is an idiot, it is time for him to be answered.

Hans Freistadt wrote two recent letters to the DTH in which he implied that Norman Thomas is no longer socialist, that Eugene Debs would be a Communist if he were still alive, and that neither Al Lowenstein nor I know anything about what is going on in the world.

The two letters were well written, and gave the impression that the author is not a member of the Communist party. A reliable source has given the following information on Mr. Freistadt. He is a German born naturalized citizen, he came here from the University of Chicago, and he was the president of the Communist Student club at Chicago.

In writing for Norman Thomas, I made the statement that he is no longer considered "A dangerous radical." The whole paragraph said that people were beginning to catch up with Mr. Thomas. Furthermore, Norman Thomas does not believe in attaining Socialism by revolution. The popular conception of "a dangerous radical" is one who advocates the overthrow of the government by violence.

Freistadt said that Eugene Debs, founder of the party, was a great Socialist (and he was), and this was borne out by the fact that he was twice sent to jail. "Uncle Thomas prefers the praise of the master." Perhaps the writer does not remember when Thomas was thrown out of Jersey City by Hague's police, or that he went back a few days later to speak again in behalf of strikers. Thomas, like Debs, has been thrown in jail.

I was glad that Henry Wallace spoke to unsegregated audiences in the South, as Freistadt points out; however, Thomas has spoken to unsegregated audiences on many occasions in the South—without a lot of advance publicity or trying to ram his opinions down people's throats. Norman Thomas believes in attaining his ends through education, and not by violence. His greatest fault as a leader of the Socialist party in America since the time of Debs has been that he has wasted too much time in fighting the Communists. They aren't worth it. The time would have been better spent in building up the party.

In attacking Lowenstein, the writer indicated that Thomas does not believe in socialism any more. Perhaps the Communists are the ones who forget what the true meaning of socialism is; do they realize that socialism not only demands economic equality for all people, but also political freedom? The socialist program has never advocated autocracy or the elimination of the individual's freedom; Socialists are proud to believe in all forms of democracy.

I never like the brand of Communist who changes meanings and defiles opponents; on the other hand, believe it or not, there are some very intelligent, honest Communists who sincerely work toward bettering the world. One of these is Junius Scales, leader of the Communist Party in North Carolina.

It is too bad that all Communists are not like Scales, for the party would be respected much more, and it would accomplish a lot as a result. It is too bad that so many people think that he is a man with shifty eyes, dire plots to overthrow the government, and a bomb in each pocket. Incidentally, I've never seen Junius skulking through the underbrush towards South building with a bomb in his hand.

To outlaw communism and force Communists to go underground would be a great mistake. It is equally bad to make martyrs of them, for that is what they thrive on, and red baiting gives them the publicity they want. Communists can always be defeated by presenting the truth — they have no defense against it.

Presidential Comments

Our Leaders Are Shirking

By Jess Dedmond

The pre-election political winds are beginning to blow as the Student party brings charges against Thurman Williams. Charges and counter charges may be expected for the next few weeks. Possibly both sides will be able to accomplish some purpose by the exchange, but the results now look doubtful. It would be better for all sides to stop their wrangling and get down to the basic business of keeping our governmental machinery in order.

Our school year got under way with the finest first two weeks which I have witnessed. The Student Legislature, however, is now sliding behind the times. Not only have there been absences; there has also been a general lack of interest in the essential business of running our government. I have reports that at some committee meetings an insufficient number have appeared, making the transaction of business and the reporting on the floor of the Legislature the action taken. These bottlenecks are a serious detriment to our work and a threat to our freedom in handling our own affairs.

Along the same line of thought there is another evidence of indifference which is somewhat closer to me. Upon my election I appointed sixteen members of my cabinet. These people were chosen because of their positions in student government or because of some special knowledge they had of the campus. Not since the spring term of last year has there been a full attendance of the cabinet members. But for the efforts of a faithful few (Six out of sixteen at the past two meetings) the cabinet would be defunct. I will perhaps do the campus an injustice in not reporting at this time the names of the delinquents. Since there may very well be a necessity for some changes in the cabinet personnel within the near future, however, an announcement of names seems undesirable at this time.

All of us who were elected or appointed to positions in student government are anxious for things to run smoothly. It appears though that some of that number are equally as anxious for someone else to do the running for them. It would be a real God-send to student government and to the campus in general if some office holders would start attending to their duties.

Write Away

Showing Ignorance

Editor.

(1) Contrary to Mr. West's opinion, Paine got along wit great many people—including three million Americans and t leaders during the Revolution of 1776.

(2) Paine did not follow a "natural delinquent" urge he came to America. He was urged to do so by none other the venerable Franklin, who gave him a letter of introduc to the Colonies.

(3) Fortunately, Paine did not "almost go mad" writing "Common Sense" pamphlets. No madman could have penned the inspiring and inimitable "Crisis" which appeared during darkest days of the Revolution to renew that fading hope of the little army of the republic.

(4) The "shallow reasons" for which he was clasped in t Bastille and sentenced to die was because he had the cour to vote against the death of Louis Capet, thus incurring t wrath of the majority party in the French Constitutent Assem the Jacobin Communists, so ruthless and fanatical that Stalin & Company appear to be mere pikers in comparison. Paine mad clear that he opposed monarchy, not monarchs.

(5) Paine's plea for freedom did not fall on "deaf ears." Th fact is that James Monroe, then ambassador to France secured his release as soon as he learned of Paine's imprisonment. In a letter to him prior to his release Monroe wrote: "The crime of ingratitude has not yet stained, and I trust never will stain, our National honor."

(6) Paine was not buried on a donated plot of ground, but on his own property at New Rochelle, N. Y.

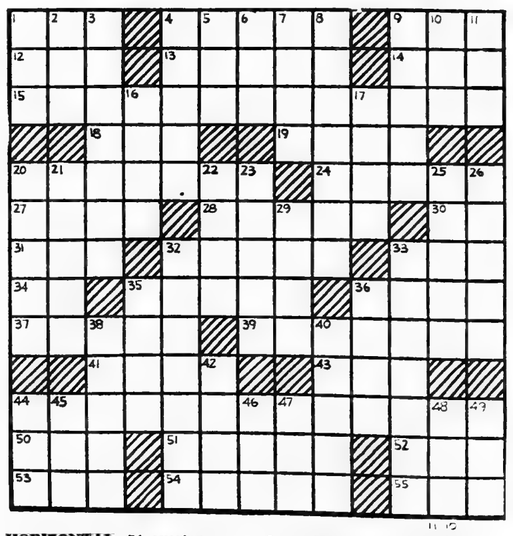
Let me suggest that Mr. West get hold of an authoritative biography of Paine and see just what the man he has so unjustly attacked was really like. Verily, such a rugged display of ignorance in a college newspaper casts an ugly reflection the University as well as the students.

T. J. Newton

Tennessean Speaks

Editor:

No doubt there have been several articles in the local and cam pus papers about the unsportsman-like conduct of Tennessee fans —not only last Saturday—but in previous years. This letter is in no way a letter of justification for such conduct for it is a fact that Tennessee fans dislike being on the losing end and express themselves accordingly; however, the actions of your great team and the seemingly shady rulings of the referees, acted as a catalyst for some of this unsportsman-like conduct.

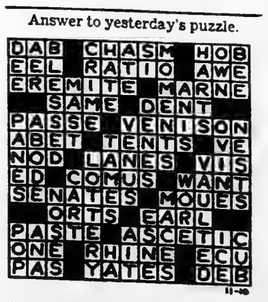


Any number of times your players were arguing with the referee that fouls, which might not have taken place, were enacted against them—just as a kid who couldn't take it. Naturally the actions brought boo's from the Tennessee crowd, and I feel sincerely that if a Tennessee player had done the same at Chapel Hill, the crowd would have done the same. I have seen only one team which is worse than the Carolina in this respect, and that is Duke. Maybe that's your brand of ball that North Carolina University has a great team—one that could probably beat Tennessee any time this season; however I feel that North Carolina university was lucky to go through last Saturdays game untied or unbeaten.

It's all over now, except some ill feeling against Tennessee fans for their conduct at last Saturdays' game—which I am not trying to justify in any manner. I am only trying to say that a similar incident in Chapel Hill might have brought forth similar or the same conduct from the North Carolina University fans.

What do you think?

Yours for better sports (and referees),



James K. Scruggs
Tennessee '48

HORIZONTAL
1. recede
4. German sculptor
9. edible green seed
12. ocean
13. American novelist
14. shade tree
15. melodramatically
18. preserve
19. portion
20. English poet
24. experiments
27. peel
28. ore-digging excavations
30. sun god
31. bitter vetch
32. military assistants
33. feline
34. Roman coin
35. fall flower
36. step in walking
37. sways drunkenly
39. became grave
41. germ
43. paddle
44. questioning
50. Latium
51. overtop
52. auditory organ
53. French article
54. celery
55. wind direction (abbr.)

VERTICAL
1. S-shaped worm
2. social work-gathering
3. persiflages
4. reads metrically
5. make lace edging
6. Japanese sash
7. spill over
8. legislative bodies
9. undressed skins
10. house addition
11. feminine name
16. function in trigonometry
17. land-measures
20. pointed weapon
21. analyze grammatically
22. give forth
23. is conveyed
25. vestige
26. glutted
29. Roman emperor
32. declares
33. transmits
35. toward the sheltered side
36. form of fuel
38. National Park division
40. organized official body
42. fall
44. unwell
45. former United States Senator
46. be indebted
47. to the right
48. duct
49. before

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

orance

Paine got along with a lion Americans and their delinquent" urge when lo so by none other than a letter of introduction

ost go mad" writing the man could have penned hich appeared during the that fading hope of the h he was clasped in the ause he had the courage apet, thus incurring the h Constitutent Assembly, d fanatical that Stalin & omparison. Paine made it onarchs.

fall on "deaf ears." The ssador to France secured ine's imprisonment. In a oe wrote: "The crime of ust never will stain, our ated plot of ground, but

N. Y.

hold of an authoritative e man he has so unjustly rugged display of igno-ugly reflection the Uni-

T. J. Newton

Speaks

icles in the local and cam-onduct of Tennessee fans us years. This letter is in conduct for it is a fact losing end and express tions of your great team the referees, acted as a ke conduct.

were arguing with the taken place, were enacted t take it. Naturally these essee crowd, and I feel had done the same at done the same. I have nan the Carolina in this at's your brand of ball eat team—one that could eason; however I feel that go through last Saturdays'

eeling against Tennessee ays' game—which I am
m only trying to say that ave brought forth similar rolina University fans.

es).

James K. Scruggs
Tennessee '48

11 feminine name
16 function in trigonometry
17 land-measures
20 pointed weapon
21 analyze grammatically
22 give forth
23 is conveyed
25 vestige
26 glutted
29 Roman emperor
32 declares
33 transmits
35 toward the sheltered side
36 form of fuel
38 National Park division
40 organized official body
42 fall
44 unwell
45 former United States Senator
46 be indebted
47 to the right
48 duct
49 before

6 minutes.

Booters Edge High Point In Last Minute

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Lux Luce

TIME (RHYMES WITH SUBLIME) magazine, which usually does most things doubled in spades, took a dig at subsidizing football last week. Lux Luce, it seems, was sportingly focused on one fifth-string lineman from the western parts, who played so far down the line, he had to borrow a helmet when he got in the game. Intimated Time, he was the last of a forgotten race of Amateurus Simon Purus.

Football subsidy is always a column full for the editorialists, especially when the elections are over and they will have to wait another four years to attempt to unseat Harry Truman. The sports writers, for the most part, just pass it over. But the idea of playing up the playing down of a fellow who happens to sit most of Saturday out on the bench, can't go unanswered.

The boys down the line don't sit around all week just waiting for Saturday afternoon to sit out the ball game. In this day of modern football with perfection sought, two teams systems, and the like, everybody gets into the act and all hands from first to fourth string contribute equally. The Tar Heels have the man to prove it, too, a back of all trades whose imitations of opponents during the week lay the enemies' halfbacks in the aisle every Saturday afternoon.

Doc Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

THE ANSWER TO THE MAN in question is one Bobby Reynolds and Mr. Reynolds happens to be the man who plays the man the Tar Heels will play come the following Saturday. He is Texas' Paul Campbell one week and Georgia's John Rauch the next, combating, in the meantime, the always-present possibility of developing a split personality.

Reynolds specializes in quarterbacking a T-team and is currently portraying a host of Maryland ball-handlers as the practice picture demands. He probably knows about as many T-plays as the mastermind Sid Luckman and holds the possible singular distinction of being ready to see action with either team each Saturday.

Reynolds passes with a lot of gusto whether he's playing Longhorn or Bulldog. Some weeks they say he completes a number more tosses in scrimmage than his imitatee does when the real thing comes off. When punting, he boots them just like Bob Reynolds and is the only Tar Heel to do any game punting besides Charlie Justice this season. He got in the LSU game for kicks and a few runningplays.

A Specialist at It

REYNOLD'S UNSEEN ENDEAVOR points out the peak of specialization that football has reached. There is a specialist on hand for most of the major tasks of the game. Gus Purcell, the con man in the Tar Heels' extra point conversion department, is a strikingly efficient specialist. He merely holds the ball after touchdowns for Bob Cox, who merely kicks it through the goal posts. Purcell bears close watching the next time he performs.

Joe Neikirk is another of the specialty crew, whose playing fate each week depends on the flip of a coin. If the Tar Heels lose the toss, Neikirk is consoled by the fact that he gets to kick off. He doubles in brass as a center. Tackles Stan Marczyk and Joe Cospito are two more of the specie. Marczyk divides his time between losing poundage and holding back the overanxious crowd of opponents when the act of Cox and Purcell goes on. Cospito is also featured in this routine.

Football is a changing game. The day when a star footballer did everything in an afternoon but pump up the ball is gone. They even have a separate manager nowadays to handle that chore. It might improve the sports pages to have offensive writers and defensive writers, too.

Tar Heels Drill Into Night

Old man Mud hounded Carolina's Tar Heels again yesterday for the fifth straight day but neither the elements nor the coming of night could keep the Carolinians from practice. Coach Carl Snavely drilled his boys well into the night on Navy field as they went through what was perhaps their toughest scrimmage session since the season started.

In yesterday's drill the Tar Heels showed a great deal of improvement over last Saturday's mediocre performance. The blocking was much better and the passing and running attack sharper. The Carolina defensive game, which was one of the bright spots in an otherwise gloomy Saturday afternoon, came in for some sharpening up also and seems to be at a peak.

Charlie Justice, Chan Highsmith, and Bob Mitten, who were out yesterday, were joined on the sidelines by Bobby Weant. Justice is suffering from a leg injury, Highsmith has a nasty gash under his right eye, Mitten is bothered with a recurrence of a previous shoulder injury, and Weant has shoulder trouble. None of the injuries are overly serious, however, and all four are expected back in the fold in time for Saturday's battle with Maryland's Old Liners in Washington's Griffith stadium.

The Terps romped to an easy 19-7 victory over the Gamecocks of South Carolina in another mud-dominated tussle last week. Vic Turyn was the standout for Maryland last week and though he completed but one pass with a slippery ball, his signal-calling and exceptional ball-handling proved to be the Turyning point of the game.

The Tar Heels will face one of the most dreaded formations in modern football on Saturday, that being the Tatum style of split-T.

Betts Registers Winning Marker For 2-1 Victory

By Frank Allston

Left wing Earl Betts drove home a 20-yard scoring shot with 40 seconds remaining in the second overtime period to give the Carolina soccer squad a 2-1 victory over High Point college on Fetzer field yesterday.

The win, Carolina's fourth of the year against a previous loss and a tie, gave the Tar Heels complete revenge for the 3-3 tie played at High Point last month.

Yesterday's contest was hard-fought all the way. There were many rough moments in the game and several penalties were called against both teams. At one point in the overtime play, the players almost engaged in fisticuffs, but cooler heads prevailed and the game went on as usual.

Continual Threat

Carolina threatened to score on 23 different occasions, but only twice were the Tar Heels able to crack a staunch High Point defense to dent the nets for a score. High Point was able to get into scoring position nine times and scored on the ninth. And even that one was heatedly disputed.

The Carolina backs played a fast and alert ball game and continually kept Carolina out of trouble with their timely kicks. The front line, on the other hand, did not get down with the ball too quickly and missed out on several scoring chances by bad timing.

Frank Nelson, Jess Greenbaum, Gus Johnston and Buck Blankenship were the standouts for the Tar Heels. Player-coach Red Coble and Ralph Moran kept the Panthers in the game.

Locals Score First

Carolina opened the scoring in the first period when John Langley sent a shot right down the middle from eight yards out with 20 minutes of the period elapsed. The High Point goalie made a lunge for the ball, but couldn't quite make it.

Action in the overtime periods was savage and the game appeared to be deadlocked until Betts made the game-winning kick.

There was no more scoring until the final period. Carolina had kept the ball in High Point territory most of the last half until seven minutes of the fourth quarter when Ray Williamson sent a hard kick into the nets. Goalie Al Williams blocked the kick, but referee Worth Hedricks ruled the stop was made inside the nets.

Frat Competition Comes To Close, With All But One League Decided

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

Results

TAG FOOTBALL

Phi Gam 1, 26	Delta Sig 12
Bate 1, 1	Lambda Chi 1, 0
Pi Lamb Phi 8	ZBT 6
DKE 2, 13	PiKA 2, 7
Kappa Psi 6	Sigma Nu 2, 0
Kappa Sig 2, 7	ATO 1, 0
ATO 2, 1	AEPi 0
KA 3, 12	Phi Gam 2, 12
Kappa Sig 1, 1	SAE 1, 0
Phi Kappa Sig 18	Beta 2, 0
Sigma Chi 48	Chi Phi 2, 0
Phi Delt 1, 9	Zeta 1, 0
Mud Dobbers 12	Manly 6

VOLLEYBALL

Emerson 1, 2	Stan Stmrs., 1
Town 2, 2	Hut Dwellers, 0
Steele, 2	Ruffin 0
Med Sch. 1, 2	Manly B 1, 0
Lewis, 2	Med Sch. 2, 0
Chi Psi 1, 2	PiKA 1, 0
Oakwood Dr. 2	Mangum, 0

TABLE TENNIS

Chi Psi 2, 3	PiKA 1, 0
Phi Gam, 2, 2	DKE 2, 1
AE Pi 1, 3	Beta 2, 0
Pi Lamb 1, 3	Lamb Chi 1, 0
Sig Chi 4, 2	Pi Kap Phi, 1
Chi Phi 2, 2	PiKA 5, 1
Chi Psi 1, 3	PiKA 6, 0

LATE TABLE TENNIS

ATO 2, 2	Sig Chi 3, 1
Chi Phi 4, 3	SAE 2, 0
Phi Gam 1, 3	KA 1, 0

Today's Schedule

TAG FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1, Zeta 1 vs. Beta 2; 2, Stanley Steamers vs. Mangum.

5:00—Field 1, Kappa Psi vs. ATO 2.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1—Grads vs. Emerson 2; 2—Law School vs. Winner of Town 2-Hut Dwellers; 3—Aycock vs. winner of Stacy-Everett 1; 4—ATO 1 vs. Zeta 1.

5:00—Court 1—Nash vs winner Med School 2-Lewis; 2—Town 1 vs. winner of Med School 1-Manley B 1; 3—Mud Dobbers vs. winner Mangum-Oakwood Drive; 4—Lambda Chi 1 vs. Sig Nu 1.

TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Table 1—Sig Nu 1 vs. Sig Chi 6; 2—Chi Phi vs. KA 3; 3—ATO 1 vs. Chi Psi 1; 4—Phi Gam 1 vs. Chi Phi 2; 5—Zeta 2 vs. Chi Psi 2.

5:00—Table 1—Emerson 2 vs. Everett 2; 2—Nash 1 vs. Mangum; 3—BVP vs. Med School 2; 4—Aycock vs. Med School 1; 5—TEP vs. Sig Nu 2.

Carolina's Fraternity league teams ended their last day of play yesterday with a full slate which left only one League championship to be decided by a makeup game, this afternoon.

George Clark was the hero of the day as he scored four touchdowns to pace the Sigma Chi eleven to a 48-0 whitewashing of Chi Phi 2. Gene Turner's touchdown and a safety gave Phi Delt 1 a 9-0 win over Zeta 1, and DKE 2 outlasted a second half rally to beat PiKA 2, 13-7, on scores by Rou Holsten and Pete Langston. Russell Young's six pointer was the deciding factor as Kappa Psi stopped Sigma Nu 2, 6-0.

Charlie Johnson plunged into paydirt early in the game, and the Kappa Sig gridders held on to this lead for a 7-0 victory over ATO 1. After a scoreless tie at intermission, KA 3 came back on last period touchdowns by Dick Elliot and Bill Grady to blank Phi Gam 2, 12-0. A safety late in the game gave Pi Lamb Phi an 8-6 win over ZBT in a thriller, while Phi Gam 1 rolled over Delta Sig, 26-12.

Graham won by the forfeit route from Old East, and the Mud Dobbers edged Manley, 12-6, in a makeup contest. Beta 1, ATO 2, and Kappa Sig 1 took 1-0 overtime tilts from Lambda Chi, AEPi and SAE 1, respectively, while Phi Kappa Sig shut out Beta 2, 18-0.

The only Frat loop championship not decided is the League 3 title, and today's eleven minute replay between Beta 1 and ATO 1 will determine whether the Beta gridsters are the undisputed champions or whether they will be forced into a tie with DKE 2.

The teams who have already clinched championships are as follows: League 1, Zeta Psi 2 (7-0); 2, Pi Kappa Phi (7-0); 3, undecided; 4, Kappa Sig 1 (7-0); 5, Phi Delt 1 (7-0.

Grid Tar Heels Drop to Sixth In Associated Press Ratings

Carolina's Tar Heels, who could do no better than a 7-7 tie with William and Mary this past weekend, dropped down to sixth place in the Associated Press weekly football ratings.

Previously Coach Carl Snavely's boys have ranked anywhere from first to third in the poll. Last week the locals were firmly entrenched in third place.

Michigan's high-flying Wolverines gained the top spot this week, with powerful Notre Dame second. Michigan was able to muster but 77 first place votes, as compared with Notre Dame's 80, but the Irish were named to more second and third place ballots.

Ranking behind these two leaders is Army, another unbeaten, untied club. California is fourth, and Penn State managed fifth place, largely on the basis of a win over Pennsylvania.

The Tar Heels picked up 757 points for sixth, and their total of seven first place votes, was the lowest figure of the season.

Rounding out the top ten were Southern Methodist, Northwestern, Oklahoma, and Clemson. Georgia Tech, one of last week's leaders, dropped to 11th.

Paul Williamson's weekly poll gave the Tar Heels some consolation. Williamson had the Tar Heels fourth, ranked behind Michigan, Notre Dame, and Army. The locals marshalled a 96.3 percentage as compared to first place Michigan's 98.4.

Michigan, the leader in both polls, gained the honor largely on the strength of a 35-0 romp over Navy.

G.M. FOOTBALL CONTEST

For Games of Nov. 13, 1948

RULES:

Only one entry is permitted for each contestant. Black out parenthesis beside team you predict will win. Write "TIE" in each box if tie is predicted. Predictions must be made for all 20 games or entry will be disqualified.

Parentheses must be BLACKED IN, not merely checked or "X'ed." Predict score for Carolina-Maryland game. Blanks must be placed in entry box in the main hall of Graham Memorial by Saturday Noon, Nov. 13, 1948.

Name..... Address.....

Time Blank Turned In: .....

Score:..... Carolina Score:..... Maryland

( ) Michigan	( ) Indiana	( ) Illinois	( ) O. State
( ) N. Dame	( ) N'west'rn	( ) Penn St.	( ) Temple
( ) Army	( ) Penn.	( ) Navy	( ) Columbia
( ) Calif.	( ) Wash. St.	( ) SMU	( ) Arkansas
( ) Clemson	( ) W. Forest	( ) Oregon	( ) UCLA
( ) Cornell	( ) Dartmouth	( ) Duke	( ) Ga. Wash.
( ) Yale	( ) Princeton	( ) N. C. State	( ) Duquesne
( ) Ga. Tech	( ) Alabama	( ) Davidson	( ) W. & Lee
( ) Miss.	( ) Tenn.	( ) VPI	( ) Richmond
( ) Minn.	( ) Iowa	( ) Tulane	( ) Baylor

WAKE SELECTED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 9—(UP)—Wake Forest, one of the Southern conference's surprise teams of the year, today was selected to play in the Dixie Bowl here New Year's Day.

WRESTLERS MEET

All students interested in participating on the freshmen or varsity wrestling teams are to meet in Room 104 of Woollen gymnasium this afternoon at 4 o'clock. No previous experience is needed.

FOOTBALL MANAGERS

The following tag football captains or managers are to meet in room 311, Woollen gym, on Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 3 o'clock to make the draws for the playoffs: League 1, Emerson, Chris Shay; 2, Stanley Steamers, Tommy Andrews, or Mangum, Oscar Lovelace; 3, Mud Dobbers, Joe Hicks; 4, Oakwood Drive, Tommy Scheinman, or Law School, R. L. McMillan; 5, Grads, Jim Poole.

THE ANGILA

English-Made
FORD

35 to 40 Miles to the Gallon of Gas

Immediate Delivery

STROWD MOTOR COMPANY

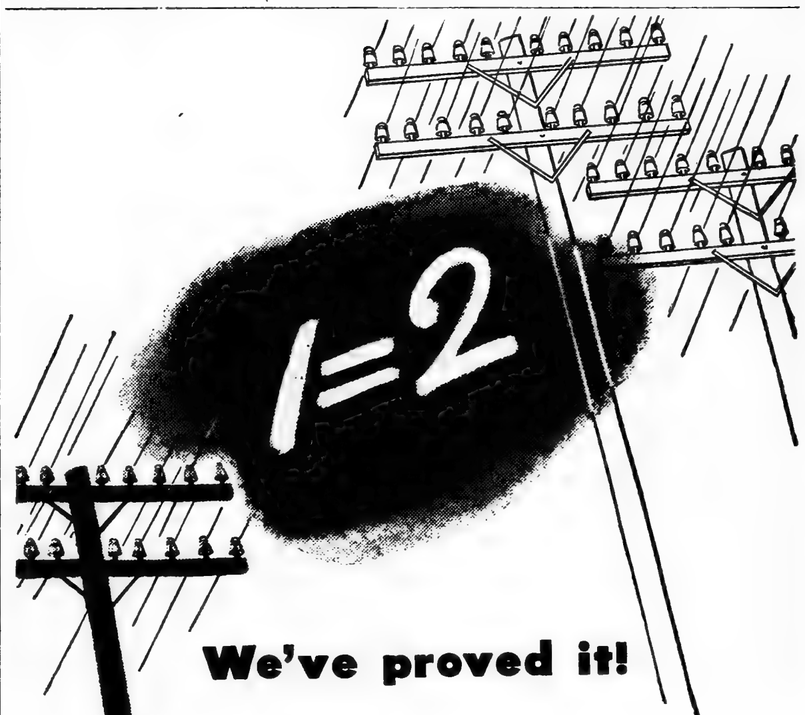
FORD — GOODYEAR — ESSO
SINCE 1914 PHONE F-444

TUXEDO RENTALS

It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.

Lewis' State College

RALEIGH



HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
Today
VILLAGE

BERMAN'S
"QUALITY CLOTHES
For CAROLINA COEDS"

We've proved it!

Problem: To hold down costs, and speed the extension of telephone service.

Solution: High-strength wire whose use allows the span between poles to be increased from 150 feet to more than 300. One pole now does the work of two.

The problem, of course, is a continuing one for telephone people. High-strength wire with required electrical qualities is only one of many things they have developed to help solve the problem in these days of high construction costs.

In total, their developments are the reason why telephone service here is the best in the world—the reason why a telephone call costs only a few pennies.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Gerns Is Elected Council President

Interdorm Group Also Picks Milks

Pete Gerns, senior from Canton, Ohio, was elected president of the Interdormitory council at its meeting Monday night. Other officers elected were LeRoy Milks, senior from Greensboro, vice-president; Frank Kilpatrick, junior from Asheville, secretary, and Roy Fahl, graduate student from Swarthmore, Pa., treasurer.

PETE GERNS

Gerns, elected vice-president last year, has been acting as president of the council since Spring term due to President Emile Saleeby's illness. For two years member of the council and president of Mangum, he was chosen faculty adviser of that dormitory last summer. Gerns also served as chairman of the Interdormitory judiciary board 1947-48. He is secretary of the Publications board, vice-president of Delta Phi Alpha and treasurer of the Carolina forum.

LeRoy Milks has been elected president of Old East for the second term and is serving his second year on the council. He is also an active member of the University band. Milks' dormitory received first prize in the recent homecoming contest sponsored by the University club.

Frank Kilpatrick, president of Everett dormitory, is a newcomer to the council. In addition to his duties as secretary of the organization he has been chosen to represent the Interdormitory council on the University dance committee.

Roy Fahl, treasurer, is faculty adviser in Stacy dormitory. He has recently transferred from Washington and Lee, where he served as counselor for two years. Fahl is working as graduate assistant in the department of chemistry.

-Peggy Love-

(Continued from page one)

And then she came to a decision.

Taking her courage in both hands, Peggy bought a ticket for New York—one way. "I don't know how I did it," she confessed. "Maybe because it was spring." At any rate, her courage made her walk into Eddie Dowling's office when he was casting the West Coast company of "The Glass Menagerie." With a note of awe in her voice, she adds, "And I got the part—I was to play Laura."

The little girl from Hot Springs had started on a new career—the difficult and demanding one of the theater. Is it worth while? "Yes," says Peggy firmly, "I think it's because an actress is part of a play; she creates a role by interpreting the author's character, translating the written lines into a living, breathing human being. And perhaps," she says thoughtfully, "in a small way, it's still contributing cures . . . in tears and laughter. . . . to human ills. I like to think it is."

Peggy's role in Tennessee Williams' prize play is the leading one. The play, presented by the Southern states tour under the auspices of the American National Theater and Academy (ANTA), is being played in Chapel Hill tomorrow night only at the Playmaker theater. Playmaker business manager John W. Parker disclosed last night that extra chairs and standing room are still available for the production. Regular reserved seats have been sold out for two days.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

11:30—Senior rings go on sale in Y. $5 deposit required.

2:00—STUDENTS ENTERING LAW SCHOOL next year are requested to meet with Dean Wettach, who will furnish application blanks and will explain entrance requirements. Gerrard hall.

2:00—BAZAAR. Sponsored by the Women's auxiliary of Episcopal church. Parish house, Episcopal church.

2:30—TRYOUTS for "H. M. S. Pinafore," Gilbert and Sullivan musical to be presented jointly by the Playmakers and the University music department. All interested students and townspeople invited. Memorial hall.

4:00—STUDENT RECITAL. Jocelyn Rhyne, soprano, Janet Lewis, piano, and Marvin Pickard, baritone, Barbara Tritt, piano. Hill hall.

4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY MEETING—Nominations for dorm legislators. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

5:00—WORLD FEDERALISTS. Dr. Henry P. Brandis speaking on world government. Roland Parker lounge 3.

5:00—PAN HELLENIC COUNCIL. Grail room.

7:00—CAROLINA INDEPENDENT COEDS association. 2nd floor Y building.

8:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Nominations will be made for all offices in elections to be held Nov. 30—27 legislature members and junior class officers. Large attendance required. 103 Bingham hall.

8:00—CAROLINA DAMES CLUB. Mrs. Hope Chamberlain will speak. Main lounge, GM.

8:00—RECEPTION for new pastor at Baptist church, the Rev. Samuel T. Habel. Downstairs auditorium of the church.

8:00—GREENSBORO—CAROLINA club, first meeting. Adoption of a constitution and election of officers slated. Also plans for a Christmas dance.

9:00—DIALECTIC SENATE. Discussion of China war. Di hall, New West.

10:30—UNIVERSITY HOUR. WPTF, Raleigh.

Newspapers began appearing on Sunday after 1825.

A Boston coffee shop was the first news agency.

-Draftees-

(Continued from page one)

said. "I just jot down a little form of what to tell their folks. I tell them to emphasize that Mother's cooking is a lot better than the Army's. Sometimes I drop the parents a line myself, If I get to know the boy. My big problem is romance—the boys come to me for advice."

In the room were magazines, books, upholstered lounges, and many small tables for writing and games. On the walls were oil paintings lent by the Philadelphia Art society. On each table was a bouquet.

At this point a sergeant was asked if it was true the New Army non-coms say "please" and "thank you."

"It's almost that bad," he said. "It's kinda hard to get used to."

A group of recruits was asked what they thought of their sergeants and corporals—a dynamite-loaded question for an Old Army recruit.

"They're the swellest guys we've met yet," a Brooklyn boy said. "They don't try to show their rank and they're calm and patient. I don't believe I could be one because I don't have enough patience."

-Freshmen

(Continued from page one)

clude two girls, Betsy Ross (UP) and Jo Bissell (SP). Campus party candidate is Bob Buckmaster.

Dedmond announced yesterday that Leonard Guys, independent nominee for secretary of the freshman class, would be automatically disqualified if petition signed by 25 members of the freshman class endorsing his candidacy was not submitted to Chairman of the Elections Board Al Winn by 7 o'clock tonight.

"Tonight"

IT'S MELODY TIME

—at—

CAFE SEVILLE

Come In
And Refresh Yourself
to the Music of the

Jim Peace Trio

8:30 - 10:30

BEER WINES
SANDWICHES

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

Today —Also— COLOR CARTOON

CAROLINA

★ Drugs ★ Fountain
★ Toiletries ★ Magazines
★ Prescriptions ★ Tobacco
★ Baby Needs ★ Toys

Chapel Hill's Most Economical Drug Store

—Visit—

The VILLAGE PHARMACY, Inc.
OPPOSITE BUS STATION
Phone 5336 Prescriptions Delivered

CLASSIFIEDS

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

TYPING EFFICIENTLY DONE. Thesis, term papers, plays. Quick service Call: F-3691. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

CUSHMAN AIRBORNE MOTOR scooter in excellent condition, for sale cheap. See Tommy Haddon, 308 Whitehead or call 8056. (2-8045-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1937 FORD. PASSED INSPECTION. Radio and heater. Good Transportation. See Meek Carpenter, 4 Battle. (1-8042-1)

LATE 1946 BUICK AUTO. RADIO, heater, cushion tires, excellent condition. Reasonable priced. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St., after 1 p.m. (3-8044-1)

1946 PLYMOUTH 2-DOOR SEDAN. Excellent condition—16,000 miles. $1400. Bill Snyder, 144 Daniels Rd. (2-8045-1)

LOST 12

WILL THE PERSON WHO "BORrowed" the red and white bicycle from in front of Danziger's Sunday please return it? (1-8051-1)

BROWN BILLFOLD NEAR BUS STAtion Sunday afternoon. Contains I.D. card of A. J. Blanton. Reward for return to Mrs. H. R. Hoy, The Pines. (2-8049-1)

TAKEN BY MISTAKE 20

WILL SWAP TAN RAINCOAT TAKEN by mistake from Village Grill Saturday nite for mine. Contact Wm. G. Ransdeel, 2 Whitehead. (1-8050-1)

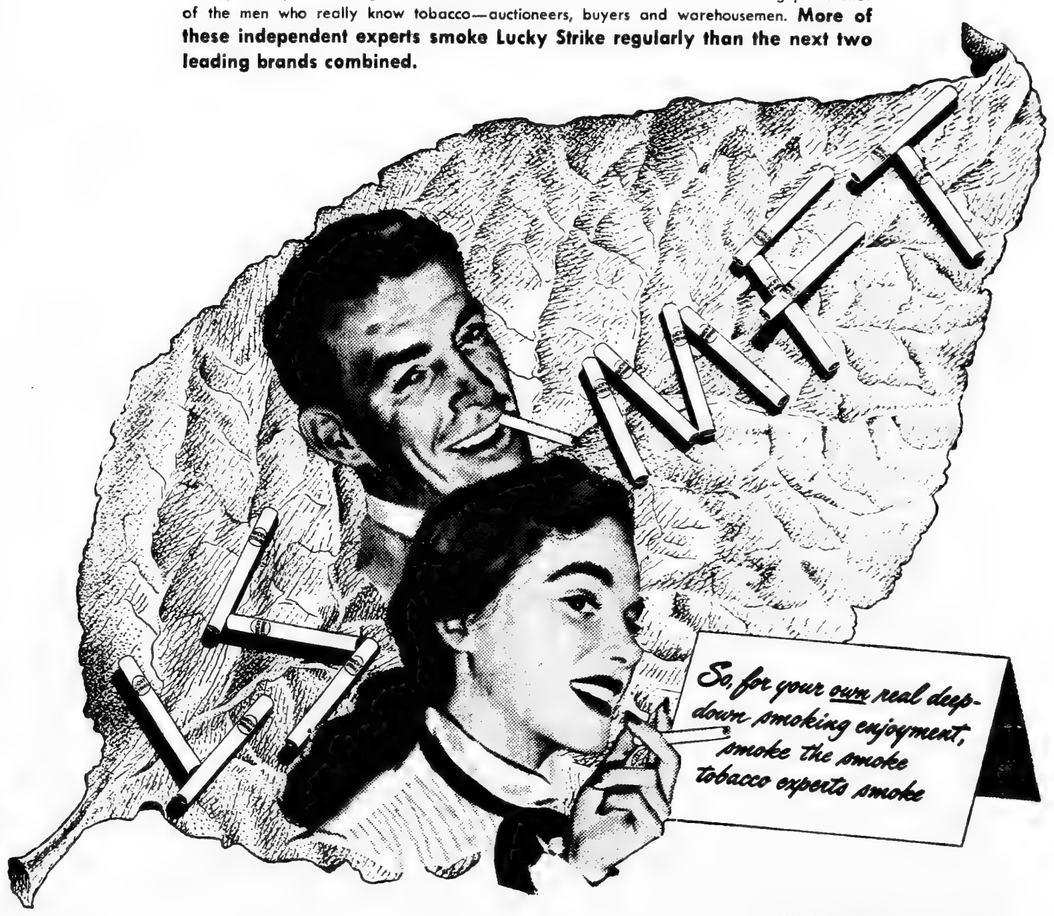
WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND--A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Cheese Blintzes today — at HARRY'S



First Again with Tobacco Men!

More independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next 2 leading brands combined!

An impartial poll covering all the Southern tobacco markets reveals the smoking preference of the men who really know tobacco—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen. More of these independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next two leading brands combined.

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO

So round, so firm, so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EMBER 10, 1948

'onight"
ELODY TIME
—at—
E SEVILLE
Come In
efresh Yourself to the usic of the Peace Trio
30 - 10:30
WINES NDWICHES

ularly

al deepyment,
e ke

the draw

EDITORIALS

Moment of Silence
Hold Tuition Down
No Laughing Matter

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and colder.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | Number 43

Nanking Goes Under Curfew; Food Scarce

Americans Leave Threatened Areas

SHANGHAI China, Nov. 10.—(UP) — A strict nightly curfew was imposed on Nanking, the Chinese capital, tonight and troops in both Nanking and Shanghai were alerted after day-long rioting by hungry, looting mobs.

The United States army began evacuating Americans by air and sea as food became scarcer in major cities of north and south China and President Chiang Kai-Shek's troops suffered new reverses on the central front within 200 miles of Nanking.

Violence broke out in the capital, where thousands of Chinese ransacked more than 30 rice shops whose owners demanded exorbitant prices. At least three policemen and scores of civilians were injured. Thirty persons were arrested in one clash alone.

Tension eased somewhat in Shanghai, where Mayor K. C. Wu ordered troops to "requisition" supplies in the Wusih rice producing district and announced rations for workers.

Thousands of Chinese queued in front of ferry offices before dawn in Shanghai to get tickets for Yangtze river boats heading for Hankow. Wu said that boats would stop along the way, enabling them to scout the countryside for rice, meat and vegetables. But unconfirmed reports said that food riots also were becenter of the rice belt.

ing staged in Hankow, in the

As far as the military situation is concerned, Wu said, "any possibility that Shanghai is in danger from the rebels should not even be considered at this time. There is no immediate danger."

U. S. army dependents and other American civilians began leaving China in planes and ships. Dependents in Nanking were ordered flown to Shanghai and Tsingtao, where ships are awaiting to return them to the United States, the joint U. S. military advisory group announced.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo ordered three army transports to by-pass Japan and go directly to Shanghai.

ELEVEN AIR FORCE MEN were killed when a twin-engine C-47 transport plane broke apart in the air and crashed on the edge of the town of Muldrow, Okla., during a rain storm. The arrow in the upper photograph points to a spot a mile and a half away where the wreckage seen in the bottom picture fell after the plane blew apart.

Wilmoth Names Dance Committee

Pfohla, Wilmoth, president of the Winston-Salem Carolina club, has announced a dance committee for the campus Twin Citians' informal Thanksgiving dance to be held Nov. 26 in the Blue Room of the Robert E. Lee hotel. Tickets are now on sale in the "Y" lobby.

Members of the dance committee appointed by Wilmoth are Durwood Jones, Tom Wharton, Robert Smitherman, Bill Ayers, Wade Surratt, Barbara Thomas, Frances Swain, Ellis Hall, Anies Day, Jack McGee, and John Stanfield.

Xrptlygbhsxuntr!

Avery Boddie and Dare Brothers Haff Darr Naiman address in the new 1948-49 student directory, now on Sell in the Weiss Court for Onley ten Penny (s). Tagget from us, at that Price it's Well Worth the Money.

From Argo and Bangdiwala to Zotos and Zum Brunnen (the Enman) it is Fuller Cude Boise Engel (s) Yoos Noe. All-good Peebles and Eure Neighbors from High to Lowe, Short to Long, Black to White, Heavners to Hellers, Tapp to Bottoms, Guy (s) from Hellen Highwater Newmon Grattan Small are all included—even Suberman!

In Des Bocks Yoos May Reid where Tobey Urquhart Orr Yoos Kann Turner Page and learn where to Byatt Cuba Coffee Nix Day.

Noe Kidd and we Arnett, the new directory is Reilly Okkey!

Alpha Kappa Psi Has Initiation At Sunday Meet

At a formal initiation ceremony Sunday evening, 38 men were initiated into the Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity recently reactivated on the campus.

Richard A. Hills, grand president, and Julius M. Lennard, councilor of the southeastern district, both of Atlanta, directed the initiation proceedings, aided by several alumni of the fraternity and four brothers from Beta Eta chapter of Duke university.

The national fraternity has an approximate membership of 22,000, and the following were made charter members of the local reactivated chapter: Troy D. Mathis, president; James M. Waugh, vice-president; William F. Brown, Jr., secretary; Morris D. Moser, treasurer; Lindsay N. Cashion, chaplain; Kemper L. Kiger, warden; Victor P. Bowles, master of rituals; and Dr. McGill, Julian Price, associate professor of insurance, faculty adviser.

Charles G. Allen, Jr., Clinton K. Atkinson, Wilbur Y. Bridges, Dwight E. Bunn, Broadie N. Copland, Jr., George W. Fulk, Paul M. Gaskill William L. Hester, Edgar C. Hicks, James C. Holt, Roland E. Horne, Garland F. Huffman, Orman D. Hutcherson, John E. Kapp, William A. Lambert, and George W. Michael.

Nichols M. Perry, Charles E. Pullen, Robert T. Ross, Jr., Troy W. Rouse, Jr., W. Allen Spivey, Richard K. Stewart, Bobby S. Stutts, Lester D. Styron, Edward R. Testerman, James L. Thompson, Jr., Horace G. Warner, Benny H. Warren, John B. Watson, and Robert G. Williams.

Williams' Drama To Be Presented Tonight At 8:30

Tennessee Williams' famous drama, "The Glass Menagerie," will be presented tonight at 8:30 in the Playmaker theater by the Southern states tour company, The appearance is being sponsored by the Carolina Playmakers.

The cast, all Southerners, includes: Gilbert Leigh as the gentleman caller, Mary Perry as the mother, Lew Sisk as the brother, and Peggy Love as the daughter, Laura.

"The Glass Menagerie" unfolds the story of the hopes, fears, and dreams of a mother, son, and daughter, and in a quiet way speaks some truths. The simple and heartwarming story is set against a Southern background.

Mrs. Ling Makes Informal Speech

"My mother and father had never seen each other before the day of their wedding," said Mrs. Ruth Ling, Chinese graduate student from Shanghai in an informal talk at the weekly YWCA Coffee Klatsch Tuesday night.

In explaining some of the Chinese social customs, Mrs. Ling said that although methods of selecting a bride had changed somewhat in the larger cities of today, the country districts still have semi-professional matchmakers who pair off girls and boys of approximately the same age and background for marriage.

"Many times the go-between will cheat a little on the ages, so it's not unusual to find the boys a lot younger and the girls a lot older in arranged marriages," she said.

Chinese education, religion, and music were other topics of discussion in Mrs. Ling's speech.

Armstrong Is Elected Head Of Registrars

Takes Over Post By Acclamation

Roy Armstrong, director of Admissions, was elected president of the North Carolina Association of Collegiate Registrars at the 25th annual meeting of the group held in Greensboro Tuesday.

Armstrong succeeded Mrs. Vera Tart Marsh of Meredith college, Raleigh. The organization unanimously adopted the report of the nominating committee.

The registrar's meeting preceded the 28th annual meeting of the North Carolina College Conference held the same day. Principal speaker at the registrar's session was Chancellor R. B. House.

Following a memorial reading by Armstrong, the association paid tribute to the late Mary Taylor Moore, who died Oct. 8. She college in Greensboro for 39 headed registration at Women's years.

Charles Bernard, member of Armstrong's staff, discussed a study of the general education development test given to veterans at the University.

Before entering service, Armstrong was director of pre-college guidance. He was a lieutenant in the Navy for three years, serving in the Pacific area. Armstrong returned to the University in March, 1946, and assumed his duties as director of admissions.

Wilson Captures Football Contest

Jim Wilson, 309 Aycock dorm, is the winner in last week's Graham Memorial football contest. Wilson picked 19 winners in the weekly poll amid a host of upsets. The only game he missed was the N.C. State-Virginia upset.

Like all other entrants, Wilson failed to pick the Carolina-William and Mary score correctly, but his was the only entry with only one game incorrect.

Thomas Northington, 312 A dorm, James L. Tapley, 207 Grimes, and Don Maynard, 106 Everett, missed only two games. Tapley and Northington missed the State-Virginia and Georgia Tech-Tennessee games, and Maynard slipped up on the Missouri-Oklahoma and Davidson-Richmond battles.

Aquinas Students Schedule Dance

Plans for a joint dance and social gathering of Catholic students at the University and at Duke university were made at Tuesday night's meeting of the Aquinas club. The dance is scheduled to be held at Duke next week.

A motion to sponsor the showing of religious motion pictures was also passed by the club, and current religious problems of Catholic students were discussed.

Education Students Pre-Register Nov. 15

Students in the school of education will pre-register Nov. 15 through Nov. 30. Assignments to advisers will be given in Peabody 127.

FELLED BY THE COMBINATION of smoke, fog and industrial fumes which enshrouded Donora, Pa., for four days, Mrs. Van Kirk is wheeled into a hospital. Twenty persons died and more than 200 were given medical attention before the suffocating blanket of smog lifted.

Washington Put Up For Junior Presidency

Nominees Are Chosen by Student Party For Four Student Legislature Seats

Ed Washington, rising junior from Kannapolis, has been nominated by the Student party as a candidate for the presidency of the junior class in the fall elections, Chuck Lineberry, party campaign manager, announced yesterday. Washington is a varsity football player and has been an active participant in student government. At the present time, he is a member of the student legislature.

Other nominations released by Lineberry include candidates for the legislature from various dorm districts. Dortch Warriner, junior from Lawrenceville, Va. was nominated with Toby Selby to represent students from dormitory district 1. Warriner is a member of the legislature and is on the Coalition cabinet of the student body president. Selby, a freshman from Rocky Mount, was president of his high school and has taken an active part in the freshman election campaign here this year.

Lineberry, sophomore from Charlotte was nominated by the SP as a legislator from dorm district 4. He was appointed campaign manager of one party earlier this year and served in the legislature during the summer.

Emily Sewell, junior from Norfolk, was nominated for a year's term from women's dorm district 2. At the present time, she is business manager of the Carolina Quarterly and has taken an active part in student government. Emily, who served in the Marines during the war, lives in Spencer dormitory.

Other nominations for the remaining legislature seats will be nade at the regular party meeting Monday night. The party will meet in Roland Parker 3, at 8 o'clock.

House Attending Recreation Meet In Greensboro

Chancellor R. B. House is attending the three-day conference of the North Carolina Recreation commission which started yesterday in Greensboro.

He heard Director Harold D. Meyer issue a call for higher municipal and county taxes to support adequate recreation programs in the state's cities and towns. About 300 state recreation leaders were expected before the three day session came to a close.

While in Greensboro, the chancellor also made a speech to the N. C. Association of Collegiate Registrars, as well as, presiding over the N. C. College conference currently being held at the O'Henry hotel.

Other speakers scheduled to speak to the Recreation commission included Mrs. Mary Thompson Evans of the federal security agency, Washington, and R. E. Skillman of Canton, the past national president of the Industrial Recreation association.

Folsom Wants To Talk With Stalin

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 10—(UP)—Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama today suggested "cracker barrel" diplomacy for settling the east-west cold war, with Joseph Stalin on one end of the barrel and himself on the other.

Folsom said in an interview that helping President Truman "get the world on a peaceful basis" is his only ambition on a national scale. No Washington jobs for him, said the towering governor who stuck by Mr. Truman to the point of going to court in an effort to get his name on the Alabama general election ballot.

The six-foot, seven-inch governor insisted again that he is through seeking public office after his term expires in 1951 but he admitted he will be talking politics "on my death bed."

After his term of office expires, he said, he wants to buy 40 acres and a house near his home town of Cullman. His bride of 21, his former secretary Jamelle Moore, is expecting a child in the spring.

About this peace business, the governor observed:

"I've always believed that if I could get across a cracker barrel from Joe Stalin we could talk peace."

The trouble with the present brand of international relations, Folsom suggested, is that it is on too high a level.

"Stalin needs somebody who has ridden as many freights as he has to talk to him," he said.

'Cracker Barrel' Diplomacy Needed

Late News Bulletins

No Meeting

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 10.—(UP)—The White House secretariat today threw down sharply all reports of an impending meeting between President Truman and Russian premier Josef Stalin.

Ballot Stuffing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(UP)—The FBI has begun a preliminary investigation into charges of ballot box stuffings in Bourbon county Ky., during the Nov. 2 general election, Justice department officials revealed today.

Hurricane Gone

CAPE HATTERAS, Nov.10—(UP)—A small hurricane lost its zip about 75 miles east of here tonight, subsiding to an area of heavy squalls as this bleak island felt few of its effects.

Ruhr Decontrolled

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 9.—(UP)The United States and Britain returned the heavy industries of the Ruhr valley to limited German control today and set up two "super" industrial boards with orders to get maximum coal, iron and steel production.

Flays Critics

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 10—(UP)—Co-chairman David Clark of the North Carolina States Rights movement lashed out at the party's critics today and flatly stated:

"As long as Truman menaces the South with his civil rights program, there will be a States Rights Democratic party and the more the menace the more rapid will be its growth."

Washington Rally, Parade Scheduled For UNC Visitors

Shoreham Hotel Dance Is Planned For Students by Capital Alumni

North Carolinians and University students in particular will march on Washington this weekend, climaxing their activities with a gigantic parade through four major Washington streets. The parade will begin at 11 o'clock at 14th and K streets, proceed along K, 10th, F and 14th streets, ending at Thomas Circle where a mass pep rally will be staged.

Alumni Chapter Slates Meeting Friday Evening

A record crowd of university alumni is expected at the Willard hotel Friday night when the Washington D. C. chapter of the University Alumni association gathers for the first event of a crowded week end.

J. Maryon Saunders, University alumni secretary, and Bill Shuford, assistant secretary, left early this morning for the nation's capitol to complete plans for the event. Chancellor R. B. House, who will speak at the meeting, plans to leave later.

Saunders said that the Washington chapter has put forth every effort to assure students an enjoyable time during their stay for the Maryland game.

"A dance Saturday night has been arranged at the Shoreham hotel for Tar Heel supporters," Saunders commented, "and Washington alumni have located rooms and accomodations for over 300 students," he revealed.

Maryland Coach Jim Tatum, and his assistant, George Barkley, will be present at the Willard tomorrow night. Both Carolina men, Barkley is remembered as the University's first All-American, in 1934. Movies of recent Carolina games will be shown.

Officers of the Washington chapter are: President James E. Webb, '28, who is U. S. director of the budget; Vice-President William B. Snow '31, who is with the Federal Trade commission; and Secretary-Treasurer Robert R. Reynolds, Jr., '34, who is with the Department of Justice.

Tar Heels will leave from Thomas circle at 1 o'clock in a motorcade which will proceed by way of Logan circle to Rhode Island avenue, then to 7th street and on to Griffith stadium.

Tookie Hodgson, vice-president of the University club which is sponsoring the activities, stated that the paraders will carry banners with Carolina slogans which are being donated by various campus organizations. Confederate flags will also play a prominent part in the pre-game festivities, as well as the University band which will be present to lend a musical note to the parade.

Norm Sper, head cheerleader, will be in charge of the entire proceedings, and has announced that a special University dance will be held at 9:30 in the Shoreham Hotel.

There will be no charge for Chapel Hill students who will be admitted with their dates on their student's registration card. Admission of University alumni will be by this season's membership card. Tar Heels belonging to the North Carolina society will be admitted on their season's membership card. A small number of tickets will be available at the door for North Carolinians who do not come within the above groups. All Tar Heels who come up for the game are invited to the dance and should contact James E. Webb, director of the budget, and chairman of the society's dance committee or John K. Slear, president of the society, room 410, House office building.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Grady Pritchard or the following Washington students in Chapel Hill who have been invited to assist the dance commitee: Mary Murphy, Cynthia Johnson, Fred Gilliam, Lindsay Warren, Jr., Robin Kirby, Jr., Sam Blythe, Johnny H. Councill Charles Warren and Ben Townsend.

Phi Upholds God At Tuesday Meet

God got eight out of 13 votes in the Phi Assembly Tuesday night, but He was voted out of existence by 13 to 11 when guests were polled. The Senators were debating the question of organized religion versus free thought.

Organized religions received a 15 to nine vote of confidence from the entire audience.

Winifred Ervin, using St. Thomas Aquinas' definition of God.— Omniscient, Omnipotent, Omnipresent, all just, all benevolent, all loving, and personified—declared that Greek mythology plus Judiaism plus a couple spoonfuls of fear equals Christianity.

"Such a religion takes pennies from wash women, degrades the dignity of man, and impedes reason. Adam's apple was only another version of Pandora's box," Ervin contended.

Bill Duncan thought Henry Wallace might be the second Christ. He admitted that the only happy preacher he ever knew became involved with a chorine.

Page Dees said the churches are their own worst enemies and that an attacker of modern theologies is not necessarily atheistic.

Campus Demolays To Form Chapter

All former De Molays interested in forming a De Molay club should drop a card to Jim Stallings, 221 C dorm., giving name and address.

Freshman Assembly Will Hear Hanft

Frank Hanft, professor in the University Law school will speak in Freshman chapel today at 11 o'clock. In this Armistice day address he will discuss "Americanism's Answer to Communism."

"Ah just wants to remind you all thet this hyar Sadie Hawkins day will be arollin' around bout tomorrow afternoon. L'il Abner's moughty worried bout the whole durned bizness, cuz Daisy Mae's bin practicing up her runnin' fer nigh on three weeks now. And them shmoos jest can't wait. But then who could?"

Moment Of Silence

At 11 o'clock this morning, there will be many of us who will pause in our daily rush to observe one minute of silence and prayer on Armistice Day. We will be remembering the dead of World War I and II, and we will be praying for the Peace for which they laid down their lives.

Here are a few figures that may be of interest. North Carolina dead for World War I totaled 1,610; wounded 5,799. In World War II North Carolina lost 7,109 of which 4,088 were killed in action, 592 died of wounds, 26 died of injuries, 2,020 died non-battle, 363 missing and declared dead under public law 490, and 20 missing. North Carolina sent 82,000 men into the Army, Navy and Marine Corps in World War I. She sent 298,000 men and women in World War II.

These figures after a little calculation show that there were many survivors of both wars. Of these survivors, many are now flat on their backs in veterans hospitals and private homes, never again able to take their part in society. Others have been more fortunate and have taken their rightful places in North Carolina to help the state's progress in the nation.

Although it is altogether proper for us to pause and reflect on the dead, we can't help but feel that the living survivors of the two wars are deserving of some thought. There is much we can do to help the disabled veterans in the hospitals and in normal life. We can work, contribute and insist on beneficial legislative action on the part of our representatives in government for the betterment of the casualties of the two wars.

Let us remember the dead and act for the living today.

—L.K.

Hold Tuition Down

In an editorial commenting on the University's budget request for the next two years, the Raleigh News and Observer last Sunday printed the following sentence: "Shall the increased expenses at the State's educational institutions be met wholly by the taxpayers or shall tuition charges be increased?"

This idea of increasing tuition is more than an idle comment. It is a suggestion that may be receiving serious consideration from state officials. This is not the first time that tuition as a source of revenue has been discussed. In 1939 an attempt was made to raise the charge, and tuition for out-of-state students was increased; but the people of North Carolina raised such a protest that the tuition raise for native students had to be dropped.

And well might the people of the state protest. There is not a taxpayer in the State but would like to see his children go to college, and there are not many who do not realize that it is easier to pay taxes for the support of state schools than to pay in a lump sum the cost of educating two or three children. There are enough private colleges to educate those financially able to pay high tuition fees; state institutions were established to spread education more widely through the state, to furnish an opportunity to the youth of the state who deserve but cannot afford higher education. Several state universities charge no tuition at all to their home students, and the Constitution of North Carolina specifies that the University shall provide tuition as nearly free as possible.

Like everything else, the cost of education is going up. Private universities are finding it necessary to raise their tuition and in doing so are putting pressure on state-owned schools to raise theirs, too, in order that they may compete more equally. But this state should make every effort to keep the cost of education to its citizens as low as possible.

That the idea of increasing tuition should come up is not surprising, but that it should be set forth in a News and Observer editorial is surprising, and perhaps significant. During the lifetime of Josephus Daniels, "The Old Reliable" was known as a newspaper that championed the cause of the little of man rather than that of the big boys who are financially able to look after themselves. Is this mention of higher tuition an indication of a change in policy?

During the Presidential campaign Jonathan Daniels was in the Democratic camp helping to compose President Truman's speeches championing the little guy, the average American. Now that the elections are over perhaps Daniels should return to the News and Observer to stand up editorially for the little guy in his own state.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed......Sally Woodhull
Town Ed......Herb Nachman
Feature Ed......Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed......Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr......C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr......Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr......Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr......Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

LEST WE FORGET. Today is Armistice Day; at 11 o'clock it would be fitting for us to pause a minute in memory of those men who have given their all for us to live the kind of life we'll be enjoying all day today—and tomorrow. Maybe your prof won't remember to ask his class to pause: for a few seconds of silence; but even if he doesn't, be sure that you're one of those who do remember.

FEROCIOUS—That's what Wilbo Feltus and Sneaky Anderson tell us about the squirrel they blew to the hereafter with a full-fledged shot gun. Frankly, we think it should have backfired on any goons goofy enough to go out on such an expedition at 5 o'clock in the morning.

LOST SOCK. We've heard of Win Socky, but this time the tables turned and Gene Hines climbed out of a New York taxi cab minus a pair of argyles she had worked on for weeks. Guess she'll have to buckle down to making some more.

HIT THE ROAD. That's the plan Jack McKeel and Mike McDaniel have in mind for the Virginia week-end. After tucking away that perfectly beautiful green bit of paper from the government for lo these many weeks, they're almost ready to head north.

INDIAN SCALPS aren't all we collected last week, say the Pi Lamb's. Seems they had a couple of the boys down from Williamsburg who were bubbling over with talent. One of them started singing one of his own compositions—"The William and Mary-go-round," and now all of fraternity court has the melody on the brain.

NO COMMENT has been our policy on the SP-UP skirmish, but we gotta' break down and be Hedda Hopperish and give you a little personal sidelight. The accused Williams was seen entering last week's concert incognito — with dark glasses, etc.

GRAB 'EM NOW! Jess Dedmond says to tell you that tickets for next week's Spivak dances can also be purchased from Grail members—instead of just at the "Y."

CIRCUS FAN? Just how's come was Joe Johnson to talk his roommate into going to Raleigh the other night? Guess he's just taken a liking to pink elephants.

WANTED. We thought we'd best remind you people that dormitory managers, and sorority and fraternity presidents have been requested to appoint DTH reporters and let us know who they are. Folks, that's the only way we can possibly give you complete coverage; so please let us hear from you.

OUR BEST TO YOU brand new Sigma Chi's at Wake Forest. We hear that they've started a chapter over there that is already clicking like clock work.

SOUNDS HORSEY. We hear the local police force had a lost horse tied to a stake down town this week. Still haven't found out who owns the critter or where it came from.

IN TOWN:

AND THEY'RE OFF! H. C. and Lois Cranford have turned into true gypsies, we hear. Right now they're in New York for a few days until Friday, when they plan to drive down for the game in Washington before starting home.

HOME AGAIN! It really seems like old times to walk into the News Bureau and see Jean Sperger pounding away on a typewriter. Only difference is that sparkler on her third-finger-left-hand.

SORRY. Just hope that Max down at the University cafe will soon be back at work. We've missed him since he's been home sick.

This 'n That

It's No Laughing Matter

By Bill Buchan

"A public office is public trust." One of our past Presidents made this statement concerning national politics and office holding. Our campus leaders, from the very top of the list to the smallest class social chairman should take heed to the phrase and remember it. It is their duty.

Any student who runs for and is elected to a campus office should ascertain before hand if he or she really wants the job or is interested only in the home town glory of "being someone at Carolina.

We are among the privileged few in having a complete liberal student government. We should never forget that. Too many BMOC's take their jobs lightly, show up only when necessary and work only when necessary. The University of North Carolina student government cannot progress under such an attitude.

Some members in all three of the campus political parties are members for the name only. They attend their party meetings, occasionally take part in the discussion, and go home to forget it until time to go to another meeting the following week.

Students who vote in the elections would be wise this year to find out for themselves who is the best qualified man or woman running and who will accept the job and work. Those people among us who maintain that they are interested in campus activities, but yet do nothing about it should be weeded out. They can be weeded out at an election.

Every so often, one of the three parties has an opportunity to "blast" one of the other parties for negligence of some sort or another. If the particular party in question has been neglecting their duty, then the student body should be told so. However, the other parties should be very, very careful that their own house is in order. It is unfortunate that these feuds break into print. They cannot, though, be classified as "politics" simply because two parties are involved.

The simplest way to get out of such a mes and forget it is for the accused party to admit its waywardness, apologize and see to it that it does not happen again. Fighting the battle for days and days in the Daily Tar Heel will do nothing but make the voters sick of the whole affair. The voters will admire a party that admits faults—like the Democrats, maybe—quicker than they will one that seems infallible.

The individual man or woman in the political parties is the one on whom the party must depend for a good name. An individual man or woman can ruin a party. That is why the parties—and the voters—should see to it that the people they nominate and elect are people who will serve and serve well in their elected office. In no other way can our student government advance.

Lines on Literature

Preview Of A Big Event

By Roy C. Moose

The coming appearance of the Carolina Quarterly is probably the most important literary event on the campus in years and gives promise of ably representing Chapel Hill—"the literary capital of the South"—and North Carolina as well as the University. It is more than just a student magazine: it is a representative of the creative efforts of the entire region called the "South."

Slated to appear around December 1, the Quarterly is unique in that it combines the talents of professionals with aspiring amateurs, attempting to bridge that heretofore seemingly impossible gap that separates the two. Skeptics by the scores avowed that such a project could never materialize, that established writers would refuse to appear under the same cover with unknowns.

But a look at the first issue will reveal that the "impossible" has been done. First, the Quarterly is a 72 page publication. That alone is monumental among student literary magazines. And included in those pages is such a variety of articles, stories, poems, essays, and book reviews that every reader will surely find something that will please him.

The cover was designed by Bill Harrison, well known artist, who has gained an immensity of fame by his work on the card stunts. He has chosen a plaque, familiar to all students, that is a worthy representation of the University and Chapel Hill. In fact, the cover alone will surprise, for it is probably the most unpretentious and yet the most distinctive seen among college publications.

And listed as authors of the articles is a group of illustrious writers that few professional quarterlies can equal. Here they are as they appear:

Dr. Hardin Craig, eminent among scholars and long a crusader for a renaissance in writing, has prepared the introduction of the Quarterly, entitled "A Literary Renaissance at the University of North Carolina."

Next is Dr. Archibald Henderson's article on "George Bernard Shaw and Communism", in which he traces Shaw's various phases of political thought, culminating in communism. Dr. Henderson, who has published upwards of three dozen books, needs no introduction to the student. He probably knows Shaw better than Shaw knows himself.

The movie industry is covered by Paul Green, noted poet, playwright and novelist, in his article entitled "Custodian of Greatness—Some Notes on the Movies," wherein he analyzes the movie industry as a medium for art as well as its shortcomings.

The history of the proposed medical school is reviewed by Dr. Coppridge of Duke University, one of the most diligent workers for the establishment of a four-year medical school here.

In a standard feature called "The Southern Writer," to appear in each issue, Mr. Agatha Boyd Adams has chosen Paul Green as "Poet-Playwright" to analyze. Here will be found a discussion of Green's major works and the factors that have contributed to his greatness as a playwright of the people.

For this issue the short stories and poetry have all been written by students, and again the variety is noticeable. A discussion of the works here would mar the freshness of discovery by the reader. They will help to make this first edition a collector's item.

In summation, we can only echo the words of Paul Green concerning the Carolina Quarterly: "There is a great chance for such a publication here in Chapel Hill, the new literary capital of the South, and I'm sure the students, the faculty and the public will rally to the idea."

The New Tarnation

Humor Mag Has Improved

By Bill Buchan

Tarnation is well on the road to becoming a real humor magazine as student readers will discover today when the first fall issue is delivered to their doors. It is by far, in this writer's opinion, the best issue the staff has produced to date.

Readers will find laughable, or at least, funny material on practically every page. Their few technical faults are hardly noticeable and except for a few immaterial proof-Errors, the copy is perfect.

On the actual content of the new mag, Tookie Hodgson, Jim Henderson, Bob Smith, Charlie Burns, Bill Kellman and Fred Burgess have contributed pieces of work that range from excellent to good. Smith's story on the invasion of Shmoos in Chapel Hill will produce numerous smiles in line with the current participation of said Shmoos in the impending Sadie Hawkins day race. Jack Niles' accompanying illustration add to the story, but don't try to make sense out of them unless you read the story at the same time.

Tookie Hodgson comes through with his usual letter feature, this one being a little different and an improvement on some of the others. Charlie Burns produces a good personality sketch on Ben of Harry's that will be enjoyed by the patrons of that famed drinking and dining place. Jim Henderson's "Ungo the Great" is a different angle that fits in well with the current football fever. His "Ungo" materializes into a real personality. Bill Kellam's football anecdotes are good, but they could have been better. That, however, is not Kellam's fault, unless he had better jokes to pick from and made the choice himself. Burgess' little item on the atom war is nice and interesting reading but something seems to be lacking.

On the poets side of the ledger, Dave Sharpe's "The Last Minute Man" is an excellent production. Tom Wharton's illustration adds to it's value. The two ads alongside the poem, however, seem definately out of place. Plain copy would have been much neater there. Charlie Joyner's parody on "The Spider and the Fly" will provide evil thoughts for evil readers. It's a good poem (?) and shows a lot of ingenuity. Readers will be surprised to learn that Joyner had only to change six or seven words in the original to produce the parody.

The jokes, even if most of them are stolen, are good. Bill Harrison produced his usual fine cover and Tom Wharton's one cartoon is good. There should be more of them, however. Campus eyes will be lifted over the "Mardi Gras" ad and the Y court cartoon in the back of the book. Said cartoon may have been printed because the staff "couldn't resist reprinting it," but from here it looks like a well known space filler. As for the "Mardi Gras" Ad, it merely proves that the magazine was scheduled to be distributed at least a week before it finally came out. If the Sound and Fury people don't mind, then why should we? The same thing happened, however, last year with a state political ad.

The Village Spectator, they keep telling me, is the best thing in Tarnation. I thoroughly enjoyed some items in it, but a couple are dense to me. Evidently the entire staff contributes to that section. If they do so, then there must be more than enough articles to select from. A little better selection in the future might help, but then I am only me. Incidentwe'll be able to have it on time, was the "mother, brother, sister, father cousin" routine which runs throughout the book, it is a miserable failure. With emphasis on miserable.

Write Away

Respects Initiative

Editor:

Attention Lincoln Kan:

Last Thursday you wrote an editorial on the election President Truman. I agree with you in that the President was elected by the people and deserves the victory. I also think President Truman recognizes his responsibilities and will strive diligently to fulfill them. However, I disagree with you the defeat of Strom Thurmond. You said, "Thurmond did carry a few states, but the people of this nation condoned the action of these states, because they knew that education was stressed lacking there; otherwise there would have been an abhorrence of anything that smacked of the riders of the night—the Klan."

I am from South Carolina, one of the states which, as you so neatly put it, "still lack education." I admit that my state along with Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, does not have an educational system anywhere equal that of New York and other northern states. But I do not believe that because these people of these states voted for Thurmond indicates that they are a bunch of ignoramuses. I do not agree with Mr. Thurmond on all of his policies, and neither do I believe him to be the man for president, but, with many people of the South, I respect him for having the initiative to fight a party that has partially forgotten the interests of the South. The absence of this initiative, and the fear that they might be left out in the event of a Truman victory, might explain why some of the "less ignorant" Southern states clung rather feebly to President Truman's coattails. And speaking of education, the statistics show that in your own home state of New York, more than 500,000 "educated New Yorkers" cast their ballot for Henry Wallace. I deem this proof that something is lacking there too—possibly common sense.

A. Frank M

One For The Polls

Editor:

Permit me to interrupt the jubilation of the Party long enough to clear up what seems to be a general misconception, that is that the States Rights Democrats are crushed and completely vanquished by the results of the election. On the contrary, we seem to be the only group the polls were right about. Thurmond carried the four states and minorities in others that he was slated to. We have nothing to be particularly elated, surprised or disappointed over as far as our own results in the election go. Our time to be disappointed was months ago when we failed to receive support from many like-minded Southern Democrats.

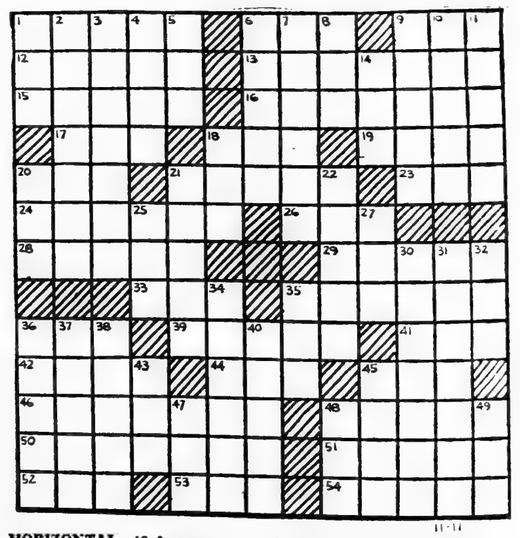
On the whole we think our position in the election was honest and would not have been at all impractical if it had received the complete support of the South. Also, we cannot help wondering what would have been the position of many Southern Democrats had it not seemed so obvious that Dewey would win. As to what the future of the States Rights movement in the South is I cannot venture saying, but it would seem to depend in large measure on the future legislation of Congress.

Bryan G

Learn All You Can

Editor:

To The Students From a Student:

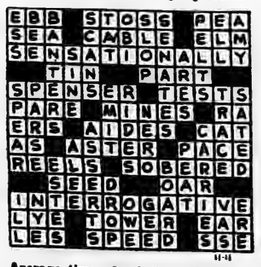


Learn as much as you can now, while you can; because in a few years you may wish that you had learned some of the things which you may consider the most insignificant now.

Every little thing which you and I learn, equips us better for the future. We do not know what the future holds for us so let us be prepared, as well as possible, for the worst as well as the best.

Sometimes it is very difficult to see any immediate advantage to studying and learning, but it will really pay off in the long run.

Some points that it might be well to remember are as follows: (1) Tackle your lessons with a determination. (2) Develop a great interest in your studies. (It is much easier to study and learn something in which you have a great interest.) And above all remember (3) Nothing great is ever accomplished without enthusiasm.



Lowell C. Perry, Jr.

HORIZONTAL
1. city in Egypt
6. palm leaf
9. Syrian garment
12. external
13. roams
15. negotiate
16. brings consequence upon
17. wander
18. insane
19. delete
20. cry of lamb
21. lateral boundaries
23. clear profit
24. be present
26. click beetle
28. weave rope
29. Italian
33. lamprey
35. discount
36. public vehicle
39. strolls
41. file
42. spoken
44. ocean
45. transgression
46. oxygenated
48. frenzy
50. administrator
51. deputy
52. spread for drying
53. our country (abbr.)
54. shield

VERTICAL
1. small bed
2. golden
3. repeat
4. back
5. worthless bit
6. mountain nymph
7. came ashore
8. Scandinavian territorial division
9. foreign
10. reigning social beauty
11. piece of property
14. wicked
18. among (poet.)
20. impediment
21. scoff
22. afflictions
25. twilight
27. steal
30. sailor
31. expiating
32. unused
34. defeated contestants
35. the turmeric
36. seashore
37. rugged mountain spur
38. exposed
40. primitive Ceylonese
43. legal science
45. Scandinavian narrative
47. Greek letter
48. small rug
49. consumed food

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

tive

on the election of t the President was ictory. I also think
ities and will strive agree with you on Thurmond did carry condoned the action education was still been an abhorrence
ne night—the Klan."
tates which, as you
limit that my state, ippi, does not have
of New York and e that because the indicates that they with Mr. Thurmond lieve him to be the
of the South, I ret a party that has
ith. The absence of ght be left out in plain why some of rather feebly to of education, the
of New York, more st their ballot for mething is lacking

A. Frank Moore

Polls

Party long enough sconception, that is and completely
On the contrary, we ght about. Thurmond others that he was
ly elated, surprised,
sults in the election
when we failed
Southern Democrats.
ction was honest,
if it had received cannot help wonder-any Southern Demo-ewey would win. As vement in the South to depend in Congress.

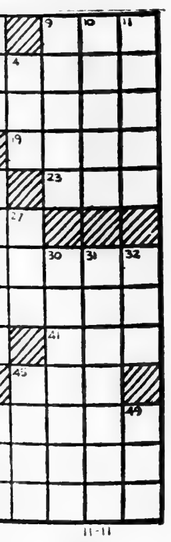
Bryan Griswold



Can

can because in a ed some of the things can't now.
arn, equips us better future holds for us;
for the worst as well

immediate advantage
y pay off in the long ctures are as follows:

ation. (2) Develop a easier to study and interest.) And above accomplished without

Lowell C. Perry, Jr.

11-11

9. foreign
10. reigning social beauty
11. piece of property
14. wicked
18. among (poet.)
20. impediment
21. scoff
22. afflictions
25. twilight
27. steal
30. sailor
31. expiating
32. unused
34. defeated contestants
35. the turmeric
36. seashore
37. rugged mountain spur
38. exposed
40. primitive Ceylonese
43. legal science
45. Scandinavian narrative
47. Greek letter
48. small rug
49. consumed food

MONOGRAM MUSINGS

By Bill Pritchard

Something New . . .

The Monogram Club initiated something new in the way of interesting meetings Tuesday. Under the able leadership of Nemo Nearman, the newly-formed attendance committee gave notice of things to come when it presented as guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Vic Huggins, president of the local Merchants Association and owner of Huggin's Hardware Co. To say merely that the speaker was entertaining would be a gross understatement and a direct insult to his fine talk. Also, one could never say that Mr. Huggins was a dry speaker without having to reckon with a letterman who heard his speech last Tuesday night.

Quite naturally, the gist of Mr. Huggin's talk was Carolina and the Monogram. As he very vividly painted a visual C—A—R—O—L—I—N—A on the wall of the dining room and then elaborated upon the meaning of the individual letters, he kept the fellows virtually in stitches with side remarks and jokes; while at the same time, putting his point over very neatly and completely as to the meaning behind the school name, and what it stands for. Mr. Huggins was, also, very generous with his praise of the club and the work that it and its members are doing on the campus at this time. He expressed his gratitude for having been chosen as the initial guest speaker of the club and assured all that he had been greatly flattered by the invitation. If the club is lucky enough to secure a speaker each week as interesting as last Tuesday's, it will be only a very short while before the attendance has tripled itself.

Cordon to Speak Next

Incidently, it was announced that next week's guest for the evening will be Mr. Norman Cordon, recently of Metropolitan Opera fame. This announcement upholds Nearman's promise to furnish the club with an outstanding speaker at each meeting.

Aside from presenting these men each week, Chairman Nearman is working on other means for arousing interest and raising attendance at meetings. He has not yet revealed further plans, but is devoting all of his spare time to the job, and if the fact that attendance last Tuesday was increased 25 per cent over previous meetings is at all indiactive,, then future attendance should increase progressively. At any rate it's a fine start, so keep up the good work, Nemo.

Tennessee Movies Tonight

Tonight, at 7:15 in Memorial Hall, the Monogram Club will again, take up its policy of showing the films of the past football games. This program was discontinued four weeks ago due to the fact that Memorial Hall was not available for this use. However, it is hoped that the club will be able to present the rest of the games without lapse.

There will be a double feature showing tonight as the Tennessee and William and Mary games are both on the agenda to provide thrills and anguish for the paying customers. That's right, folks, paying customers. The club is following through on its original plan of charging a $.25 admission fee to all comers for pictures of away-from-home games, with the proceeds going to the very worthy local polio fund; which, as everyone is well aware, has been greatly overworked and almost completely drained of funds during the past epidemic. It's a fine cause and two excellent movies, so let's turn out a good crowd tonight at 7:15.

The Added Attraction

s an added attraction, at great expense (he's getting in free) and trouble (it took no end of coaxing) to the club, that noted wit and sports announcer, Art Weiner, has been contracted to narrate the proceedings. This within itself will be worth the price of admission as this nationally-known voice specialist will fill the Hall with his witty comments and subtle (?) humor throughout the pictures.

Dook Weekend P–Rade . . .

As an anti-climax to the big game Saturday, November 20th, there will be a gigantic float parade through the middle of town and the campus with all interested organizations invited and encouraged to participate. It will mark the first time that anything of this size and nature has been attempted in these parts, and much enthusiasm and interest has already been aroused. The idea, of course, is to build the float around a car, or in some form as to permit mobility, with the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity presenting four large trophies to the winning organizations with respect to originality, best, cleverest, etc. It should be a great success, and another feather in the cap of the reactivated University Club, competently headed by Joe Ward. The Monogram Club would like to add its endorsement to the idea, wishing it the most of success and encouraging everyone to join in.

FRATERNITY STANDINGS

LEAGUE 1

	W.	L.
Zeta 2	7	0
[illegible] Psi	5	2
[illegible]bda Chi 2	5	2
[illegible] Phi 1	4	3
SAE 2	3	4
Sig Eps	2	5
Kappa Alpha 2	1	6
Phi Delta Chi	1	6

LEAGUE 2

	W.	L.
[illegible] Kappa Phi	7	0
Sigma Nu 1	6	1
[illegible] Gam 1	5	2
Kappa Alpha 1	4	3
Delta Sig Pi	3	4
[illegible]	2	5
[illegible] E 1	1	6
[illegible] Delt 2	0	7

LEAGUE 3

	W.	L.
[illegible] 1	6	0
DKE 2	6	1
[illegible]-Kappa Sig 2	5	1
[illegible]PO 1	4	3
[illegible] Lambda Phi	3	4
PiKA 2	2	5
Zeta	1	6
Lambda Chi 1	0	7

LEAGUE 4

	W.	L.
Kappa Sig 1	7	0
SAE 1	6	1
x-Kappa Psi	4	2
x-ATO 2	4	2
Kappa Alpha 3	3	4
Phi Gam 2	2	5
AEPi	1	6
Sigma Nu 2	0	7

LEAGUE 5

	W.	L.
Phi Delt 1	7	0
Phi Kap Sig	5	2
Sigma Chi	5	2
PiKA 1	5	2
x-Zeta 1	2	4
St. Anthony	2	5
Chi Phi 2	1	6
x-Beta 2	0	6

x-Have not completed season.

Tar Heel Harriers Defeat State Team, 22-33

Frosh, Jayvees Lose to Wolfcubs In Raleigh Meet

RALEIGH, Nov. 10. — Coach Dale Ranson's University of North Carolina cross country squad, paced by veteran Sam Magill, defeated N. C. State here today, 22-33. However, the Tar Heels dropped freshman and jayvee meets to the Wolfpack 34-21 and 34-24, respectively.

In the varsity meet, Magill placed first for the sixth straight time. His time for the four mile course was 23:08, 11 seconds ahead of State's Dubow, who placed second with a time of 23:19.

The Tar Heels and Wolfpack each placed five men in the top ten, but Carolina copped first, third, fourth, sixth and eighth places to win by 11 points.

Julian McKenzie, who has been improving with every meet, placed third and was followed by teammate Frank Hooper. Jim Hunt placed sixth for the Tar Heels and John Ross rounded out the top five with eighth place.

Otis Huneycutt managed a first place in the jayvee meet for the Tar Heels, with a winning time of 14:24 over a 2.5 mile course. However only two others managed to place in the top ten, giving the victory to State.

Gordon Hamrick paced the freshmen in their losing effort with a 13.27 time, good for second place over the 2.5 mile course. But the Wolfcubs again managed to dominate the top ten spots.

The summary of the varsity meet:

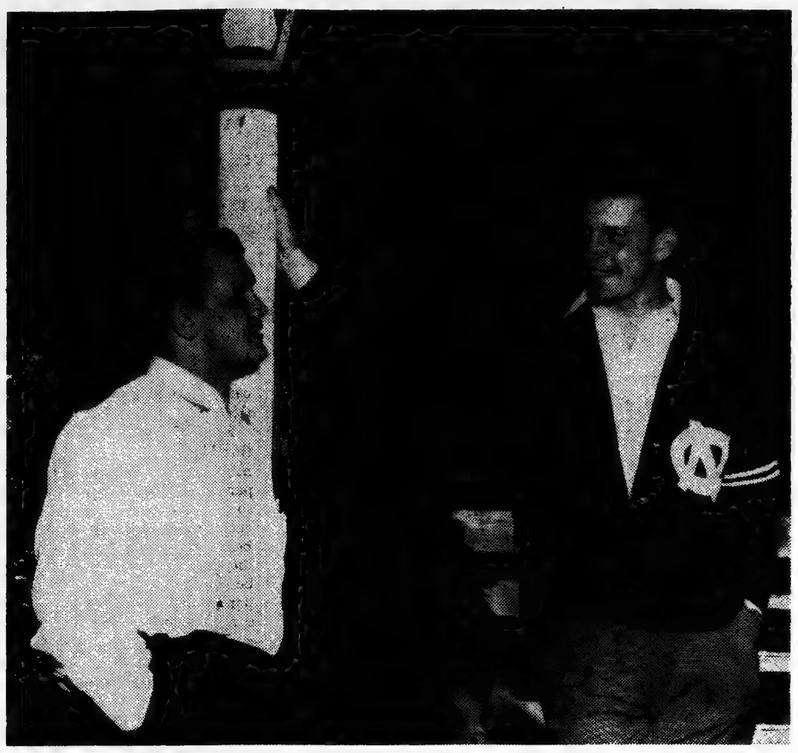
1. Magill (UNC), 23:08; 2. Dubow (NCS), 23:19; 3. McKenzie (UNC), 23:38; 4. Hooper (UNC), 23:43; 5. Hunter (NCS), 24:03; 6. Hunt (UNC), 24:19; 7. Vernon (NCS), 24:31; 8. Russ (UNC), 24:32; 9. Karriker (NCS), 25:01; 10. Bales (NCS), 25:02.

Swimming Meet Set In Local Pool Today

Coach Ralph Casey's varsity swimming squad will clash with the swimmers of State tonight at 8 o'clock in Bowman Gray pool. This met will be the first of two practice meets between the two schools.

Coach Casey's boys who have been plagued by colds, ear infections, and other ailments ever since school started, have run into another string of physical ailments and also, an academic mixup. Dick Twining, an outstanding sprinter and individual medley man, has a bad ear infection and had a minor operation at the first of the week. Two of the best breaststrokers, Jerry

(See SWIM, page 4)



Justice Day

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 10 —(UP)—North Carolina Coach Carl Snavely and his stellar tailback, Charlie Justice, today accepted a bowl engagement December 3.

It will be "Justice Day" as two Western North Carolina high school All-star squads clash in the Asheville "Optimist Bowl."

Justice learned his football at an Asheville high school. Officials announced he and Snavely would be accompanied to the appearance by teammates Hosea Rodgers and Billy Britt.

Szafaryn, Varney Relax a Bit Before Maryland Trip

SID VARNEY, right, and Len Szafaryn chat on the steps of the Carolina Inn. Could be that they're discussing their chances against the greatly improved Maryland club that the Tar Heels are slated to tackle on Saturday in Griffith stadium, Washington. Varney, the "Toy Bulldog," has turned in superlative performances all year despite his small stature. Szafaryn, a big 200-pounder, has been a standout in the Carolina forward wall in every game and is making a determined bid for All-American honors. Both will be very much in the game against the Old Liners on Saturday.

Mural Football Ends With Tie In Frat League

When the Intramural department alloted yesterday to the tag football leagues for any necessary playoffs, Coach Walter Rabb and his staff hoped that the afternoon's program would eliminate all ties, cancellations and protests that have occurred during the season.

Then, with a clean slate, the eliminations could commence in orderly fashion. But, in one instance, their scheme backfired and the outcome of one contest resulted in an unprecedented three way tie for first place in Frat league 3.

The culprits who caused this perplexing situation were the fighting nine representing Kappa Sig 2. This crew engaged Beta 1 in a tilt that Beta had won in seasonal play but which had been rightfully protested by Kappa Sig and the rematch was held yesterday afternoon.

The Kappa Sig aggregation completely snarled up league 3 by decisively turning the tables on Beta to win handily, 20-6. Walt Brinkley's pair of scores proved to be the margin of victory. It was the initial setback for Beta 1 and both squads now sport six and one records. The third member of this triumvirate is DKE 2 who ended their actions and gained this deadlock via the back door. A playoff will be held to determine the victor.

The lone Dorm contest proved to be a fruitful one as Mangum reversed an early season defeat at the hands of the Stanley Steamers and took the all important clash yesterday, 13-7 to capture the league 2 crown.

Mural Managers

The managers of the Fraternity football league champions are requested to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1—Beta 1 vs. ATO 3; 2—Kap Sig 1 vs. Phi Kap Sig 3; 3—Phi Delt 2 vs. SAE 3; 4—Phi Gam 1 vs. Pi Lamb 2.

5:00—Court 1—Chi Psi 2 vs. Sig Ep 1; 2—KA 3 vs. Phi Kap Sig 1; 3—Sig Chi 3 vs. Kap Sig 2; 4—Pi Kap Phi vs. Pi Lamb 3.

TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Table 1—Chi Phi 3 vs. winner Zeta 2-Chi Psi 2; 2—DKE 1 vs. winner KA 3-Chi Phi 1; 3—Pi Lamb 1 vs. Sig Chi 4; 4—Town 1 vs. winner Emerson 2-Everett 2; 5—Bombers 2 vs. winner Nash 1-Mangum.

5:00—Table 1—Phi Gam 2 vs. AE Pi 1; 2—Phi Gam 1 vs. ATO 2; 3—SAE 2 vs. winner Sig Nu 2- TEP; 4—Phi Delt 2 vs. winner Phi Gam 4-Chi Phi 2; 5—Oakwood Drive vs. winner BVP-Med School 2.

TAG FOOTBALL

4:00—Field 1. Grads vs winner of Stanley Steamers vs Mangum; 2. Emerson vs Oakwood Drive; 3. DKE 2 vs. Kap Sig 2 (League Playoff).

VOLLEYBALL RESULTS

2 Grads	Emerson 2, 0
2 Town 2	Law School 0
2 Town 1	Med School 1, 0
2 Oakwood Drive	Mud Dobbers 0
2 Sigma Nu 1	Lamb Chi 1, 0

Everett 1 won from Aycock by forfeit.

Lewis won from Nash by forfeit.

TABLE TENNIS

3 Sigma Chi 6	Sigma Nu 1, 0
2 KA	Chi Phi 3, 1
3 ATO 1	Chi Psi 1, 0
2 Chi Phi 2	Phi Gam 4, 1
3 Chi Psi 2	Zeta 2, 0
2 TEP	Sigma Nu 2, 1

Emerson 2 won from Everett 2 by forfeit.

Mangum 3 won from Nash 1 by forfeit.

Med School 2 won from BVD by forfeit.

Med School 1 won from Aycock by forfeit.

Blocking Improves As Tar Heels Prep For Marylanders

The overcast skies that had been an integral part of the Chapel Hill surroundings for the past several days passed away yesterday, but an air of gloom continued to hang over the Carolina grid proceedings that went on as usual on Navy field.

Scouts Jim Gill and George Radman who have been keeping an eye on Maryland's Old Liners for the past several weeks continued to give glowing reports of the Terps' accomplishments. "Maryland will score at least two touchdowns against us Saturday. If Carolina wins, our boys will have to score at least three touchdowns." This is the way Scout Jim Gill summed it up yesterday.

The picture at College Park, Md. has taken somewhat of a change for the worse since Gill's prediction, however after another closed drill, Coach Jim Tatum, who learned his football at Carolina, reported that reserve tackle Alden Murphy and Bob Emerson, his number 2 center, had sustained knee injuries in the tough scrimmage sessions.

Reports from the Maryland camp say that the Old Liners have added a number of new plays to their repertoire in the past few weeks and have improved 50 per-cent since their loss to Duke earlier in the season. The new plays, some of which are run from the diamond-T rather than the conventional split-T that has long typified Tatum-coached teams, include trap plays and fake passes with pitch-outs.

Lightning Jim LaRue, Tatum's answer to Lu Gambino's suspension, John Idzik, Hubert Werner, and Vic Turyn, an exceptionally clever quarterback are the main cogs in the Maryland offensive attack which has averaged some 400 yards per game.

Diminutive Dick Bunting, sophomore whiz, has been operating in the tailback slot this week while the injured Charlie Justice nurses bruises received in last week's game, and has turned in some excellent performances in scrimmage sessions this week.

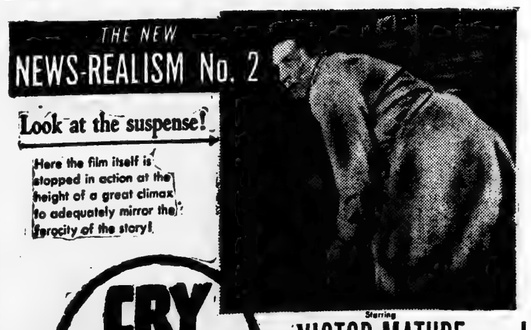
Working Up Steam

Choo Choo Charlie Justice picked up steam last week against William and Mary's Indians despite the fact that the Tar Heels could manage only a 7-7 tie with their Old Dominion rivals. The Carolina Choo Choo chugged for 160 offensive yards against the Williamsburg Tribe last Sabbath and vaulted into second place in the national total offense standings.

Stan Heath, the Nevada passing wizard, continued to pace the nation's backs in total offense with 1,754 yards. The figure belies his ability as a passer, however, as he has completed 113 aerials for 1,758 yards. His rushing average of minus four yards has done him no good in the national ratings.

EYES
HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION
Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

BEER STEAKS
CHICKEN
SANDWICHES
at
WATTS GRILL
2 Miles South
On Pittsboro Road
PLENTY OF FREE PARKING



Don't Only Feel Good
But—
LOOK GOOD
By Seeing Us
at the Village Barber Shop
At Your Convenience

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
Today
VILLAGE

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
WEST FRANKLIN STREET

THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Rich mahogany, shell cordovan, hand lasted shoes by Howard and Foster. Full leather lined with either heavy double leather sole or black gum rubber sole.

Only $6.95

Milton's Clothing Cupboard
219 E. FRANKLIN STREET
"Across from Graham Memorial—Next to the Village Apartments"

TOPCOATS
ARE NOW IN SEASON

Whether you are going to Washington for the weekend or staying in Chapel Hill . . .

NOW is the time to select a topcoat from our stock of stylish, well-tailored coats.

100% Wool Gabardine and Worumbo Coats—

38.75 up

—at—

Jack Lipman's

Robertson Talks For Communists At AVC Meeting

Junius Scales chairman of the Chapel Hill Communist party, was not able to attend the American Veterans committee debate last night concerning Communist infiltration into the organization.

Aubrey Williams, AVC chairman, said he had received a telegram from Scales, who is in New York, saying he could not attend the debate.

The Communist side of the question was argued by Bill Robertson, in the open discussion which replaced the scheduled debate.

Robertson declared the AVC is succumbing to the pattern laid down by the "capitalistic press monopolies." "The capitalistic press monopolies are distorting the facts about Russia," he said. "The Soviet Union is a peace-loving nation, and has been a peace-loving nation ever since its inception."

He further charged that the present Anglo-American policies are designed to crush the working class movement of the world, and that capitalists are becoming panicky in the face of the proletarian revolt.

Charlie Sellers, AVC member who opposed Robertson in the discussion, declared the Communists are following their old rule of "rule or ruin." He said the Communists had tried to capture the liberal AVC movement, and ailing to do so, are now endeavoring to ruin the organization. He cited as an example of his contention the fact the AVC membership had dropped drastically due to the Communistic tinge the AVC had acquired. He asserted that Communists are the greatest threat to the liberal movement in the United States of any group, and that the Communist movement in the AVC must be stopped.

Snapshots Wanted For Yackety Yack

All freshmen who have snapshots which they believe to be suitable for the snapshot section of the Yackety-Yack are urged to turn them over to Fred Blair, 106 Stacy, or leave them at the Yack office in Graham Memorial.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

The COLONIAL INN
Hillsboro, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

Marines 173

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The Marine corps celebrated its 173rd birthday anniversary today.

There were the traditional birthday cake-cutting and dances at Marine installations throughout the world—atTsing Tao, China; London, Argentina, Newfoundland; and in Palestine and Japan.

In Washington, Marines placed a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier while a squadron of Marine fighter planes flew overhead.

The anniversary commemorates the day the first small nucleus of the Marine corps was formed in 1775, just after the Navy was founded on Oct. 27, 1775.

Coed Senators Pass Dance Bill

A motion to have the Coed Senate appoint the dance chairman for the coeds was passed Tuesday night by the Coed Senate with the provision that the chairman appointed be a member of the orientation committee.

In the past a senator has worked as chairman of the committee and there has been difficulty in getting the system to work jointly with all departments when the chairman was not a member of the University orientation committee for women.

A motion was passed that there be a special treasurer appointed by the orientation committee from its own membership.

Proceedings were started on a Southern conference on a woman's government clinic to be established at the University in which all schools would be invited to attend. Future plans on this project were discussed and a committee to work on this will be appointed at the next meeting of the senate.

–Swim–

(Continued from page 3)

Cook and Andy Taylor have been out for considerable time, and it is doubtful whether either of them will swim tonight.

Missing the meet for academic reasons are Sam MacCauley, Frank McNeil, and Walt Carnes, for all three of these boys will be taking six-hour accounting exams tonight. Several other men and even Coach Casey have missed practice for the last week for various reasons.

Although his team is greatly handicapped, Casey will have a strong lineup swimming against the visitors. Floyd Drew, Steve Osborne, Dan Breedon, Jim Thomas, and John Bippart will be leaders in the swimming events, and Buddy Crone, Gil Beam, and Jack Whitehard are the outstanding divers.

The invading squad of State will be coached by Willis Casey, brother of the local mentor. Willis has produced strong teams in both of his years at Raleigh, and this year's outfit is expected to be another formidable aggrigation.

Mocs Baby Shoes
Hand Lasted—
Comfortably Flexible
In assorted colors—Sizes 1-6
The BABY SHOP

CAMPUS CALENDAR

11:00—FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY. Dr. Frank Hanft of the Law school will give Armistice day address. Memorial hall.
3:00—UP LEGISLATIVE CAUCUS. Urgent that all members attend. Roland Parker 2, GM.
4:00—STUDENT LEGISLATIVE BUDGET committee. Grail room, GM.
4:00—SP LEGISLATIVE CAUCUS. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:30—TOWN MEN'S association. Roland Parker lounge 1, GM.
5:00—WOMEN'S GLEE club rehearsal. Hill hall.
7:00—YMCA FRESHMAN council. Second floor Y building.
7:00—WILMINGTON-CAROLINA club. Group picture for Yackety Yack. Main lounge, GM.
7:15—RALEIGH-CAROLINA club. Election of officers, plans for Christmas dance, Pi Kappa Alpha house.
7:30—IZFA. First general meeting. Rabbi Simon Glustrom, speaking on "Israel and the American Jew." Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
7:30—DEBATE COUNCIL. Grail room.
7:30—YOUNG REPUBLICANS club. Horace Williams lounge.
8:00—DR. CLARENCE FINLAYSON, guest professor from Chile, speaking on "Moral Basis of World Federation." Gerrard hall.
8:00—REIDSVILLE-CAROLINA club. Roland Parker lounge 1, GM.
9:30—CAROLINA SCIENCE-FICTION club. Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.

Student Zionists Will Meet Tonight

The Intercolligiate Zionist Federation of America will hold its first general meeting tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham memorial.

Rabbi Simon Glustrom will be guest speaker and will present his views on the topic: "Israel and the American Jew."

Same Old Story

Orville Campbell, publisher of the Daily Tar Heel, came in with top honors this week in the five-man race being waged for the DTH grid prognostication title, but it was the same old story when the season tabulations were totaled. Assistant sports editor Dick Jenrette was on top with a substantial five-game lead over his nearest opponent, Jake Wade.

CLASSIFIED

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

TYPING EFFICIENTLY DONE. Thesis, term papers, plays. Quick service. Call F-3691. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

VARIOUS PIECES OF SECONDHAND furniture. Radio, table model washing machine. Call Mrs. Adams, 4171 on November 13 and 14. (2-8048-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

LATE 1946 BUICK AUTO. RADIO, heater, cushion tires, excellent condition. Reasonable priced. Original owner. See W. H. Shapiro, 208 Church St., after 1 p.m. (3-8044-1)

LOST 12

A "GLENEAGLES" RAINCOAT FROM A.T.O. House Saturday night. Please return to Ned Burgess at A.T.O. House. (1-8052-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

WOULD LIKE A RIDE TO MARYland game. Can leave by 1:00 p. m. Friday. Contact Bill Peacock, 207 Alexander. (1-8054-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

ALONG WITH 50 MILLION OTHER people would like to have from 1-5 Duke-Carolina tickets, any where in the stands. Gordon Hamrick, call 4151. (4-8043-1)

NEED EITHER TWO OR FOUR CAROlina-Dook ducats. I'm willing to dicker. Write terms and seat locations to Box 5829, Raleigh. (2-8053-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

The BROCKWELL
Comfortable Guest Rooms at Moderate Prices
Over Sloan Drug Store
Operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Graham

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

For Fine Foods
Light or Heavy
Meat and Eat
—at—
AGGIE'S

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Breakfast—Dinner—Supper—Any day but Thursday—at HARRY'S

Free!

A&P COFFEE MEASURING SPOON
This A&P Coffee measuring spoon portions out exactly the right amount to make a really GOOD cup of coffee. Nothing to buy, remember. This bright-colored plastic measure is free. For superb flavor, choose one of A&P Coffee's three blends!
EIGHT O'CLOCK Mild and Mellow 3 Lb. Bag 1.15 — 1-Lb. Bag 40c
RED CIRCLE Rich and Full-Bodied 3 Lb. Bag 1.24 — 1-Lb. Bag 43c
BOKAR Vigorous and Winey 3 Lb. Bag 1.29 — 1 Lb. Bag 45c
Offer expires at close of business Nov. 18, 1946

JANE PARKER SUGAR OR Cinnamon DONUTS 1-Doz. Pkg. 18c
Home Style— Sandwich Reg. Pan Marvel Bread 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c
Jane Parker SPANISH BAR 22-Oz. Cake 35c
Marvel Dinner ROLLS Pkg. of Nine 10c

Low Prices Every Day At A&P

CHEESE Mild American . . . . . Lb. 47c
TOMATOES Packers Label 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
ORANGE JUICE Packers Label 46-Oz. Can 23c
IONA PEAS . . . 2 No. 2 Cans 21c
PEACHES Iona Sliced or Halves . . . No. 2½ Can 27c
EVAP. MILK White House 3 Tall Cans 40c
CRANBERRY SAUCE Ocean Spray 16-Oz. Can 19c
PANCAKES Sunnyfield Flour For Pancakes 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
SYRUP Ann Page Blended . . . . . 12-Oz. Bot. 23c
MARGARINE Maid Golden 1-Lb. Pkg. 29c
TOMATO SOUP Campbell's 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
FLOUR Sunnyfield Self-Rising . . . . . 10-Lb. Bag 77c
dexo A&P's Own Vegetable Shortening . . . . . 3-Lb. Can 1.11c
Tomato Juice Iona 2 No. 2 Cans 19c
Green Beans Iona Stringless 2 No. 2 Cans 27c

Extra Large Grapefruit 5 for 29c
Red Emperor Grapes ..... 2 lbs. 23c
Fresh Cranberries .... lb. 23c
Chestnuts ..... lb. 27c
Idaho Russett Potatoes .. 10 lbs. 57c
Green Top Carrots .. 2 bnch. 17c
Florida Oranges .. 2 doz. 35c
Fresh Dates ..... pkg. 19c
Bose Russet Pears ..... 2 lbs. 23c

PEANUT BUTTER Peter Pan ..... 12-oz. Jar 35c
PREMIUM CRACKERS Nabisco ..... 1-lb. Pkg. 25c
MORTON'S SALT ..... 2 26-oz. Pkg. 17c
BORAX 20 Mule Team ..... 16-oz. Pkg. 17c

LIBBY'S CANNED MEATS
CORNED BEEF HASH ..... 16-Oz. Can 35c
VIENNA SAUSAGE ..... ½-Size Can 19c
POTTED MEAT ..... ½-Size Can 15c
LUNCH TONGUE ..... ½-Size Can 27c
POTTED MEAT ..... ¼-Size Can 9c

Super Right Meats

STEAK
Porterhouse — T-Bone
Club — Sirloin
89c lb.

Boneless CHUCK ROAST ..... lb. 79c
LEG-O-LAMB ..... lb. 69c
Pure Pork SAUSAGE ..... lb. 52c
Chuck or Shoulder VEAL ROAST ..... lb. 65c
Rib or Loin End PORK ROAST ..... lb. 55c
Morrell Pride—Whole HAM ..... lb. 65c
Table Dressed FRYERS ..... lb. 66c
Table Dressed HENS ..... lb. 59c

SEAFOOD
Perch Fillets ..... lb. 35c
Haddock Fillets ..... lb. 45c
Flounder Fillets ..... lb. 55c
H. & G. Whiting ..... lb. 19c

Let us reserve your Thanksgiving Turkey

ANN PAGE FOODS— A&P's finest quality at pleasing prices!

These fine foods give the quality you favor — at attractive prices. They're A&P's finest—made in its own modern Ann Page food factories

ANN PAGE BEANS With Pork and Tomato Sauce . . . 16-Oz. Can 10c
ANN PAGE GRAPE JAM . . . . . 2-Lb. Jar 39c
ANN PAGE SPARKLE Gealtin Desserts 3 Pkg. 20c
ANN PAGE SALAD DRESSING Pt. Jar 31c
ANN PAGE SPAGHETTI Prepared 2 15¾-Oz. Cans 25c
ANN PAGE MAYONNAISE . . . Pt. Jar 41c
ANN PAGE PRESERVES . . . Plum 1-Lb. Jar 21c
ANN PAGE MUSTARD Salad Style 1-Lb. Jar 15c
ANN PAGE SANDWICH . Spread Pt. Jar 31c
ANN PAGE VANILLA Extract . . . 1-Oz. Bot. 19c
ANN PAGE KETCHUP Fancy . . . . 14-Oz. Bot. 20c
ANN PAGE MACARONI . . . . 2 8-Oz. Pkg. 19c
ANN PAGE MELLO WHEAT . . 28-Oz. Pkg. 23c

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

Break Cycle
End This One
Unlock Doors

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and Warmer

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 44

NC Ed Board Meet Opened By Kerr Scott

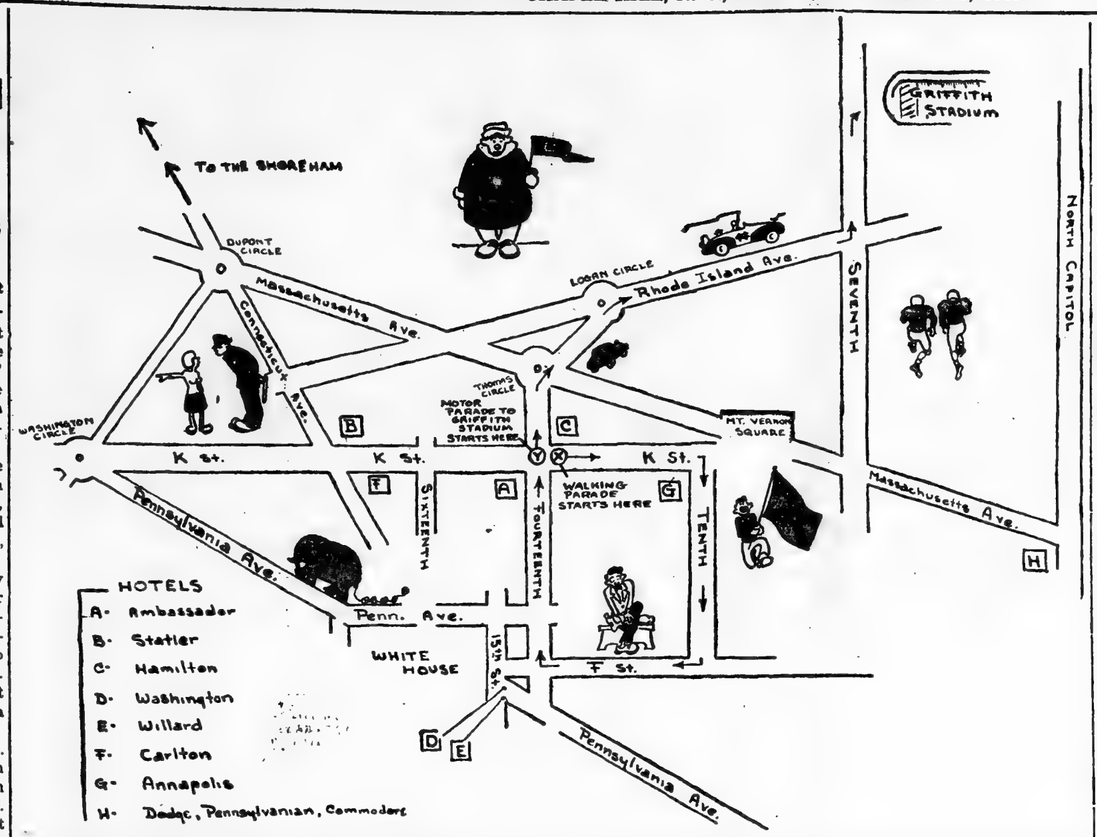
Urges Educational, Road Improvements In Hill Hall Talk

Governor-elect W. Kerr Scott said yesterday "I believe the legislature will remove the present bottlenecks to start our people on the greatest era ever known," in the keynote address before the 11th annual meeting of the North Carolina School Board Association in Hill hall.

He spoke before an audience of over 500 representatives from counties throughout the state, emphasizing the need for rural improvement in utilities, roads, education, and health.

The meeting was opened by University President Frank Porter Graham as he welcomed the delegates. He spoke about the reorganization of the University to make for a better school system. Dr. Graham emphasized that "Federal aid to education is a must."

Following Dr. Graham, H. A. Scott president of the association reviewed the advances made in the last 11 years by the board. He informed the delegates that the report of the commission authorized by the 1947 legislature to study the educational system has been completed. He recommended several steps to be taken to improve the state educational system, one of which was the raising of salaries from $2,400 for a 10 month period to $3,600 for the same time.



Dr. Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer schools, then introduced W. Kerr Scott, who gave the keynote address. The governor-elect proposed that the rural telephone system be extended beyond the cities. He urged that the expansion program in mental institutions be continued, and that the bottle-neck was not in the budget.

Scott recommended that all-weather school bus routes be constructed to get better service, because there was a high rate of illness among the children due to "over-exposure" to the elements. He noticed with concern that the agricultural progress has not kept up with the industrial development, and suggested that rural improvements would prevent the yearly loss of 50,000 farm laborers to out-of-state industries.

He ended his speech by pointing out that the rural population has not had true representation in the state legislature. He said, "Sixty five percent of our people are rural and they have only four and a half percent representation in the state government."

When interviewed after the meeting he said that action taken

(See SCOTT, page 4)

HERE'S A BRIEF PICTURE of downtown Washington and the route Tar Heels will take on their capital-shaking pre-Maryland game parade tomorrow morning. Letters A through H show downtown hotels where most of the Carolina visitors will be staying. In the upper left hand corner, an arrow points in the direction of the Shoreham hotel (out Connecticutt avenue; take a left at Calvert street after you cross the big bridge over Rock Creek park) where a dance for all students will be held tomorrow night at 9:30. X marks the spot (Franklin square at 14th and K) where all good Tar Heels will gather to begin an 18-block walking parade through the streets of downtown Washington. At Y everybody will hop into their cars, after a pep rally, and motorcade out to Griffith stadium (upper right) where the game will be played. The map was drawn by P. A. Transau and the illustrations are from the pen of Jack Taylor.

SP To Withhold Action Against Rules Chairman

The Student party yesterday afternoon issued a statement declaring that they would "withhold further action" in their case against Legislature rules committee chairman Thurman Williams and that they would leave the decision of the case up to the proper branch of student government to decide if their charges were justified.

The full statement, as submitted by Don Shropshire, chairman of a special commitee appointed to investigate the case is as follows:

"Since the Student Party has fulfilled its policy of bringing to the attention of the student body any negligence which serves to weaken Student Government, and since we deplore the use of any smear campaign, we wish to take the front in bringing a close to the matter involving the Chairman of the Rules Committee of the Student Legislature.

We resolve to withhold further action, leaving this matter to the proper branch of our government to decide whether our charges are just. To ascertain this "proper branch," we submit this constitutional question to the Student Council for decision."

Weekend Rooms In Washington Are Available

Students going to the Maryland game in Washington this weekend may secure hotel accommodations at the Harrington hotel, 11th and E streets, announced Joe Ward, University club president, yesterday.

Specific information as to the number of students who will desire accommodations at the Harrington has not been given, but University club officers were informed that "up to 200" students could be taken care of there, three and four to a room at $1.75 per person per night for Friday and Saturday nights.

Council Warning

The Men's council met Wednesday and after hearing three cheating cases, suspended indefinitely four men.

"We would like to bring it to the attention of all students that violators of the honor code are punished severely by the council and we would like to urge that everyone abide by the honor system and cooperate in the enforcement of the code," said Page Harris, Chairman of the Men's Council.

Terrapin Rooters Mum On Game

If William and Mary Can Do It So Can We, Say Boosters

By Chuck Hauser

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 11—The few University of Maryland students who were still up late this evening had little to say and no predictions to make on Saturday's game between the Terrapins and the Tar Heels.

One group of students in a pre-game bull session had several remarks, however, on last week's Carolina - William and Mary game. The concensus was, "If William and Mary can do it, so can we."

"We're not going to give up until that last whistle blows," one confident Terp ventured. "And by that time, you might be surprised—again."

The Diamondback, student newspaper, announced in its weekly issue that a "Beat Carolina" pep rally would be held on campus tomorrow night. Tar Heels also planned a pep rally—the "Beat Maryland" kind.

Latest plans tonight still called for a parade and rally to swing into shape at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in downtown Washington. Norm Sper said today that the walking parade would start from the corner of 14th and K streets shortly after 11, swing around K street, 10th street, and run four blocks down F street in the heart of downtown Washington.

The parade will then cut back up 14th street and head north to a block from Thomas circle where a pep rally will be held preceding a motorcade out Rhode Island avenue and up to Griffith stadium for the game.

Maryland's pre-Carolina game pep rally last year caused quite a bit of excitement here in College Park. In fact, it took a number of Prince George county police and a few tear gas bombs before officers could disperse the huge crowd which gathered in the center of U. S. highway 1 which runs through the campus.

Washingtonians also will remember last year's Tar Heel pep rally in Franklin park at the corner of 14th and K streets, the same place it is scheduled this weekend.

All in all, it promised to be end for the Tar Heels, both the an exciting and enjoyable week-footballing and the just plain weekending ones.

Debating Team Takes Two Of Three On Tour

Winning two of their first three debates, the University's touring debate squad took on Princeton University last night. The four-man team is touring as far as Boston and will engage in six intensive battles.

The team opened the tour at the University of Virginia Monday night by drawing a "non-decisional" verdict. Tuesday night the negative team of Herb Mitchell and Paul Roth won, while the affirmative crew of Pittman and Bob Yates lost. Roth, the only Carolina member of the team, was voted the best speaker. Wednesday night the team won easily on both sides over the University of Pennsylvania team at Philadelphia.

The team will be in Boston tonight and will debate with a Boston University team in a talk-fest. It will be broadcast and televised.

Harvard University will be the opponent Saturday afternoon in Boston and the team will return Saturday.

Lt. Col. Roy Hillyer to Address Air Reserve Meeting on Tuesday

By Owen Lewis

Lt. Col. Roy N. Hillyer Jr., Director of the Division of Civilian Components, 14th Air Force, Orlando, Fla., will address a meeting of the Chapel Hill chapter of the Air Reserve Association to be held at 103 Bingham Hall, Tuesday, November 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. C. C. Carter, president of the Chapel Hill group, in making the announcement urged all Air Force veterans, both officers and enlisted men, in the Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill area to attend the meeting. Dr. Carter, who is a professor of business law in the University and a major in the Air Force Reserve, stated that the inclusion of enlisted men was an accomplishment of a recent Air Reserve Association convention at Orlando. Previously, only officers had been eligible for membership.

According to Dr. Carter, Colonel Hillyer, a combat veteran of the 15th Air Force, is expected to discuss plans for the activation of a unit in this area that will be recognized by the Air Force for promotion and subsistence-payment purposes. Although Winston-Salem is the only city in North Carolina at present with such a recognized unit, recent figures show a greater number of reservists residing in the Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill area than in any other section of the 14th Air Force territory.

For the past two years, local reservists have had to go to Marietta, Georgia, to secure flight training. If the proposed so-called TO|E unit can be activated for this area, a training unit can be established at Raleigh-Durham airport, thus making it much easier to get the training.

Late News Bulletins

Another Crisis

PARIS, Nov. 11.—(UP)—France was threatened today with more labor trouble and another cabinet crisis while French leaders warned on a riot-marred Armistice day that Britain and the United States may be sawing the seeds of World War III.

Sets Record

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—(UP)—A jet plane piloted by Maj. Robert De Haven of the National Guard streaked from San Francisco to Los Angeles today in 36 minutes, nine seconds, setting a new record for a flight between the two cities.

Will Forgive

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 11.—(UP)— President Truman was reported today ready to forgive "venial, but not mortal sins" of those who failed to support his recent hard-fought campaign for election.

Plane Crash

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 11.—(UP)—Six persons were killed tonight when a Mannin Airways, Ltd., plane crashed in the Mersey river in a heavy fog. One passenger survived.

The plane was en route from Dublin to the Isle of Man but had been diverted to Speke airfield near Liverpool because of the fog.

It's Sadie Hawkins Day; Matrimony's In The Air

By Doomed Dickinson

It's Sadie Hawkins Day, folks!!

Now you gals, you unmarried ones, this'll be yo' last chance of the year, maybe fo' life, to acquire fo' yo'self a male wif whom yo' can marry up wif intentions a' raisin' hawgs and chilluns.

Now you males, you wif unblemished matrimonial records, it's gonna be nip-'n-tuck if'n you propose to come outta this race wif yo' skin intact and minus a wife. Best git yo'self a downgrade hill wif plenty o' furroughs and put on plenty o' steam and some fancy ziz-zaggin'.

Feudin' irons have been laid aside for the day (latest Dogpatch proclamation) and folks hereabouts are asked to observe a peaceful day to be marred only by the "Hooman race," the annual foot-race o' the year. Killin's will be reserved only to them gals who encounter overly-ornery males who refuse to sign on the dotted after the "catch" has been put on 'em.

A host of He and She Shmoos will form a welcome committee in Y court at 3 o'clock this aft'noon for all campus Dogpatchers who are dressed, undressed, costumed, floated, or otherwise bedecked.

The parade of the shmoos, the Yokums, Wolf Gal, Hairless Joe and other mountain-folk will go from Y court west and back through the village business district to fraternities, sororities, dormitories, and on to Fetzer field, the site of the Hooman race and other events including "taters" and "one-legged" races.

The not-so-fleet-footed males who through fate fall prey to the vicious energy of desperate wimmin' will be dragged (peaceably or otherwise) before 'Marrin Sam, the man what ties those juicy weddin' knots that homely gals luv to be a party to. He'll be John Rosser.

Then tonight at 8:30 o'clock when gals have rested up from their ordeals and the Li'l Abners have reckon-ciled themselves to their inhooman misfortunes, the clan will again gather in Y court fer a squar' dance of mammoth Dogpatch proportions. Lyle Davis will serve as official caller for the dance.

The lucky maidens must escort their newly-acquired husbands to the dance without the use of chains or rope. And besides, the gals have gotta furnish all expense money.

Floats and costumes for the parade will be judged by four members of the Dogpatch Executive board, Dean E. L. Mackie, Joan Lucas, Walt Talley, and G. A. Barrett. Prizes will be awarded through the courtesy of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants association.

Sponsoring today's Dogpatch frivolity are three campus organizations, the Carolina Independent Coeds association, the Town Girls association, and the Western North Carolina club.

Bill To Abolish Appeal Given To Legislature

Town Men Get Seat On GM Board; Bill To Limit Absences Presented

The Student Legislature conducted its first actual business session in three weeks last night and passed four bills, defeated a fifth, and tabled another. Under new business, numerous bills were introduced including one by Joe Leary, (UP), to take away the appellate power of the Student council except in cases originating from the Dance committee or the Interdorm council.

The proposed bill would give the Student council jurisdiction in cases concerning the violation of the Honor code, campus law and all questions of constitutionality. The Men's and Women's council would retain jurisdiction in cases concerning violations of the campus code.

An attempt to postpone the consideration of the bill to a later date was turned down until the bill comes out of committee.

The Town Men's association received a seat on the Graham Memorial Board of Directors and after a bitter fight, was passed giving both the Town men and women representation on the University club. The actual amendment will be voted on by campus referendum.

Opponents to the bill, Al Lowenstein and Dortch Warriner, (SP), opposed the bill on the ground that neither of the organizations concerned had "proven themselves" on campus and that the amendment should be postponed until a later date. Those speaking for the bill argued that it would give town students their first representation in campus activities.

Lowenstein later introduced a new bill which would set up a Town Students Organization, composed of both men and women living in town. Lowenstein argued that his bill would provide a constitutional basis for the existance of the two groups.

Other bills introduced included one by Thurman Williams, (UP), which limit the unexcused absences of legislators to one and a bill to appropriate $150 for the University club was introduced by John Van Hecke, (UP-SP).

Students To Be Tried By Ervin

State Supreme Court Justice S. J. Ervin will preside in a "mock" trial next month conducted by the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

The trial will involve two students who engaged in fisticuffs recently in the Lenoir hall waffle room. In addition to the assault and battery litigation, there will be a libel suit based on a letter alleged to refer to the defendent's character and political affiliations.

The court, in addition to Ervin, will consist of the graduate members of the fraternity.

WDUK Will Air Show From GM Rendezvous

Graham Memorial's popular Rendezvous room takes the air over WDUK tonight at 9:30 for the first of a weekly series of variety programs, Lib Stoney, program director, announced yesterday.

The opening show will feature members of Duke university's "Horn and Hoof," student entertainment organization. Songs from the H & H show, "Nothin' Like It," will highlight the 15 minute program.

"Mark Barker, station announcer for WDUK, is producer and will announce each broadcast," Miss Stoney said. The shows will feature student and guest talent, as well as campus personalities, it was revealed. Many of the attractions for the broadcasts will be sponsored by various campus organizations.

In addition to the broadcast, the H & H club will present a complete floor show, starring Tony Reid, Rosalie Prince and Al Sugarman, immediately after the air presentation.

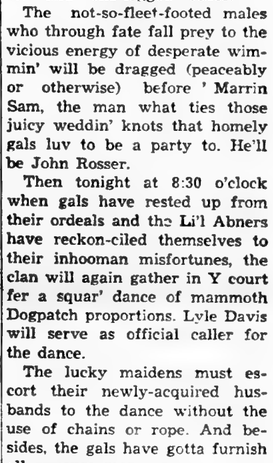
Featured in the chorus will be Sara Dale, Connie Woodward, Emily White, John Falin, Nan Heddon, Bill Ward, John Maxwell, Clyde Shankle and Frank Siler.

Student Legislature Absentees Announced

The following persons were absent from the special session of the student legislature October 28, as announced by Rules committee chairman, Thurman Williams: Kyle Barnes, Bill Benbow, Norman Black, Dick Boren, Marietta Duke, Page Dees, Bob Kirby, Ann Knight, Joe Leary, Marvin Lee, Ted Leonard.

Peppy Lucas, Herb Mitchell, Tag Montague, Jim Nance, Wally Robinson, Margaret Ann Wells, Thurman Williams and Wilson Yarbrough.

Schenkkan Will Speak Monday At Open Literary Group Meet



Robert F. Schenkkan, of the radio department, will speak on writing for radio Monday night at 8 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, Graham memorial.

His talk will be presented at the first open meeting of the Chi Delta Phi literary honorary sorority.

Mr. Schenkkan, a graduate of the University of Virginia, holds a Master of Arts degree from the University and has been associated with the radio department for the past two years. He has written a number of radio scripts, used on the Communications center programs, "The University Hour" and "Thirty-three by Air."

Before the war Mr. Schenkkan was both a Rockefellow fellow and a fellow in the National Theater conference here. He is one in a series of outstanding men in the literary field to be presented by Chi Delta Phi.

In addition to his radio writings, Mr. Schenkkan is co-author with Mr. Kai Jurgensen, also of the Dramatic Arts department, of a book due for publication by Henry Holt. A new American translation, it is entitled "Major Plays of Ibsen." He and Mr. Jurgensen have also collaborated on "Fourteen Plays for the Church," one of which was presented here last spring in the Forest theater.

Marryin' Sam, the only Dogpatch batchelor who stands to gain on the Sadie Hawkins' Day debacle, practices on the gestures he will use for his "special deluxe" 75-cent wedding to wed eager Dogpatch females to struggling bridegrooms.

He will be handling hitches for such new Al Capp characters as the "only two smoos left in the word," and three Lower Slobbovian beauty contest winners who are in Dogpatch for the annual man-catching race.

Break The Cycle

It was after a PTA meeting, and the ladies were streaming out of a stuffy hall. One of them said, "My child is not getting the education I got. Why can't somebody do something about getting better teachers?"

The same afternoon, in a small college town, one professor remarked to his sympathetic audience, "It's no use. I can't help these boys and girls, because they lack the basis for a college education. I could be better off if I went into business where at least I'll know I get some satisfaction from a job well done and get good pay, whereas not only am I getting poor remuneration, but I'm not getting anywhere with my teaching work."

We can easily fill in the chain of thought raised by the conversation we heard. Poor pay, poor teachers, poor students in college, in turn poor graduates who become poor grade and high school teachers, and the end result poor college students, bringing about discouraged and still underpaid college professors who leave and let the cycle roll on . . . a vicious cycle.

It is time now for us to realize as people of this nation and state that we must have adequate and satisfactory results from our educational facilities. First, however, we must realize that one never gets something for nothing. Then we must realize that to get improved conditions in our educational system we must pay for our wants.

We believe the opportunity has come for us to drive the need home to our representatives and to those who influence our leaders. The Legislature meets this January. We as students interested in ourselves, our younger sisters and brothers and our future must see to it that our educational system is given a chance by raising our teachers' pay as the first step towards breaking the vicious cycle. Even after that there will be much to be done as has been shown by the budget which has been presented by the Greater University to the next legislature.

You End This One

By tonight an anticipated 5,000 North Carolinians will be rolling into Washington, D. C., for the football game between the Tar Heels and the Terrapins of Maryland. Of these 5,000 fans a majority will be students of this university, and every last mother's son of them will be primed for a big time. Natch. Besides the game there will be parties and a pep rally and a parade and a dance and more parties, and by the time the 5,000 come dragging home Sunday night there will have been much hell raised generally.

Which is fine, BUT—

A few weeks back another North Carolina football team, hailing from a nearby university whose name we will refrain from mentioning, also played the Terps in Washington. Students from that university also made the trip to the capital to cheer their team and have a pep rally and parties and raise hell. Only trouble was they weren't very careful about what brand of hell they raised and the people of Washington didn't like it and it didn't help the reputation of the school or of the students or of North Carolina.

Need more be said?

Unlock Those Doors

With the University overflowing with students, studying space is at a premium. Dormitory rooms equipped with too many occupants and too few desks, are inadequate. The library is always full. Study huts are available only in the Quonset area. With these places exhausted, the need for study space is still pressing.

In the past class rooms have been available after class hours for use by students for study purposes. This year, however, students attempting to use many class rooms have found them locked. Complaining sources say the reason given is that students leave the rooms in a mess and the janitors lock them to prevent this. This may be true, but the need of students for a place to study is great enough to outweigh any such excuse for denying them the use of class rooms.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr ..... Betty Huston

Staff for today: Editor: Bill Buchan; Managing Editor: BILL BUCHAN; Night Editor: Roy Parker; News Staff: Wink Locklair, Lincoln Kan, Leonard Dudley, Emily Baker, Don Maynard, Charles Pritchard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

HOUSEKEEPING SET UP. We've finally determined the source of the domestic clank of pots and pans in McIver. The honey-sounding racket has been coming from Nita Saunder's room, where she has a $75 set of kitchenware displayed all over the desks and tables. Seems she brought home the collection from a state fair raffle recently.

HEP CAT. Phi Kap's Plez Transou and Farrell Potts seem to take pride in telling folks about the pride and joy around their house— namely the piano boogy man, Guion Phillips. Only trouble is, they can't always keep the fellow at home come week-ends.

THAR AHDEAL? Students in the advertising class over in Bynum can't quite figure out the significance of the ad posted on their bulletin board —the one with the shivering ice skaters. Seems there's a terrific amount of criticism going around about this particular series of ads; so is it supnosed to be a good, bad, or indifferent example?

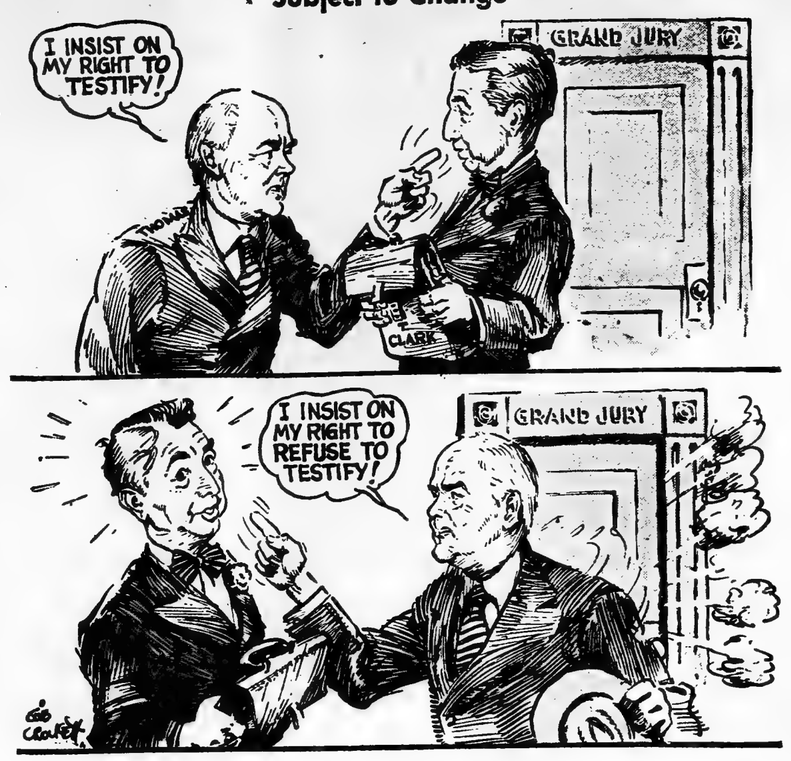
JACKPOT GIRL. The third-floor Spencer inhabitants tell us that one girl up there needs a private phone extension. Think her name is Jean Frances Caraher. We'll throw out a couple of suggestions for you to take at what they're worth—you girls either get her an extension installed, or you boys try first-floor McIver.

HOW'BOUT A COMPASS? Let us enumerate for you the saga of Ed Darnell. First, he falls in a ditch out by the planetarium; then, he falls out of a desk in music appreciation; next, he bumps into a moving car. So now his brothers want to give him a seeing eye pledge.

LANDMARKS. Just a couple of things we've noticed around campus—thought you might like to hear about them. Fr'instance, there's the "Class Tree" over by Old West. Guess the class of 1887 must have planted it. Then, there's the stone wall in front of Smith. It's a round affair with absolutely nothing in the middle.

GOTTA HAVE DEPT. President Jess Dedmond has sent out an S.O.S. for a stenographer. Sounds like a mighty good opportunity to us—fact is, the only reason we're turning it over to you is that we can't take shorthand. Here's the scoop—you gotta' work from 2 to 5 o'clock on Tuesday and Wednesday—all sorts of secretarial work. So if it sounds good to you, drop by the Student Government office and see Jess.

OFF THE TRACK? The men over in Manley were more than somewhat surprised recently when a rather dignified, old gentleman asked in a confused tone, "Wonder if you can tell me where my son lives —he's a right end on the Duke university team." I'm not sure which dormitory he's in."



GIVE HIM THE AIR. Too bad about Phil Atkinson. We hear he got quite involved in a game of charades the other night. Fact is, he got so involved that when he drew the name of Norman Thomas, he gulped and said, "Golly, I can't do much with this. All I know about the guy is that he's a radio singer."

IN TOWN:

HOP IN. Have you seen the new used (confusin', no?) car lot they're opening up behind Strowd's motor company?

IRREGULAR HOURS. The signs on the door of Sutton's when it's closed at goofy hours have a story-behind them. We haven't been able to make sure of this—but we think it's because Mr. Sutton has been knocking off to go see his better half. Incidentally, we hope Mrs. Sutton is getting along better.

Subject to Change

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Political Spotlight

Still Life In The Corpse

By Charles Long

The past week should convince even the most unbelieving that there is still life left in the political corpse of Carolina. Charges and countercharges have rent the air for days as the Student and University party tore at each other's throat. The situation appears to have simmered down to this course of action.

The SP was willing to drop its case against Williams on the ground that he had admitted that he had not attended to his duties as closely as he possibly should have. Unfortunately in his statement Williams countercharged the SP and therefore made it impossible for the Student party to drop its ease. Now the SP is planning to send the case to the Council so that they can decide whether or not the charges made against Williams were just or unjust. They have stated that they will say nothing more on the case before or after the Council has decided. Assuming that the SP and Williams accept the verdict of the Council, then peace should return to the political air.

The class of '52 is now in the throes of its first political battle. Activity is high and spirits, of a political nature, are flowing strongly. For the sake of our government let us hope that their interest will not abate. In the four years ahead Carolina is going to need a politically virile student body. To this class we should say that the time ahead will not be easy. The old guard of the present can but caution. It cannot foretell the future or solve its problems. In truth it does not need to because, this class like its predecessors will assume that responsibility and even more, improve over our errors.

To those who say that Carolina politics and government are unimportant let us reply that the future leadership of this state and other states and our nation will lie in the hands of the Class of '52 and its brother classes. That statement is not supposition, it is a fact that the past and present assert. It is very important that our freshmen be training in the principals of clean political fighting, the value of principals in politics and the worth of a battle well fought no matter what the outcome. The future will decide whether or not we have done our job well.

The Big Show

What Became Of Football?

By Wink Locklair

You know, once upon a time, you could walk over to Kenan stadium on a nice Saturday afternoon in October and see a football game. You just can't do that anymore. It is a three-ring circus you are seeing over there now.

Take last Saturday, for a good example. I am sitting there, enjoying myself pretty much—until the half. Then everything breaks loose. First they are passing out several different colored cards to me. Then they tell me to look under my seat for another one! I have all these cards in my lap, waiting for somebody to tell me what to do with them, when my eyes are temporarily dazzled by the spectacle of ten high school bands, spread out all over the field, playing at the same time. I am so enthralled by this sight that I am getting confused in the first card stunt, coming up in white instead of blue! This is embarrassing for me. (I am coming down before the count of three.)

Before the next stunt, a group of boys, being initiated for something, are appearing down front and start counting out loud. Between them, the 10 bands, two public address speakers, and two airplanes overhead, I am not being able to hear.

Eventually we are doing a stunt, requiring flipping back and forth the cards. So, I am flipping back and forth, watching the 10 bands and, more especially, watching the girls on the field who, from a distance, look pretty classy. Suddenly, people around me are pointing in my direction, mumbling and frowning. It seems I am flipping back and forth the wrong color!

By this time, things are really going. In addition to the 10 bands, card stunts, voices from two loud speakers, visiting cheer leaders, boys being initiated and planes flying overhead, there are now four acrobats, one dressed in red drawers, doing hand stands, climbing poles and jumping around. It is not enough for the football team to play hard on the field. They are having to fight their way back into the stadium, also!

No, it's sad, but it is true. The sport is ruined. If it's not 10 bands playing at once, it's acrobats flying over the goal post. If it's not passing out cards, it's taking up cards. People are Rebel-yelling in one of your ears, spilling Old Overholt in the other. It's enough to bring on a nervous condition. I'm not having anymore, thank you.

More Write Away

This Man Sounds Bitter

Editor:

In the closing lines of Bill Carmichael, III's rather blurred and out of focus Sporting Picture of November 10, Mr. Carmichael declared "It might improve the sports pages to have offensive writers and defensive writers, too." I wonder if the perpetrator of the journalistic miscarriage known as the Sporting Picture quite realized the profundity of his profound remark.

I quite agree with this surprisingly progressive suggestion. I think that the sports page of the DTH could stand quite a bit more capable defensive writing to combat the deluge of offensive material which fills it, especially that breezy, or rather windy, vehicle for corny Carmichaelisms which issuely litter the length—save for a few Heaven-sent ads at the bottom which take up part of their extent—of columns one and two on the aforementioned page.

Incidentally, I didn't consider Dick Jenrette a member of the offensive team.

Even tarnished and bracken Goldwater meant well.

Bill Kellam

Write Away

Stand Up and Cheer

Editor:

May I respectfully suggest to parties concerned that, in the Dook game, when the Big Team comes back for the second half we break precedent and say "Hello" to them, or something, instead of standing there with our finger in our nose making pretty pictures?

Speaking of football, I notice that around here on game days there is always a lot of talk about Len Szafaryn, and during the games everybody is always saying "Tackled by Szafaryn." "Hit by Szafaryn," etc. But after the game, when you read the Dook Morning Herald or the DeRogatis Evening Sun, you don't find much about Len Szafaryn. Personally, I don't think there is any such person as Szafaryn, and it is really Bob Smith, of Tarnation—you remember Tarnation, don't you?—who changed his name in order to avoid publicity.

Speaking of Bill Robertson and your new editorial policy in which people got to be people before you print 'em if I can get six people to certify that there is no such person as Bill Robertson —you know, the "we must study the sick and diseased society in which Bill Robertson clutters up the DTH" Bill Robertson—will you quit printing him?

I think Bill Robertson is really Doris Friedland and she is really Junius Scales and he is Mary Price and she is Claude Dunnagan, and we know who he is.

And if you're gonna make people sign their names right, why don't you print 'em right?

"Communists, of course, are not perfect people."—"David Preston."

Of course.

John W.McReynolds

Consider Kamikaze

Editor:

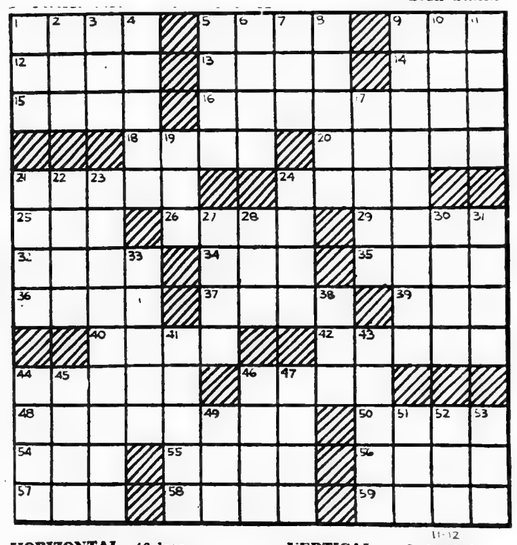
In his letter of 9 November, David Preston makes the same error (whether conscious or not let each reader decide for himself) made by Bill Robertson in his piece "Christ Was a Communist." He connects Communism with something unquestionably fine and drops the matter there. Unflinching devotion is an admirable thing, but it does not necessarily dignify or enoble its end. It often remains what it is because of lifelong ignorance or indoctrination. Consider the last full measure of devotion given their country by Japan's kamikaze pilots.

Anyone who can and will read must admit that the professed "goal of Communists is the brotherhood of man." Surely this is, like taking a bath, a negative virtue. And is not this same goal that of the Church, Rotary International, the D. A. R. and the U. N.? All men of good will agree on this goal. But whose means of achieving this goal is best?

Soviet snobbism gives an answer. The Communists, like some churchmen, preach an elect of the damned as well as an elect of the saved. There is no hell black enough for the renegade [illegible] and no heaven bright enough for the faithful party man. This arrogance of mind is unforgivably dangerous.

Let David Preston not think he can flush this chicken by an imputation of cowardice. The writer believes that all public letters should be unsigned, ideas being one thing and personalities another. One is tempted, however, all the while fully conscious of the need for freedom of expression, to urge the editor to curb the prattle of the children.

Name Withheld Again



Commending the SP

Editor:

In his column, "Voice of the Fertile" in the Nov. 9 issue of the Daily Tar Heel, Charlie Gibson called the attempt by the Student party to correct certain abuses in he Student Legislature a "cheap campaign stunt."

This reminds me of some of the criticism leveled at Drew Pearson for his expose of Representative Thomas. It has always been a handy device of groups or individuals whose actions have been questionable to dodge the issue by retorting "mud-slinger!" or "cheap campaign stunt." Frankly, I think the action of the Student party is commendable but long overdue. The lethargy of the University party politics has too long been a bottleneck to smooth functioning student government.

Stan Smith

HORIZONTAL
1. ecclesiastical mantle
5. Biblical wise men
9. appendage flap
12. native metals
13. the dill
14. regret extremely
15. javelin
16. guiding
18. comfort
20. becomes blurred
21. matches
24. island (poet.)
25. hostel
26. food fish
29. outside: comb. form
32. feminine name
34. lubricate
35. cease
36. expired
37. petition
39. before
40. stroll
42. burdened
44. cubic metric unit
46. lose freshness
48. agreed
50. mountain stream
54. deep tub
55. Biblical weed
56. operatic solo
57. bitter vetch
58. begs
59. sloping corridor

VERTICAL
1. Massachusetts cape
2. Anglo-Saxon money
3. by
4. animal fat
5. church service
6. poker stake
7. to the right
8. bookkeeping entries
9. divided into three parts
10. female relative
11. implores
17. vexes
19. donkey
21. confused, as printer's type
22. prefix: against
23. concerns
24. useless
27. have confidence
28. suffer
30. lacerated
31. overt
33. worship
38. entire amount
41. openings
43. rose essence
44. preserve
45. Russian ruler
46. had been
47. March date
49. Greek letter
51. macaw
52. edge
53. drowse

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	A	I	R	O		O	L	A		A	B	A
O	U	T	E	R		R	A	M	B	L	E	S
T	R	E	A	T		E	N	T	A	I	L	S
	E	R	R		M	A	D		D	E	L	E
B	A	A		S	I	D	E	S		N	E	T
A	T	T	E	N	D		D	O	R
R	E	E	V	E			R	O	M	A	N
		E	E	L		R	E	B	A	T	E
C	A	B		R	O	V	E	S		R	O	W
O	R	A	L		S	E	A		S	I	N
A	E	R	A	T	E	D		M	A	N	I	A
S	T	E	W	A	R	D		A	G	E	N	T
T	E	D		U	S	A		T	A	R	G	E

11-12

Average time of solution: 25 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Gridders End Heavy Work For Maryland

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

A Letter to Ronnie Justice

DEAR RONNIE:

This letter isn't written to be read today. It is written for you, Ronnie, to be read some years from now when all those strange shapes and sounds you see and hear now have become clear and understandable to you. You're only 11 weeks old now and tipping the scales at a little over 12 pounds. Those blue eyes of yours are scanning everything in sight, but there is something that you're missing, Ronnie, that I want you to know about some day.

You see, Ronnie, though you are born into the famed Hall of Justice, there is one priviledge you will probably never be afforded—that of seeing your father play football at Carolina. For, I think of all the people who weekly crowd the stadiums where your daddy's Tar Heels perform, you, were you old enough, would be his favorite fan.

You will probably become a mischievous little fellow in a few years, Ronnie, and in your domestic travels, will sooner or later, stumble on a pile of big, leather bound books. You'll open a cover and turn the pages, and though the printing matter will have no meaning at all, you will finally come upon a picture, stop with childish wonderment and then exclaim, "That's my daddy!"

Never to See

YOU'LL GROW TO FIND more and more enjoyment from those scrapbooks, Ronnie, as the years go by, and they will come to be a pattern by which you will want to live. You will see movies, too, and become thrilled by the anxiety and excitement that could be caused by your father's athletic animation. But you will probably never see him play football.

So, I wanted to write this letter about your daddy. He was a great football player, Ronnie, who could do about anything that they've ever done with a football. When he first came to Carolina, your father was one of the country's leading runners after a brilliant service career. He became a great punter and then a great passer. What he didn't know, he was quick to learn and learn well.

He didn't shirk the little things in the game either. I remember the afternoon he threw a block that scored a winning touchdown. And there was a Sugar Bowl game his freshman year when your daddy made many a tackle that saved a Georgia touchdown. He was a team man, who played for the team and believed in the team. He gave the game everything he had and then some; and when he was out on the sidelines he became the Tar Heels' best and loudest rooter.

The Stress and Strain

YOUR FATHER PLAYED under a tremendous strain, Ronnie, a mental and physical stress that had conquered equally as great athletes. His Tar Heels' opponents each Saturday were out to do any bodily harm to him that they could in order that your father would play no further that day. The hated Dukes got him his freshman year, doubling his leg under him on a rough tackle. You could have heard a helmet drop as they worked over him, but then your daddy rose slowly and proceeded to lead his Tar Heels to a glorious victory. My, but you would have been proud of him that day.

Your daddy became more than a football player, Ronnie. He was a fable, a legend, and a reality all rolled into one. He proved that greatness endowed in so few, did not end Saturday after the game was over. It was an all the way job with him. Your daddy realized what he meant to those who worshipped him, young and old, and he never let them down. Never was he too busy to attend any rally for any cause or to participate in any way to help his fellow man. He seemed to be just as thrilled signing an autograph as was the young man who might be asking him for it.

Your daddy, Ronnie, lived and played hard and from his heart. He hated to lose, for in defeat, he felt only his own failures. He played the game to win and usually did. For me, it was as much of a thrill to write about him as it must have been for Coach Carl Snavely to have coached him. He was everybody's All-American.

Shoes to Fill

YOUR DADDY HAS left you some big shoes to fill, Ronnie. From your entrance into the world, he has tried not to overshadow you. His first wish was that you were not to be called little Choo Choo—and since your daddy has made so many friends, I doubt you ever will. But you will feel his fame, Ronnie, tugging at you all the time.

You'll probably see the dark day in some sandlot field when a disgusted 70-pound team mate will utter first those harsh words, "You'll never be as great as your father was, will ya?" That will be the start of it and after that, it will be twice as hard for you to accomplish anything. You will always be Choo Choo's boy until you've inscribed a name of your own on the sands of time.

You don't have to be a great athlete, Ronnie, for you will come to find greatness in all fields of life. And you don't have to fight these obstacles alone, either, for there will always stand behind you a man who will come to be great in your eyes not because of his ability to run, pass or kick a football, but because he is your father. And then his Tar Heels will become your Tar Heels and his greatness will become your greatness.

Aerial Game Gets Special Emphasis In Closing Drills

By Frank Allston

Emphasis was on passing yesterday as the Tar Heels wound up the heavy work in preparation for the big Maryland game in Griffith stadium in Washington tomorrow afternoon.

The Carolina gridders toiled long and hard on the rain-soaked turf of Navy field yesterday afternoon. The kickers were out 15 minutes earlier than the others and time was spent on kick-offs, extra points, punts and field goals.

Four teams saw action as Coach Carl Snavely sent his charges through an extended signal drill. Both the offensive and defensive set-ups smoothed out the wrinkles and were declared ready for the Terps.

Scout Reports

Coach Jim Gill, who last week sat in the stands as the Terps ran over South Carolina, 19-7 on a muddy field, had several things to say concerning this edition of the Maryland eleven.

"Maryland will score at least two touchdowns against us Saturday. If Carolina wins, our boys will have to score at least three touchdowns," spoke Gill. The Terps have averaged better than three touchdowns in their previous games while running up six victories to one lone defeat, suffered at the hands of Duke.

On the subject of that single Terp loss, Coach Gill added, "This Maryland team has improved fully 50 percent since the Duke game." Coach George Radman, who has witnessed the Maryland eleven in action even more than Gill added, "And it has improved 100 percent since last season."

Last Year

Last year the Tar Heels made a similar journey to Washington where they battled the Terps in the rain and mud of Griffith stadium. For three periods Mary-

(See GRIDDERS, page 4)

Injuries Hit Booters

An injury-laden Carolina soccer team worked out on Fetzer field yesterday afternoon, prepping for its return engagement with Duke in Durham Tuesday afternoon.

Outstanding injury on the squad belongs to Mac Hagaman, who dislocated his shoulder in the High Point game earlier this week. Hagaman will probably be out for the two remaining games of the campaign.

Pete Hexner injured his leg against High Point, but may be ready by Tuesday. Other men with faulty limbs are Gus Johnston and Tommy Jordan, both of whom will probably be set to go next week.

Maryland Veteran

HARRY BONK, Maryland fullback, is expected to do a good deal of the ball carrying in tomorrow's game at Washington. Bonk, a graduate student is a 200-pounder who is playing his third year in the Maryland backfield.

Here Is Roundup Of Day's Action In Mural Leagues

The powerful Graduate eleven and a fast-finishing Oakwood Drive team took opening victories in the dormitory Intramural tag football playoffs yesterday, with Kappa Sigma 2 earning the right to meet Beta 1 Monday in the league 3 championship contest by blanking DKE 2, 13-0, in the only fraternity tilt of the afternoon.

The Grads, winners of league 5 with a 7-0 record, were never in trouble as they trounced a fighting but hopelessly outclassed Mangum squad.

Oakwood Drive turned what looked like certain defeat into victory in a thrill packed 14-6 win over Emerson. With seconds to go in the ball game and the score 7-6 in favor of Oakwood, the Emerson gridders had the ball on Oakwood's one yard line, only to have a pass intercepted and returned to the midfield stripe by the rallying Oakwooders. On the next play, Lowe crossed the goal line to climax a terriffic drive that covered 100 yards in two plays.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Justice Favored To Set New Mark For Top Punting

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(UP)—Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, North Carolina's triple threat backfield star, can break a 12-year college punting record and still wind up second to Bill Boston of Montana State this season.

That oddity was revealed in the major college punting and pass receiving statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. Here's how it shapes up:

Although Boston currently tops the nation's booters with a brilliant average of 45.3 yards on 27 punts, it is unlikely that he'll kick 50 times this season—the number required for establishing a record. Montana State has only two games remaining on its schedule.

Can Set Record

Justice, however, has averaged 43.6 yards on 44 kicks and if he can maintain that pace in the Tar Heels' final three games, he will set a new record for the 12 years that the NCAB has been keeping official tabs on collegiate football performances.

The existing punting standard is 43.3 yards on 65 kicks set by Leslie Palmer of North Carolina State last year.

In pass receiving, John (Red) O'Quinn of Wake Forest regained top honors from Jimmy Ford of Tulsa after the lead in that specialty had changed hands six weeks in a row.

Weiner Fourth

Ford dropped to second with the same number of catches. 31, but only 366 yards and two six-pointers. Jimmy Lukens of Washington and Lee climbed from sixth place to third with 26 catches good for 387 yrads; Art Weiner of North Carolina ranked fourth with 25 for 381 yards, and Scott Beasly of Nevada fifth with 25 for 309 yards.

Behind Boston and Justice in punting came Hall Haynes of Santa Clara with an average of 43.3 yards on 33 kicks; Paul Stombaugh of Furman was fourth with a mark of 43.1 yards on 57 kicks, and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist fifth with a 41.9-yard average for 20 punts.

Cagers Continue Daily Drills; Opener Three Weeks Away

By Lew Chapman

Carolina's basketball outlook for the coming year rests in capable hands of some 25 hopefuls who are working out each afternoon at the gym under the watchful eye of Coach Tom Scott and his assistant, Pete Mullis.

These two gentlemen have the somewhat difficult task of selecting the most promising of these aspirants for the varsity squad and then molding five of them into a smooth-working combination that will be able to uphold the renown in the cage world that Tar Heel basketeers have created in years gone by.

It is dubious whether mentor Scott loses sleep over the prospective season but the fact remains that he has only four members from the 1947-48 crew to work with, three of whom are lettermen. From this nucleus, the court brain trust has formed a quint in this budding season that combines scoring ability, speed and height. Whether they can win remains to be seen.

The five that Coach Scott holds in highest esteem consists of monogram winners Nemo Nearman, Dan Nyimicz, and Coy Carson plus newcomers Hugh Kappler and Howard Deasy.

Nearman, a vital cog in Scott's plan where he will utilize his 6-6 frame to good use in Carolina's single post system, is a transplanted West Virginian in his third season of varsity competition.

Carson, an Asheville product in this day of commercialized basketball should come into his own this year as a promising contender for scoring laurels along with his running mate Kappler, a 6-2 Junior forward who possesses an amazing set shot. Nyimicz is a veteran guard who should be an asset in setting up plays and dumping in long shots. Deasy is being broken into the other guard slot and is progressing very well. Deasy is a giant of 6-5 and more accustomed to the center position, but his abilities warrant him a place on the first squad.

On the Road

Chapel Hill high school's unbeaten Wildcats are slated to travel to Oxford tonight at 8 p.m. to meet the Oxford high eleven in an owl battle. The locals, who are trying for their eighth consecutive win tonight, defeated Roxboro high by a lopsided margin last week.

Tailback Collier Hill is expected to carry the brunt of the Chapel Hill attack in tonight's battle under the arcs. Joe Hoenig, Bill Butler, and Lee Hill are also expected to come in for a lion's share of the offensive fireworks for the locals.

Bill Grice, the Chapel Hill coach, has reported no serious injuries during the past week and his squad is expected to be in top shape for tonight's battle.

The
COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

Sam Magill Rated As Top Contender In Cross Country

Sam Magill, Carolina junior, is one of the two contenders to cop the Southern conference cross country title at College Park, Md., Nov. 15.

Magill, who was born in Shanghai, China, has been the mainstay of the Tar Heel squad for the past two years. He came to Carolina in 1946 and each year has bettered his previous record on the track and cross country squads.

Described by Coach Dale Ranson as one of the all-time track greats ever to run for Carolina, Magill is the defending conference two-mile indoor champion. In 1947 he held the conference two mile outdoor title. He holds the cross country record at Carolina and has placed first in all six of the meets so far this year. His best time on the Chapel Hill course was against Duke last week when he was clocked at 21:38.4. for the four mile stretch.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

VOLLEYBALL

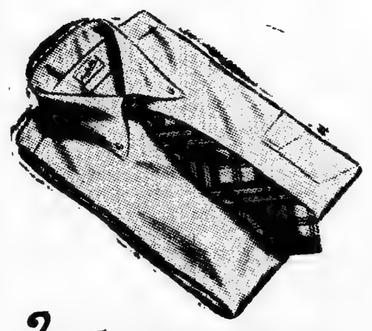
Phi Gam 1	Pi Lamb 2 0
Kappa Phi	Pi Lamb 3 1
Beta 1	ATO 3 1
Delt 2	SAE 3 0
KA 3	Phi Kap Sig 1 0
Phi Kap Sig 1	Phi Kap 3 0

TAG FOOTBALL

Grads	Mangum 0
Oakwood Dr.	Emerson 6
Kappa Sig	DKE 2 0

TABLE TENNIS

3 Oakwood Dr.	Med Sch 2 0
2 Phi Gam 2	AEPi 1 1
2 Phi Gam 1	ATO 2 1
3 Phi Delt 2	Chi Phi 2 0
2 TEP	SAE 2 1
2 Chi Psi 2	Chi Psi 2 1
3 Pi Lamb 1	Sig Chi 4 0
2 Mangum	Bombers 2 1
3 KA 3	DKE 1 0



THE NEW NEWS-REALISM No. 4
Look at the Action!
One of the tensest moments ever captured on film is this scene cut from the picture, itself ... "Cry Of The City," the year's most exciting hit!

Starring VICTOR MATURE · RICHARD CONTE
Directed by ROBERT SIODMAK · Produced by SOL C. SIEGEL
—Also—
LATEST NEWS
Now Playing
CAROLINA

The ORIENTAL
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

ALL I CAN HEAR IS Meet
at Sutton's
And Have a FROSTED
MALTED
SMALL—MEDIUM—LARGE
SUTTON'S
Drug Store
Complete Fountain Service

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a cheer leader. All-American Sweater Girl. Expert at pass defense. T (rrific) formation. The formation of a "Manhattan" shirt is terrific, too.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Burt. Also leads cheers. Popular button-down collar fits and looks just right. Fabric residual shrinkage 1% or less. In white, stripes and solid-colored oxfords.
CAMPUS FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1948, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

Ellis Stone
Durham's Best Store Since 1886

Here's A Wonderfully, Wearable
"Gwen Lee" Gabardine and only 14.95
A marvelous little frock to wear every day --- Smooth gabardine, tailored just as sketched above in six lovely colors. Aqua, Maroon, Peacock, Grey, Green and Beige. All sizes from 14 to 20.
SECOND FLOOR
Order By Mail
ELLIS STONE, DURHAM, N. C.
Send me the following Gwen Lee Frock as sketched above:
1st Choice: SIZE | COLOR | PRICE
2nd Choice: SIZE | COLOR | PRICE
Name .....
Address .....
Cash Inc. ( ) C.O.D. ( ) Charge ( )

Di Defeats Bill For Expelling Chinese Commies

A bill to have the United Nations suppress Communism in China was trounced by the Dialectic Senate with a vote of 14 to 3 Wednesday evening.

The measure which Gran Childress, ways and means chairman, introduced to the Di for debate provided that the United Nations should appoint a 10-man committee with members from none of the big four nations to investigate present political turmoil in China. If Communism was discovered crippling Far Eastern progress, the bill allowed that the United States should send troops into China to expel any Red faction found.

Sam Manning, chief advocate of the bill, felt that the United States should send troops into China even if Russia should veto a United Nations decision that Communism did exist in the area in question.

James Franklin started the New England Courant in 1721 in Boston.

NOW!
3 weeks delivery on your Tailored Suit
JERRY the TAILOR
Over N. C. Cafeteria

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 Cameron Avenue WRITE: P.O. Box 902

Low Prices? Yes!
Quality Goods? Yes!
Delivery? Yes!
It's—
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE

Piano Recital Is Set For Monday Evening

A varied program of classical and contemporary music will be heard Monday evening when John Kirkpatrick, associate professor of music at Cornell university, will present a piano recital at 8:30 in Hill hall auditorium.

The program is as follows: "In Nomine," John Bull; "The Barley-Break," William Byrd; "Fantasy and Sonata in C minor," Mozart; "Sonata," Hunter Johnson; "Toccata in E flat major," Theodore Chandler; "The Alcotts," Charles Ives, and "Nostalgic Waltzes," Ross Finney.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is a graduate of Lawrenceville school and a former student of Princeton university. He also received training in France at the American Conservatory of Fontainbleau and in Paris.

Since 1939 Mr. Kirkpatrick has been heard in many colleges, annually in New York, and in solo appearances throughout the country. He has given many lecture-recital series and has appeared often in festivals of American music. During his career as pianist, he has made a specialty of new music and rarely heard works.

JOHN KIRKPATRICK

Merely 'Joking'

The vote of the entire audience concerning the existence of God during Tuesday night's meeting of the Phi Assembly as reported in Wednesday's Daily Tar Heel, was 13 to 11 in favor of "questioning the existence of God."

Two students voting for the bill were recorded in the minutes as only "questioning" and not voting against God.

Bill Duncan stated he raised the possibility of Henry Wallace's being a second Christ as a joke and he is definitely not a Wallacite.

Frosh Assembly Hears Dr. Hanft Talk On Freedom

"Freedom is good only for nations who have acquired the faculty to discipline themselves," Dr. Frank Hanft, professor in the University Law school, stated during freshman assembly yesterday at Memorial hall.

He said: "Freedom takes character; freedom has been good for America, but it took character to achieve it," adding that more character is needed to maintain it. Hanft spoke on Americanism's Answer to Communism.

The speaker said that peace has not been achieved, because the struggle out of which arises global conflicts is not yet finished between Communism and Americanism.

"Communists are enemies of democracy or any other form of government other than Communism," stated Hanft, explaining that Americanism is a revolutionary movement "toward freedom."

The first newspaper in the American colonies told its readers, "It is designed that the Countrey shall be furnished once a moneth (or if any Glut of Occurrences happen, oftener,) with an account of such considerable things as have arrived unto our Notice."

'Y' to Mold Conference Plans Monday

The first planning meeting for the second annual mid-winter conference of the YM-YWCA will be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by John Hough, conference co-chairman. The meeting will be held in the room next to the Carolina Inn cafeteria.

Hough explained that the Monday night meeting is open to all students. He said, "We especially invite the freshmen and new students to attend, since campus problems are fresh in their minds."

The Monday meeting will discuss plans for the forthcoming mid-winter conference. "The conferences," said Hough, "are designed to help reach a better understanding of contemporary problems of interest to students."

The site of the first conference, held last year, was Natural Bridge, Va. The proposed location of this year's conference is Montreat, N. C. Lil Hotard is co-chairman representing the YWCA group, and Monday's meeting is being held so that all interested students may have a hand in determining the types of problems and topics for the conference program.

-Gridders-

(Continued from page 3)

land held the Carolina eleven scoreless.

Then, with eight minutes left in the final quarter, Tar Heel fullback Walt Pupa drove through the middle for the initial tally. Minutes later Charlie Justice added a second touchdown and with a minute left, wingback Fred Sherman intercepted a pass and streaked along the north sidelines for the finale. Bob Cox added the point and the happy Tar Heels went home with a 19-0 win.

-Scott-

(Continued from page one)

by the Democratic Chairman McGrath against the state right party "does not amount to anything one way or the other." When asked if he thought the hospital division plan he had recommended to the Budget commission could be handled financially by the legislature he answered, "Yes, if they split it (federal funds already granted) right.

"AS LUSTY A PICTURE AS YOU COULD WISH." — N.Y. TIMES
Luscious VIVIANE ROMANCE as CARMEN
FRENCH DIALOGUE-ENGLISH SUB TITLES
VILLAGE THEATRE THUR., NOV. 18

Rent Rule Clarification Released By Officer

Because some of the off-campus living quarters in Chapel Hill are under rent control and others are not, F. A. Pollard, director-attorney of the area rent control office, has announced the types of housing accommodations which are under rent control and those which were decontrolled by the Housing and Rent Act of 1948.

Rooms which have been rented in the past are registered in the rent office, 203 Henninger building, and remain in control, Pollard said. Students who wish to determine the legal maximum rent for quarters they occupy may do so by calling at the office, F-3331.

Included in the types of housing that were decontrolled by the new rent law are trailers or trailer spaces, new construction completed or conversions created after Feb. 1, 1945, and Feb. 1, 1946, and unrented between the completion date and June 30, 1947; housing accommodations not rented for any successive 24-month period from Feb. 1, 1947, and unrented be- inclusive; and non-housekeeping furnished rooms in private homes, but only if there are no more than two paying tenants who are not members of the landlord's immediate family and if the remaining portion of the dwelling unit is occupied by the landlord or his immediate family.

Cheerleaders To Be Chosen

Tryouts for cheerleaders to serve at freshman games will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Kenan stadium for freshman males and junior girls only, Head Cheerleader Norm Sper announced yesterday.

Sper said the tryouts will also aid in choosing a squad for the cheerleaders to be named in the spring. The meeting will move indoors to the Tin Can in the event of rain.

CLASSIFIED

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

TYPING EFFICIENTLY DONE. Thesis, term papers, plays. Quick service. Call F-3691. (ch 1x1)

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

VARIOUS PIECES OF SECONDHAND furniture. Radio, table model washing machine. Call Mrs. Adams, 4171 on November 13 and 14. (2-8048-1)

CLASS RINGS. IMPORTED SWISS sets, engraving and encrusting. Representing one of the oldest manufacturers of college rings in the nation. See Ewell Setzer, 214 "C" Dorm. (2-8059-1)

MAPLE SOFA-BED, WING CHAIR, end table. All matching. Excellent condition. Will sell separately. 119 Polk Street after 5 p.m. (2-8056-1)

LOST 12

LADIES' GOLD HAMILTON WRIST watch. Lost between Navy field and Kenan Stadium. Reward. Telephone 7726. (1-8057-1)

BROWN BILLFOLD NEAR BUS STATION Sunday afternoon. Contains I.D. card of A. J. Blanton. Reward for return to Mrs. H. R. Hoy, The Pines. (2-8049-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

NEED EITHER TWO OR FOUR CAROLINA Duke tickets. I'm willing to dicker. Write terms and seat locations to Box 5329, Raleigh. (2-8053-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Wind Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

DRAPERIES
SLIPCOVERS
BEDSPREADS
Selection of Material on Hand
Miss Lillian Edwards
CAROLINA DRAPERY SHOP
In Ogburn Furniture Co.

LOOK TRIM BY BEING TRIMMED
See Us Before Going Away for the Week-end
University Barber Shop
Franklin Street

B. ALTMAN & CO.
FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK

Altman's College Shop
BRINGS NEW YORK FASHIONS TO THE SOUTH
A winsome collection of fresh new fashions in juniors', misses', women's and children's sizes.
We'll be at HOTEL WASHINGTON DUKE
Durham, N. C.
Monday and Tuesday
November 15 and 16

YOU'LL FIND
ADVENTURE . . .
ACTION . . .
ROMANCE . . .
IN

OLD LOS ANGELES
Starring
William ELLIOTT • John CARROLL
Catherine McLEOD • Joseph SCHILDKRAUT
with Andy Devine • Estelita Rodriguez
and Virginia Brissac • Grant Withers • Tito Renaldo
A REPUBLIC PICTURE

Screen Play by Gerald Adams and Clements Ripley
Associate Producer and Director
JOE KANE
—Also—
LATEST NEWS
Today
VILLAGE

"Brilliant styling is only half their glory!"
said ROSALIND RUSSELL when she learned of the new DuraPower Mainspring in ELGIN Watches

"BEST-DRESSED WOMAN" Rosalind Russell, starring in "The Velvet Touch", Independent Artists Picture released by RKO Radio
ELGIN watches
TIMED TO THE STARS!
The genius of America ★ to wear on your wrist
HEAR ELGIN'S "2 HOURS OF STARS" CHRISTMAS DAY, NBC NETWORK

*Made of "Elgiloy" metal. Patent pending
Lord and Lady Elgins are priced from $67.50 to $5000.00. Elgin De Luxe from $47.50 to $67.50. Other Elgins as low as $29.75. All these prices include the Federal Tax.
Almost important accessory in a woman's attire is a smartly styled watch. The new Elgin Watches are acclaimed in best-dressed circles all over America. Yet, as Miss Russell said, "Brilliant styling is only half their glory." Beneath their beauty is a remarkable advancement in timekeeping—Elgin's DuraPower Mainspring.
Here for the first time in any watch is a mainspring that will never rust—and rust is the greatest cause of breakage. A mainspring that holds its original "springiness" for a permanency of timekeeping performance never before possible. Here, in all new Elgins at no extra cost, is a mainspring that eliminates 99% of watch repairs due to steel mainspring failures.
Surely you'll want the very smartest styling in your watch, and this newest achievement of America's creative and productive genius. Give someone a gift hint! Only in an Elgin Watch can you have both . . . an Elgin with the DuraPower symbol "dp" on the dial.

Luscious Steaks Made for Tarheels—at HARRY'S

DAILY TAR HEEL CLASSIFIED ADS
SHOWS HOW YOU CAN SAVE TIME & MONEY

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

What Trying Times
On The Language
Need More Like It

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and Warmer

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 45

Tar Heels Engage Old Liners In Washington

Special Session Of Solons Urged

Sen. Bridges Would Also Send MacArthur Or Other Top-Flight Military to China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—A special session of Congress to provide immediate emergency help for Communist-threatened China was proposed today by Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H.

He also urged prompt dispatch of a top-notch American military adviser to China, such as Gen. Douglas MacArthur or Gen. Albert Wedemeyer, to help stiffen Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's shaken defenses.

Bridges' move coincided with the disclosure that Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo called on acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett yesterday to deliver an urgent plea for immediate American help.

The envoy said he spent 45 minutes with Lovett explaining "the gravity of the situation in China and the importance of immediate American aid — both material and moral — to the Chinese cause."

He said the United States is doing her best to speed up deliveries of the $125,000,000 worth of arms and $275,000,000 worth of economic goods ticketed for his country under the $400,000,000 China aid program passed by the 80th Congress.

Bridges said the situation in China is "desperate," although Chiang's forces are claiming victory in a critical battle with Communist armies on the northern approaches to Nanking.

He called on President Truman to summon the 80th Congress to receive the "real facts" and take whatever action is needed.

"A positive and effective American air program is urgently needed to prevent the Communists from taking over the whole of China, lock, stock and barrel," he said.

A White House spokesman at Mr. Truman's Key West, Fla. vacation retreat said the President had no comment on the special session proposal.

Bridges, who is chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee and of the joint Congressional committee created to keep tabs on American foreign aid programs, gave no indication that he had cleared his proposal with the Republican leadership.

He put the decision squarely up to President Truman, although the Republican high command also can recall the lawmakers for a lame duck session between now and the end of the year, when the 80th Congress dies and the Democrats come into power.

But there appeared little likelihood that either the President or the GOP leaders would issue a special session call.

School Students To Collect Paper In City Sunday

A waste paper drive will be conducted tomorrow afternoon by members of the Chapel Hill high school student body to obtain funds for the high school recreation center, Roy B. Barham, adult chairman of the drive, announced yesterday.

Mr. Barham and Bill Bland, student chairman, urged the local residents to put their bundles of waste paper in front of their homes by 1:30 Sunday afternoon. Trucks furnished by merchants of Chapel Hill will be used to pick up the paper. Mr. Barham stated that the drive Sunday should raise the amount of the recreation fund to over $1000.

The collection of the waste paper was started by the high school students about a year ago to support their recreation center. The drive is conducted each month, and the paper is sold to the Manchester Board and Paper Company in Roanoke, Va.

Zionists Hear Rabbi Gulstrom At Initial Meet

Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America held its first general meeting on Thursday night at Graham Memorial. Rabbi Simon Gulstrom of the Beth-El synagogue in Durham spoke on the influence of Zionism on the American Jew.

Morton Rubin, educational director of the IZFA, summarized the purposes and plans of the organization, after which Irving Greenspon, IZFA president, introduced Rabbi Glustrom.

Rabbi Glustrom pointed out that in influencing the Gentile, Zionism seems to have quelled anti-semitism.

Zionism uplifts Jewish morale, the Rabbi said. Jewish history is no longer a tradegy but an epic creation, he added.

Summing up the progress the Jew has made in his struggle for freedom, the Rabbi declared, "In spite of many failures in the history of the Jew, he can always look back to Palestine and say, 'The hope is here in the land of Israel'."

England Society Honors Dr. Craig

Dr. Hardin Craig of the University English department has just been elected a fellow in the Royal Society of Literature of the United Kingdom, it was learned here yesterday.

Dr. Craig received word of his election to the Society at the University of Missouri where he is serving as guest professor and lecturer.

He is the third living American to be honored by the distinguished literary organization.

Dr. Craig said that his election was probably a gesture of appreciation in view of his recent visits and lectures. As a guest lecturer at the Stratford-On-Avon Shakespearean conferences during the past two summers, Dr. Craig established acquaintances with various members of the Royal Society.

WEARING SPECIAL ARCTIC ATTIRE, units of the Second Marine Corps Brigade hit a Newfoundland beachhead after pouring out of landing craft nosed well up into the shore. This mock attack was aimed at taking over a theoretical major airport held by the enemy. The maneuvers were part of U. S. naval exercises in the North Atlantic, the largest of their type since the end of World War II.

Fraternity Authority Will Speak On Campus

Dr. Mosely Will Hold Two-Day Program Under Auspices of Fraternity Group

Dr. John O. Mosely, president of the University of Nevada and the foremost authority in America on the social fraternity, will begin a two-day discussion program on campus Monday afternoon, Jack Thompson, president of the Interfraternity council announced today.

"We have invited Dr. Mosely to Carolina to aid us in preparing a more complete fraternity program here," Thompson said. While here, Dr. Mosely will lead seminar discussions with campus leaders on all phases of fraternity life.

A banquet is scheduled for Monday night at the Carolina Inn, at which fraternity leaders and faculty members will be present. Dr. Mosely will address the freshman assembly Tuesday morning and further discussions will be held that afternoon. Plans are being completed for a meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 in Hill Hall to which the entire campus will be invited.

Dr. Mosely, who is a member of the permanent committee of the National Interfraternity conference, is former Dean of students at the University of Tennessee. At the University he instituted a program called Greek Week, a substitute for the now defunct Hell week. This program has brought Dr. Mosely national recognition.

President Thompson requests all members of social organizations on campus, fraternities as well as sororities, to attend the Tuesday night meeting.

Cosmopolitan Club to Hold Meet in GM

The Cosmopolitan club, composed of foreign and American students, will hold an organizational meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, club sponsors announced yesterday.

Ken Lowry of Plymouth, England, will speak on "Progress of Socialism in England," at the opening meeting. Election of officers and a social hour will follow.

Dr. Guy H. Wells To Speak to YWCA

Dr Guy H. Wells, president of Georgia State college for Women at Milledgeville, will speak at the YWCA cabinet meeting Monday on the educational program in Germany.

Wells, who was educational adviser to military government in Germany, will speak on the educational program in Germany.

The speaker is president of the Georgia Historical society, and president of the Georgia Association of College Presidents.

Sexually Sick

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The "Kinsey Report" on the sex life of the human male was characterized today by a British sociologist as "a picture of sexual behavior in a sexually sick society."

In the first cautious comment from England on Dr. Kinsey's work, Dr. David Mace, secretary of the Marriage Guidance council, said the report emphasized the "disturbed state of family life in America."

Mace's remarks to a forum on British family life were reported by the British Medical Journal. Other speakers at the forum also attacked the Kinsey report for its "non-idealistic outlook."

Mace said that his own experience in council cases opposed Kinsey's conclusion that pre-marital relations did not cause subsequent marital adjustment. He said there was a greater tendency for those with pre-marital histories to break away from marriages under stress.

Nathan Cooper To Speak at YW Coffee Klatsch

Nathan Cooper, executive secretary of the Family Service agency in Durham, will be the speaker at the regular Coffee Klatsch which will be conducted Tuesday at 7:30 at the Y office.

Everyone is invited to hear Cooper, who received his AB at UCLA and his MA in psychiatric social work at the University of Chicago. He served five years in the army, working in the Adjutant General's office and recently came to Durham from New York where he worked for the United Service for New Americans and the Jewish Family Welfare service.

Gordon Blackwell Speaks in Durham

Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, director of the Institute for Research in Social Science at the University, will deliver the keynote address of the annual Resource-Use Education Conference of the Piedmont region at North Carolina college in Durham today. The program will begin at 10 o'clock this morning and run until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Participating schools from 14 counties have been invited to attend the conference and will be welcomed by Alfonso Elder, president of N. C. C.

Ferne Hughes Tells Of Big City

By Bill Buchan

How does it feel to have an expense-free week in New York packed with photographers, hairdressers, fashion editors, George Murphy and Sherman Billingsley's Stork Club? And how does it feel to receive one full carton of Drene Shampoo every three weeks? Carolina's Drene Girl, Ferne Hughes, knows all the answers.

Last spring Ferne was selected along with five other girls from Southern and Western colleges to model in New York for Drene Shampoo ads. The stories of her adventures in the big city are still continuing, as we said, with the arrival of the Drene every three weeks and not-so-witty cracks about her haircut.

According to Ferne, the now famous hair-cutting scene was executed on Tuesday, her second day in New York, when both hairdressers and photographers agreed that shorter hair would be more becoming.

Drene Girl Likes Short Hair Style

The cutting scene was preceded, however, by a spree of trying on clothes on Monday and a visit to Radio City Monday night. Tuesday night included a radio broadcast, and Wednesday, Ferne accompanied two of the other girls on a tour of the big town. That night, all six girls, complete with dates, set up headquarters in the Stork Club and were presented cologne by Mr. Billingsley, himself. The "meeting" with George Murphy occurred Wednesday, too, when the actor entered the elevator with the Drene girls and accompanied them to an upper floor.

Thursday's activities consisted of a session with New York fashion editors on the college girls' ideas on fashion. "My main comment," says Ferne, "was merely that I prefer long dresses and short hair." The Thursday program ended with an afternoon cocktail party for the girls, given by the Associated Press and a television broadcast, followed by another nightclub tour at night.

The week's program ended with a tour of the advertising plant of Compton's and choice seats for "Brigadoon." The group's chaperone climaxed the week with a party after the show Friday night. Saturday morning, bright and early, the temporary models were on their own again.

However, the results of the week in New York are yet to be seen by Carolina students and the rest of the United States. Ferne and the other five girls will be smiling from magazine ads during the month of May, if present plans work out. The girls are being featured also in radio com-

(See Ferne Hughes, page 4)

More Liberals Needed In GOP States Morse

Face Other Defeats, Senator Warns Party

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(UP)—Sen. Wayne Morse R., Ore., said today the Republicans face more elections defeats unless "constitutional liberals" within the party work together to bring it closer to the grass roots.

Morse joined the growing ranks of GOP critics who blamed the party's turndown at the polls Nov. 2 on failure to get close enough to the thinking and wishes of the people.

At the same time the Westerner attributed part of the election upset to failure of the "Republican organization" to take "unequivocal yes-and-no stands on a series of specific issues which were disturbing large groups of voters."

He said he hopes the more liberal elements of his party—Morse calls them "constitutional liberals" in contrast to Democratic liberals—will work effectively together in the new Congress.

Medal Of Honor Given Widows Of War Heroes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(UP)—America gave its highest honor today to two Pennsylvanians who helped to win World War II.

The men, Staff Sergeants John W. Minick of Mechanicsburg, Pa., and Gus Kefurt of Sharon, Pa., both died in action in Germany.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, hung the prized congressional medal of honor ribbons around the necks of their widows, Mrs. Mary R. Minick and Mrs. Frances E. Kefurt, and said softly to each:

"Congratulations. Awfully sorry he is not here to receive it himself."

He shook hands solemnly with Robert and Patricia Kefurt, Kefurt's 9 and 7 year-old children.

Minick led a platoon through an enemy mine field near Hurgen, Germany, on Nov. 21, 1944. That was when things were still tough for the invading Allied armies.

Under heavy machine gun fire, he killed 20 Germans and took 20 prisoners. Then he was killed by an exploding mine.

Gus crept through an opening in a stone wall, and ran smack into 15 German SS troopers. He raised his tommy gun and killed 10 of them, taking taking the rest prisoners.

Capacity Crowd Due For Capital City Battle

Carolina Is Odds-on Favorite Over Once-Beaten Terrapins

By Zane Robbins

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—Coach Carl Snavely and his undefeated but once-tied North Carolina Tar Heels arrived here late yesterday afternoon after a fast plane trip from Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels retired to their hotel immediately upon their arrival and began last-minute preparations for today's game with the Maryland Terps in Clark Griffith stadium. The kick-off is slated for 2 p.m. and a sellout crowd is anticipated.

The Carolinians held a short but snappy workout in Kenan stadium yesterday morning before leaving for the nation's capital in the evening and seemed to be in top form for this afternoon's game.

Alumni festivities were booked for a large number of the Carolina entourage last night and a parade was scheduled for this morning. Head cheerleader Norm Sper also had plans for a mammoth pep rally on the agenda. A motorcade through the streets of the nation's capital was ruled out by District of Columbia police a few days ago.

A throng of some 7,500 students, alumni, and "born and bred" Tar Heels poured into Washington late yesterday and early this morning. Blue and white streamered cars, signs reading "Beat Maryland", and the "Stars and Bars", symbol of the Confederacy, were predominate along the thoroughfares of the capital city, proclaiming that the Carolinians had arrived.

One of the largest college football crowds in the history of the nation's capital is expected to jam every nook and corner of Griffith stadium, just off Rhode Island avenue on Seventh street, for today's game between two of the toughest teams in the Southern conference. The game will climax seven days of merry-making in Washington. Autumn Carnival week has been in progress all week for students of the University of Maryland and some 10,000 Maryland students are expected to be in attendance for the game.

Carolina was jarred from the nation's list of teams with perfect records last week when they were deadlocked by an inspired William and Mary eleven. At the same time, the Old Liners were carving out a 19-7 victory over South Carolina on a muddy field. Add to this the fact that the rivalry between Carl Snavely and Jim Tatum is one of the liveliest in Southern football and today's game is a "natural".

The Tar Heels departed from Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon in high spirits and excellent physical condition. Minor injuries which had plagued the Snavelymen at the first of the week were gone and aside from the usual list of injured, Al Bernot, Fred Sherman, and Don Hartig, the Tar Heels were in top shape. No serious injuries were reported in the Maryland camp but reserves Bill Everson and Alden Murphey were still on the doubtful list.

The Carolina attack, as usual, will be centered around the scintillating end sweeps of Choo Choo Charlie Justice and the bone-crushing plunges of Hosea "Ramrod" Rodgers. Justice and Rodgers along with Billy Hayes can also be expected to put on a talent-laden aerial circus for the Washingtonians this afternoon. Dashing Johnny Clements and big Art Weiner are also expected to figure largely in the Tar Heel offensive program.

The Maryland attack is embodied in the persons of Jim LaRue, Vic Turyn, Johnny Idzik, and Harry Bonk and spings from the deadly split-T formation.

Once again the old story of single-wing vs. split-T will have an airing today. Both Snavely and

(See CAROLINA-TERPS, p. 3)

Summer Session Registration To Begin June 9

The first summer school session for 1949 will begin with registration on June 9 and will close on July 19, it was announced yesterday by Dean Guy B. Phillips. The second summer session will begin July 20 and end August 27.

A large enrollment is expected in the professional and graduate schools, and a program will be planned for students beginning at the freshmen level and continuing through to the graduate level.

Over 350 different courses will be offered with special activities for different groups desiring further educational opportunities.

Dean Phillips, director of the summer school, is attending the meeting of deans and directors of summer sessions at Nashville, Tennessee this week-end and will return Sunday.

Spivak Tickets Continue on Sale

Tickets for the Duke-Carolina weekend dances, featuring Charlie Spivak and his orchestra, will go on sale again Tuesday morning in Y court.

Dance books are available at $5 each. Tickets for the Friday afternoon concert in Memorial auditorium are $1 each.

The Friday night dance will be from 9 until 1 o'clock, and the Saturday night dance from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Lansing Shield Killed in Crash In Oklahoma

Lansing P. Shield Jr., a former student at the University; was killed in a plane crash on Monday, Nov. 1, at Muldrow, Okla.

Shield was a transfer student from Rutgers university and had come here in the spring quarter of 1948. He lived with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. O'Neal, at 410 Church street, while in school here.

Late News Bulletins

Calls Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(UP)—A strike of 45,000 longshoremen in every port along the Atlantic coast effective at midnight tonight, was called today by Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, AFL.

No Comment

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 12.—(UP)—The White House declined to comment today on a request by Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., that President Truman call a special session of Congress to give more aid to China. The President spent another restful day at his usual vacation schedule of a swim, a nap and a stroll. He was joined at his vacation retreat late in the day by his wife and daughter, Margaret.

Standing By

LONDON, Nov. 12—(UP)—Nurse Helen Rowe took "command" of the Buckingham Palace staff today and ordered an extra vigil until the birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby. She is the registered midwife who will attend the Royal birth, expected Sunday or thereafter. Sir William Gilliatt, who will deliver the baby stood by for the summons to move into the palace.

'Real' Leader

TOKYO, Nov. 12—(UP)—The Australian judge who passed sentence on 25 major Japanese war criminals today bluntly denounced Japan's Emperor Hirohito as the real "leader of the crime." Sir William Webb, president of the war crimes tribunal, indirectly criticized allied leaders for the fact that Hirohito, "although available for trail, had been granted immunity."

Need More Like It.

Since the student cooperative out in Victory Village was organized two years ago and began running smoothly, most students haven't heard much about it. This doesn't mean that the coop isn't doing things, as most married students can prove. In fact, it is performing outstanding service for its more than a thousand members.

Started as a buying club, the coop expanded into a grocery store in Victory Village last June. It is a non-profit organization, returning all income above expenses to its customers in the form of a purchase dividend paid every six months. The dividend has been running about five per cent, which means that each customer gets back five per cent of the total amount of his purchases. Membership in the coop is open to any veteran or member of a veteran's family. It is primarily for faculty members and students although some townspeople are members.

Although other cooperative projects have been tried here before, none has ever lasted very long. The present coop attributes much of its success to the fact that it has not tried to cut prices and steal business from other grocery stores in town. It keeps prices on a competitive level and substitutes the purchase dividend for cut prices.

This campus needs more organizations that operate as quietly and efficiently as the coop.

On the Language

The first thing that a budding journalist must learn is to "blank blank" use the dictionary. In his search for the exact word, or an alternate word to liven up his copy, he has become more and more confused.

F'rinstance the word fast has a multiple of meanings and has our sports department tearing their hair as to whether or not it applies to our football players. To quote Webster we find that fast means: to abstain from food; to practice abstinence as a religious exercise or as a token of grief; firmly fixed; sound as sleep; permanently dyed; fleet; imparting quickness of motion as a fast pitcher; making for rapidity of action as a fast track; impelled or characterized by zest for excitement or pleasure, hence dissipated; reckless; tricky and rapid.

Now, we are certain that our team is eating well; going to church; maybe a little sad if they don't get a lot of touchdowns; certainly tricky and rapid; very fleet when occasion demands and definitely swift. On the other hand we hope that they are not firmly fixed; permanently dyed or dissipated.

This is but one example. If we had space we would continue by giving you more vagaries of the English language such as the definitions of the word pass and rut.

What we need is somebody to give us a new language. Maybe Chinese huh? —L.K.

What Trying Times

The election returns from the General Election of the past week should all be in by now. These returns are world-shaking, if the reader will think about it. This was pointed out by a sweet old lady on a bus last week. No doubt the election of 1936 shook people's faith in polls. But this one should make certain about the matter.

This means no doubt that all polls except those conducted by a gentleman from Independence, Missouri, are faulty. Since this gentleman has a job for the next four years, however, he evidently doesn't need the business. So also must be included the poll recently taken by Dr. Kinsey. Egad! What a change this will mean in the sex life of the human male. This means that well over fifty percent of the would-be divorcees will have to reconsider. Ironically enough this had to happen just as South Carolina decided to take real action on its divorce law. What trying times we face! —A.G.M.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor.....ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager.....T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor.....Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor.....Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed.....Sally Woodhull
Town Ed.....Herb Nachman
Feature Ed.....Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed.....Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr.....C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr.....Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr.....Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr.....Betty Huston

Staff for Today: Editor: Bill Buchan; Managing Editor: Bill Buchan; Night Editor: Jim Dickinson; News Staff: Sally Woodhull, J. L. Merritt, Charles Pritchard, Leonard Dudley, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS:

JUST FOR YOU. The Town Talk Trio are now available for any kind of show you want to put them on; so just contact one of them—Jack Sturgell, Gene Stryker, or Jim Teressa. And you'll have a performance that just won't stop.

TELL YOU WHAT we're gonna do— We don't have too much to tell you about what's happening around the Hill on-account-of-because so many of the troops have taken off for the capital city. So how's about our taking a look over a few other campuses?

Word has reached us from Washington university in St. Louis, Mo., of a plan for the student rating of faculty members. You know, we've tried such a system around here, but we've never heard the results. Anyhoo, the plan at Washington called for the students to rate their instructors in all liberal arts courses on the basis of 12 criteria with a grade scale ranging from one to five. The results were to be tabulated mechanically and revealed only to the instructor concerned in each case, no report going to the dean. Some of the faculty opposed the measure and suggested that the students might conduct a poll—then they got into a big powwow over the disadvantages of a popularity poll.

We still don't know what the outcome there was, but we suggest that the Carolina administration keep itself informed of such experiences of other schools, evaluate them, and then formulate a policy—one way or the other—of being in favor of or opposed to a student faculty rating plan.

Every now and then somebody here says something about putting the frosh through a kind of rat week; so we thought we'd let you in on what we hear about the frosh way down in Louisiana on "Dog Day." And believe us, it really shouldn't happen to a dog.

The girls have to wear blue jeans backwards, covered by skirts upside down, backward, and inside out. This is topped by a flannel pajama top worn backward with a loud sash.

One high heel shoe and one low heel shoe; unmatched gloves, and thirteen pigtails finish things off.

The poor fellows have to appear in pajamas worn backwards with one leg rolled to the knee; different colored socks, but no shoes.

All the frosh have to wear dinks, hang onions around their necks, and carry their books in a box pulled by a string. The upperclassmen apply makeup. When addressed by upperclassmen the rats are required to reply with a string of 50 to 100 words that only Webster could understand—etc., ad infinitum. In short, life can be beautiful at the Hill.

The folks down in Pineville, La., are all worried about the situation of the world. They say, "Take, for instance, some of the problems that the new telescope on Mount Palomar is expected to shed some light on. They hope to discover whether the universe is curved as Einstein believed. Around the college, the belief is prevalent that this is the reason why boomerangs have a nasty habit of conking people behind the head. Poor, ignorant kindergarten kids think that the shape of the boomerang is the cause of this. Also, this phenomena of the universe is attributed to be partly the cause of so many college students going around in circles."

The journalism professor at a mid-western school took one glance at the story turned in by a lovely coed and tossed it in the west-basket, recalls the Campus Collegian.

Next day in the classroom, he reconstrated the would-be journalist with: "Young lady, don't you know that accuracy is to the newspaper what virtue is to the woman?"

We'll come back home on that one! 'Bye now 'till day-after-Washington.

The Problem Is Where to Cut

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This Is Carolina

SDA Hits Happy Medium

By Lincoln Kan

Students for Democratic Action came into being when the United States Student Assembly voted to become the student division of Americans for Democratic Action. The student members of the SDA launched their newly re-vitalized group at a convention in Washington with their new parent outfit, which included some of the foremost liberal Democrats in the United States.

Here at the University, Dr. C. B. Robson, former head of the political Science department and Dr. E. J. Woodhouse also of that department helped students organize the Carolina chapter in 1947. Immediately the SDA launched into a campaign on food conservation during the European food crisis last winter. Later in the year it came out in active support of Mayne Albright in the state gubernatorial contest. In line with its political liberalism the SDA took a poll which revealed that a large majority of graduate and professional school students had no objection to the admission of qualified Negro graduate students to the University.

When the deadline for voting approached, the SDA's were in there punching and reminding folks they had better find out about voting. They set a desk in the Y and gave just about any answers anyone wanted concerning his status as a voter whether in-state or out-of-state. They provided a laudable service. Politically they were backing President Truman, Chester Bowles in Connecticutt, Hubert Humphrey in Minnesota and Paul Douglas in Illinois. (Incidentally all came out winners.)

Charlie Sellers, Jr., of Chapel Hill; Bud Dixon of Atlanta; Maude Thomas of Birmingham and Dewey Hinkle of High Point are the guiding group on this campus for the SDA's. They have a philosophy which we as students and Americans might well examine closely. The SDA doesn't claim to have all the answers to all world problems. As a result they seem to be suspicious of dogmatisms whether of the extreme right or left. The SDA agrees generally on principles leaving its members room to disagree on details. What is most encouraging is that the SDA insists on the importance of practical doing in politics and other work rather than long-winded discussions and resolution-passing. Above all, and we agree, they insist that freedom is equally important with economic security, a fact that some "liberals" tend to forget.

This columnist has read and watched the activities of the SDA's for a considerable time. It seems that now the elections are over the majority of younger members of different parties are tending to relax and forget the principles they fought for during election times when party lines were drawn tight. Most parties begin at once to re-organize and prepare for the next battle, but the student voter forgets and learns little about the parts which he must play in the national political scene when he leaves college. The SDA, however, remains as active now as during the election.

Among all the political organizations, the Students for Democratic Action seem to have hit a happy medium. They want to think. They want to act. And whichever they do, they temper it with moderation. Their thinking is a liberal's haven. Their action is an American action.

Alumni Series

From Carolina To Cabinet

By Wink Locklair

Kenneth C. Royall, the first Secretary of the Army in the new unification program, is a Carolina graduate. When he succeded Robert Patterson as Secretary of War in July, 1947, Royall was the ninth alumnus to become a Presidential Cabinet member, the first North Carolinian in the Cabinet since Josephus Daniels was Secretary of the Navy under Wilson.

Of the many news and praiseworthy events in the Royall chronicle, his defense of the seven Nazi saboteurs in 1942 is probably the most outstanding. President Roosevelt, knowing Royall's excellent law background in Goldsboro and Raleigh, appointed him as defense counsel for the Germans, who had been captured on Long Island. It was not a particularly welcome assignment, for anti-Nazi sentiment was at its peak during that period. But Royall prepared the defense with such skill and purpose that the nation's leading newspapers singled him out for editorial commendation.

KENNETH C. ROYALL

The position which he now holds in Washington has not dampened Secretary Royall's enthusiasm for Chapel Hill. He is interested in University affairs because he was always active on campus. Members of the Class of '14 remember him as a tall, (he's now 6.5) friendly fellow who represented the Philanthropic society in a memorable debate with Johns Hopkins university. Royall was Phi Beta Kappa, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, and the Gorgon's Head. South building, Old East, Archer annex and DKE hall were home during his four-year stay. And he likes to see these places when he comes to town, as he did for the Carolina-LSU game a few weeks ago.

Today, at 54, Royall works a long, hard day at his office in the Pentagon building. The job he is doing in Washington is a credit to himself and the University. But the Capitol Whirl has not cost him his pleasant, cordial manner. When an alumni questionnaire reached him a while back, he filled in the "special activities" blank with these words: "I'm just a country lawyer."

Write Away

Rewrite It in Red

Editor:

I am wondering why the Commie-czars don't go all out in this business of making Christ into a Communist. With ingenuity the New Testament could easily be turned into good reading for little Marxists. Here are a few samples of what they might do if they really set their minds to it:

"Liquidate your enemies and scream 'Red-baiter' at them that hate you."

"Thou shalt love Stalin with all thy heart, with all thy soul and with all thy mind—well, leave out that business about the soul."

"Do unto others before they do unto you."

"Greater love hath no man than this, that he should lay down somebody else's life for the Party."

And here are a few Beatitudes done up in the best "anti-fascist" tradition:

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst, for they are fertile ground for Marxist propaganda."

"Blessed are the peace-makers (at least those that try), for they are such utter fools."

"Blessed are the Communists, for they shall inherit the earth."

There's only one draw-back: if Christ was a Communist, why didn't he say so, or at least get in a few licks at laying down some foundations of Marxists philosophy? Surely this is a glaring omission—at least on the part of One who was not prone to duck issues.

Now that I think about it, though, I don't recall a single instance of His yelling "Witch-hunt!" or hiding behind the skirts of the law (you know, the old "I stand on my rights as a citizen" business). I don't believe He ever used His popular support to stir up a political strike or to liquidate any Pharisees (obsolete for Fascists). Very strange behavior for a Communist.

James S. Patty

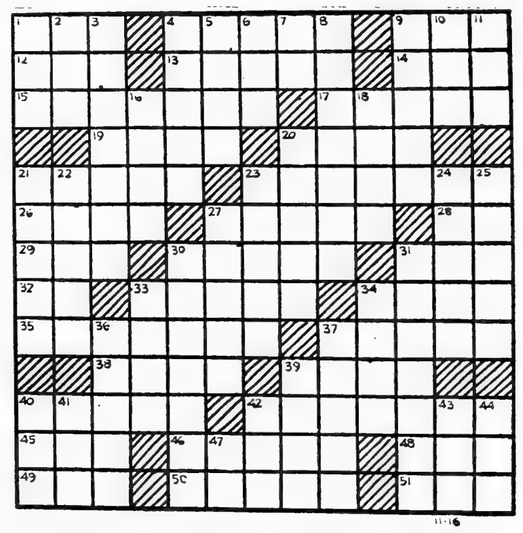
Citing the Source

Editor:

(In answer to the questions concerning a previous article of mine)

A moment for enlightenment, a moment for Paine and a moment for "Ye gods" et al. Excerpts from "A Refutation of the Theological Works of Thomas Paine," by Thomas O. Summers D. D.

'He tells us that when he was only seven or eight years old, his mind revolted at the doctrine of redemption of Christ . . . As might be expected, his moral character corresponded with his religious principals . . . By brutal treatment, he occaisoned the death of one wife and the divorce of another; and afterwards escaped to America as a fugitive from justice . . ."



Paine writing to George Washington from Paris, in 1796, "As to you, treacherous in private friendship, and a hypocrite in public life the world would be puzzled to decide, whether you have abandoned good principals, or whether you ever had any."

"When Jefferson occupied the Presidential chair, in 1801, Mr. Paine returned to this country, in a United States sloop of war but he was permitted to end his days in obscurity and shame." He was forever swaying beneath a load of inebriation. One of our high University officals stated only last spring that "Intoxicating alcohol is one of the greatest evils to the human mind." What did that make Paine?—Pope Pius, probably.

In "The Life of Thomas Paine," by James Cheetham, a contemporary: "As a literary work, Common Sense, energetically as it promoted the cause of independence has no merit. Defective in arrangement, inelegant in diction, . . . no classical allusion, nor comprehension of insight, it is fugitive in nature. . ."

Thomas Paine stood for good things as well. He fought for individual human rights, but without any sense of social obligation. This is my argument.

Camest L. West

HORIZONTAL
1. cooking utensil
4. heaps
9. unyielding
12. wander
13. concerning
14. prefix: thrice
15. gazing fixedly
17. humble
19. electrified particles
20. Russian inland sea
21. those in opposition
23. without guile
26. implement
27. caught sight of
28. exclamation of triumph
29. high hill
30. spirited horse
31. payable
32. Roman coin
33. fleshy fruits
34. massive staff
35. comments
37. more uncommon
38. Great Lake
39. former English statesman
40. muse of lyric poetry
42. submissive
45. youth
46. join
48. nothing
49. Confederate general
50. locations
51. school of whales

VERTICAL
1. foot-like organ
2. worthless bit
3. renegade
4. qualms
5. hostels
6. lower limb
7. printer's measure
8. began
9. vapid
10. bitter vetch
11. bond
16. render turbid
18. undisguised
20. sign of zodiac
21. essence of rose
22. running knot
23. imitators
24. gravy
25. transparent
27. wager
30. solemn
31. moving swiftly
33. portion
34. small rugs
36. Civil war general
37. ascends
39. head
40. house addition
41. Scottish explorer
42. abyss
43. by way of
44. shade tree
47. symbol for nickel

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

A	D	O		S	C	A	L	E		B	A	G
P	U	P		T	A	P	E	R		A	W	A
T	E	E		U	N	E	A	R	T	H	L	Y
		R	I	D	E		F	O	R
S	C	A	R	E		S	I	R	O	C	C	O
C	A	T	E	N	A	T	E		D	O	L	T
A	N	I		T	R	E	S	S		R	A	T
P	A	V	E		R	E	T	E	P	O	R	E
E	L	E	C	T	O	R		V	A	L	O	R
			R	A	G		D	E	L	L
I	N	S	U	L	A	T	O	R		A	W	N
R	U	E		U	N	I	T	E		R	O	E
A	N	T		S	T	E	E	D		Y	E	W

Average time of solution: 21 minutes. Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Strictly Ad Lib

BY ZANE ROBBINS

First All-American Team

THE FIRST 1948 ALL-AMERICAN selections are off the press and as expected Choo Choo Charlie Justice was named as one of the top four backs in the nation. But what about the trio of fine Tar Heels that received not even the slightest mention from Fearless Oscar Fraley, a disciple of United Press and the first of his clan to venture out upon a very wobbly limb to pick a "dream team"? The three unheralded Carolinians, Hammerin' Hosea Rodgers, Len Szafaryn, and Art Weiner, have turned in spectacular performances throughout the season yet they were bypassed for players of what this scribe would call lesser ability.

In the fullback slot, Fraley picked Jack Cloud of William and Mary and Gil Stephenson of Army. Cloud has been no ball of fire at any time this season and in the eyes of most experts who were watching last week's Carolina-William and Mary tussle, Cloud was outdone by Rodgers. At one time Rodgers smashed through the line and ran over Cloud en route to a first down. The other fullback picked was Gil Stephenson of Army. The Black Knights of the Hudson are saying that Stephenson works better than bromo in helping them forget the great "Doc" Blanchard but the Cadets have yet to meet an overly tough opponent. Villanova, Lafayette, Illinois, Harvard, Cornell, VPI, and Stanford have been no real tests either for the Army team or for Stephenson's ability.

Out of a Hat?

GIVING FURTHER CAUSE for one to believe that Fraley scribbled several names on pieces of paper and then drew them from a hat in picking his AA team is this fact. While Szafaryn was passed up for a tackle berth, Dick Harris, a center, was picked at one of the second-string positions. When Coach Blair Cherry was short on material, the Texas pivotman worked at tackle last year and garnered All-American honors. This year, however, found the Texas co-captain back at his old center post where he is likely to repeat last year's AA feat.

Bob Hendren of Southern Cal, Phil O'Reilly of Purdue, and Al Wistert of Michigan were named in the other tackle positions. Hendren has few singularly outstanding feats to his credit this season and is performing with a mediocre Trojan eleven. O'Reilly has played a good steady game with the Boilermakers but has been no great shakes on any occasion. Wistert, the fourth selection, is an old man at 32 but is playing a bang-up game with Michigan's undefeated Wolverines. He rated as possibly the best tackle selected by Fraley, which is by now a dubious honor.

Our Pride and Joy

SZAFARYN, CAROLINA'S PRIDE and joy has stuck out like a sore thumb in every game thus far in the year. Many pickers would pass him up because he is playing under Coach Snavely's two-team system. This, they say, is no real test for a player. Szafaryn, however, has seen extensive duty on both offense and defense this year. Starting the season as a defensive tackle, he took over Ted Hazelwood's offensive post for several weeks while the latter was cut with a self-inflicted gun wound. He has turned in sensational performances in every game and rates a few more "huzzahs" from the Yankee pressmen.

Big Art Weiner, Carolina's pass-snatching end and the "best back on the field," is another Tar Heel left off the Fraley list. Barney Poole, who has been playing college football and hauling in All-American honors for the past seven years, was named at one of the end posts and Notre Dame's 19-year-old Leon Hart was at the other. The alternates listed were Rebel Steiner of Alabama and Wah Wah Jones of Kentucky.

Poole is an excellent pass-catcher, a great ball player, is big, strong, fast, can block, and play tiddlywinks, but after all, four years is, or should be, the limit and this is Barney's fifth year as an All-American.

Call It a Toss-Up

HART HAS TURNED in several excellent performances at the Irish institution this year but has shown nothing to indicate that he is a far and away better ball-player than Weiner. It's a toss-up.

Steiner has ranked as one of the top flankers in the Southeastern conference for the past few years but has demonstrated very little that marks him as a AA nominee. 'Nuff said.

Jones is a great basketball player, but is slightly less adept with a football. He can catch 'em all right and plays a fair defensive game but when it comes to putting out in All-American fashion, Wah Wah rates no higher than Wah Wah-boy.

Only a Joke, Ol' Boy

IN THE EARLY STAGES of the story which accompanied Fraley's alleged All-American selections he mentions his scouts throughout the country—drum majorettes, race horse bookies, waterboys, bartenders, and other equally ungifted persons. One would think that Mr. Fraley is quite a joker by reading his prologue, but after viewing his selections might decide that he is only a joke.

Fraley has been in the writing game a long time and by now should know a good football player when he sees one. All agree that he does know a good football player, but so far he has given no cause to believe that he is equally adept at selecting great ballplayers.

Food for Thought

POOR OLD "FEARLESS" has had more than his share of verbal lashing by now so it is only fair and honorable to give him credit for picking a good team and choosing his talent from all sections of the country, but what about the fellas that didn't make it? How are we gonna appease them. And, who, pray tell, can please all the people all of the time? Certainly not Fraley and certainly not this journalistic scholar.

Some will contend that it was a lousy All-American team and still more will contend that this was a lousier kolyum, but after all the team afforded us a little food for thought and that's all that is needed to fill a column nowadays anyway.

'Tar Heels To Win by Three TDs', Sez Swami; Picks Blue Devils, Deamon Deacons As Victors

By Zane Robbins

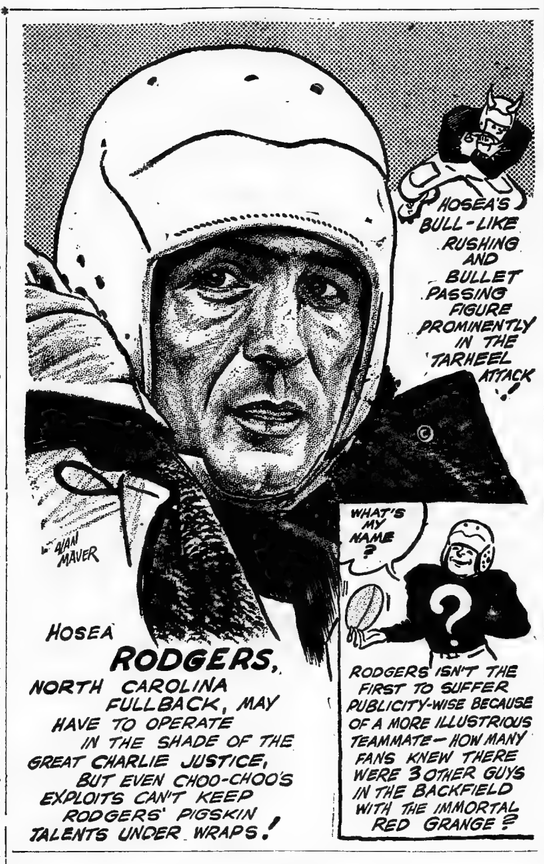
Strolling into Harry's I spied an all-too-familiar face peering at me from the last booth. It was "The Swami," "Meatball" Hoffer. He managed a none-too-cordial 'Hi" as I reached the booth and sat down.

"Where wuz ya last week? he questioned. "Here I am wit' me predictions and you don't show. How's come?" He continued, giving me no time to offer an explanation, "Never mind, it'd be a lousy excuse anyway.

'Gotta lotta big games on tap this week—by th' way, Harry, draw one—and I got just a few minutes to give ya the dope, Dope. Of course you'll wanta know about the Carolina game. Course I can see no reason for printing it in that paper of yours. Everybody will be in Washington, anyway, but here goes.

By Three Leaders

'Carolina got a lotta lousy breaks last week against William and Mary. They ran up, down, and across the field in rolling up their seventeen first downs but could score only once. This week it oughta be a different story, however. In spite of what Jim Tatum has been saying up in the Washington suburb, Carolina oughta win by two, mebbe three teedees. The Terps have a great club and can match the Tar Heels' quantity at every position, but not their quality. Justice will jog, Rodgers will romp and Carolina will win, 28-7.



"This Duke-George Washington game offers little pre-game controversy and the general opinion is that the Blue Devils should have things pretty much their own way. Watch the Colonials Andy Davis, though. Dook, 21-6. And it could be the other way around.

The Big One

'The real thriller for any North Carolina fans that aren't in the nation's capital this week is in Winston-Salem. Wake Forest's bowl-bound Deacons are slated to take on Clemson's unbeaten Tigers in the feature game of the Southern conference race. A Baptist win coupled with a Carolina victory over Maryland would restore the Tar Heels to first place in the conference standings. The Deacs are out to do the Carolinians no good but a win over the powerful South Carolina eleven would be a big feather in the Baptists' bonnet. Carolina back on top after a Wake victory, 21-20.

'Notre Dame tackles Northwestern in its first real test of the year and I hardly think the Irish will be able to stand the test. Coach Frank Leahy has another great team, but the once-beaten Wildcats are no push-overs in anybody's league and are Rose Bowl bound. Up goes the rating after a 28-21 victory for the Windy City boys. Wow, is this limb getting wobbly?

'Got time for only one more and I'll take the Michigan-Indiana battle. Another real thriller with the Wolverines continuing undefeated. Indiana will put up a great fight against overwhelming odds but power and reserves spell another Michigan victory, 33-13. Sorry, but I gotta run."

Coaches Are Often Confused By Informal Life On Sideline

By Steve Snider

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(UP)—In this era of high scoring football and free substitutions, life on the sidelines is strictly informal with players rushing in and out apparently whenever they figure it's a good idea. It sometimes confuses even the coaches.

After a pileup deep in Chicago Bears territory during a game with the New York Giants, place-kicker Len Younce leaped off the New York bench and started on the field. Coach Steve Owen yanked him back.

'Where do you think you're going?" he demanded.

'We scored, Coach," Younce replied. 'I'm gonna kick the point."

"That was no touchdown," grunted Owen, who had missed the referee's signal. "We didn't make a foot, much less score."

But Younce insisted and fought his way free. Finally, Owen said sourly:

"Well, go on in, son. If you get away with it, it's a helluva play."

They lined up to kick the extra point and Owen hasn't been the same since. . . .

Army uses the two-team system and Bobby Vinson of the defensive unit usually is in there to run back punts. But twice against Stanford last week, he happened to be out of the game when Stanford was preparing to punt and when he ran in to relieve Halfback Jack Shelley to run back the kick Shelley wouldn't come out.

'Shelley doesn't like the idea of playing defense only," said an army colonel—not Coach Earl Blaik. "And that was about his only chance to grab the ball and run." . . .

Part of William and Mary's strategy, incidentally, in holding North Carolina to that stunning 7-all tie last week was punting on third down—before Charley Justice could rush in at safety position to run back kicks. His punt returns had been a potent factor all season.

George Stromeyer of the Brooklyn Dodgers is another guy who hates to come out of a ball game. The former Notre Dame ace, a terrific linebacker, was a T-formation center in school but spent long hours learning to pass the ball backward for Brooklyn's single wing attack so he could play both offense and defense.

Despite his heroics the Dodgers continued to lose. Relieved once for a rest, he came back to the sidelines and told Carl Voyles:

"I've got to get back in there, Coach. My wife holds me personally responsible for these lickings we're taking."

And he went back in. . . .

The boys are getting mighty independent and some of this spontaneous "thinking" is rough on the coaches. But sometimes it works.

Greasy Neale, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, put in a backfield shift for use against the Chicago Bears and worked all week long drilling his men on taking an extra step.

That wasn't good enough for Steve Van Buren," Greasy muttered. "The first time we used the play, Steve shifted three extra steps and was way out of position. They fired him the ball and he beat the Bears with a play we didn't have. . ."

Every Dog Has His Day – Five Exceptions

Game	Bill Carmichael	Dick Jenrette	Jake Wade	Jeff Thomas	Orville Campbell
Carolina-Maryland	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Maryland
Michigan-Indiana	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan
Army-Penn	Army	Army	Army	Army	Army
California-Wash. State	California	California	California	California	California
Clemson-Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest
Cornell-Dartmouth	Cornell	Dartmouth	Cornell	Tie	Dartmouth
Yale-Princeton	Yale	Yale	Princeton	Princeton	Princeton
Ga. Tech-Alabama	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech
Mississippi-Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Mississippi
Minnesota-Iowa	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota
Illinois-Ohio State	Illinois	Illinois	Illinois	Ohio State	Ohio State
Penn State-Temple	Penn State	Penn State	Penn State	Penn State	Penn State
Navy-Columbia	Columbia	Navy	Columbia	Columbia	Navy
SMU-Arkansas	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU
Oregon-UCLA	UCLA	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon	UCLA
Duke-Geo. Washington	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke
N. C. State-Duquesne	N. C. State	N. C. State	N. C. State	N. C. State	N. C. State
Davidson-Wash. & Lee	Davidson	Wash. & Lee	Davidson	Wash. & Lee	Davidson
VPI-Richmond	Richmond	VPI	Richmond	VPI	VPI
Tulane-Baylor	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane	Tulane
Notre Dame-N'western	Northwestern	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame

Locals Win

OXFORD, N. C., Nov. 12—Chapel Hill high school pounded out a 24-0 victory over Oxford high here tonight for its eighth consecutive win. Terry, tearing a page from the Snavely scrapbook, took the ball on an end around early in the first period and broke loose for ten yards and a touchdown.

Collier Hill tacked another six-pointer on the Chapel Hill scoreboard shortly after the opening of the third stanza when he traveled 15 yards around end for a score.

Bill Butler broke away for a 45-yard gallop later in the third quarter and after being stopped on the 4, plunged across on the next play. Hill scored again shortly before the final whistle blew to raise the score to 24-0.

-Carolina - Terps-

(Continued from page one)

Tatum are masters at their respective formations and both will be out to prove the fallicies in his opponents style of play.

Carolina holds a wide edge in their sixteen game series with the Old Liners. The Tar Heels have won over the Terps in 12 of the battles and Maryland has been unable to score against the Carolinians in the past four years.

This year's edition, edited by by Tatum and Co., has the power liveries of the $$125.000.000 worth to penetrate touchdownland against the Tar Heels, however, according to reports from Carolina scouts Jim Gill and George Radman. Whether they will accomplish the feat or not remains to be seen.

The Carolina record for the season shows victories over Texas, Georgia, Wake Forest, N. C. State, Tennessee, Louisiana State, and a tie with William and Mary.

The Maryland record shows wins over Richmond, Delaware, Virginia Tech, George Washington University, University of Miami, and South Carolina. The Terps' single loss was to Duke. Incidentally, the Old Liners have never won from Carolina in a year that they were beaten by Duke.

Latest odds favor the lads from the Old North State by two touchdowns or 13 points, but the "bookies" always fail to take into consideration the mental attitude of the players and Carolina is "up" for this one.

White Defeats Blue By 124½-114½ Score Evens Series at 2-2

Several sparkling individual performances highlighted the afternoon and paced the White team of Coach Dick Ransom's track squad to a close victory over their intra-squad rival the Blue, by the score of 124½ to 114½ in last Thursday's meeting.

Monty Robinson's charges have been participating in these weekly meets for a month now and some of the records that his Tar Heel trackmen have recorded in this short time have been especially heartening.

Particularly outstanding for the White aggregation were Moody, who captured the broad jump with a leap of 21'9". Willis for his winning time of 10.2 in the century dash and House, who took first honors in his specialty with a pole vault of 11'6".

Although they lost the Blue representatives recorded some fine efforts in vain. McKenzie breezed in first in the 660 with the good time of 1:26 and Scott skimmed over the low hurdles in the winning clocking of 13.8.

After a six day rest both crews will compete again next Thursday at Fetzer field and each will be aiming to break the deadlock that now exists between the two squads at two triumphs apiece in four gatherings.

WANTED—Student to act as representative to sell slacks to fellow students at the wholesale level. Easy selling. Liberal Commissions paid. Write to The Eton Co. of N. Y. 307 5th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

"AS LUSTY A PICTURE AS YOU COULD WISH." — N. Y. TIMES
Luscious VIVIANE ROMANCE as CARMEN
FRENCH DIALOGUE-ENGLISH SUB-TITLES
VILLAGE THEATRE THUR., NOV 18

The BROCKWELL
Comfortable Guest Rooms at Moderate Prices
Over Sloan Drug Store
Operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Graham

At U.N.C.—
NORM SPER JR. has the EDGE in Cheerleading.
...and in razor blades
PAL HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
DOUBLE or SINGLE EDGE
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

FINAL DORMITORY STANDINGS

LEAGUE 1

	W	L
Watson Hotel	6	0
Med School 1	5	1
Cabinet	4	2
Quad East	2	4
Graham Dwellers	2	4
[illegible]	1	5
Pettigrew	1	5

LEAGUE 2

	W	L
Mangum	5	1
Stanley Steamers	5	1
Town	4	2
Wesley Rockets	3	3
Steele	3	3
A Dorm	1	5
AROTC 1	0	6

X-won playoff game

LEAGUE 3

	W	L
Mud Dobbers	6	0
C Dorm	5	1
Hut Dwellers	3	3
Everett 1	3	3
QH 356	2	4
Manly	1	5
Nash	1	5

LEAGUE 4

	W	L
Oakwood Drive	6	0
Law School	5	1
Termites	3	3
Miller	3	3
Alexander	2	4
Bombers	1	5
Aycock	1	5

LEAGUE 5

	W	L
Grads	7	0
Lewis	6	1
Fireballs	5	2
Whitehead	4	3
Med School 2	3	4
BVP	2	5
QH 9	0	7
AROTC 2	0	7

HER NAME WAS A PROUD, FIERCE CHALLENGE FLUNG DEFIANTLY AT THE WEST!...
More exciting... more dangerous than the Bandit Queen herself!
GEORGE MONTGOMERY
ROD CAMERON and RUTH ROMAN as BELLE STARR'S DAUGHTER
—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
TODAY
CAROLINA
LATE SHOW TONIGHT — SUNDAY - MONDAY
JANE WYMAN · LEW AYRES
"Johnny Belinda"
WARNER BROS'. NEW DRAMATIC ACHIEVEMENT
CHARLES BICKFORD AGNES MOOREHEAD STEPHEN McNALLY
DIRECTED BY JEAN NEGULESCO · PRODUCED BY JERRY WALD

Author Ader Of Asheville Is Now Enrolled At UNC

Hopes to Finish Third Next Year

By Jim Dickinson

Paul Ader, war veteran and author of two published novels, hails from Asheville and now enrolled in the University, is readying a third and yet untitled novel for publication sometime next year.

The 28-year-old author is working on his Masters degree in English and is specializing in American literature. Since Ader comes from Thomas Wolfe's hometown comparison is inevitable, but Ader is quick to discount any implication that he aspires to the pedestal position of a modern-day Wolfe.

Says Ader, "Despite all evidence to the contrary, I'm not trying to follow in the footsteps of Thomas Wolfe. You've got to be more than born in Asheville, educated at Chapel Hill, travelled in Europe and domiciled for a period in New York to be a Thomas Wolfe."

Ader served four and one half years with the Army Air Forces, two of them in England where his first novel, "We Always Come Back," was written and published. The book is centered around American soldiers in England during the war and was first published in London in 1945.

Late in 1947 Ader's second novel, "The Leaf Against The Sky," was published in New York. This work has a North Carolina setting with many of its passages being devoted to Duke university, where Ader received his A. B. degree in 1940 as a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Ader attended high school in Winston-Salem and after being graduated from Duke university worked as a reporter and feature writer for several North Carolina newspapers before going overseas.

Although he has written abundantly and with great success during the past few years, Ader readily admits that for him writing novels becomes progressively harder.

"The first was done in five weeks, the second in nine months, the third in two years," he said. "One's ideas become more complex, and one's projects more ambitious. I've heard of writers who find their second and third books easier, but I don't believe in such creatures."

Ader has entered "The Leaf Against The Sky" in the annual Mayflower Cup award contest, for the best book of the year written by a resident of North Carolina.

"Since Josephina Niggli, Betty Smith, Fielding Burke and Pierson Ricks are also contestants," he said, "along with a dozen or more scholars of this region, one does not pretend to hope. It's simply very pleasant to be entered."

-Ferne Hughes-

(Continued from page one)

mercials throughout the country as proof of the quality of Drene.

Ferne, after a siege of publicity last spring and all during the summer, has taken a slightly resigned attitude towards any future fame. Since her selection, she has been featured in everything from the Tri-Delta News to a radio broadcast interview from Charleston, West Virginia.

Since her return to Chapel Hill, however, folks have slipped over the New York trip a bit to comment on that new hair-do. Testifying on the subject, Ferne declared: "I like my hair cut short and 60 per cent of the others do too, but the other 40 per cent don't. Why one character accused me of being the sorority house mother last week."

A native of Rainelle, West Virginia, Ferne came to Carolina in the spring of '47. She is a music major and is now president of the Women's Glee Club. She is also president, as any new coed can tell you, of the Pan Hellenic council. She is a member of the Student Council, highest judiciary power on campus, and has served in the Student Legislature. She was a featured beauty in the 1948 Yack.

Private Affair

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—(UP)—National Fraternity President Howard L. Hamilton said today he considered "a private affair" the indefinite suspension of the Amherst (Mass.) chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi for pledging a Negro student. Hamilton said the college fraternity's 10-member Executive council would decide whether to make the suspension permanent at a meeting later this month.

Argentine Lawyer Gives Prizes

Essay on Argentina Will Win New Award

The Institute of Latin American Studies of the University has received $100 to be awarded the student writing the best essay on Argentina this fall, announced Dr. Sturgis Leavitt, director. The award was presented by Antonio Ivanissevich of Argentina, former professor in the Law school of the University of Buenos Aires.

The contest for the $100 will be open to both graduate and undergraduate students. Regulations of the contest may be obtained from Dr. Leavitt, director of the Institute, or at the information desk in South building. For the benefit of the contestants, there will be a shelf of books on Argentina in the reserve reading room of the library.

Ivanissevich made the presentation during a recent visit to the University.

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

L'il Abner — AL CAPP

Thirsty — try the good draft — at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — MILTON CANIFF

Square Dance Tomorrow Night

The Presbyterian student group will sponsor a square dance tonight at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Presbyterian church, Hibbard Thatcher announced yesterday.

The program will include square and folk dances to suit every taste, Thatcher said. There will be Southern mountain style, New England square sets, Viennese waltzes, and other European folk dances.

To The Rescue

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 12—(UP)—The plastic football helmet, without friends on the football rules committee because it allegedly causes injuries, found an advocate today in Coach Red Sanders, of the Vanderbilt University commodores.

Sanders said that "the plastic headgear is the finest piece of protective football equipment we have ever used at Vanderbilt . . . since we've used it (since 1945) we haven't had a concussion nor have we had men lost for three or four minutes because of licks received on the head . . . I believe that strap leather or fiber crown helmets are no less hard or unyielding than the plastic type . . . "

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

1:45—UNC VS. MARYLAND. WPTF, Raleigh, WTIK, Durham.

8:00—SQUARE DANCE. Presbyterian church basement. All students invited.

TOMORROW

4:00—COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. All foreign students, as well as Americans, invited. Election of officers and plans for future program. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

8:00—CAROLINA POLITICAL UNION. Grail room, GM.

MONDAY

4:00—YWCA CABINET. Dr. Guy Wells, president Georgia State College for Women, guest speaker. All interested Y members invited. YWCA office.

5:00—YWCA PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMISSION. Bill Robertson discusses Communism. All interested students, whether Y members or not, invited. Cabinet room, Y building.

7:00—HENDERSON CLUB. Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.

7:00—ALPHA EPSILON DELTA pre-medical society. Dr. Arthur Jensen of the School of Medicine, guest speaker. All interested pre-med students invited. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

7:30—UNIVERSITY CLUB. Roland Parker lounge 2, GM.

8:00—CHI DELTA PHI meeting open to the entire campus. Robert F. Schenkkan, of the radio department, speaking on "Writing for Radio. Horace Williams lounge, GM.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENTS 1

MRS. ANNE HARTSFIELD—ELECtrologist. Unwanted hair removed. 307 Fidelity Bank Building — Durham F-8061. (3-8060-1)

FOR SALE 6B

ENGLISH SETTER, FEMALE, 22 months old. Partly broke. $50. Carl B. Sparrow, Main St., Carrboro. (3-c8061-1)

AIRFORCE JACKETS—DRAWSTRING jackets. Khaki shirts and pants. OD pant and shirts. Pilot cover boots. Combat shoes, blankets, etc. Blackburn's Salvage Store, Carrboro. (3-c8063-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1934 NASH SEDAN, $50 OR HIGHEST bid. See Sam Martin, Room 118, Phillips Hall. (1-8062-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

Europe
ROUND TRIP $280 UP
Tickets available now for steamship accommodations
SUMMER 1949
Personally Conducted Tours $700 up
UNIVERSITY TRAVEL CO.
Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass.

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 CAMERON AVENUE WRITE: P.O. Box 902

YOU'LL FIND
ADVENTURE...
ACTION...
ROMANCE...
IN OLD LOS ANGELES
Starring
William ELLIOTT • John CARROLL
Catherine McLEOD • Joseph SCHILDKRAUT
with Andy Devine • Estelita Rodriguez
and Virginia Brissac • Grant Withers • Tito Renaldo
A REPUBLIC PICTURE
Screen Play by Gerald Adams and Clements Ripley
Associate Producer and Director
JOE KANE
—Also—
LATEST NEWS
Today
VILLAGE

"CHESTERFIELD is building another big, new factory for us smokers who like the MILDER cigarette... It's MY cigarette."
Arthur Godfrey
RADIO'S FAVORITE SON
STAR OF CHESTERFIELD'S
ARTHUR GODFREY TIME
"I wish I could take you in my Navion plane over the big, new factory Chesterfield is building at Durham, N. C. It's a honey. It will help supply the ever-increasing demand for the MILDER cigarette."
A lways B uy CHESTERFIELD
MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE... They Satisfy
Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

WEATHER
Partly cloudy with light showers Sunday night or early Monday, followed by clearing weather. No change in temperature.

The Daily Tar Heel

★★★★★★★
Sports Final

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 46

Carolina Bowls Over Terrapins, 49-20

Capital Is Stormed By Tar Heel Victors

Post-Game Victory Celebrations Hold Big City Spellbound In Grip

By Chuck Hauser

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—The nation's capital went mad today as hundreds of Tar Heels stormed down main thoroughfares in the heart of downtown Washington.

Flag-waving, banner-carrying hordes of Carolinians swept down E street at high noon in a parade that Washingtonians will have a hard time forgetting. Harry Truman's triumphant return could not have been any more wild.

There was no doubt in any passerby's mind as to the identity of the parading students. Blue and white streamers "Beat Maryland" cheers and a thundering "Hark the Sound" echoing off the capital's buildings clearly told the story that the Tar Heels were in town.

The parade wound up 14th street and into Franklin park where a pep rally rocked the streets and shook windows in government office buildings.

Sprit was still high when the visitors took over almost one complete side of Griffith stadium. Cow bells and sirens were much in evidence on the Blue and White side of the field. One large Confederate flag and scores of small ones flapped in the breeze throughout the stands. One delegation of Carolina students showed up wearing firemen's helmets made of paper.

After the game, victory celebrations began in every large hotel in town. Few Washingtonians got much sleep as the parties continued through the night. Many Tar Heels planned to see tomorrow's sun come up over the Potomac. A large group of alumni and students were present at the Washington hotel where the North Carolina society gave a dance for all state football fans.

Hotel rooms and hotel corridors were jammed with hand-shaking, back-slapping, oblivious-to-anything-except-that-we-won Chapel Hill students. Downtown streets still echoed with "Let's go, Carolina!" as the visitors traveled from one hotel to another on their sorties to renew old acquaintances whom they had not seen since yesterday when they left Chapel Hill.

Football Scores

EAST

Columbia 13, Navy 0.
Colgate 20, Syracuse 13.
Lafayette 27, Ohio Wesleyan 7.
Holy Cross 13, Fordham 6.
Penn State 47, Temple 0.
Middlebury 13, Vermont 12.
Boston College 14, Wm. & Mary 14.
North Carolina State 20, Duquesne 6.
Brooklyn College 31, Alfred 7.
Princeton 20, Yale 14.
Muhlenberg 40, Franklin & Marshall 7.
Lehigh 20, Carnegie Tech 0.
Rutgers 40, NYU 0.
Fort Devins 13, Champlain 0.
Amherst 13, Williams 7.
Army 26, Penn 20.
Harvard 30, Brown 19.
Cornell 27, Dartmouth 26.

SOUTH

Clemson 21, Wake Forest 14.
Georgia 42, Auburn 14.
Virginia 7, West Virginia 0.
North Carolina 49, Maryland 20.
Duke 62, George Washington 0.
Alabama 14, Georgia Tech 12.
Hamp.-Sydney 20, Rand.-Macon 6.
Sewanee 47, Kenyon 13.
Kentucky 34, Florida 15.
Tuskegee Inst. 13, S. C. State 6.
Tulane 35, Baylor 13.
Virginia Military 34, Citadel 6.
Vanderbilt 56, Marshall 0.
Richmond 7, Virginia Tech 7.
Mississippi 16, Tennessee 13.
Washington & Lee 21, Davidson 20.

WEST

Stanford 39, Montana 7.
Coll. of Pacific 32, S. Francisco 14.
Wyoming 46, Montana State 12.
California 44, Washington State 0.
Southern Cal. 32, Washington 7.

MIDWEST

Drake 13, New Mexico 0.
Kansas 20, Kansas State 14.
Michigan 54, Indiana 0.
Bowling Green 38, Morningside 7.
Ohio State 34, Illinois 7.
Pittsburgh 20, Purdue 13.
Minnesota 28, Iowa 21.
Baldwin-Wallace 41, Mt. Union 21.
Baldwin-Wallace 41, Mr. Union 21.
Center College 14, Hanover 0.
Miami (O.) 41, Wichita 16.
W. Michigan 19, Washington (Mo.) 6.
Michigan State 48, Iowa State 7.
Manchester 27, Franklin 13.
Shurtleff 34, Principia 12.
N'western Coll. 30, Wisc. Extension 6.
Cincinnati 26, Western Reserve 13.
Wayne 46, Omaha 20.
Ohio U. 14, Butler 6.
Wisconsin 26, Marquette 0.
Missouri 27, Colorado 13.

SOUTHWEST

Texas 14, Texas Christian 7.
Southern Methodist 14, Arkansas 12.
Rice 28, Texas A&M 6.
South Carolina 27, Tulsa 7.
Houston U. 8, North Texas State 6.
Oklahoma 41, Nebraska 14.

Lions Down Navy On Muddy Field For 13-0 Victory

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Columbia handed a scrappy Navy eleven its 13th straight defeat in a two year span today by taking advantage of its only two scoring opportunities for a 13-0 victory before a crowd of 35,000.

The Lions scored two touchdowns within four minutes of playing time divided by the halftime rest. The first score was made in the last 12 seconds of the first half, and the second came after only six plays in the third period.

Bill Lockwood scored the first touchdown by taking a five-yard pass from Gene Rossides.

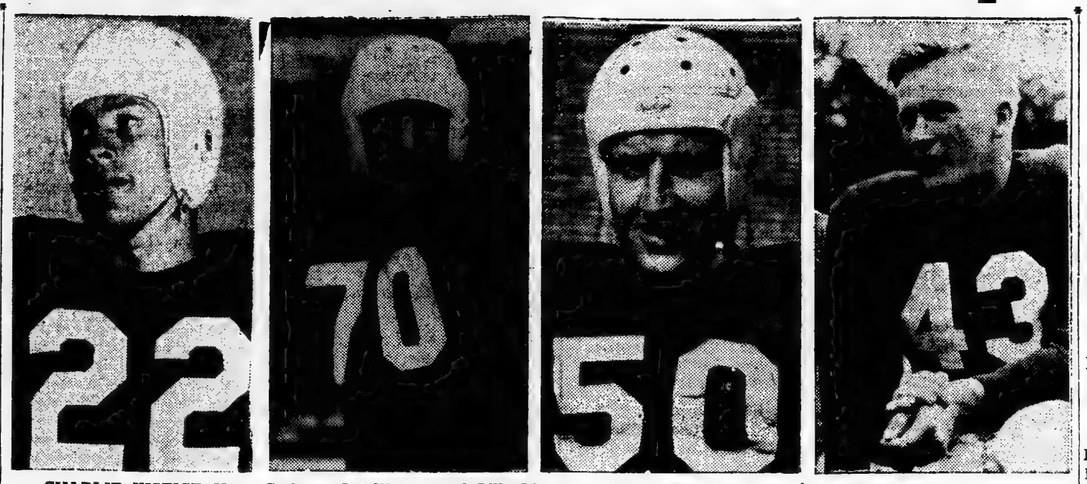
The Lions took the kick-off at the start of the third quarter and covered 71 yards in six plays. Kusserow then took a lateral from Rossides at the 16 and dashed for a touchdown.

Today's victory snapped Columbia losing streak at four games. The Navy team battled without letting down throughout but could not push the ball across the goal-line although it had several opportunities.

A severe and sudden rainstorm shortly after the start of the second half made the field a sea of mud and the attack of the teams bogged down between the 30 yard marks.

Kyle Cox Named Head Of Sanford Carolina Club

Kyle Cox was elected president of the Sanford-Carolina club at an organizational meeting Tuesday night. Other officers chosen include Frank Utley, Jr., vice-president; Frances Sowers, secretary, and Linda Gilliam, treasurer.



Approximately 25 students signed the charter, and meetings are planned for every Monday night at 7 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge.

Plans for a Christmas dance are being formulated and will be announced soon.

Shepard Named To High Post By Association

Col. Carlyle Shepard, veterans adviser at the University, has just been notified of his election as national commander of the Wildcat (81st Division) Veterans association at the national convention held in Chattanooga, Tenn.

In World War I the personnel of the division came largely from the southeastern states with more than 7500 from North Carolina. In World War II the division was recruited from the midwestern states. The National Wildcat association includes veterans of both wars.

CHARLIE JUSTICE, Hosea Rodgers, Art Weiner, and Billy Maceyko, from left to right above, played major roles in yesterday's 49-20 Carolina victory over Maryland. Justice passed for two touchdowns, scored another, and averaged 48 yards punting in the win. Rodgers passed to Justice for a score and plunged over from the 2 for another. Weiner snagged a Justice aerial in the end zone for a tally and played an outstanding offensive game. Maceyko, the star of the day, tallied twice on pass interceptions. One of his touchdown runs went for 70 yards and the other for 60.

Student Party Frosh Candidates State Platform

Student party candidates for freshman class officers announced yesterday their proposed platform on which they will run for election. The platform, released in a special booklet, prepared by the freshman campaign committee, stated that the candidates would have as its aim the appointment of a committee to investigate the merits of the Freshman Assemblies and to make recommendations for improving the Assemblies; a review of the Freshman Orientation program and suggestions for its improvement.

Among other things that the Student Party candidates have pledged themselves to work for is the improvement of the Quonset Hut area with additional facilities for study, better heating systems, drainage of the area and more walks, dust and insect control, and more furniture for each hut.

The addition of more telephones for the dormitories, and investigation and improvement of conditions at Nash and Miller halls.

The Freshman Executive committee shall voice its disapproval of the quantity and quality of food served at Lenoir hall, and the re-opening of an Armory store for the lower quad.

The Freshman Executive committee will oppose the six-day school plan and the president of the Freshman class will appoint a committee to actively oppose such a move.

Blue Devils Swamp GW In Durham Game, 62-0

DURHAM, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Duke's Blue Devils romped today to their highest score since 1945 and downed a brave but baffled George Washington team, 62-0, before 12,000 happy partisans.

It was George Washington's first encounter with Duke and they suffered only to the wartime team representing Bogue Field. Duke defeated them 76-0.

The big Duke team shrugged off the flashing efforts of George Washington's freshman backfield gun, Andy Davis, and Davis left the game for good in the second period.

Duke, beaten soundly in its last two starts, rebounded with a vengeance and scored twice in every period except the fourth when they took advantage of George Washington bobbles and slipped over three scores.

It was no contest from the start. George Washington, after a valiant showing in the first minutes, folded beneath the onslaught of the Duke line and the charging backfield. Duke tackle Al Derogatis time and again battered into the enemy backfield to thwart attempted gains.

Public Tryouts Will Be Held For New Show

An extra tryout session for the joint Carolina Playmaker—Music department production of Gilbert and Sullivan's famous musical, "H. M. S. Pinafore," will be held in Memorial hall at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday, according to co-director Foster Fitz-Simmons.

The public tryouts, which are open to all students and townspeople who are interested in appearing in the production next January, were called after one of the four scheduled tryout periods last week was cancelled.

Students trying out for roles will be asked to sing a number of their own choosing, and an accompanist will be presented. The session is being held under the direction of Gwyne McPeek of the music department, co-director of the production.

"H. M. S. Pinafore" is scheduled for Jan. 28 and 29, following the playmaker tour of "The School for Scandal" during the first part of the month. "The School for Scandal," by Richard Sheridan, will be the first production to be toured by the Playmakers since 1941. Harry E. Davis is directing the tour production, which will be presented first in Chapel Hill, Dec. 1, 2, 3, and 4.

Alabama Nips Tech, 14-12 In Big Upset Before 40,000

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Alabama's Red Elephants, who never forget to stampede the odds-makers at least once a year, crashed through to a deserved 14-12 upset victory over Georgia Tech today before a crowd of 40,000.

On top all the way, the underrated Alabamans deflated Tech's major bowl hopes for keeps and at the same time raised their own rating from mediocre to better than fair.

For Tech it was Allen (Dinky) Bowen, hobbled and heart-broken for almost two seasons, who threw away his crutch and kept Tech fighting mad and in the game. Bowen scored both Tech touchdowns, but he also fizzled the two extra-point tries that meant the margin on the scoreboard.

Yet, for once, extra-point advantage gave the victory to the better team. Alabama, a 14-point underdog after three defeats including a 35 to 0 humiliation by Georgia, came up for this one trumpeting like the Red Elephant of yore.

They took the play away from Tech. They recovered both their own fumbles and Tech's, and generally dominated the game except in the fourth quarter when the Yellow Jackets made a dying gasp for victory.

Alabama hopped to a 7 to 0 lead just before the half after Jimmy Petit fumbled Brown's hard-slanting punt on the Tech five and Alabama center Doug Lockridge pounced on it. On the next play, fleet Billy Cadenhead sped around left end for the score and Salem kicked the goal.

Bowen, a savage running left-halfback, brought Tech back into the picture in the third period. His center, Louis Hook had intercepted a Gordon Pettus pass and hauled it to Alabama's 30. Bowen rammed the line once, then cut through right tackle and down the sidelines, spinning his way 26 yards to a score. His point try was low.

Alabama put the clinch on a few moments later when Speed intercepted Jimmy Southard's pass and sped 62 yards for a touchdown.

Army Sinks Penn In 26-20 Thriller In Quaker City

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Mighty Army, trembling on the brink of disaster, roared from behind in the final 30 seconds today to defeat Pennsylvania, 26-20, on a 15-yard touchdown pass.

A delirious crowd of 78,205 saw Arnold Galiffa, a goat up to that point, hit Johnny Trent in the end zone with a zipping aerial that continued Army's march toward a perfect season.

Game Penn had risen to unbelievable heights against a team which was expected to call its score, and had brewed the upset of the season until the three fatal closing minutes, then the Cadets swept 74 yards in a dramatic never-say-die sequence of first downs.

A team with less courage than the Black Knights from the Hudson might have wilted when the fighting Penn eleven scored what appeared to be the winning touchdown with six minutes left in the ball game.

This was a brilliant personal sortie by Ray Dooney, playing with the load of father's death on his heart. Dooney, the Penn battering ram, hit from the 42 with Penn trailing 19-14. He galloped the distance and stark hysteria hit the Franklin field stands.

What appeared to be the clincher was applied when Farquhar Jones intercepted a Galiffa pass and ran it 22 yards to Penn's 47. Then and there, Penn was within one first down of winning the game.

Dental Society Seeks Money For School Here

RALEIGH, Nov. 13—(UP)—The North Carolina Dental society today sought an appropriation of $1,450,000 to set up a school of dentistry at Chapel Hill in connection with the University's proposed four-year-medical school.

The society asked the Advisory Budget commission also for $279,000 to operate the dental school during the 1949-51 biennium.

The organization proposed to spend $1,000,000 of the large appropriation for a clinical building containing 65 dental chairs.

Dr. C. W. Sanders, president of the society, said that it was almost impossible for North Carolinians to be admitted to other dental schools because of overcrowded conditions.

The North Carolina Bar association asked that salaries of Supreme Court justices be raised to $15,000 a year. They now receive $10,000 annually including $2,500 described as an expense allowance.

Nominations Planned For SP Meet Monday

The Student party will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3 of Graham Memorial. Nominations for junior class officers and legislature posts will be received. Party members and persons interested in running for these offices are urged to attend the meeting.

Writers Impressed By Carolina Team

Seven Touchdown Barrage Staggers Outclassed Maryland Grid Combine

By Dick Jenrette

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—North Carolina and Maryland treated 36,000 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in the nation's capital, to a real show here this afternoon, with the unbeaten Tar Heels romping to a 49-20 decision in a wide-open Southern conference battle.

Team Totals

	UNC	Md.
First downs	11	12
Net yds. rushing	97	247
Net yds. passing	82	108
Forwards attempted	15	18
Forwards completed	7	7
Forwards int. by	3	0
Punts	6	7
Punting average	47	29
Opp. fumbles recov.	4	0
Penalties	60	70

Rushing

Carolina	Carried	Net	Avg.
Justice	15	22	1.47
Clements	6	13	2.16
Rodgers	15	31	2.67
Kennedy	3	17	5.67
Maceyko	2	6	3.0
Weiner	1	5	5.0
Hayes	1	3	3.0
Maryland	Carried	Net	Avg.
Bonk	9	122	13.55
Werner	8	45	5.63
Turyn	9	35	3.89
Idzik	4	18	4.50
Seibert	3	18	6.00
Sniscak	3	—1	—.33
Roth	3	6	2.00
La Rue	2	3	1.50

Passing

Maryland	Attempt	Compt.	Yds.
Turyn	17	7	102
Idzik	1	0	0
Carolina	Attempt	Compt.	Yds.
Justice	9	3	38
Maceyko	1	0	0
Rodgers	5	4	44
From	To		Yards
Justice	Weiner		5
Justice	Powell		18
Justice	Kennedy		15
Rodgers	Kennedy		14, 11
Rodgers	Cooke		14
Rodgers	Justice		5

Punting

Carolina	Kicks	Yds.	Avg.
Justice	5	240	48.00
Reynolds	1	45	45.00
Maryland	Kicks	Yds.	Avg.
Roth	7	206	29.42

The contest was about as wild as the weekend which some 6,000 loyal Tar Heel fans enjoyed in Washington. The game constituted what was probably the best performance of the season for Carolina. The Tar Heels seemed to have mastered their fumbling difficulties, and the passing was the best at any time this season. A poor pass defense was about the only deficiency in the Tar Heels' play.

Although the Tar Heels were victorious today, they still lost their biggest chance for the Southern conference championship. Clemson's Tigers, who haven't been beaten in loop competition, defeated Wake Forest, 21-14, in Winston-Salem. The Deacons were the only major obstacle remaining in the Tigers' path to the title. A tie with William and Mary mars the Tar Heel conference slate.

Writers Cheer

But the day was still a glorious one for Carolina. A large number of Northern sports writers, usually skeptical about Southern football, witnessed the game and went away convinced of the Tar Heels' ability. As a result, Carolina should improve its national ranking this week.

Maryland drew first blood today, scoring after 2:15 had elapsed in the first quarter. But fumbles and pass interceptions soon enabled the opportunist Tar Heels to build up a commanding lead. Despite Carolina's 49 points, Maryland had a substantial edge in statistics. The Terps of Coach Jim Tatum ran up 12 first downs to 11 for Carolina and picked up 349 yards combined rushing and passing to only 179 for Carolina.

The true story of the game is told in Carolina's recovery of four Maryland fumbles and interception of three passes. Bill Maceyko, Carolina defensive safety man who turned in a great game, ran two of these interceptions all the way for touchdowns.

Fireworks by Bonk

A 76-yard run by Maryland's Harry Bonk on the opening play of the game proved a good indication of what was to come. Charlie Justice pulled down Bonk from behind on the Carolina 10 to check the Terrapins temporarily. Three plays later Johnny Idzik plunged over the goal. Maryland continued to dominate play in the first quarter until Vic Turyn attempted a pass with 5:45 remaining in the quarter. Maceyko leaped high to nab the ball and raced down the right sideline some 40 yards unmolested for a touchdown. Bob Cox, who had a perfect conversion record of seven for seven, booted the extra point to tie the score at 7-7. That ended the scoring for the first quarter.

Roof Caves In

The roof caved in on the host club in the second period, however. Midway in the quarter Joe Romano fell on the first of two fumbles he recovered during the afternoon on the Maryland 8. Fumbles in the Tar Heel backfield lost back to the 18, but on the fourth down Justice stepped back, spotted Ken Powell on the goal and let fly an aerial which

(See TD BARRAGE, page 3)

Special Meeting Of Campus Party Slated Tomorrow

There will be a special meeting of the Campus party tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Bingham 103. Important business is to be taken up at this time, and nominations for the legislative offices and for Junior class offices will be completed.

Irish Bounce Back to Take 12-7 Victory From Wildcats

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 13—(UP)—Notre Dame, spurred to its greatest effort of the year by a 90-yard touchdown run that gave Northwestern a one-point lead, bounced from behind with cruelly perfect football to defeat Northwestern 12-7 before 59,305 fans today.

The victory was Notre Dame's 20th in succession and its 26th straight game without defeat. But it was obtained only after 60 minutes of heart-stopping football, more chilling to the fans than the 40-degree temperature.

The Northwestern tally came late in the third period on fullback Art Murakowski's 90-yard dash with an intercepted pass, thrown by Irish quarterback, Frank Tripucka.

His run and Jim Farrar's placekick put the Wildcats ahead, 7-6, and the stadium hushed in expectance of the first Notre Dame defeat since 1945.

But they reckoned wrongly on the precision drives of the Irish backs, notably sophomore Jack Landry. The Irish responded to their one-point deficit like men out to win a war. In 13 plays they rolled 63 yards with smashing accuracy before Billy Gay dove two yards for the touchdown that cemented the victory.

Both teams played their hearts out, particularly in the line. During the first half Notre Dame threw only two passes and Northwestern seven. At the opening, Northwestern marched almost to the Irish goal but their drive sputtered out. Then Notre Dame had its turn.

Under Tripucka's direction, the Irish piled 71 yards in 15 plays for their first touchdown. John Panelli went over on a two-yard plunge, but Terry Brennan, a little Irish lad whose pre-game physical condition was so bad he was expected to play only a few minutes on defense, set up the score with gains of 60 yards in six plays.

Known But to God

Some hours before the game against Maryland, a quiet group of Carolina men and women stood silently before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

They read the inscription: "Here lies in honored glory an American soldier . . . known but to God." Two days before, thousands of men and women had stood here bareheaded and saluted the memorial, on Armistice day.

Now, after many footsore steps paying visits to other national shrines, these Carolina men and women paused and reflected before the tomb. Through their minds ran many skeins of thought.

I couldn't help but think of the irony in the fact that, as we are still choosing the mass of clay dug up from some battlefield of World War II to be the Unknown Soldier of that war, the peoples of the world are wondering if another conflict is imminent. And I believed we also thought with pride of our friends, brothers and loved ones who died to carry on the fight this Unknown Soldier had given as our sacred duty not many years ago.

We were all thinking, perhaps, that it was our own lack of faith in man and God which has led us to the crisis we are facing once more in the world. And deep down, our hearts hoped and prayed that the instrument of Peace, the United Nations, might well fulfill the hopes of its founder, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This group of Carolinians turned away slowly and walked up the long flagstone paths, away from the quiet peacefulness where sleeps the Unknown Soldier. They knew that they could only face the future with faith and courage the best they could, for what comes is truly "known but to God."

(From D.C. on the scene.) —L.K.

Give Opportunity First

As a matter for the record, the Town Men's association and the Town Girl's association are two different, independent organizations. Both have been on the University campus for many years, although the TMA suffered a temporary setback during the war years.

It is true, as has been stated many times in the past few days, that membership in both groups is relatively small. However, the new TMA is just two quarters old and if given the proper encouragement can expand into one of the largest, most active groups in Chapel Hill. It is difficult to say that an organization hasn't "proven itself" when the powers-that-be do not provide the opportunity. Give the new group—any new group—the opportunity first, and criticize second. —B.B.

Editorial Paragraphs

Last Thursday night's session of the Student Legislature was the best-attended meet the group had conducted in it's past four meetings. However, while there were only some three or four members absent at the beginning of the meeting, two roll call votes during the evening showed that at least a dozen members had left the meeting and gone on their merry way. This is not the way to promote the good will that is so badly needed in the legislature right now.

49 to 20 the final Carolina-Maryland score stands and Tar Heel fans can rejoice that our extra fine team has come through with flying colors. To say that the game was good would be putting it mildly. Now that we have added another victory to our list, those among us who have been complaining-mildly, perhaps, but complaining nevertheless,—can sit back and shut their respective mouths.

The Sadie Hawkins Day festivities Friday weren't too successful because there were no students here to participate. However, facts have it that some 200 spectators turned up in Fetzer field, but none of them would take part in the Hooman race. For that, we can blame the spectators. The three organizations who sponsored the fun should have a pat on the back for being brave enough to stage the program against such imposing odds.—B. B.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jeanette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

Staff for Today: Editor: Bill Buchan; Managing Editor: Bill Buchan; Night Editor: Jim Dickinson; News Staff: Sally Woodhull, J. L. Merritt, Charles Pritchard, Leonard Dudley, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

WE WERE DISSIPATED . . . Er, disappointed . . . in the small crowd at the Sadie Hawkins day festivities on Fetzer field Friday. 'Course, no one was left on campus to get hitched, or even run for their bachelor-hood. Lyle Davis had this to say: "Cooperation is the lubrication of success." From where we stood, it didn't appear that very many of the folk were "well-oiled."

"THE GREATEST SHOW ON CAMPUS." Raleigh and Greensboro had their Barnum and Bailey, Chapel Hill has its Morehead planetarium. Just look at all the spectators lined up along the fence daily.

DOES ANYONE WANT A DUKE TICKET? Heh, heh, that's one way to get people to read a column. But seriously, we know where a couple of you readers may get some comfortable seats in a helicopter or piper cub. Amble over to Aycock and read the bulletin board.

"BUT MOE, IT DON'T GO . . ." "But Spider, all we need is a good mechanic, one who knows what to do when the carburator won't cob, the generator won't gen and . . ." Enough of that stuff. Moe Stack and Spider Webb have got a jalop, and it does go. It's a model "A" Ford "tour-mobile," and it has four doors that open! Antique fanciers may see it lying behind the ATO house.

SQUEALER. Jane Griffen slipped the word to the HPB about the Alpha Beta Chi frat drinking behind everyone's back. Didn't know there was an ABC representative nearby. . .

GIRLS, CAN'T YOU SING? Then drop around to the Alpha Gam house. You might be eligible for membership in the Mono-Tone club, a rapidly rising organization of which Ann Carlton is president. By the way, Ann is the kind of girl who wears two hats to church, we heard that straight from a gal who knows.

JEFF THE DOG. Next time you see Fuzzy Woodall wandering around, ask him why he had to apologize to that clothing store salesman in Durham. He'll know better than to take Jeff along as his critical eye, at least until Jeff is house-broken. . .

DAN, YOU'RE SLIPPING. Rather, Dan's date was. Her "you-know-what" was not only showing, it fell right off! Embarrassing moments on the front porch of Archer house. She did have the presence of mind to scoop the "silky" up and dash into the house. That's Dan "Breeding," we're speaking of.

BLAME THE "Y" FOR THESE: Helen Epps living in 319 "A" dorm and Jesse Epps residing in 312 Alderman; Ruth McCann in Q hut 1 and William McCall listed as living at the Alpha Gam house; Ann Sawyer with her new alias, "Ann Saurger." You can read these and others in the latest issue of the directory. Even with its very few mistakes, we love it. It's a welcome annual to the campus, thank you "Y."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to: The United States Marine Corps, 173 years old; Libba Royal, Ken Powell and Elizabeth Eaddy. Elizabeth is celebrating her 20th year here as a student. Happy daze to all.

SAY, DE MOLAY. We'd like to mention that all you former members of the De Molay can help form an alumni club of the junior Masons by getting in touch with Jim Stallings in 221 "C" dorm.

VESPERS-JESTERS. Mary Glen Slater's serenaders picked the wrong time to celebrate her "pin-manship" to Harold Jetter. Just as the vespers were begun over at Spencer the other night the men from Phi Gam came over and started a three-ring circus. And with just the flick of a vocal cord, too.

This Is Carolina

We Had A Weekend, Too

By Helen Highwater

Since some of you lucky bums who marched off to Washington to see the Maryland slaughter might just happen to get back in time to find a spare copy of this issue of the DTH, we thought it might be well to have a say as to the activities of the stay-at-homers.

The village was quieter than it has been on any out-of-town weekend thus far. Estimated figures said some 5,000 students made the junket to Washington, and of the remaining number, at least 1500 went home, leaving some 1,000 students in town. Of that number, a DTH whiz estimated that 500 won't get out of bed this morning, and of the 500 who get up, 200 will have such hangovers that they won't read the paper. Of the remaining 300, 200 will read the state papers to get an overall account of yesterdays football battles.

That total leaves 100 students, of whom at least 50 will not read anything but the sports page. Another 25 will work the crossword puzzle and read Li'l Abner. 15 more people have articles in the paper, or worked on this edition and will have seen all the news before, leaving a grand total of 10 students who will read the news and editorial pages this morning out of a grand total of 7,500. Which makes yours truly sit back and wonder why there should be a paper, except for posterity and Ronnie Justice.

But getting back to weekend activities, where we were before we got off on this figuring business, the usual crowd showed up in the Rathskellar yesterday afternoon to guzzle beer and listen to a play-by-play broadcast of the game.

The Sadie Hawkins day festivities went off, but in a small way. Judging from the attendance in classes Friday, that was to be expected. The sponsoring organizations were pretty brave to go ahead and plan the program anyway.

Yesterday morning, most everybody stayed home in bed, with the up town eateries getting only a token breakfast business. The post office and the stores were open, but might have just as well stayed in bed. Down in Graham Memorial, the first radio broadcast of the Friday night shows went over the WDUK air waves, with a surprisingly large attendance. Graham Memorial was inhabited mainly by DTH staff members and a few GM workers. Except for them, however, the place was practically as quite as a tomb.

Last night, we sat down in Steve's or the Rathskellar, or the University or Harry's and imagined that we were running between floors of the Statler and downtown between the Washington, the Statler and the Shoreham and drinking something besides draft beer and wine. We saw ourselves rubbing shoulders with Washington bigwigs and happy North Carolinians who traveled to Washington to watch their Tar Heels make good in Griffith stadium. Those of us who were dancing in the Rendezvous room closed our eyes a couple of times and right away, we were in the Washington Hotel dancing with hundreds of other couples.

It's nice to stay here on a quiet weekend and watch Chapel Hill move. One gets the impression that University or no University, the village would still be the nice, quiet smooth-running little town that it is during the hectic home-game weekends and school days. You should stay here some weekend and find out for yourself.

Our weekend was quieter than yours, but we enjoyed it, and—heh, heh,—we saved money too.

CPU Roundtable

The Meaning Of Liberalism

by Marie P. Wicker

One of the most tossed-about words in the English language will be discussed by the Carolina Political Union tonight; the question is, "What is Liberalism?" Most of us use the term, and the word "liberal" to denote a follower of liberalism; but the uses are so varied that what a liberal is becomes a very real question if we are to understand each other politically. In this space, it is impossible to cover all segments of the definition, and there will undoubtedly be disagreements as to the treatment and the conclusions. If you want to agree or argue, come around to the Grail Room at 8 o'clock tonight and discuss the question.

Out of the reaction against the feudal system, resulting in the revolution of the bourgeoisie; out of the new rational approach, grew a concept based on the ideal of a free individual, unfettered by regulation or pressure of authorities. This was liberalism: it considered artificial regulation a deterrant to the growth of man's personality and initiative, and it was concerned with economic, moral, social, political, religious, and intellectual aspects of man. Gradually the political implications of liberalism have come to be considered the most important; the argument here is that without political freedom, the other freedoms are meaningless and impossible of achievement. The economic interpretations of political liberalism were in the last century made by Adam Smith and the other proponents of free enterprise.

One of the most striking things about political liberalism today is that it consists of two main sets of followers, who have in common the desire for the freedom of man as the end result, but who have very opposite views as how this personal liberty should be attained. On the one hand, there are those who believe in a liberalism which allows of no regulation from the central government on currency, trade, or on any of those things which might impinge upon personal freedom. They are against tariff regulations, Federal control of housing, Federal control of credit, control; they are against social legislation. They are liberals. On the other hand, there are those believing in a liberalism requiring regulations for the general social and political welfare. These people believe that measures must be legislated to insure the greatest freedom for the most people. They believe in collectivism to varying extents; many of them believe in social democracy. They too are liberals.

The distinction between conservatism and liberalism is based upon a difference in outlook. Conservatism looks to the past and to the present; it attempts to maintain what it has gained in the past but does not want or attempt any future gains. Conservatism is generally conducive to the development of privileges from things which were once liberties; a conservative is an advocate of the status quo, and to reinforce it he increases the privileged classes. The liberal is interested in trying new things, in sponsoring reforms; while conserving the gains of the past, liberalism is dedicated to future gains which must be made.

Absolutist and militarist traditions are deadly enemies of liberalism. The Second Empire under Bismarck, the Nazi regime, are examples of this. One Communist was heard recently to define a liberal as "a person who sees two sides to a question even when there is only one"; because of such absolutist leanings, there are many who today consider Russia as an enemy of liberalism.

Liberals have their differences, but these things they have in common, as have all who believe in true freedom: That every man has the right to say what he so desires, be it praise or prejudice, and every man has the right to listen or not. They believe with Jefferson that ". . . in every country where man is free to think and speak, differences of opinion will arise from differences of perception, and the imperfection of reason; that these differences when permitted . . . to purify themselves by free discussion, are but as passing clouds overspreading our land transiently and leaving our horizon more bright and serene." A true liberal believes that all mankind is equally entitled to liberty, to the freedoms guaranteed in our Constitution, one of the great liberal documents. And I think a liberal, a real liberal, believes so strongly in these things that his actions must be in accordance with his beliefs.

Fax About Wax

On The New Records

By Nelson Taylor

Klassification Key
* Fine
 Fair
 Futile
* Foul

Les Brown
 I'm A'Telling You Sam
 I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm

"Telling You" is a fine example of fine instrumental and the vocal is reminiscent of "Good Man." The punch of the release knocks you right in the teeth. "Love" is another fine one. Les outdoes the masters of the "good ole days" in these.

Lionel Hampton
 Goldwyn Stomp
* Hawk's Nest

Will somebody tell me what Hamp is trying to do! He displays the usual screaming brass. The whole thing is too incoherent for me.

Kay Kyser
 Ring Telephone, Ring
* Too Much-a-Manana

"Ring" is a smooth, sentimental lover's lament by Harry Babbitt. One of the best Kay has gotten off in a long time. Reverse is a catch vocal with teasing orchestral work in mixed Latin and fox trot rhythm.

Gene Krupa
 It's Up to You
* It's Watcha Do with Watcha Got

"Up" has a rocking beat that is built to lift. Trombone solo is inspired and faintly reminds one of Harris. "Watcha" is weak. I don't think you'll like it either.

ALBUMS
 Carmen Cavalaro's Night and Day

I'm not fond of piano solos, but maybe you are. A good selection. "Night and Day," "Body and Soul," "Temptation," "If I Could Be with You," "Day Dreaming," "The Most Beautiful Girl in the World," "I Kiss You Hand, Madame," and "You're Just a Flower from an Old Bouquet."

Write Away

Quotes Were Wrong

Editor:

The quote in Thursday's Daily Tar Heel attributed to me was absolutely wrong. That is: I thought that Henry Wallace might be a second Christ. My statement at the time was, "For all I know, Henry Wallace might be a Christ." In that line for all I know, you, too, might be a Christ.

I do not want anyone in Chapel Hill to think that I have any admiration for the amazing Henry . . . My political beliefs at this point are not strong, but I think of myself as a Jeffersonian Democrat, with a little Theodore Roosevelt Republicanism. I am more reactionary than liberal.

Yesterday also proved to me, that the only way to get anything in the present Daily Tar Heel is to support the ideas of radicals. When you can give as much space, as often as you do to the likes of Bill Robinson you are not supporting the ideas of 99.9 per cent of your readers. If we were not forced to buy your paper, and if you did not have a monopoly of the only newspaper on campus, I dare say that the small .1 per cent would be your only subscribers.

Give us back the pre-war Carolina Gentlemen type of journal. The Wallacites, backed by the Communists have lost, and have been buried everywhere except on your editorial page. Hereafter please give them space only on page five.

Bill Duncan

Drop the Syllabus

Editor:

Carolina is a school which uses modern methods in teaching, and one continually seeking new methods to prepare us better for this not too sympathetic world. There is one method used here, one which I have heard opinions voiced on, that seems not to be a very good method, and that is — the use of the syllabus in Social Science with all its references.

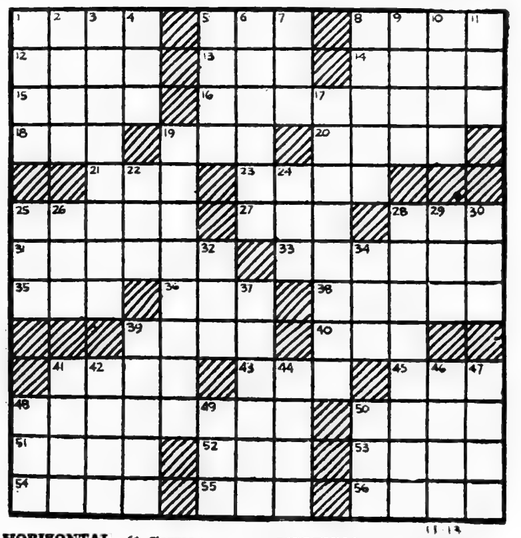
I will admit that the reference work connected with the course teaches us how to use that part of the library, but due to reading so many different books, there is much unnecessary repetition. Also, some of these reference books are so poorly composed that it is very difficult to get anything from the material.

Another thing is not having the book available when we are in our room or home to use them. There are so few copies of some books that the library is not allowed to check them out even overnight, and that puts a hardship on many of us very often.

According to the "grape vine" there may be a little campus politics connected up with the writing of the syllabus which may be the reason for the continued use of it.

If the material in these reference books was put into one book, with the unnecessary material left out, it would be another step toward preparing us better and quicker, one which would also help those who are to follow us at this wonderful school.

Met B. Ausley

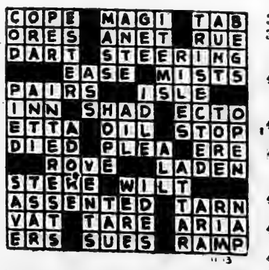


Was Hanft Sincere?

To the Editor:

I believe that Dr. Hanft was not sincere when he spoke to the Freshman Assembly last Thursday on the difference between the American Revolution and the Russian Revolution.

I don't believe that Dr. Hanft is helping persons to understand the effects and causes of Communism by offering them nothing more concrete and specific than the kind of torrential propaganda that is printed in Hearst-like newspapers. Furthermore, I believe that Dr. Hanft was using the Assembly period as an instrument to channel his vicious propaganda. Dr. Hanft, like most persons who rant against Communism and say nothing, knows full well what he is doing — and it certainly isn't to strengthen Democracy. He knows that it is better to maintain respectability at a time when manufactured public opinion is rapidly anti-Communistic than to fight against those who use this topic to divert attention from our own democratic abuses. Like so many so called liberals he has a warm heart but cold feet. Lastly, I don't like Dr. Hanft's brand of Democracy, especially when he says that the "Russian Revolution was not directed against the Czar, but to overthrow a Democratic government."



Joseph Borello

HORIZONTAL
1. former Greek guerilla band
5. lower limb
8. hurried
12. gentle breeze
13. topaz hummingbird
14. Hebrew high priest
15. ice crystals
16. abhorred
18. Scotch cap
19. lair
20. English school
21. friend (Fr.)
23. preserves
25. comrades
27. distress signal
28. grow old
31. gives sparingly
33. female relative
35. pouch
36. river in Switzerland
38. external
39. poker stake
40. born
41. German painter
43. duct
45. in no manner
48. signified
50. rim
51. heraldic bearing
52. wrath
53. gull-like bird
54. bucket
55. writing implement
56. citrus drinks

VERTICAL
1. the Orient
2. silver (alchemy)
3. fragrant
4. observed
5. load
6. incidents
7. aeriform matter
8. slashes
9. Mexican coin
10. smooth
11. accomplished
17. French boarding-houses
19. to outstrip
22. adult males
24. bombycid moths
25. manuscripts (abbr.)
26. Luzon Negrito
28. was present
29. to the right
30. wander
32. perched
34. French novelist
37. venerate
39. independent Russian union
41. Hindu spirit of evil
42. mythological king
44. British Arabian colony
46. mythical giant
47. decimal units
48. swab
49. tear violently
50. Greek letter

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.

Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Christmas in November

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13—Christmas, originally scheduled for December 25, was celebrated here today before some 34,500 merry-makers with the University of Maryland proving there is a Santa Claus to a gay group of North Carolina Tar Heels who hung touchdowns all over the local scoreboard instead of the conventional stockings.

The Terps, playing the perfect host all afternoon, showered the already-gifted Tar Heels with touchdown opportunities throughout the game and might even have given the visitors the ball park had they owned it. All Carolina scores it seems, came with a helpful hand from the Terps who fumbled, passed, and kicked their way into seven touchdowns worth of trouble.

The Tar Heels were not ones to look the gift horse in the mouth. Instead, they mounted him and rode the poor animal ragged. They turned orphaned Maryland passes into three touchdowns, and pounced on a gross of Terp fumbles to net two more scores. The other touchdown marches began by courtesy of some poor punting by Earl Roth, who in his efforts possibly to keep the ball away from Charlie Justice, had a hard time keeping it away from the fans in the first four rows of the grandstands.

Prescribed and Filled

MARYLAND, INSPIRED BY the brisk autumn day, scored the first time they had the ball. On their first play from scrimmage after a Justice quick kick had put them back where the soft living ends, Harry Bonk took the ball on a handoff, honked once at the line of scrimmage to clear the traffic, and then brushed rudely past all the Tar Heels for 76 yards before Bill Flamisch pulled him over to the curb on the Carolina 10. Three plays later the Terps had a score and the Tar Heels a seven-point headache.

Bill Maceyko came up with the cure for this malady, though, a few scenes later when he prescribed and filled a touchdown preparation by taking a Maryland pass and then a powder for some 59 yards to tie the game up with Carolina blue ribbons, midway in the opening quarter.

After that, the Tar Heel football financiers just sat back and continued to capitalize on mistaken Terp investments and the touchdowns rolled into the Carolina till. You hardly had the time to ring them up in the first half, as after Maceyko's mad dash, the Tar Heels just couldn't find time not to err.

Three More Times

THE NEXT THREE Carolina touchdowns came to life in the second period. Shattering with honors, the Snavelymen's previous inability to score in this stanza all season long. The Terps were going their best to make the Tar Heels comfortable at this point, though, and were quick to provide either the gift or the lift of the whole touchdown tried.

Joe Romano adopted a Maryland fumble to set up the first of these when he declared squatters' rights on the loose ball around the Maryland 7. For three plays the boys from Dixie dallied. But with the Tar Heel touchdown hopes going down for the fourth time, Justice hit Ken Powell up the middle with a right to the midsection for six points worth of touchdowns.

Justice passed for another to Bob Kennedy shortly after to run the tally further upward. The Choo then reappeared for the benefit of late comers with Hosea Rodgers, who started and finished the chores of a fourth score after Romano had confiscated another Maryland fumble. The effect of it all seemed to be splitting the T-atom of the Terps to little pieces when the halftime mercifully intervened.

More and More

THE SECOND TIME around things didn't pick up much for the Marylanders. The Tar Heels, meanwhile, were not to be engaged in all this idle folly, and divided their time between keeping the Terps in their own back yard and adding a few tallies to the blossoming score sheet.

The first of the additions was a delightful play which developed into Rodgers flipping a shortie to Justice, who took the ball over his shoulder in a small corner just before tip-toeing out of the end zone. It was a sight for sore eyes and voices.

Kennedy, who played excessively well at his somewhat new position of wingback, accounted for No. 6 in a two-part movement. The first section of the score left right on time when Bob intercepted a Terp toss and galloped gaily back to the Maryland decade marker. When all seemed lost after three plays, Kennedy rode again on a deep and delayed double reverse, bulled six points at the flag.

Bill Maceyko lastly did a reprise of his earlier performance that had been so well received by the crowd in the first act. He added a new touch this time, shaking but not breaking stride to elude some troublesome Terps along the way. He almost got a ticket from a Washington speed cop for his efforts.

The Unaccounted

THAT ACCOUNTS FOR 42 points of the total. The rest are the property of Mr. Bob Cox who probably converted as many Maryland fans as he did extra points. He was the first man to have seven men even in an afternoon at Griffith stadium since Clark Griffith took over the local franchise.

The game proved that the Tar Heels, no matter how prepared they are unbeatable when they play their own brand of football. J. C. Tatum had eight scouts by count on the game last week, had studied this Snavely team for three years, and reportedly had pictures of some of the Tar Heels' games this season.

All of which goes to show if you give some fellows enough dope, they'll hang themselves.

TUXEDO RENTALS

It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.

Lewis-State College

RALEIGH

HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

Clemson Squeaks By Baptist Eleven, 21-14

Gage Sparks Tigers to Win Over Favored Demon Deacs

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 13—(UP) — Unbeaten Clemson uncorked a fourth-period touchdown and squeaked by tough Wake Forest by a 21-14 score before 20,000 fans today.

The victory gave Coach Frank Howard's Tigers a stranglehold on the Southern conference championship and made it fairly certain they will get a New Year's Day bowl bid.

The strong passing arm of halfback Bobby Gage and the line rushes of Fred Cone, sophomore fullback, were Clemson's weapons of victory. The two combined their efforts to score the game-winning tally after Wake Forest twice wiped out one-touchdown Clemson leads.

Only the Citadel, which has not won a conference game all year, stands between Clemson and the Southern conference crown. And only weak Duquesne and Auburn remain to make this an unbeaten season for the best Clemson team since the 1939 Cotton Bowl crew.

Wake Forest, already bound for the Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., scored once on a good break and once on an inspired drive the whole length of the field.

On the final play of the scoreless first period, Gage passed 32 yards to end Gene Carson.

Two plays later an interference ruling gave Clemson the ball on the Wake Forest 20. Gage raced to the nine. Three more times he carried to the three and then passed to Mathews in the end zone. The Miller boys—right half Jim holding and fullback Jack kicking—made the first of their three conversions.

Wake Forest stalled on the Clemson 48 but a few minutes later Ed Baublis, a substitute Wake Forest center, recovered a fumble on the Clemson nine.

Provides Shocker

HARRY BONK, above, broke loose on a 75-yard gallop on the first play from scrimmage to set up Maryland's first touchdown against Carolina yesterday in Washington, D. C. After the Tar Heels recovered from the momentary shock they came back strong to score seven touchdowns and rout the Terps, 49-20.

Wildcats Drop Thriller To W&L Team, 21-20

DAVIDSON, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Washington and Lee blocked a Davidson placement try today and eked out a 21-20 victory before 5,000 fans at Davidson's home field.

But the star of the game for the losers, eighteen-year-old Davidson tailback Auburn Lambeth completed 14 of 22 passes to pile up a total of 138 yards. In the closing minutes of the game he was carried off the field with a sprained ankle.

Washington and Lee quarterback Mike Boyda sparked his team's offensive, passing to set up two touchdowns and pitching for other gains as well.

The winning margin was supplied by Washington and Lee tackle Harry Gowan. He blocked the extra point try of fullback Hal Mapes after Davidson's first touchdown.

LATE SCORES

CCNY 47, Hofstra 6.

Wash. & Jefferson 21, Muskingum 11
Buffalo 47, Bucknell 13.
Western Md. 13, Lebanon Valley 0.
Johns Hopkins 9, Dickinson 6.

Tomorrow's Murals

TAG FOOTBALL PLAYOFFS

4:00—Field 1, Mud Dobbers vs. Grads; 2, Pi Kappa Phi vs. Phi Delt 1; 3, Kappa Sig 2 vs. Beta 1; 4, Kappa Sig 1 vs. Zeta 2.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Bombers vs. Aycock; 2, Phi Gam 2 vs. Chi Phi 1; 3, Phi Gam 3 vs. DKE 2; 4, Sigma Chi 1 vs. Pi Lamb 1.

5:00—Court 1, Chi Psi 2 vs. Sig Eps 1; 2, Sigma Chi 3 vs. Kappa Sig 2; 3, Phi Delt 2 vs. Delt Sig 2; 4, ATO 1 vs. Zeta 1.

TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Table 1, Oakwood Drive vs. Mangum; 2, Chi Psi 2 vs. Phi Gam 2; 3, Sigma Chi 6 vs. ATO 1.

5:00—Table 1, Bombers 1 vs. Med School 1; 2, Phi Gam 1 vs. TEP; 3, Pi Lamb 1 vs. KA 3; 4, Town 1 vs. Emerson 2.

TD Barrage Staggers Terps In Capital Battle

(Continued from page one)

the Tar Heel end easily gathered in. Cox's conversion after the score gave Carolina the lead at 14-7.

Coach Carl Snavely's invaders marched 40 yards for their third tally. A pass-interference ruling gave the Tar Heels a first down on the 29. A pass—Kennedy to Rodgers—moved the ball to the 20, and Rodgers carried to the 15 on a buck. Justice was dropped for a yard loss but passed to Kennedy in the left corner of the end zone for the touchdown on the next play. Less than four minutes remained in the half when Cox converted to make it 21-7. Meanwhile the Tar Heel fans were setting up a flutter of Confederate flags, the like of which has not been seen since Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomatox in 1865.

Big Romano set up another score a little later by covering another bobble on the Maryland 18. Hosea Rodgers passed to Max Cooke on the 2, and drove over for a touchdown on the following play. Cox converted and Carolina led, 28-7, as the first half ended.

Conservative Battle

After the half-time ceremonies, the two teams settled down to a more conservative battle. The Tar Heels scored on the next to last play of the period. Once again an interference with the receiver penalty against Maryland set up a Tar Heel marker. This ruling came when Art Weiner was pushed while chasing a Justice aerial on the 7. After three plays had failed, Justice went out on the left flank and raced down into the end zone in time to grab a perfectly timed Rodgers pass for a touchdown. Cox converted and Carolina maintained a 35-7 lead after three quarters.

Florida A&M 36, Clark 12.
W. Va. State 7, N. C. College 2.
Tufts 13, Massachusetts 13.
Swarthmore 33, Drexel 13.

The COLONIAL INN

HILLSBORO, N. C.

For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms

TELEPHONE 4301

Boston Ties Indians, 14-14, On Late Score

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Boston college's air-minded Eagles swept to a touchdown in the final four minutes of a brawling football game today to tie William and Mary, 14-14 before 15,112 fans at Braves field.

William and Mary, which surprised the gridiron world by tying powerhouse North Carolina last week, seemed headed for a triumph on the strength of Jack Bruce's 82-yard touchdown dash until Boston forged its comeback drive.

A spectacular pass completion by end Albie Gould on Ed Songin's pass carried Boston college 27 yards to a first down on the Indians 3 and halfback Maurice Poissant bucked over for the equalizing touchdown.

Ernie Stautner, Boston's crashing tackle, booted the placement point that tied the score at 14-all as darkness mantled chilled spectators.

Its hopes bolstered by the touchdown march which covered 53 yards, Boston unleashed a final effort to win the game after gaining possession on its 7 with two minutes left.

Two perfect passes by Songin and Bob Palladino's 16-yard break through the middle of the tiring W&M line brought the Eagles to the Southerners' 35.

But the game ended on the next play as Bruce intercepted a Songin pass in William and Mary's end zone.

With William and Mary leading, 14-0, Boston struck for its first touchdown near the end of the half. Again it was Songin who sparked the Eagles. He tossed a 56-yard scoring pass that halfback Al Cannava snagged after it bounced off two W&M players and one of the Eagles.

William and Mary jumped into a quick 7-0 lead in the first period when halfback Henry Blanc intercepted a Boston pass hurled by Ed Clasby with a key block.

Those Left Home Cheer Tar Heels In Washington

By Wuff Newell

Griffith Stadium wasn't the only place yesterday where Tar Heel rooters were loudly cheering their team to victory. Waving Confederate flags and singing "I'm a Tar Heel Born" after each touchdown, by the rampant Carolina players, the handful of students left in Chapel Hill showed that they were behind the team as much as those who were in Washington.

The story was the same in every nook and cranny populated by Carolina students. As the radio announced that the Terps had crossed Carolina's goal line for the first time in four years, sighs of anguish went up from the long-distance cheering section, and as soon as the Tar Heels reached pay dirt for the first time, the local rooters breathed a sigh of relief. At last their Tar Heels were showing their stuff again and were ahead in the game. No longer would the tie game of last week be remembered. The team was on its way to another victory. Anyone passing the dorms and quonset huts where the cheering brigades were glued to their radios would have thought that the game was being played there instead of 260 miles away, so loud were the voices counting the score there.

The studnets who made the trip to the capital carried the "Stars and Bars," but the ones left at home had theirs too. As Carolina scored its first second-quarter touchdown of the season, flags were waved by happy quonset-hutters and shouts of "So it's rah rah Carolina, 'Lina" rocked the UNC campus.

ORCHESTRE NATIONAL OF FRANCE

CHARLES MUENCH, Conductor

at

PAGE AUDITORIUM, DUKE UNIVERSITY
Durham, N. C.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26
At 8:15 P.M.

TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00 AND $3.50 (Tax incl.)

Phone Durham 112—ext. 270; or write J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C., for Reservations.

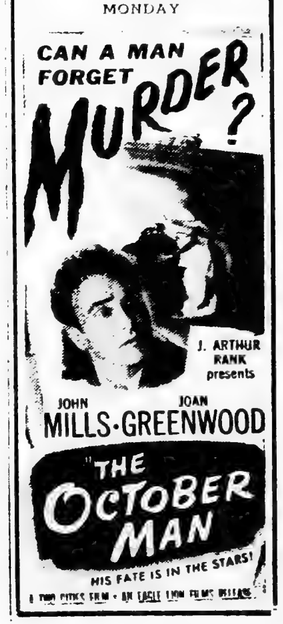
Baylor Defeated 35-13 by Tulane In Wild Struggle

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Once-beaten Tulane wiped the last dangerous game off its 1948 schedule today with a 35-13 defeat of Baylor.

Tulane mixed a powerful potion of running and passing to score in every period, while its hard-tackling line made it almost impossible for Baylor to gain on the ground.

Most of Tulane's yardage was picked up by Eddie Price, a formidable fullback, and gangling George Kinek, a sophomore halfback.

Price, already the nation's fifth leading ground gainer, scored two touchdowns, one in the first period on a 12-yard end sweep behind superb blocking by Kinek and the other early in the fourth stanza. Kinek made an almost impossible one-handed catch of a pass from Joe Errington in the end zone for another.



Ray Prats, a fast halfback, and Bill Svoboda accounted for the other two touchdowns. Svoboda, who played a great defensive game, knifed off tackle from the Baylor four for six points in the third period and Prats marked up Tulane's last score late in the fourth period on a handoff from Ernst on the Baylor six.

Baylor scored its two touchdowns on passes. Ray Painter hit end Harold Riley in the Tulane end zone on the second play of the second period to pull even with Tulane, 7-7. In the third quarter, Adrian Burke passed to end Jasper Flanakin on the Tulane 4, who shook off a tackle and stepped over for Baylor's last score.

VILLAGE
TODAY

MONDAY

30-DAY SMOKING TEST PROVES CAMEL MILDNESS!

For 30 consecutive days in a recent test, hundreds of men and women all across the country smoked Camels—and only Camels—on the average of one to two packages a day.

Every week, their throats were carefully examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2,470 examinations from coast to coast.

And these famous throat specialists reported that they found not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

But prove it yourself! In your "T-Zone"—T for Taste and T for Throat. Smoke Camels for 30 days. Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about that full, rich Camel flavor. Let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you how mild a cigarette can be! Yes, prove for yourself that there's

NO THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

...Social Lights...

SOCIETY EDITOR ..... Rita Adams

STAFF: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Caroline Brunner, Jane Gower, Lynn Hammock, Ann Gamble, Lucielle Conley, Kitty Altizer, Violet LaRue.

Parties, Dance Spark Coed Plans

By Violet LaRue

Members of the Carolina Independent Coeds association are making plans for a Christmas dance in honor of their new members. The dance will be held December 4 in the Carolina Inn and will be for all non-sorority girls and Stray Greeks.

Betty McMahan and Roxie Walker have been elected to serve as scrapbook photography chairmen. Members of the organization are reminded that Yack pictures will be taken at the next meeting and that all dues must be paid at that time. Cokes were served at the last meeting to the members and the following new girls: Betty Peirson, Edith Winslow, Jo Ann Carpenter, Sarah Oliver, Bettye Welch, Roxie Ann Walters, Marjorie Bradley, Betty McMahan, Lillian Wilson, and Bonnie Quay.

The ADPi pledge class entertained other sorority pledges at a party Thursday afternoon. After dinner at the Chi Phi house, the ADPi's and the Chi Psi's went 'possum hunting in the country Thursday night.

The Alpha Gam's entertained the PiKA's at a Harvest party last Tuesday night. Charlie Hondras won first prize dressed as Miss Charlie Hondras; Ted Wall won second prize dressed as Al Jolson. The SAE's were the guests of the Alpha Gam's at a party on Thursday night.

The Tri Delts entertained the Betas Tuesday night with a Hillbilly party. After singing songs and serving refreshments, the Sound and Fury group of "traveling performers," under the direction of Jerry Weiss, gave a 20 minute program of comedy and songs. The party ended with a square dance. Jinx O'Neal, Tri Delt traveling secretary, is the guest of the local chapter. She arrived yesterday and will remain until Thursday. Jinx was president of the Georgia Tri Delts last year. She is now visiting the various chapters throughout this section of the country . . . counseling and helping the girls in the local chapters.

The Chi O's held pledging for Betty Heath last Wednesday night. There will be no coffee hour at the Chi O house this Sunday because of the Washington game.

The Pi Phi's were entertained at a minstrel show by the PiKA's Wednesday night. At the beginning of the party the Pi Phi Arrows selected their "beaux" by choosing a chocolate drop, each of which contained the name of a PiKA wrapped up with the candy. The party concluded with a boogy-woogy pianist who played her own selections upon request.

Social Calendar

Tuesday, November 16

7-11 o'clock—Bridge tournament at Graham Memorial.

7-9 o'clock—Dance lessons, Rendezvous room.

Friday, November 19

4-5 o'clock—Charlie Spivak concert.

7:30—Pep rally.

9-1 o'clock—Grail dance at Woollen gym—Charlie Spivak and orchestra.

9:30—Radio program and floor show in Rendezvous room.

Saturday, November 20

2 o'clock—Carolina vs. Duke at Kenan stadium.

9-12 o'clock—Grail dance at Woollen gym—Charlie Spivak and orchestra.

Fraternity Men March on Capital

The football team went to Washington this weekend to play a game against the University of Maryland, and the fraternity socialites, in best party spirit, followed close behind.

Members of Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi held a Saturday-nite get-together in the ballroom of the Hamilton hotel. The Maryland Sigma Chi chapter invited the Carolina Sig's to an open house after the game.

An unincorporated chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon on the Maryland campus gave the Tarheel Deke's an informal party Friday night. Jim and Bob Francis, two members of the Carolina chapter, entertained the brothers after the game at their Washington home.

Alpha Tau Omega Ralph Lee played host to the traveling ATO's in his Capital Residence. George Grizzard entertained Kappa Alpha brothers with an after-the-game party in his home.

Formal pledging for the Alpha Tau Omega's took place a week ago last Monday night. Johnny Vann, chairman of the executive council, made a brief address on the fraternity and its ideals. Alumni members present were Dr. Dougald McMillan, of the University English department, and O. K. Cornwell and E. E. Ericson, both of the physical education department. Recently appointed ATO pledge master is Dick Bryant.

Two neighboring chapters of Alpha Epsilon Pi greeted their Chapel Hill brothers over the weekend. They are the Maryland chapter and the groups at George Washington university, who organized a Saturday night party for their visiting friends.

The pledging ceremony for the new Chi Phis took place last Monday and Tuesday nights at the chapter house.

Carolina Inn was the setting for the Deke pledge banquet Tuesday night.

Sponsors for the Yack beauty court representing the Sigma Nu were entertained at a Tuesday night supper. They are Mary Leah Thorne and Sara Jane Farlow.

Kappa Alpha Ed Davenport and Martha Manning, Plymouth, are planning a December wedding. Also on the to-be list are Sammy T. Atkinson and Mary Gold, Shelby.

Pinnings in the Kappa Sigma fraternity are as follows: Bob Newell to Sylvia Green, Williamson; Bob Ensslin to Fif Ginter, Washington, D. C.; and Jim Smith to Jackie Rigsby, Durham.

Sandy Siegel, Baltimore, Md. was elected president of the Tau Epsilon Phi pledge class at the pledge meeting Tuesday night. Other officers named were: Bobby Evans, Durham, vice-president; Norton Glasser, Norfolk, Va., secretary-treasurer; and Art Mackler, Smithfield, chaplain-warden.

Churches Plan Get Togethers For This Week

BAPTIST: Mrs. Taul B. White, Chapel Hill, will teach the student Sunday school class this morning at 9:45. At the 11:00 o'clock service the new minister, the Rev. Mr. Samuel T. Habel, will deliver a sermon entitled "Lift up Your Eyes." Twenty-four Baptist UNC students are attending the state BSU convention at the student supper meeting tonight at 6:00. Milton Bliss, a UNC student, is music director of the State BSU group, and he is leading all singing at the convention. Plans are underway for the annual Thanksgiving banquet November 23 to which all foreign students are invited.

CONGREGATIONAL: "Spreading the Good News of Peace," a plea for pacifist witness, will be the topic of the Rev. Mr. Munger's sermon this morning at 11:00. Tonight Mr. Munger's sermon has a most interesting title: "No Experience, No Body, No Time, No Place." Because the women of the church are holding a World Wide Community Day service tomorrow night at 8:00 there will be no student meeting at that time.

CATHOLIC: Regular Mass will be held this morning at 8:00 and 11:00 in Gerrard Hall. At the latter service Father Dwyer S.G., graduate student in English, will deliver the sermon.

EPISCOPAL: There will be three services today at the Episcopalian church, beginning with Holy Communion at 8:00 A.M. At the regular morning service at 11:00 the Rev. Mr. Yates will have as his topic "The Truth that Will Never Pass Away." Tonight at 8:00 he will speak on "The Kingdom of God is Nigh Unto You." A discussion, led by Mr. Yates, on the clause in the Lord's Prayer, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil" will highlight the Canterbury Club supper meeting Tuesday night at 6:00.

LUTHERAN: This morning at 11:00 the Rev. Mr. Cooper will preach the fourth in a series of sermons of "The Faith of the Church." He will deal with "The Faith of the Church—in Regard to Baptism." The Lutheran Student association (LSA) will leave from the Y Court this afternoon at 1:15 to go to Crabtree Park near Raleigh, where they will unite with students from State, Duke, and WCUNC for a get-together which will be climaxed with a picnic supper and campfire devotional tonight.

PRESBYTERIAN: Regular services will be held this morning at 9:45 and 11:00 with the Rev. Charles Jones speaking at both meetings. Tonight the student group will have as its guest speaker Mr. Edward Danziger's niece, who has recently returned from Germany. She will speak on "The Mind of the German People." After pot-luck supper, married students will continue their study of Moses, led by "Preacher" Jones. Both meetings begin at 6:00. The Friday night discussion group journeyed to Greensboro last week to meet with the WC Westminster Fellowship group.

METHODIST: The Rev. Mr. Henry Ruark will preach this morning on "Christian Democracy and the Communist Challenge." Dr. H. Shelton Smith of the Duke Divinity school will speak to the Wesley Foundation group after the student supper tonight at 6:00.

Dog Patchers Parade Through Town For Sadie Hawkins Day

By Caroline Bruner

The dog patchers parade of hay wagons, highlighting the annual Sadie Hawkins Day celebration, left the Y court at three Friday afternoon when Marrying Sam came on the scene to persuade the young'uns to marry up.

In an attempt to 'scape the parson's clutches, the slow-to-move patchers hastened on with the parade to acquaint the Chapel Hill-billies with the old-fashionable look of Lower Slobovia. Parson Sam climbed aboard the first wagon much to the consternation of a young'un there whose gal had caught him and was twisting his arm in an attempt to keep 'im. This wagon was pushed on by the Carolina Independent Co-ed Association.

Following close behind came the dog patchers's dramatic aspirants in the Lower Slobovian Art Theater. Among their selections, the Slobovian dramatists had one entitled "Omlec, the Rotten Yegg of Demark" by Willie Shakesbeggle, to suit the high literary taste of the barefooted crowd and the shmoos.

Students of Lower Slobovia, singing for the glory of Slobovian University, came in the third wagon, while reluctant dirty billies were being scrubbed in the next. Presented by the Alpha Gams, this last wagon, which a by-standing dog patcher said was the most subtle float he's e're seen, seemed to be an out-house. This the judges rated best, presenting the sorority a jug of kickapoo joy juice as a prize.

The judges presented a prize to the most fashionable Slobovian. Winner was Miss Slobovia who was presented some snuff. "But," said the prizeawarder, "you can't dip it until after de hooman race."

The mountain-style festival was sponsored by the CICA, the Western North Carolina Club and the Town Girls Association.

"AS LUSTY A PICTURE AS YOU COULD WISH." — N.Y. TIMES

Luscious VIVIANE ROMANCE as CARMEN

FRENCH DIALOGUE-ENGLISH SUB-TITLES

VILLAGE THEATRE THUR., NOV 18

WITH A FIVE DOLLAR PURCHASE FROM US YOU WILL RECEIVE A—

FREE 3x5 PORTRAIT

Taken by Wootten-Moulton

CHAPEL HILL PHOTOGRAPHERS

This Portrait Regularly Sells at $4.00

A Limit of One to a Customer

J. B. GOLDSTON

Manufacturer and Dealer in:

- Lumber
- Sash
- Doors
- Moldings
- Plywood
- Insulation

And High-Grade Millwork

Carrboro, N. C. Phone F-3911

Larger Loans on Anything of Value

Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop

MAIN LOAN OFFICE

Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

Shop Early

AND AVOID THE RUSH

Use Our Convenient Lay-Away Plan to Purchase—

★ Necklaces ★ Pearls ★ Chokers ★ Rings
★ Watches ★ Silverware

WENTWORTH & SLOAN

Jewelers

Chapel Hill's First Air-Conditioned Store

167 E. Franklin St. Phone F-2732

For Bright Nights SEAM-FREE NYLONS WITH PATENTED HEEL

The seam-free nylons identified by the Seal of the DANCING TWINS are fashion favorites...on campus and off. They have an exclusive, patented heel* for snug, sure fit; a Gussetoe for comfort. And no twisting seams! Sold under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.

*U. S. Pat. No. 2363419

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENTS 1

I'LL DO YOUR SEWING AND DRESSmaking. Mrs. V. M. Hicks, Jr., 153 Daniels Rd., Victory Village. (2-8065-1)

MRS. ANNE HARTSFIELD — ELECtrologist. Unwanted hair removed. 307 Fidelity Bank Building — Durham F-8061. (3-8060-1)

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR RENT TO STUDENT IN exchange for firing furnace, etc. 2½ miles out. Call S. H. Basnight, F-458.

ROOM FOR RENT TO STUDENTS with car. Call S. H. Basnight, F-458. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

PEKINESE PUP, EIGHT WEEKS old. 107 Daniels Rd., Chapel Hill. (1-8066-1)

MAPLE SOFA-BED, WING CHAIR, end table. All matching. Excellent condition. Will sell separately. 119 Polk Street after 5 p.m. (2-8056-1)

AIRFORCE JACKETS—DRAWSTRING jackets. Khaki shirts and pants. OD pants and shirts. Paratrooper boots. Combat shoes, blankets, etc. Blackburn's Salvage Store, Carrboro. (3-c8063-1)

ENGLISH SETTER, FEMALE, 22 months old. Partly broke. $50. Carl B. Sparrow, Main St., Carrboro. (3-c8061-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

RARE OPPORTUNITY! STUDY . . . TRAVEL in SPAIN

BARCELONA GROUP	MALAGA GROUP
65 Days	65 Days
June 29, 1949	July 2, 1949

Sponsored by:

UNIVERSITY of MADRID

For Information Write

SPANISH STUDENT TOURS

500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

For Your Flower Needs—Call—

West-Williams Flower Shop

PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO

Flowers Wired Anywhere

EYES HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION

Durham Optical Co

215 W. MAIN ST. TEL. F 2141

OPTICIANS

Lucky you—here's "Lucky Stripes"

in the wide-spread, short point VAN EDEN with "Comfort Contour" collar

Step right up, gentlemen! You can't lose when you choose Van Eden, a number that travels in the best of circles. You'll find it on smart new "Lucky Stripes"—in Sanforized fabrics, with Van Heusen magic sewmanship! Van Eden in "Lucky Stripes," $3.95 and $4.95. In white broadcloth, $3.50 and $3.95.

You'll find college men's collar favorites in Van Heusen the world's smartest shirts

PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., N. Y. 1, N. Y.

"VAN HEUSEN" IS A TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

Blameless Girl! Betrayed in helpless silence ...when one cry would have stopped him! Shameless Man!

WHEREVER MOTION PICTURES ARE SHOWN 'JOHNNY BELINDA' IS THIS YEAR'S MOST DISCUSSED DRAMA!

JANE WYMAN · LEW AYRES

IN WARNER BROS.' DRAMATIC TRIUMPH!

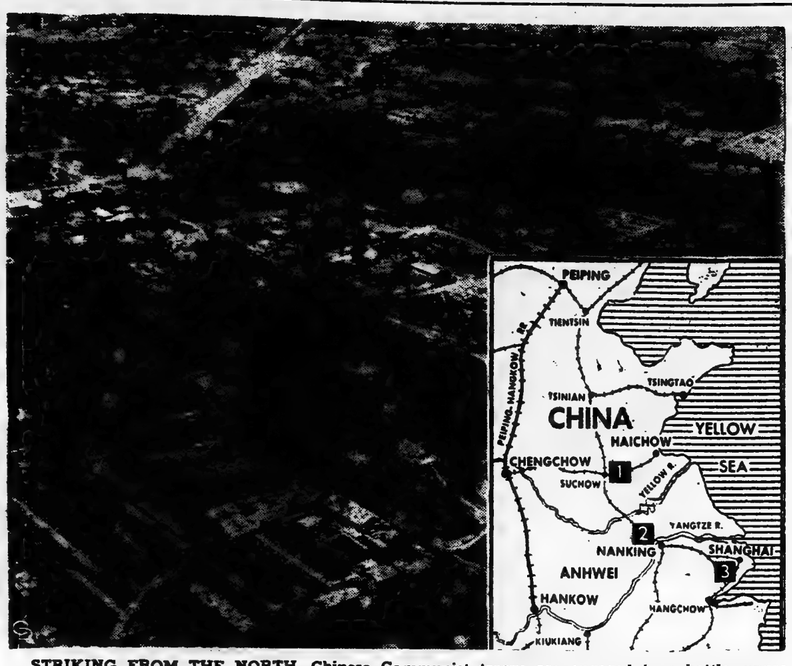
"Johnny Belinda"

CAROLINA THEATRE SUNDAY MONDAY

Tender steaks — and real suthn' frahd chick'n — at HARRY'S

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS



Carolina Carousel
Defining a Term
Suggested Improvement

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and not much change in temperature.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 48

STRIKING FROM THE NORTH, Chinese Communist troops are engaged in a battle, unprecedented in China's history as they fight Nationalist forces attempting to halt their advance, one which may determine the fate of China. More than 1,000,000 men are said to be taking part in the fighting. Latest reports indicate that the Red forces are within ten miles of Suchow (1) and about 100 miles northwest of Nanking (2), pictured above, where martial law and U. S. Army and Marine planes were flying American military dependents from Nanking to Shanghai and Tsingtao, where Army transports were waiting to take them home. Numbering about 1,000, the Americans were expected to be out of the Chinese capital within 24 hours.

Counter-Attack By Nationalists Routs Red Army

NANKING, China, Nov. 15—(UP)—Counter-attacking Chinese government troops driving southeastward from Suchow routed the main Communist armies on the east-central China front today in a major battle involving more than 400,000 men, the National Defense ministry claimed.

The government-controlled Central news agency said the victory turned the tide in the fight for Suchow, 200 miles northwest of Nanking. But reliable sources said the vital gateway to the Chinese capital still was menaced from the south, where the Reds cut the Suchow-Nanking railway, at Suhsien, 45 miles away.

The main battle was raging, the Defense ministry said, along a 23-mile front between Tamaic, 10 miles east of Suchow, and Nienchuang, 33 miles southeast. The Nationalists claimed the recapture of more than 30 villages and strategic points in the area.

The ministry said the Reds were "showing signs of retreating northward" from the Tamaic-Nienchuang sector.

New Stop Light To Be Installed On Franklin St.

The town of Chapel Hill is in the process of erecting a new stoplight at the corner of Malette and Franklin street. The light was obtained by the town through the University and is being installed by University employees.

Town Manager Gilbert Ray said yesterday that the blinker which was previously at the intersection has been removed and will be placed at the corner of Rosemary and Columbia streets.

He said that the light would show caution east and west, and will indicate stop for cars traveling north and south on Columbia.

"I hope the lights will alleviate the congested situation on these two corners," Ray said.

Noah's Ark

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—(UP)—The SS Swarthmore Victory docked here today and unloaded its floating zoo of elephants, monkeys, snakes and other animals which staged a short-lived rebellion in mid-ocean against short rations.

The crew breathed a sigh of relief as longshoremen unloaded six hungry baby elephants which broke their chains Wednesday to search the ship for food.

Fraternities Stronghold Of Humanism--Mosely

By Wink Locklair

"Fraternities are the stronghold of humanism on the campuses of the country today," Dr. John O. Mosely, president of the University of Nevada, told a banquet audience of fraternity leaders and faculty members at the Carolina Inn last night.

This morning at 11 o'clock, Dr. Mosely will tell University freshmen "twelve things I would do if I were a freshman again." Tonight at 7:30 he will discuss "The Fraternity System and its merits" at a campus-wide meeting in Hill hall.

Dr. Mosely, after discussing the precarious situation the world is in today, said that perhaps fraternities were brought into being for such times as these. "People are worried about our future. The characteristics of civilization is like a game. Rules are the characteristic of a game and if you don't have rules, you don't have a game. When men begin breaking rules, our way of life is doomed. The fraternity ideal could be the answer."

The speaker stressed that manmaking ideals should be the principle aim of fraternities. "College fraternities of America are in the business of making gentlemen." Dr. Mosely defined a gentleman as "a bundle of sub-concious inhibition."

"It is the business of every gentleman to add to his pile of inhibition so that when he draws his last breath he should be as near to perfection as his God-given talents allow him."

Dormitory Space Now Available For 45 Students

The following students are eligible for dormitory rooms and should contact the housing office, 22 New East annex, by Thursday. If they do not contact the housing office by then, it will be assumed that they are not interested in a dormitory room and their deposits will be refunded.

Alan H. Barnes, Donald E. Beckwith, Eddie E. Best, Robert M. Birke, Robert Charles Braswell, Myers Griffin Braxton, James M. Burns, Jr., Elliot L. Cannon, William S. Chambers, Roy C. Corderman, Jr., Jack D. Dillon, Lester Efird, Robert R. Fentress, Clyde E. Fisher, William D. Fisher, William C. Foil.

Walter T. Furlong, Kenneth S. Greene, Carroll W. Hawkins, Henry Hight, Jr., Verne E. Hill, David R. Hollowell, Jr., Robert P. Joyce, Jr., William A. Julian, Jr., Ned S. Kearns, Dudley A. Kinsey, Frank Krauss, III, Talley E. Lassiter, R. M. Litaker, Harry S. McMillan, James R. Martin, William M. Matthews, Owen O. Morgan, Jr., Robert D. Page, Melvin M. Proctor, Page P. Ravis, Oliver L. Sapp, Richard A. Sheets, David A. Simpson, Jr., Robert M. Simpson, Guy D. Smith, Stanley T. Smith, Marcus F. Snoddy, James F. Stepp.

Singing, Shouting Crowd Interferes With Sleep of Elizabeth, New Heir

LONDON, Nov. 15—(UP)—Police dispersed a singing, shouting crowd outside Buckingham palace late tonight so that Princess Elizabeth and her seven-pound, six-ounce heir could sleep.

There were only about 200 persons in the crowd, but their shouts of "We want Philip" and their loud singing "Rockabye Baby" evidently disturbed those inside.

Police cleared the crowd from the fence in front of the palace courtyard, declaring:

"We have instructions from inside to discourage any singing or shouting."

A morning bulletin on the princess's condition, noting that she had "some" sleep, indicated that she was restless after her baby was born Sunday night.

Police were called out also at Oxford to aid "proctors" to disperse 500 celebrating university students, who started impromptu fights in their exuberance and marched through the city shouting "Long live the prince!" and singing "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Lights playing on Trafalgar square in the center of London tonight were changed to blue, the traditional color for a boy.

Celebration of the birth of the baby reached a fullthroated climax during the day. Guns thundered in salute and bells pealed joyously.

Float Parade Is Scheduled For Weekend

PiKAs to Award Four Silver Cups

A parade of automobile floats is being planned for Friday by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and four cups will be awarded to the winners, Prexy Len Szafaryn announced yesterday.

The float parade will replace the usual banner display sponsored yearly by the PiKA's on Duke-Carolina weekends and is in keeping with the fraternity's 15-year policy of awarding prizes for the best pep rally displays.

"To keep pace with the quickening spirit and interest, the PiKA's this year have raised the reward ante to four cups in place of theusual one," Szafaryn said.

Entrance divisions for the contest will be men's dorms, women's dorms, fraternities and sororities. A cup will be given for the best motor-float from each of these four sections.

The PiKA's say the parade is designed to "stimulate spirited rivalry between the two schools and should add luster to a long-awaited weekend."

They invite all-out participation by the campus to make the 'Beat Dook" motor-float parade a highlight of the weekend. Cups to be awarded are on display at the Y.

Graham to Get $1,000 Award For Service

Dr. Frank P. Graham will receive a $1,000 award from the million-dollar Sidney Hillman foundation for his "selfless public service," foundation director Jacob B. Potofsky said yesterday.

Potofsky explained that Graham as vice-chairman of the National Defense Mediation board had worked closely with Hillman and W. S. Knudsen, president of the General Motors corporation.

The foundation was established in memory of the late president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Dr. Graham said yesterday, "I am of course deeply appreciative, but I feel that there are many others who should have received the award rather than I."

Pinafore Tryouts Scheduled Tonight

Final public tryouts for "H. M. S. Pinafore," the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta which will be staged in January by the Carolina Playmakers and the department of music, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall, Foster Fitz-Simons and Gwyn McPeek, co-directors, announced yesterday.

Draft Quota

The Orange county draft board yesterday announced that its quota for the November draft will be four men, none of whom are University students.

No quota has yet been set for December and January, when the national quota will increase. The board said that their quota was assigned from the state board and that they had not yet been notified of any future number.

Names and addresses of the four men who will be called in November were not released.

Spivak Tickets Still on Sale To Grail Dances

Spokesmen for the Order of the Grail said yesterday there were plenty of tickets left for the coming weekend's Charlie Spivak dances and concert. The Grail said that proceeds from the Duke weekend festivities would go into a scholarship fund.

Football players from both Duke and Carolina will be guests of the Grail. Both dances are semi-formal.

Tickets for Friday afternoons concert from 4 to 6 o'clock and both dances are on sale in the Y building from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock daily. There are 1,800 concert tickets at $1 per person, and 2,000 dance books at $5, which includes both Friday and Saturday dances.

Both dances will be held in Woollen gymnasium, Friday's dance is from 9 to 1 o'clock and Saturday's, from 9 to 12 o'clock.

The Grail sponsors small dances on campus as a service to students. If any money is made on these dances, the proceeds also go into scholarship funds.

Recorder's Court Has Heavy Docket

Clerk of court Moody Durham said yesterday that a very heavy docket will be tried in Judge Henry Whitfield's recorder's court today.

Weekend Labeled 'Unusual' By Capital Hotel Employes

By Chuck Hauser

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Hotel officials and desk clerks in the nation's capital today said the city's invasion by some 5,000 Tar Heels over the weekend was "certainly unusual" and "rough," but that the Carolinians were welcome back any time.

One bewildered room clerk at the Ambassador hotel commented, "I was here when they came in, and I was here when they went out . . . It was really rough!"

He said he thought the weekend was "unusually rowdy but "we were glad to have 'em anyway." He added that several Ambassador mattresses were dropped out of windows of the hotel and that several fire extinguishers disappeared and then turned up "in the most peculiar places."

Asked about the Duke weekend in Washington when the Blue Devils played Maryland a few weeks ago, he sighed, "North Carolina had it all over the Duke boys. They raised hell, but there was just no comparison."

Assistant Manager W. P. Duff of the Hamilton hotel said, "We enjoyed seeing all of the Carolina girls and boys. They left the hotel intact; they left no unpaid bills. If I had my way, I'd have them all back."

Duff added, "We had a number of complaints from our other guests about the noise, but we just told them there was nothing we could do about it."

At the Statler hotel, the assistant manager, who refused to be named, was reluctant to make comment at all on the weekend's doings. He finally remarked that "Everyone seemed to be having a lot of fun, but I wouldn't say they were rowdy. It was an unusual weekend, but as far as I'm concerned, they behaved themselves."

It was learned, however, that the Statler, like all other hotels in the city, had a heavy force of house detectives on duty and a large number of D. C. policemen in and around the building.

A taxicab driver in downtown Washington summed up the Tar Heel invasion in one explosive phase: "I never seen anything like it since VJ day. They're goin' crazy down there at 14th and K."

And an aged elevator operator in one of the uptown hotels had a similar remark to make: "It was the greatest thing that's hit town since Taft came in in '02."

Thomas Says Not Guilty To Kickback Charges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(UP)—Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the House Un American activities committee today pleaded not guilty to federal fraud and salary-kickback charges.

In a surprise arraingnment one day ahead of schedule, Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech placed the red-faced, nervous congressman under $1,000 bond, and set his trial for Monday, Jan. 10.

Afterward, the New Jersey Republican went to the U.S. Marshal's office to be fingerprinted and photographed.

He was whisked through that process in five minutes and a short time later a bonding company posted his bail.

Thomas, for two years head of the congressional anti-Communist drive, was indicted last Monday on four counts of trying to defraud the government through "padding" his congressional office payroll and pocketing salaries of "employes" who never actually worked for him.

If convicted on all counts, he faces a possible penalty of 32 years in prison and $40,000 in fines.

His former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell who was indicated on one of the four charges, will be arraigned tomorrow as scheduled.

Thanksgiving Recess Dates Set By Wells

Thanksgiving recess begins at 1 o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 24 and ends at 8 o'clock Monday, Nov. 29, Dean Wells announced yesterday.

An undergraduate student who misses a scheduled class on the day before Thanksgiving recess will be fined $2.50 for each class, up to a total of $7.50; the same fines will be applied to an undergraduate student who misses a scheduled class on the day after the recess, he said.

Local Society Elects Hamilton New President

Randy Hamilton, instructor in political science, was elected president of the local chapter of the American Society for Public Administration at their first fall meeting recently, Hubert R. Marshall was elected vice president.

Directors elected for the coming year include Dr. Edward G. McGavran, dean of the School of Public Health; Dr. Arthur E. Fink, director of the Division of Public Welfare and Social Work and Donald B. Hayman of the Institute of Government.

This is the local chapter's second year at Chapel Hill, and regular meeting are held to which all interested and qualified persons are invited.

The purpose of the society is to facilitate the exchange of knowledge and results of experience among persons interested in the field; to encourage the collection, compilation and dissemination of information on matters relating to public administration; and to advance generally the science, processes, and art of public administration.

Compulsory Mass Meeting Slated for Coed Candidates

All coeds will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall at a compulsory mass meeting to complete nominations for coed senators, women legislators and honor council members to be elected in the December elections.

Names and qualifications of girls who have been nominated during the past week will be heard, and other nominations will be accepted if accompanied by the necessary petition of 15 names.

The floor will be open for a short discussion after the reading of the nomination of each candidate. The nominees will be narrowed to three for each vacancy, including party candidates. All attending are asked to bring pencils for voting, and ballots will be distributed at the close of the meeting.

All house presidents, undergraduate dormitory presidents, and the president of Town Girl's association are asked to be present at their respective tables at 6:30 o'clock in order to check their dormitory lists.

If a girl cannot attend the meeting she must turn in a written excuse before the meeting to the president of her dormitory. If the excuse is not deemed valid by the elections board, she will serve probation.

Emily Baker, chairman of coed elections, asks that all coed senators arrive at 6:30 o'clock for a short meeting in the auditorium.

Scientists Hear Dr. MacCarthy

Dr. Gerald R. MacCarthy, professor of geology and geophysics at the University, addressed the Middletown Scientific association at Wesleyan university last week on "Problems of the American Arctic."

Dr. MacCarthy discussed such topics as difficulty of terrain, resources and transportation, and the way in which these problems are being studied. He illustrated his lecture with Kodachrome slides.

Pharmacy Group To Hear Harrell

J. W. Harrell will deliver a speech before the Pharmacy senate in Howell hall at 7:30 tonight on the various aspects of the new muscle relaxant drug, intocostrin.

Harrell, a representative of the E. R. Squibb and Sons Pharmaceutical company, will supplement his talk with the showing of a movie.

The senate extends an invitation to all members of the schools of Pharmacy and Medicine to attend the talk and movie. The movie ran for one week at the recent St. Louis medical convention.

Hillyer to Talk To Air Reserves

Lt. Col. Roy N. Hillyer Jr., director of the Division of Civilian Components, 14th Air force, will address a meeting of the Chapel Hill chapter of the Air Reserve association tonight at 7:30 in 103 Bingham hall.

Col. Hillyer will discuss plans for the activation of a full-fledged reserve unit in Chapel Hill. All air force veterans, both officers and enlisted men are urged to attend. Officers will also be elected for the coming year.

Still Resting

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 15.—(UP)—President Truman wound up the strategy phase of his Florida visit today and settled down to enjoy a family vacation for the rest of his stay.

He spent his customary two hours on the beach this morning after saying goodbye to four members of his political "innercircle" who came here last week to discuss plans for the next Truman administration.

Late News Bulletins

Warning Issued

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 15.—(UP)—The extremist Stern gang issued a "final warning" to the Israli government tonight to stop arresting Sternists or face renewed underground warfare.

Hindu-Moslem Riot

CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 14.—(Delayed)—(UP)—Five persons were killed and 83 injured Saturday night in the first major Hindu-Moslem riot here in 12 months.

Rejection Expected

PARIS, Nov. 15.—(UP)—Britain, France and the United States tonight were expected to reject the proposal of two top officials of the United Nations that they end the Berlin crisis by direct negotiation with Russia.

Transport Crashes

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—(UP)—A U. S. Navy four-engined C-54 transport plane, flying supplies into blockaded Berlin, crashed and burned at Tempelhof airdrome tonight.

Headed Home

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 15.—(UP)—The Wright brothers' famous Kitty Hawk, the first heavier-than-air plane to fly, will leave here aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Palau tomorrow.

Hits Reactionaries

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(UP)—Blasting at Senate Republicans who "talked liberal but voted reactionary," Sen. Wayne L. Morse, R., Ore., tonight called on the congressional "Young Turks" to liberalize the Republican party.

Car Agency Owner Admits to Solons He Cheats Customers When Possible

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(UP)—Raymond J. Kearney, co-owner of a Washington automobile agency, told a congressional committee without hesitation today that he tries to sell all the new car accessories he can and pays as little as possible for old car trade-ins.

He cheerfully outlined for a subcommittee investigating questionable trade policies his two-point philosophy for handling new car customers:

On accessories—"Sell all I can."

On trade-ins—"Take it in for as little as you can and sell it for as much as you can."

Kearney was called to the stand after seven witnesses had testified that they each paid an extra $500 to Kearney representatives to get delivery on their new cars.

They also told of transactions involving "phantom" trade-ins and a seeming disregard of regulations for reporting used car sales.

Kearney testified as Harry F. Banks, assistant general sales manager of General Motors Oldsmobile division stood by. Banks said Kearney's testimony would be examined carefully. He pointed out that Oldsmobile dealers have lost franchises in the past for gouging customers.

A Kearney salesman, William Manuel, said frankly that he expects a tip, maybe as much as $500, for getting new cars for his customers and thinks, "Salesmen all over the country do it."

Suggested Improvement

OPEN LETTER TO CHANCELLOR HOUSE

Sir:

Do you think that the students of this University are utilizing their educational opportunities to the utmost? They do not think that they are, and they place the blame for the situation upon the inflexible requirements of the General College. Influenced by veteran opinion, students today regard many subjects as foundations upon which they will never build, and they resent the loss of time and labor involved in meeting requirements of this nature.

We cannot offer any concrete solution to this problem, but we know that the majority of the student body believes in more flexible requirements and a higher standard of scholarship. We would like to suggest something that would involve a great deal of labor, but which we consider imperative if this University is to maintain its lead among Southern colleges, and offer its students the finest education available.

We suggest a committee, composed of representatives of every school and department, both from the faculty and the student body, to consider the matter. They could attempt to ascertain student reactions; the opinions of graduates in the various fields could be obtained; employers of graduates could be interviewed; other pertinent information could be gathered. This mass of information could then be formed into a report to be given the administration, which could take appropriate action on the situation.

We fully realize the enormous amount of labor involved, but we believe in the equally enormous value of such a report, and think that the students would welcome and support such an investigation.

Could we have your reaction to this suggestion for publication in this column? We shall be looking forward to it with hope and anticipation.

Sincerely,

RAMESES

Defining a Term

In popular usage, "broad-minded" has come to be applied generally to those whose moral standards prove little restraint on their conduct. Since their actions are unrestrained, it is said that minds are likewise free of any bonds, hence "broad-minded." At the other end of the scale, a narrow-minded person is a strait-laced puritan who spouts "Thou shalt not" and spoils the fun of the self-styled "broad-minded."

But many people are grouped in the broad-minded category who do not belong there. Anyone whose mind does not wander from consideration of his most elemental needs, who is intensely selfish, or who seeks pleasure as an end in itself cannot be logically classified as broad-minded; no matter how freely he may act or what he calls himself. Also, much that passes for broad-mindedness is pure and simple evil-mindedness and rightly belongs in the narrow-minded category. The lecher and libertine are no less narrow-minded than the prude or puritan; they both are poles apart from the truly liberal, those who can entertain new ideas, can adjust their behavior to new situations, and who are genuinely interested in the welfare of their fellows.—B.F.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Pus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bhl Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crappa, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Deaning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Carolina Carousel

Hard Fight But We Won

By R. Foo Gidux

(R. Foo usta doa regular column for the DTH. We found him wandering around the halls of the Hamilton in his usual dazed condition.)

Good Buddies, we seem many bawl games come and go—from the Great Sugar Bowl Robbery of '47 to the tough tilts in Philly and Baltimore—but let it be known to wit: The 4,000 assorted Carolina Campus Characters in Wash. last week-end showed spirit the capital citizens and cops won't forget for many a moon.

Without a doubt there was a quorum of the student body—not only for this year, but for a half-dozen years back. . . The lads simply arrived. But take it from a twenty-year Tar Heel just recently turned Yankee: That Carolina spirit (and Sper-it) just "aint" to be found e l s e w h e r e.—The bellhops and barkeeps, gatemen and cabbies. Ask 'em all. They'll remember.

Charlie (J. Strom Dixiecrat) Hodson put it plainly: "Maryland?," questioned Chas. "—They deserved to lose. — They voted for Dewey!" . . .Everything wasn't all so pretty light and carefree: The rootin tootin' rooters' reputation had preceded them to Washington. . .And Univ. authorities were warned Sat. morning by G-Men and Secret Service that they had heard of dirty-work-afoot plans by the collegiates to plant the Stars and Bars on the White House lawn. —A quick guiatus on the plan they asked. (Note: Operation never came off.)

My frans, the ex- Carouseler wonders is he getting to be an old fogey in his post-Carolina dotage. As the boys back at Harry's used to say: "What is the scoop on this Confederate flags deal?" Four thousand rip-roaring Carolina studes in high football day spirits are nice ideas and nize pipple.

But, good buddies, it does not particularly reek of tact and good taste for the mass representatives of the University of North Carolina to dash around the nation's capital city waving Confederate flags. . .No. . .It just isn't a brilliant way to represent the center of southern liberalism. —A simple (and plaintive) plea: Go plant Messers. Ab's and Varsity's Confederate banner business ventures on grandpappy's grave. And stop Confederating Carolina.

Y'don't get away from UP-SP-CPolitical talk even on the ball-game weekends. . .It seems it was about 5:45 a.m. Sunday morning, and the political caucus had finally started . . .Quoth a top-kick in the University party who refused to allow himself to be quothed: "I shouldn't admitting it, but things look good for the Campus party." (—His concensus: UP and SP on the way down, viz political bickering; CP may loom to throne.) . . .SPatriarchs nominally nayed. . .

Yeh. CC is out of touch with campus politics now. But the word he got this week-end was that Dortch Worryner, last year's most eligible for next year's student body presidency, is but totally out of the running. . .(Come, Come, Dortch, in the name of the Hon'able Harry Byrd, don't let's believe in rumors! —But a vice-prexy mebby?) . . . And the SP will sew up the presidency next spring with an ex-party chairman and popular CH politico for their nominee. (—A good man, too!)

But you get back to Washington—Sunday was the day . . . .Although it was more tougher than usual to tell where Saturday leaves off and Sunday begins, what with new ones starting every five minutes. What a bunch of bleary looking characters: . . .But eventually most of the lads woke up and started collecting on the Mad Maryland even-money bets. . .Last characters seen leaving the city were a rather conglomerate concoction of old grads headed for NYCity about 8 Sunday evening. . .That was us.

Trouble Shooter

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This Changing World

A Quote From Joe Stalin

By Bill Robertson

(The circumstances of the world are continually changing, and the opinions of men change also.—Thomas Paine)

"But having developed productive forces to a tremendous extent, capitalism has become enmeshed in contradictions which it is unable to solve. By producing larger and larger quantities of commodities, and reducing their prices, capitalism intensifies competition, ruins the mass of small and medium private owners, converts them into proletarians and reduces their purchasing power, with the result that it becomes impossible to dispose of the commodities produced. On the other hand, by expanding production and concentrating millions of workers in huge mills and factories, capitalism lends the process of production a social character and thus undermines its own foundation, inasmuch as the social character of the process of production demands the social ownership of the means of production . . ."

This quotation is taken from an essay by Josef Stalin, in which he presents the world-outlook of the Marxists, all over the world. The meaning of this quotation is crystal-clear. It is in striking contrast to the statements made by capitalist economists about the "complexity of economic phenomena". Lenin once cited the fact that "if geometric axioms affected human interests, attempts would certainly be made to refute them." Is there any wonder, then, that this clear scientific analysis is ignored in an institution which teaches capitalist economics?

After all, our students who are majors in "commerce" and "economics" are not being trained to become scientific socialists-even if socialism is just around the corner! The material interests of a handful of multi-millionaires are involved.

But, be that as it may, we predict with confidence that the teachings of scientific socialism will win an increasing number of students to "the finest cause in the world" in the days to come. We predict that there will be a genuine mass movement on this campus. We predict that the students will piece things together. They will ask themselves such questions as: "why have we not read, or even heard of, books by Marx?" They will develop renewed faith and hope. They will lose their cynicism and despair.

Most of us were reared in Christian families. We remember the Golden Rule of Jesus Christ: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Yet we have grown up in a society the very basis of which is corrupted with the principle of "buying cheap and selling dear"—a p r i n c i p l e which makes it impossible to "get ahead" without violating the golden rule of living. We mention this only to emphasise the moral significance of this quotation from Stalin.

We are all of us morally ill. We have become corrupted by a false way of living. Our attitude toward life, and especially toward our fellowman, has sunk below that of our ancient ancestors. Over two thousand years ago Sophocles, the great Greek poet, was able to say with supreme optimism, "Wonders are many, and none is more wonderful than man . . . . Only against Death shall he call for aid in vain, but against baffling maladies he hath devised escapes."

This was true a long time ago, and it will be true once again in the minds and hearts of the students at Carolina, as we join in the struggle for a better and more happy way of living.

Chollie's Follies

For Capitalists Only

By Charlie Gibson

A N T I C i p a t i n g: when it comes to float awards, the Alpha Gams beat even Ivory soap. Didyasee that Sadie Hawkins Day wagon with "Mammy" Yokum (Kitty Altizer) scrubbing "Pappy" Yokum ("Mitch" Mitchell) in a tub beside a backyard "telephone booth"? . . . DDD . . . with his slap-happy "Pappy" costume Johnny O'Neal took first prize among chaste and chased males. Phyllis Ferguson, the snuff prize-winning sight as "Miss Slobbovia", was an UGHly sight even among CaroLENAS . . . DDD . . . inconsiderate but healthy freshman assembly audiences are booing Jess Dedmond whenever he appears onstage during their class elections, fearing that the neoFIGHTs' political independence might somehow be intercepted a la Maceyko . . . DDD . . . tis said part of the Tar Heel team invaded the Gayetty theater for a post-game burLEGSque, and there were shouts insisting "All the way, chorines!" . . . DDD . . . optimism chalked on a game-bound jalopy tied together with buttons and bows: "If Harry could make it to Washington, so can we!" . . . Drop Dead, Duke!

HISterics and MYsterics: Pete Gerns argued like pandeMOANium to get the DTH to print the almost worn-out picture of the man whom the interDUMBitory council elected to be president for the one quarter before he graduates. The short-lived prexy? Mr. "Modesty" Gerns, of course . . . SUSP . . . understand Betty Jane Blaylock suffers a telePHONEY complex among certain fraternities . . . SUSP . . . wonder what FIZZisicians who told hard-working Bob Kirby to relax, sleep lots, and do little would think if they knew he is obeying them and even reading "Lost Weekend"? . . . SUSP . . . ask anyone on the third floor of Everett about their "1, 2, and 3" sinsavshuns . . . SUSP . . . constantly confusing, u s u a l l y unamusing English prof, announcing that he likes to pull classroom surprises: I never want the class to know what's going on in my lectures." Ahead of time or afterwards? . . . Shut Up, Smarty Party!

UNCelebrities: b o t h Jan Pierce, opera star, and Oscar Hammerstein, Oklahomagician, have sons in the class of '52 . . . SOS . . . cute Getty Horton was cussing some one-legged thief and teaching Ed Coppla to hop from class to class before a "Y" janitor returned the first argyle sock that she knitted to a green and yellow pair . . . SOS . . . reprint from student directory, page 72: "Epps, Jesse M.,3—312 Alderman; Eppes, Helen P., 3—319 'A' Dorm." if only the housing office WRECKorders made the mistakes the directory does! . . . SOS . . . there is a UVALuable new president among campus veterans named Gene Newton, and he might be able to think up more stunts like the quiz shows to make the vet's hut of service to the campus at large . . . SOS . . . among the writing on the little boys' Walls of Fame in Bingham: "Dean X—is in the hospital to be treated for rabies. His mother ran out from under the steps and bit him" . . . Sound Off, Spivak!

Write Away

Libelous Biography

Editor:

It's common knowledge among students of Paine that George Chalmers (alias Francis Oldys) and James Cheetham were his most malicious and libelous biographers. Until 1892 the filchings of these men were looked upon as authoritative. In that year, however, M. D. Conway (regarded as Paine's official biographer) published an extensive two volume edition of his life which utterly refutes with facts and figures the calumny which had been in circulation previously. A number of biographies have appeared since, but all have been substantially based on Conway's edition.

In a previous article I requested that Mr. West cite me FACTS; instead, he reciprocates with quoted falsehoods and a little bit of fact. I shan't waste time refuting Mr. West's additional dirt, but will seek briefly to discredit the authors—which in this case is tantamount to discrediting what they say. Brother West probably isn't aware of it, but the obscure pulpiteer whom he quotes (T. O. Summers, D.D.) has merely borrowed from Cheetham and Chalmer's storehouse of lies. So let us first consider Chalmers—a Tory refugee from Maryland who was hired by friends of Edmund Burke to write a derogatory biography of Paine. The first part of Paine's "Rights of Man" had just been published in England in reply to Burke's "Reflections on the French Revolution," in which he (Burke) condemns the movement. Paine's book was outselling Burke's two to one and the latter was in serious danger of losing his great prestige in England. So by depicting Paine as a scoundrel (through the pimp Chalmers), Burke's clique succeeded in protecting his reputation. Regarding Cheetham, space will permit me to say only this: Paine instituted a suit for libel against that mud-slinger; he was convicted and fined. Such were the characters of the men whom Mr. West regards as authoritative!

J. R. Cherry Jr.

And Jefferson Too

Editor:

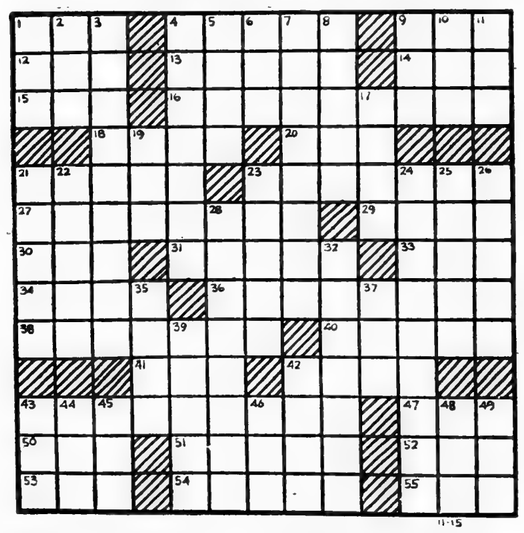
Would like to ask Camest West on what grounds is James Cheetham qualified to pass such harsh judgment on Thomas Paine's "Common Sense"? He (Cheetham) makes the ridiculous statement that "it has no merit, no comprehension of insight . . . fugitive in nature." Please cite me anything that Cheetham has written that can remotely approach the high standards of Common Sense"—to say nothing of Paine's other works.

Another man has said: "No writer has exceeded Paine in ease and familiarity of style, in perspicuity of expression, happiness of elucidation, and in simple unassuming language." But of course, I suppose this fellow was just an obscure, jack-leg politician from the backwoods of Virginia who evidently hadn't seen Cheetham's authoritative appraisal. His name, by the way, was Jefferson—Thomas Jefferson, I believe.

Lloyd Overcash

(If anyone else cares to write a letter about Thomas Paine please address it to Camest West, not to Write Away.)

Correction Please



Editor:

Last Sunday an article was printed presenting the platform of the Student party endorsed candidates for freshman class officers.

I would like to correct several errors in this article. First of these was the statement that these candidates are Student party candidates. I would like to make it clear that they are only Student party endorsed; and that the actions of the candidates are their own and not those set forth by the Student party.

The last of these errors was, I feel sure, the result of a misplaced comma. The article stated that the freshman executive committee shall voice its disapproval of the re-opening of an Armory store for the lower quad. I would like to correct this and state that the aim of the committee will be (and I quote from Section VI of the platform) to "urge that an Armory Store be re-established for the Lower Quadrangle."

Sol Kimerling
Campaign Chairman of the Freshman Committee

HORIZONTAL
1. fuss
4. ascend
9. capture
12. young seal
13. diminish
14. milkfish
15. short piece of connecting pipe
16. weird
18. float
20. in behalf of
21. fright
23. wind of cyclonic origin
27. link
29. dunce
30. black bird
31. ringlet
33. rodent
34. cover with asphalt
36. variety of zoophyte
38. voter
40. bravery
41. tatter
42. ravine
43. nonconducting substance
47. beard of grain
50. herb grace
51. combine
52. fish delicacy
53. small insect
54. horse
55. coniferous tree

VERTICAL
1. likely
2. ascribable
3. efficacious
4. scholar
5. rattan
6. simian
7. having most leaves
8. slip
9. nonsense!
10. boring tool
11. merry
17. walked
19. rage
21. peduncle; shaft of feather
22. channel
23. guide
24. a result
25. light-colored, of cigars
26. aquatic animal
28. haughty
32. disjoined
35. unbleached
37. chum
39. ankle
42. love to excess
43. man's name
44. domestic pigeon
45. group of matched articles
46. knot
48. grief
49. novel

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.

Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Strictly Ad Lib

BY ZANE ROBBINS

Bowl Fever Returns

ABOUT THIS TIME every year a certain fever grips college campuses around the country. Large and small schools alike, if their records be good, begin to develop that very contagious disease, bowl fever. This, according to some reports, is caused by the bowl weevil, but whether this be true or merely an unfounded theory makes little difference. The fever, nevertheless, is there.

Carolina is no exception to this rule. On the contrary it is a very good example. For the past few years the Greater University has had a well-received habit of turning out great football teams. Since the re-employ of one Mr. Carl Snavely, the Carolina grid stock has rocketed and now rivals the prestige of the traditional king-of-them-all, Notre Dame.

This year, it seems, aforementioned Mr. Snavely and some half-a-hundred bone-and-muscle gridsters have done it again. The plague has returned to the local campus with renewed energy and bids fair to remain until every member of the university's student body has felt its ever-pleasant sting.

Fourth Estate Contributes

AIDING NO LITTLE in the rapid spread of the autumn fever are the nation's fourth estate; sports writers, to the hoi polloi. From Maine to Florida and from New York to California it's the same. Bowl fever is here to stay until January 1, 1949, and its effects will probably linger long after that day of festivities. In each of the forty-eight, including the Confederacy, Carolina's mighty men of muscle come in for their share of the fireside football chats.

The Midwesterners, of course, still swear by dear ol' Notre Dame and mighty Michigan. The West is all in a dither over California and Oregon. The Southwest says everything is okey-Doak out SMU way, and the Eastern faithful, bless 'em, are all for Army's Black Knights of the Hudson.

Despite the loyalty to sectional favorites, Carolina is still riding high, wide, and mighty handsome on its bowl-bound bandwagon. With Southern sports writers whooping up for NCU and a few Yankee pressmen that were converted by last week's oh-so-easy rout of a highly-regarded Maryland team adding their daily paragraphs, the Tar Heels seem to be a better bet than was Dewey last June. But then, we could be wrong.

Let's Be Big-Hearted

ONE EASTERN SCRIBE even went so far as to suggest that Carolina be big-hearted about the whole thing and give everyone a break, including its potential opponent, and send teams to two bowls. Send the offensive squad to the Sugar Bowl and the defensive combine to the Orange Bowl, said he. And a very wise suggestion it is, too. But how about the Freshmen? They wanna play with the big boys.

From the results of their games this year, it would appear that the frosh could give a few of the smaller schools guite a battle in a post-season get-together. Maybe the officials of some of the lesser-known bowls would do well to get in touch with the mighty Tar Babies. It would be swell publicity for some lucky promoter and a well-deserved break for the younger members of the university.

Tulane, Clemson, SMU, Georgia Tech, and a host of other schools have been considered for the Orange, Sugar, and Cotton bowls along with Carolina. As the football season nears its end, several of the teams that have been on the potential list will be dropped and others will see its stock soar. As Carolina comes charging toward the wire with only always-tough Duke, and Virginia, an ancient rival, remaining in its path to an undefeated season, more and more reports will circulate concerning New Years' Day engagements, but so far the Carolina big-wheels have made no January 1 commitments.

Twice Told Tales Told Again

SEVERAL INTERESTING STORIES have come out of the current grid season and many of the below tales have been circulated before, but twice-told tales always make interesting reading so here we go with a few. Hold to your hats.

One of the most fascinating stories comes from the Rocky Mountain sector which is usually rather quite during the grid season. It seems that a Denver tailor, Harry Bitman by name, promised a suit of clothes to everyone who picked ten winners correctly in his weekly football contest. All went well and Harry derived some swell publicity from the venture until one bright Monday morning he awoke to find that he had not one, but 412 lucky winners.

Well, Harry, never one to welch on a fair bargain, has promised suits to each of the winners. He says that it will tie up his small factory for several weeks during the Winter rush season, but he's going to keep his end of the bargain. The cost? Harry says it's equal to $22.248.. and that'll feed a lot of chickens.

This'll Kill Ya

AND WHAT ABOUT this one for a killer? It seems that in the late Maryland rout the Old Liners had a dozen men on the field for two successive plays at one point in the game. The officials failed to detect the extra pplayer, however, and on one of the plays Carolina drew a five yard penalty for being offsides.

A few Sundays ago old King Carl Snavely was seen in the front yard of his Tenny Circle home along with his three-and-a-half-year-old son, Grey and a couple of friends. As could be expected, a football was the theme of the goings-on. Someone centered the ball to young Grey who completed a full spinner and high-tailed around left end. At this point, The Gray Fox threw up his hands in despair and shouted, "No, no. Fake, Grey, fake!"

THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Rich mahogany, shell cordovan, hand lasted shoes by Howard and Foster. Full leather lined with either heavy double leather sole or black gum rubber sole.

Only $16.95

Milton's Clothing Cupboard

219 E. Franklin Street

"Across from Graham Memorial—Next to the Village Apartments"

Cross Country Team Is Third In Meet

Maryland Harriers Capture Top Spot To Defend Crown

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 15—The University of Maryland won the Southern conference cross country track championships this afternoon on their home course. The defending champion Terps took low scoring honors with 27 points while second place Virginia Tech had 73.

The University of North Carolina was third in the meet, finishing with 108 points. William and Mary's 135 points were good for fourth. North Carolina State, Duke, Davidson, Virginia Military institute and Richmond finished in that order.

Bob Palmer finished first for the Terps in the near record time of 19 minutes and 40 seconds. Sam Magill, North Carolina's previously undefeated distance runner, pushed Palmer for more than half the way before dropping back and finishing in the eighth spot.

VPI's Curtis Shelton was the second man home and his time was 20:22. Frank Liddel of Virginia Military institute was third.

Maryland placed men first, fourth, sixth, seventh, ninth, eleventh and twelfth. North Carolina's MacKenzie was 18th; Hooper, 20; Hunt, 24 and Ross, 38.

Results of the meet were:

1—Palmer (Md.); 2—Shelton (VPI); 3—Liddel (VMI); 4—J. Umbarger (Md.); 5—Middleton (VPI); 6—White (Md.); 7—Kehoe (Md.); 8—Magill (UNC); 9—Greer (Md.); 10—Baker (W&M); 11—Grinaldi (Md); 12—H. Umbarger (Md.); 13—Gray (Dav.); 14—Snese (Rich.); 15—Griffin (Duke.)

MONOGRAM MEETING

The Monogram club has announced that there will be a meeting for all members tonight at 7:30 in the dining room of the club.

JENRETTE LEADS

With upsets the order of the day, most local grid experts had a rough weekend of forecasting, but Jeff Thomas gazed into his crystal ball and emerged as the week's top football predictor with a record of only five mistakes in twenty-one games, while Jake Wade was runnerup with six misses.

In spite of his poor showing this week, assistant sports editor Dick Jenrette still leads the other contestants in the tight race for the DTH grid prognostication title, but Jake Wade, his closest competitor, has narrowed his lead to three games.

The standings:

	w.	l.	pct	gb
Dick Jenrette	117	37	.760
Jake Wade	114	40	.740	3
Jeff Thomas	110	44	.714	7
Bill Carmichael	107	47	.695	9
O. Campbell	106	48	.689	11

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

Today's Schedule

TAG FOOTBALL PLAYOFFS

4:00—Field 1, Mud Dobbers vs Grads; 3, Kappa Sig 2 vs Zeta 2.

TABLE TENNIS

5:00—Table 1, Phi Gam 1 vs Phi Gam 2; 2, ATO 1 vs Phi Delt 2; 3, Town 1 vs Med School 1.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Sig Nu 1 vs KA 3; 2, Town 1 vs Nash; 3, Emerson 1 vs Steele; 4, Town 2 vs winner of Aycock vs Bombers.

5:00—Court 1, Phi Delt 1 vs Sig Nu 3; 2, Zeta 2 vs KA 1; 3, KA 2 vs Phi Delt 3; 4, Beta 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 3.

Women's Volleyball

The semi-finals of the women's volleyball tournament will take place tonight at 8:15 on the main floor of Woollen Gym, with four unbeaten teams battling for a right to enter the finals Thursday night. Pi Phi 2 will meet Chi O 5 and Chi Phi 1 will take on the Town team, with the two winners slated to play in Thursday's finals at 7:30 P.M.

Yesterday's Results

VOLLEYBALL

2	Chi Psi 2	Sig Eps 1	0
2	Kappa Sig 2	Sigma Chi 3	1
2	Phi Delt 2	Delt Sig 2	1
2	Zeta 1	ATO 1	0
2	Phi Gam 2	Chi Phi 1	0
2	DKE 2	Phi Gam 3	1
2	Bombers	Aycock	1

Sigma Chi 1 won by forfeit from Pi Lamb 1

TABLE TENNIS

2	Oakwood Drive	Mangum	1
3	Phi Gam 2	Chi Psi 2	0
3	ATO 1	Sigma Chi 6	0
2	Med School 1	Bombers 1	1
3	Phi Gam 1	TEP	0
2	Phi Lamb 1	KA 3	1
3	Town 1	Emerson 2	0

TAG FOOTBALL

48	Zeta 2	Kappa Sig 1	0
23	Phi Delt 1	Pi Kappa Phi	0
1	Kappa Sig 2	Beta 1	0

Murals Feature Football Playoffs In Frat Division

The Tag football playoffs proceeded in somewhat confusing fashion yesterday. Of the three clashes that took place, one struggle had all the evenness of play and thrills that one would expect of a playoff contest, while the two other games resulted in routs that are reminiscent of a highly touted varsity competing against the lowly scrubs.

In what proved to be the feature show, Kappa Sigma 2 was finally adjudged the winner of frat league 2 on the strength of their narrow decision over Beta in a 1-0 overtime struggle. Both crews had finished their season in a triple deadlock with DKE 2 and yesterday's tussle was the finale of the loop. DKE 2 having been eliminated earlier by these same Kappa Sigs. It was an even match all the way but a last minute aerial in the overtime period by the Sigs provided a good enough gain to be the margin of victory.

The all powerful aggregation from Zeta 2, league 1 victors with an unblemished slate in seven conference games continued on their triumphant ways by routing a hapless Kappa Sig 1 outfit, 48-0. Kappa Sig 1 had easily captured the laurels in league 4 and maintained an unbeaten record in doing so, but yesterday afternoon they were just another obstacle to the rampant bunch of Zets.

Heath Alexander was the main cog in the Zeta attack and his deadly passing spelled early doom to Kappa Sig. The Zets were paced by Ott Evans and started off slow but gained momentum to tally 34 points in the last half. Six men participated in their scoring with Cobby Cobb accounting for a brace of six-pointers.

Another red-hot frat nine, Phi Delt 1, served fair warning to the rest of their future foes by decisively blanking Pi Kappa Phi, 23-0. The Delts, league 5 winners, Kenan Rand and experienced little trouble in subduing the league 2 champs.

In the dorm league, the scheduled match between the Mud Dobbers and the Grads was postponed until this afternoon.

Carolina Recaptures Fifth Spot; Michigan Holds Number One

Carolina's footballers, sporting a brand new 49-20 win over hapless Maryland, moved up a knotch in the Associated Press' football poll today as they received the number five position. The Tar Heels had previously held the sixth position after dropping from third following the William and Mary contest.

While the Tar Heels were making a new bid for a higher position in the AP's weekly poll, mighty Michigan was strengthening its hold on first place. The Wolverines, seemingly bound for their second consecutive Big Nine crown, this week held down the top spot with a 231 vote margin over second place Notre Dame.

Michigan polled 130 first place votes to 27 for the Irish. Michigan's added margin over Notre Dame came as a result of the 54-0 defeat of Indiana, a team which held the South Benders to a 41-7 victory.

Tar Heels Booters Meet Duke In Bull City Encounter Today

Coach Marvin Allen's Tar Heel soccer team will journey to Durham this afternoon to meet the Blue Devil booters at 3 o'clock on the Duke soccer field. In their last meeting the two teams battled to a scoreless deadlock.

After posting four consecutive shutouts, the Tar Heel record was cracked last week when High Point's Purple Panthers managed a single tally before bowing to the Carolinians, 2-1, in two overtime periods. The Tar Heel victory avenged an earlier tie with the High Pointers in an early-season game in the Furniture City. That one ended in a 3-3 stalemate.

The last Duke game was mainly a defensive battle as can be witnessed by the final 0-0 score. In today's game, however, both coaches are expected to switch to the offensive phase of the game.

In a short pep talk after yesterdays pre-game drill Carolina Coach Marvin Allen stressed teamwork and told his charges that they could win today's battle if they "get in there and fight all the way."

Pete Hexner and Mac Hagaman have been out of practice for the past few days and are not expected to be in action today. Either Langley or Betts will replace Hexner, and Gus Johnston will be back in his regular post, replacing Hagaman.

Twelve-Man Team

Although the Carolina players and coaches probably never were aware of the fact, they were contending with a 12-man Maryland team for two consecutive plays in the third quarter of the game in Washington this weekend.

Carolina was in possession of the ball on both plays and was unable to advance the ball—no small wonder with an extra Terp on the field. The Maryland coaches hastily yanked the 12th man off the field before the next play. Ironically enough, Carolina was penalized for offsides on one of the plays while Maryland escaped without penalty.

Steve Osborne Stars For Carolina Mermen

Steve Obsorne, veteran sprinter, featured the first of two practice swimming meets between Carolina and State last week Steve won both the 50-yd. and 100 yd. sprints in the times of 24 seconds and 53.8 seconds.

Obsorne's performances, however, were not the only good ones for Carolina. John Bippart was victor in the 150-yd. backstroke, and Dan Breedon came through in the breaststroke. Both of these boys showed that they are almost ready for the top-flight competition that they will encounter in regular season.

With Buddy Crone absent, Gil Beam and Jack Whichard were easily the best in the diving. Jim Thomas, the only other double winner besides Obsorne won both the 220-yd. freestyle and the 440 freestyle. His times were above average in spite of his being absent from practices most of the year.

Freshman Booters Down Dukesters, 3-1

Carolina's freshman soccer team avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Duke frosh by handing the little Blue Devils a 3-1 setback in a thrilling scrap that went into two overtime periods on Fetzer field yesterday afternoon. The visitors had previously edged the Tar Bebies, 1-0, in Durham.

To Orange Bowl?

The Washington Post, in its Sunday morning edition, reported a story headed, "Carolina Invited to Orange Bowl." In the bulletin, the Post stated that Coach Snavely had admitted a bowl conversation with Orange Bowl officials.

However, Carolina is also considered a leading candidate for the Sugar and Cotton Bowls; and if a bid is tendered, the Tar Heels might consider these offers first. Last season, the Tar Heels were rated the top contender for the Orange Bowl, and local fans were greatly chagrined when the bid never came.

Snavely Lectures As Gridders Start Duke Game Drills

Yesterday marked the beginning of the week long practice for the Carolina gridders as they prepare for Saturday's all important meet with powerful Duke.

Coach Carl Snavely yesterday met with his footballers for better than an hour in the Kenan stadium field house and gave a "straight from the shoulder lecture" on Duke. He reviewed the Maryland slaughter and told the locals that the Devils would definitely be no push-over.

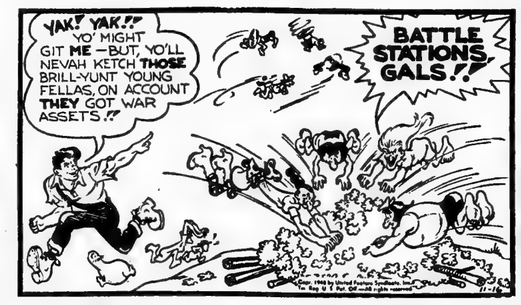
Afterwards the Tar Heels moved down to Navy field where they underwent a closed practice session which lasted until well after darkness arrived on the scene. There was no heavy work, however, as the players were seen to enter the field without the customary pads.

The only injury to report from the Maryland fiasco was Bill Wardle who was on crutches yesterday. Bill hurt his leg and his chances of playing Saturday are very doubtful.

More work is scheduled for both teams today with scrimmage on the schedule for the Tar Heels.

—FRANK ALLSTON.

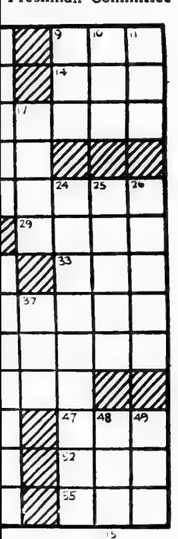
IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY



JANE WYMAN
LEW AYRES
IN WARNER BROS'. NEW DRAMATIC ACHIEVEMENT
"Johnny Belinda"
WITH CHARLES BICKFORD
—Also—
Latest News
—TODAY—
VILLAGE

RENTAL LIBRARY
BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP SPECIAL!
"Crusade in Europe"
By Dwight D. Eisenhour
BROWSE • BUY • RENT

Exquisite Form BRASSIERES



BROAD CLOTH $1.50
Style 502
A Cup (small) Sizes 32-36
B Cup (med.) Sizes 32-40
C Cup (full) Sizes 32-40
White and Tearose
At BERMAN'S

Feeling low? — EPICURE yourself — at HARRY'S

Freshman Committee

AL.
- 8 slip
- 9 nonsense!
- 10 boring tool
- 11 merry
- 17 walked
- 19 rage
- 21 peduncle; shaft of feather
- 22 channel
- 23 guide
- 24 a result
- 25 light-colored, of cigars
- 26 aquatic animal
- 28 haughty
- 32 disjoined
- 35 unbleached
- 37 chum
- 39 ankle
- 42 love to excess
- 43 man's name
- 44 domestic pigeon
- 45 group of matched articles
- 46 knot
- 48 grief
- 49 novel

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—INDIVIDUAL CONFERENCES with John Kirkpatrick, Hill Hall.
10:00—SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMAL PROGRAM, John Kirkpatrick. Hill hall.
11:00—INDIVIDUAL CONFERENCES with John Kirkpatrick. Hill hall.
1:00—FACULTY CLUB LUNCHEON, Dr. Jacques Hardre to speak on "What I saw in France." Carolina Inn.
1:00—WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
2:30—INTERFRATERNITY council. Roland Parker lounge, GM.
4:00—PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE of Student Legislature, Grail room, GM.
4:00—NEWCOMERS CLUB. Institute of Government building.
4:00—CHEERLEADER TRYOUTS for Junior girls, Freshman and and Sophomore boys for Frosh-Duke game; plans for next year's squad. Kenan stadium. In event of rain, Tin Can.
4:30—YACK PHOTOS of Carolina forum. Main lounge, GM.
6:30—COED SENATE. Memorial hall.
6:30—LE CERCLE FRANCAIS mets for supper, Carolina Inn.
7:00—CARD STUNT USHERS. Monogram club. If unable to come, students may contact another usher to notify club of intent to work.
7:00—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main lounge, GM.
7:00—COMPULSORY MASS MEETING of all coeds. Memorial hall.
7:00—LEXINGTON-CAROLINA CLUB. Roland Parker lounge 1, GM.
7:00—DANCE CLASS. Rendezvous room.
7:30—PHARMACY SENATE. J. W. Harrell speaking on new drug "intocostrin," Howell hall.
7:30—AQUINAS CLUB business meeting. Library room, 2nd floor "Y."
7:30—YACK PHOTOS of Phi assembly. Main lounge, GM.
7:30—PHI ASSEMBLY. Phi hall, New East.
7:30—STUDENTS FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTION. Roland Parker lounge 1&2, GM.
8:00—YACK PHOTOS of Sophomore Pharmacy school officers. Main lounge, GM.
8:00—SPANISH CLUB. Caldwell Y, room 2.
8:00—PUBLIC TRYOUTS for "H.M.S. Pinafore." Memorial hall.
8:00—GREENSBORO-CAROLINA club. 108 Bingham.
8:15—YACK PHOTOS for Junior class Pharmacy school officers. Main lounge, GM.
8:30—YACK PHOTOS for Senior Pharmacy school officers. Main lounge, GM.
8:45—YACK PHOTOS—International Relations club. Main lounge, GM.
9:00—IRC MEETING. Dr. C. H. Pegg, guest speaker. Roland Parker lounge 1&2, GM.
9:30—WORLD FEDERALIST BROADCAST. Station WDUK.

Tax Experts to Meet

North Carolina's county tax supervisors and accountants will open their annual meetings jointly here today, Albert Coates, director of the Institute of Government, said yesterday.

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENTS 1

I'LL DO YOUR SEWING AND DRESSmaking. Mrs. V. M. Hicks, Jr., 153 Daniels Rd., Victory Village. (2-8065-1)

MRS. ANNE HARTSFIELD — ELECtrologist. Unwanted hair removed. 307 Fidelity Bank Building — Durham F-8061. (3-8060-1)

TYPING OF ALL KINDS REASONable rates. Accurate work. 401 Pittsboro St., phone 5486. (1-8067-1)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM FOR RENT TO STUDENT IN exchange for firing furnace, city 2½ miles out. Call S. H. Bosnight, F-558.

ROOM FOR RENT TO STUDENTS with car. Call S. H. Bosnight, F-558. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 6B

1948 CZECH MOTORCYCLE SEE Frank Redding, 211 Stacy. (2-8071-1)

GAS SERVEL REFRIGERATOR $75. Gas Range—$60. Gas Hot water heater—$30. Philco Portable radio Phonograph—$50. All articles in good working order. Priced for quick sale. A. C. Shearer, 8 Westwood Drive (3-8068-1)

21 FOOT HOUSE TRAILER, FULLY equipped. Ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. Occupancy Dec. 15. See it before you buy: 86 Trailer Court (2-8061-1)

TRAILER 22, 27 FEET, 100 GALLONS of oil. Contact Mr. Wadsworth at housing office, room 22, New East Annex. (3-8055-1)

AIRFORCE JACKETS DRAWSTRING jackets. Khaki shirts and pants OD pants and shirts Pea Coats, boots, Combat shoes, blankets, etc. Blackburn's Salvage Store, Carrboro. (3-c8063-1)

ENGLISH SETTER, FEMALE, 22 months old. Partly broke. $50. Carl B. Sparrow, Main St., Carrboro. (3-c8061-1)

CLASS RINGS. IMPORTED SWISS sets, engraving and encrusting. Representing one of the oldest manufacturers of college rings in the nation. See Ewell Setzler, 214 "C" Dorm. (2-8059-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1942 OLDSMOBILE SEDAN. RADIO, heater—in excellent condition. Passed inspection—just repaired. See me at Durham's Watch and Jewelry Repair Service in Village Theater Bldg. (2-c8058-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

WANTED RIDE TO NASHVILLE, Tenn., Thanksgiving. Share expenses. John Voorhees, 206 "B" dorm. (1-8070-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite. Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the Customs department, its men are forced to travel outside the U. S. by plane because of a pier strike. Above, Arthur H. Stitzer (with notebook in hand) checks off a group of customs men as they board a plane at La Guardia Field, New York, for Halifax, Nova Scotia. There they will process passengers from the liner Mauretania which docked in Canada because of the longshoremen's walkout which has completely tied up eastern ports.

Holiday Snaps Campus Scenes For June Issue

Everybody from the president and chancellor of the University to the Daily Tar Heel typewriter slave got his picture taken by Larry Williams, special assignment photographer of the national magazine Holiday, yesterday.

The story accompanying the special 8-page photo spread, tentatively scheduled to appear on the stands next June, was written by Jonathan Daniels, editor of the News and Observer. Four of the pages will be in full color and the remaining four pages will be ordinary black and white.

Williams arrived in Chapel Hill Friday afternoon and shot a series of campus pictures and over the weekend he and Bill Friday, assistant dean of students, made plans to snap the University at its busiest the following Monday. Sunday night, Williams got a picture of the open house at Dr. Graham's.

Wlliams was former photo editor of Holiday and served as a war correspondent during the war.

WDUK Will Give UWF Broadcasts

The United World Federalists will begin a series of weekly radio broadcasts over station WDUK at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Tonight's program will feature a panel discussion on the "Need for World Government."

Intramural Debates Scheduled Tomorrow

The intramural debate tournament will begin tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock on the second floor of Saunders hall, President Earl Fitzgerald of the Debate council said last night. He said the debates would run until 10 o'clock.

Chiropractors Assail Conscription With 'Open Discrimination' Charge

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 15.—(UP)—North Carolina's chiropractors association today accused the national Selective Service of "open discrimination" for not allowing draft deferments for chiropractic students.

The association met here yesterday in a special business session to protest against Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's appointment of a Healing Arts Educational Advisory committee which did not include a chiropractor.

The association also charged discrimination in a Nov. 2 memorandum of the committee recommending deferments for medical, dental, veterinary and osteopath students, but not chiropractic students. The chiropractors declared the discrimination stemmed from "economic jealousy of organized medicine expressed through its lobbyists."

The COLONIAL INN
Hillsboro, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Spruce Up at Our Refreshingly Low Prices

Double Breasted Tuxedos	$44.95
Corduroy Sport Coats	17.50
Luxurious Chinese Cashmere Sweaters at Only	16.95
All Wool Gray Flannel Slacks	7.95
New Skipper Blue Flannel Slacks	11.95
Flannel Suits, Single Breasted	42.50
Basket Weave Shirts	3.95
All White Shoes, Red Rubber Soles	9.95

Milton's Clothing Cupboard
219 East Franklin St., Across from Graham Memorial. Next to the Village Apts.
THE BIG WHITE HOUSE WITH THE BIG VALUES

Phi to Explore Liquor Tonight

The "alleged evils and revenue derived from liquors" will be explored by the Philanthropic assembly meeting at 7:30 tonight in Phi hall, fourth floor New East.

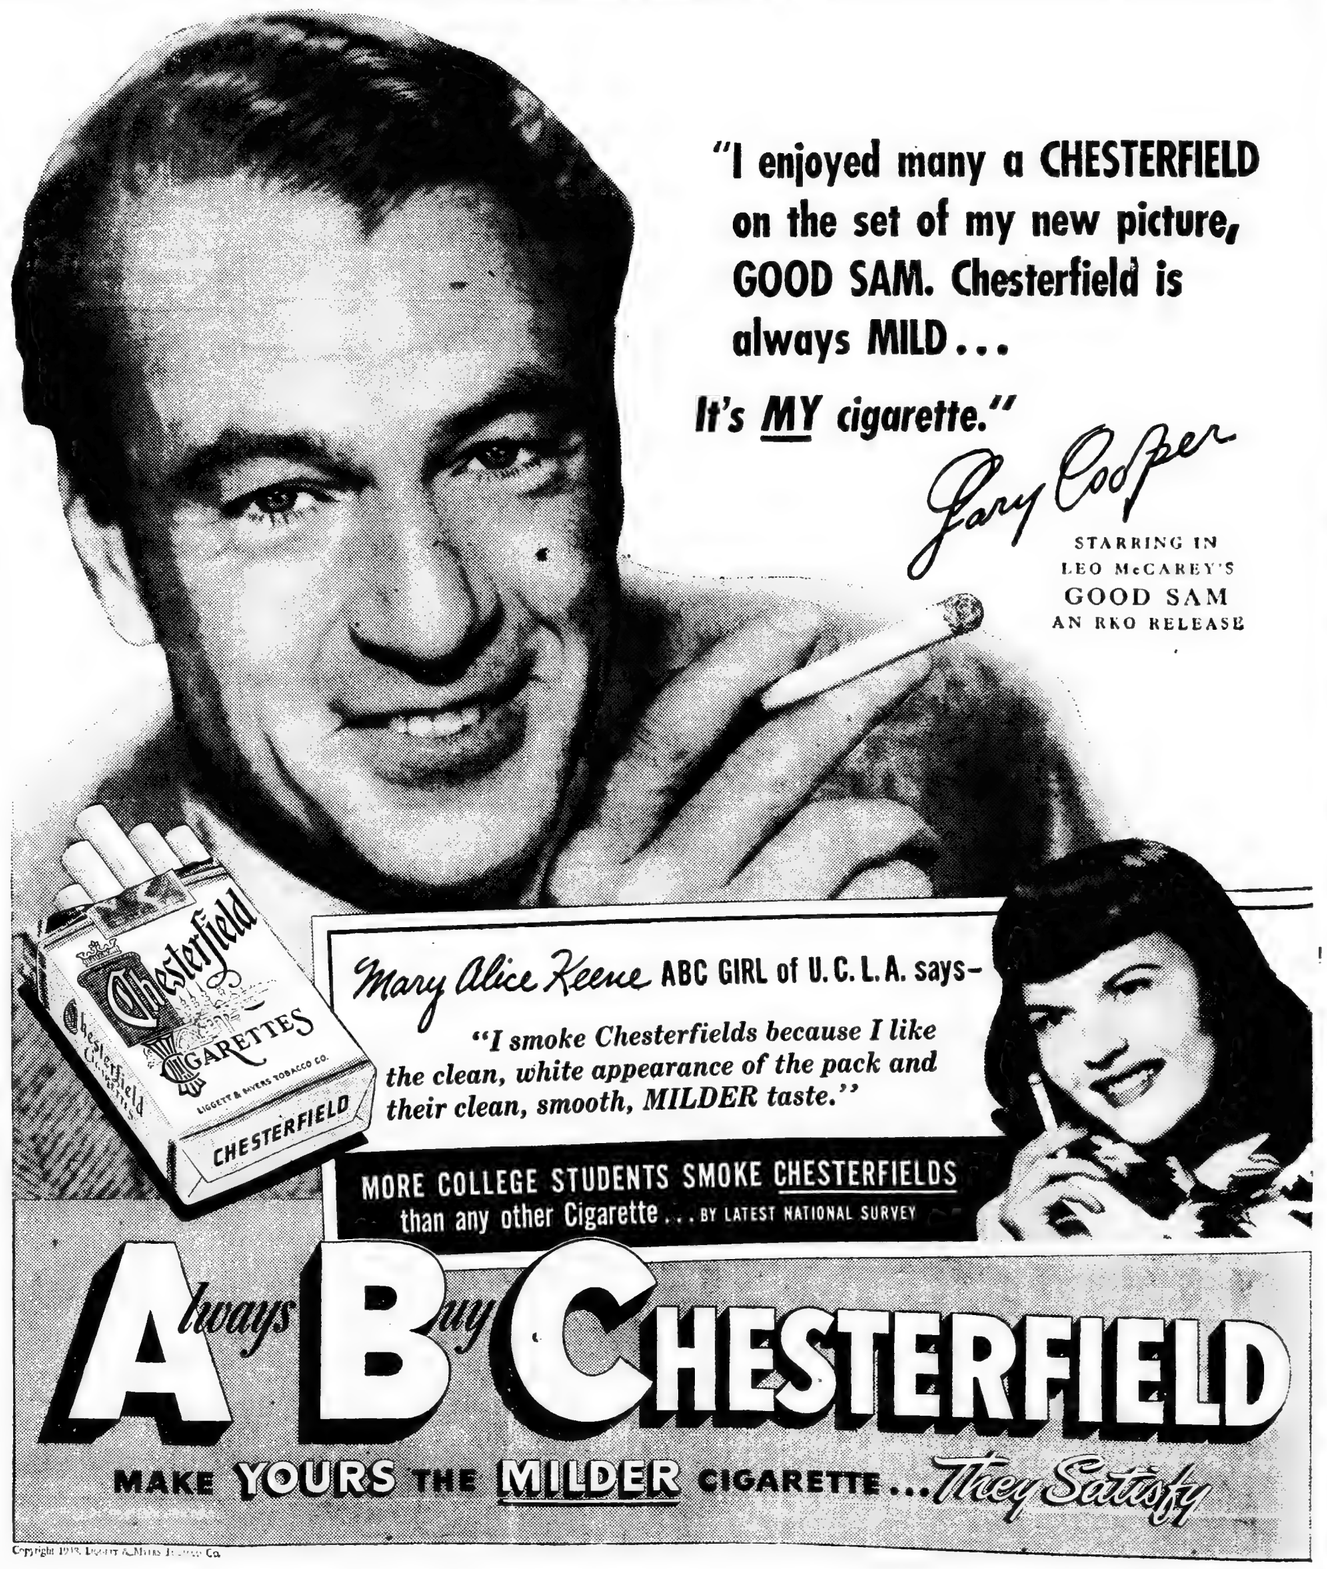
Speaker Pro-tem Winfred Ervin reported that the Ways and Means committee will sponsor assembly bill 5 calling for the following resolutions: 1. Alcoholic beverages are not bad. 2. Local option should be retained in North Carolina.

Special invitations have been sent to the Women's Christian Temperance union and to Carolina students interested in whiskey issues.

Bill Dawkins and Violet LaRue were initiated into the Assembly during last week's session.

Rep. Bob Brooks has announced the regular Phi supper will be served in "Aggies" back room Thursday evening at 6:30.

Newcomers Schedule Tea at Institute



A tea has been scheduled by the Newcomers club to be held at the Institute of Government this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Albert Coates will serve as hostess.

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
West Franklin Street

LOVE'S LITTLE BUSY-BODY!
UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL presents
One Touch of Venus
BROADWAY'S MUSICAL DELIGHT... BROUGHT TO THE SCREEN!! starring
ROBERT WALKER
AVA GARDNER
DICK HAYMES
—Also—
This Is America
"Crime Lab"
—TODAY—
CAROLINA

WINCHELL ... "ORCHID PETALS"
BILLY ROSE ... "CARMEN is excellent."
Bosley Crowther ... A florid, emotional and quantity sex-conscious exercise ... a bewitching actress, Viviane Romance gives you as lusty a picture as you could wish ... that is flamily voluptuous."
—N. Y. TIMES
"Its violence and sinful dialogue achieve a shocking realism and emotional impact that lingers. ½"
—DAILY NEWS
"Miss Romance embodies passion." N. Y. POST
"Fiery down-to-earth Film which the censors seem to have left alone." —N. Y. SUN
"Ranks with the finest of post-war European pictures ... a gigantic production." —CUE
Sultry VIVIANE ROMANCE as

Released by Superfilm Dist. Corp.
CARMEN
FRENCH DIALOGUE-ENGLISH SUB-TITLES
VILLAGE THEATRE THURSDAY

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

Times Have Changed
'Be Thankful'
'Twas a Fine Weekend!

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Considerable cloudiness with occasional light rain; not much change in temperature.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER, 17, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 49

McNair Series Will Be Given By Dr. Mather

Geology Expert To Give Talks

The John Calvin McNair Lectures will be delivered at the University by Dr. Kirtley Fletcher Mather, professor of geology in Harvard university and noted authority on the relation of science and religion. The three lectures of the series will be presented in Hill music hall Tuesday, Nov. 30, through Thursday, Dec. 2.

"Religion in This Time of Crisis" will be the general topic of the lectures which will be presented each evening at 9:30. On Tuesday Dr. Mather will discuss specifically "The Challenge of Science; on Wednesday, "The Challenge of Marxism"; and on Thursday, "Perspective for the Future."

Dr. Mather is widely known as a geologist and has given lectures and written widely on the interrelation of science and religion. A graduate of Denison university, he received his Ph. D. at the University of Chicago and has been awarded several honorary degrees from other institutions.

The lecturer has been a geologist with the United States Geologist Survey since 1919 and has conducted geological surveys in many Latin countries as well as in Europe.

CHARLIE SPIVAK

Yearbook Queen To Be Presented At Spivak Dance

The 1949 Yackety Yack beauty queen and court will be presented at the Grail-sponsored Charlie Spivak dance Saturday night, Bill Duncan, editor of the yearbook, said yesterday.

The court will consist of 15 girls, plus the queen, chosen by John Robert Powers from a field of 84 contestants. Betty Brown, last year's queen, will crown the new winner.

Powers, head of the nationally-known model agency, will judge photographs of the contestants. He now has four poses of each girl and will select from them the winning contestants.

The dances this weekend are semi-formal, and tickets are available for both dances and Friday afternoon's concert. Gus Johnston, delegata of the Grail, said that the policy set in selling $5 books which include tickets for both dances will continue. No books will be split, he said.

Tickets will be on sale at the door of Woollen gymnasium for both dances. But a ticket bought at the door will still be $5. Tickets are on sale at the Y from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Charlie Spivak will play for both Friday's and Saturday's dance. Friday afternoon he will give a two-hour concert beginning at 4 o'clock. Friday's dance is from 9 to 1 o'clock and Saturday's from 9 to 12 o'clock.

The Grail is sponsoring the dance weekend as a service to the campus and to raise money for scholarships. Both Duke and Carolina football players will be guests of the Grail.

IRC Joins With CCUN In Merger

John Saunders New President

In a surprise move last night the campus chapters of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations and the International Relations club announced their merger through the president of the newly-consolidated club, John Saunders.

The organization and merger of the CCUN-IRC was planned by the chairman of the CCUN, Edie Knight, and the executive group of the old IRC, John Saunders, Charles Kaufman, and Georgia Fox.

The immediate purpose of the CCUN-IRC will be to stimulate interest in international affairs and the role of the United Nations and thus gain sufficient membership to launch a more ambitious program than has been done before. The new club started a series of discussional programs last night with a speech by Dr. C. H. Pegg of the history department on the current Russian policies and behavior.

Dr. Pegg started the group discussion by giving a few brief views on what the Europeans thought of the Russians. He described that some Europeans thought that the reason for the non-cooperative attitude, thus far shown by Russia, was intended to keep a state of tension existing throughout the world, in order to promote unity and strength within Russia itself.

The new officers for the amalgamated club are John Saunders, president, Georgia Fox, program chairman, and Fred Bates, treasurer. The remaining offices of director of publicity and chairman of the promotion committee have not yet been announced. The student chairman of the forth-coming official United Nations Information center will be elected from the new club. At present Edie Knight is acting as liaison and advisor for the center.

Foreign Student Banquet Slated

Foreign students on campus will be guests of honor at a Thanksgiving banquet Tuesday night, Nov. 23 at 7 o'clock in the downstairs auditorium of the Baptist church.

ORDERED TO HANG for war crimes, Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, left, and Gen. Iwane Matsui appear unmoved as they hear their sentences from the International War Crimes tribunal, Tokyo, Japan. Itagaki was the ranking Japanese officer in China at the time of the Mukden incident in 1931 which started the Asiatic war. Matsui was in command of Japanese troops during the "rape of Nanking."

SP Nominates Four Candidates For Class Posts

Junior class candidates for the offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer and social chairman were nominated Monday night by the Student party.

Whit Henderson will run for the vice-presidency post, Daisybelle Anderson for class secretary, and Eleanor de Grange for treasurer. John Saunders is the party candidate for junior class social chairman.

Party nominations for the legislature were completed in all dorm and town districts. Among those chosen to run are: Clyde Smith for a 12-month term from dorm district one; Jim Southerland for a six-month term from district 4, and Ed Best for a six-month term from district 5. Page Dees, coed from Smith dorm was nominated as a six-month term candidate from the second women's dormitory district.

Nominated for legislature posts from four of the town districts include Nat Williams and Sheldon Plagler for 12-month terms from town district 2, and Don Shropshire, Cliff Horton and John Saunders for 12 month terms from town district 3.

From the fourth town district, Nelson Taylor, Whit Henderson and Bob Padrick were selected to run for 12 month terms. Dan McLaughlin was chosen the single candidate to run for a 12 month term for Carrboro, the fifth district.

Registration Now Going On

All General college students will register for their courses for the winter and spring quarters by appointment with their advisers during the period Nov. 15 through Dec. 4.

Appointments may be made by signing an appointment sheet at the information desk in the lobby of South building.

Those students who have been notified of their transferral to the upper college should not make an appointment with a general college adviser but should register in the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Commerce, or the School of Education.

Legislature Dorm Nominees Released by UP

University party officials yesterday released the names of UP candidates for Student legislature from men and women's dormitory districts.

Andy Bell was nominated for a year's term from District 1. Jim Twine and Bob Kirby were nominated from district 2, also for a year's term. Johnny Clements, Duffield Smith, and Bradly Cantwell from district 3 for a year's term; Frank Allston and Marvin Nathan for six-month terms.

From district 4, Jim Gwynn was nominated for a year's term, and P. H. Transon for a six-month term. Sam Manning for a year's term, and Charlie Berhens for a six-month term, were nominated from district 5.

In the women's dorm district 2, Jane Gower was nominated for a year's term, and Margerie Riddick for a six-month term.

Ed Davenport Resigns Post As Atty.-Gen.

Dedmond Is Mum About Appointment

By Michael McDaniel

President Jess Dedmond announced yesterday that Ed Davenport has submitted his resignation as attorney-general of the student body.

In his letter of resignation, Davenport stated:

"I write this with sincere appreciation of the responsibility and confidence which you chose to vest in me last spring in appointing me to the position of attorney general. I have enjoyed at all times working with you in your efforts to instill a greater sense of esteem and respect for student government.

"I request now, however, that you accept my resignation which I must submit in order that I may have the necessary time to devote to personal plans." Dedmond declined to comment on a successor to Davenport, but stated that he expects to submit his appointment tomorrow night to the legislature for confirmation.

Dedmond said, "I am sorry to lose Ed's services to student government and have the deepest appreciation for his support of me and my administration." Under Dedmond's policy, Davenport has served as secretary of the cabinet along with other duties.

The office of attorney-general was established by executive order last year by former president Tom Eller. Dedmond continued the office last May when he appointed Ed Davenport as attorney-general. The Student legislature voted several weeks ago to make the office a permanent cabinet position, appointed by the president, and subject to legislative confirmation.

The duties of the office include representing and speaking for the president at his request in relations with the legislature, honor councils, the administration, and the board of trustees.

Soviet Russia Hints She Wants To Talk With The Big Four

Truman Says U. S. Stand Remains: No Blockade Lift, No Conferences

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(UP)—Russia intimated today in a note to two United Nations leaders that she might welcome a personal meeting of the heads of the big four powers, including President Truman and Premier Josef Stalin.

Herbert V. Evatt, president of the UN General assembly, appealed direct to the Big Four leaders Saturday to start "immediate conversations" on the Berlin crisis and the question of peace treaties for Germany, Japan and Austria.

In a note to Evatt and Secretary-General Trygve Lie today, chief Russian UN delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky said:

"The Soviet government shares your point of view that a solution of the Berlin question will have a positive effect on the settlement of other questions such as peace settlements for Germany, Austria and Japan.

"The Soviet government also shares your point of view regarding the importance of personal contact and mutual confidence among the heads of powers in the improvement of relations."

But at the same time the Russian note implied that the Western Allies were in blame for failure to solve the Berlin crisis and it gave no hint that the Soviet government was prepared to change its attitude.

Meantime, Secretary of State George C. Marshall, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and British UN Delegate Hector McNeil reached "a complete identity of view" on their reply to the Evatt-Lee letter.

This reply, which is to be delivered tomorrow, is expected to be a polite refusal of the Evatt-Lie proposal for any "immediate conversations with Russia.

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 16.—(UP)—President Truman reaffirmed today that there will be no big four talks on Berlin until the Russian blockade is lifted. The President also said he plans no personal peacq conference with Josef Stalin.

Honor Council Releases Report On Recent Cases

Page Harris, chairman of Men's Honor council, yesterday released reports on two cases recently brought before the council.

In an Economics 197 class, a student used his notes on a quiz and was reported to the Men's council by another student who saw him copying from the notes Appearing before the council, the student said that he had not used the notes. However, when a few facts and statements were produced his guilt became apparent.

The Council voted to suspend the guilty student indefinitely.

On a recent Math 9 quiz, two students turned in papers that were very similar in many respects to a third student's paper. This similarity was reported to the Men's council as a possible Honor Code violation.

As a result, the boys were summoned before the council for a hearing. The two students admitted copying from the third student's work, but maintained that he was completely unaware of what they were doing.

The Council gave the two guilty sentences of indefinite suspension and exonerated the third man.

Veterans Must Report Classes

Veterans who are not taking a full scholastic load at the end of this quarter are requested to notify the veterans office 315 South building, immediately after picking up their winter quarter class tickets, veterans advisor C. F. Shepherd announced today.

A full load of scholastic work for veterans consists of at least 12 quarter hours for undergraduates, and 10 hours for graduates, Shepherd stated.

If the veterans fail to notify the vets office of an increase in their scholastic load, they will receive reduced subsistence checks during the winter quarter.

Miss Blee Attends Hanover Meeting

Margaret Blee, associate professor of Public Health Nursing, recently attended a meeting of the New Hanover Health department where she served as narrator of a one-act pageant entitled "The Story of Nursing."

Factotum Mag Slated to Appear Here Today

Factotum, a magazine of new writing, will appear on the campus today, the board of editors announced yesterday.

The new publication has been recognized in literary circles over the nation. Its first issue was sold out when published last spring.

This issue features a translation of Marie de France's lai, "Laostic," by Dan McIntyre, and a short story by Robert Kaske.

Also highlighted are poems by Peter Viereck and Kenneth Rexroth, noted American poets, and Morton Seif, former student at the University.

Gals in U. S. Have It Rough Says Robertson

"Women do not have equality of economic opportunity in our country," Bill Robertson said to the Y Public Affairs committee, meeting Monday afternoon in the Y building. "Women have to struggle to get equality in our country," he continued, "Engels and Marx assert that only when women get real economic equality can they marry whom they want."

"The Communist attitude on women is stated in the Communist constitution," he declared. "They advocate sexual equality and if you study the Communist movement you will see that they have many women leaders. This is no accident."

Clean Streets Urged by Sloan

Chief of Police W. T. Sloan said yesterday that it is unlawful for any persons to burn leaves or other refuse on the streets or sidewalks in Chapel Hill.

Sloan said that a town ordinance forbids burning of such material and also specifies that the refuse cannot be swept onto the streets or sidewalks.

He urged all students and townspeople to please comply with this ordinance.

Clarke Is Elected Council Secretary

Dr. Charles Clarke, assistant professor in the University School of Education, has been elected executive secretary of the North Carolina Council for Social Studies. Dr. Clarke succeeds Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, director of the Institute for Research in Social Science.

Freshman Deadline

This afternoon at 6 o'clock is the deadline for all freshman candidates to turn in expense accounts to Al Winn in Steele 8. All candidates failing to meet this deadline will be disqualified.

Polls will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in Gerrard hall, and will remain open until 6 o'clock. Campaign speeches will be delivered by all candidates in Memorial hall tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

Schenkkan Tells Sorority Of Opportunities in Radio

In an open meeting of the Chi Delta Phi Literary sorority Monday night, Robert Schenkkan of the University Radio department told students that there were "tremendous opportunities in the field of radio for writers."

"The number of networks in operation today has made radio a great monster which someone must feed 18 hours a day," Schenkkan said. He asserted that capable writers could easily find a place in the field.

Discussing radio dramatic writing, Schenkkan told the group meeting in Graham Memorial that the first principle in script writing is quality. Schenkkan also advised would-be writers to keep scenes short and to end every scene with a strong line.

Commenting on the criticism of the quality of radio program, Schenkkan said, "I see the soap opera as a great educational device. I believe that the medium of the soap opera is going to be the real ticket in selling health programs and moral principles."

Cabinet Hears Dr. Wells Discuss German Situation

Speaking on the educational and social situation in Germany, Dr. G. H. Wells, president of Georgia State College for Women, addressed the YWCA Cabinet Monday afternoon in the Y Library.

Dr. Wells said that while working with the military government as educational adviser in Germany last year, he found that the main reason for discontent among the Germans was uncertainty about whether the United States was going to continue to aid them, whether the Russians were going to move in, and where they were going to get food.

"The people have been taught to be docile," he continued, "especially those of school are who have few books and must believe what they are told by instructors. They have been taught to ask no questions, that their thinking will be done for them."

"To combat this," said the college president," several schools have been set up in Germany by Americans who teach the students they must learn to make up their own minds."

Dr. Wells said that other work along this line is being carried on by civic organizations in America that finance German students through American colleges.

When asked what the Germans think of America and Americans, Dr. Wells said that they think we are all rich and they would give their right arms to get over here. "They admire us," he said, "particularly for our ingenuity in doing things. However they think they have better humanistic education," he concluded.

Dialectic Senate Will Meet Tonight

The Dialectic Senate will meet tonight at 9 o'clock in the Di Hall of New West. New business for tonight will include discussion of a bill which would urge student legislators to "vote their convictions rather than the way their particular parties desire them to vote."

Orders for Rings To Be Taken Today

Orders for senior class rings will be taken by two people stationed at the Y today from 11:30 to 3 o'clock. By having two representatives on hand it is hoped that standing in line will be reduced to a minimum.

Mosely Addresses Fraternity Men

By Wink Locklair

A large audience of University fraternity men heard Dr. John O. Mosely, president of the University of Nevada, discuss the intangibles of "fraternity" in the final address of a two-day visit last night in Hill hall.

Making use of an ample supply of stories and anecdotes, Dr. Mosely urged his listeners to consider carefully the full meaning and scope of fraternity. He said fraternity is eternal, that it is memorial in nature, and that it is altruistic.

"There are three ways of obtaining immortality while you are still alive." Dr. Mosely suggested. "You can attach yourself to something which will not die, something which will stand as long as the world stands. Or you can start a movement which will be so powerful in purpose that it will exist after you pass on. Last, and most difficult, you can live today the ideals of tomorrow," Dr. Mosely said.

Asks Greek Week For This Campus

In discussing Greek week, a program he initiated at the University of Tennessee to replace the old-fashioned Hell week, the speaker declared that fraternities are man-making organizations, not hell-raising organizations.

"We want to get away from the pagan, the barbarous ideas which once were the foundation of social groups on college campuses. Be careful! Make sure you leave the torch in good hands so that the spirit of fraternity will continue to flourish and expand," Dr. Mosely urged.

Dr. Mosely addressed an audience of freshmen in Memorial hall yesterday morning. He listed 12 things he would do if he were entering college today. They included pursuits which would broaden the student mentally, physically and spiritually.

"Education is the hope of our civilization. If people are not mature, our country can never be mature," the Nevada president concluded.

Late News Bulletins

War Rages

NANKING, China, Nov. 16.—(UP)—The Chinese government and the Communists both claimed major victories tonight in the battle for the key defense bastion at Suchow, 200 miles north of here.

Strong Voice

LONDON, Nov. 16—(UP)—Princess Elizabeth's two-day-old son still nameless, but possessed of an exceedingly strong voice, was registered today for his national identity card and serial number.

Auto Sales

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(UP)—Rep. Kingsland Macy, R., N. Y., chairman of a special House committee investigating price gouging by automobile agencies, warned today that the "greed and avarice of a few dealers" raised the possibility of controls on automobile sales.

Palestine Truce

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(UP)—The United Nations Security council today ordered an immediate armistice for all of Palestine in the face of new Arab and Jewish defiance.

Dock Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(UP)—More than 4,000 railroad workers, truckers and seamen were laid off today as the seven-day strike of east coast dock workers bottled up all cargo in ports along the seaboard.

Upsets? Heck

Upsets were the order of the day in the football world Saturday, but Bill Kellam didn't let a little thing such as Clemson defeating Wake Forest or Ohio State winning over Illinois stop him from turning in 18 out of 20 possible correct wins in the Graham Memorial football contest.

Close on the heels of Kellam were J. D. Cooper and Richard A. Cohen with only three misses each. Six prognosticators had only four misses on their ballots.

For winning the contest Kellam will receive a carton of Chesterfields and a week's passbook to the Carolina theater.

Times Have Changed

Back in the old days when the fad was in style for college students to be bitter enemies with the greatest football rival, it was the custom during the week before the big game to raid the opposing campus with the explicit intention of tearing up the joint. Stealing the team mascot, the school president, the foundations beneath the main building and anything else detachable was considered great fun. So was painting up the streets, the statutes, the most cherished edifice or any captured students of the detested institution.

Object of such projects was to build up enthusiasm for the gridiron contests. Unfortunately, however, they also built up bitter antagonism between the students, large repair bills for damaged property, high medical fees for injuries during raid riots and unfavorable publicity for the schools. Consequently such vandalistic practices have happily fallen into disuse—and everyone connected with this university is interested in seeing that they remain so.

Since the Duke game of 1945 vandalism has been practically nonexistent here, and there is no reason why it should not remain so. Football spirit and enthusiasm, yes; but vandalism, no.

'Be Thankful'

Turkey and cranberry sauce and a meal so large you can't move afterwards—that's what Thanksgiving signifies to most Americans and that is what most students here will be going home to next week. The meal, of course, is just a symbol of the many things to be thankful for, but it has become an integral part of the holiday celebration.

Thanksgiving is exclusively an American holiday and in its expansiveness it symbolizes the country, "where everyone lives in plenty." But there are those who do not live in plenty; even here in Chapel Hill there are some who consider themselves lucky when they get enough to eat, and it is for them that the "Be Thankful" signs and boxes are posted in each of the women's dormitories and sorority houses.

The Social Service Committee of the YWCA has placed these boxes and is requesting that each coed place in them a can of food to be put in a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family of the community. The committee will collect the filled boxes at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and will make up eight Thanksgiving baskets for distribution on Monday. Some of the canned goods will be exchanged for Turkeys and other fresh stuffs.

With the thought of going home for Thanksgiving in mind, it shouldn't be hard for each coed to find time to purchase one can of food to leave behind for someone's Thanksgiving here.

'Twas a Fine Weekend!!

"It was nice on Saturday to see this sour-puss town wake up for a change. The North Carolina delegation, being completely uninhibited, made this a real college town over the weekend and provided more spirit than has been seen around here since Dolly Madison did a broken-field run from the old White House when the British were carrying a torch for us.

"There hasn't been an old-fashioned, whoopin' hollerin' ding-busted college rally around here in years. Remember the days when it was a poor weekend if you didn't find at least a dozen Georgetown boys in the jug? Maybe they're getting more dignified up on the hilltop, but there isn't any of that boom-boom spirit around any more."

That's what Bob Addie had to say in the Washington Times-Herald Monday after the Carolina-Maryland game, and most of the other capital papers reflected much the same opinions. The Tar Heel team and the Tar Heel fans really put on a bang-up show for the old town. However, a quick check-up on hotels where most of the celebrating was going on showed that there was little actual property damage done in town in spite of the fire works.

It was a rough weekend and it was rowdy, and there was much that went on which would have been just as well if it hadn't, but there seem to have been no hard feelings left in Washington—and that's what counts. Carolina won the ball game, everybody had a good time and Washington enjoyed the show and would like to have us back, so it was a pretty successful weekend all the way around.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed. ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed. ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed. ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Aliston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Odds And Ends

By Don Maynard

ON THE WAY—

Before we start, best we tell you that today's saga is mostly odds 'cause there never will be any ends to the tales told about that Washington trip.

ALL THE WAY, CAROLINA. Just to show you how many of us loyal Tar Heelias took off for the capital city, we quote one befuddled citizen of Ladyville, "Ah'll be glad when those blooming Tar Heels get oot of mah stete! Had to wait 26 minutes to get across the road before they got their consarned covertibles oot of the way.

TAKE FIVE. Seems the Sigma Nu's, under the drivership of Les McLeod, got so out of breath taking the curves on the way that they had to pause awhile along beside the highway. And there they sat, perched against the radiator.

BURMA SHAVE SPECIALS. That company has nothing on the local sign painters who pioneered through oie Virginny leaving behind a trail of the following: "Gong have Pahty," "All the way, Choo Choo!" and "Washington or bust!"

THERE:

FAMILY SKELETON? Gosh, that was a shock to open that clost door in the Statler and find a critter in stocking feet and "T" shirt. Say that was the quietest place you could find, Clarence Smith?

CORPSE IN THE HOUSE. Maybe the lights were a little low—or maybe it was the spirits. Anyhoo, Billie Pope didn't see her poor, lil' roommate on that bed; so how was she to help sitting down on the gal's head?

PACKING UP. But Horse Creel really wasn't ready to leave the gay town when he folded up in that suitcase at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Guess it must have been a case of mistaken identity, although the bed wasn't quite that little.

BE A CLOWN, is what Elliot Lawrence told us—but remember this; you gotta' have a hat to be a good one. Now, if that's the case, one Foo Giduz had all the qualifications. There he was down from Columbia all decked out in a blue derby that just wouldn't stop.

FROM THEM THAR HILLS! That's our boy Bob Kirby—complete with his jug of cider and stars and bars. Fact is, we didn't see him a time without those accessories.

GET OUT AND WALK. You know, it just didn't look as if they really wanted us Carolinians to see all the fine, historical sights of the town. Why, that doggone watchman at the Jefferson Memorial wouldn't let us come up to shake hands with old Tom. He must have been a Republican, or else the cold, night air got under his skin.

ALL WET. We'll give our troops the benefit of a doubt and say that it was a Maryland man who threw that bucket of water down on the lower stands during the third quarter of the game.

MASTER KEY? Nona Edge is still trying her dead level best to figure out how she got into room 861 with the key to 862. She just stands there with a look of utter amazement and says, "And it opened!"

SUNDAY MORNING: Do not disturb.

AFTERTHOUGHT: YAHOOO.

TUCK? TUCK IN. Looks as if the only thing left to do with Carolyn Tuck is to give her a typewriter and let her keep it in her room so she can do her journalism assignments there and not have to go out in the cold, dreary morning to an 8 o'clock class.

KENAN INFIRMARY? Gus Johnson and Bonnie Thrash are still wondering what the score was on that case they saw diagnosed recently in the parlor of Kenan dorm. Rheumatism in the knee, yes?

Washington Hurry-Go-Round

Carolinians In The Capital

By Chuck Hauser

UNUSUAL WEEKEND: As one of the hotel employes in the nation's capital remarked Sunday night, "It was certainly an unusual weekend." The thousands of Tar Heels who converged on Washington left no stone unturned and no mischief unperpetrated.

TURTLE MYSTERY: The mystery of Testudo, the missing Maryland Terrapin, was solved for the visiting Carolinians when they dropped in on the Terp campus. There was big, bronze Testudo himself on his stone pedestal in front of the gymnasium. He had been returned recently by some playful, red-blooded, stickyfingered college boys from George Washington university. And it seems that the president of the Maryland student body had written the student presidents of every school on the Terp grid schedule accusing them of the theft! (Testudo, by the way, turned up Saturday with a blue-and-white bow around his neck and ditto streamers on his tail. . .)

SUBVERSIVE PLOT: The FBI really had its signals crossed this time. Some bright boy among the feds got wind of a dastardly plot boiling in some underground meeting place of Chapel Hill to the effect that confederate flags would be planted on the White House lawn in a raid by Tar Heels during some early morning in the weekend. They called Bob House in Washington and had him right worried about the whole deal.

HAIL COMRADE: Who was the happy-go-lucky student who paid a visit to the Soviet embassy up on Mass. avenue? We hear he stood out in front firing Roman candles at the ambassador's front door and yelling, "Come on out and fight; you dirty Bolshevicks!"

THE HARDY BOYS: One group of hardy Carolina souls took off from Chapel Hill for the game in a 1923 T. That took guts, but we understand a little wager was involved. After some 17 reputed breakdowns, the sturdy little Ford rolled into the captial, but we don't believe it has returned yet. Last seen somewhere up in Virginny.

AFTER-DINNER SPEECH: Then there was the student who stood up in the dining room of some downtown hotel and began making a speech. His recital brought tears to the eyes of his fellow diners, as he told of his sad childhood, his hard life and how he voted for Dewey. He reached the climax of his buildings and stopped everyone dead by getting to the point of his speech: "Can anybody tell me where in the hell the men's room is?"

HARD TIMES: The Ambassador got his hard. One of the tales told of that hostelry concerns a student who somehow or other happened to break down the door of his room. The manager informed him the door cost 29 schlamolas and that he would put it on the young man's bill. "Oh, no," said the lad, "I'll pay cash," and proceeded to do so. Then: 'And would you mind sending a new door up right away?" For all we know, he carried the old door back here to the Hill with him.

IN A RUSH: One unfortunate Zete reportedly had the bright idea at the game that he would beat the crowd out of the stadium. So just before the whistle blew, he rushed out and jumped into a cab. He missed the entire second half.

Presidential Comments

Election Shift Justified

By Jess Demond

Certain political factions on the campus have, it is understood, raised their eyebrows in misgiving and condemnation about the fact that I assumed the authority of acting contrary to the constitution in establishing the date of fall elections on November 30. The constitution actually provides that these elections will be held on the first Tuesday in December. The result of following the constitution in this matter, however would be that run-off elections would fall on the second day of final exams. In my mind there is no way in which intelligent elections may be held and ballots tabulated under those circumstances.

This decision was not made in haste. In fact, the fact is that a conflict in exam schedule and the provisions for elections was called to my attention in May. After some discussion and much consideration an announcement of the change was made to the campus. The change was made with the following consideration in mind:

1. Elected officials are responsible to the people—who have given the constitution—for the performance of duties within its spirit. Our student body, which gave our constitution, intended to insure that no officers would assume undue powers nor violate their basic rights. They also intended that it would be a guide to its officers in the orderly performance of governmental functions. It is my contention that the student body could not anticipate the present dilemma and would not have desired that the constitutional provisions would have made the conduct of elections, within the letter of the constitution, completely unworkable.

2. The spirit of the constitution is that it shall be workable. The letter of the constitution in this case is not workable. Therefore it is my belief that those to whom I am responsible for the constitution would dictate workability rather than a strict adherence to the letter. I therefore feel that I have acted in good faith with the student body in the action which I have taken, by providing temporarily a workable solution to a difficult provision.

It should be mentioned that the necessity for such action, while bad, is hardly as serious as the precedent established. Such a precedent might well lead to other somewhat arbitrary actions which are not in keeping with the rights of the people. I do not fail to take this precedent seriously and am not pleased with the fact that necessity dictated an action contrary to that provided in the constitution. The student Legislature has the power to submit to the campus an amendment which will clarify for future student generations the dilemma which we now face. It should not fail to do so immediately in order that the campus may act and the constitution may be made workable.

This 'n That

Town Students On Stage

By Bill Buchan

It is interesting to note that none of our selfmade campus leaders were particularly interested in the students living out in town until the redistricting bill gave the town students an opportunity to elect their representatives to the Legislature.

Now the political plum of the year, it seems, is to please the town men by supporting any measure they desire to be supported, or else to tell the town men that better things can be given them.

A bill introduced in the Legislature last week by Al Lowenstein would organize a 'Town Students organization." Lowenstein argues that his bill would give the town students a "constitutional basis" for existing, and that the town men and women could still operate separately under the general title.

Lowenstein forgot or failed to get the opinion of the town men on his bill before he rather heatedly introduced it. He also evidently forgot that the TMA and the TGA are old campus organizations of long standing in Chapel Hill, even though the TMA was disorganized during the war years for obvious reasons.

If the town men and women want to merge into one group, they can do so, however, they do not want an order from the Student Legislature telling them to.

The opposition to the TMA (and heaven knows, there seems to be plenty of it) seems to be based on the simple fact that it hasn't "proven itself." A weak argument, yes, but look what the group has done thus far this year: 1) they've gotten a TMA and a TGA representative on the GM board of directors. 2) they've gotten an amendment passed through the Legislature calling for a referendum to place a representative on the University Dance committee and they hope eventually to get one on the Student Welfare board. 4) They conducted a successful membership drive this fall obtaining 57 members. The powers that be will tell you that 57's a very small number out of 2,000 people living in town. However, the TMA feels that this number is merely the beginning and after the other town students realize the work that is being done for them, they will join in larger numbers in the winter quarters.

These four items listed have been accomplished since the group began meeting early in October. That is quite an accomplishment in six weeks for a new-born group. Can other organizations list equal accomplishments so far this quarter?

It should be pointed out, and pointed out clearly, that the Town Men's association is not interested in politics and is not connected with any one of the three political parties on the campus. The subject has been mentioned numerous times in group meetings and members have always reached a unanimous conclusion that the politics of the individual member will be left up to that member. However, the group does plan to conduct a mass meeting before each election at which each candidate running for office from town will be invited to attend and speak to the town students. That is the limit of their political interests. It should also be stated fairly, however, that the Town Girls association is actively connected with one of the political parties. This is probably the main reason that the two groups will never be able to merge, even if they wanted too.

Lowenstein's bill is not necessary and was uncalled for. It is the hope of this columnist and the TMA that the bill will be discarded by the Student Legislature.

Write Away

Freistadt Replies

Editor:

I hope I may be permitted some comments on a recent column, unsigned, but presumably by Jonathan Marshall, complimenting me on the style of two previous letters, and giving my life history with reasonable accuracy.

I wholeheartedly join Mr. Marshall in his praise of Mr. Scales, whose high standards of conduct are a difficult model to follow, regardless of political opinion. I will, however, plead innocent to the following:

(1) Attempting deception as to my political beliefs. On one of the main issues between Communist and non-Communist Progressives, Socialism, I had, in my first letter, squarely ranged myself on the side of Socialism. I have always, at the University of Chicago as well as at the few public meetings I have attended here, disdained hiding my views; the "reliable source" had merely to open a past copy of the U. of C. student newspaper.

(2) Being the "brand of Communist who . . . defiles opponents." The propriety of this accusation, coming from the authors of the "dead mackerel in the moonlight" is apparent without further comment.

I will say, however, that I do not believe nor did I insinuate that "anyone who disagrees with (me) is an idiot." I sincerely respect Mr. Marshall's honest opinion. I am more than willing to apologize to anyone whose feelings I may have hurt in the heat of the election campaign. I trust that on the other side, all who have used insulting language against Mr. Wallace will do the same.

(3) Misrepresenting the role of Norman Thomas. A "dangerous radical" is one who actually endangers the excesses of the monopolists he attacks; such a radical will rarely be on such friendly terms with their press as Mr. Thomas.

I will comment in a subsequent letter on Mr. Marshall's insinuation that I oppose political freedom.

Hans Freidstadt

It Shore Was Nice

Editor:

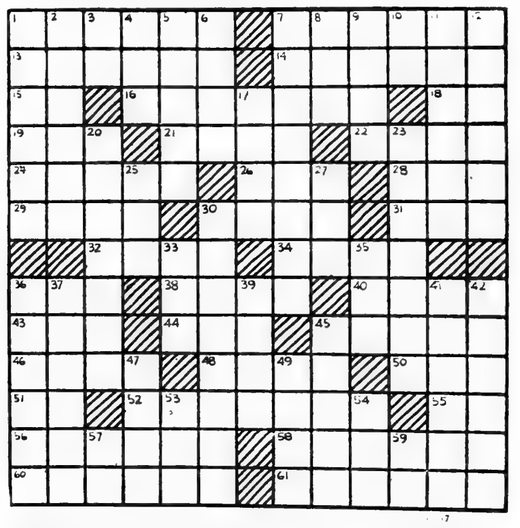
Reading over the Sunday Tar Heel I found these facts: (1) 200 spectators turned up at Fetzer field for Sadie Hawkin's Day festivities. (2) The sponsoring organizations were pretty brave to go ahead and plan the program any way.

These facts are probably true.

I assume that Helen Highwater, Don Maynard and B. B. were supposed to cover the activities of the campus for Friday and Saturday. If I am correct in my assumption, I would like to take this opportunity to let them in on a clue. I think they covered the Sadie Hawkins activities very well (up to a certain point). Why didn't they complete their task? Why didn't one of these able reporters cover the square dance? B. B. stated, "The Sadie Hawkins Day festivities Friday weren't too successful because there were no students here to participate."

I feel free to speak for the 150 or 200 students who attended the Square dance and I would like to say that it was more than successful. There were three callers who kept the sets going one after the other. Those who could not square dance at 8:30 found that by 9:30 they could do the "Sam Queen Shuffle," "Single Wing Buck" and the "New Jersey Jerk." It's true we didn't make Life Mag, but maybe Holiday will do.

No, I don't think we were brave. Versatile maybe but not brave.



When the strings of "Cripple Creek" were picked fer the last time aroun' 11:20, I'm shore all them that had "swung em high and swung em low and swung that pretty girl to and fro," had received an evening of Lower Slobovian entertainment. That's what hit was ment to be, tharfore hit was successful.

I guess Helen had too much (to do) at Ramshead to cover the dance. Don Maynard Dissipated. (Said he did in large print. Page two, first line, second column.) B. B. had something else to write about, I guess.

Don't write until you're right.

Lyle Davis

(Glad the dance was a success. Our stories were written late in the afternoon before it came off.)

HORIZONTAL
1. discount
7. royal dwelling
13. gotten up
14. checked
15. symbol for iridium
16. naive
18. New England state (abbr.)
19. jackdaw
21. observes
22. the thing mentioned
24. Russian stockade
26. Luzon Negrito
28. Shoshonean Indian
29. native of Denmark
30. entrance
31. primary color
32. moist
34. outfit
36. prefix: before
38. altar end of church
40. fissure
43. air: comb. form
44. rodent
45. Mohammedan prince
46. promontory
48. loudly expressed mirth
50. river in Scotland
51. diminutive for Alfred
52. mentally
55. note in scale
56. muffle
58. ornamented with small globules
60. vehement
61. former Turkish coins

VERTICAL
1. made hostile incursion
2. errors in printing
3. prefix: twice
4. masculine name
5. concise
6. grafted (her.)
7. moral influence
8. copper money
9. roll
10. indefinite article
11. ointment
12. prepared for publication
17. head
20. strays
23. went swiftly
25. edible green seed
27. took nourishment
30. evident
33. disfigure
35. upper limb
36. a bread dish
37. one who sways drunkenly
39. portico
41. antenna
42. walks on
45. city in France
47. lateral boundary
49. Gaelic name for Scotland
53. lair
54. jabber (colloq.)
57. paid notice
59. prefix: of

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 26 minutes.

Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Duke Falls, 2-1, Before Tar Heel Booters

With The TAR HEELS

By Dick Jenrette

Rounding out the Washington weekend: While most of the Carolina students spent Saturday night partying, a few of the more sports-conscious Tar Heel fans took time out to attend the professional basketball game between the Washington Caps and the Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons. It was North Carolina night out at Uline Arena, home of the Caps, in honor of the many Tar Heel visitors in town and two of Washington's better cage performers—Bones McKinney and Leo Katkaveck. Both did their collegiate playing in the old North State.

McKinney, who will be remembered as the center on Carolina's great 1946 cage team, is a great favorite with the Washington fans. Prior to the game he was presented a pair of Bulova watches for being both the most popular and valuable player. And when Bones was removed from the game by the coach in the second quarter, the crowd set up the cry of "We want McKinney." The lanky Tar Heel, however, didn't enjoy a particularly good night and scored only eight points, six of which came on foul shots.

Katkaveck, who captained a great State college quint last year, had seven points to show for his night's work but made every shot he attempted. Leo turned in his usual good floor game and, like McKinney, is a starter.

Washington, incidentally, won the game, 80-71, to mark up its sixth straight triumph without defeat. The quality of play definitely was superior to college ball in this State, but the game lacked much of the spirit and drive which go to make up interesting basketball.

Among those present were Carolina cage Coach Tom Scott and basketball manager George Hogan. Also spotted in the crowd was Charlie Thorne, who is making a strong bid for a starting guard post on the Carolina varsity.

They Liked Charlie's Kicking

Sports writers in the press box generally were impressed with the play of the grid Tar Heels against Maryland. Most of the northern writers came to the game with the idea that Carolina would run away from the Terps, and luckily the Tar Heels didn't disappoint them. Bob Latshaw, covering the game for the Detroit Free Press, said he came to the game with an eye toward watching Charlie Justice cavort, but afterwards Bob commented, "That Joe Romano stole the show." He referred to Romano's recovery of two Maryland fumbles. Asked about Justice, the Detroit scribe said he was most impressed with Choo Choo's kicking, particularly the boot that sailed 84 yards before rolling into the end zone. The kick continued to roll past the goal posts making the miraculous total of some 100 yards. Charlie had the wind behind him, but it was still a great kick in anybody's book.

Bill Maceyko, who scored a couple of touchdowns on pass interceptions; Bob Kennedy; Mike Rubish; and Hosea Rodgers also came in for praise. The general consensus of opinion on the game was that the Tar Heels played alert, smart football, taking advantage of the breaks when they came.

Press box accomodations in Griffith stadium were not particularly good, but the host Maryland club gave a good exhibition of Southern hospitality. A Negro chef was stationed in the press box and served baked ham and cheese sandwiches with coffee throughout the afternoon. One wouldn't have to cover many games in Washington to develop a good waistline.

One concluding remark. Credit Bill Flamisch with the tackle which prevented Harry Bonk of Maryland from scoring on the first play of the game. Flamisch, behind some ten yards, made up the distance in short order to check the Terps temporarily. The Daily Tar Heel and one Washington paper gave credit for the tackle to the wrong man.

A Word on the Blue Devils

From over Duke way comes a letter from Jimmy Briggs, who writes for the Duke Chronicle. Here are the Blue Devil scribe's satirical comments on the game: "You know, Dick, those mighty, high-flying Heels don't have a thing to worry about Saturday. Why Duke's gonna be a pushover. After all, Fast Freight Folger is only one of the best runners in the South, and Bill Cox is just considered one of the nation's most promising sophomores. Both are better than average passers, and the two lads certainly know how to boot. What's their average? Forty?

'And look at that Duke line—Al DeRogatis, lineman of the week against Georgia Tech; Lou Allen, considered by many the best tackle in Dixie. Guards Davis and Knotts aren't too slouchy, while ends Duncan and Austin are two of the Southern conference's better flankmen. Montgomery and Eslick are looking great at blocking back, and Jack Mounie is nothing short of sensational now at full. Dick. Wake Forest and G. W. had no idea where the ball was on those reverses and spinners. Stephanz should be ready to go too, for about the first time this year. Friedlund is really a find at wingback. He is mighty hard to bring down, being around 6-1 and weighing 190. Runs like Rodgers and is the intramural 100-yd. dash champ. In the Wake game he left Dowda ten yards behind on his 82-yard run.

"But the surprise may be quarterback Bob Frye in the Wade T. Peahead Walker almost dropped dead when we went into it against them. The Wake linemen must have been asleep, befuddled or sumpin, cause it really looked great. Jim Brown looked good at wing against G. W. He's shifty and fast. Hughes may miss the game, but I believe that he'll be raring to go.

"Oh yeah, I don't think we have a chance, but you can't ever tell."

Dave Boak Tallies Pair of Markers In Durham Game

DURHAM, Nov. 6—Carolina's soccer team today followed up the example set by their freshman brothers yesterday when they defeated the Duke booters, 2-1 on the Duke soccer field in a game witnessed by over 200 fans.

Dave Boak was the star of the Carolina eleven as he scored both of the goals in the sixth Tar Heel win of the season. Boak's goals came in the first and the third quarters.

Bill Moore, who assisted on both of the Tar Heel goals, starred on the offense along with Boak. The dependable duo of Jess Greenbaum and Frank Nelson was again the defensive standout of the day for Coach Marvin Allen's crew.

6-1-2 Record

Yesterday's win for Carolina gave the locals a season record of six wins, a single loss and a pair of ties. The victory also gave the Tar Heels a measure of revenge for the previous scoreless tie played at Carolina almost two weeks ago.

The game was hard fought and very fast all the way. The Carolina booters took and early lead and played an inspired game, keeping the Blue Devils from driving boots into the nets and managed to shake Boak loose for a pair of counters.

Corner Kick Scores

Boak received Bill Moore's corner kick and drove it into the nets after five minutes had elapsed in the first quarter. The Duke goalie tried vainly to stop the sure score, but failed.

There was no more scoring in the contest until approximately the same point in the second half. Again it was Boak and Moore collaborating on the scoring play. Dave took a pass from Moore on the wing and sent a nice shot sizzling into the goal.

Al D'Alunao scored the only goal for the home club after about 18 minutes of playing time had elapsed.

Four Tar Heels Are Selected On All-Conference First Team

RALEIGH, Nov. 17—(UP)—Unbeaten but once-tied North Carolina, heading for its climax game with Duke Saturday, today landed four men on the United Press 1948 All-Southern Conference team.

Clemson, only undefeated and untied team in the South, put two men on the first string. So hard-fighting Indians held North Carolina to a 7-7 tie.

Other horonrs were spread among Wake Forest, Duke and VMI.

The first team, which would let any coach sleep well at night, is almost interchangeable with the second and third strings in many positions, for the conference produced a host of fine ends and backs.

The team, as chosen by United Press sports writers from Columbia to Washington.

Ends—Art Weiner, North Carolina, and John O'Quinn, Wake Forest; Tackles—Al Derogatis, Duke, and Len Szafaryn, North Carolina; Guards—Bob Mitten, North Carolina, and Frank Gillespie, Clemson; Center—Tommy Thompson, William and Mary; Backs—Charlie Justice, North Carolina, Bobby Gage, Clemson, Bobby Thomason, VMI, and Jack Cloud, William and Mary.

Weiner at End

Weiner, a rangy 212-pound racehorse, also made the United Press All-Conference last year. He is not only a fine pass receiver but a good ground-gainer on end-around plays. But he is only the best of an amazing collection of Carolina ends—just a shade above Bob Cox, Mike Rubish, Joe Romano, and Ken Powell.

O'Quinn, a lanky redhead from Asheboro, has been one of the finest pass receivers in the nation.

Derogatis, immovable as a fireplug at tackle for Duke, was injured last year after a fine 1946 season. But he was back in form this year. Against Georgia Tech he spent so much time in the enemy backfield he would have looked good in a yellow jersey.

Szafaryn, a stout stanchion of the North Carolina forward wall, shone with aggressive play all season.

At guard the standout was Frank Gillespie of Clemson, one of the best in the South. Bob Mitten of North Carolina got the nod over a number of other talented performers.

Tommy Thompson, a big aggressive pivot for William and Mary, clearly got the first-string center post. Also-rans included Carl Perkinson of Duke and Gene Kinney of Maryland.

The backfield was led by—who else?—Choo Choo Charlie Justice of North Carolina, making the first team for the third straight year and bidding strongly for an All-American berth. The little tailback was the big gun of the Tar Heel attack.

Though special defenses sometimes slowed his vaunted ground gains, nothing derailed the Choo-Choo completely. And he was one of the country's best passers and punters.

Cloud Edges Rodgers

Jack Cloud, a 205-pound crusher at William and Mary, took the fullback post with his slamming line plunges and his fine defensive play. His defense gave him a slim margin over Hosea Rodgers of North Carolina, a superb offensive plunger and a good passer.

Bobby Gage of Clemson dazzled the opposition with his running and passing. His aerial work gave him an edge over Bill Gregus, Wake Forest's hurtling never-say-die runner.

VMI's Bobby Thompson landed the quarterback job as the spark and brains of a VMI team that has surprisingly beaten everyone but Tulane and William and Mary. He has one of the best pass completion marks in the nation and has had a big hand in nearly every Keydet touchdown.

Drills Are Secret As Football Squad Preps for Devils

Coach Carl Snavely hung his self-styled "iron curtain" around Navy field again yesterday for the third consecutive day. The Carolina brain trust is taking no chances on letting valuable information slip through their hands and into those of the Durham big wigs.

The Carolinians came through last week's battle with Maryland's Terps in good shape and are expected to be in top physical condition for this week's age-old grudge battle. Duke, on the other hand, has two men, tackle Lloyd Eisenberg and blocking back Tommy Hughes on the injured list. Both are expected to be ready in time for the week-end battling, however.

Reports from the Durham campus show that Wallace Wade isn't spending these November evenings looking for four-leaf clovers either, it might help him this week-end. The brand new T-formation that the Duke mentor has fashioned for himself is said to hold a great many surprises which haven't been shown yet, but you can bet there will be nothing secret about the new formation after the week-end action is over.

Mural Results

TABLE TENNIS

3 Town 1	Med School 1 0
2 Phi Gam 1	Phi Gam 2 1

VOLLEYBALL

2 Sig Nu 1	KA 3 1
2 Town 1	Nash 0
2 Steele	Emerson 1 0
2 Town	Bombers 0
2 Phi Delt 1	Sig Nu 3 0
2 Zeta 2	KA 1 0
2 KA 2	Phi Delt 3 0
2 Phi Kap Sig 3	Beta 1 0

Mural Schedule

TABLE TENNIS

5:00 Town vs Oakwood Drive (Dormitory league finals)
7:15 ATO 1 vs Phi Delt 2
8:15 Pi Lamb vs winner (ATO 1 vs Phi Delt 2) Fraternity league finals.

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Phi Gam 2 vs Chi Psi 1; 2, Kappa Sig 2 vs Pi Kap Phi; 3, Sigma Chi 1 vs winner of Beta 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 3; 4, Bombers vs Nash

5:00—Court 1, DKE 2 vs winner of KA 2 vs Phi Delt 3; 2, winner of Phi Delt 1-Sigma Nu 3 vs winner of Zeta 2-KA 1; 3, Phi Gam 1 vs Chi Psi 2; 4, Phi Delt 2 vs Zeta 1

G.M. FOOTBALL CONTEST

For Games of Nov. 13, 1948

RULES:

Only one entry is permitted for each contestant. Black out parenthesis beside team you predict will win. Write "TIE" in each box if tie is predicted. Predictions must be made for all 20 games or entry will be disqualified.

Parentheses must be BLACKED IN, not merely checked or "X'ed." Predict score for Carolina-Duke game. Blanks must be placed in entry box in the main hall of Graham Memorial by Saturday Noon, Nov. 13, 1948.

Name..... Address .....

Time Blank Turned In:

Score:	Carolina		Score:	Duke
( ) Harvard	( ) Yale		( ) Tenn.	( ) Kentucky
( ) Pittsburg	( ) Penn State		( ) W & M	( ) N.C. State
( ) Princeton	( ) Dartmouth		( ) Ga. Tech	( ) Citadel
( ) O. State	( ) Michigan		( ) Vanderbilt	( ) Maryland
( ) Purdue	( ) Indiana		( ) Rice	( ) T. Christian
( ) N'wst'rn	( ) Illinois		( ) SMU	( ) Baylor
( ) Wisc.	( ) Minnesota		( ) Calif.	( ) Stanford
( ) Kansas	( ) Oklahoma		( ) Ore. State	( ) Oregon
( ) Nebraska	( ) Missouri		( ) UCLA	( ) So. Calif.
( ) La. State	( ) Alabama		( ) Clemson	( ) Duquesne

MUST HAVE ID CARDS

Vernon Crook, of the Carolina Athletic Association, emphasized in an announcement yesterday that students will be required to present their ID cards along with their passbooks for admission to the game Saturday. Students who have lost their ID cards should have them replaced at once.

ARCHERY MEETING

The Archery club will meet for a "club shoot" this afternoon at 3:15 and everyone interested in the bow and arrow sport is urged to attend. Equipment may be checked out in the basketroom.

Zetes, Grads Score In Intramural Play

The smooth working Zeta Psi 2 gridders and the power laden Graduates came through with convincing victories yesterday on Intramural field before large crowds to advance to the final championship games of the fraternity and dormitory divisions, respectively.

The accurate passing of Heath Alexander highlighted the 27-0 Zeta victory over Kappa Sig 2, with Brack Schell accounting for two six pointers, and Bud Ruffin and Neil King each scoring once. Alexander also made good on three extra point kicks.

The Grads got off to a fast start in their 26-0 rout of the Mud Dobbers, leaving the field at intermission with a 19-0 lead. The aroused Mud Dobbers came back to hold the old timers to one TD in the last half. Ike Carr, Don Calloway, Lew Hayworth, and Jim Poole each had a touchdown for the winners.

Tar Heels Second Defensively

Football statistics for the Tar Heels' seven games to date show Carolina second in the nation in the matter of total defense, Coach Carl Snavely's squad having limited the opposition to a net of 141.3 yards per game. Georgia Tech leads the nation in this department.

Charlie Justice, Carolina tailback, ranks high in a number of departments. He is second in offense with a grand total of 1147 yards. He trails Stan Heath, Nevada, who has 1754. Charlie is tenth in forward passing, with fifty completions in 98 tosses for 682 yards. He is also second in punting, with 43.6.

Art Weiner is fourth among the nation's pass receivers. The big Carolina flankman has hauled in 25 tosses for 381 yards and

Carolina is first in the nation in punting with a 43.6 average on 45 punts.

Carolina's opponents have averaged but 55.9 yards per game on rushing plays through the strong Tar Heel line. This figure places the locals second nationally.

UNC	Department	OPP
114	First downs	57
68	First Downs Rushing	27
38	First Downs Passing	26
8	First Downs Penalties	4
1,366	Net Yards Rushing	643
150	Passes Attempted	154
68	Passes Completed	52
13	Passes Intercepted By	14
938	Total Yards Passes	700
44.0	Punting Average	38.3
709	Yds. all Kicks Returned	819
30	Number Fumbles	18
14	Own fumbles recovered	7
404	Yards Lost Penalties	392

WINCHELL says: "ORCHID PETALS."

BILLY ROSE says: "CARMEN is excellent."

BOSLEY CROWTHER says: "A florid, emotional and quaintly sex-conscious exercise . . . a bewitching actress, Viviane Romance, gives you as lusty a picture as you could wish . . . she is flashily voluptuous." —N. Y. TIMES

"Its violence and ribald dialogue achieve a shocking realism and emotional impact that lingers. * * * ½ *" —DAILY NEWS

"Miss Romance embodies passion." —N. Y. POST

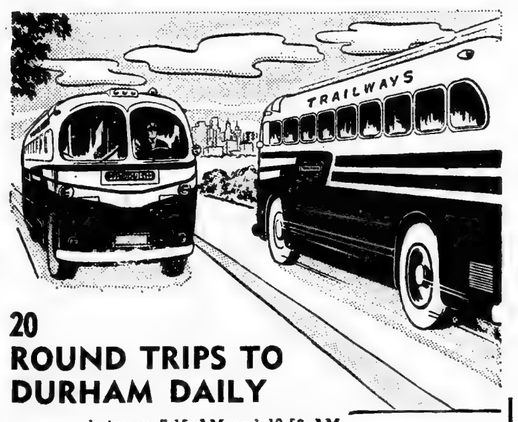
"Fiery down-to-earth Film which the censors seem to have left alone." —N. Y. SUN

"Ranks with the finest of post-war European pictures . . . a gigantic production." —CUE

Released by Superfilm Dist. Corp.

VILLAGE THEATRE THURSDAY

THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS



Rich mahogany, shell cordovan, hand lasted shoes by Howard and Foster. Full leather lined with either heavy double leather sole or black gum rubber sole.

CHECK THIS PRICE
Only $16.95

Price was incorrectly printed in preceeding advertisements by circumstances beyond the control of advertiser

Milton's Clothing Cupboard
219 E. FRANKLIN STREET
"Across from Graham Memorial—Next to the Village Apartments"

20 ROUND TRIPS TO DURHAM DAILY between 7:15 AM and 12:50 AM.

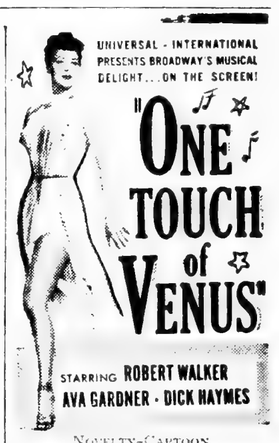
All Durham buses connect for Raleigh and 5 trips direct to Raleigh daily.

GREENSBORO and CHARLOTTE BUSES leaving at 4:05 AM, 5:30 AM, 11:05 AM, 2:10 PM, 5:05 PM, 6:10 PM, 9:45 PM, 12:20 AM, 2:05 AM.



CHAPEL HILL BUS TER.
Phone 4281 —— 311 W. Franklin St.

NATIONAL TRAILWAYS BUS SYSTEM

Carolina TRAILWAYS

LACOCK'S
For Better
SHOE REPAIRING

WATCH and JEWELRY REPAIRS
FAST And SKILLFUL SERVICE
"Precision Work"
Durham's Watch and Jewelry Repair Service
VILLAGE THEATER BLDG.

UNIVERSAL - INTERNATIONAL PRESENTS BROADWAY'S MUSICAL DELIGHT...ON THE SCREEN!

"ONE TOUCH of VENUS"

STARRING ROBERT WALKER AVA GARDNER · DICK HAYMES

NOVELTY-CARTOON
—Also—
—TODAY—
CAROLINA

Campus Champ!

You know what it takes to be a champion on the playing field: Speed! Stamina! Performance!

On your study desk, you'll thrill to those same winning qualities in your own Underwood Champion Portable Typewriter.

You'll get along better with neatly typed homework and classroom papers.

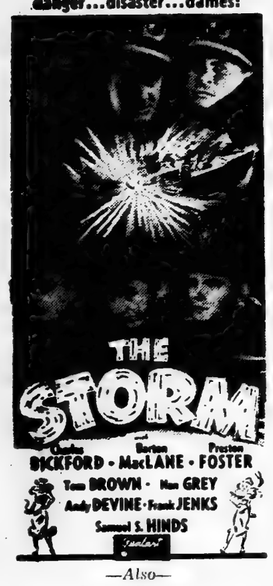
You'll win the admiration of friends with your legibly-typed letters. You'll win more leisure for sports and other activities with the help of this speedy classmate.

So put this Campus Champ on your team. Don't delay . . . [illegible] your Dad to get you a Champion now! Tell him to see your local Authorized Underwood Portable Typewriter Dealer or write a post card for free folder.

For illustrated folder write to:
Underwood Corporation
Dept. C-1, One Park Avenue New York 16, N. Y.
Typewriters . . . Adding Machines . . . Accounting Machines . . . Carbon Paper . . . Ribbons and other Supplies
Underwood Limited, 135 Victoria St., Toronto 1, Canada
Sales and Service Everywhere
Underwood . . . TYPEWRITER LEADER OF THE WORLD

Liberalism Is Discussion Topic At CPU Meeting

"Liberalism" was the topic for discussion Sunday evening when the Carolina Political union met in Graham Memorial.



It was generally conceded by CPU members at the beginning of the meeting that the word "liberalism" depends largely on its use for a meaning, and that a universal meaning of the word is not easily obtained.

One idea introduced in the roundtable discussion was that an important aspect of liberalism is the manner in which people acquire their beliefs and convictions. Another speaker pointed out that freedom to express personal beliefs is more important than liberal thought processes.

The conclusion of the discussion was reached with the opinion that liberalism requires a free and open mind as well as freedom to express individual beliefs.

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

JOLTING DRAMA of the SEA! Heroic men...who court danger...disaster...dames!

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
TODAY
VILLAGE

USING HASTILY ARRAYED tassles and an umbrella, chorus girl Anita Arden goes through her act at a New York night club without the elaborate costumes made for the show by its star, Gypsy Rose Lee, who bowed out on opening night.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

1938 CZECH MOTORCYCLE. SEE Frank Redding, 211 Stacy. (2-8071-1)

GAS SERVEL REFRIGERATOR—$75. Gas Range—$60. Gas Hot water heater—$30. Philco Portable radio—Phonograph—$50. All articles in good working order. Priced for quick sale. A. C. Shearer, 8 Westwood Drive. (3-c8068-1)

TRAILER 22, 27 FEET, 100 GALLONS of oil. Contact Mr. Wadsworth at housing office, room 22, New East Annex. (3-8055-1)

1 MALE, 2 FEMALES, LIVER WHITE pointers 10 weeks old. From excellent stock. Male $25. Female $15. J. P. Jones, Barclay Rd. Airport Development. (2-8072-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court. (6-8073-1)

ARGOFLEX MODEL E REFLEX camera, f4.5 1-200. Case. Good condition. $40. Bill Stewart, 216 Aycock. (1-8075-1)

1946 FORD TUDOR SEDAN. MOTOR just reconditioned completely. Clean, good looking. A real buy. You'll save $200 to buy from me. See Jim Spence, 105 Grimes. (2-8069-1)

LET'S GO TO N. Y. CITY FOR Thanksgiving. You bring the car. If interested, call 3071—name's Ina Klein. Roommate also available. (1-2000-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

SOMEONE TO SWAP RIDES TO DUKE SOMEONE TO SWAP RIDES TO Duke. Must be there from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily. 9:00 to 12:00 Saturday. Contact R. Ribner, 182 Daniels Rd. (2-8074-1)

LOST 12

TEN POUNDS! HAVEN'T EATEN since Tuesday of last week. Reason: Lost billfold. Property of Annie Lee Sawyer, McIver Dorm. Please return. (1-8082-1)

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Frank Graham Delivers Speech In New York City

President Frank P. Graham spoke at the Biltmore hotel in New York city Tuesday night as the representative of education at the banquet of the Diamond Jubilee of Nursing.

The general theme of the meeting, which was in honor of the 75th anniversary of nursing education in the United States, was "America's Great Social Forces Look at Nursing, Appraising the Past; Charting the Future." Other speakers represented government, education, social service, health, medicine, and business.

In appraising the record of the nursing profession, Dr. Graham cited the woman's movement as "one of the great humane and democratic movements of the century."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

11:30—SENIOR CLASS RINGS on sale in Y lobby.

4:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY. Yack Pictures. Roland Parker 2. GM.

4:00—STUDENT PARTY STEERING COMMITTEE. Grail room. GM.

5:00—ATLANTA-CAROLINA CLUB. Organizational meeting; all students from Atlanta and vicinity invited to attend to form plans for future activities. Roland Parker 1, GM.

5:00—PAN-HELLENIC Association. Yack Pictures. GM.

7:00—STUDENT PARTY. Nominees for December election required to be present. Platform to be drawn up. Roland Parker 1, GM.

7:00—JOHNSTON COUNTY CLUB. Horace Williams lounge. GM.

7:00—STRAY GREEKS. Alderman parlor.

7:00—CICA. Upstairs in Y.

7:30—YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB. Discussion of election returns. Open meeting. Horace Williams lounge. GM.

7:30—STRAY GREEKS. Yack Pictures. GM.

7:45—CICA. Yack Pictures. GM.

8:00—WALLACE CLUB. Horace Williams lounge. GM.

8:00—ALPHA GAMMA DELTA ALUMNAE. Alpha Gamma Delta house.

8:30—DI SENATE. Yack Pictures. GM.

9:00—DI SENATE. 3rd floor. New West.

'Fifty Books of the Year' Exhibit To Be in Library Through Dec. 6

The 26th annual exhibition of the "Fifty Books of the Year," organized by a committee of the American Institute of Graphic Arts and circulated by the American Federation of Arts, opened at the University library last weekend and will continue through Dec. 6.

The exhibition will be open to the public from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night on week days and from 2 until 5 o'clock on Sundays and holidays, with the exception of Nov. 28, when the library will be closed.

Books of many different classes and types are represented including trade, art, text, technical, poetry, children's, limited editions, dictionaries, as well as the portfolio, pocket book and paperbound guide book.

CALL US FOR—
- General Sheet Metal Work
- Gutters
- Roof Repairing

Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO — PHONE 9056

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

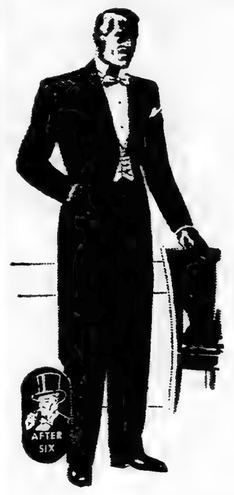
TUXEDO RENTALS

It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.

Lewis' State College
RALEIGH
HILLSBORO STREET DIAL 6904

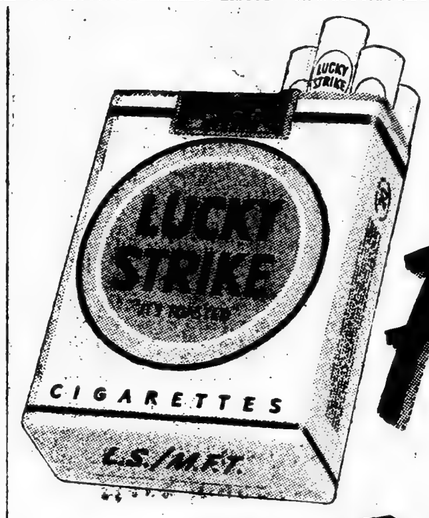
A blintz a day keeps the doctor away-at HARRY'S

VA Lists Request For Leaving GIs



All veterans who will not return to school after Christmas are requested to notify the veterans office, 315 South building, immediately, veterans advisor C. F. Shepherd announced yesterday.

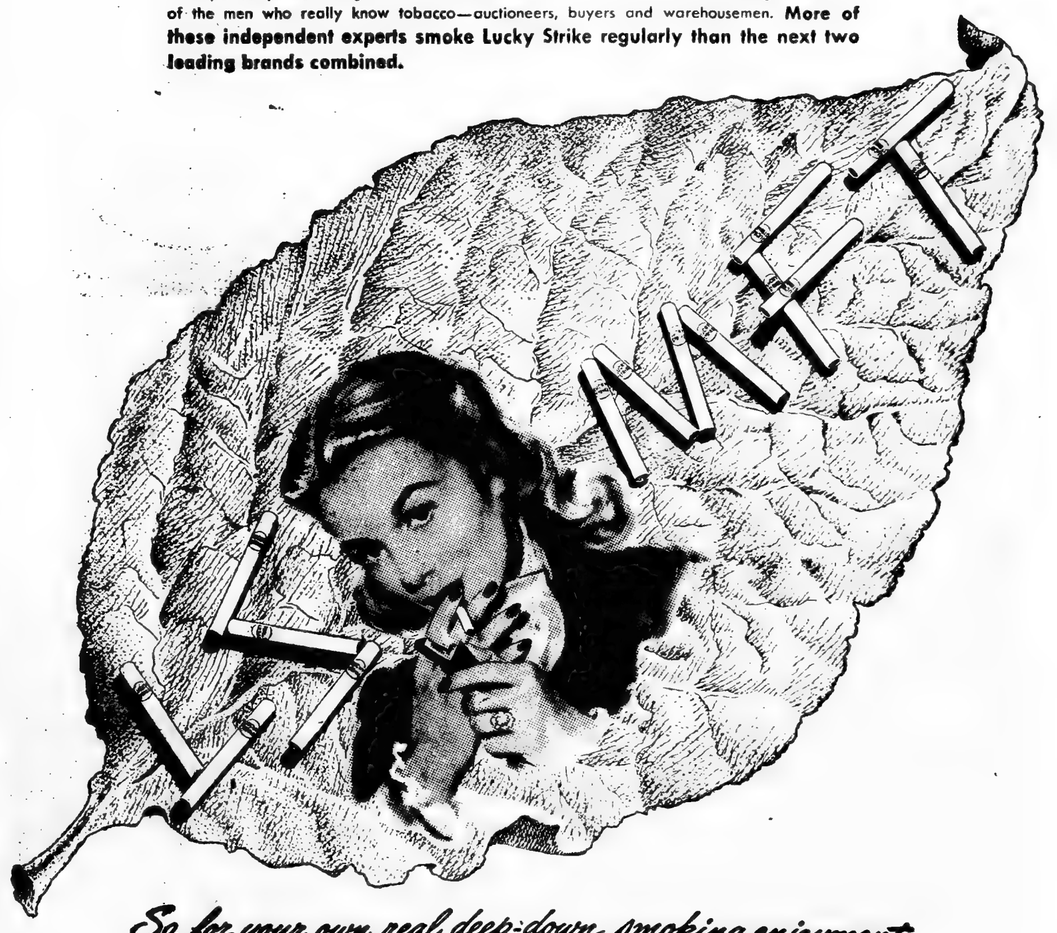
The request to notify the veterans office applies to students who are graduating as well as others, Shepherd said.



If veterans fail to notify the vets office that they are leaving school, their subsistence checks will continue and they will have to return the checks or be liable for fraud, he emphasized.

SP Meeting

The Student party will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3 of Graham Memorial. Nominations for junior class officers and legislature posts will be received. Party Members and persons interested in running for these offices are urged to attend the meeting.



TUXEDOS
TAILS
DINNER JACKETS
Formal Shirts — Studs
RENTALS — SALES
Tuxedo Junction
601 E. Trinity Ave.
Durham, N. C.
Phone J-1373 or L-8321
Clip This Ad for Reference

First Again with Tobacco Men!

More independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next 2 leading brands combined!

An impartial poll covering all the Southern tobacco markets reveals the smoking preference of the men who really know tobacco—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen. More of these independent experts smoke Lucky Strike regularly than the next two leading brands combined.

So, for your own real deep-down smoking enjoyment, smoke the smoke tobacco experts smoke

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

LUCKY STRIKE MEANS FINE TOBACCO

So round, so firm, so fully packed — so free and easy on the draw

OVEMBER 17, 1948

XEDOS
AILS
R JACKETS
Shirts — Studs
ALS — SALES
o Junction
Trinity Ave.
ham, N. C.
J-1373 or L-8321
Ad for Reference

ain
n!
ularly

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

Reply to Rameses
Combination Good Idea
Last, But Not Best

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cool and clear

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 50

Marines Sent To Reinforce China Garrison

1250 Leathernecks Head For Tsingtao

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(UP)—The navy today ordered 1,250 marines from Guam to reinforce the U. S. garrison at Tsingtao and cover the evacuation of American citizens from that communist-threatened north China port.

At the same time, it was announced that two transports are enroute to Shanghai and a third is being sent to Tsingtao to remove some 4,600 Americans caught in the path of China's warring nationalist and communist armies.

Defense Secretary James Forrestal gave the first word of the Tsingtao reinforcement at a press conference. He said 1,500 marines already were on their way to the imperiled seaport.

The navy later said only 1,000 leathernecks were headed there. It amended that announcement again, explaining that 1,250 marine officers and men would leave Guam next Tuesday.

The marines will sail aboard the transport U.S.S. Bayfield which will remain in Tsingtao to embark American evacuees.

Forrestal said the decision to rush more troops to north China was taken in consultation with the State department. Neither he nor the State department would say whether the marines would fight or withdraw in the event of a communist attack on Tsingtao, which is deep inside communist-held territory.

"It all depends on the circumstances, and there is no answer," a State department spokesman said.

The move followed closely on word that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has sent President Truman what is reported to be an urgent personal plea for American moral and material help.

Dispatch of the marine reinforcements apparently was not related to Chiang's SOS. But it was viewed as a warning to the Chinese communist leaders that the United States is determined to protect American lives and interests in the war zone.

The United States originally sent marines and naval forces to Tsingtao to train Chinese personnel in the handling of American ships transferred to China under a 1946 aid bill.

Benefit Dance Is Slated at State

A benefit dance will be given at the State college armory in Raleigh Thursday from 9 o'clock until midnight by the Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority. All proceeds from this dance are to be used to assist in the international sorority's work in cancer research.

The organization sponsors and fully supports two outstanding scientists whose entire efforts are spent in cancer research.

Music is by Norwood Lane and his orchestra and quartet, including Betty Brown as singer.

Tickets may be purchased from any Interfraternity council representative. The tickets are $1.50 per couple.

Turkey Bingo Is Slated by Legion

The annual Thanksgiving turkey binge sponsored by the American Legion will be held in the legion hut on East Rosemary street Nov. 23 beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning, Paul Robinson, spokesman for the legion said yesterday.

Twenty-five turkeys will be given as prizes, and in case of ties, other valuable gifts as fruit cakes and hams will be awarded.

Proceeds from the bingo will be used in the advancement of the Legion program with emphasis on child welfare and American Legion baseball.

Judges Selected For Float Contest

Included in List Are Saunders, Carmichael, Prince, Carr, Madry

The judges for Friday's "Beat Dook" float contest and parade will be Catherine Carmichael, dean of women, Spike Saunders, executive secretary of the Alumni association, William Meade Prince, illustrator for the Saturday Evening Post, and Mayor Carr of Durham and Mayor Bob Madry of Chapel Hill.

Entries for the PiKA-sponsored contest have been pouring in, and a long, colorful parade is expected. The floats will assemble on the intramural field next to Woollen Gymnasium. The judging will take place at 1:30 Friday afternoon.

Preceded by a police escort, cheerleaders, and members of the University band, the parade will proceed through the campus and the main streets of town. Not only automobiles, but trucks, carts, trailers, anything that will move, can be entered.

All organizations are encouraged to attend. There is no entrance fee, and practically no limitations as to the size, shape, color, or cost of the floats.

The four trophies will be on display this morning at the Y and this afternoon at Wentworth and Sloan's. There are four divisions and the winner of each division will receive a trophy which will be held for one year. The divisions are men's dorms, women's dorms, sororities, and fraternities. The decisions of the judges will be announced, and the trophies awarded at 1:30 Saturday afternoon before the start of the game.

Russia Exports From U.S. Drop In September

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. —(UP)—The Commerce department reported today that U.S. exports to Russia dwindled to a mere $100,000 during September.

The cold war curtailment slashed $1,100,000 off the $1,200,000 August figure and brought total reductions in recent months to a point where imports from Russia now best U.S. exports by nearly 100 to one.

The department also reported a $2,100,000 cut in shipments to eastern Europe, including part of Russia and all of her satellites. They fell from $14,000,000 in August to $11,900,000 in September.

Exports to Marshall European recovery plan countries also declined including a sharp drop in shipments to China.

September shipments to all recovery nations totaled $324,700,000, compared with $333,100,000 in August and a January-June monthly average of $390,000,000. Shipments to China alone fell from $19,000,000 in August to $7,700,000 in September.

Imports increased from all areas except eastern Europe during September.

Secy. Forrestal To Confer With Truman Today

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Defense Secretary James Forrestal flies here tomorrow for a luncheon conference with President Truman which should shed new light on Forrestal's resignation from the cabinet.

There was no comment on Forrestal's plans at this end, but the secretary told a news conference in Washington today that he already has submitted his resignation. He added that he considers himself to be "on service for the present."

Forrestal told newsmen that he always resigns with a new administration in office because he feels it is "singularly the President's own business' who he wants in his cabinet.

He pointed out that he has held cabinet posts for eight and a half years. "a long time," but did not discuss his plans for the future. He had said during his recent tour of Europe, however, that he felt that he could not remain in the cabinet another four years.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, had nothing to say about Forrestal's resignation. He said tomorrow's conference was arranged during a long-distance telephone talk between Mr. Truman and Forrestal.

Student Paper In Hot Water For Interview

Employe Is Fired For 'Liberalism'

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 17—(UP)—Editors of the Northwestern university daily newspaper were censured today for carrying a story charging that a woman university counsellor was discharged for a "too liberal" attitude toward Negroes and Jews.

The Daily Northwestern student newspaper, printed an interview with Miss Mary F. Hutchins, 22, daughter of Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, in which she charged that Franklin Bliss Snyder, president of Northwestern, discharged the counsellor "because of her liberal attitude on racial issues."

Snyder, through the university, issued a flat denial after the story appeared. His statement said he "unconditionally denies that there is any truth to the statement attributed to him in the Daily."

Miss Hutchins is a student in the Liberal Arts college at Northwestern.

In the dispatch printed in the Daily Northwestern, she discussed the dimiss of Mrs. Ruth McCarn, former counsellor at Northwestern. She said that Mrs. McCarn came to Hutchins and told him that Snyder had told her he would "'have to dismiss you because you are too liberal regarding Jews and Negroes."

Miss Hutchins quoted her father as saying, "I just can't believe it; it's terrible."

Music Sorority Initiates Eleven

The Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority initiated 11 members at a pledging ceremony held by candlelight Thursday evening in the Phi Mu Alpha room in Hill hall.

361 Registered Here

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

HILLSBORO, Nov. 17—Approximately 361 University students are registered with Orange county Selective Service board 69, Mary F. Kenion, clerk, announced today.

The board said two days ago that its quota for the month of November was four men, none of whom were to be University students. The national quota for November was 10,000 men and the state quota 346.

Miss Kenion said that no college or highschool students have been called for physical examinations yet. She added that many University students who registered with the Hillsboro board had their papers sent to boards in their home counties.

Campus Party Lists Platform For Freshmen

Campus party candidates for freshman class offices announced yesterday their proposed platform for election. The platform, printed on a special card, stated the following aims:

"To serve the freshman class in the interest of the majority, rather than the individual 'wheels.' To make the freshman class stand for something, rather than just the freshman class. To promote more and better parties and dances between our class and the various coed schools in this area, and to have more imports from W.C. and other schools.

'The Campus party is also pledged to work for improved living and studying conditions in the quonset hut area, and to increase and improve refreshment and recreational facilities on the whole campus. A better seating arrangement at football games next fall is also among their aims.

"The freshman candidates pledge themselves to fight for a five-day class week, rather than the proposed six-day week, and to strive for better and more representative student government." The platform concludes, "In general: For the glory of UNC and the class of 1952."

Civil Rights Measure To Pass, Says Barkley

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. —(UP).—Vice president-elect Alben W. Barkley predicted today that some form of civil rights legislation will be passed by the new congress despite Southern filibuster threats.

He made the statement upon his return from vacationing with President Truman at Key West, Fla. Mr. Truman said in Key West yesterday that he will ask the Democratic-controlled 81st congress to enact anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment practices legislation.

Southern Democratic congressmen, who had revolted against Mr. Truman during the recent campaign on that very issue, immediately served notice they would fight the new effort "to the finish."

Some Southerners had previously indicated willingness to accept a "compromise" under which they would promise not to filibuster against the poll tax and lynching bills if the administration would guarantee not to bring up the fair employment bill.

Wright 'Kitty Hawk' Headed To Smithsonian Institution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(UP)—The Wright brothers' famed "Kitty Hawk" arrives in Bayonne, N.J., Friday on its long-delayed journey to a place of honor in the Smithsonian institute here.

The craft in which Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first powered flight in history on Dec. 17, 1903, is being brought to Bayonne from Halifax, N.S., aboard the Navy carrier Palau. The liner Mauretania diverted by the dock strike from New York, carried it to Halifax from London.

On its motor trip from Bayonne to Washington it will be protected by a military honor guard and sped on its way by a motorcycle escort. The plane is scheduled to arrive here Monday after a weekend stop-over in Philadelphia.

Orville Wright had given the historic craft to the British Museum of Science at Kensington, London, after the Smithsonian contested the claim of him and his brother that they had made history's first powered flight. He had provided, however, that it should be returned to the United Sttaes if he so directed in writing before his death.

Wright died on Jan. 30 of this year. Executors of his estate disclosed that, in going through his files, they had found a letter dated Dec. 8, 1943, stating his intention that the "Kitty Hawk" should be returned to the United States if he so directed in writing of the United States national museum."

Rep. Thomas Secretary Pleads Innocent In 'Kickback' Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas' former secretary pleaded innocent in federal court today to charges of conspiring with him in a congressional payroll-padding fraud.

Miss Helen Campbell a gray-haired, 63-year-old woman who worked in the New Jersey Republican's capitol hill office for 11 years, was arraigned before federal judge Richmond B. Keech.

She entered a plea of "not guilty" in an almost inaudible voice and was ordered to stand trial with her former boss on Jan. 10.

Keech released her in $500 bail pending trial—exactly half the bond he made Thomas post when the congressman entered his own innocent plea Monday.

Miss Campbell was indicted on a single conspiracy charge for allegedly arranging with Thomas to put two "dummy" employes on his office payroll. The government charges that the two "dummies" actually did no work and kicked back their salaries to Thomas.

If convicted, she faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Thomas, who was re-elected on Nov. 2 to his seventh consecutive term in congress, faces much stiffer penalties if convicted. He is charged not only with conspiracy to defraud the government but with three additional counts of filing three false payroll vouchers.

'Pickled' Pigs Don't Make a Sound As Smugglers Run Them Over Border

BONN, Germany, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Customs guards at the Belgian-German border claimed they smashed a pork-smuggling ring today after discovering three "pickled" pigs. It seems, the guards said, that some pigs have been going to market drunk.

In the past, inspectors checked heavily loaded Belgium-bound trucks by poking sharp sticks into them. Answering "oinks" enabled them to uncover contraband pigs. For more than a week, the pork-smuggling front had been quiet and guards became suspicious.

Checking more closely, they found three pigs which didn't even flinch when prodded with a spear. Smugglers confessed that the animals had been lulled into insensibility with brandy.

Freshmen To Go To Polls Today To Name Officers

State Draft Boards Fall Short On 346-Man Conscription Quota

RALEIGH, Nov. 17.—(UP)—North Carolina draft boards today were 50 men short of filling their 346-man quota in the Army's first peacetime induction call.

State Selective Service headquarters said a total of 1,207 youths took pre-induction examinations but only 296 were found qualified physically and mentally. They will report Nov. 30 to induction centers at Anderson, S. C., Charlotte, High Point, Raleigh and Fayetteville.

But headquarters admitted some of them may become ineligible by the end of the month through marriage, injury or illness.

The majority of those rejected had been called up during the draft for World War II, headquarters pointed out, and had been excused from then because of disability or because they were engaged in essential occupations.

Nominations Sliced At Coed Mass Meet

Nominations for the coed positions in campus elections were narrowed to the following nominees in the coed mass meeting held Tuesday night:

For Coed senate the nominees are Charleen Greer, Julia Compton, Eleanor Hope 'Wuff' Newell, Anita Gates, Jody Armstrong, Nell Lee Greening, Marie Nussbaum, Rebekah Huggins, Pat Denning, Patty Ann Frizzell, Muriel Fisher, and Susan Trumbo. There are four positions open for coed senators at large.

For Coed Senate from Smith dormitory there is one vacancy and one nominee, Eleanor de Grange. In Carr dormitory there are two vacancies and two nominees, Bobbie Stockton and Mary Jo Haynes. There are two vacancies in Carr but no nominations were turned in for the positions.

Nina La Marr and Bobbie Stockton are the two independently nominated candidates for the legislature from the woman's dormitory district number 2. Page Dees and Emily Sewell were endorsed by the Student party, Jane Gower and Willie Marjorie Riddick by the University party, and the Campus party endorsed Fuzzy Swain for the legislature.

Three positions are open on the Honor Council and the girls nominated are Ann Chandler, Barbara Lowe, Gene Denbo, Gussie Young, Nancy Norton, Gene Hines, Mac Copenhaver, Helen Eppes and Sara Wakefield.

At the next mass meeting on Tuesday night the candidates will be introduced and each nominee for the Legislature will make a speech with a maximum limit of five minutes. Printed qualification sheets will be distributed at this time.

Lambda Chi Elects Reed Pledge Prexy

Bob Reed of Thomasville was elected president of the pledge class of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity recently, and other officers include Bob Pickard, Erie, Pa., vice president; Gus Muckenfuss, Burlington, secretary; and Frank Moore, Timmonsville, S.C., treasurer.

Science-Fiction Club Will See Hypnotism Show

Tom Shetley, University psycology major, will put on a demonstration of hypnotism for members of the Carolina Science-Fiction club and other interested persons, tonight at 9:30 in Roland Parker lounge 3, Graham Memorial.

Shetley, assisted by Sandy McEachern, will use hypnotism on members of the audience and also on specially conditioned students. He will turn over the preconditioned subjects to other members of the audience to control.

Shetley plans to duplicate some of the tricks performed last year by 'Polgar' the professional hypnotist, who performed to two packed houses at Graham Memorial.

The demonstration is opened to all interested persons and there is no admission.

Methodists Plan Saturday Supper

A Brunswick stew supper will be served to the general public by the members of Wesley foundation in the basement of the Methodist church Saturday night from 7 to 8 o'clock. Its purpose is to raise funds for the student lounge of the Methodist church.

D. W. Thompson, chef of Burlington and owner of "The County Kitchen" will provide the food. He is well known for his stews and barbeques, having prepared a meal for the large Kerr Scott rally held in this section during the recent gubernatorial campaign.

AFL Convention Invites CIO To Merge Again With Union

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 17—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor voted tonight to make a new effort to bring the "prodigal" CIO back into the AFL fold and proposed a permanent political alliance among all labor unions so that "never again" will there be a congress unfriendly to labor.

AFL leaders said the cheering delegates to the 67th AFL convention may have made an historic decision that will influence the nation's political and economic policies for years to come.

The political decision climaxed a day in which the AFL pledged support for American aid for Israel and Marshall plan funds for Germany and other European countries.

Foreign aid administrator Paul G. Hoffman told the 725 delegates that Marshall plan aid for western Europe was being invested so that recovery there will become an accomplished fact by June 30, 1952. He said the progress toward that goal so far was good. He said it had halted the spread of Communism and offered the basis for "our best hope for peace."

The convention unanimously directed the AFL executive council to "pursue with new vigor its efforts to bring about unity between all bonafide labor unions in our nation.

17 Candidates Seek Offices In Election

Members of the freshman class will go to the polls today for their first campus election to elect officers from a group of candidates nominated by the freshman assembly last week. Voting will take place in Gerrard hall from 11:45 this morning until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Bill Prince, Student party candidate will be included in the candidates for president, Al Winn, chairman of the elections board announced last night after a special sesion of the board to hear a protest on Prince's candidacy.

Other candidates running presidency are Bill Bostic, University party candidate, Davis Byrd, Campus party nominee and Dalton Ruffin and Mike Galifianakas, running on independent tickets.

The charges against Prince which were aired and dismissed by the board were brought by an unnamed member of the student legislature because of a mention of Prince's candidacy in the "Odds and Ends" column of the Daily Tar Heel several days ago. It was pointed out in the board meeting that Rita Adams, author of the column was unaware of any law prohibiting the mention of freshman candidates before they were formally nominated by the frosh assembly. She wrote the paragraph, the board learned, without Prince's permission or his knowledge. Winn will appear before the freshman assembly this morning to explain why the charges were dismissed.

Winn pointed out that other oversights in the carrying out of the freshman election bill was due to a delayed deliverance of the bill by the student legislature to student government officials.

Vice-presidential candidates in todays election are: Julian Albergotti, (UP) Larry Botto, (SP), and Claude Burton, (CP)

Candidates for the secretary of the class are Howard Fogleman (UP), Allen Tate (CP), and Bob Brooks (SP).

Nominees for treasurer are Joe Privott (CP), Graham Holloway (SP), and Norman Hardin (UP).

UP candidate Betsy Ross, SP candidate Jo Bissell and Bob Buckmaster, Campus party nominee are running for the position of social chairman.

Game Equipment Donated by YW

The Damascus school for Negro children, five miles east of Chapel Hill, became quite a bit richer in sports equipment today when several dozen tennis and soft balls and a baseball bat were given to the school by the Human Relations committee of the YWCA. The used equipment was donated by the Physical Education department of the university.

The committee has taken work with the Negro students as one of its projects for the year and plans to work with the school instructor in bringing about a better understanding of health, soil conservation, and recreation among the 25 pupils of the seven grade, one-room school.

YM Frosh Group Plans Discussion

The YMCA Freshman council will sponsor a discussion on "Vocations" tonight at 7:30 in the upstairs lobby of the Y building. Dr. W. D. Perry and his associates in the University Testing service will lead the discussions.

Other discussions on specific vocations will be planned later if enough interest is shown in tonight's meeting. Preceding the discussions, there will be a business meeting of the council at 7 o'clock. The discussions are open to all interested students.

Reply to Rameses

On Tuesday the Daily Tar Heel printed as an editorial an open letter to Chancellor R. B. House suggesting that the University would benefit through more flexible curriculum requirements and a higher standard of scholarship. The letter, signed with the name of the school mascot, recommended that a committee be formed to investigate the advisability of altering present requirements. This is Chancellor House's reply:

Dear Rameses:

I have received your letter and am glad you have made it an open letter in the Daily Tar Heel. I had your questions studied at once by a Central Committee of Deans, and the report of this committee is as follows:

"We discussed the open letter to you which will appear in the Daily Tar Heel on next Tuesday morning (Nov. 16). We are in full agreement to the effect that students of this University are not 'utilizing their educational opportunities to the utmost.' We are eager to meet the students halfway in any effort that will improve the situation. The large committee of students and faculty proposed in the letter would be too unwieldy for effective deliberation It would involve between 60 and 75 individuals. We suggest a much smaller exploratory committee. Such a committee might consider our present General College curriculum and make recommendations with respect to the best procedures to follow in collecting information upon which an evaluation of it might be based."

The whole matter of curriculum revision has been under study for years. I should be happy to see faculty and students continuing the study here. I would suggest that this study will take a long time. Therefore, provide for continuity in your committee so that it may keep going for several years.

Cordially yours,

R. B. House
Chancellor

Chancellor House's prompt reply to the Rameses letter and the quick action of Deans Wells, King and Spruill in making their report are a good example of the willingness of administration officials to cooperate fully with students on all matters pertaining to student affairs. The proposal and reply are being given to Jess Dedmond, president of the student body, for action in forming a committee.

Combination Is Good Idea

Amalgamation of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations and the International Relations club was a step which will be beneficial both to the two organizations and to the campus. At present there are on campus upwards of half a hundred student organizations, many of which overlap in their purposes and functions. Since there is no clearing house for organizational projects except the newly established Carolina Forum, which confines itself to the scheduling of speakers, most of the groups are poorly informed as to what others are doing. This leads to much duplication with resulting waste of time, effort and efficiency. Moreover, with so many clubs in existence it is hard for any of them to find a convenient meeting place and time.

It would be well if all organizations now operating here would investigate to see if they have a near counterpart, and if so to consider the idea of combining their efforts. With fewer but stronger organizations much more could be accomplished for the good of the campus with much less trouble.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Pus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Deaning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

ON CAMPUS

ALL SORTS of mail is waiting for Sandy Harris in the office of Graham Memorial. For all we know, the Young Democrats Club might have a promise of a seat in the Senate.

ROCKS IN OUR HEAD. It's at times like this—after great big Washington weekends—that we long for somebody like Vail Hope. Not only does she know how to make scrumptous fudge, but she also knows exactly when to mail it.

COME TO THINK OF IT, we don't think anybody has told you who this year's new Order of the Sheiks' officers are. They're Jim Tanner, SAE, president; Paul Mengel, DKE, vice president; Bill McGuire, Phi Delt, treasurer; and Buz Bush, Beta, secretary.

KICK, GIRLS. Familiar faces seen around the Gayety bur-le-que thittir in Washington last week-end. The Saturday midnight show was just like always (which ain't particularly good). It's lucky the cops around the door didn't know how old Marsden de-Rossett and John Huske were.

MIGHTY FINE PEOPLE. Say, how 'bout the members down at the Wesley Foundation, Methodist Church—they're going to give any and everybody brunswick stew after the Duke game—between 6 and 8 o'clock.

ROCKSWASHINGTON APPLE CANDYBURMA SHAVE SIGNSYou know what, we think we best turn the rest over to dear ol' Don, bless his heart.

Well, thanks Rita, this Podunk-pencil-pusher will do his best.

Here's a gripe from our department: Will the person who stole our O.G.B. (Order of the Golden Bear) notebook puh-lease bring it back. . .or else . . .speak of strange bed-fellows. . .here's the story of a third floor Alderman spinster who has a pet salamander that will eat only flyzzz. . .so-she goes to Jeff's every day, three times a day and catches the winged animals for her pet. Ordinary flies are not good enough, eh? Have you tried dried teardrops from the eyes of pore, jilted man-childs who have been stood up by Alderman heart-breakers. . .that didn't make sense. . .Dook weekend is sure to go over with a bang if those humorists don't stop shooting off their firecrackers behind Everett.

Odds. . .

Did you hear the boy who stood up in the Carolina last week when Les Brown and his Dukesters were featured in the musical short? All this radical murmured was, "Sit up and look at some men, you mice. . ." now is that nice. . . we've got a comeback for that one. . .Mr. D. of the Rathskellar told us of the theft of his Carolina pennant that hangs over the fireplace down in that sacred place. . .he's got another one hanging in its place, but the bitter pill is that the original pennant was taken by a crowd of DUKE nurses. . .if we're mice, then they must be. . .uh, uh, we're not allowed to call people rats in this column. . .

And Ends. . .

That was quite a party thrown in McIver that Carolina Bruner was late for Saturday afternoon. . .she was the hostesse. . .from where we sit of an evening and read the dailies it looks like although the capitol city of D. C. was taken over by the Democrats, they had nothing to say about Rameses shoving their mule out of the spotlight over the "Drink Weekend. . ."Norm Sper wants to apologize about the motorcade that didn't come off Saturday. . .it wasn't his fault, when he mentioned the number of Tar Heels expected to participate, scared Republicans shook their heads, "NO!". . .

The Dixie Quartet

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Lines on Literature

Last, But Far From Best

Roy C. Moose

W. Somerset Maugham is quitting the writing profession —again. Several times in the past decade Maugham has threatened to end his half-century of story telling but each time there emerged "one more book." Now, however, he seems serious. Said Maugham: "At 75 I'm putting up the shutters, shutting up the shop."

The venerable old dean of the story tellers couldn't have picked a more awkard time to retire, though; for his latest opus entitled "Catalina, A Romance" is strictly sub-par Maugham. Succumbing to the fashion of the day, Maugham has come forth with a historical novel; and moreover, it is as fantastic as a Hedda Hopper hat.

It is easy to believe in Bernadette and Joan of Arc, but if Maugham thinks the public is going to swallow his Catalina he must have a distorted conception of the gullibility of the home sapience. In brief, Catalina is a cripple fictitious naturally) who is cured by a miracle against the background of the Spanish Inquisition. The second half of the title furnishes the happy ending.

But about all that the book proves is that there was a Spain before France. The only difference, though, between the then and now is the names of the people in power.

The major fault with the novel — other than the unbelievable plot—is described on the jacket of the book. Maugham, it seems, has combined "saintlines with cynicism." As long as he stays in the realm of cynicism, Maugham is unbeatable; but in "Catalina, A Romance" he doesn't stay there. Missing are those ingredients that made "Theatre" and "Cakes and Ale" so enjoyable. No longer is there the sly smile evident in "Then and Now" nor the mocking of the world found in "The Moon and Sixpence."

Rather—and let's face it—Maugham has turned "saintly!"

He's been saintly in the past, but always his saints ended up sinners in such a manner that it appeared Maugham was laughing at the one-sided Simon pure creature as shown in "Rain." He has fallen for his Catalina, though, and taken her seriously, being unique in that he is probably the only one who has. Perhaps it's the ineluctable modality of senility.

Maybe Maugham will become aware of this thing he has wrought upon the reading public and will give us "one more novel." At any rate, there is a good chance that the taste of this one will be washed away by another book he finished before retiring. It is not a novel, though. Maugham describes it as "It's—well, when I was 18 I began keeping a notebook. I've kept one, on and off, for over fifty years. Just a writer's notebook. I made a selection, and added a preface and postscript."

The last time Maugham did anything like that he produced "The Summing Up"—autobiographical—which in many ways has been his most successful endeavor. If this last book is another "Summing Up" then we can forgive Maugham for that swan-song novel—"Catalina, A Romance."

Passing Sentence

Football Is Out Of Hand

By Jonathan Marshall

Just two more victories and Carolina will be ready to accept the Sugar Bowl bid.

It's always nice to accomplish something after trying all year, but regardless of how the last two games go the whole team deserves the student body's thanks for a good season.

It's going to be a relief, however, to get "back to normalcy" again. Three weekends in a row of partyin' should be enough for everyone.

Unfortunately, football is beginning to play a disproportionately large part in the life of the campus. It is now a big business, a business that is far more important to the average student than is his education. At least I think that the State legislature and the United States congress, who provide most of the money for our educations, contribute money so that we can absorb some book larnin'.

The importance of football not only causes much class cutting, but it has also made for bad sportsmanship at UNC and a false sense of values.

Several professors can relate instances when pressure has been put on them to pass football players who would normally flunk. Students walk out of class after the roll has been called in order to leave Friday for the next day's game.

I heartily agree with the recent article by Wink Locklair in which he said, "the sport is ruined." Yes, it is too professionalized. Most of the players are swell guys, and it's not their fault that the sport has become big business. By the way, what happens to the ten per cent rule on out-of-state students when it comes to football?

While other big teams go in for big league sports it will be impossible for Carolina to de-emphasize; although there are a few schools like Carnegie Tech who have done it. Those who want to play for the fun of it, but who can't compete under the existing system, might have some fun.

One last point on the pigskin spirit. Let's at least give the other team credit for something from now on. After almost every game both the DTH and the students have talked about how dirty the opponent played or how poorly their stars looked. I for one thought Jack Cloud of W & M looked terrific despite the hard hitting Carolina line, and many other opponents have looked good.

Even if there were no classes and only football practice twenty-four hours a day we probably couldn't have eleven All-Americans or the nation's top team every year.

Write Away

Freistadt Again

Editor

In his recent column Jonathan Marshall also implied that I was opposed to political freedom. The contrary is true; I fully support the democracy we have in this country, pointing out, however, its incompleteness. I consider democracy imperfect as long as some lack security, as long as some accumulate riches they have not earned while others lack the necessities of life, as long as some are discriminated against because of race, religion or nationality.

Thinking, reading, discussion and study have led me to the conclusion, which Mr. Marshall apparently shares, that these limitations are inherent in the economic structure of our society and can be alleviated completely only under Socialism; I am as confident as he that through education and correct political action the majority of the American people can be convinced that under socialism alone can a steadily increasing standard of living without crises be assured, as well as a more complete democracy.

What Mr. Marshall fails to see, however, is that in countries which have been subjected to fascist occupation, or do not have our 150 year-old parliamentary tradition, democracy cannot be measured only in terms of the existence of opposition parties. When the peaceful channels for progress, that are still available to us in this country, are lacking, or a serious threat to them exists, the people have a revolutionary right (read Lincoln in this connection) to use extra legal methods to assert their will; on such occasions, regrettable as it is, opponents are not always treated gently. In times of turmoil (such as I hope will be spared to our country), to decide whether a regime is democratic or not one must inquire whether, it bases itself on the little man, the worker, the peasant, as the governments of Eastern Europe, or on the profiteer, as the governments of Greece, Spain, and China, and the late governments of Germany and Italy.

Hans Freistadt

(Mr. Freidstadt was correct yesterday when he said the column "attacking" him was unsigned. However, this was due to an error in composition of the paper and not to the intention of the columnist, Jonathan Marshall.)

We're in Business

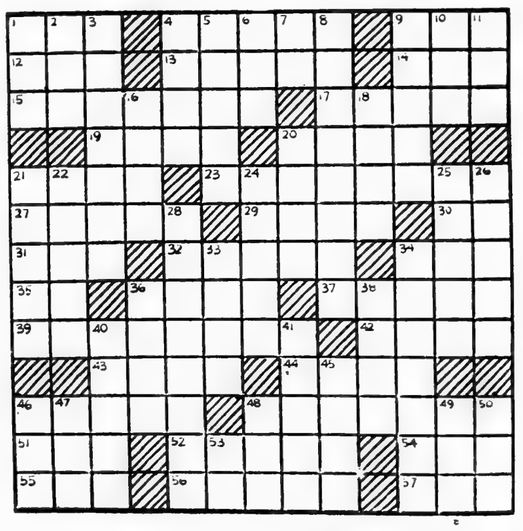
Editor:

Sometime ago the Daily Tar Heel had a right sensational news feature concerning the merchandising of football game tickets along the Franklin thoroughfare, with particular emphasis on the "scalping" margin in the sales price. The implication in the news article, and the unequivocal statement on the editorial page was that such activity on the part of students of the University should not be condoned.

Since that time, there have been frequent notices in the classified want ad section of the Daily Tar Heel, offering a "premium" or "willing to dicker" for hard-to-get game tickets. Is there any essential difference between promoting scalping along Franklin Street and promoting it through the want ad columns of the Daily Tar Heel.

From all outward appearances The Daily Tar Heel would seem to be a partner in the "scalping" business.

R. B. Giles

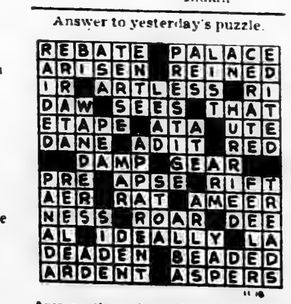


(You are correct, Mr. Giles. Thanks for calling our attention to the inconsistency of the want ads.)

Calling Attention

Editor:

I believe the manner of selecting nominees for freshman class officers by the three parties should be brought to the attention of the freshman class. Freshman candidates of the University party has to be confirmed by the executive committee. The Campus party allowed non-freshman members and freshmen to vote. Only the Student party permitted the freshmen to select their own class candidates.



Name Withheld

HORIZONTAL
1. topaz hummingbird
4. slanting
9. small drinking vessel
12. steal
13. general purport
14. goddess of malicious mischief
15. rouses
17. superior
19. decimal units
20. Russian ruler
21. god of war
23. giving forth
27. gasps
29. cuckoos
30. diminutive for Alfred
31. unit of work
32. foreign
34. town in Belgium
35. note in scale
36. shortly
37. movable barriers
39. attributes
42. diminutive for Elizabeth
43. river-islands
44. story
46. Himalayan animal
48. worships
51. single unit
52. river in Germany
54. Hebrew high priest
55. dance step
56. Irish poet
57. patriotic society (abbr.)

VERTICAL
1. macaw
2. solemn promise
3. decreasing
4. solar disk
5. taut
6. those in office
7. behold!
8. confiding
9. Mediterranean island
10. Shoshonean Indian
11. by
16. county in England
18. caressive touches
20. prong
21. musical drama
22. ventures
24. New England state
25. backs of necks
26. hard amorphous brittle substance
28. cleanly
33. tennis strokes
34. guided
36. dry
38. competent
40. walking sticks
41. stretch (Scot.)
45. the birds
46. small report
47. anecdotes
48. narrow inlet
49. note in Guido's scale
50. title of address
53. personal pronoun

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 23 minutes. Dist by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tar Heels Scrimmage; Blocking Stressed

MONOGRAM MUSINGS

By Bill Pritchard

In reply to over 1500 printed invitations sent out by the Monogram club to all known living monogram alumni of the University, over 500 cards have been received in answer. Of these, about 50 per cent have been affirmative answers to the invitation, and the club is expecting approximately 500 guests for the affair, including wives and dates. The executive committee was pleased to announce that this number almost doubles that estimated before receipt of the responses, and it is hoped that when the figures on the registration books are checked after the luncheon, they will total at least 500.

In case you haven't heard, the details of this affair are forthcoming. Seems the club thought it might be a fine idea to hold a little get-together of all monogram winners in UNC history who are still living. And what better weekend could be selected than the BIG one? So, a list of said members was obtained with the help of the Alumni office and invitations were printed and sent out. Immediately, replies began flowing in, many with side comments expressing regrets, but commending the club for the idea.

As to the buffet itself, it will begin between 11:30 and 12:00 on Saturday morning and will continue until shortly before game time or until everyone's appetite is pacified. The menu will be a good one but not elaborate. There will be two meats, two vegetables, rolls, beverages and dessert. The meal, of course, will be served buffet-style. A reception committee of monogram members will be present to act as hosts to the returning alumni. President Gus Johnston will also, be present to act as overseer and chief chef.

Board of Governors

Chancellor House, following a recommendation by the Monogram club, has established a Board of Governors which will set all policies pertaining to the entire Monogram clubhouse. The Board is charged with the responsibility of maintaining a program that will serve all students. Its representative membership consists of the following: Dean of Students, Dean Weaver; Business Manager of the University, Mr. Claude Teague; Faculty Representative, Dr. J. P. Harlan; Assistant Director of Athletics, Mr. Erickson; Alumni Representative, Bill Shuford; President of the Carolina Athletic association, Len Szafaryn; President of the student body, Jess Dedmond; President of the Monogram club, Gus Johnston; M. C. Representative to Athletic council, Bill Pritchard.

Following the policy set last Tuesday night, the attendance committee of the club presented as guest speaker for last Tuesday's meeting, Mr. Norman Cordon, a "vaudeville singer," by confession of profession. Mr. Cordon presented a very informal and amusing talk, during which he gave out with a few of his own personal anecdotes.

Chairman Sherman Nearman, of the attendance committee requests a large turnout at the next meeting to welcome Coach Chuck Quinlan, as the third guest speaker of the club.

To the PiKAs—An Apology

Seems, as always, newspaper columns are coming out with stuff before they are completely straight on it and this one is no exception. It turns out that when the facts are known, the PiKA's were the ancient originators of the idea which has led to the current float parade prior to the Dook Game, and not the University Club, as this column erroneously stated in last Thursday's edition of the DTH. However, the U.C. was instrumental in helping and encouraging this project this year and should receive due credit in the affair also. It all started out some fifteen years ago when the PiKA's initiated the idea of awarding a cup for the best float or banner displayed by a student organization the weekend of the Carolina-Dook game. This year, they are awarding not one, but four cups—one to the best sorority float, another to the best fraternity, the best girl's dorm and the best boy's dorm.

Again, apologies to both organizations, and congratulations for the work you are doing on and for the campus.

The Maryland football movies, a sequel to the "Lost Weekend," will be shown in Memorial Hall at 7:15 tonight along with technicolor movies of the year's card stunts. A $.25 admission charge will be levied with proceeds going to the polio fund. Art Weiner will act as M. C. again.

Injured Wardle Scheduled To Play Against Dukesters

Carolina's gridders yesterday put in a long and hard scrimmage session on the rain-soaked turf of Navy field as they rounded out their third day of preparation for the big Duke game here Saturday.

Coach Carl Snavely's voice resounded through the pines surrounding the field as he pointed out the flaws in the Carolina offense. The offensive team, using various backfield combinations, was pitted against the freshman team, which must face the Duke frosh in Durham tomorrow afternoon.

Shortly before the scrimmage began, Snavely sent his charges to work on the blocking dummies. Snavely had previously criticized the Tar Heels very vigorously for their mistakes in the Maryland game.

Rubish Regains Form

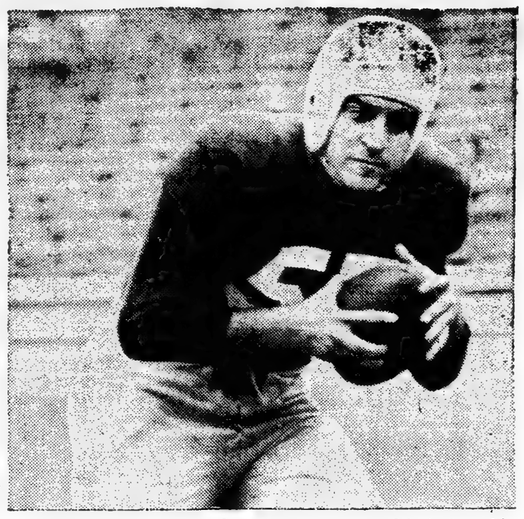
Other departments which came in for a share of the brushing up were the kick-offs and punting. Mike Rubish seemed to be regaining the form which he showed in early season games with his barefoot kicking. Despite the wet ball, Rubish sent several kicks well over 50 yards downfield.

After night spread its coat of black over the field, the lights were turned on and work went on as usual. Shortly after six o'clock the coaches called it a day and the team trudged wearily back to the Kenan field house.

The only injury of serious consequence to report was Bill Wardle. Wardle, who has been a stalwart defensive guard, received a badly bruised ankle at Washington last Saturday and has been forced to stay in light equipment all week. Trainers think he will be able to perform Saturday, however.

Squad In Shape

Blocking back Bobby Weant and tackle Haywood Fowle were also in light equipment, but they were reportedly to play in Saturday's game. Other than those three, the Tar Heel squad was in pretty good shape.



The final heavy work is scheduled for today. The Carolina gridders will probably go through another scrimmage and will spend a good deal of time working on defensive alignments for the Dukesters.

Duke yesterday participated in a strenuous workout after taking it easy on Monday and Tuesday. Wingback Tommy Hughes was the only Blue Devil who did not participate in the heavy work, but he was expected to be able to take the field for the Saturday game in Chapel Hill.

COED VOLLEYBALL

The Pi Phi's will meet the Chi O's at 7:30 tonight in Woollen gym for the volleyball championship of the sorority division.

The Joltin' Joe of College Football

JOE ROMANO, shown above, was instrumental in last week's 49-20 rout of Maryland. Jolting Joe, as he may well be called, was a standout on defense all afternoon and more than a few Terp ball-carriers felt his smashing tackles. In addition to his fine all-around play, Big Joe flopped on two stray Maryland fumbles to set up a pair of Tar Heel touchdowns.

Grads, Zetas Win Loop Titles; Play Monday for Championship

The weeks of hotly contested competition in the campus Tag football leagues came to a climatic close yesterday when the final divisional playoffs were held and the final outcome resulted in the elevation of two teams to reign supreme.

In the only two contests slated, the powerful Grads overcame a deficit to nip Oakwood Drive, 26-22, for the Dormitory league championship while the Zeta 2 crew rolled to a decisive win over Phi Delt 1, 20-0 and annex the honors in the Fraternity division.

A respectable crowd of several hundred people turned out to view the proceedings and they were treated to a fine brand of tag football that befitted the league champs. Although a torrential morning downpour had converted the gridirons into a quagmire that made footing uncertain, the scoring wasn't hampered a bit.

In what proved to be the feature game because of its keen excitement, the Grads notched their second consecutive championship of the Dormitory teams. But this was not achieved without a hard battle put up by Oakwood Drive that had the issue in doubt until the final gun.

The Frat tussle was the same story as it is with all the Zeta 2 foes. The Zets outclassed the fighting Phi Delts, although the count was held down considerably. Heath Alexander again paced the Zets with his deadly passing, even with a soggy ball. Bud Ruffin scored twice for the potent Zets, one of which was on a long intercepted pass return. Victors in Frat loop 1, Zeta 2 replaces Chi Psi as campus Fraternity champs.

The two victors will meet in an all important playoff to be held Monday to determine the campus champion.

Mural Results

VOLLEYBALL

2	Phi Gam 2	Chi Psi 1	1
2	Kap Sig 2	Pi Kap Phi	1
2	Sig Chi 1	Phi Kap Sig 3	0
2	KA 2	DKE 2	1
2	Zeta 2	Phi Delt 1	1
2	Phi Gam 1	Chi Psi 2	0
2	Zeta 1	Phi Delt 2	1

TAG FOOTBALL

20 Zeta Psi 2 Phi Delt 1 0
(Fraternity championship game)
26 Grads Oakwood Dr. 22
(Dormitory championship game)

Justice Is High Among Kickers; 44 Yard Average

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Latest statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau show that Bill Boston of Montana State is pacing the nation's toe experts with Hall Haynes of Santa Clara and Charlie JJustice of North Carolina pushing him for honors in the kicking department.

Through seven games Boston has punted 29 times for an average of 44.4 yards per try. Haynes is a close second with 44.1 average, and Justice is third with an even 44 yard average after 49 boots in eight games. Doak Walker, the Southern Methodist triple-threat is fourth with a 43.5 average in 23 kicks.

Stan Heath, the Nevada passing wizard continued to pace the nation's backs again in total offense again this week with an overall total of 1846 yards rushing and passing. Most of his yardage has been rolled up by consisitent gains through the air.

Neil Berry of Texas Christian is second in the total offense department with 280 yards to his credit. Berry passed Carolina's Charlie Justice last week when the Carolina Choo Choo was bottled up on the ground by a concentrated Maryland defense. Justice gained enough through the air, however, to keep him within close striking distance of the runner-up. The Tar Heel strong man rolled up 207 yards in eight games this year.

-Mural Schedule-

VOLLEYBALL

4:00—Court 1, Phi Gam 1 vs Sig Nu 1; 2, Phi Gam 2 vs Sig Chi 1; 3, Emerson 1 vs O.D.; 4, Nash vs Bombers.

5:00—Court 1, Town 1 vs Steele; 2, Town 2 vs Grads; 3, KA 2 vs Zeta 2; 4, Kap Sig 2 vs Zeta 1.

UP Says It's Carolina-Tulane In Sugar Bowl New Year's Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(UP)—From Evansville, Ind., to El Paso, Tex., and back by way of Honolulu, bowl fever hit the United States and its territories today.

A United Press survey showed that there will be 32 of these bowl games, stringing out from Thanksgiving day to New Year's day, and that some 800,000 persons will see them.

In the Rose Bowl, it's a closed shop between representatives of the Pacific conference and the Big Nine conference. California and Oregon are the Coast possibilities, with California holding the inside track. Michigan, the Big Nine champ, can't make the date because of a no-repeater rule. So it's Northwestern, Minnesota, or Ohio State—almost surely Northwestern—as the eastern representative. Some 90,000 will see the game at Pasadena, Cal.

The Sugar Bowl is casting anxious eyes all around the nation—to the Midwest for Michigan State, to the South for North Carolina or Georgia, to the Southwest for Oklahoma and even at home for Tulane It's likely now that Tulane will wind up playing Carolina before 83,000 at New Orleans on Jan. 1.

The Orange Bowl also is taking anxious looks at Michigan State and Oklahoma among others, but those two are the likely choices for Miami's 61,000. Only a controversy over a Negro player can keep Michigan State out of either the Sugar or Orange Bowls, according to the present outlook.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex., automatically gets the Southwest conference champion, probably Southern Methodist, with Clemson, the Southern conference undefeated and untied power, the most likely opponent.

The Bowl Picture

Bowl	Probable Opponents	Att.
Rose	California-Northwestern	90,000
Sugar	Tulane-North Carolina	83,000
Orange	Michigan State-Okla	61,332
Cotton	Clemson-SMU	67,245
Shrine	East-West All Stars	60,000
Gator	Georgia-Kansas	35,000
Dixie	X-W F-Texas Tech	45,000
Sun	Texas Mines-Dayton	18,000
Harbor	Nevada-Okla A&M	10,000
Raisin	Fresno State-Colo. A&M	15,000
Delta	Wm & Mary-Utah	28,000
Glass	X-Toledo-Wash. (Mo.)	15,000
Great Lakes	X-J. Carr-X-Cans	12,000
Pineapple	X-Ore St-X-Haw'i	28,000
Freedom	Berg'. N.J.-Wilforce	20,000
Cigar	Missouri Val.-Heidel'bg	10,000
Fruit	X-So. of La-X-S F St.	15,000
Pear	X-Col. of Idaho-X-So Ore	5,000
Salad	X-Drake-Arizona	18,000
Blue-Gray	No.-So. All Stars	22,000
Vulcan	None mentioned	10,000
Tangerine	None mentioned	12,000
Pot	Nevada-Santa Clara	25,000

X--team already selected

WAA MEETING

Women's Athletic association council will hold a short but important meeting tonight at 6:45 in Women's gym, Randy Hudson, president, announced yesterday.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

DOLLS ★ DOLLS ★ DOLLS
• Magic Skin • Betsy Wetsy
• Sparkle Plenty • Character
The BABY SHOP

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

Tar Babies Drill For Friday Battle With Duke Frosh

Coach Crowell Little sent his undefeated Carolina freshman eleven through lengthy drills yesterday afternoon in preparation for Friday's tilt with Duke University's Baby Blue Devils in Durham.

The Tar Babies have rolled over four strong opponents, including Wake Forest's highly rated frosh, and a victory over Duke will clinch the Big Four freshman title for the locals.

Carolina has a well-rounded single wing attack, with no one phase of their offense overshadowing the other forms of attack. Coach Little has a trio of capable flankers in Joe McIntyre, Glen Nickerson, and Bill O'Brien, and at tackle Bill Kuhn, Egbert Williams, Buford Lewis, and Julian King, all 200 pounders, will see plenty of action.

Holding down the guard slots will be Dick Bestwick and Joe Dudeck, with Bob Venters slated to do his share of playing. Shveda and Miketa will team up at center.

Booters Scrimmage For Season Finale

With the varsity scrimmaging against the freshman outfit, Carolina's booters prepped for Friday's encounter with Washington and Lee; the Tar Heels' final game of the season.

The locals came out of Tuesday's scrap with Duke with little more than superficial bruises in addition to the 2-1 victory.

Pete Hexner and Mac Hagaman are the only Tar Heels on the seriously injured list and both will probably miss the contest with the Generals.

HANDBALL RESERVATIONS

Students wishing to use the handball courts at the gym between 4 and 6 in the afternoon must either call 9426 or go to the basket room to make reservations beginning next Monday.

WINCHELL says: "ORCHID PETALS."
BILLY ROSE says: "CARMEN is excellent."
Bosley Crowther says: "A florid, emotional and quaintly sex-conscious exercise . . . a bewitching actress, Viviane Romance, gives you as lusty a picture as you could wish . . . she is flashily voluptuous." —N. Y. TIMES
"Its violence and ribald dialogue achieve a shocking realism and emotional impact that lingers. • • • ½ •" —DAILY NEWS
"Miss Romance embodies passion." —N. Y. POST
"Fiery down-to-earth Film which the censors seem to have left alone." —N. Y. SUN
"Ranks with the finest of post-war European pictures . . . a gigantic production." —CUE
Sultry VIVIANE ROMANCE in
CARMEN
Released by Superfilm Dist. Corp.
VILLAGE THEATRE THURSDAY

There's Nothing Like a Woman...
TO COME BETWEEN MEN!
IDA LUPINO • CORNEL WILDE
CELESTE HOLM • RICHARD WIDMARK in ROAD HOUSE
with
O. Z. Whitehead • Robert Karnes • George Beranger • Ian MacDonald • Grandon Rhod.
Directed by JEAN NEGULESCO • Produced by EDWARD CHODOROV Screen Play by Edward Chodorov • Story by Margaret Gruen and Oscar Saul
20th Century-Fox
—Also—
Sportlight — News
TODAY
CAROLINA

Introducing—
50c
CHUG-ALONG FOOD VALUES
Served from 5-8:30 P.M.
1.
½lb. Brunswick Stew
Made of Chicken, Veal, Pork served w. Bread & Butter, Potato Chips, Pickles 2.
Pitcooked Barbecue
"the best that's made"
3.
Broiled Ham Steak
on Pumpernickel
•
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

MAKE THIS CHRISTMAS YOUR FINEST...
Choose Parker "51"
...world's most wanted gift pen

"51" writes dry with wet ink!

Parker "51" Pen and Pencil Set. Gold-filled cap. $23.75.
● It's an exciting gift . . . whether you give it or get it! So choose your "51" now.
Here is the world's most wanted and most beautiful writing instrument. Precision-made in every detail. The "51" starts the instant it touches paper—glides without effort. Your hand rests as you write.
What's more, you never need a blotter. For this is the pen that writes dry with Superchrome, the ink created for the "51" alone.
If you wait, you may miss out. So do your Christmas planning—or hinting—early. See your Parker dealer now while a full selection of styles and colors is available. Pens, including new demi-size, $12.50 and up. Pencils, $6.25 and up. Sets, $18.75 to $80.00. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U. S. A.; Toronto, Canada.
Copr. 1948 by The Parker Pen Company

Procter & Gamble To Send Delegate To Discuss Jobs

A Procter and Gamble representative will discuss opportunities for employment at a group meeting on Nov. 22, J. M. Galloway, director of placement service, said yesterday. The discussion will be limited to opportunities for employment of men graduating on or before June, 1950.

Students interested in fields of sales, advertising, and office management are asked to contact the Placement office, 209 South building.

During the regular school year and the summer sessions the Placement office brings representatives from various industries and organizations throughout the state and country to speak to groups on campus. Persons interested in hearing these lectures are to register with the placement service. The service acts as a "clearing house" in arranging interviews between students and company representatives.

The time and place for the meeting with the Procter and Gamble representative will be determined by the number of students interested.

Debating Tryouts Tonight in GM

The Debate council will hold tryouts in oratory, dramatic and poetry reading at 7:30 tonight in the Grail room of Graham Memorial.

ON HIS ARRIVAL in New York, the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, dean of England's Canterbury Cathedral, asked for peace and understanding with the Russians. The first application by the so-called "Red Dean" for a visa this year was turned down because his visit was sponsored by the National Council of Soviet-American Friendship. Later, 128 American clergymen and educators formed a committee to issue a new invitation and the visa was granted to him.

Orchestra Concert Set for Tuesday

The University symphony orchestra, under the direction of Earl Slocum, will present a concert at 8:30 Tuesday evening in Hill hall.

CP Slates Meet To Finish List Of Nominations

Chairman Jack Worsham announced yesterday that a meeting of the Campus party will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock in 103 Bingham to complete the party slate of nominations for the forthcoming campus elections. Tomorrow is the deadline for the submission of the names of all nominees to the chairman of the Board of Elections.

"This is the most important meeting of the Campus party this year. We must complete our slate at this meeting in order to meet the deadline for nominations. Any qualified student interested in an office or who has a good candidate in mind is invited to attend this meeting and voice his opinion for a better student government."

Campus party nominations will be made this afternoon for junior class officer and student legislators from men's dormitory districts 3 and 4, and men's town districts 1, 3, and 4.

TMA Will Meet This Afternoon

The Town Men's association will meet this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial. A discussion of changes in the proposed constitutional referendum to allow the town men and women representation on the Dance committee will feature the business.

A report on plans for a picnic the first week in December will also be made by social chairman Bob Padrick. All TMA members and any new students interested in joining the organization are invited to be present.

Planning Department Will Hear Lecture

The Department of City and Regional Planning will present a lecture by Charles F Palmer, Atlanta housing authority, this afternoon at 3:30 in room 403, Alumni building.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

11:00—FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY. Candidates for freshman class offices will speak. Memorial hall.
11:45—POLLS OPEN for Freshman elections. Gerrard hall.
3:30—CHARLES F. PALMER. Atlanta, Ga., illustrated lecture on "Planning in Britain and What It Means to America," Alumni 403.
4:00—DANCE CLUB. Roland Parker 1, GM.
4:00—STUDENT PARTY MEETING to consider platform. The S-P Caucus will follow at 5:00. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
4:30—TOWN MEN'S ASSOCIATION. Discussion of legislature bills, plans for social in December. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
5:00—CAMPUS PARTY meeting. Completion of nominations for December elections. Bingham 103.
5:00—POLLS CLOSE for Freshman elections. Gerrard hall.
5:00—WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB. Hill hall.
6:45—WAA COUNCIL. Women's gym.
7:00—WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CLUB. Yack Photos, GM.
7:00—RULES COMMITTEE of Student legislature. Consideration of absences from last week. Di hall.
7:30—STUDENT LEGISLATURE. Di hall, New West.
7:30—ALPHA PHI OMEGA, national service fraternity. Any student who has ever been a Boy Scout and is interested in aiding the university and community is invited. Roland Parker 2, GM.
7:30—DEBATE COUNCIL tryouts. Grail room, GM.
7:30—YMCA FRESHMEN COUNCIL. Discussion on vocations. Upstairs lobby of Y building.
8:00—WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CLUB MEETING. Bingham hall.
8:00—REIDSVILLE-CAROLINA club. Roland Parker 2, GM.
8:00—AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS. Report from committee on University admissions. Gerrard hall.
8:00—LAW WIVES CLUB. Plans for Christmas party, bridge. Horace Williams lounge.
8:00—ALPHA PSI DELTA. Dr. A. T. Miller Jr., Medical school, speaker. New West.
9:30—CAROLINA SCIENCE-FICTION CLUB. Roland Parker 3, GM.

Legion to Hold Square Dance

Regular square dances sponsored by the American legion will start Saturday at the American legion hut on East Rosemary street. Each Saturday night from 8 to 12 o'clock students and townspeople are invited to attend the square dances in the hut.

CALL US FOR—
- General Sheet Metal Work
- Gutters
- Roof Repairing

Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO — PHONE 9056

BRING YOUR HEAD TO OUR BUSINESS
Tar Heel Barber Shop

Graham Attends Foundation Meet

Dr. Frank P. Graham is in New York where he is attending a meeting of the board of directors of the Carnegie foundation.

Brazen Pillars
MEETING
THURSDAY NIGHT
7:30 P.M.
Masonic Temple
All Master Masons Cordially Invited

DRUGS FOR FALL ILLS
EUBANKS
DRUG STORE
DEPENDABLE DRUGGISTS SINCE 1892
Free Delivery Service

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT 6A

ONE ROOM FURNISHED CALL 5287 207 W. Rosemary St. (1-8079-1)

SINGLE CORNER ROOM—MALE OCcupant preferable-quiet and close in Call 4491 after 5 P.M. or call in person 218 1/2 Vance St. (2-8078-1)

ONE MAN TO SHARE DOUBLE room ten minutes walk from campus. Roommate has car. Call Frank McHahon 311 Manley Dorm (1-8080-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1942 OLDSMOBILE SEDAN. RADIO, heater—in excellent condition. Passed inspection—just repaired. See me at Durham's Watch and Jewelry Repair Service in Village Theater Bldg (2-c8053-1)

1935 DODGE HAS PASSED INSPECtion see Templeton 188 Daniels Rd. V. V. (3-8076-1)

1938 PLYMOUTH COUPE WITH RUMble seat. Reconditioned engine, new parts. A bargain at $350. See Sam Langell at 212 Lewis. (4-8026-1)

FOR SALE 6B

BUICK 1941 SPECIAL FOURDOR sedan newly painted. New plastic seat covers. Good tires, exceptionally clean. Excellent mechanically, can be seen at 604 Cameron Av. anytime (1-c8082-1)

1 MALE, 2 FEMALES, LIVER WHITE pointers 10 weeks old. From excellent stock. Male $25. Female $15. J. P. Jones, Barclay Rd Airport Development. (2-8072-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court (6-8073-1)

ARGOFLEX MODEL E REFLEX camera, f4.5 1-200. Case. Good condition. $40. Bill Stewart, 216 Avcock (1-8075-1)

GAS SERVEL REFRIGERATOR $75 Gas Range $60. Gas Hot water heater—$30. Philco Portable radio—Phonograph—$50. All articles in good working order. Priced for quick sale. A. C. Shearer, 8 Westwood Drive.(3-c8068-1)

1946 FORD TUDOR SEDAN, MOTOR just reconditioned completely. Clean, good looking. A real buy. You'll save $200 to buy from me. See Jim Spence, 105 Grimes. (2-8069-1)

21 FOOT HOUSE TRAILER, FULLY equipped. Ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. Occupancy Dec. 18. See it before you buy. 86 Trailer Court (2-8064-1)

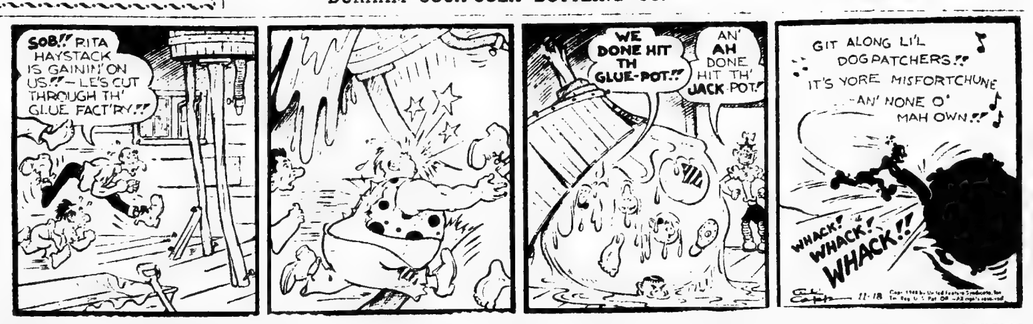
LOST 12

LAST WEEK, BLUE NOTEBOOK, biology book and instruments. Please leave at Graham Memorial Office or call Charlie Odell at 9881(GM) (1-8081-1)

TWO BROWN OVERCOATS IN GRIFfith Stadium during Maryland game. If anyone has them or knows anything about them, please call Bill Nobles, 318 "A" Dorm. (1-8077-1)

RIDES WANTED 18

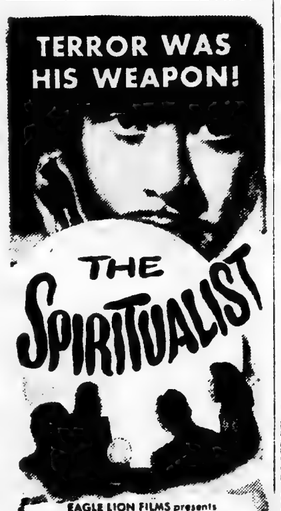
SOMEONE TO SWAP RIDES TO Duke. Must be there from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily, 9:00 to 12:00 Saturday. Contact R Ribner, 182 Daniels Rd. (2-8071-1)

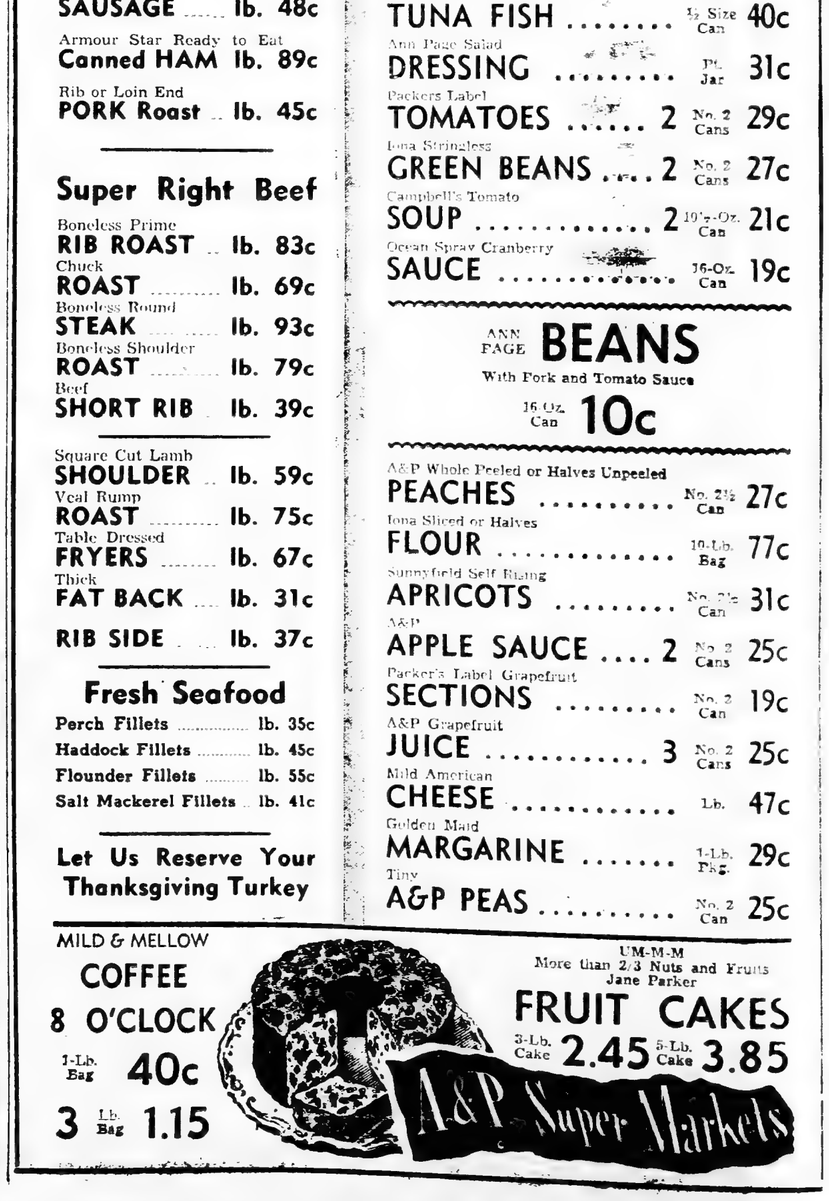


WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND A GOOD PLACE TO EAT - Wind Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. 'til 2 a.m. (6-8043-1)

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301





Each time you taste ice-cold Coca-Cola, you are reminded that here is the quality of genuine goodness. Experience... many a refreshing experience... has taught people everywhere to trust the quality of Coca-Cola.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY DURHAM COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

Good food—good beer—good fellowship—at HARRY'S

TERROR WAS HIS WEAPON!

THE SPIRITUALIST
EAGLE LION FILMS presents
Turhan Lynn Cathy
BEY · BARI · O'DONNELL
in
"THE SPIRITUALIST"
with Richard CARLSON • Donald CURTIS
Virginia GREGG
Produced by BEN STOLOFF
Directed by BERNARD VORHAUS LATE SHOW FRIDAY NIGHT
CAROLINA

Green Top CARROTS ..... 2 bunches 17c
Florida ORANGES ..... 2 doz. 35c
Idaho Russet POTATOES ..... 10 lbs. 57c
Extra Large GRAPEFRUIT ..... 5 for 29c
Red Emperor GRAPES ..... 2 lbs. 23c
New Crop CHESTNUTS ..... lb. 25c
Eat More CRANBERRIES ..... lb. 23c
Bosc Russet PEARS ..... 2 lbs. 23c

WESSON OIL Pt. Can 39c
SNOWDRIFT 3-Lb. Can 1.17
Woodbury Facial SOAP 2 Bars 28c
Iona PEAS 2 No. 2 Cans 21c
Campbell's Tomato JUICE 2 14-Oz. Cans 23c

SUPER RIGHT MEATS

Swift Brooklyn SAUSAGE ..... lb. 48c
Armour Star Ready to Eat Canned HAM lb. 89c
Rib or Loin End PORK Roast .. lb. 45c

Super Right Beef
Boneless Prime RIB ROAST .. lb. 83c
Chuck ROAST ..... lb. 69c
Boneless Round STEAK ..... lb. 93c
Boneless Shoulder ROAST ..... lb. 79c
Beef SHORT RIB .. lb. 39c

Square Cut Lamb SHOULDER .. lb. 59c
Veal Rump ROAST ..... lb. 75c
Table Dressed FRYERS ..... lb. 67c
Thick FAT BACK .... lb. 31c
RIB SIDE .... lb. 37c

Fresh Seafood
Perch Fillets ..... lb. 35c
Haddock Fillets ..... lb. 45c
Flounder Fillets ..... lb. 55c
Salt Mackerel Fillets .. lb. 41c

Let Us Reserve Your Thanksgiving Turkey

Swift's Bland Lard SWIFT'NING ..... 1-Lb. Can 39c
Swift PREM ..... 12-Oz. Can 49c
A&P Fancy California TUNA FISH ..... ½ Size Can 40c
Ann Page Salad DRESSING ..... Pt. Jar 31c
Packers Label TOMATOES ..... 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
Iona Stringless GREEN BEANS ..... 2 No. 2 Cans 27c
Campbell's Tomato SOUP ..... 2 10½-Oz. Can 21c
Ocean Spray Cranberry SAUCE ..... 16-Oz. Can 19c

ANN PAGE BEANS With Pork and Tomato Sauce 16-Oz. Can 10c

A&P Whole Peeled or Halves Unpeeled PEACHES ..... No. 2½ Can 27c
Iona Sliced or Halves FLOUR ..... 10-Lb. Bag 77c
Sunnyfield Self Rising APRICOTS ..... No. 2½ Can 31c
A&P APPLE SAUCE .... 2 No. 2 Cans 25c
Packer's Label Grapefruit SECTIONS ..... No. 2 Can 19c
A&P Grapefruit JUICE ..... 3 No. 2 Cans 25c
Mild American CHEESE ..... Lb. 47c
Golden Maid MARGARINE ..... 1-Lb. Pkg. 29c
Tiny A&P PEAS ..... No. 2 Can 25c

MILD & MELLOW COFFEE
8 O'CLOCK 1-Lb. Bag 40c
3 Lb. Bag 1.15

UM-M-M More than 2/3 Nuts and Fruits Jane Parker FRUIT CAKES 3-Lb. Cake 2.45 5-Lb. Cake 3.85

A&P Super Markets

NOVEMBER 18, 1948

S FOR FALL ILLS

ORE

GISTS

rvice

WESSON OIL 39c

OWDRIFT 1.17

Woodbury Facial SOAP Bars 28c

Iona PEAS No. 2 Cans 21c

Campbell's Tomato JUICE 14-Oz. Cans 23c

1-Lb. Can 39c

12-Oz. Can 49c

½ Size Can 40c

Pt. Jar 31c

2 No. 2 Cans 29c

2 No. 2 Cans 27c

2 10½-Oz. Can 21c

16-Oz. Can 19c

ANS

nato Sauce

0c

peeled

No. 2½ Can 27c

10-Lb. Bag 77c

No. 2½ Can 31c

2 No. 2 Cans 25c

No. 2 Can 19c

3 No. 2 Cans 25c

Lb. 47c

1-Lb. Pkg. 29c

No. 2 Can 25c

M M M

d Nuts and Fruits

e Parker

CAKES

5 2-Lb. Cake 3.85

Markets

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

We Want Education
Two With One Stone
Say It Isn't So

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and continued mild; scattered showers

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER, 19, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 51

Light Freshman Vote Gives Albergotti Vice-Presidency

Others Slated For Runoffs; Ruffin Ahead

By Bill Buchan

University party candidate Julian Albergotti won the only clear decision in the freshman elections yesterday when he walked away with the class vice-presidency over Campus party candidate Claude Burton and Independent Botto, backed by the Student party.

Albergotti received 237 votes to Burton's 119 and 114 for Botto. Runoffs are slated in the four other offices, Al Winn, chairman of the elections board announced last night. Only 478 freshman out of the class total of 1,030 turned out to cast their vote in the elections.

The runoff, which will be held on November 30 when the entire campus goes to the polls to elect candidates for the legislature, will place Dalton Ruffin (Ind) against Davis Byrd (CP) in a final battle for the class presidency. Ruffin received 165 votes to Byrd's 104. Bill Prince (SP) came in third with 100, Bill Bost (UP) followed with 56 and Mike Galifianakis an independent, brought the rear with 55.

In the race for secretary, Howard Fogleman, (UP) led his two opponents with 191 while Allen Tate (CP), followed with 166. Bob Brooks (SP) received 113. Fogleman and Tate will be in the runoff.

Norman Harden (UP) led in the fight for class treasurer with 182 votes. Joe Privott (CP) received 177 and Graham Holloway (SP) 116. Harden and Privett are the two candidates in the November 30 runoff.

In the race for the social chairman all three candidates in yesterdays balloting will be in the runoff since the two lower candidates tied and Betsy Ross (UP), did not receive a majority of the votes cast. Ross received 218 and Jo Bissell (SP) and Bob Buckwalter (CP) were tied even with 130.

After the balloting, Winn announced that all party and independent nominations for office in the fall elections must be turned in to him by midnight tonight.

ALBEN BARKLEY, vice-president elect, combines his vacation with neighborliness as he pays a visit in Havana. Barkley conferred with Cuban President Dr. Carlos Prio Socarres and Cuban Secretary of State Heviet.

Cordon Soloist With Symphony Tuesday Night

Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan opera star, will be soloist with University symphony orchestra at its opening concert of the winter season Tuesday night at 8:30 in Hill hall.

The orchestra will play a Kindler-arranged Toccata by Girolamo Frescobaldi; Mozart's Symphony No. 40; "An Outdoor Overture," by Aaron Copland, and a new composition by Edwin Michael, "March Mock Heroic," which will be given its premiere performance at this concert.

Cordon will be heard in the recitative and aria from Verdi's "Don Carlos. This will be Cordon's first solo appearance in Chapel Hill since he returned. He is now a resident of the village, having recently joined the staff of the University extension division as coordinator of music in the state.

Composer Hoffman, whose work is having its initial hearing Tuesday night, is well-known in this state through his work as YMCA secretary. He now resides in Black Mountain and conducts business in Asheville.

Israel Claims Invading Troops Been Withdrawn

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 18.—(UP) Israel claimed tonight that invading troops had been withdrawn from teh Negev in compliance with a United Nations security council order.

The government said only garrison troops remained in the disputed southern desert area to prevent "predatory activities" by Egyptian forces there.

The announcement came after Premier David Ben-Gurion served notice that Israel intends to keep the hard-won Negev. He told the state council that Jewish troops who entered the area after Oct. 14 would be withdrawn but that the rest of his forces would remain.

His statement was viewed as Israel's reply to the UN order, stating that Israel will comply with the Oct. 14 withdrawal proposal, but actually will retain control of virtually all the Negev. UN observers in Paris interpreted Ben-Gurion's statement to mean technical compliance with the withdrawal order. These quarters said that Israel intended to keep garrisoned the 20-odd settlements it won before Oct. 14, calling out those forces which reinforced the garrisons after that date.

Ben Gurion said he saw no way of going beyond the proposed withdrawal plan, and that "peace" is now the burning issue in the fighting.

Assembly Hears Class Nominees In Wild Session

By Roy Parker, Jr.

Complete with banners, cheering delegations and showers of campaign literature and confetti, the freshman assembly heard their candidates for class officers present brief speeches in behalf of their candidacies yesterday morning in Memorial hall.

Seventeen nominees for five offices made clear their platforms amid the tumult that resembled a full-fledged political convention. Each made definite promises as to what their election would mean to the class.

President Jess Dedmond made the introductions and tried in vain to keep the enthusiastic audience of 1,00 politically-minded freshmen from raising the roof.

All of the candidates received tremendous ovations as they presented their speeches. Party candidates repeated the campaign promises of their party platforms, while the several independent candidates put forth their own as to how the class would benefit by their election.

Banners were in evidence for all of the candidates, along with handbills, cards, and plenty of handshaking friends. The handbills were torn up and used as confetti during the course of the "convention" and the hall's floor was inch-deep in paper at the end of the speeches.

Betsy Ross, University party candidate for social chairman, received the biggest ovation, despite the fact that she was the last speaker on the program. Jo Bissell, Student party social chairman nominee, ran a close second. Independent presidential candidate Dalton Ruffin got the loudest applause among the male candidates.

The convention spirit carried over into the remainder of the election day, as candidates kept up their campaigning. Davis Byrd, Campus party candidate for president, had a large banner with yard-high letters floating around in behalf of his candidacy during the afternoon.

University Student Gets Planning Post

Wilmer C. Dutton, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., will take over the post of assistant director of planning for the city of Greensboro next Jan. 10, University spokesmen said yesterday.

'Israel, UN' to Be Subject Of Gerrard Talk by Grauel

John Stanley Grauel, young Christian clergyman who served as a volunteer crewman aboard the Jewish refugee ship, "Exodus," will speak on "Israel and the U. N." Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Grauel who was on the ship when it was attacked by British naval vessels, gave an account of that attack to the United Nations special committee on Palestine.

Well known as a minister, writer and radio commentator, Grauel returned last year from a visit to Palestine and the displaced person's camps in Europe and will have much to report on conditions in these two areas. He will also discuss the most recent developments of the Palestine problem during the current United Nations sessions in Palestine.

Speaking for the American Christian Palestine committee, non-sectarian group, Grauel will speak here under the joint auspices of the Carolina Forum and The Carolina Intercollegiate Zionist federation. Prominent members of the American Christian Palestine committee include Robert E. Wagner, Owen Brewster, James M. Mead, William Green, Arthur H. Vandenberg and Sumner Welles.

While serving as a deckhand aboard the "Exodus," Grauel became a special correspondent for "The Churchman."

W. P. Kellam Back From Atlanta Trip

W. P. Kellam, assistant librarian, has returned to Chapel Hill after attending the two-day Library Binders Institute last week in Atlanta, Ga.

Kellam spoke during the annual meeting on the Materials Conservation Program of the University Library.

Clearing Weather, Airport Opening Give Shot in Arm to Vital Airlift

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Clearing weather and the opening of a new airport in the French sector of Berlin gave a shot in the arm today to the vital airlift supplying this blockaded city. Four tons of coal roared into the the new Tegel airport at 12-minute intervals. Ninety such cargo planes are expected to land there by noon tomorrow. Then the tempo will increase to 150 planes a day.

Tegel, an airport built from the rubble of bombed-out homes, opened for business today one month ahead of schedule. It was built in three months and provides an outstanding example of international cooperation.

The British flew in plane-loads of supplies. American radar technicians guided them in, and Germans unloaded the planes under French supervision.

Congratulations

Charlie Long, commerce student from Thomasville, got an unexpected personal thank-you letter yesterday from Roy G. Baker, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

Baker's letter read:

"I congratulate you upon your splendid efforts in behalf of President Truman and Senator Barkley. You have every reason to be proud of the service you have rendered to your party, and through your party, to your country."

Long is one of the founders of the Young Republican club on campus.

Student Solons Vote Changes In Constitution

By Billy Carmichael III

The Student Legislature met last night.

It was a short session requiring slightly less than an hour. It began slowly, developed two dull roars and then slid to adjourn.

The slight unheavals were two attempts to amend the constitution. The first was a Warriner-Kerr-Van Hecke bill to enpower the legislature to fix the membership of the Dance committee and the University club.

Dortch Warriner introduced the bill to the floor and move suspension of the rules in order that the measure could be considered in time for the fall elections. The motion was defeated 19-13.

John Van Hecke then asked that his bill concerning a constitution amendment to add a Town Men's seat on the Dance committee, unreported from committee after two weeks, be automatically brought to the floor. After a short parlimentary huddle, the bill came to the floor and was passed, 19-13. Adjournment followed.

Earlier the body heard special committee reports concerning faculty rating and traffic problems. The latter report caused some floor commotion when the elimination of parking on one side of Raleigh street between the quads was suggested.

The Ways and Means committee announced opening hearings on the CPU-Carolina Forum legislative battle will begin Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the CPU side being aired first. The opposition will be heard the following day at the same hour. The following week the committee will hear the arguments on the constitutional amendment pertaining to the change in appellate powers.

Approvement of presidential appointments completed the evening's agenda. Dortch Warriner was affirmed as the new attorney-general while Don Shropshire, Ben Jones, Barbara Lowe, and Al Lowenstein were approved as four of the five members of the new campus NSA committee.

'Beat Dook' Rally, Parade Will Feature Big Weekend

Float Parade Will Include 27 Entrants

PiKAs To Award Cups To Winners

Duke weekend will get underway officially at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the PiKA "Beat Dook" float parade with 27 organizations participating.

Judging of the floats will take place at 1:30. Entries are urged to be at the intramural field next to the gym by 1:15. Dean Katherine Carmichael, Spike Saunders, Betty Smith, Mayor Carr of Durham and Mayor Bob Madry will judge the contest.

Sororities entered in the float parade are Alpha Gam, Pi Phi, Chi O, ADPi and Tri Delt.

The fraternity list includes. Pi Kappa Phi, Phi Gam, Chi Phi, ZBT, DKE, ATO, SAE, Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi, Phi Kappa Sig, Kappa Sig, Phi Delt, Sigma Nu, TEP and Chi Psi.

The men's dorm group have floats from Graham, Old East, Alexander, Lewis, Old West, Everett, "A", Stacy and Aycock. Smith dormitory was the only wonen's dorm entry when the books closed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Route of the parade has been planned to give as many persons as possible a chance to see it. From the gym it will move down Raleigh to Franklin, right at Franklin to Boundary, left at Boundary to Rosemary, down Rosemary to Pickard lane, back Pickard lane, back to Franklin.

The procession will then go down Franklin to Columbia, left to the Carolina Inn, right down Cameron to Ransom, down Ransom to McCauley, back to Columbia, left at Columbia to Cameron, right at Cameron and back to the stoplight, corner Cameron and Raleigh streets where the parade will disband.

Graham's Next Stop Is Greensboro Meet

Dr. Frank P. Graham boarded the afternoon plane from New York yesterday to attend an evening meeting of the Conference of Jews and Christians at Sedgefield Inn, Greensboro.

CHARLIE SPIVAK and his orchestra will provide the music for a concert this afternoon and a dance tonight to start off the weekend's musical festivities. The concert is scheduled for 4 o'clock in Memorial hall and the dance for 9 o'clock in Woollen gymnasium. Tomorrow night's dance will be at 8 o'clock.

Dance Will Feature Beauty Queen, Court

The 1949 Yackety Yack beauty queen and court will be presented at the Grail dance tonight instead of tomorrow's dance, Bill Duncan, editor of the yearbook, announced yesterday.

Duncan had just received a long-distance call from John Robert Powers, head of the nationally-known model agency, who is judging photographs of the 84 contestants. Powers' said, "This is the most interesting contest I have ever judged. I have asked opinions from leading artists on my selection of your queen, and they say she is the most naturally beautiful girl they have ever seen."

The 15 girls in the court and the queen will be presented just before intermission at the dance tonight. Betty Brown, last year's queen, will crown the new winner. Each girl on the court will receive an orchid corsage and the queen will be crowned with a wreath of orchids and carry an orchid bouquet.

Tickets for the Charlie Spivak dances and concert will be on sale this morning from 9 to 12 o'clock. Spokesmen for

(See DANCE, page 4)

'Song of South' Is Rendezvous Feature Tonight

"Songs of the South" will be the featured entertainment on tonight's Rendezvous room radio show. This will be the second in a series of floor shows broadcast over WDUK at 9:30. The audience is requested to assemble by 9:15, announced Lib Stoney, program director.

The Fifth of Harmony quartet, composed of Lanier Davis, Milton Bliss, Jack Clinard, Dick Smith, and Bob Hurley, will present the songs. Also on the program will be Doris Griffin, Bill Collins, and Lea Knoll, who will offer novel entertainment.

The Women's Interdormitory council and the office of the dean of women announced last night that late permission would be given to all coeds tonight until 2 o'clock provided they sign out. Dormitories will be closed at 1 o'clock to all girls who do not sign out. Tomorrow night regular coed hours will be in effect, with dormitories closing at 1 o'clock.

Freshman Class Has 1,030 Enrollment for Present Term

There are 1,000 undergraduates male freshmen and 30 women freshmen enrolled in the University this quarter, Roy Armstrong, director of admissions and recently elected president of the North Carolina College Registrars association, said yesterday.

A total of 273 North Carolina high schools and 183 out-of-state high schools are represented among freshmen.

Armstrong said the 1948 N. C. high school graduates enrolled this quarter totaled 648, and there are 209 pre-1948 N. C. high school graduates. There were 369 students cleared for admission who failed to enroll.

There are 114 out-of-state freshmen, and 37 students who are out-of-state residents either born in North Carolina or one of whose parents was born in the state. The number of transfers total 691, and there are 209 returning students.

Pharmacy school has 41 men students and 8 women, General college has 959 men and 22 coed freshmen, Arts and Sciences total 340 students, and there are 55 male freshmen and 6 coeds enrolled in Commerce school. A total of 1908 new undergraduate students entered the University fall quarter. The total enrollment for fall quarter is 7,603 students.

Reynolds high school in Winston-Salem has the largest number of graduates, 37, to enter this quarter, with Durham and Greensboro high school next in line, each with 29 graduates enrolled as freshmen.

Grocery Store Cash Registers Are Flooded With Coupons in Price War

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18—(UP)—A torrent of coupons overflowed cash registers in Indianapolis grocery stores today as housewives merrily cashed in on a $2,000,000 "price war."

"I've got more coupons almost than dollar bills," one grocer complained.

The price war began when a grocery chain mailed to every Indianapolis family a coupon book worth $5.50 in merchandise. By turning in a coupon with each purchase, housewives get a 10-cent reduction on any item in a long list of staples.

The response was overwhelming Housewives surged into the stores to buy up peanut butter, syrup, noodle soup, salad dressing, tamales, catsup, coffee, tuna fish, chili beans, floor wax, furniture polish and dozens of other products.

Other chains and independent grocers began honoring the coupons or cutting prices in self defense. The coupon program originally was a sampling program by manufacturers to stimulate the sale of slow-moving products.

Chain store representatives said the manufacturers honor the coupons, and the chain's profit margin remains the same. They said th ere w'as n'oatrge fi fi said there was "no great economic significance" in the plan.

Rally Starts With Bonfire, Torch Parade

Durham Stations To Air Pep Meet

By Herb Nachman

The campus will vibrate tonight to the tune of "Beat Dook" when the traditional pep rally with torchlight parade and bonfire begins in the Y court at 7 o'clock.

A double radio-hookup has been planned for the rally. Students participating in the rally here, and Duke students at the Blue Devil rally will be given an opportunity to hear each other through the facilities of Durham radio stations.

Schedule for the rally:

At 7 o'clock students will assemble in the Y court where torches will be passed out for the parade. The procession will then go to Navy field for the burning of the bonfire. The University band and the cheerleaders will lead the way.

Following the bonfire, the rally will move to Fetzer field for the broadcast. At 8 o'clock the Carolina rally will go on the air with Coach Carl Snavely, co-captains Rodgers and Stiegman and Norm Sper participating. Also expected to appear on the rally program are Dr. Frank Graham and Kay Kyser.

Immediately after the broadcast from here, the public address system will be switched over and students will be given an opportunity to hear the Duke rally led by head cheerleader Lauren Jones. The two broadcasts will be carried by stations WSSB and WDUK and will be re-broadcast by delayed transcription at 9 o'clock over WNAO.

Nation Struck By High Winds, Heavy Snowfall

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(UP)—Heavy snow and high winds struck from Texas to Minnesota today with blizzard conditions in some areas.

An ice and sleet storm coupled with high winds isolated McCook, Nebr. Communications and road traffic were snarled in many of the great plain states.

A tornado developed on the Southern edge of the storm and struck Delhi and Mooringsport in upper Louisiana. At least six persons were injured.

Rain, thunderstorms and winds prevailed in states bordering the Mississippi river on the east.

A new storm was brewing in Alaska that was destined to strike the Pacific Northwest coast, where earlier this week four ships have been disabled and four men killed.

The weather bureau at Chicago said the storm in the central part of the country was almost a true blizzard, lacking only the severe drop in temperature to be called a blizzard. The forecasters said, however, that blizzard conditions existed in many places.

ATO Pledges Pick Slate of Officers

Bill Todd, from Wilmington, was elected president of the pledge class of the campus Alpha Delta chapter of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, ATO officers said yesterday.

Pledge vice-president is Bill Kidd from Warrenton, secretary Jim Burns from Wilmington, and treasurer Jim Heldman from Durham.

We Want An Education

A speech which Dr. Clyde A Erwin, State Superintendent of Public instruction made Wednesday night on the situation in public schools of North Carolina is interesting and significant for the close analogy which may be drawn between conditions in the public schools and those here at the Universtiy.

"There is no justification for the high teacher load in North Carolina schools," Dr. Erwin said. He declared that the high teacher load "definitely is retarding the progress of children in our schools," and pointed out that Virginia, Tennessee and South Carolina all have teacher loads much closer to the national average than is North Carolina's. If those states can maintain such an average, he declared, North Carolina certainly should be able to.

Perhaps there is an excuse for the high teacher load here at the University, since the number of students far outmatches the amount of classroom space. Nevertheless, the overwhelming teacher load is definitely retarding the progress of students here. New classroom buildings are in the planning stage and will help greatly to alleviate the situation, but in the meantime the University continues to build new dormitories and admit more students and drive the teacher load ever higher. Students here now are not getting educated; they are hardly even being exposed to education. That is why the Daily Tar Heel persists in its recommendation that the University should tighten its scholastic requirements and stop trying to admit and keep every one o'clock scholar until it is able to give its present students a decent chance at an education.

Two With One Stone

The order of the Grail kills two birds with one stone in presenting the annual Duke weekend dances, since the proms serve the dual purpose of entertaining the campus and of raising money for scholarships.

As to the first purpose, the Grail dances are the only big ones of the year which are open to the entire campus. The other large dances are staged by the German clubs and are closed to members of the clubs. The Grail has its concert tickets printed separately and the dance tickets made detachable for resale in order that as many students as possible will have an opportunity to attend at least one of the three events.

All money above expenses taken in on the dances goes into a fund that the Grail maintains for awarding scholarships to the University. Each year the Grail awards as many scholarships as it has money to pay for to students selected by a committee working with the University scholarship committee on a basis of need and merit.

Although the Grail seldom seeks recognition for its services to the campus and few people know of its activities, we feel that recognition is due for the work its members have done in putting on the dance set and for the purpose behind it.

Say It Isn't So

Washington has just punctured a dearly cherished belief that we had once held. It seems that a Labor Department report claims the average American husband spends more money on clothes than his wife does.

It was revealed that in the average city household, the husband's clothing expenses range from $128 to $159 a year while his spouse spends only $11 to $139. The report continued by saying that men have been outspending women on clothes "since grandma's day."

We are stupified, in fact, we think it is all a plot to encourage men to take the last mile up the aisle by making it sound as if two can live cheaper than one. If it comes to pass that the Labor department report does its job, then the poor census taker will have more numbers to add up.

Please say it isn't so; the men must have something left to feel superior about.

—L.K.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus Mgr ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Helen Highwater

FOOTBALL SPIRIT. Some of the boys in Graham dorm are really getting hepped up for the game tomorrow. They are suggesting the University should rent outdoor billboards along the highway to carry the message, "Beat Dook!!"

BEAUTY REIGNS. tonight at the Grail-sponsored Spivak dance one of 84 campus beauties will be crowned as queen for this year's Yackety-Yack. John Powers, New York model man, is picking the prettiest by photograph, and none of the girls will know until the ceremony which one is queen or which ones will be in the 15-girl beauty court. Yack editor Bill Duncan won't tell, so don't ask him. Fortunately tickets for this afternoon's concert and the dances are still available at the Y or at the doors.

RUMOR. Ava Gardner, Tar Heel born and bred movie actress who recently displayed her luscious attractions in "One Touch of Venus" at E. Carrington Smith's emporium, may turn up at the Duke game along with Kay Kyser and his wife Georgia Carroll.

TIRE TROUBLE. One of Dook's wheels has had a blow out—his last, it seems. Clay Felker, the famed "get it and edit" editor of the Duke Chronicle has been given his release by the Blue Devil officials. More information concerning the incident is not available pending a leak or a peek from the Duke campus.

FAST AND DRASTIC. Al Lowenstein introduced a statement of policy for the Student party at a party meeting Wednesday night. The politicans argued it for 40 minutes, finally changed only two words in the whole four-page statement.

SMOOTH BUSINESS. World Student Service Fund workers, including Gloria Jackson, Bobbie Lunsford, Peggy Swinson, Edie Knight and Dortch Warriner have come up with a new idea for raising funds. They bought up several reams or so of blue and white crepe paper, which, after being chopped up, will go on sale as confetti at tonight's pep rally and at the game tomorrow.

UNBELIEVABLE. Pi Phi Pledge Bobbie Lowe, a formerly patriotic New Jersey Yankee, broke down and bought a Confederate flag. Explained Bobbie: "I got inspired."

MORE UNBELIEVABLE. John Van Hecke, imbiber par excellence, was seen in the Rathskellar drinking—pure water. The Joker claims he's been on the wagon for ten (count 'em, 10) days.

ADD WASHINGTON STORIES. In the wee hours of Sunday morning came a rapping on the door of Bryan Broadfoot's room in the Hamilton hostelery and the sound of a coat hanger going to work on the lock.

"Who's there?" cried the Keeper of the Door.

"Sir Henry," came the reply. "I'm trying to get into room 708."

"This is room 720."

"I know it, but I'm just practicing. The light's better down here.

SECOND ADD WASHINGTON. Overheard from a harassed house detective going off duty as the party finally began to die down in the Ambassador early Saturday morning: "If Carolina wins this afternoon, I'm quitting at 5 o'clock."

FINAL ADD WASHINGTON. A late leaver trying to make conversation with a Capital cabbie Sunday afternoon remarked, "Well, I guess most of the Carolina students have left."

The cabbie's only comment as he threw a quick look over his shoulder was, "Carolina—Oh My God!!"

'The Quality of Mercy - - -'

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

Write Away

America Isn't Like That

Editor:

"The experts see too few babies." That is the situation in the U.S.A. according to an article in the Durham Sun of Nov. 11. It is about Mr. Warren S. Thompson, a population expert. He is, evidently, one of the experts who sees too few babies.

I almost overlooked the article because of its banal reference to human survival, merely: "America May Have To Start Birth Rate Race To Survive." But the first paragraph —I knocked my "Old Glory" off the wall and stuck my finger on my "I'm glad I'm an American" button.—For it explained that "America may be forced into a birth-rate race, in order to survive as a first-rate power."

I had been lulled into a false sense of security, it seems. What with 79c of every tax-dollar going into armaments; what with our monopoly of the A-bomb; what with our peacetime training program that so many of our brave loyal American boys are falling for. . .I mean, in with; —what with all these comforting things. I thought that America had the world leadership sewed up. But no, something seems to be still dangling.

It isn't that America is not well off at present, Dr. Thompson said. "Given a world of peace"—experts are working on this for us, too—"the problem of an underpopulated America is not a crushing one. We can adequately feed and clothe the population we'll have in 1985. We could probably take care of 200,000,000 in decency and comfort although there'll be more to go around if the figure is about 170,000,000."

The problem is that some outside (totally unconnected with America's abundance) may bring about a war with Russia, because of her overpopulation, is out-distancing the U.S.A. toward the goal of world leadership. The expert says (to emphasize this point) that Russia is part of the "remainder of the world that is becoming so overpopulated that widespread famine and accompanying epidemics may again and again kill millions whenever there is a poor crop."

We don't want to go that far. We want to be sure that in 1985 there'll be enough to go around in America "in decency and comfort."

Wlliam Vogt, in "The Road to Survival"—and I insert this parenthetically—says that, from a world point of view, it takes 2½ acres of land to feed one individual, and that there are now but two acres per person available. Vogt is, of course, an expert on a subject not now under discussion.

Our birth rate has fallen off, frankly. Let me quote: "As for the birth-rate, it dropped so far that it scares the population experts. Which is why our population will stop growing in about 40 years." I've heard of an expectant mother being frightened by a cow, and her child being born with a birthmark the shape of an udder, but this is definitely a novelty.

Pre-war Japan, pre-war Germany, and pre-war Italy conducted extensive campaigns to increase their national populations before they embarked on imperial expansion, pleading an undeniable excuse: overpopulation. I'm sure glad America isn't like that!

Hale Chamberlin

Dixiecrats State Stand

Editor:

There has been much conjecture as to the action the present States' Rights party will take now that the election is over. As far as the States' Rights organization on this campus is concerned, we are becoming inactive for several reasons. Now that there are persons in the administration who have made promises conflicting with our ideals we do not want to force them to take action on these promises by bringing up controversial issues. Furthermore, the organization on this campus does not wish to be identified with such actions now or in the future such as the purported manipulation of the electoral college.

We stand by the principles of States' Rights adopted by the States' Rights Democrats in Birmingham. We feel that the States' Rights Democrats have made an honest and frank presentation of these principles, which contain no statement of political appeasement as is found in the platform of the major parties.

We sincerely believe in the principles of states' rights. We upheld the States' Rights Democrats because the major parties recommended the removal of home rule in our 48 states. We resent the brazen implications that we are connected with the Ku Klux Klan in any way. We also resent the thoughtless assertions that those who upheld States' Rights principles are incapable of logical thought. This, of course, is only perverted sensationalism and far from true.

It is our most earnest hope that promises abusing states' rights made by the present administration turn out to be purely campaign promises designed to appease and secure the votes of minority groups. However, if the administration is really sincere with these promises, as many of our Republican and Democratic friends deny, and makes attempts to force bills such as F.E.P.C. on the nation, then we hope our Republican and Democratic friends will give us more credit in foreseeing the danger of such promises and appreciate our attempts to stop them before they could be carried out.

Young States' Rights Democrats

On The House

Living on Nothing

By Claire Cox

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(UP)— Any socially ambitious young man can live on nothing a year, Ted Peckham declared today.

About all it takes to thrive on an income of zero, he said, is a dinner jacket, a repertoire of drawing room jokes, a working knowledge of bridge and a debonnaire air with the dowagers who have all the dough.

Socialite Peckham, 29, who got bored with being a playboy and retired to a job several years ago, said he's never tried his system himself, but that it's a sure bet for landing an heiress at Palm Beach or Honolulu.

He discovered a man can live on other people's money and like it during his years of knocking around with the fellows who fawn on the international set. The full recipe is in a book he has written called "Up To No Good." It tells in detail how any presentable male can live in the lap of luxury without doing a lick of work.

Here is Peckham's program for parlor parasites:

1. Lease a big apartment in New York and rent out rooms. That provides gin money and a place to live between visits with the Vanderbilts and Whitneys.

2. Stay in bed until noon, thus eliminating the necessity for breakfast. Spend the afternoon eating hors d'oeuvers at cocktail parties. For dinner, join friends in a restaurant and outfumble them for the check.

3. Become skilled at gin rummy. A few afternoons of gin a week will pay the cigarette, laundry and telephone bills and maybe even finance the train ride to Palm Beach or Newport if you haven't been asked to travel by yacht.

"The woods are full of people who live that way," Peckham said. "I've noticed it's definitely an asset to be a foreigner."

"I used to be a playboy, but I got fed up with dull Park Avenue parties," he said. "I am a reformed man, but I'm always willing to lend a helping hand to a penniless fellow who wants to go south for the winter heiress hunt."

The Old Almanac

For Farmers Only

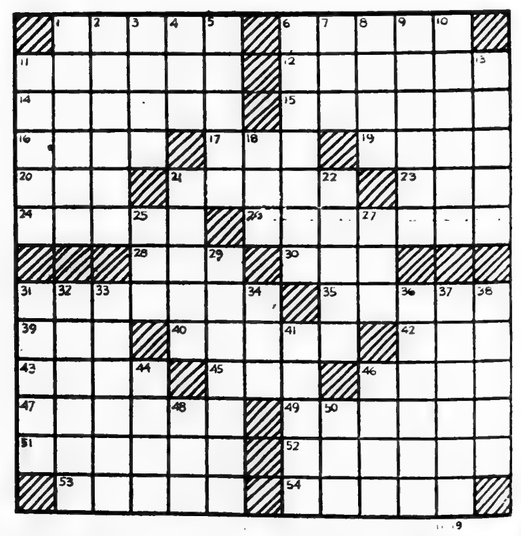
By Harman W. Nichols

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(UP)—It's a rare thing anymore around the big cities. But get out where the pigs squeal, the cows moo, the coyotes howl, the crickets crick and the pump handle squeaks and you'll find folks still looking at the "Old Farmers Almanac" to find out what's comin' next.

The latest edition just came out. The 157th consecutive one I wasn't around to watch the presses roll over the first one in 1792.

But word comes down the line that the little yellow-bound booklet (which nows sells for two-bits) hasn't changed any more than the moon and stars from which the forecasts come.

Most interesting review of last winter's weather was the account of the green rain which fell on Payton, O., on March 26. All this happened the day after three moons were seen in Boston—"The real moon with a 'dog moon' on either side."



This winter, the Almanac says, it won't be as drippy or as cold as last year. However, it'll last a little longer into March when we can expect rain, sleet and snow.

The Almanac was started by Robert B. Thomas, publisher and philosopher. Perhaps he was thinking of the 1948 election forecasts when he wrote in 1802:

"Read newspapers, but consider, before you believe; for common report is often a great liar."

Fan mail is nothing new, either. Many years ago, Mr. Thomas' fine little book published a letter from one F. C. Crawford of Nashua, N. H., which read:

"I have read the Old Farmer's Almanac these many years and I wish the damned fool that changed the Reading of the Moon's column had died before he done it."

HORIZONTAL
1. path of a heavenly body
6. wandered
11. mark of a wrinkle
12. fastened hermetically
14. harmony
15. African desert plateau
16. ruin
17. personal pronoun
19. agitate
20. summer (Fr.)
21. river in France
23. twilight
24. type of automobile
26. marked with cicatrix
28. youth
30. personality
31. marked with bands
35. a brace and a half
39. implement for tilling
40. appetizing meat dressing
42. by way of
43. lubricates
45. meadow
46. penitential season
47. girl's name
49. leavened dough
51. breed of dog
52. tints
53. stays
54. celerity

VERTICAL
1. ornamented
2. checked
3. foundation
4. equal: comb. form
5. strained
6. perfume
7. the turmeric
8. college cheers
9. click beetle
10. deduce
11. geometrical figures
13. braved
18. possessive pronoun
21. flips
22. large bird of prey
25. fourth caliph
27. fish eggs
29. distributors
31. footwear
32. laborer
33. narrate
34. payable
36. retaliate
37. scorched
38. abhors
41. throws with force
44. perches
46. unaccompanied
48. snare
50. disease of fowl

Answer to yesterday's puzzle

A	V	A		A	T	I	L	T		C	U	P
R	O	B		T	E	N	O	R		A	T	E
A	W	A	K	E	N	S		U	P	P	E	R
		T	E	N	S		T	S	A	R
O	D	I	N		E	M	I	T	T	I	N	G
P	A	N	T	S		A	N	I	S		A	L
E	R	G		A	L	I	E	N		S	P	A
R	E		A	N	O	N		G	A	T	E	S
A	S	C	R	I	B	E	S		B	E	S	S
		A	I	T	S		T	A	L	E
P	A	N	D	A		R	E	V	E	R	E	S
O	N	E		R	H	I	N	E		E	L	I
P	A	S		V	E	A	T	S		D	A	R

Average time of solution: 25 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Soccer Team Engages W&L Here Today

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Neglected Battle

THE DUKE GAME is only a day away, but from the looks of things, you'd never know it. The rabble rousing days are over, with a few scattered reports of paint and premature bonfire burnings about the only breakaways from a rather dull week. Those good old days, like nickel beers, are gone and forgotten. Duke-Carolina chivalry has had a rebirth.

Yet, there doesn't seem to be a complete lack of interest in the traditional contest. At least not with some 43,000 fans giving both left arm and $3.50 to be on hand Saturday. The game has simply been lifted to a higher level of competition with the rah-rah talents being confined to destruction of each individual's own vocal apparatus.

Another factor that looks to have taken a great deal of the starch out of the Duke-Carolina meeting is the Tar Heels' current Big Time, big climb schedule. The Duke game no longer jealously holds its position as the one and only game to win on the local schedule. Today, all games are big and you don't make or break the season by beating Duke come each November.

A Million Miles Away

THE SEEMING LACK of local interest in the contest centers around Tar Heel minds being a thousand miles away about now in Miami, New Orleans, and Dallas. The bowl bug has bitten locally and left a fever raging that monopolizes sports pages and after dinner conversation. It comes in all flavors, with a few thrown in that even Howard Johnson has yet to think about. Everybody is packed and ready to leave with only the destination to be decided—everybody, that is, but the Tar Heel football team.

The local gridders, though some may laugh, haven't even considered a bowl bid regardless of the headlines, and may in the end gain last laughs by refusing to attend any bowl at all. They are the troops who will play in the bowl and they will have the opportunity to cast votes aye or nay on the question. The footballers might fool a lot of people.

The gridders are mainly devoted these days to the singular task of beating the Blue Devils this Saturday—a necessary step before going anywhere this New Year's including home. A loss this weekend would most probably set the major bowling pins up in another alley, one not being currently rolled in by the Tar Heels. It all boils down to burning bridges before you even get to them.

Should They Vote Nay

IF THE FOOTBALLERS did vote not to go to a bowl, there would, of course, be the usual gnashing of teeth and the companying gesticulations by alumni and students who are currently waiting on the levee. Yet, a vote of nay could easily be justified by a team who has been told how and when to do everything by everybody all year long. The Tar Heels are still the ones who play the ball games and take the bruises and verbal beatings. They should have a few rights in return.

The player argument against bowls boils down to the following points of discussion:

1) A bowl trip requires another month of practice in the hellish weather of December on top of a hard and rough football season.

2) A bowl trip means that many of the footballers don't get home for Christmas to see families and friends

3) The players get none of the bowl enjoyment that the followers do. They must remain secluded in some training spot on the Gulf perhaps, until a short time before the game. There is no nightlife, no parties, no nothing except one more afternoon of football. After the game, they are packed right back on their wheels and hurried back to classes.

That isn't much reward for another month's work in the field and the Tar Heels know this. No matter how good and how successful a team may be, any sport can lose its lustre and appeal. The 1947 bowl ride to New Orleans didn't help last year's football team as much as it hindered them. The Tar Heels are not a team to be bowled over by any means.

The Other Side

THERE ARE TWO SIDES, of course, to the bowl picture. The other concerns the good that can be done by taking part in such an activity. National recognition, it seems, has never hurt any school with the footballers still outdoing the physicists in packing the front page appeal. You just can't get too many people huddled around a test tube.

The Tar Heel football boom of the past few years has done a wonderful job of promoting Carolina—both the school and the spirit in which it is conducted. Big Time football for all its supposed faults continues to support the majority of the minor sports at the majority of the nation's schools. It provides the financial crutch for a large intramural program such as that at Carolina and builds gyms, fields and other facilities.

A bowl means more of these funds. Contrary to popular opinion, bowl bounty will not go for athletic scholarships, but instead it will be pumped into the Athletic fund that supports all athletic action at the University. As long as the till stays relatively filled, there will be athletics for all at Carolina.

If Duke and Virginia are gathered into the Tar Heel fold in the coming two weeks, the Carolina football team can probably have choice of the major bowls—the Sugar against Tulane, the Orange against Oklahoma, or the Cotton against Southern Methodist. But those games are still to be won, and a Tar Heel football team is still to be allowed to decide on their own to want to play post-season like.

A trip anywhere is no fun with a fellow who didn't want to go in the first place.

Game Will Close Successful Year For Allen's Club

By Larry Fox

The 1948 soccer season draws to a close this afternoon with the Tar Heel booters favored to end the campaign with a victory over Washington and Lee on Fetzer field. Game time is 3 o'clock.

The Tar Heels haven't lost a game since bowing to Navy, 2-0, to begin the season, and a win today will give them a 7-1-2 record for the year. If Carolina wins today, the Tar Heels will lay claim to the Southern conference soccer championship.

Washington and Lee has already provided one triumph for the Carolina record and that earlier decision is what gives the Tar Heels their pre-game edge. The Allenmen blanked the Generals, 2-0, on their two-game trip through Virginia and the improved Carolina eleven should show up even better when playing on friendly Fetzer field.

The first game of the home-and-home series was tougher than the score indicates, however, for the Tar Heels were held scoreless throughout the entire second half.

Defensive Playing

Fine defensive playing is in view. Washington and Lee has been the victim of some bad breaks early in its games, but has rallied its defense after the damage has been done, as was the case when the Generals played High Point. The Panthers got two quick scores in the first minute of play and the final score was 2-0.

Carolina also boasts an exceptionally strong defense and it is doubtful if W&L will be able to penetrate it often enough for victory.

Carolina will be in a winning mood also, for they have triumphed in their last two encounters. Both victories came over the teams which had tied the Tar Heels earlier in the campaign, High Point and Duke.

Dave Boak, who unofficially leads the team in scoring, personally accounted for the win over Duke Tuesday afternoon by notching both goals in the 2-1 triumph.

Playing Last Game

Many of the Tar Heels will be playing their last game for the Blue and White this afternoon and their desire to go out wtih a winning game also affects the pre-game rating.

Of the starting eleven, eight men will be among the missing next season and that doesn't include several reserves, who are either graduating or have used up their eligibility.

Except for Joe Bach the forward line will leave en masse and substitutes will have to found for Tommy Jordan, Pete Hexner, Boak, and Dave Ferebee next season. Hexner has an injured leg and it is very improbable that he will be able to play this afternoon.

Co-captain Jesse Greenbaum and Gus Johnston, the two stalwarts of the middle line, will also be closing out their soccer careers as will co-captain Frank Nelson.

Al Williams and Dave Sobel, the two goalies on the squad, are leaving this year and the freshman outfit will have to come up with another goal-tender.

Tar Heels Drill Long and Hard In Preparation For Duke Clash

A weary band of Tar Heels trudged slowly back to Kenan field house shortly after dusk last night. Coach Carl Snavely had just put them through their fourth lengthy drill of the week and seemed to be pleased with what he saw.

Yesterday's session consisted mainly of contact maneuvers, passing, punting, and dummy scrimmage drills. A marked improvement was noted in the blocking which has been sadly inadequate in the past few games. The Carolinians are slated to taper off with light drills today prior to Saturday's big game with their perennial rival, Duke.

One major shift has been made in the starting lineup this week. Bill Kennedy, who turned in an exceptionally fine performance against Maryland last week, has been shifted to the wingback post. He replaces Johnny Clements at that position. The Tar Heel injury list contains the names of Bill Wardle, Haywood Fowle, and Bobby Weant at present but all are expected to be ready for action tomorrow, with the possible exception of Wardle, who is nursing an injured leg.

Reports from Durham indicate that Tommy Hughes, the Duke wingback will definitely be out of the starting lineup tomorrow, and that he may not play at all. Jack Friedlund, sophomore sensation, will fill in at the wingback position. Duke tailbacks Freddie Folger and Billy Cox are expected to see only limited duty because of minor injuries, and tackle Lloyd Eisenberg may not be at his peak for the clash.

A sellout crowd of 44,000 is anticipated for the game Saturday which will be the thirty-third renewal of the ancient rivalry.

Wildcats to Battle For Eastern Title

Coach Bill Grice's unbeaten Chapel Hill Wildcats, fresh from a 24-0 victory over Oxford Orphanage, will play Laurenburg High school tonight at Laurenburg for the eastern North Carolina class A crown. If the locals, who have bowled over eight straight opponents, win tonight, they will meet the western champs for the state class A title.

The Wildcats, who have given up only one touchdown in their last four tilts, have a strong forward wall and a host of hard-running backs. The local backfield is paced by halfback Collier Hill, who has scored 115 points so far this season, and Bill Butler, bone-crushing fullback, who has 48 points to his credit.

Mural Tag Champ Set for Mad Bowl In Charlottesville

From amidst of the annual bowl rumors circulating around all college campuses at this time of the year comes a confirmed report concerning a bowl engagement for a Carolina gridiron team.

It is only fair to the reader to say that this confirmation is not for the Sugar, Orange or Cotton bowls regarding the Tar Heel eleven out for the newest of the post season tilts in this bowl crazy nation.

This latest extravaganza originates from the campus of the University of Virginia where the Cavalier Intramural department has invited the Carolina's campus tag football champ to a challenge contest with the Virginia representative in their own "Mad Bowl" which is to be played at 10:30 in the morning on Saturday, November 27 at Charlottesville. It is planned to hold this titanic tag football struggle as a preliminary to the regular yarsity game that will be played at Scott stadium that same day between Carolina and Virginia.

A report from Charlottesville way gives way to the fact that the students have a hot tag combination ready and set to give one band of Tar Heels trouble even if their varsity brothers don't. However, the Carolina hopeful will not be ascertained until Monday afternoon when the outcome for the Carolina campus championship between the Grads and Zeta 2 is settled. The victor will make the journey and carry Tar Heel hopes of maintaining complete domination over all and any Virginia team.

Pi Phi Downs Chi O For Volleyball Title

Breaking a 25-25 deadlock with but one minute remaining in the contest, Pi Phi defeated Chi Omega in the finals of the coed volleyball tournament, 26-25.

This is the sixth time in succession that the Pi Phi's have won the coed volleyball crown.

Frosh Gridders Meet Blue Imps At Duke Today

Carolina's freshman football team will journey to Durham this afternoon to meet the Duke Blue Imps in the final game of the season for both teams.

The Tar Babies will take a perfect record of four wins without loss into the battle and are expected to emerge victorious and to capture the Big Four frosh crown. Starting time for this all important contest is 3 o'clock.

Carolina Coach Crowell Little has pronounced his team in top shape and the boys are ready to go after a week's layoff since the 34-6 spanking of State two Fridays ago. In addition to State, the Tar Babies have beaten South Carolina 27-26; Virginia, 20-0 and upset highly favored Wake Forest, 14-13.

The Blue Imps have not been so impressive this season. To date the Dukesters have compiled a record of three losses as against a single win. They lost to William and Mary's powerful aggregation, 19-7, were trounced by the Navy Jayvees, 52-0 and lost a three touchdown decision to Wake Forest. The lone win was over the State Baby Wolves.

Carolina's starting backfield today will probably feature Skeeter Hesmer and Dick Weiss in the two runing positions with C. C. White on the wing. Paul Cuba, who has proved to be an excellent signal caller will operate from the blocking back post.

In the line the Tar Babies will have top notch center Andy Shevda and glue-fingered end Billy O'Brien. Tackle Eggbert Williams will kick the extra points. Twice this year Williams' conversions have proved the margin of victory.

Mural Results

VOLLEYBALL

2 Sig Chi	1	Phi Gam	2 0
2 Town	1	Steele	1
2 Grads		Town	2 0
2 Emerson		Oakwood Dr.	0

Nash and Bombers were each charged with a loss in a double forfiet.

TABLE TENNIS

2 ATO	1	Phi Delt	2 1

Invitational Swimming Meet Scheduled Here Thanksgiving

Carolina students remaining in Chapel Hill will not have to worry about lack of entertainment during the Thanksgiving holidays, for they will be able to witness four days of topflight swimming. The first annual invitational Intercollegiate Thanksgiving swimming meet will be held in Bowman Gray Pool.

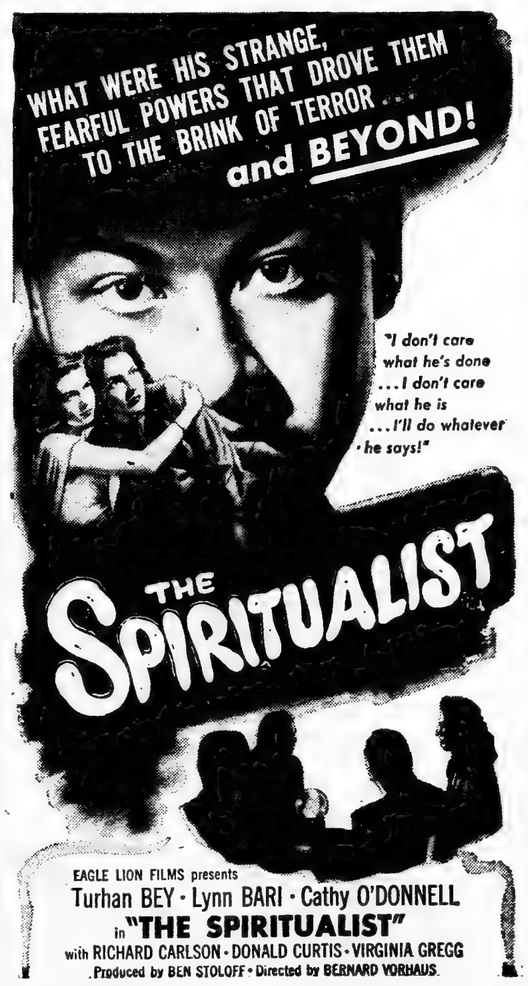
The first even will be the finals of the 1500-meter free style on Thursday night. Preliminaries for other events will be held in both morning and afternoon of Friday and Saturday. On Friday events and on Saturday night there will be five final events.

Invitations have been sent to 16 of the leading teams on the Eastern Seaboard and Midwest. Local officials have not announced which teams have accepted, but there is certainty of a fast field.

There are several purposes for the meet. One purpose is to provide a test situation for teams late enough in the year for practice to have some meaning, yet early enough to allow corrective measures before the dual meet season. A second purpose is to bring together teams and coaches for an exchange of ideas in a situation relatively free from the tension associated with championship meets. Still another purpose is to provide teams with a definite objective for early season practice.

The BROCKWELL
Comfortable Guest Rooms at Moderate Prices
OVER SLOAN DRUG STORE
Operated by Mr and Mrs G M Graham Phone F-438

All the Way . . .
CHUG - A - LUG
K & M Beer Delivery PHONE 3536



RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
WEST FRANKLIN STREET

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 CAMERON AVENUE WRITE: P.O. Box 902

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

EAGLE LION FILMS presents
Turhan BEY · Lynn BARI · Cathy O'DONNELL in "THE SPIRITUALIST" with RICHARD CARLSON · DONALD CURTIS · VIRGINIA GREGG Produced by BEN STOLOFF · Directed by BERNARD VORHAUS
CAROLINA THEATRE
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
DOORS OPEN 11:15 P.M.

Just bring in one of your favorite snapshot negatives, and select the card design you want. We'll take care of the rest, and see that you get your cards in time for early Christmas mailing.
FOISTER'S
CAMERA STORE
EAST FRANKLIN STREET

JAM SESSION
TONIGHT
TERRACE VIEW SUPPER CLUB
Sorry
Full House Saturday Night
PRIVATE PARTIES OUR SPECIALTY

It's Here
Imported From Holland
ON TAP
Heineken's World's Finest Lager Beer
25 & 35c a stein
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a fan dancer. Unaccustomed to public speaking. But not timid. Holds her own with any audience. A "Manhattan" sportshirt holds its own with audiences, too.

2. This is a "Manhattan" sportshirt. Nothing timid about that colorful Scotch Tartan plaid. Superbly tailored for style and easy comfort. Fabric is washable rayon. At your favorite men's store now.

CAMPUS FAVORITE
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1948, The Manhattan Shirt Company

Truman, Forrestal Hold Conference In Key West On European Inspection

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 18—(UP)—President Truman interrupted his vacation briefly today for a conference with Defense Secretary James Forrestal on what were described officially as national security and European policy problems.

Forrestal flew here from Washington at his own suggestion and headed right back to the capital after spending less than an hour in private with the president.

No Discussion Of China-Ross

The secretary, who has said he is quitting the cabinet as soon as the president releases him, returned to this country Tuesday night after an inspection tour of Europe. Wednesday, he telephoned Mr. Truman and suggested a Key West conference, even though the president is due back in Washington Sunday.

Despite the apparent urgency of Forrestal's visit, presidential press secretary Charles G. Ross insisted the conference was limited to a report on Forrestal's European trip. He said the secretary gave Mr. Truman a 10-page written memorandum and an oral report.

Ross said Forrestal's resignation plans were not discussed. Nor, he said, did they talk about the critical situation in China which within the past few days had led to an urgent, secret exchange of letters between President Truman and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Chiang was reported to have asked for a formal expression of American support in his civil war against the Chinese Communists. Mr. Truman sent a direct reply to the Chinese leader but its contents were an official secret.

Forrestal further spotlighted the China crisis yesterday by announcing that 1,250 Marines were being sent to Tsingtao to reinforce the Marine Garrison there and help cover the evacuation of American citizens from the war zones.

Baptist Leaders Endorse Program

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 18—(UP)—North Carolina's biggest church group ended its 118th annual convention today endorsing an all-out drive for prohibition.

More than 2,000 Baptist clergymen and lay leaders joined in backing a three-point dry campaign which parallels the drive of the Allied Church league.

That program, accepted yesterday as part of the convention committee on social service and civic righteousness report, was augmented in today's closing session with an increased appropriation for the Allied Church league.

That program, accepted yesterday as part of the convention committee on social service and civic righteousness report, was augmented in today's closing session with an increased appropriation for the Allied Church league. The delegates also approved a resolution asking that parimutuel betting, now legal in two Tar Heel counties, be banned throughout the state.

AFTER PRESENTING the Medal of Honor in Washington to Mrs. Frances E. Kefurt, widow of Staff Sergeant Gus Kefurt of Sharon, Pa., Gen Omar N. Bradley, U. S. Army chief of staff, shakes hands with the hero's son, nine-year-old Robert. Looking on is seven-year-old Patricia Kefurt. The sergeant was cited for leading a platoon in the face of superior enemy forces during an attack in France.

Alpha Kappa Psi Group Tours Chatham Manufacturing Plant

Twenty-one members of the Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity made a tour of the Chatham manufacturing corporation at Elkin on Wednesday, continuing its program of lectures and tours of industrial plants in the area.

The group was met at the Elkin YMCA by members of the mill staff who acted as guides for the tour. Prior to the tour, the group was given some pertinent facts about Chatham Mill and its operation.

The tour included a step-by-step inspection of the various production departments and the group was shown how the raw materials were subjected to the variety of processes involved in making a blanket.

Following the tour, the members of Alpha Tau were the luncheon guests of the mill management at the YMCA. Mr. R. W. Harris, general superintendent of the mill, welcomed the guests and invited them to take part in a series of discussions in the afternoon. The discussions included topics on accounting, sales, advertising, production management, finance, and marketing.

Harry Lassiter, assistant to the president, and Fred Neeves, superintendent, also spoke to the group on coordination of sales and production and how the financial policy of the corporation was determined.

James Booher and William Butler discussed problems in accounting and their relation to cost and taxes.

Second Coed Meet Set For Monday With Graham Talk

Second monthly coed get-together will be held on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, with Dr. Frank Graham as speaker. All members of the YWCA are urged to attend, and any other persons interested in coming are cordially invited.

These programs, sponsored by the Y, are for the purpose of creating a feeling of unity among the various committees of the Y. They provide an opportunity for the girls to meet and see the people they work with and to get an idea of the whole program of the Y.

Following Dr. Graham's address, there will be a short business meeting of all the YWCA members.

Tax Symposium Scheduled Here

The annual symposium on accounting and taxation will be held here and at Duke university Dec. 2, 3, and 4.

The symposium will open here on Thursday morning, Dec. 2. Following a breakfast session Friday morning, Dec. 3, the assembly will move over to Duke where sessions will be topped off with a dinner meeting that night.

Among the speakers who will address the Symposium are P. F. Brundage, president of the American Institute of Accountants, John L. Carey and other authorities on taxation and accounting.

-Dance-

(Continued from page one)

the Grail said that a limited number of concert tickets will be on sale at the door of Memorial hall this afternoon. The two-hour concert begins at 4 o'clock. Tonight's dance which is semi-formal is from 9 to 1 o'clock and tomorrow's dance is from 9 to 12 o'clock. Both dances will be held in Woollen gymnasium.

Tickets will on sale at the door of Woollen gym in $5 books before both dances. The books will not be split.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

1:15—FLOATS ASSEMBLE at practice field by gym for judging.
2:00—FLOAT PARADE begins.
2:15—HILLEL FOUNDATION, Yack photos, GM.
3:45—CPU meets, Grail room, GM.
4:00—SPIVAK CONCERT, Memorial hall.
7:00—HILLEL FOUNDATION, Alexander F. Miller to speak, Roland Parker lounge, GM.
7:00—PEP RALLY, torch parade, Y court.
8:00—RALLY BROADCAST over WDUK, WSSB, Durham.
9:00—SPIVAK DANCE, Woollen gymnasium.
9:00—RALLY BROADCAST, WNAO, Durham.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

WANTED BY G. I. WIFE. TYPING OF all kinds: expert work, prompt service, lowest prices in town—thesis work a specialty. Phone 5486. (1-8085-1)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR RENT 5A

SMALL, FOUR ROOM HOUSE. HARDwood floors, automatic heat. Must be seen to be appreciated. Call Mrs. Fred Couch F-2386 between 9:00 and 4:30. (3-8087-1)

SINGLE CORNER ROOM—MALE OCcupant preferable-quiet and close in. Call 4491 after 5 P.M. or call in person 218 1/2 Vance St. (2-8076-1)

FOR SALE 6B

27 FT.—3 ROOM ZIMMER HOUSE trailer in excellent condition, close to service house, fence inclosed yard ideal for child. No. 3, Trailer Court, Pittsboro Rd. (3-8086-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court (6-8073-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1935 DODGE HAS PASSED INSPECtion see Templeton 188 Daniels Rd. V. V. (3-8076-1)

1936 PLYMOUTH COUPE WITH RUMble seat. Reconditioned engine, new parts. A bargain at $350. See Sam Langell at 212 Lewis. (4-8026-1)

LOST 12

A CHANGE PURSE CONTAINING A silver matchease in front of Whitehead, Tuesday night. Please return to Dulla Jonsdottir, 310 McIver. (2-8087-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite. Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A WOMAN TO COME BETWEEN MEN!

IDA LUPINO
CORNEL WILDE
CELESTE HOLM
RICHARD WIDMARK

ROAD HOUSE

with O. Z. WHITEHEAD • ROBERT KARNES
GEORGE BERANGER • IAN MacDONALD
GRANDON RHODES

—Also—
SPORTLIGHT — NEWS
—TODAY—
CAROLINA

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

OYSTER BAR
OYSTERS Steamed the Way You Like Them!
RELAX in Our Lovely Dining Room and Enjoy One of Our Delicious Dinner Specialties
THE PINES

Low Prices? Yes!
Quality Goods? Yes!
Delivery? Yes!
It's—
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE

CALL US FOR—
• General Sheet Metal Work
• Gutters
• Roof Repairing
Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO — PHONE 9056

NOW!
3 weeks delivery on your Tailored Suit
JERRY the TAILOR
Over N. C. Cafeteria

"TO ALL LADS AND LASSIES"
We Wish to Announce the Opening of
"SURPLUS SALES"
425 W. Main Street
Durham, N. C.
(OPPOSITE COLONIAL STORE AT 5 POINTS)
We handle Army and Navy Surplus!
COME SEE US FOR BARGAINS

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Phone 3686
OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

—Also—
CARTOON — NOVELTY
—TODAY—
VILLAGE

DRAPERIES
SLIPCOVERS
BEDSPREADS
Selection of Material on Hand
MISS LILLIAN EDWARDS
CAROLINA DRAPERY SHOP
IN OGBURN FURNITURE CO.

The ORIENTAL
CHINESE-AMERICAN RESTAURANT
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

HERE'S good mops for people with problem hair. Even a cow lick stays in place all day long with Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. What's more, by using it regularly every morning it will relieve annoying dryness and remove loose dandruff. Non-alcoholic Wildroot Cream-Oil contains Lanolin. Helps you pass the famous Wildroot Finger-Nail Test. Get a bottle or tube at any drug or toilet goods counter today. And ask your barber for professional applications. Remember there's only one Wildroot Cream-Oil—so don't buy any udder!
* of 327 Burroughs Drive, Snyder, N. Y.
Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil
Get it at
SUTTON'S
DRUG STORE
Your Walgreen Agency

Here's a model you'll go for!

Regular Button-Down with "Comfort Contour" collar
Van Heusen builds extra good looks into this campus favorite. Low-setting for that casual look, for a wonderful feeling around your neck. In smooth white oxford, lab-tested, Sanforized—a new shirt free if your Van Heusen shrinks out of size. Ask for Van Heusen DeLuxe Oxfordian, $3.95. Other Van Heusen shirts $3.50, $3.95, $1.95.
You'll find college men's collar favorites in Van Heusen
the world's smartest
shirts
PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, N. Y.
"VAN HEUSEN" IS A TRADE MARK REGISTERED IN THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE

SKOL — Practice — Tonite — at HARRY'S

VEMBER 19, 1948

iversity lorist
e Best in Flowers"
Theatre Bldg.
apel Hill, N. C.
elephone 6816

William Kohn
TOMETRIST
Phone 3686
ROLINA COFFEE SHOP
-Friday 9:00-5:00
rday 9:00-1:00

NITURE . . .
tered • Refinished
ed • Made to Order
es Valentine's binet Shop
367 — Pittsboro Rd.

SPIRIT of WEST POINT
—Also—
OON — NOVELTY
—TODAY—
LLAGE

E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.
N RESTAURANT

root Cream-Oil
er-Nail Test
WILDROOT CREAM-OIL

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS

No Better Than Average
Kate Had Culture
Horned Dilemma

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and colder.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20,1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 52

Favored Tar Heels Take On Duke Today

Duke Appoints Arthur Edens As President

New York Educator Succeeds Flowers

DURHAM, Nov. 19—(UP)—Dr. Arthur Hollis Edens, 47-year-old New York educator, was named today as the next president of Duke university.

Duke's Board of Trustees met here to announce the selection of Edens to succeed 77-year-old Dr. Robert Flowers as head of the 5,000-student university. At present, Edens is an associate director of the General Education board, with offices in New York city.

A spokesman said Edens is expected to assume the presidency on a fulltime basis sometime after Feb. 1. At that time, Flowers will become chancellor of the university, the board said.

Flowers, who has been president of Duke since 1940, asked last January to be relieved of the post. The aging educator had been on the Duke faculty for more than 50 years.

The board also announced that Dr. William H. Wannamaker, formerly vice-president and dean of the university, would become vice-chancellor.

Edens is the son of a Methodist minister. Earlier this year he was chosen to the post with the General Education board, which is a part of the Rockefeller foundation. He had previously served as dean of administration at Emory university in Atlanta, Ga., and vice-chancellor of the University system of Georgia.

Dr. Graham Made Board Chairman Of Foundation

Dr. Frank P. Graham returned to his normal duties yesterday after having attended a meeting of the Carnegie foundation in New York this past week.

At the foundation meeting, Dr. Graham was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of the group. He is also the retiring president of the national association of state universities and the incoming vice-president of the Association of American Universities.

Midwest Storm Roars to East; Eight Are Dead

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. — (UP) — One of the worst early-winter blizzards in years roared across the plains states on its way to the East today, stranding trains and autos, cutting communications and isolating more than 100 towns.

At least eight deaths were attributed to the weather, including four on icy highways.

The storm piled up huge snowdrifts and sheathed highways in ice across wide areas of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Heavy snows fell in Kansas as the mercury dropped and winds reeled up to 85 miles an hour. Oldtimers at Dodge City, Kansas, said the storm was the worst winter-opening blizzard in memory.

Up to nine inches of snow blanketed much of South Dakota. At Belmont, S. D., snow plows ground toward a country school where 20 children had been marooned for 24 hours.

Kyser, Snavely Steal Show At Rained-Out Pep Rally

By Herb Natchman

Dark skies and rain did away with the open-air pre-game pep rally last night, but it didn't stop a packed Memorial hall from roaring through what Kay Kyser called "the most enthusiastic rally I've ever seen."

The torchlight parade and bonfire were called off and so was the scheduled broadcast from Duke. But it didn't stop Norm Sper and his staff of cheerleaders plus the cracks of Kyser, Coach Snavely and Joe Romano to keep more than 1,800 students on the edge of their seats for nearly two hours.

A large confederate flag riding high on a fishing pole touched off the rally with the singing of "Dixie" followed by the usual yells and songs until the arrival of Kyser and his antics.

But Kyser's beautiful wife Georgia Carroll stole the show. After the third bow she finally quieted the crowd with "I'm from Texas, If anybody had to beat Texas, I'm glad it was Carolina."

The Old Professor wasn't to be outdone by his wife. "Carolina is the only one that can beat Georgia and get away with it, I can't."

Norm Spear tried to bring down the house when he put Snavely and Kyser on the microphone together. Kayser introduced Snavely by saying, "Now, I want you to meet an assistant of mine, the greatest correspondence coach in America. Come on out, Carl."

Snavely retaliated, "It's been understood for quite a while that Kay is the chief coach at Carolina. I'm glad that he's here so he can take full responsibility tomorrow."

Kyser snapped right back with, "We were down at the Monogram club tonight where the boys were eating supper. Georgia went on ahead of me, and I can cay one thing, I don't know what kind of running attack you'll have tomorrow Coach, but the passing will be all right."

Not to be outdone, Snavely replied, "It's a shame we haven't checked into Georgia's eligibility before. If we had her on the receiving end tomorrow, we'd really have something. Our receiver doesn't give the passer any inspiration."

One could hear a pin drop in the auditorium when Kyser began talking on Carolina spirit. He compared present cheering and spirit with the old days when he was a student here. To Norm Sper he said, I'"ve been checking

(See RALLY, page 6)

GEORGIA CARROLL and KAY KYSER

'Old Professor' Here To Help Beat Duke

By Bill Buchan

Kay Kyser, Carolina's gift to the world of music, arrived at the Carolina Inn yesterday afternoon with his wife, the former Georgia Carroll, to witness today's football classic in Kenan stadium.

"I want the Tar Heels to beat Duke, period," Kyser said. "I'll settle for a one-point win." The only plans that the old professor of the musical kollege has for his visit here were to attend the pep rally last night and to see the game this afternoon.

"I don't think I will do any cheerleading this afternoon," he said, "because Norm Sper is doing such an excellent job. Besides that, I don't know any of the new cheers." He indicated, however, that he was looking forward to seeing the Carolina cheering section perform their famous card stunts today. There was a slight indication, though, that Kyser might be "persuaded" to appear before the cheering section and lead some cheers. He and his wife will be seated in the guest box at the stadium.

In the Inn yesterday afternoon, Kyser seemed concerned over the tarpaulin that was placed over the playing field to keep it as dry as possible. After Business manager Claude Teague stated that the tarp could not keep the field completely dry, Kyser offered suggestions as to how the tarpaulin should have been placed.

His last game here was several years ago when Duke defeated the Tar Heels 6-3. "That year," Kyser said, "We were ahead at the half 3-0, then I walked across the field to make a broadcast and when I came back, we'd lost the ball game."

"That's my main worry about being here today," he added, "I'm afraid that I may be a Jonah for the team."

Questioned about Charlie Spivak's presence on the campus, the genial musician stated that he did not know whether he would be able to attend the dances or not. "However," he said, "Charlie is an old friend of mine. He has a fine band."

He and Mrs. Kyser will leave Chapel Hill after the game tomorrow and he plans to be in New York Monday. They have been visiting Kyser's mother in Rocky Mount for several days.

Ava Gardner, the other North Carolina celebrity who was scheduled to appear here this weekend cancelled her reservation at the Inn yesterday, officials announced.

Israel Accepts Palestine Truce; No Arab Answer

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Israel accepted the United Nations Security council order for a Palestine armistice today and said it was ready for "the earliest possible" peace negotiations with the Arab states.

In a telegram to acting mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Israel also announced it has withdrawn certain military forces from the Negev in compliance with Security council orders, but would leave in the desert area of South Palestine the troops that were there Oct. 14, when the UN truce was broken.

Bunche said that the Israeli reply, sent hours before the midnight deadline, was "gratifying." He interpreted it to mean that the Jews were ready to settle the Negev issue along the lines laid down by the Security council.

Town Men's Association Nominates Taylor, Sharpe, Hoyle for Position

Nelson Taylor, Dave Sharpe and Skip Hoyle were nominated Thursday by the Town Men's association as candidates for the presidency of the group in the fall election to be held Dec. 2.

Other nominations made were, for the vice-presidency, Bob Padrick, Dan McGlaughlin and George Rodman. John Taylor and McGaughlin were nominated to run for the position of secretary and Gran Childress, John Taylor and Bud Freeman are running for the treasurer's post.

Six candidates were nominated to the executive board, of whom three will be elected. Those nominated are: Ralph Hebb, Bill Buchan, Skip Hoyle, J. C. Jordan, Harry Pendergast and Jimmy James.

Buchan was elected as a permanent member of the Graham Memorial board of directors for a 12 month term. The position was authorized by the Student legislature several weeks ago.

Retiring officers of the organization are John Van Hecke, president; Alec Sessions, vice president; Dan McGlaughlin, secretary; and Gran Childress, treasurer.

An open meeting of all town students was announced for Monday night, Nov. 29, when all students running for the Student legislature from town will be invited to speak.

Undecided

CHARLOTTE, Nov. 19. — (UP) — Federal Judge D. E. Henderson pondered today whether he would be able to give his support to Justice this weekend.

Charlie Justice, that is, the North Carolina tailback.

The judge, a UNC graduate, has two sons attending Duke and a third attending "North Carolina. A family conference was scheduled today to decide father's stand while attending the Duke-Carolina clash tomorrow.

New Card Stunts Will Be Finest Ever Presented

At halftime today, Tar Heel fans in the student card section, with the help of Head Cheerleader Norm Sper, plan to perform the finest card stunts ever seen.

Sper appealed to students who are going to be seated in the stunt section, "Let's put on a real show. Duke tried it and quit because they do not believe that the stunts can work. Be real careful."

The most spectacular card stunt ever to be tried will be a picture of a gigantic fire-cracker with a long fuse. The fuse will proceed to burn and when it reaches the firing end, a large "BOOM" will replace the firecracker. A blue splotch will then show up and cards will begin to flip until the white UNC takes its place.

Meanwhile, the band will give a preview of the approaching season by a dramatization of "The night before Christmas." The drum major will be dressed as Santa Claus and the children will be acted out by the majorettes. The tuba players in the band will be reindeers and spell out the words Merry X'mas.

During the game and the half, clouds of blue and white confetti will shower over the stands. The confetti will be sold before the game by members of the World Student Service Fund committee for ten cents a bag.

Traditional Game To Draw 44,000 For 33rd Renewal

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina and Duke, rivals through 33 years of football warfare, renew their battling today in the classic game of the year's Southern conference grid program. The kickoff will be at 2 o'clock before a sellout crowd of 44,000 which will jam Kenan stadium for the colorful affair.

The Tar Heels of Coach Carl Snavely, undefeated in their last 15 games and ranked fifth in the nation, have been established as favorites by a margin of no less than two touchdowns. But there are no signs of overconfidence in the Carolina camp. The team has worked harder this week than at any other time this season.

Over in Durham, reports leaking out of the Blue Devil practices indicate that wily Wallace Wade has his charges psychologically on edge for the game. Duke, after a slow start in which it tied State and Tennessee, has improved rapidly. The club's overall record now is four wins, two losses, and two ties.

However, in their last two engagements the Blue Devils have racked up 82 points while beating George Washington, 62-0, and losing to Wake Forest 27-20. With a strong offense to go with its admittedly potent line, the Dukes can be counted on to give Carolina a real battle today.

Both student bodies are fired up for the game and another epic battle like the 1940 affair, when Carolina scored a surprising 6-3 upset over Duke, or 1935, when Duke smashed Carolina's Rose Bowl-bound team, 25-0, may be in prospect.

Last night, both schools staged massive pep rallies. At Carolina the students participated in a float display, torchlight parade, and one final pep rally in addition to attending the Charlie Spivak dance.

Duke's cheerleaders were somewhat foiled in their plans Wednesday night. A 50-foot high pile of wood for a giant bonfire was "accidentaly" burned ahead of the scheduled rally.

Both teams appeared in good shape physically for the game. The Tar Heels, roaring down the stretch to a possible bowl bid, probably will be minus the services of Guard Bill Wardle, who has a leg injury. Wardle worked out lightly this week. Regular blocking back Don Hartig also remains on the injured list.

For the Blue Devils, only Tommy Hughes, first string quarterback, will miss the game. Fred Folger and Bill Cox, Duke's two top tailbacks, apparently have recovered from injuries which have hampered them this year. So another individual duel between Fast Freight Folger and Choo Choo Charlie Justice appears likely.

Most of the praises recently at Duke, however, have gone to one Jack Friedland, and not to Folger. Friedland is a hefty 190-pounder who has been going great guns at wingback for the Devils. He got off an 82-yard touchdown gallop against Wake Forest and generally has been impressive with his work thus far.

Coach Wade is expected to call on his newly-introduced Duke version of the T-formation. Always a staunch advocate of the single wing style of offense, Wade amazed the sports public of this State by trying out the T against Wake Forest two weeks ago. The plan worked well against the surprised Deacons. Wade, however, had no occasion to use it in the 62-0 rout

(See CAROLINA, page 4)

Claudia Lee Crowned Yack Queen At Dance

Claudia Lee, beautiful blonde senior from Marshallville, Ga., was crowned Yackety Yack beauty queen last night at the first of the Grail dances featuring Charlie Spivak and his orchestra in Woollen gym.

Sponsored by Kappa Sigma fraternity, the queen was chosen from a field of 84 coeds by John Robert Powers, head of the famous modeling agency, who said she was "the most naturally beautiful girl he had ever seen."

Bandleader Charlie Spivak served as master of ceremonies for the crowning of the queen at the dance last night. The crown was placed on Claudia's head by Betty Brown of Asheville, last year's winner.

Members of the court wore orchid corsages and the Queen carried a bouquet.

The members of the Queen's court and their sponsors were: Anna Black, Norfolk, Va., Pi Phi sorority; Barbara Bess, Sylva, Alderman; Gene Caraher, Clearwater, Fla., Chi O; Mary Craig, Asheville, Spencer; Mary Louise Powe, Durham, Beta Theta Pi;

Sarah Jane Farlow, Augusta, Ga., Sigma Nu; Anne Green, New Castle, Pa., Alderman; Ferne Hughes, Rainelle, W. Va., Sound and Fury; Elizabeth Hellen, Chapel Hill, Town Girls club; Joan Lucas, St. Petersburg, Fla., ATO; Betty Lokey, Raleigh, Kappa Sig.

Elizabeth Myatt, Goldsboro, Pi Phi; Weddy Thorp, Rocky Mount, DKE; Marjorie Norris, Jacksonville, Fla., Order of the Golden Bear; and Audrey Donnan, Rutherford, N. J., Phi Kappa Sigma.

Reserve Squadron To Be Activated Here Immediately

Maj. Clyde C. Carter, USAFR, announced yesterday that an Air Reserve composite squadron is to be activated in Chapel Hill in the immediate future.

According to Major Carter, the "composite squadron" is the first step in the organization of a full-fledged reserve unit. Although there will be no compensation paid for drills with the composite squadron, a concerted effort will be made to get this unit up to the full strength of 134 officers that is required for a "table of organization and equipment" (TO-E) unit. If and when such a TO-E unit is organized, the members will be paid for 12 drill sessions per year.

Major Carter also stated that a complete roster of officers and enlisted men for the new composite squadron will be sent to the 14th Air Force headquarters on or about Dec. 1.

All members of the air force reserve—both officers and enlisted men — who are interested in being assigned to the Chapel Hill squadron should contact Major Carter at his office, 310 Bingham hall, immediately.

Catholic Supper Will Be Dec. 2

Catholics in the community will hold their third annual Parish turkey dinner, sponsored by the Rosary guild, Thursday, Dec. 2, at 6:30 at the Chapel Hill country club.

All Catholic members and their friends are invited, and should secure tickets in advance. Price of the dinner is $1.25, and tickets will be on sale after each mass on Sundays.

Floats Float Down Streets In First Gigantic Parade

By Lincoln Kan

Two tooting locomotives choo-chooed down Cameron avenue by staid South building yesterday in a gigantic float parade of 28 automobiles and floats to open the Duke weekend festivities.

Thousands of students and townspeople lined the village streets, laughing and cheering as the floats rolled by. Claudia Lee, campus beauty, rode atop the Kappa Sigma entry, defying the threatening cloudy, damp weather in nothing but a bathing suit and a short length fur coat.

As the entries from dormitories, fraternities and sororities wended their way through the town and university streets, Chief of Police W. T. Sloan cleared the way personally in his car with siren blowing. The winners of the entries will be announced at the half of today's game.

At one stage of the parade a grocery truck carrying a load of ice took over the lead and a wag in the crowd said, "Looks like we got the game on ice." Smith dormitory trotted out its beauties with Daisy Belle Anderson and Betty Proctor all dressed up as football heroes. Aycock men's dormitory gave a preview of "Operations Duke" with internes and doctors clustered around a sick Duke patient.

Dean Berryhill To Talk Monday

Dr. Reece Berryhill, dean of the School of Medicine, will meet with pre-medical students Monday night at 8:15 in Bingham 103. The group will discuss the status of pre-medical and predental students with respect to the draft. It was first announced that the meeting would take place in Gerrard hall, but it was moved to Bingham.

Bird Club Meeting Scheduled Monday

The Chapel Hill Bird club will meet at the home of Mrs. R. B. Sharpe, 505 Pittsboro street, Sunday afternoon at 3:30. A talk on "Bird Life in Chapel Hill" will be given by Phillips Russell of the Journalism department.

Ralph Edward Kent, Foundation Head In Athens, Greece, to Talk Tuesday

Ralph Edward Kent, who recently returned from his post as deputy area director for the Near East foundation in Athens, Greece, will speak Tuesday at 3 o'clock in the Horace Williams lounge in Graham Memorial. Townspeople, faculty and students are invited to attend.

Kent has spent almost three decades working in various capacities in the Near East, and will bring his varied professional experiences in peace and war to Chapel Hill.

Working with Laird Archer, foreign director of the Near East foundation, Kent was active in the service of the various projects which the Foundation set up in Greece, not only for immediate relief of Greek children, but also for long-range demonstration programs of child welfare, agricultural rehabilitation, livestock improvement, rural sanitation and home economics.

Following the talk by Kent, who is being brought to Chapel Hill by the International Relations department of the Community club and the North Carolina World Peace forum, a tea will be held.

Sokolovsky Hits British Refusal

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet commander in Germany, said tonight that the Berlin problem could be solved easily, but that Britain has refused to accept basic principles agreed on by the Big Four powers in Moscow.

Sokolovsky told correspondents of the Soviet-controlled German press that Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander in Germany, wrecked the Berlin negotiations in September by refusing to adhere to the Moscow directives.

"The proposals of the British commander in Berlin strongly deviated from the principles of the Four Power directive of August 30," Sokolovsky said. "Which again goes to show that the British commander is not even striving to achieve an agreement on the basis of the directive."

Three Horned Dilemma

For the past few days, we have been watching the press wires carefully for any sort of encouraging news from Asia.

Unfortunately the wires tap out little that is encouraging. We read . . Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek appeals directly to President Truman . . . William C. Buillet former ambassador leaves for China soon . . . Claire Chennault's U. S. headquarters says rumors are circulating about a re-activation of the Flying Tigers . . . Suchow, the gateway to Nanking, the capital of China is feared to be surrounded.

The war-god is stirring his pot, and it seems that we are helpless in face of the rapidly boiling events. The thinly disguised Communist "liberal" does not conform to the future plans of this nation or any democratic nation. The Kuomingtong lies on the other extreme and leaves an unalterable bad taste. American military intervention would violate all covenents so-far agreed to by the family of nations.

It seems that we have only three courses of action left. (1) Leave China alone and let the two opposing factions fight it out . . with the inevitable result of a Communist victory. (2) Pour supplies to Chiang and his troops, hoping that they might reorganize in their days of trial a sincere and honest government with whom we can deal in the future. (3) Send military personnel and assist the Kuomingtong in its battle, so that China can still be the buffer state between ourselves and Russia in the steely cold war that is in progress.

This three horned dilemma is a difficult one to solve. We feel that we might as well face the facts. There are authentic reports that reveal the assistance being given to the Chinese Communist by their sympathizer, Russia. Russia stands to gain by a Communistic China in event of another world conflict. We, on the other hand, cannot afford to have an antagonistic power marshalling the vast human and material resources of Asia for the obvious reason of self-preservation. Futhermore, we of the democracies believe so much in law and adherence of law that we cannot morally break covenents set up to maintain law and order by taking any unilateral military action. What can we do?

A possible solution is to give aid in form of material and advice through a military commission (if China asks for the latter). We will do this in hopes that the Nationalist troops will be able to stalemate the communist Chinese above the Yellow river. In the meantime we will insist upon a true reorganization of the political and financial structure as well as helping the present Chinese government expand and improve her revenue getting facilities.

We must do something; otherwise the predictions of the resigned will come true. The third world war may well start in China. We must have peace. —L.K.

No Better Than Average

A 50 per cent turn out of voters in a campus general election is considered an excellent showing. In the recent national elections the percentage of eligible voters who showed up at the polls was about 47 per cent. In light of these figures, the freshmen did just about average or a little better in their election of Thursday. From an enrollment of 1,030 freshmen, 478 voted—giving them a percentage of 46.4.

This wasn't a bad showing, but the amount of apparent interest exhibited before the election led to the expectation that the freshmen would put their elders in the shade in the matter of interest in their government. As usual, however, about half of the people were making all the noise.

The discouraging factor in the picture is that most of the freshmen who voted were fraternity pledges who voted under compulsion—or at least a great deal of exhortation—from their fraternities. This means that our freshmen are no better than the rest of us; about half will do their duty, but only under prodding. Then there is always the other half that takes no interest whatever in their rights and duties as citizens.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Deaning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don, Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Helen Highwater

FRUSTRATED. It's hardly worth the trouble to walk to the door with a date these days, the Tri Delts claim. There's a new house rule that says absolutely no public display of affection will be tolerated on the premises, so the girls bid fond adieu to their departing males with a polite handshake.

COMPLIMENT? Greensboroite Buddie Pierce went horseback riding with friends this week. Next day an aquaintence who had noticed her riding form saw her in the Y court. "I want to compliment you," he said. "You have a nice seat."

He darn near got his face slapped.

SINGING SOUTH. People who thought they heard an old fashioned revival meeting going on in the basement of Graham Memorial Wednesday were almost correct. It was Lib Stoney and her protege's staging rehearsal for the "Songs of the Old South" program which was broadcast from the Rendezvous room last night. The show went over big.

GOOD AS GONE. Gordon Carpenter, a Durham lad, has seen the light. Natalie Shelley, Illinois Miss who came down to Tar Heelia for summer school, flashed the bulb in his eyes, and come Christmas time, something definite is expected on the situation.

RED MENACE. The expression "ants in your pants" is strictly literal with the boys in Graham, who claim they are waging a losing war with the red pests. They say it's so bad they have to fight for desk space to study on.

CLIPSHEET CLIPPED. This exchange of communications comes through the courtesy of the Clipsheet of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist church:

SATURDAY EVENING POST
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Gentlemen:

Will you please inform Mr. Glencannon that Kirkintilloch has voted Dry by a majority of 910?

Very truly yours.
EDITOR, THE CLIPSHEET.

Editor, THE CLIPSHEET
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:

Maybe that is the reason why Mr. Glencannon spends practically all his time at sea.

Sincerely,
THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

DIRTY TRICK. Joe Dudeck, a Graham dorm resident, has been going with a girl named Wally for about a year. She lives back home in Hazelton, Pa. A few Sundays ago he received a telegram from her sister saying, "Wally got married. Thought you would like to know." Joe was pretty low for a week or so, until he found out someone was pulling his leg.

FIRE. There's a law against arson, and the Law Wives association almost broke it unintentionally Thursday night. About 40 minutes after they ended a bridge session in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial and GM was locked up for the night, the building filled with smoke. Mike Loftis discovered the fire in a trash-filled cardboard box in the lounge and a fire extinguisher took care of it before damage was done.

NO ELEPHANT. Rufus Butler of Lewis dorm is going to take memory lessons. He called for his date at the ADPi house the other night only to discover when he walked into a parlor filled with girls that he couldn't remember whom he was dating. They let him stammer a while before telling him it was Lucy Whitehead.

BIG NOISE. Residents of the Pittsboro road trailer court received rude awakenings week before last as the sound of explosions was accompanied by rocks sailing into the trailer area and through a few windows. They got used to it, however, as blasting for the new medical building continued throughout last week.

This 'n That

Katie Sure Had Culture

By Bill Buchan

Wilbur Amberson, equipped with five fifths, two $25 tickets to the game and a delicious blonde, showed up in my room last night with a silly grin on his kisser. Why Wilbur was smiling, I didn't know until Katie—that's her name—walked in the door behind him.

Now this Katie is quite a lady. Second to Ava Venus Gardner, she is the biggest point that has reached this fair village in many a day. She is, she swears, a product of St. Mary's in Raleigh and therefore she is a cultured, intelligent example in the best light of American womanhood.

When Wilbur opened the door to my room, I kept my seat as my chair was the only comfortable one in the room and I knew Amberson would take it, if I got up. I was a little surprised when Katie came over and sat in my lap because "she wanted to get acquainted." I was surprised three minutes later when I was sitting on the floor and Katie was smiling in my chair.

Then Katie started talking. Carolina coeds should sit up and take notice, for Katie is a definite threat to their existence. Fifteen minutes after her arrival, every wolf in Sutton Heights—all 17 of them—had moved in on me and I was outside the door looking in. Wilbur just smiled and looked knowingly through it all. Right then and there was when the trouble started. Carolina gentlemen by the dozens began to flock up the stairs to our otherwise exclusive living quarters. I just stood and looked while straight-thinking people like Nelson Taylor, Charlie Walker, Cliff Wilson, Don Scott, Charlie Long, Tom Kerr, Jess Dedmond, Ed Darnell, Bill Hood, Ed Davenport and Bill Miller just accidentally drifted in to take a look at the, as I said, biggest point that has hit this fair village in many a day.

All these guys just stood there and looked and Katie just sat there smiling and talking. Then she winked at Wilbur and got up from her chair. At that moment a low moan came out from the room as forty otherwise straight-thinking men collapsed to the floor.

Katie just smiled, tickled my chin as she passed and muttered "I shall return." Wilbur looked at me a bit devilishly and said shyly, "It's been nice, we're going to supper. Revive the boys, we'll be back, the next show starts at 8."

Now, here's the point and warning for the coeds, Katie is going to be down at Kenan this afternoon and she's going to be noticed. We've tried to make arrangements to have local stores sell handcuffs at a wholesale price, so you gals can hang on to your man. There weren't any available, however, and you are all going to be on your own. She's going to be sitting on row BB in section 18 right next to the student section.

There's nothing really wrong with Katie, except she's a delicious blonde, she's got a terrific figure and she loves to have men, any kind of men, sitting at her feet. After she came back from supper last night, we got into a frank conversation about the first reaction of campus males to her appearance. Katie laughed it off with a "it always happens" comment. Wilbur nodded his stupid head. The two of them are proud of Katie's possibilities. They are also pinned with a safety pin that Wilbur saved from his diaper days and they're planning to get hitched soon.

But don't say I didn't warn you. We'll probably have the biggest love-breakup mess here tonight that has happened in years. What Venus Gardner did to make love, Katie is going to do to break up love.

You have done been warned.

Alumni Series

First In Federal Finance

By "Wink" Locklair

There are only two pictures hanging in the Washington office of James E. Webb, U. S. Director of the Budget. Behind an impressive desk is a photograph of Harry Truman and Webb's commission from the President. The second picture, hanging over the fireplace, is a view of the University of North Carolina campus.

Now, at 42, Director Webb, Class of '28, is one of Carolina's youngest and most successful sons in Federal government bably the top financial job in service. He holds what is probably the top financial job in the world. The daily cost of maintaining the Berlin air lift or the expense of billeting a soldier in Germany is at his fingertips for immediate relay, if necessary to the President, who frequently checks such matters with Webb by private phone. The Carolina alumnus is White House authority on all fiscal affairs.

After he left Chapel Hill as Phi Beta Kappa in 1928, Webb entered the Marine Air corps and earned his wings at Pensacola, Florida, in 1931. After a year's tour of duty, he returned to the Nation's capitol to work as secretary to Ex-Governor O. Max Gardner. He studied law at night at George Washington, and later received his license to practice. Eventually, Webb became associated with the Sperry Gyroscope company in New York where he became treasuer and, finally, vice-president. While in New York, he was named president of the Acronautics association there.

Webb resigned his Sperry connections to resume active duty with the Marine corps and orders had just been received for strategic duty in the invasion of Japan when the Nipponese surrendered.

Last week he retired from the presidency of the Washington chapter of the University Alumni association, the organization which did such an excellent job as host to visiting students in the Capitol for the Carolina-Maryland game. This morning, Mr. Webb has returned to Chapel Hill for a meeting of the Business Foundation, Inc. which has raised more than a million dollars for the support of the School of Commerce. And he will be one of the enthusiastic boosters of the Tar Heel cause in the game between Duke and Carolina in Kenan stadium at 2 o'clock.

The future of the University is of great importance to Director Webb, and his brief visits from time to time are tangible evidence of his loyalty and faith in it. And he hopes to pass his devotion on to James, junior. When Jimmy was born in April, 1947, his father wrote to the Alumni office, saying, "I guess it won't be necessary to enter his application for Carolina this far in advance, but you may rest assured that we will rear him a darned good Tar Heel."

Alas, Tecopa

Tail With A Point To It

(ED NOTE: About this time every year, pale-faced bowmen take to the wood of Westchester county, up north of New York city, to hunt deer for one moon. Once in a blue moon they kill one. Reading about this autumnal pastime quicked the Cherokee blood in U.P. Staffer Leo Turner's veins. His redskin ancestors killed deer with a bow and arrow, he reasoned, why not Leo? And besides, his Indian name, Tecopa, registered on the Cherokee rolls in Oklahoma means hunter or something like that. As inevitably as bicarbonate follows venison, Leo went a-hunting with a department store bow and—count it—one arrow. Any similarity of his prose to Longfellow's stately poetry is strictly by chance.)

By Leo (Tecopa)Turner

ARMONK, N. Y., Nov. 19—(UP)—When the sun touched the Gowanus, hung like a red ball over Brooklyn, climbed to light Manhattan's canyons, a hunter entered Westchester's wildness.

Far from Oolagah, Oklahoma, far from his Cherokee homeland, from years of overeating, he looked nothing like Hiawatha. Yet he stalked the buck deer with a store-bought bow and arrow.

The bow cost $9.98 at Macy's, another 79 cents for the arrow, complete with broad steel head and feathers. The clerk wanted to sell several arrows. "One deer, one arrow," said the hunter.

In his wigwam making faces, sat the western game protector, Edward Townsend, gaunt and grizzled, who for 30 years has worn the warden's green. Once Townsend was husky, weighing 210 pounds in his sock feet. Now he weighs 165 but he still charges $1.25 for a hunting license.

One-hundred other hunters already treked the woodland, shooting darts in all directions. None had killed a deer.

In the morning he saw three deers. Two were does and the third was fightened. Then came back the wisdom of his father. "Sit like a stump," His father told him. "Deers are all near-sighted."

So like a stump sat he, that his own wife wouldn't know him, wouldn't nag him, wouldn't vex him, asking where he left his rubbers, warning him against the giggling water. So like a stump was he, three other hunters passed without remarking. Lunchtime also passed unnoticed.

Softly the deer came toward him, softly in the evening shadows, looming bigger in the half-light, coming closer every minute.

Stealthily he unsheathed his arrow, quietly fitted it to the browstring, pulled back on the sinew, but alas he couldn't budge it.

With a quick glance about him, he placed both feet on the strong bow, put both hands on the bowstring, pulled with arms and back and shoulders.

Onto his back he toppled. The arrow zinged skyward. He was on hands and knees when it sped back earthward, and hit him where he wasn't looking.

To the nearest inn he staggered, propped his typewriter on the mantel. Across the forest primeval the sun was setting, but the hunter wasn't.

Write Away

Tired of Robertson

Editor:

A lot of us around here are getting pretty tired of seeing Bill Robertson's propaganda come out in print so much. A few have even written in to the DTH pointing out that the amount of space the Commies get in the DTH is all out of proportion to the size of their organization, but still about every other morning when I pick up the paper, that man is there again.

The Communist organization in the U.S. is based on small highly organized cells which are highly vocal and generally have means of getting their propaganda into print. Here at Carolina they have succeeded well in accomplishing one of their purposes that of convincing people that there are a lot more Communist lefties, Wallacites, or whatever you want to call them, than there actually are. Being new to this campus and having heard much about Communists at Chapel Hill, I was very much surprised to see what a small vote Henry Wallace got in Orange county.

The way Bill writes about the "heroic achievement of the Soviet Union" and the great social wisdom of its leaders makes me wonder if he wouldn't like to take a trip to the Land Where Dreams Come True and see for himself just what he's been working for. I will be most happy to contribute to a fund for buying Bill Robertson a ticket to Moscow. Of course it would be a one way ticket, because who would want to return to the capitalist oppressed, corrupt, morally ill society after seeing the glory, grandeur, and prosperity of Russia and its people?

Bill's answer will probably be: "I would like very much to visit the Soviet Union, but due to this and that, I regret, etc." But don't be discouraged, Tovarisch Robertson, you may yet get your chance to see what things look like over there, and if and when you do, I think you'll be a lot sadder and a lot wiser and have a lot more faith in America.

Ed Williams

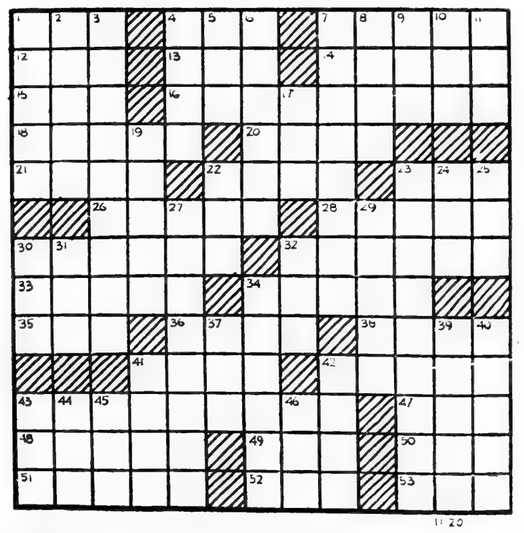
(Like all other columnists, Robertson appears only once a week, and as long as students write letters like this, he will be serving the purpose for which the Daily Tar Heel prints him. Robertson writing for Communism is the best argument we know for Democracy.)

The Need Is Great

Edtior:

Last week's newspapers carried the report that the two-year trials of Japanese war-lords had ended with the sentencing of twenty-five prisoners to death or imprisonment.

Although not condoning the actions of war criminals, I consider it important to recognize that the procedure by which such individuals are tried and punished is clearly extra-legal, and to examine the "justice" of such trials.



"Justice is the end of government," wrote Madison in "The Federalist"—and this is the kind of justice we know in our nation, our states, our towns—— a justice based on law enacted by governments. Yet we cling to the delusion that justice between nations is possible in a system of international anarchy.

Justice Pal, one of two dissenters in the Japanese trial decision, protested that "the judgment of the court might point the way for future revenge by the Japanese." Indeed, what assurance is there that any court acting without recourse to law administers justice and not revenge? What assurance that punishment is meted out by the policeman or judge and not by the criminal himself?

The same objections apply to any proposal for a world police force in the absence of world government. How would the action of such an armed force differ from an act of war? The application of force is police action only if the force is being used to execute the judgment of a court applying established law. Force used without previously enacted law is arbitrary, an act of violence, war—even if the decision to resort to it is made by the unanimous consent of all the powers of the world against the smallest and the weakest.

The need for a broader justice for men everywhere, a true justice based on law, has never been so great as today; and the first step toward its construction is to recognize its absence.

Peggie Garrison

HORIZONTAL
1. curve
4. soft food
7. digging implement
12. correlative of neither
13. topaz hummind-bird
14. engine
15. Japanese sash
16. breathing
18. restrain
20. weary
21. paradise
22. onion-like vegetable
23. equivalence
26. harsh breathing sounds
28. wrathful
30. harassed
32. rough sleep noises
33. medicinal plants
34. spurious
35. decimal unit
36. observed
38. informed
41. beloved
42. title of addres (Sp.)
43. contrite
47. feminine name
48. goddess of peace
49. bond
50. jewel
51. languished
52. shade tree
53. S-shaped worm

VERTICAL
1. positive pole
2. clothed
3. model
4. young salmon
5. salutation
6. adhesive mixtures
7. smiling affectedly
8. small orifice
9. mountain aborigine
10. put on
11. unit of work
17. pastry
19. strong gout
22. guided
23. clergyman's house
24. goddess of malicious mischief
25. thing, in law
27. slackened
29. course taken
30. flying mammal
31. malt drink
32. male offspring
34. rail at
37. corrode
39. mineral veins
40. bits
41. sand hill
42. arrest
43. tear violently
44. silkworm
45. writing implement
46. nothing

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Bowl-Bound Tar Heels Were Toppled From Heights By Duke 13 Years Ago

(ED. NOTE: The writer of this column should know what he is talking about. DTH Feature Editor Jim Dickinson was a 15-year-old freshman at the University in the fall of '35 when he watched Duke topple the bowl-bound Tar Heels.)

By Jim Dickinson

Today's clash between Duke's Blue Devils and the Carolina Tar Heels could be close, thrill-packed, exciting, nerve-wracking, a combination of all these, or could possibly go down in the books as an upset, but one thing is dead certain—this contest will never take on the immense proportions of the debacle which occured in Duke stadium on a rainy Saturday back in the fall of 1935.

For it was on that bleak November afternoon that a Rose Bowl-bound group of Tar Heels walked nonchalantly onto the soggy Duke turf with a string of eight consecutive victories swinging from their belts. Their record showed no ties and no defeats for the season.

About two hours and a half later these same Carolina gridders walked silently with bowed heads from Duke stadium, the victims of a stinging 25-0 drubbing at the hands of a Wallace Wade- coached team which hadn't been conceded half a chance for victory.

The merciless onslaught of the Ace Parker-led eleven had ended in sweet victory for Wade and his Blue Dukes. The exhuberance of the Duke followers knew no bounds. Their team, twice beaten in season play to date, had performed what many considered the impossible.

For the Carolina team, students, and alumni, this was the bitterest pill they had ever been forced to take. They had seen the greatest team in the University's history crumble in the wake of its greatest traditional rival.

The Carolina loss to Duke upset the dope bucket from coast to coast. Every sports expert in the nation except one or two had predicted the Tar Heels would vault the Dukes in their stride. What they all failed to take into account was that Wade and his charges had been "laying" for the Blue and White all year. They wanted vengeance for the 6-0 upset Carolina had pulled on them the year before.

Before the Duke game the Tar Heel team, flush with its victory string, had become recognized as the South's greatest eleven and were gunning for a top spot in the national standings, something really worth shooting for in lowly Southern circles at that time. With a win over Duke, the Carolina team looked like a shoo-in for an invitation to the Rose Bowl classic.

But those 46,880 rain-soaked partisan fans had hardly settled in their seats before they realized that Duke stadium would be no rose-studed stepping stone for Coach Carl Snavely and his legions. The Blue Devils drew first having outplayed the vaunted blood in the second quarter, Tar Heels from the opening whistle. The two teams retired at halftime with Duke holding a 6-0 advantage, and the mass of spectators had begun to sense that the charges might turn the followers sat through the steady rain with hope in their hearts that this great team could come back, that some way it could rally to overwhelm this wrathful and determined Duke team. Instead, the Blue Dukes added another score and Tar Heels hopes began to fade slowly to despair.

Scribe Witnessed Dismal Day in 1935 When Blue Dukes Knocked Off Carolina

But the Carolina students never gave up. They sat there soaked to the skin and yelled and cheered for a team which beyond a doubt was destined to go down in utter defeat. Their spirit never wanted until the final whistle had sounded.

Kay Kyser, the old reliable, stood bare-headed in the driving rain and rallied the Carolina cheering section to hoarseness until the bitter end. Although he had come cross-country to help usher a great Carolina to the Tournament of Roses, his spirit never died when he realized that Tar Heel dreams had faded into a nightmare.

At game's end a bewildered football eleven and a stunned Carolina student body filed sadly from Duke stadium, more than glad for a chance to go home and lick their wounds. The sound thrashing they had sustained, physical and mental, was almost unbearable. Everything that day belonged to the valiant Dukes.

Long will Tar Heel fans remember that historic Saturday when an underdog Blue Devil eleven who hadn't been given "half a chance" had what it took to knock a high-riding champion from his perch.

Sea-Going Scientist Spends Years To Prove 'Atlantis Is Just a Myth'

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 19—(UP)—The "Lost Continent" of Atlantis never existed, a sea-going scientist claimed today after 13 years of exploring the bottom of the Atlantic ocean.

Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia university said he has mapped, photographed, probed, sounded and visited the ocean deeps since 1935 and found no evidence of the mysterious continent believed to have sunk in a great cataclysm of pre-historic times.

"There never was such a place," Ewing declared flatly.

He told the National Academy of Sciences he wasn't looking directly for Atlantis, but he took undersea photographs as deep as 18,000 feet and found no buried temples or lost cities.

His photographs even failed to show any spectacular living monsters still unknown to science.

But Ewing's explorations of the most fantastic territory in the world, the "great unknown" frontier beneath the sea, have shed new light on the geological history of the world and how it is made.

Ewing concentrated his undersea research primarily along the so-called Mid-Atlantic ridge, running under the ocean from Iceland to the Antartic. Ancient historians believed the lost continent was located there, and some modern scientists claim the ridge is the last trace of the engulfed land.

The Columbia geophysicist said he has found on the ocean bottom vast gullies and canyons, and plains as flat and big as the prairies of the Midwest; vast "submarine rivers" flowing underneath the Atlantic; and mountains towering 10,000 feet above the ocean floor but still a mile below the surface.

"But there's nothing that looks like a 'lost continent' or drowned cities," he said. "Even if a city were covered by many feet of ooze, our photographs, dredges or soundings should give us some indication it was there."

The sea-going explorers have photographed animals which live in darkness three miles down, and have taken pictures of footprints and tracks left by animals which science thus far has been unable to identify.

However, none of the living monsters photographed were "unknown," Ewing said, and eventually the fossilized footprints should be identified.

Columbia oceanographers are using every available type of surface vessel and submarine to study the exact make-up of the ocean bottom, including sonar-type sounding devices, dredges, seismic reflections and core tubes.

Places Are Open In 5-10 Group Of Dance Class

Mrs. James S. Childers, instructor for the ballet classes sponsored by the YWCA, announced yesterday there are several vacancies in the five-to-ten year class.

These classes began several weeks ago and are held at the UVA club each Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Childers said that at present there were no vacancies in the three and four year age group.

46,000 Expected

RALEIGH, Nov. 19—(UP)—One hundred highway patrolmen will keep traffic moving tomorrow as an expected 46,000 fans jam Chapel Hill for the traditional North Carolina-Duke battle.

Patrol officials said one-way traffic would be allowed only on the east of Chapel Hill—into the town from 12:30 to 1:30 and out from 4:30 until 5:30.

Special Grass Is Cultivated On Mason Farm

Agriculture in the South may be revolutionized as a result of the successful production of Suiter's grass on the University's Mason farm, Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, head of the Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture revealed yesterday.

Officially known as "Kentucky 31," the grass was bought from a Mr. Suiter, a central Kentucky farmer and brought to the nursery here at Mason farm last year.

Dr. Bennett, describing the development of Suiter's grass as "one of the little things which builds strong nations like ours," explained that "not only does Suiter's grass stop erosion more successfully and hold more rainfall than other grasses, but it stays green through winter and summer and is highly nutritious and palatable."

Ths revolutionary new grass will enable cattle to graze the year 'round, reducing the expense of the farmer considerably by eliminating the necessity of maintaining mowing machines, hay stacks and silos.

Bowl Fever Sweeps Nation, Teams; Latest Ones: Refrigerator, Freedom

By Steve Snider

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(UP)—Much more than mere football victories over traditional or hated rivals will be at stake this weekend.

As many of the kids bash their heads around the nation, their inspiration will be drawn from such items as roses and raisins, Tangerines and oranges, cigars they aren't supposed to smoke, Sugar and cotton, fruit, salad and flowers, pineapples and corn.

Thirty-three products or categories—including freedom and refrigerators—will play host to college football between Thanksgiving day and sundown Jan. 1.

Is the bowl situation getting out of hand? It's already out, brother, and nobody seems to mind except the teams that can't qualify.

It's ready money in the bank for the schools that compete and part of the trip at least is a nice vacation for the players.

Charity does all right, too, in a great many cases. Perhaps there is no better cause in sports than the annual sellout for the East-West game at San Francisco for Shrine hospitals. Underprivileged children benefit from the Phoenix Salad bowl. Nearly all the others are non-profit affairs in the strictest sense.

Season to End With 33 Bowls

Some lose money. The Harbor bowl at San Diego, Calif., dropped around $15,000 the last two years but they're still operating. The Toledo Glass bowl dropped $3,000 last year. Those and others on the red ink borderline optimistically predict safe financial ventures this year.

From year to year, the picture changes but this season is not much worse or better, depending on the viewpoint, than last year. For one reason or another, the Houston Oil bowl, Oklahoma City's Will Rogers bowl, San Antonio's Alamo bowl and the Azalea bowl in the Deep South have disappeared from the scene. But there'll be 18 bowl games on Jan. 1 against 16 the ... date a year ago.

The other 15 are scattered be-tween Thanksgiving and the Big Day.

All is not sweetness and light on these bowl trips, however. Ray Eliot of Illinois had a hard time convincing his outfit the Rose bowl wasn't all vacation and Bob Higgins of Penn State was a little bitter about his Cotton bowl experiences last year. Probably it always has been the same way.

On the judicious side are reports the last few days from athletic directors or coaches, some from schools that only recently decided bowls weren't such a horrible thing after all, wailing that they haven't been invited yet.

And the Big Nine—Pacific Coast Bowl pact has drawn a lot of fuss, some of it deserved. Terms of the agreement say that no Midwest team can appear more than once in three years (thereby eliminating Michigan) and presumably that was to prevent any Big Nine schools from getting bowl-happy.

The BROCKWELL
Comfortable Guest Rooms at Moderate Prices
OVER SLOAN DRUG STORE
Operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Graham Phone F-438

OYSTER BAR
OYSTERS Steamed the Way You Like Them!
RELAX in Our Lovely Dining Room and Enjoy One of Our Delicious Dinner Specialties
THE PINES

IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

CAROLINA
TODAY
FBI TEAMS UP WITH SCOTLAND YARD TO AVENGE MURDER OF G-MAN!

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents
WALK A CROOKED MILE
STARRING
Louis HAYWARD - Dennis O'KEEFE with LOUISE ALLBRITTON CARL ESMOND
An EDWARD SMALL Production
Directed by GORDON DOUGLAS - Produced by GRANT WHYTOCK
—Also—
DONALD DUCK CARTOON
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
Paramount presents JOHN LUND WANDA HENDRIX BARRY FITZGERALD MONTY WOOLLEY
Bob Hope says: "HERE'S A PICTURE THAT HAS ALMOST AS MANY LAUGHS AS CROSBY HAS DOLLARS!"
"Miss Tatlock's Millions"
SUNDAY MONDAY

For Carefree Beauty
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL
You worry about existing seams when you wear the exquisite seam-free nylons with the Seal of the DANCING TWINS. And their exclusive, patented heel* and Gussetoe assure fit, beauty and comfort! Look for them under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.
*U. S. Pat. No. 2358649

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Duke Versus Carolina

AS PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED, Duke meets Carolina today and accordingly, some 44,000 fans will jam local Kenan stadium this afternoon in an effort to see or be seen while Tar Heels and Blue Devils battle each other and the elements for the sake of a bell and a bowl bid. The pot looks right for a gay afternoon.

Interest in the game has been paramount for the months since the sellout sign went up in July with two tickets being as hard to find as a pair of Republicans. Long lost parents, cousins, and other kin who haven't seen a game in anywhere from two to 20 years, have continued to come out of the woodwork of the world upon the contest.

Those lucky enough to gain entrance to the state's showiest football display will probably enjoy a fine dividend on their original ticket investment. To many, it is worth the whole $3.50 just to say they were there. To many true football fans it is a cheap price to see one of the nation's greatest battling one of the ex-greats attempting to avoid the has-been label.

About the Dukesters

DUKE WILL COME to Kenan today with a good football team faced with the problem of surpressing a team that ain't no one beaten lately. The Blue Devils come with an assortment of honors including two ties, two losses, two potential All-Americans, and four wins. Only one of these victories worth writing to the home folk about though—the 13-12 win over Maryland, since humbled by the Tar Heels.

The Dukes, disliking the idea of staying home for New Year's alone, will be out to pick up a stablemate in the Tar Heels today, and by beating the locals, make many people forgive and forget about a mediocre season. The Blue Devils are like a man gambling with another fellow's money—they have everything to win and nothing in the world but a ball game to lose.

According to the bookies, they've already lost it by some 13 to 20 points and will be playing for the sake of formality. It might fool some of the odds makers how informal the Dukesters may get to be at the expense of the Tar Heels born and bred. Coach Wallace Wade, having absorbed two straight loses at the hands of Carl Snavely, has no definite urge to be a three-time loser. Faced with the stern reality of it, he will be a hard man to convince that there can be honor in defeat.

Wading In

WADE, IT SEEMS, will bring his own honors to Kenan, not ones of the past, but some fellows who are still eligible to score points against the Tar Heels. Foremost of these is Fast Freight Fred Folger, whom the Blue Devils will attempt to run on the mainline if and when they can sidetrack the Asheville ChooChoo.

Mr. Folger is a candidate for All-American honors and therefore should be shown the respect that such a position carries. The source of his nomination is a wee hazy, but he is an excellent punter, and runs and passes a little on the side. Folger has never been too successful against the Tar Heels in former appearances, ending up with a minus rushing average in last year's game. Needless to say, the Tar Heels will keep a steady eye on the Fearless One.

Mr. Folger will be assisted in his tasks by a few of his capable friends. Messrs. Stephanz, Hughes, Friedlund, Cox, and Frye, while up front the Blue Devils have a fine line that lacks nothing but a few suitable replacements. The Tar Heels may end up winning the way Tech did—by wearing the reserveless Dukes down to a beatable numb. Injuries, too, have weakened the Blue Devils, who can rival the Tar Heels for the honors of fastest limping team in the nation. It wouldn't be much of a game if the tape and bailing wire should give out on either side.

Bless Their Souls

THE TAR HEELS, bless their souls, haven't had much to say about the game except for the fact that they will be there come kickoff time. The Snavely men worked all week behind gates closed as tight as worldly gates can be. They figure that privacy in the home never hurt a team whose enemies are swapping information and pictures back and forward as fast as the U. S. Mails will permit.

But the jist of the leakage form behind those gates for the benefit of friend and foe alike is that the Tar Heels could be ready to play their first real footbal lin weeks today. A couple of good looks at the Maryland pictures from last weekend told the Tar Heels that 49 points doesn't come that easily very often. The gridders seem to have decided that now is the time for all good men etc.

The big fault of the locals is the lack of timing in their running game. Without timing, no athletic team can function and a football squad is no exception. This was the lesson learned from William and Mary and Maryland, and today's requiz on the subject should prove whether or not the Tar Heels will pass their Football 48 course with magna cum bowl bid honors.

Today's Tactics

THE BLUE DEVILS, faced with the same situation that Pitt presented in 1932, will probably scrap all its fancy T-formation tactics and revert to the age-old Wade punt-and-a-prayer defensive offense. It seems to be the Dukes best chance and then cash in as Carolina did at Washington.

The weather would favor Duke if bad and Carolina if good, but the Tar Heels might turn out to be right as the rain whether it falls or not from the currently indecisive heavens. On a dry field, the bookies seem to have the game called to a teedee. In the rain, mud and the Duke money will probably cling together.

Whatever the weather or the outcome, it should be an entertaining afternoon both in the stands and on the field. Norm Sper, the poor man's Branch Rickey, has something planned to occupy every moment from the minute the gates open until closing time.

This being Duke-Carolina, the fans should come prepared for anything.

EXECUTIVE CAREERS IN RETAILING

One-year Course leads to Master's Degree

• Prepare to step into a responsible executive position in the retailing field: buying, advertising, fashion, personnel. Specialized training, exclusively for college graduates, covers merchandising, personnel management, textiles, store organization, sales promotion, and all phases of store activity. Realistic approach under store-trained faculty. Classes are combined with paid store work. Students are usually placed before graduation. Co-educational. Master's degree. Tuition $350. Four full-tuition scholarships available. Limited enrollment. Write Admissions Office for Bulletin C.

RESEARCH BUREAU FOR RETAIL TRAINING
UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH • Pittsburgh 13, Pa.

Soccer Team Ends Year By Beating W&L

Allen's Boys Take Conference Title Following 4-1 Win

By Larry Fox

A steady downpour, added to the already muddy condition of the playing field, almost spoiled the Carolina soccer finale, but the Tar Heels overcame all obstacles, including a scrappy Washington and Lee eleven, to conclude the 1948 campaign with a 4-1 victory over the Generals.

Slipping and sliding all over a field that made playing almost impossible, the Carolina booters nevertheless managed to stay on their feet long enough to dent the W & L goal four times during the contest.

Yesterday's triumph gave the Tar Heels a 7-1-2 record for the season and the locals are now claiming the unofficial Southern conference championship for this, the second year that soccer has been a University sport.

Four Loop Games

In the four loop games on the schedule this season, the Tar Heels have won three while tying one. Duke and Washington and Lee were the only Conference teams faced and the best the Blue Devils could do was hold the Allenmen to a scoreless tie. The other decisions went to Carolina.

The first quarter of play yesterday gave little notice of the final score. The action see-sawed from one end of the field to the other with both teams missing several shots at the goal.

Carolina broke into the scoring column in the second period, however, when center forward Dave Boak took a corner kick from Joe Bach and converted it into a score after five minutes had elapsed. Halfback Bill Lyons notched what proved to be the winning goal at the eleven minute mark on another corner kick, this time by left wing Earl Betts.

Averts Shutout

Coach Marvin Allen began substituting freely at this point, but the Generals weren't able to score until the final period when the Carolina second and third stringers were on the field. Left wing Pete Fortune averted a shutout late in the fourth quarter when he scored during a scrimmage in the goal mouth.

The Tar Heels scored two insurance goals in the third period and then the reserves dug in to hold off the fighting Generals.

Bill Moore made the score 3-0 early in the third stanza and Joe Dorsett tallied the final goal just as the gong ending the session sounded.

The last minute goal precipitated a little confusion on all sides, for in the excitement over the goal, the two squads forgot to change sides for the new quarter. All was settled several minutes later and the elevens exchanged fields.

Everybody got into the act for the Tar Heels, but with a minute left in the ballgame, Coach Allen put the first string back into the contest.

The score by periods:

W & L	0	0	0	1	1
UNC	0	2	2	0	4

Referee: Worth Hedrick.

Rugged Flankman

KEN POWELL, Carolina end, ranks as one of the top pass receivers on the Tar Heel squad. Powell tallied one of the Carolina touchdowns against Maryland last week after grabbing a long toss from Charlie Justice.

Carolina Favored Over Duke Today In Annual Battle of George Washington. So the Carolina scouts have had little opportunity to observe it in action.

(Continued from page 1)

Most of the Duke plays, though, will be run from the traditional single wing, the system that Carolina uses.

The game will mark the fifth time that a team coached by Carl Snavely engaged a Wallace Wade-tutored team. Snavely leads thus far, three wins to one for the Duke mentor.

Duke will out to even up the ancient series from the matter of games won and lost. At present, Carolina has won 15 games to 14 for Duke. Three have ended in ties. Last season's 21-0 Carolina win over Duke gave the series lead to the Tar Heels.

Carolina and Duke have each played five mutual foes this season. And in each instance, the Tar Heels have come out the better. Duke opened its season by tying State, 0-0, and the Tar Heels came along lated to beat the Wolfpack, 14-0. Tennessee tied Duke, 7-7, but fell to Carolina 14-7.

Maryland gave Duke a real run for its money before dropping a 13-12 decision. Carolina did much better than Duke here, winning 49-20. Carolina checked Wake Forest, 26-6, and the Deacons in turn beat Duke, 27-20.

2 WRECKERS ON 24-HOUR SERVICE

Day Calls 4771 — Night Calls F-3681

We Operate a Complete Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

General Motors

HAZZARD MOTOR CO.

WEST FRANKLIN

Carolina Favored Over Duke Devils In Series Renewal

By Zane Robbins

As I stood in front of Jeff's yesterday afternoon, doing nothing in particular, just killing time and glancing at the big scoreboard, I was suddenly accosted by my old acquaintance, "Meatball" Hoffer.

"What's the good word?" he began.

"Good word?" I roared in return. "What do you mean, "What's the good word?" After those lousy predictions you gave me last week you wanta know what's the good word. For you the word is 'drop dead!!"

"Sorry about that," he mumbled in an almost inaudible tone. "Those tips were right from the pigskin's mouth. The boys in the know were all bettin' that way. By the way, most of 'em ain't bettin' this week.

Crystal Ball, Mebbe

"Okay, "Meatball," I'm a sucker. So what? So I give ya one more chance—and just one. I'm gonna do better this week I'm gonna drag my old crystal ball out of the closet again and do the dirty work myself next week. Give with the good word."

"All this gab about spotting Duke a couple of touchdowns before the kickoff today is something more than idle chatter. Carolina had a big day against Maryland last week and could have run the score into astronomical proportions had the first two teams played regularly throughout the game. No team has that kind of a day very often.

"Duke had a big day against poor little George Washington last week, too. The final score was 62-0 and it isn't likely that the Blue Devils will have enough left for the Tar Heels after that track meet.

Spirits Rivalry

"As everyone knows, it is an ancient and spirited rivalry that comes due here in Chapel Hill today, but even at that it seems hardly possible that Duke can pull enough surprises out of canny Wallace Wade's big bag of tricks to upset the Tar Heels. Keep your fingers crossed and look for a 28-0 Carolina victory.

"William and Mary plays host to the boys from the Cow College up in Williamsburg this week. State has shown little this year other than finesse in a corn field and the Indians have been playing bang-up ball for the past few weeks. I'll take the Williamsburg warriors, 28-7.

"And by the way, George, don't bet everything in the kiddies' piggy bank on these picks."

WOMEN'S HOCKEY

Names of hockey players for intramural completion, which will begin Thursday, December 2, must be submitted to Randy Hudson at the Women's gym by 9 o'clock Wednesday.

Girls participating must come out for practice sessions.

If At First You Don't Succeed

Game	Bill Carmichael	Dick Jenrette	Jake Wade	Jeff Thomas	Orville Campbell
Carolina-Duke	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Carolina	Duke
Harvard-Yale	Yale	Harvard	Harvard	Harvard	Yale
Pittsburgh-Penn St.	Pa. State	Pa. State	Pa. State	Pa. State	Pa. State
Princeton-Dartmouth	Dartmouth	Dartmouth	Dartmouth	Tie	Dartmouth
O. State-Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan
Purdue-Indiana	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue
N'west'rn-Illinois	N'west'rn	N'west'rn	N'west'rn	N'west'rn	N'west'rn
Wisconsin-Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota	Minnesota
Kansas-Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma
Nebraska-Missouri	Missouri	Missouri	Missouri	Nebraska	Nebraska
LSU-Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama
Tenn.-Kentuckey	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee
W & M-N. C. State	W & M	W & M	W & M	W & M	State
Ga. Tech-Citadel	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech
Vandy-Maryland	Maryland	Maryland	Maryland	Tie	Maryland
Rice-TCU	TCU	TCU	TCU	Rice	TCU
SMU-Baylor	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU	SMU
Calif-Stanford	California	California	California	California	California
Ore. State-Oregon	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon	Oregon
UCLA-So. Calif.	So. Calif.	So. Calif.	So. Calif.	So. Calif.	So. Calif.
Clemson-Duuesne	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson

Tar Babies Outlast Duke in Thriller, 34-29

By Lew Chapman

Carolina's freshman football team ended a hectic but highly successful season with a rousing victory over Duke's frosh, 34-29, in a game that had every bit of excitement and thrills imaginable.

It was the fifth straight victory for Coach Crowell Little's boys, and they now hold decisions over all of hhe Big Four frosh squads plus triumphs over Virginia and South Carolina. It was the ending of a perfect season for Coach Little, and no doubt the Tar Baby mentor is relieved.

The contest itself was very close despite the fact that the Blue Imps were the decided underdogs at the outset of play. It was evident to all that the baby Dukes were up for this fray and the fight they put up satisfied all onlookers. But Carolina also wanted this contest to set a good example for their varsity brothers today.

A crowd of about 1,000 partisans braved the dewy downpour in the last quarter to watch the Tar Babies stave off a desperate Duke aerial attack and emerge from the tussle with slate unblemished.

It was this same Blue Imp passing display that had kept the Dukes in contention throughout the game and the chief persecutor was a slender Duke boy named Glenn Wild. Wild completely stole the show as the individual performer by pacing the Dooksters with his phenominal throwing, this resulting in all of Duke scores.

For the Tar Babies, five different players scored to make it a real team affair but Leon Carson was especially pleasing with his hard running and passing.

The loose and soggy turf didn't seem to faze the Tar Babies as they received the opening kickoff and drove 67 yards to score, with Dick Wiess tallying from the one. Egbert Williams converted the first of his four extra points.

Wild first became annoying by tossing the initial of his four scoring heaves, after the Blue Imps had received Carolina's ensuing kickoff and marched to our 4 yard line.

The second Wild payoff pitch in the second quarter gave the Dooksters a short lived lead as the Tar Babies struck back through the ozone themselves, scoring on a Carson to Joe McIntyre pass. The William's conversion gave the Tar Babies a 14-13 halftime edge.

After the intermission, six pointers by C. C. White on a 60 yard punt return and a plunge touchdown by George Verchick lengthened the Carolina lead to 14 points but the persistent Mr. Wild heaved two scoring passes to John Crumley, one covering 45 yards and the other 32 and knotted the count at 27-27 midway in the fourth period.

But a Carolina march of 52 yards, topped off by the scoring end-around by Benny Walser cinched the contest for the Tar Babies despite a safety scored by Duke in the closing minutes. Wild attempted desperately to salvage it for Duke but the enveloping darkness and the slippery pigskin hampered him and the contest ended with the Duke ace being smothered under by eager Carolina linemen in a fourth down pass attempt.

Terrible Terrors

North Carolina State's powerful hardwood quint in its premier performance in Raleigh last night proved to a packed house that they have what it takes. Their impressive 100-23 victory over a not-too-hot Cherry Point combine was merely a hint of what the Red Terrors in store for their opponents this year.

Coach Everett Case kept the wraps on his big boys throughout half of the game and still managed to win from the Leathernecks with a minimum of effort. Jack McComas and Warren Cartier were the high-scorers for the Red Terrors with 13 points each.

EYES HAVE US FILL THE PRESCRIPTION for

Durham Optical Co
215 W. MAIN ST.
TEL. F 2141
OPTICIANS

CALL US FOR—

- General Sheet Metal Work
- Gutters
- Roof Repairing

Crabtree Metal Shop

CARRBORO — PHONE 9056

A Host Of Values—For Easy Shopping

For a Lovely Lady...

a Diamond Watch by Wyler

Nationally Famous Brands

Fostoria	Forstner
Tiffin	Parker
Ronson	Sheaffer
Thorens	Kimberly
Zippo	Deltah
Speidel	Imperial
Gorham	Hamilton
Wallace	Elgin
Westclox	Whiting
Sessions	Telecron

Seth Thomas
Elgin American
W. E. Richards
Jacques Kreisler
International
Frank Whiting
Art-Carved Rings

Two brilliant diamonds highlight the beauty of this new Wyler creation—a watch to wear proudly for its looks and for the lasting dependability of its fine precision movement. In 14K yellow or white gold. 17 jewel movement. An excellent value at $71.50, including Federal tax.

Wentworth & Sloan, Jewelers

Chapel Hill's First Air-Conditioned Store

167 E. Franklin St. — Dial F-2732

Arrow ties can take it!

EVEN IN LEAP YEAR!

SILK REPP STRIPES

FOULARDS

KNITS

BOWS

$1 to $2.50

YES SIR! One good reason college men like Arrow ties is the pure wool resilient lining that discourages wrinkles.

When you need a few new bows or four-in-hands, see your favorite Arrow dealer for the best buys in ties!

ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Follow the ARROW to Varley's MEN'S SHOP

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

It's Duke Versus Carolina Again In 33rd Renewal

Tar Heels Leading By Slender Margin In Ancient Series

By Zane Robbins

This old, old Carolina-Duke rivalry that we're heard so much about ever since being knee-high to a tackling dummy started 'way back in 1889—58 Autumns ago:

Since that time the two schools which, incidentally, were no more than infants at the time, have grown as has the great game of football. Through the years the ancient rivalry has been nurtured and has done its share of growing, also. Now it emerges as one of the most notable college rivalries in the country.

When the first contest was played back in '89, 14 years after the War Between the States and 11 years before the turn of the century, Duke was known simply as Trinity. This was some time before the advent of a certain tobacco millionaire who later had the "dubious" distinction of having the Durham Institution renamed in his honor. At this time Carolina also was still a small school with a limited enrollment.

Duke won that inaugural battle by a 25-17 score. The Blue Devils went on to capture the next game in 1891 in a thrill-a-minute 6-4 battle. Carolina came through with a 24-0 victory in the third renewal of the series in '92 and the race was on.

Nine Straight

In the span between 1893 and 1929, Carolina captured nine straight games before the skein was snapped in 1930 when the Dookmen managed to hold the Carolinians to a 0-0 deadlock.

Duke won in '33 and Carl Snavely was introduced to the Carolina campus for the first time in 1934. King Carl put out a good team that year and defeated Duke as his crowning achievement.

In '35 the Tar Heels were loaded and had breezed through nine games without a loss.

A victory over a hot-and-cold Blue Devil eleven would put them in the Rose Bowl and give them the mythical national championship.

Tomorrow Will Be Better

Well, the story is a sadly familiar one to Carolina alumni and need not be repeated here. The gist of the tale is, however, that inspired Duke eleven surprised Snavely, the Tar Heels, and some 40,000 howling onlookers by walloping Carolina, 25-0. It was a dreary day in Duke stadium, but to Tar Heel fans it was and still is, one of the darkest moments in Carolina football history.

A record crowd of 42,000 jammed Kenan stadium in 1940 after Duke had won again in '39 by beating Carolina 13-3. This one was a thriller all the way. In the early minutes of the game Tony Ruffa kicked a beautiful field goal from way out to put Duke ahead 3-0.

(See DUKE SERIES, page 6)

Four Big Reasons Why Tar Heels Are Undefeated

FOUR BIG REASONS why Carolina has gone undefeated in its last 15 games may be found in the excellent backfield play of these boys. Bill Flamisch, left has been a mainstay at wingback. Charlie Justice, next, has sparked the Tar Heels for the last two seasons at tailback. Don Hartig, second from right, was the regular blocking back until an injury forced him to the sidelines in mid-season. Billy Hayes, right, is regarded as one of the most promising Carolina reserves.

Gridders Ready for Close Ones Thanks to True-Toe Robert Cox

By Frank Allston

Carolina has yet to play a game this year where the point after touchdown would mean the difference between a victory and a defeat, but the Tar Heels will be prepared if the occasion ever presents itself.

With a lad like Bob Cox around, Coach Carl Snavely has no worries on the kicking problem. Bob, who is also known as "True Toe," has converted on 27 out of 29 attempts to add the extra points this season.

Bob, a senior, will be playing in his last home game this Saturday. Last year he missed three straight extra points against the Duke Blue Devils and then came back with a field goal from a very difficult angle to make the final score, 21-0.

Sugar Bowl Field Goal

In the 1947 Sugar Bowl game, Cox toed a field goal which gave Carolina a momentary 10-7 lead in that contest.

Cox doesn't limit his talents to the kicking department only. He's a top pass receiver also. A Justice to Cox pass accounted for the third touchdown in the Texas game and another Justice aerial to Cox accounted for seven points in the LSU contest. Of course Bob converted after both scores.

The only two conversions that Bob failed to add to the scoring column were excusable. The first came in the Texas encounter when the score already stood at 34-7 and many fans wanted to see the final score stand at 34. The other was tried from 15 yards further out following a penalty for holding.

Second In Scoring

With two touchdowns and 27 conversions to his credit, Cox is pushing Charlie Justice very hard in the race for scoring honors. The Choo Choo has 48 points to date while Cox has 39. And Cox is the only Tar Heel to have scored in every game.

When Bob kicked seven perfect extra points out of seven attempts in last week's 49-20 rout of Maryland, it boosted his successive string to 12. After missing one in the third period of the Louisiana State contest, Bob added two in the fourth quarter, two against Tennessee, one against William and Mary and then the seven at Washington.

Coach Snavely has quit designing plays to give the Tar Heels six points. They are all seven pointers because there's always True Toe to cinch a "natural."

Here Are Scores For Duke Series

1889—Duke 25, Carolina 17.
1891—Duke 6, Carolina 4.
1892—Carolina 24, Duke 0
1893—Duke 6, Carolina 4.
1894—Carolina 28, Duke 0.
1922—Carolina 20, Duke 0.
1923—Carolina 14, Duke 6
1924—Carolina 6, Duke 0
1925—Carolina 41, Duke 0.
1926—Carolina 6, Duke 0
1927—Carolina 18, Duke 0
1928—Carolina 14, Duke 7.
1929—Carolina 48, Duke 0.
1930—Carolina 0, Duke 0
1931—Carolina 0, Duke 0
1932—Duke 7, Carolina 0
1933—Duke 21, Carolina 0.
1934—Carolina 7, Duke 0.
1935—Duke 25, Carolina 0
1936—Duke 27, Carolina 7
1937—Carolina 14, Duke 6.
1938—Duke 14, Carolina 6.
1939—Duke 13, Carolina 3
1940—Carolina 6, Duke 3
1941—Duke 20, Carolina 0.
1942—Carolina 13, Duke 12
1943—Duke 14, Carolina 7
Duke 27, Carolina 6
1944—Duke 33, Carolina 0
1945—Duke 14, Carolina 7
1946—Carolina 22, Duke 7
1947—Carolina 21, Duke 0

National Figures Rank Locals High In Total Defense

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(UP)—There are 26 major college football teams which top unbeaten Michigan in total defense statistics, but the Wolverines are in a class by themselves when it comes to yielding points.

Although the Big Nine leaders have been shoved back for an average of 205.6 yards per game even in registering eight victories in a row, they've been toughest to crack where it counts most. They have yielded their opponents only 41 points all season.

The University of Richmond took over first place in pass defense. The Virginians have allowed their opponents to complete only 41 out of 124 passes for a .331 percentage and 392 yards—an average of 49 yards per game.

Best Since 1939

North Carolina, thanks to Charlie Justice, continued as the number one punting team with an average of 44.1 yards on 51 kicks the best pace since 1939.

Maryland was second to Georgia Tech in total defense with an average yield of 165.3 yards in eight games, while Army and North Carolina were tied for third with 167.1-yard averages for eight contests.

Pennsylvania, which has given up an average of 75.3 yards in seven games, ranked second in rushing defense and North Carolina third. Northwestern and Brigham Young were second and third, respectively, in pass defense, while Illinois and Furman followed the Tar Heels in the total punting standings.

Choo Choo Third

In the individual races, Bill Beeton of Montana State topped the nation's large college punters with an average of 44.4 yards on 29 boots, followed by Hall Haynes of Santa Clara with 44.1 yards on 41. Justice with 44 on 49, and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist with 43.5 yards on 23 punts.

Johnny O'Quinn of Wake Forest retained his pass receiving lead with 25 catches that have been good for 563 yards and six touchdowns. Jim Powell of Tennessee was second with 33 for 433 yards. Jimmy Ford of Tulsa third with 31 for 366 yards, and Jim Lukens of Washington and Lee fourth with 29 catches for 407 yards.

Rushing

Player	Tries	Gain	Loss	Net
Justice	118	567	80	487
Rodgers	147	560	81	479
Clements	36	164	24	140
Kennedy	18	86	4	82
Maceyko	9	73	2	71
Flamisch	9	54	1	53
Weiner	7	49	2	47
Hayes	8	20	27	—7
Sherman	2	8	0	8
Bunting	2	9	0	9
Norcross	1	3	0	3
Purcell	1	0	10	—10
Britt	1	4	0	4

Punting

Punter	Punts	Yards	Avg
Justice	49	2,158	44.0
Reynolds	2	90	45.0

Pass Receiving

Receiver	Caught	Net Gain	TD
Weiner	26	386	3
Clements	5	45	0
Justice	3	43	1
Cooke	7	103	0
Cox	6	97	2
Powell	6	89	2
Flamisch	4	51	1
Rizzo	2	12	0
Kennedy	4	49	1
Hartig	1	5	0
Britt	2	5	0
Weant	2	41	1
Rubish	1	9	0

Passing

Player	Tries	Compl.	Int	Net	TD
Justice	107	53	9	720	9
Rodgers	32	17	2	210	2
Hayes	5	1	1	9	0
Maceyko	7	0	1	0	0
Bunting	1	1	0	1	0

Old Man Mud Wins

LAURINBURG, N. C., Nov. 19 — Laurinburg high school battled a favored Chapel Hill eleven to a 6-6 deadlock in the mud and rain here tonight. Old Man Mud was the only winner as the two schoolboy aggregations fought it out for four hectic quarters before finally succumbing to the elements.

Chapel Hill drew first blood. In the initial stanza Collier Hill scored the only Wildcat tally on a four-yard plunge. The extra-point try failed.

In the fourth period Ken Buchanan put Laurinburg back in the game when he cracked center for six yards and a tee-dee. The locals' extra-point try also failed. With the exception of these two offensive bursts, the game was mainly a defensive battle between two evenly-matched combines.

The remainder of the game was featured by a gang of back-sliding ball-carriers who did much to make the opposing lines lock good. Intermittent rains were present throughout the evening to add to the misery of players and fans.

Locals Can Boast Statistical Edge For Eight Games

Statistics released this week for all eight of the Carolina football games show that the locals are leading in every major offensive department.

Coach Carl Snavely's charges have picked up 114 first downs to 57 for the opponents. By rushing Carolina has 1,366 yards to 643. And in passing, the Tar Heels have amassed 948 yards as compared with the foes' 700.

Carolina's punting average is 44.0, while the opposition has booted the ball at a 38.3 clip.

The weakest point seems to be fumbles. The Tar Heels have committed 20 bobbles to 18 for the other teams. Fourteen of these, however, were recovered, and the opponents recovered seven.

	C	O
First downs	114	57
First downs rushing	76	27
First downs passing	27	26
First downs penalties	11	4
Net yards rushing	1,366	643
Passes attempted	150	154
Passes completed	69	59
Passes had int.	12	11
Total yards passing	948	700
Punting average	44.0	38.3
Yards lost rushing	205	149
Number penalties	20	18
Yards lost penalties	164	102

Duke Writer Tells of Pre-Game Pep Activities

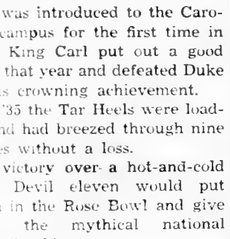
By Jimmy Briggs
The Duke Chronicle

Thirty-nine determined Duke grid warriors backed by five thousand enthusiastic and vociferous students will invade Kenan stadium today with only one thought - BEAT CAROLINA.

The 62-0 annihilation of George Washington last week caused many of Duke's most critical supporters to take heart. Said one zealot. "With Friedlund, Cox, Folger, Brown, and Mounie playing like they did against G.W. and Wake Forest, no Justice will prevail." Added another. "Why Duke will make cold hash out of Holdash."

The average Duke student seems to realize that the Blue Devils will face one of the greatest football aggregations that the University of North Carolina has ever fielded—a club ranked high among the grid powers of the Nation. He knows that the bookies and experts have established the high-flying Heels as a overwhelming favorites over the in-and-out Wademen, but recalls '35, when a Carolina eleven appeared destined for some coveted bowl bid until it ran headlong into an inspired band of Devils who crushed the Tar Heels, 25-0. A feeling that a repetition of the '35 classic may be the order of the day Saturday prevails over the entire Methodist Flats.

A fifty-foot bonfire features the elaborate plans for the Duke pep rally Friday night. Members of the Freshman class have worked all week constructing the mountain of wood which will blaze during the rally. Speaking at the affair will be Coach Wallace Wade and several members of the football team. Also on hand to lend color to the festivities will be the entire uniformed Duke university band. A huge turnout has been forecast for the rally, which will be broadcast in part.



Particularly anxious for a Duke victory are the freshmen, who since the beginning of the school year have worn frosh dinks. If Duke defeats Carolina Saturday, the freshmen may permanently doff their little blue and white hats, but a win by the men of Carl Snavely means that the chapeaus remain on until Christmas. The frosh also kept their traditional all night watch over the bonfire yesterday.

Turn Your Outgrown Clothes into Money—Instead of Moths
I Buy Anything in Clothes and Shoes in Good Condition
GROSSMAN'S THRIFT SHOP
Corner West Franklin St. and Graham

Durham's Complete Men's Clothing Store
The
YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Phone F-414
FEATURING
HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES
Eg, Nog Mix
Frozen Fruit Pudding
Egg Nog and Rum Raisin Ice Cream
Special Molds
and Stenciled Ice Cream
By Order

DIRECT From HOLLAND
The World's Best
IMPORTED
LAGERBEER
ON TAP
25 & 35c a stein
Exclusive for the Entire South at the
RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER
OPEN TODAY 11 AM - 2 PM, 5 - 11 PM

PROVE CAMEL MILDNESS IN YOUR "T-ZONE"!

PROVE FOR YOURSELF WHAT THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORTED WHEN 30-Day smoking test revealed
NO THROAT IRRITATION
due to smoking CAMELS!

● In this test, hundreds of men and women smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days. Each week, their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 exacting examinations. From coast to coast, these throat specialists reported NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking Camels!

Test Camels for yourself for 30 days. See how Camels suit your "T-Zone"...T for Taste and T for Throat.

Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the rich, full flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos. Let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you the wonderful story of Camel's cool, cool mildness.

Yes—prove Camel mildness for yourself. You'll enjoy the Camel mildness test. You'll find out how mild a cigarette can be!

Money-Back Guarantee!
Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you have ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Typical College Coed Betty Lokey Being Recorded For Look Magazine

Writer, Photog In Chapel Hill To Get Material

By Wink Locklair

What the typical college coed—in this case, Betty Lokey—experiences during a big football weekend, is being recorded in pictures and words for the 18,000,000 readers of Look magazine, W. Barry McCarthy, associate editor of the publication, announced last night.

McCarthy, who is writing the story, and Phil Harrington, one of the magazine's top photographers, came down from New York Tuesday night and set up headquarters in the Carolina Inn.

"Look chose Chapel Hill because your University seems to typify the excitement, the tension and the color that is demonstrated by students throughout the country during the most important part of the season," McCarthy said.

The two-man team shot pictures all day Wednesday, attempting to find an ideal subject for a cover study. Eventually the field was narrowed to five coeds, and after a careful study of all pictures, Elizabeth Lee Lokey, a blue-eyed Pi Beta Phi pledge from Raleigh, was chosen.

"We're spending as much time with Betty as the house mother in Spencer dorm will allow, "McCarthy remarked.

Betty was very pleased with the unexpected surprise for the week end, as might be expected. "They stay with me about 12 hours a day, and I hope I'm proving to be a suitable subject," she said yesterday.

Pictures were taken at the float parade yesterday and Harrington will be at Kenan stadium this afternoon to cover the game. It is hoped that Ava Gardner and Kay Kyser will be available to pose with the Carolina cover girl. McCarthy also expressed much interest in the half-time card stunts which Cheerleader Norm Sper brought to Chapel Hill this fall.

About 600 pictures will have been taken by tomorrow night, and the final spread, which is being prepared for publication in late August or early September to open the 1949 football season, will include about a dozen photos.

"Look is very interested in this particular story and we have certainly been given wonderful cooperation by everyone we've called on here. I don't think we could have chosen a better school in which to do this piece," McCarthy concluded.

PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA Juan Peron acknowledges Navy ceremonial honors as he boards the U. S. cruiser Huntington in Buenos Aires harbor. The American warship, on a goodwill cruise, is making calls on the east coast of South America. She is expected to return to the United States around Dec. 6.

Not A.M., But P.M.; Let's Play Bingo

Bingo games don't begin at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the annual Thanksgiving turkey bingo sponsored by the American legion is no exception. This bingo game is slated for next Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the legion hut on East Rosemary street.

Twenty-five turkeys will be given as prizes, and in case of ties, other valuable gifts as fruit cakes and hams will be awarded, Paul Robertson, spokesman for the legion, said yesterday.

Playful

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 19—(UP)—William H. Stewart painted his kitchen white.

Then he stood back, looked proudly at his handiwork, and took off to celebrate.

Coming home in the wee small hours yesterday, he stepped into the kitchen for one more look. But his wife had been there first.

In bright yellow paint, on one of his fresh white cupboard doors, she had written:

"Bill: 2:30. You are not home."

And on the other cupboard she added:

"2:30 a. m.!"

Stewart stood and pondered a while, then tiptoed into his wife's bedroom. He proceeded to paint her face yellow.

Mrs. Stewart called police.

"Husband painting wife," the radio call said.

Officers helped Mrs. Stewart remove the quick - drying paint, then asked if she wanted her husband arrested. She said no.

Stewart just stood by and smiled.

-Rally-

(Continued from page 1)

up on you my boy and you're doing a fine job."

"God bless you for yelling the way you do. But deeper than that, let's be proud to be a part of Carolina spirit. That spirit is piled up so deep that you couldn't kill it if you were to become mute right now."

"This is the finest demonstration of that spirit I've ever seen. These are the things that make us have the greatest team and University in the world."

"The spirit, more than the score, makes me proud that I went here and proud that you're here now."

Snavely finished off the rally by saying, "Our team is a fine bounch of gentlemen, representative of the student body. I'm proud to be coach of that group and proud to have head coach Kay to give the words of advice that completely confound the enemy."

University Glee Clubs Make Plans For 1948-49 Performance Schedule

By Art Xanthos

Three full concerts on campus and a dozen appearances throughout the state are planned by the University glee clubs for their 1948-49 series of performances, Director Paul Young announced yesterday.

Last year the singing groups were pronounced by critics to be among the outstanding choral groups of the South and rivals to any college singing groups in the nation.

Dates for the annual Christmas concert of the combined clubs, which number nearly 300 members, have been announced as Dec. 5 and 7. Season tickets for the three concerts to be presented are now on sale and are available from members of the glee clubs.

Highlights of the combined program will be performances of Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater" for women's voices, compositions by Bach and Handel for men's voices, and a repeat performance of the Credo from the "Pope Marcellus Mass" of Palestrina, an intricate work composed in six-voice counterpoint.

The second half of the program will be composed exclusively of Christmas carols, chosen from the folk music of many nations with selections also from this country's favorite Christmas music. A special feature will be original improvisations at the organ by john O'Steen.

At the concert in February, the men's glee club will perform Philip James' rhapsody for male chorus, "General William Booth Enters Into Heaven," a setting of Vachel Lindsay's poem. Designed for performance with a Salvation army type band augmented with two pianos and organ, the work is of special interest.

The women's glee club will appear in April to perform Debussy's "Blessed Damozel," Schuman's "Prelude," a modernistic setting of a text from Thomas Wolfe, and will be accompanied by the men's chorus in a performance of Brahm's "Alto Rhapsody."

-Duke Series-

(Continued from page 5)

The Blue Devils clung to their narrow lead until the waning minutes of the game when a Carolina pass, LaLanne to Austin, provided a Tar Heel touchdown—and victory, 6-3. This is the day that has caused the Duke alumni many a sleepless night during the past eight years.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

TODAY

9:00—SEMINAR. Grail Room, GM.
2:00—FOOTBALL GAME, Duke-Carolina. Kenan stadium.
6:00—GRAIL DANCE. Charlie Spivak and his orchestra. Woollen gym.

TOMORROW

4:00—COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. Hannes Jonnson, Iceland, speaker. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
6:00—CPU. Grail room.

MONDAY

3:00—WAYS-MEANS COMMITTEE. Open meeting on Carolina forum. Grail room.
5:00—YWCA GET-TOGETHER. Dr. Frank Graham will speak. Main lounge, GM.
5:00—MEN'S, WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB. Hill hall.
6:30—MEN'S INTERDORMITORY COUNCIL. Roland Parker No. 3, GM.
7:00—MEDICAL FRATERNITY meeting. Horace Williams, GM.
7:00—LINCOLNTON-CAROLINA club. Roland Parker No. 1, GM.
7:00—UNIVERSITY CLUB Executive board. Roland Parker No. 2.
7:00—GRAIL MEETING. Grail room, GM.
7:30—UNIVERSITY CLUB regular meeting. Roland Parker No. 2.
8:00—CAMPUS PARTY. Meeting of all CP candidates Horace Williams lounge, GM.
8:00—STUDENT PARTY. Meeting of all CP candidates Horace Williams lounge, GM.
8:00—STUDENT PARTY. Roland Parker No. 3, GM.
8:15—RALEIGH-CAROLINA CLUB. Gerrard hall.
8:15—PRE-MEDICAL STUDENTS meeting. Dean Reece Berryhill of the School of medicine will speak. Bingham 103.
10:00—LEXINGTON-CAROLINA CLUB. Roland Parker No. 1, GM.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

SMALL, FOUR ROOM HOUSE, HARDwood floors, automatic heat. Must be seen to be appreciated. Call Mrs. Fred Couch F-2386 between 9:00 and 4:30. (3-8087-1)

NEW LARGE MAN'S LETHERETTE chair and ottoman—dark green color. Manufacturer's price. Call F-2401. (2-8090-1)

27 FT.—3 ROOM ZIMMER HOUSE trailer in excellent condition, close to service house, fence inclosed yard ideal for child. No. 3, Trailer Court, Pittsboro Rd. (3-8086-1)

ELECTRIC RADIO - PHONOGRAPH table model. Original cost, $55—will sell for $30. Excellent tone and condition. See at 108 King St., Victory Village after 6 p.m. (1-8091-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court. (6-8073-1)

TWO RECONDITIONED OIL COOK stoves, both with four burners and built-in ovens. One is a Florence, other a New Perfection. Call Mrs. Ross, 3146. (1-c8092-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1935 DODGE HAS PASSED INSPECtion see Templeton 188 Daniels Rd. V. V. (3-8076-1)

1936 PLYMOUTH COUPE WITH RUMble seat. Reconditioned engine, new parts. A bargain at $350. See Sam Langell at 212 Lewis. (4-8026-1)

HELP WANTED 8

MUST HAVE ANOTHER MAN TO cope with travel agency business. Experience helpful but not necessary. Please contact Bob Watson on second floor Graham Memorial. (1-2000-1)

LOST 12

A CHANGE PURSE CONTAINING A silver matchcase in front of Whitehead, Tuesday night. Please return to Dulla Jonsdottir, 310 McIver. (2-8087-1)

BROWN ZELAN JACKET WITH large pockets. Return to anyone at Circus Room of Monogram Club or to Quonset Hut No. 28. (3-8089-1)

WHERE TO EAT 2C

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon. Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA
Lives at
E. C. LEONARD'S
305 Cameron Avenue — Write: P.O. Box 902

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

FOR HAPPY FEET . . .
Have Your Shoes Repaired
at the
College Shu-Fixery
DEPENDABLE SERVICE

Just bring in one of your favorite snapshot negatives, and select the card design you want. We'll take care of the rest, and see that you get your cards in time for early Christmas mailing.
FOISTER'S
CAMERA STORE
East Franklin Street

RARE OPPORTUNITY!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL
in SPAIN
BARCELONA GROUP: 65 Days, June 29, 1949
MALAGA GROUP: 65 Days, July 2, 1949
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Information Write
SPANISH STUDENT TOURS
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

SPECIAL
at
The Sport Shop
In Durham
ALL WOOL
Grey Flannel
Slacks
$9.95
Pleated Front—Welt Edge
GENUINE
Cordovan Oxfords
By WINTHROP
$15.95
Plain Toe or Wing Tip Style
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
DURHAM

The
COLONIAL INN
Hillsboro, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

It Takes the Right Kind of Know-How (We've got it)
to do a good repair job on your car! And our mechanics have that knowledge and experience in their finger-tips. You can always depend upon us to do every repair job—big or small—expertly, efficiently and at modest cost.
PLYMOUTH DODGE TRUCKS DODGE
CASTON MOTOR CO.
W. Franklin St. -:- -:- -:- Phone F-3891

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
West Franklin Street

VILLAGE
—Today—

—Also—
Color Cartoon

The Game Is In Doubt . . .
But Justice Will Triumph!

THERE IS NO DOUBT ON—
1—Our Football Team
2—A Spectacular Season
3—GOOD FOOD SERVED
at
UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT
On the Corner—Next to Campus

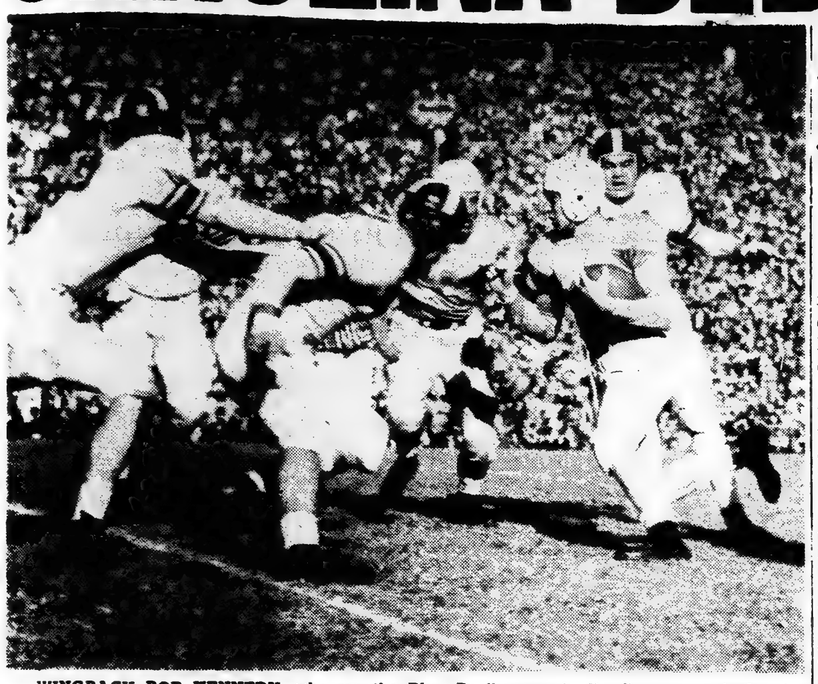
TUXEDO RENTALS
It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.
Lewis-State College
RALEIGH
Hillsboro Street — Dial 6904

L'il Abner — Al Capp

You won't catch cold with the COLD DRAFT beer at HARRY'S

Steve Canyon — Milton Caniff

Library (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49



★★★★★★★
Sports Final

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Clear and cool.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 53

CAROLINA BEDEVILS GAME DUKE, 20-0

WINGBACK BOB KENNEDY, who ran the Blue Devils ragged all afternoon yesterday in Kenan stadium, is shown as he ripped off a short gain against the Dukes. Immediately after the picture was snapped, however, the three converging Blue Devils met Kennedy and escorted him to the ground. Rushing to Kennedy's aid is Tar Heel Eddie Knox (34). However Knox was too late and Kennedy was stopped. At the conclusion of the game the statistics showed that the Tar Heels outdid the Dukes in all departments, especially in rushing where Carolina rolled up 260 yards.
—Staff Photo by Mills

Justice, Weiner Star In Thriller

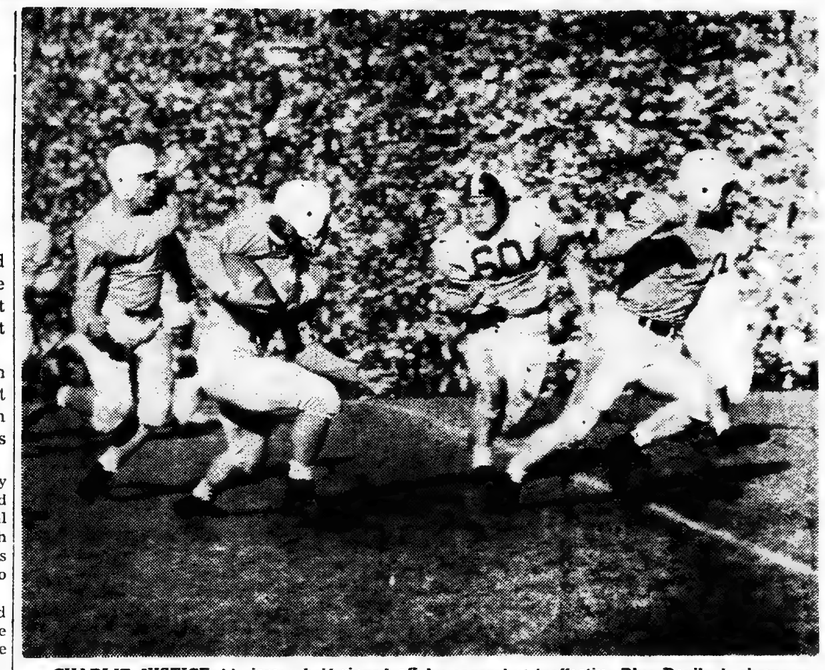
Record Crowd Watches As Dukes Check Locals For Two Periods

By Dick Jenrette

Coach Carl Snavely's bowl-bound Carolina Tar Heels, held in check for more than half the game by a determined Duke eleven, roared back in the second half to trounce their ancient Durham rivals, 20-0, before 44,500 fans yesterday, largest crowd ever to witness a game in Kenan stadium.

The victory enabled the Tar Heels to remain undefeated in their last 16 games and unbeaten for the season with eight wins and a tie. It also marked the third straight Carolina win over Duke, giving the Tar Heels the series lead with 16 wins to 15 for Duke.

Perfect football weather prevailed for the contest. The cloudy skies of the previous day cleared early Saturday morning, and the turf was firm in Kenan despite the week's rains. All the usual Duke-Carolina pageantry and a little more was present. Both bands put on good half-time exhibitions; the Carolina card tricks were the best yet, and the ever-present Confederate flags added to the color of the game.



At the conclusion of the battle, the Victory Bell was handed over to the Carolina cheerleaders by Duke as forfeit for losing. The Tar Heel students proudly shouted out their twenty points as the bell tolled.

In handing out honors for the victory, much of the credit goes to Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, the mighty man of the Carolina backfield who seems a sure bet for All-American this year. Charlie pulled the Tar Heels out of the doldrums with a scintillating 43-yard touchdown dash in the third quarter to break the scoring ice. This run was a thing of beauty, and Justice kept up his good work all afternoon. He passed to Art Weiner for 13-yards and the second Carolina touchdown and in general kept the Dukes in hot water all afternoon. He averaged 45 yards per try while doing all the Carolina kicking, picked up 120 yards in 14 running plays, and completed five of nine passes for 47 more yards.

Hosea Rodgers also had another great day. The big Alabama boy passed to Weiner for the third touchdown of the day, this one a neat 26-yard aerial, and ripped the Blue Devil forward wall for 105 yards rushing in 13 carries.

Standing out in the Carolina line was Irv Holdash, defensive center. He was in on no less than 40 per cent of the afternoon's tackles. Len Szafaryn, Haywood Fowle, and Joe Romano also turned in stellar performances. The strong Carolina defense limited Duke to a net of 102 yards rushing and 54 passing.

(See CROWD, page 3)

CHARLIE JUSTICE, his jersey half ripped off by eager, but ineffective Blue Devils, is shown as he spinned, dodged, and faked his way 43 yards for a score early in the third period of yesterday's 20-0 win over Duke. Duke guard Bill Davis (60) was one of the 11 Dukesters that had a chance to catch the Asheville Flyer as he tripped lightly through the entire Blue Devil squad. Other players in the photo are Tar Heels Dan Stiegman (67) and Chan Highsmith (90) and Dukeman Jimmy Knotts. Justice had a banner day against the Dukes as he racked up 120 yards on the ground.
—Staff Photo by Mills

Grid Statistics Chart

Team Totals

	UNC	Duke
First downs	13	11
Net yards rushing	265	102
Net yards passing	73	54
Forwards attempted	12	18
Forwards completed	6	4
Forwards intercepted by	1	2
Punts	8	12
Punting average	15.7	10.2
Opp. fumbles recovered	2	2

Passing

Duke	Attempt.	Compt.	Yds.
Folger	9	1	21
Cox	6	2	18
Frye	2	1	15
Carolina	Attempt.	Compt.	Yds.
Justice	9	5	47
Rodgers	3	1	26

Rushing

Carolina	Carried	Net	Avg.
Justice	11	120	8.57
Rodgers	13	105	8.08
Kennedy	10	15	1.5
Powell	1	—5	—5
Duke	Carried	Net	Avg.
Folger	19	61	3.21
Cox	4	9	2.25
Freidlund	1	—6	—1.5
Mounie	12	30	2.5
Stephanz	2	8	4
Brown	2	3	1.5
Frye	5	—3	— .6

Punting

Carolina	Kicks	Yds.	Avg.
Justice	8	376	15.7
Duke	Kicks	Yds.	Avg.
Folger	12	482	40.2

Scalpers Grab $60 Each For 50-Yard Line Tickets

By Herb Nachman

The Franklin street ticket black marketeers had a field day yesterday, with singles on the Duke-Carolina 50-yard line selling for as high of $60.

The north side of Chapel Hill's main street was flooded with ticket hucksters, yelling and waving their wares at all passersby. Most of the good 40 or 50-yard seats were going at $30 each, but a few scalpers demanded, and got as much as $60 for singles.

Despite fears that Friday's rainy weather would carry over to football time Saturday, the scalpers held onto enough ducats to feed a lively and prosperous market.

State Bureau of Investigation men patrolled both sides of Franklin street. Detectives reported that they warned several groups of ticket salesmen, but made no arrests.

Professional scalpers dominated the scene, with a dozen or more students also joining in the madness.

Buying again centered near the Village theater and Jeff's and groups and individuals peddling tickets stretched the length of the business district.

Student passbooks showed up on the black again yesterday. Going at $10 to $15 a clip, they did not last long. The books contained only one football ticket—for the Duke game—and a number of blanks for use in the basketball season.

No tickets of any description were quoted lower than $10 for singles at any time during the morning's trading except for end zone seats, which were available for a low of $7.50. Most seats between the 20 and the 40-yard lines were going at a near-standard rate of $20.

By 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the peddlers cut out individual seat sales. Bargains such as two end-zone seats and one 50-yard liner were quoted at $30.

The scalpers had apparently learned only one lesson from the watchful SBI—they kept moving.

Duquesne Falls Victim Of Powerful Clemson

CLEMSON, S. C., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Undefeated Clemson, led by sophomore halfback Ray Mathews, ground outclassed Duquesne and pounded to a leisurely 42-0 victory before 17,500 homecoming fans today.

Mathews filled in for Bobby Gage and starred doing it. He galloped for two touchdowns and passed 40 yards to end Oscar Thompson for a third.

It was Frank Howard day here, and while his bowl-available Tigers were mauling the Pittsburgh Dukes, Clemson alumni drove a big black Dodge sedan to the stadium and gave it to the tobacco-chomping coach.

Johnson to Talk To Cosmopolitans

Hannes Johnson, of Iceland, newly-elected president of the Cosmopolitan club, will speak on the customs of his country at this afternoon's meeting of the club at 4 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, Graham Memorial.

Open to all foreign students as well as interested faculty and American students, the meeting will be an informal gathering with tea following.

Other officers of the group, elected last week, include Maritzance Fitzgibbon, secretary; Ken Lowry, treasurer, and Shonti Vora, and Glen Fisher members of the executive board.

Indians Down N. C. State; Accept Delta Bowl Bid

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 20—(UP)—Baited by a bowl bid, William and Mary today shattered a 28-year jinx in the first period and rolled on to a 26 to 6 victory over North Carolina State, an opponent they had never defeated and had scored only eight points against in their five game series.

Little Tommy Korczowski, William and Mary tailback, pushed his twice-beaten, twice-tied team to the victory they had to have to play in the Delta Bowl in Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 1. Playing the full game in a role he usually shares with Buddy Lex, he streaked 74 yards for one touchdown and passed to two others in the first period. Shattered with the jinx was the stout defensive record of North Carolina State which had held the University of North Carolina to only 14 points.

Stunned by the one-two-three punch, State College managed to claw back weakly just before the half and finally to stage a successful aerial assault in the third period.

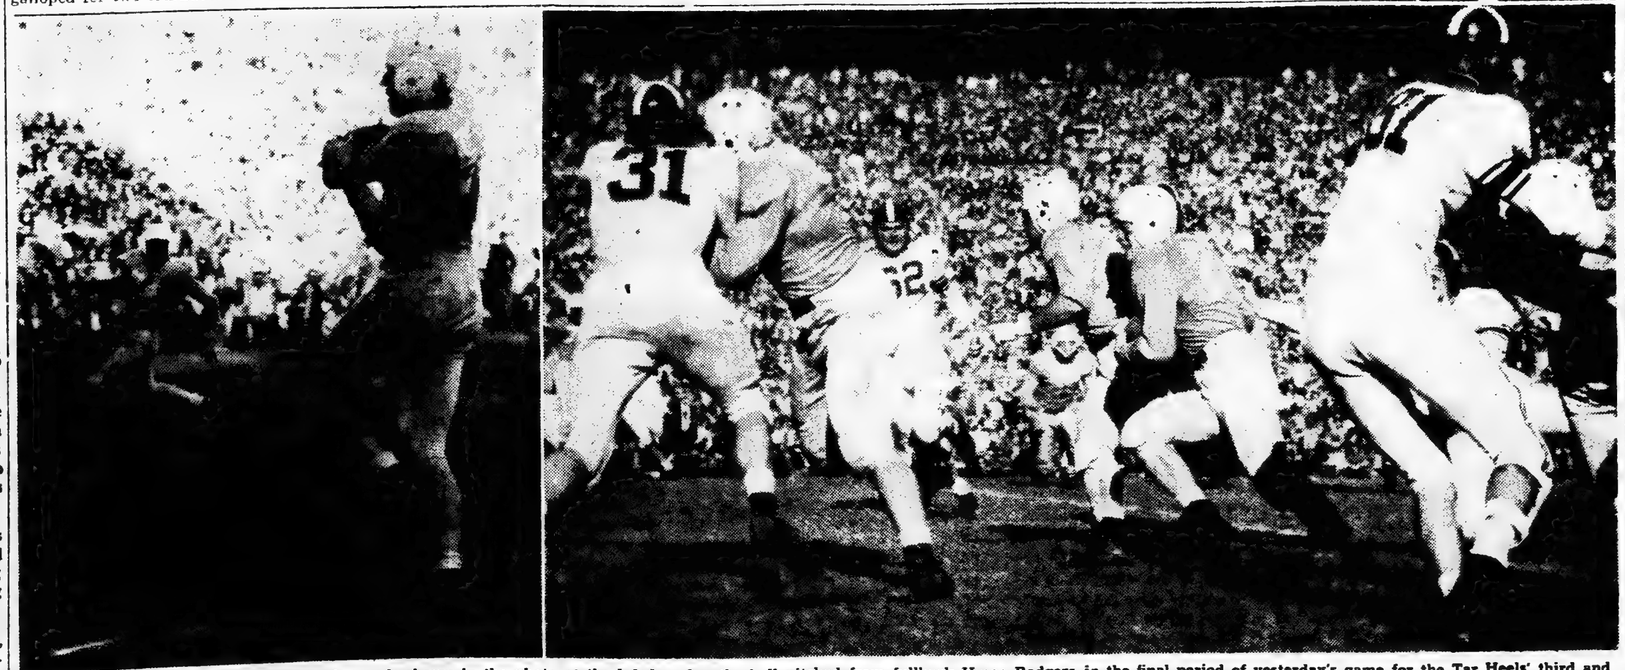
Vanderbilt Looks Good In 34-0 Rout of Terps

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Vanderbilt used crushing power, its most alert defense of the year, and all of its 46 players to slap down an impotent Maryland team 34 to 0 today before a capacity crowd of 21,000.

The power borrowed a little luck to cinch the game with three touchdowns in the first half, and the alert defense and the subs added the other two in the fourth quarter.

Vanderbilt's husky Carl Copp at tackle, Bud Curtis at end and Earl Stover at center, flattened the Maryland running game. The backfield paralyzed Maryland's passing, intercepting five and knocking down the seven others.

Maryland edged past midfield only once.



Graham Slated To Talk to Coeds

Dr. Frank Graham will be the speaker at the coed get-together tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. This is the second in a series of monthly programs presented by the YWCA for the purpose of bringing together all the members of the Y.

The meeting is open to anyone on campus who wishes to attend. A short business meeting for all Y members will be held immediately following the program.

Football Scores

Villanova 46, San Fla[illegible] 7
Washington & Lee 21, Dick[illegible] 13
Rutgers 28, Fordh[illegible] 7
Iowa 34, Boston U. 13
Tulane 6, Cincinnati 0
Dartmouth 33, Penn[illegible] 12
Harvard 26, Yale 7
Pittsburgh 7, Penn State 0
Lafayette 23, Lehigh 13
Boston Coll. 19, St. Mary's (Cal.) 7
Columbia 34, Syracuse 28
Holy Cross 13, Temple 7
Geo. Washington 13, Georgetown 7
Western Michigan 40, O[illegible] 7
Georgia Tech 54, Citadel 7
Vanderbilt 34, Maryland 0
North Carolina 20, Duke 0
Clemson 42, Duquesne 0
Tennessee 0, Kentucky 0
William & Mary 26, N. C. State 0
Georgia 33, Furman 0
Florida 27, Miami (Fla.) 13
LSU 26, Alabama 6
Oklahoma 69, Kansas 7
Northwestern 20, Illinois 7
Minnesota 16, Wisconsin 0
Michigan 13, Ohio State 3
Michigan State 40, Wash. State 0
SMU 13, Baylor 6.
Rice 21, Texas Christian 7
Arkansas 55, Tulsa 18.

ART WEINER, husky Tar Heel flankman, is shown in the photo at the left hugging the ball pitched from fullback Hosea Rodgers in the final period of yesterday's game for the Tar Heels' third and final touchdown. It was Weiner's second teedee of the day. His first came earlier in the same period on a pass from Charlie Justice. The other Tar Heel in the picture is wingback Bob Kennedy, who also did a creditable job in the 20-0 effort. In the photo on the right, tailback Justice is shown as he ripped off twelve yards through the middle of the Blue Devil line. —Photos by Mills and Brooks.

Getting a Student Union

The need for a new student union building has long been felt and often pointed out. It is generally agreed that Graham Memorial, while it is a handsome structure and would probably serve well a smaller school, is entirely inadequate to meet the needs of a student body as large as that of this University.

Built with only two lounges on the main floor, and with only one other floor to serve almost all student activities, the building cannot possibly accomodate all organizations place to meet. Except for club rooms maintained by the University Veterans association and the Monogram club the sole non-athletic recreational space provided by the University is the one basement room of Graham Memorial known as the Rendezvous.

A student union should be a place where all students feel at home. But the union here has become a hangout for only one small segment of the student body—the Graham Memorial bunch—those who take part in student government, publications and one or two other activities.

A new student union is needed, That is beyond question. What can be done about it?

At present there are vague plans for a new building to be built by the University, but they are far down on the priority list of permanent improvements to be financed by the Legislature. As long as new class-room buildings, dormitories, and other educational facilities are so badly needed, the student union will have to wait, and the wait may stretch into decades.

Another possibility is that another benefactor such as John Motley Moorehead may appear to donate a student union building. This, however, is not a prospect to be counted upon.

This leaves the financing of a new union up to the students. That idea is not as far-fetched as it sounds. There are professional groups which specialize in conducting campaigns for raising funds. Such a group could be hired to come here. It could make an intensive canvass asking each student to pledge the small amount of $10 a year for 10 years. There are now 7,500 students in the University and each four years there is a complete turn-over in population. At this rate the building fund would pass the $1,000,000 mark in ten years. Bonds could be floated, plans drawn and construction begun immediately and the building would be in use while it was being paid for.

This is a very rough sketch of one way a new union can be obtained. There are many difficulties to be met and ironed out if the plan should be adopted. But it can be done—and if students want a new union, it seems that they will have to get it themselves.

New Boost to Spirit

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity gave a new boost to school spirit and to the festivities of a big weekend when they initiated the pre-Duke-game froat parade this year. Formerly the Pikas have sponsored a banner parade, but for the special Duke game something extra special was needed—and the float parade seems to be just the thing.

The amount of interest and cooperation shown by dormitories, fraternities and sororities was both amazing and gratifying, and in spite of the hindrance of rain, the parade was one of the most successful events ever staged here.

The four cups put up by the Pikas as prizes for the best floats should provide plenty of incentive for bigger and better parades in future years.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed. ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B. Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

From Love Into Jail

By Virginia MacPherson

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20.—(UP)—French great lover Claude Marsan, who says American lovers are too inhibited, was in Lincoln Heights jail today because he isn't — and used a lightly-dressed red head to prove it.

The 39-year-old missionary to the American husband was arrested last night along with Barbara Weir, his 24-year-old model, when red-faced policemen interrupted what they called a "lewd and indecent show."

Marsan was two and one-half hours into his demonstration of love as it should be practiced and had arrived at kissing Miss Weil's shell-pink ears when the cops clattered up on the stage.

"Ze Americain men are eenadequate lovairs," the dapper Frenchman shrilled behind bars. "I was merely tryeen to show zem 'ow to loff a woman fully. "My lecture she was on 'ze French technique of making loff.' 'Ow could zatbe conseedered eendecent? Eet's ze only way to keep a woman happy."

Just the same, police said, it was indecent. Marsan, wearing his favorite white beret, told an audience of 60 people, half of whom were under 21, that love Marsan-style, should take three hours.

"Americain are lousy lovairs," he said. "Zey are too empulsive. Zey say 'allo to a girl, kees her, and 15 meenutes latair eet's all ovair."

He hadn't been talking 20 minutes, officers said, when obscene comments began crackling out of the audience and all the women walked out.

"For ze first half hour," Marsan recommended, "you should talk weeth ze girl. Zen 'old her 'and for sirty menutes. Zen put your arm around her and kees her 'and, her arm, smell her hair, and put leetle pecks along her cheeks.

"Zen kees ze zornair of her mouth. And latair—much, much latair—kees her leeps."

It was what he said went on before that "much, much latair," police decided, that made it an indecent lecture.

"His hands carressed the body of the woman," the arrest report read, leaving out details of the Marsan technique. "She was wearing a revealing black dress under which could be seen light-colored panties."

The great lover said he has given his lecture all over the world without being arrested before.

"I 'ave been run out of a few towns," he admitted. "But zat was not by ze police.

"Eet was by 'usbands."

The Lost Chord? Maybe It's Here

By Harman W. Nichols
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Seems there are very few original tunes anymore.

"The Eyes of Texas"—anthem of the proud Lone Star state—is billed as original. Pfffft! It's a theft from "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad," which, in turn, is a steal from "I've Been Workin' on the Levee."

So what you-all expect for "Hail to the Redskins,' the marchy spine-tingler which is the theme song for the Washington professional football team? A steal?

You said it, and you can say it again, and again. It's a whole flock of steals.

The composer is an old fiddler named Barnee Breeskin.

Washington being a border town, Barnee thought he ought to straddle the fence. So the first 16 bars are copied from "Dixie," or "I wish I was in the land of cotton," etc.

He balanced it with part of "Yankee Doodle."

The fiddler thought it would be nice to get something Indian in the piece so he hit upon a tom-tom he remembered for the middle part. By accident he struck one of the radio give-away mystery tunes.

There's also—by mistake—a steal from a Sunday school song.

And for a punch—one of the biggest steals of all. From the stirring national song, "The Marseillaise."

Under New Management

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

CPU Roundtable

Should U. S. Help China?

By Edlyn W. Freerks

The Chinese civil war, which has been going on intermittently since the surrender of Japan, has recently reached such tremendous proportions that the entire civilized world is anxiously awaiting the outcome of current battles.

Like most civil wars this is a struggle between the "in" and the "outs." In this case the Nationalist Government of Nanking is desperately trying to defend itself against the Communist forces, whose capital is at Yenan. The battle front is not clearly defined, but the Communists control most of Northern China, while the Nationalists still rule most of Central and Southern China.

Historically, the U. S. has remained neutral during such civil wars, but such a policy is difficult at the present time, since we are now one of the two great world powers. Most Americans would like to see a middle-of-the-road government in China—one which would undertake much-needed reforms and still preserve private enterprise. However, this possibility seems exceedingly remote, because the only effective political forces in China are concentrated either in the Kuomintang, which controls the government, or in the Communist Party.

The present Nationalist Government can hardly be considered a democracy according to Western standards. Only a small minority of the Chinese people have any voice at all in their government. The ruling minority consists of the army, an inefficient bureaucracy, urban businessmen. and rural landlords. The peasants are completely left out of this government for they are the backbone of Communist strength.

During this fiscal year this country is giving economic and military aid to China in the amount of $400,000,000. Many observers believe that this is extremely inadequate in the face of China's needs.

Two reasons commonly advanced for giving increased aid to China are: (1) compared with the Communists, the Nationalists are the lesser of two evils, and (2) we are spending billions of dollars to stop Communism in Europe, so why not do as much or more in Asia?

Opponents to this aid claim that a democratic government such as ours should never support a dictatorship, simply because it opposes another dictatorship. They point out, further, that stopping Communism is not the only aim of the European Recovery program, and that the problem in Asia is far from parallel to that in Europe.

The foregoing and other views are certain to be expressed tonight as the CPU discusses the perplexing Chinese situation and possible American action.

Fax About Wax

This Week On The Record

By Nelson Taylor

Klassification Key
* Fine
 Fair
 Futile
* Foul

JAZZ

Ivory Joe Hunter
 I Like It
* No Money, No Luck Blues

"Like It," I think you will. Vocal sending and just as low as you are. Packs a real punch. Reverse is only fair and drags in spots. King release.

Bull Moose Jackson
* We Can Talk Some Trash
 Love Me Tonight

"Trash" is just that. Lacks any sign of inspiration. "Love Me" is a good example of what the Bull can do on a sentimental one. Drifts smoothly. King release.

 Bopera (side 7) by Hamp Hawks
 Unfinished Bopera by Wild Bill Moore

"Bopera" is one of a series, and combines one of the most unusual bits of work by piano and drums ever knocked out. It will definitely rock you. "Unfinished" features fine bop tenor. Exhibits great imagination. King.

SWING

Gordon Jenkins
 For You
 On a Painted Desert

"You" is a sped-up version which catches. Vocal work is the inspiring part, with a fine mute-bow backing. "Desert" is made minor by vocal chorus and is appealing. Almost tempted to give this a Fair rating. Decca.

Kay Kyser
 On a Slow Boat to China
* In the Market Place of Old Monterey.

Harry Babbit and Gloria Wood sing. Harry opens in a slow tempo and Gloria rips last half in a stepped up beat. One of the best of this tune. "Market Place" is uninspiring with vocal by Harry Babbit.

VOCAL

Dinah Shore
 Far Away Places
 One Sunday Afternoon

There is something about this "Places" that appeals, maybe it is the reminder of "Blow the Man Down." Just doesn't catch with the writer. "Say It" should be played in a smoke-filled bar room Monotonous. Columbia.

Buddy Clark
 One Sunday Afternoon
 Brush Those Tears from Your Eyes

"Afternoon" features Clark, the Modernaires, and the Skylarks. This crawls. Misses the mark. "Tears" has same vocal. Stepped up tempo gives it its only claim to fame. Lyrics are not lifting. Columbia.

Asks for Vote

PARIS, Nov. 19. — (UP) — Premier Henri Queuille demanded in a near-riotous parliamentary session tonight that the national assembly give him a confidence vote or oust his government for its crackdown on Communist-led strikers.

Evacuation Asked

NANKING, China, Nov. 19. — (UP) — Despite claims of sweeping victories on the Suchow front, the Chinese government today asked its employes and legislators to evacuate their dependents from Nanking and was reported planning a new command for the defense of the Shanghai-Nanking area.

Kasenkina Released

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(UP) Mrs. Oksana Stepanova Kasenkina, the little Russian school teacher who leaped to freedo mfrom a Soviet consulate window, was released from the hospital today after celebrating her successful one-woman revolution against Communism by eating strawberries and cream.

Write Away

Freshman Ashamed

Editor:

I ask all freshmen, that now, after the freshman assembly Thursday morning, if there is anyone that still has a little pride left for his class? I haven't.

In a body of people that large, it is to be expected that there will be a few who have not yet learned the very first rules of gentlemanly conduct; but for a little less than half the class to act like a bunch of untrained juveniles reflects the entire class as not yet being "house-broken."

We are indeed fortunate to be able to express our opinions in elections, but I don't think the "Carolina Gentlemen" who booed, hissed, and cheered even after Dedmond asked them repeatedly not to cheer until the speech of the candidate was over and never to "boo," had any opinions at all. They, just like little urchins in the street, wanted people to notice them and think how brave they were for causing so much disturbance and for making smart (?) cracks at the speakers.

I wonder what Jess Dedmond thinks of our great Freshman class now? What do you think of yourselves? I think that at least one-third of the class should be back in their freshman high school classes where they can "dip pigtails in ink" to their boyish heart's content. This group made the whole freshman class stink.

Joseph Terrell

On Opposite Sides

Editor:

Instead of calling names, why doesn't someone answer Bill Robertson's arguments?

People don't answer Robertson's arguments because they are not arguments. They are an hysterical hodgepodge of undocumented assertions, irrational generalizations, pseudo-Marxist philosophy, and Soviet propaganda mixed in with a generous sprinkling of honest liberal ideas with which few of us would disagree.

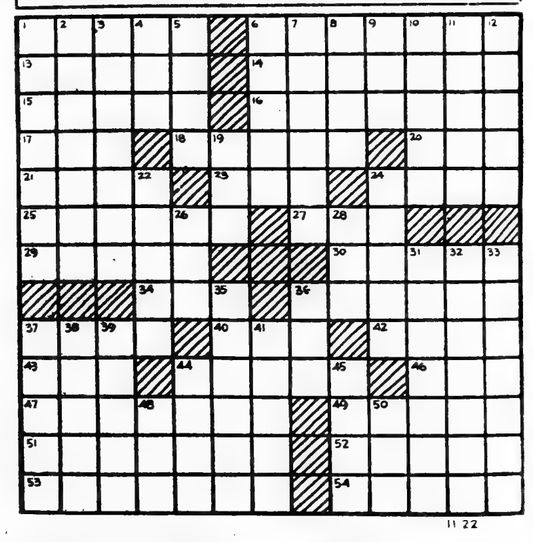
Why does he upset us so? Is it a crime to be a Communist?

Are we losing our respect for the Carolina tradition for maintenance of freedom of expression? Then why such umbrage at his utterances?

Perhaps it is because of a general, though generally inarticulate realization of the fact that the U.S.A. ("our side", Bill) and the U.S.S.R. are engaged in a world-embracing struggle for power and, possibly, for national existence itself. The agony of the world today is a struggle between sovereign nations and not, as Robertson wishfully asserts, a struggle between classes, irrespective of national boundaries. We tend to identify ourselves, rightly or wrongly, with the cause our nation espouses. It is but natural then, that we should view with disapproval the spectacle of one of our fellow citizens identifying himself with the cause of the "enemy."

Robertson would say he is merely fighting for the exploited proletariat, from whose limbs he would strike the shackles of monopolistic capitalism. If he can sell us that, I say more power to him. But when he prefaces a general attack on U. S. policies and a general defense of Soviet policies with the assertion that "all roads lead to communism," I say that if he will take a one-way trip on one of those roads, I will gladly help to pay his fare!

Bill Patterson

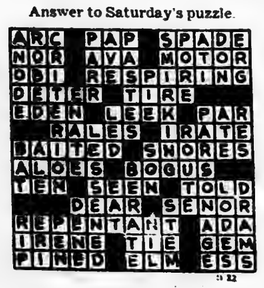


Question On Floats

Editor:

I am wondering whether the Pikas informed the judges before the parade as to what a "float" was?

Gene Johnstone



CROSSWORD - - - By Eugene Sheffer

HORIZONTAL
1. jewelry weight
6. of layers
13. white poplar
14. acquire
15. place of confusion
16. delighted in
17. wing
18. a resin
20. delay
21. list
23. past
24. take out
25. strength
27. fish eggs
29. pointed
30. liliaceous herb
34. finished, poetic
36. moon goddess
37. mountain lake
40. stir
42. discernment
43. solemn wonder
44. in position of a thrust
46. assembled
47. knight-errant
49. place in a row
51. arsenate of copper
52. wash lightly
53. narrator
54. sidles

VERTICAL
1. cafe
2. sea-ear
3. one who makes discount
4. beer
5. a tissue
6. small shoot
7. shaking
8. range
9. particle
10. silk net
11. of a plane surface
12. shelf
19. refusal
22. malicious burning
24. traded
26. to the right
28. unclose, poetic
31. enlarging or tapering
32. enrage
33. sofas
35. unkeeled
36. gold (Alchem.)
37. diminish
38. conscious
39. fragment
41. small restaurant
44. stulm
45. vetch
48. southern bird
50. cover

Answer to Saturday's puzzle.

Average time of solution: 22 minutes.
Dist by King Features Syndicate, Inc

Crowd Of 44,500 Is Largest Ever In Kenan

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

The Money's Worth

FOR THE SMALL price of $3.50 the Tar Heels of Carolina and the Blue Devils of Duke produced quite a gawdy show yesterday afternoon. They gave the largest crowd ever to sardine its way in Kenan stadium both what they had come to see—Charlie Justice and company run wild—and what they hadn't come to see—the Dukesters almost dissolve the company.

The partial dissolution came in the first half which the visitors dominated while the Tar Heels sat back and allowed the Blue Devils a free run of everything except the Carolina goal line. The lads from Duke were not to be thusly satisfied though, and when the locals became aware of the Blue Devils' true intentions, the Tar Heels changed their dally to a dilly.

Thus was exactly what the second half turned out to be from the Carolina point of view. The home town boys whisked back at the start of the second half, and after sputtering for a number of minutes, roared to the fore on 43-yard special section of the Asheville Choo Choo. It was the greatest run since the one on the banks in 1933 and had about as devastating effect on the Blue Devils.

Buck Justice Rides Again

THE RIDE WAS JUSTICE'S finest since the famed Tennessee punt return in '46 and was something the fans had awaited for nine games. It was about ten seconds of ecstacy in which Mr. Justice made up for previously lost time and yardage. It all started from the Duke 43 to where the Tar Heel's defensive All-American Bill Maceyko had returned a Blue Devil punt.

Then Justice took over the reins as he swept wide to his right on a shall-I-pass and shall-I-run play that left the visitors wonder about the same thing. In front of the Carolina bench he found himself confronted by both Blue Devil tacklers and the sidelines and finding the former more encouraging, he cut up field, tripping the light fantastic through assorted groups of opponents.

Some of the foe fell to the turf in their efforts to subdue young Charles while others were escorted to more comfortable seats by friendly Tar Heel blockers. Down the road a piece, Justice found the going a little too tough along his present route, so he cut back across the field after pausing to wave his clippings at the frustrated Blue Devils, and then raced off to the land where all good halfbacks go. He left not a darn thing to be desired.

The Unimpressed

THE DUKES, SEEMINGLY unimpressed by these proceedings, came back with a little splurge of their own and it looked for a while as if Bob Cox, of previous extra point fame, had picked the wrong day to switch from automatic to manual operation. With Mr. Fred Folger, who bears further discussion a little later in the program, at the wheel, the Dukesters whipped down to the vicinity of the Tar Heel 10, taking every bit of the sweetness out of Sugar Bowl dreams.

A penalty of some sort stymied the Devils slightly at this point after which Filger made his biggest and possibly only mistake of the afternoon. Seems he was back to pass and finding not a single friend in sight to play catch with, lifted a high fly into the Tar Heel end zone which Johnny Clements camped under and gathered in easily to retire the side. The Duke boys didn't quite get to bat again.

Justice, though, did get a hit the next time up—right in the hands of Max Cooke on the Duke 13. The Tar Heels had gotten this close to the Blue Devil goal line again when Bill Flamisch adopted an enemy fumble on the Duke 24. The visitors were shifted to the T by this time and one of Frenchy Fyre's handoffs to Jim Brown turned out to be a handout to the Tar Heels.

Two More Times

FROM THE DUKE 13 where we left our heroes last, a touchdown was but one play away. The play was a running number to the right with Justice sweeping, or at least so thought the Blue Devils, who raced in as Art Weiner raced out into the Duke end zone where he had to see a ball about a touchdown. The shipment arrived right on schedule from Mr. Justice with Weiner having more trouble avoiding the goal posts than he did the Devil defenders after the catch.

This definitely took the spirit out of the visitors' hearts and a subsequent score took the money out of their pockets. The Snavelymen drove for this one, with Hosea Rodgers and Justice ripping off first down after first down through the tiring Blue Devils to the delight of the crowd and the Tar Heel statisticians. There wasn't time to run the ball over, so the locals dripped into their bag of plays and came up with a comparatively new pass play that had Rodgers spinning and faking to both wingback Kennedy and tailback Justice before rising to throw.

The Duke secondary was again sucked in with vacuum cleaner ease. Rodgers looked. Rodgers threw. Weiner caught. Touchdown. After that, the newly-acquired victory bell tolled the story and the only question left to be answered was one concerning soda or water.

The Conclusions

AS THE PILOT, navigator and bombardier of a losing cause, Fred Folger turned out to be all that Jack Horner had said he was. His punting in the first half continually Tiptoned the scales in favor of the Blue Devils and his running made up for what his passing lacked. The Big Blue line also deserves a loser's share of the credit for the way they pushed the famed Tar Heel forwards around at times in a very unsocial manner.

The score itself speaks for the manner and form in which the local lines conducted themselves. Most of the mistakes of the day, it seems, came not from the ball players but from their coaches—Snavely's calling individual plays on two drives that failed and Wade's shifting to a hopeless T-formation from a rather potent single wing.

Duke continues to improve a point each year. They held the Tar Heels to 22 points in 1946, to 21 points in 1947, and to 20 points yesterday. By 1968 the Blue Devils will be back in the ball game.

Mural Schedule

Wrestling

4:00, 145 lb., Mat 1—Woolcott, P. (DKE) vs. Boyer, H. (Beta); 2—Carlton, J. (Sig Nu) vs. Clewis, P. (ATO). 3—Butts H. B. (KA) vs. Sanders, B. (Kap Sig).

4:06, Mat 1—Murchison, J. (SAE) vs. Spillers W. J. (Kap Sig); 2—Yates, C. (Phi Kap Sig) vs. Farber, R. (Pi Lamb); 3—Wilson, C. (Phi Gam) vs. Garrison B. (PiKA).

4:12, Mat 1—Lee, N. (Phi Gam) vs. Leonard, T. (Sig Chi); 2—Stokes, T. (Kap Sig) vs. Jordan, T. (ATO); 3—Norton, C. (DKE) vs. Watkins, H. (Phi Delt).

4:18, Mat 1—Schermerhorm, D. (St. Anth) vs. Bryant, J. (Beta); 2—Sapp, O. (Kap Sig) vs. Garner, E. (KA); 3—Gantt, E. (SAE) vs. Parker, R. (ATO).

4:24, Mat 1—Avery, S (SPE) vs. Jordan, R. (Phi Delt); 2—Graham, E. (Phi Gam) vs. Thorpe, J. (DKE); 3—Ferebee, D. (Chi Psi) vs. Ruth, J. (Sig Chi).

4:30, Mat 1—Albright, W. (Phi Kap) vs. Ferebee, J. (Sig Nu); 2—Olive, H. (Kap Sig) vs. Goodwin, A. (Sig Nu); 3—Gregory, S. (Zeta) vs. Martin, T. (Phi Kap).

4:36, Mat 1—Cowan, J. (Sig Chi) vs. Koontz, C. (Kap Sig); 2—Montgomery, J. (Phi Gam) vs. Chatham, T. (SAE); 3—Goslin, A. (KA) vs. Clayton, B. (Zeta).

4:42, Mat 1—Moore, H. (Sig Chi) vs. Graves, H. (Sig Nu); 2—Cuthbertson, R. (Beta) vs. Simpson, R. (Chi Phi); 3—Sasser, R. (Phi Kap) vs. Qualk, W. (Phi Delt).

4:48, Mat 1—Orr, J. (Phi Gam) vs. Garrett, H. (Sig Chi); 2—Hamrick J. (KA) vs. Kenney, S. (Chi Psi); 3—155 lb.—Gillis, N. (SPE) vs. Lyon, W. (Sig Chi).

4:54, 155 lb., Mat 1—Reed R. (Lamb Chi) vs. Williams, W. (PiKA); 2—Valentine, G. (Sig Chi) vs. Edwards, B. (Chi Psi); 3—Heldman, J. (ATO) vs. Whitlock, J. (KA).

5:00, Mat 1—Leinback, W. (Sig Chi) vs. Atkins, B. (PiKA); 2—Hill, F. (SAE) vs. Cherry, T. (Chi Phi); 3—Cartier, B. (ATO) vs. Siceloff, C. (Phi Gam).

5:06, Mat 1—Graham, E. (Sig Chi) vs. Faurotte P. (Phi Gam); 2—Moseley, Van (Kap Sig) vs. Betty, E. (Zeta); 3—Smitherman, J. (SAE) vs. Griffin, L. (PiKA).

5:12, Mat 1—Steed, T. (Chi Psi) vs. Roycroft, D. (Chi Psi); 2—Sutphen, D. (Beta) vs. Farlow, E. (Sig Chi); 3—Davis, L. (Chi Phi) vs. Bedgood, B. (Sig Chi).

5:18, Mat 1—Raker, B. (Phi Gam) vs. Devane, T. (Beta); 2—Johnston, E. (Phi Delt) vs. Gower, J. (Zeta); 3—Taylor, W. (Kap Sig) vs. Price, S. (SAE).

5:24, Mat 1—Smitherman, R. (Sig Chi) vs. Benbow, W. (SAE); 2—Shuford, G. (KA) vs. Dunlop, G. (DKE); 3—Ross, J. (SAE) vs. Fowler, H. (Sig Nu).

5:30, Mat 1—Wilkinson, J. (Chi Phi) vs. Hardison, F. (Sig Chi); 2—Dunbar, W. (Sig Chi) vs. Boardman, B. (SAE); 3—Green, J. (Chi Phi) vs. Niles, J. (KA).

5:36, Mat 1—Turner, E. (Phi Delt) vs. Absher, W. (ATO); 2—Winston, C. (Zeta) vs. McKnight, R. (Sig Chi); 3—Mouncastle, J. (Sig Chi) vs. Manney H. (PiKA).

5:42, 165 lb., Mat 1—Fitzgerald, T. (ATO) vs. Deal, H. P. (SAE); 2—Byerly, B. (Sig Chi) vs. Hurysz, T. (Chi Psi); 3—Garrett, R. (Phi Kap) vs. Grist, S. (Sig Nu).

5:48, Mat 1—Snoddy, M. (ATO) vs. Perry, F. (SAE); 2—Johnson, A. (Sig Chi) vs. Jones, B. H. (DKE); 3—Hanson, D. (Phi Gam) vs. Darden G. (Sig Nu).

5:54, Mat 1—Atwater, J. (ATO) vs. Montegue, P. (DKE); 2—Tice, W. (Chi Psi) vs. Hoots, S. (Sig Chi); 3—Coxe, T. (Zeta) vs. Lingley, J. (Sig Chi).

Volleyball

4:00—Court 1, Oakwood Dr. vs. Steele; 2, Phi Gam 1 vs. KA 2; 3, Sig Chi 1 vs. Kap Sig 2; 4, Nash vs. Town 2.

7:30—(Open House) Court 1, Emerson 1 vs. Grads; 3, Sig Nu 1 vs. Zeta 1.

Justice Features Tar Heel Offense In Annual Battle

(Continued from page 1)

The entire first half was consummated in something of a kicking duel between the Dukes' Fast Freight Freddie Folger and Justice. Folger, who perhaps more impressed the fans yesterday than at any other time in his career at Duke, repeatedly set the locals back with his booming boots. Many times he kicked out within the Carolina 10-yard marker. Justice was also impressive and finally emerged the victor with an average of 45 to Folger's 40.

Actually there wasn't a single real scoring threat in the first half. The nearest either team came to scoring was a long pass from Folger to Jack Friedlund. The toss was from the Carolina 35, and dribbled off Friedlund's fingertips in the end zone.

Guard Catches Pass

Folger kicked one ball 64 yards and ten more yards out of the end zone for a total of 74 without the benefit of the roll of the ball. Another interesting feature of the first half was regular Guard Bob Mitten's reception of a pass. Nobody seemed to realize that he wasn't an eligible receiver.

Carolina drove from its 33 to the Duke 28 the first time it got the ball in the third quarter. But a clipping penalty and a series of incomplete passes stalled the rally.

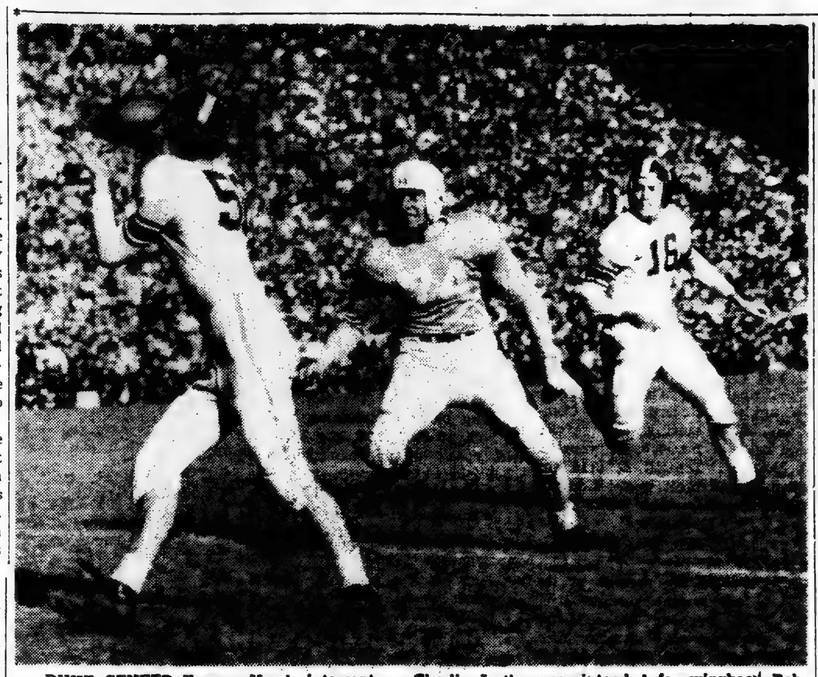
An exchange of kicks gave Carolina the ball on the Duke 43, and from this point Justice embarked on his thrilling touchdown run. On first down, the Asheville Ambler sailed around right end, slipped past a couple of Duke tacklers, cut back into the Duke secondary and then raced laterally across the field to the left sidelines. A few timely blocks left Charlie with an open field, and he raced over the goal unscathed for the touchdown. Bob Cox missed the extra point, but Carolina led, 6-0, about midway in the quarter.

Penalty Hurts

Coach Wallace Wade's Duke men came roaring back, however, achieving a first down on the Carolina ten after a drive from the Tar Heel 48. Paul Stephanz drove to the five on the next play but a backfield in motion penalty set Duke back to the 15. It was a bitter blow to the Devils. Folger then faded to pass but was swarmed. He managed to get off a wobbly toss which Johnny Clements intercepted in the end zone for a touchback, thereby halting the threat.

A long run from the Duke 44 to the 14 by Rodgers led to a delayed Tar Heel score early in the fourth quarter. Hosea fumbled when tackled, but Bob Kennedy recovered. The drive went from here to the eight, but Lloyd Eisenberg recovered a fumble by Ken Powell on the 12, when the Tar Heel end attempted an end-around play.

But the fates weren't with the Blue Devils, and three plays later Bill Flamisch recovered a Duke fumble on the 23.



The opportunist Carolinians made the most of their chance, with Justice passing to Mike Cooke for a first down on the 13. On the next play, Charlie arched a pass to Weiner deep in the end zone for the score. After Bob Cox had kicked the extra point, Carolina led by 13-0 with 8:40 remaining in the game.

With little more than four minutes remaining in the fourth period, the Tar Heels generated enough steam for an 80-yard touchdown drive. After Folger had kicked into the end zone, Rodgers romped to a first down on the 34 after two tries.

Justice, on a quick-opening play, knifed into the line for a gain up to the Carolina 49. He continued on the ensuing play, this time racing to the Duke 49 after faking a pass. Again it was a first down. Aided by a 15-yard penalty against Duke for unnecessary roughness, the locals found themselves in possession of the ball on the Duke 26.

Rodgers then took command. He calmly dropped back and fired a looping pass to Weiner in the left corner of the end zone for a touchdown. It was a perfectly timed play, and only 22 seconds remained in the game.

Old reliable Cox added the point after TD, and Carolina led 20-0. Neikirk kicked off, but Duke didn't have time to run a play. Once again a Snavely-coached team has beaten a Wade team. Snavely now leads in their coaches' duel, four wins to one.

DUKE CENTER Tommy Harris intercepts a Charlie Justice pass intended for wingback Bob Kennedy (74) early in the second period of yesterday's game witnessed by a record crowd of 44,500 wildly cheering fans. The Blue Devils successfully held the Tar Heel attack in check for the first two periods, but their defenses weakened and the Carolina powerhouse came back to score three touchdowns and win by a 20 point margin. Harris didn't get far, however, for Kennedy, perturbed by the stealth, immediately dragged Harris to the turf. —Staff Photo by Mills

Frosh Booters Meet Blue Imps Tomorrow

Boasting a 2-1 record against the Blue Imps, Carolina's freshman booters will meet the Duke frosh in Durham tomorrow afternoon in the final game of the series.

'We Won This One for Coach', Co-Captain Steigman Declares

By Buddy Vaden

"We wanted to win that one for Coach Snavely," declared Tar Heel co-captain Dan Stiegman after yesterday's spine-tingling triumph over Dook. Life in the locker room reached a peak following the game as everyone, including Coach Snavely, began to celebrate the win.

Tailback Billy Maceyko had the right idea when he exclaimed, "We wanted it and we got it—let's go out and party!" Others were so happy over the win, which culminated a highly successful home season, that they were left almost speechless.

Art Weiner, who was responsible for two of the three Tar Heel teedees, declared, "I'm so happy I actually don't know what to say!" Coming from Weiner, the Fred Allen of Kenan stadium, that was a shocking statement.

Everyone generally agreed that the win was a true team victory, with especial praise being meted out to backs Charlie Justice and Hosea Rodgers. Johnny Clements, who put in a good day's work himself, commented, "Hosea and Charlie played the best I've ever seen." Ken Powell, Carolina end, added a word of praise for Weiner, who caught two touchdown passes in the final period. He declared, "Charlie and Art played a fine game."

Bob Cox didn't seem to think that the Blue Devils were really "up" for the game and stated, "If Duke was up I'll eat their hats! It seemed to me that they were stalling from the first whistle." But other players and Coach Snavely had a different opinion. Bill Maceyko and Snavely both said that Duke played a good game, despite the fact that they were far outclassed.

Coach Snavely, who was in an extremely happy disposition, said that Justice's 43 yard touchdown run broke up the game. "Never in my life have I seen a more perfectly executed run. It was made tougher for him because Duke anticipated the play and shifted the way the play was going. On the bench we thought the play should have been called off. But the boys probably would have done better if we didn't have as much masterminding from the bench," he declared.

Charlie Justice, truly a modest fellow, declared that the win was a real team victory.

Grads, Zetas Meet For Campus Title At 4 P. M. Today

The Carolina Intramural tag football campus title will be decided tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock on the intramural field when two powerful undefeated teams, the Graduates, champs of the dormitory division, and the Zeta Psi 2 gridders, top fraternity eleven, tangle in what promises to be 40 minutes of red-hot action.

Both teams have almost unbelieveable records, the Zetas having held their opponents scoreless all season, while the Grads gave up six points in their first tilt and were not scored on again until the final playoff game when Oakwood Drive almost upset the old timers, scoring 22 points to the Grads' 26.

The Zetas, who won seven straight regular tilts, and then brushed aside three playoff opponents, will be relying on their strong defense to stop the powerful Grads tomorrow. However, the fraternity men have a fast moving attack, also, built around the spectacular passing of Heath Alexander. Gurney Boren handles the quarterbacking and manages the Zetes, while two speed merchants, Junie Peel and Jim Ballou, round out the backfield.

Top linemen for frat winners are Collier Cobb, who leads the Zeta scoring with 48 points, and Brack Schell, who is next, with 30 points. Also outstanding in the forward wall are John T. Gregory, Bud Ruffin, Neil King.

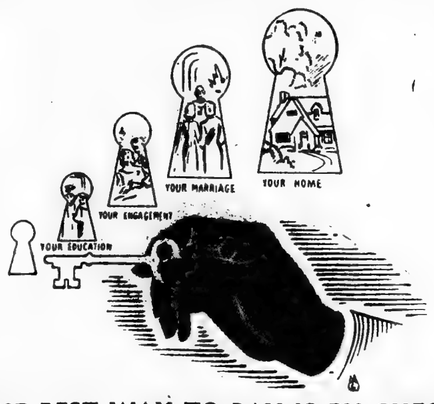


Table Tennis

5:00—Table 1, Pih Gam 1 vs. Phi Gam 2; 2, Pi Lamb 1 vs. ATO 1.

7:15—(Open House) Table 1, Winner (Phi Gam 1 vs. Phi Gam 2) vs. winner (Pi Lamb 1 vs. ATO 1); Oakwood Dr. vs. Town 1.

8:15 — Campus championship match.

The COLONIAL INN
HILLSBORO, N. C.
For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms
TELEPHONE 4301

THE BEST WAY TO PAY IS BY CHECK
. . . and the best check on your budget is also by check. The stubs in your check-book are your record—the cancelled checks your receipts for all payments. And you never have to carry large amounts of money with you and worry about loss or theft.
The Bank of Chapel Hill

It's smart to choose yours while selection is best of Gibson Quality Greetings - so come in and see our grand display - right away!
Ledbetter-Pickard

Congratulations are in order for the men who aired the new Mansfield styles. Look them over, check them by your pet standard of looks, fit or wear. You'll want to adopt a few pairs for yourself.
Manfield Jogs
8.95
Varley's MEN'S SHOP

MELROSE
JEWELRY TREASURES
By Such Famous Names as the Following Nationally Famous Brands

FOSTORIA	FORSTNER
TIFFIN	PARKER
RONSON	SHEAFFER
THORENS	KIMBERLY
ZIPPO	DELTAH
SPEIDEL	IMPERIAL
GORHAM	HAMILTON
WALLACE	ELGIN
WESTCLOX	WHITING
SESSIONS	TELECRON

SETH THOMAS
ELGIN AMERICAN
W. E. RICHARDS
JACQUES KREISLER
INTERNATIONAL
FRANK WHITING
ART-CARVED RINGS

SHOP WITH CONFIDENCE —at—

by Gorham

Here is elegance, simplicity, warmth and rich weight in the finest sterling silver . . . a new Gorham pattern that recaptures the glory of Melrose plantation . . . recalls the romance of Natchez, Mississippi . . . for your American way of living today.

$32.00 per 6-piece place-setting including Federal Tax.

Wentworth & Sloan, Jewelers
Chapel Hill's First Air-Conditioned Store
167 E. Franklin St. Dial F-2732

Town Churches To Hold Joint Services Thursday

PRESBYTERIAN: Beginning with a lecture forum Friday night with the Rev. Mr. David Rostan, Negro minister at Saint Joseph Church in Carrboro speaking on "Community Service Projects," the Presbyterians planned a week-end full of meetings and entertainment. Yesterday morning do-nuts and coffee were served before the game at the Presbyterian annex building. Today at 9:45 and 11:00 "Preacher" Jones will speak, and tonight Dr. H. A. Morgan, former president of Tennessee University and co-director of T.V.A. (Tennessee Valley Authority) will talk to Westminster Fellowship.

Members of all the Chapel Hill churches are meeting together for a Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Dr. A. C. Howell, professor in the English department, will deliver the Thanksgiving address.

LUTHERAN: Sunday school for Lutheran children will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the Y. At the 11 o'clock service the Rev. Mr. Cooper will complete his series of sermons on "The Faith of the Church." He will deal with "The Faith of the Church—in Regard to Holy Communion." During the service there is a nursery for younger children. Tonight at 6:15 the L.S.A. will meet upstairs in the Y to continue their Bible study of "If We Obey Him."

METHODIST: Brooks Patton, director of Wesley Foundation, will deliver the sermon at the 11 o'clock service. Tonight J. G. Phillips, Durham, the first director of Wesley Foundation here, will speak on "Churchmanship for Young people." Mr. Phillips is executive secretary of the North Carolina Board of Education Conference of the Methodist Church.

EPISCOPAL: Communion will be celebrated this morning at 8:00 and 11:00. At the latter service in addition to the Litany, and ante-Communion, the Rev. Mr. Yates will speak briefly on the question "Do You Have to Go to Church to be a Christian?" Tonight at the 8:00 service his topic is "Pure Religion." At the Canterbury Club Tuesday night the Rev. Mr. Warren Ashby, philosophy instructor, will complete the series of discussions on the Lord's Prayer. On Thanksgiving morning early Communion will be held at 8:00, and Mr. Yates will speak at a Thanksgiving service at 10:30.

Larger Loans on Anything of Value
Durham's Newest and Best Pawn Shop
MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Located: 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

ORCHESTRE NATIONAL OF FRANCE
CHARLES MUENCH, Conductor
at
PAGE AUDITORIUM, DUKE UNIVERSITY
Durham, N. C.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26
At 8:15 P.M.
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00 AND $3.50 (Tax incl.)
Phone Durham 112—ext. 270; or write J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C., for Reservations.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

SPACE NOW AVAILABLE — P. M. Express flights, Nov. 24th. Eastern Air Lines. Tel. Durham 6911, Raleigh 8877. (1-c8094-1)

FOR SALE 6B

27 FT.—3 ROOM ZIMMER HOUSE trailer in excellent condition, close to service house, fence inclosed yard ideal for child. No. 3, Trailer Court, Pittsboro Rd. (3-8086-1)

SMALL, FOUR ROOM HOUSE, HARDwood floors, automatic heat. Must be seen to be appreciated. Call Mrs. Fred Couch F-2386 between 9:00 and 4:30. (3-8087-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court. (6-8073-1)

LOST 12

BROWN ZELAN JACKET WITH large pockets. Return to anyone at Circus Room of Monogram Club or to Quonset Hut No. 28. (3-8089-1)

RIDERS WANTED 18A

RIDERS TO KNOXVILLE VICINITY wanted. Leaving Wednesday. Contact Mitzi Alexander, 6971, during the day or at Durham F-5716 at night. (2-8093-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite. Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

CALL US FOR—
- General Sheet Metal Work
- Gutters
- Roof Repairing

Crabtree Metal Shop
CARRBORO — PHONE 9056

OYSTER BAR
OYSTERS Steamed the Way You Like Them!
RELAX in Our Lovely Dining Room and Enjoy One of Our Delicious Dinner Specialties
THE PINES

Claudia Lee Reigns as Queen

"The most naturally beautiful girl I've ever seen," is John Robert Powers' first comment on Claudia Lee, winner of this year's Yackety Yack beauty contest. The proof is in the above picture. A senior from Marshallville, Ga., Claudia was a winner in last year's Sigma Chi Modern Venus contest, is a cheerleader, and a member of Alpha Delta Pi. One of those rare exceptions, she has a mind as well, having been on the University Dean's List and being in the commerce department.

Sororities Top Off Gala Duke Week-end With Open House For Everybody Tonight

The ADPi's entertained the PiKA's at a party last Thursday night. Van Secrest, PiKA from Monroe, made it official last weekend when he presented Jane Hunter, ADPi from South Orange, N. J., with a diamond ring. The regularly scheduled open house will be held tonight from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock at the ADPi house.

The Chi O's gave a tea for their new housemother last Monday afternoon. Willie Marjorie Riddick was pinned this past weekend to Johnny Holmes, Kappa Sig at State. The Zetes entertained the Chi O's at a party in the Zete house Thursday. The Chi O's will have their coffee Sunday night at 7 o'clock as usual.

Pi Phi's will entertain at open house tonight with buffet supper at 5:30, and tomorrow night the chapter will give a supper party for the Betas. Donnie MacDonald, last year's Woman's council chairman, has traveled all the way from New Orleans to Chapel Hill for a visit of a few weeks. She is pinned to Ralph Strayhorn, a Phi Delt in law school.

The Tri Delts were entertained Thursday night with a dinner and "Possum Party" by the Chi Phi's. Tri Delt traveling secretary Jinx O'Neil left Thursday night after a five day visit with the local chapter. Cattie Holt, May Queen here last year, will be wed on November 27th to "Bum" McCormick in Burlington. The Tri Delts will have an open house tonight. Everyone is invited.

Thanksgiving eve Tri Delts all over the nation will be celebrating their birthday. The Delta Delta Delta will be sixty years old. The local Tri Delts are planning a big celebration. Tuesday night they will have a banquet at the Carolina Inn with a special Founder's Day program. This program will feature toasts to the pledges, actives, and alumnae; group singing; speakers; and recognition awards.

The Alpha Gam's are having their annual Thanksgiving dinner on Monday night. The highlight of the dinner will be the singing of the "goat songs" by the pledges. The Lambda Chi's entertained the Alpha Gam's at a party Thursday night. Each week the members spend at least an hour at the local chapter of the National Cripple League Foundation doing work that will help the foundation to continue its work to help the crippled children in this vicinity. The AGD's will hold open house at 6 o'clock tonight. Everyone is invited.

For Your Flower Needs—
—Call—
West-Williams Flower Shop
PH. 9906—P.O. BLDG.—CARRBORO
Flowers Wired Anywhere

Big Party Spirit Hits Fraternities

A party spirit prevailed over the whole campus this weekend and the fraternity houses were the scenes of a great deal of activity. The Chi Psi's are rounding out their weekend with a party this afternoon in "The Lodge." Bob Montgomery, who is in charge of arrangements announced that a six piece combo will play for entertainment. Beginning next Sunday afternoon the combo will be a regular feature of an open house to be held by the fraternity every week.

To start off the Duke weekend the Chi Phi's had a cabin party Friday night, and last night weekend's festivities, the fraternity had a band play in the house from five to seven o'clock.

The Pi Lambda Phi house had an introductory dinner for their house guests Friday followed by a party under the direction of Fred Swartzburg, assisted by Chuck Borton, Perry Frankel and the social committee.

The Duke Sigs were guests of the Alpha Tau chapter of Sigma Chi at a brunch served Saturday morning before the game at the Sigma Chi house, and immediately following the game an informal buffet supper was served for 400 guests and brothers.

Ed Krueger, national Chi Psi visiting secretary, is visiting the local Alpha Sigma chapter this week on his yearly tour. He will be with Carolina Chi Psi's until Tuesday.

The Chi Phi's began this week's activities Wednesday night by initiating four pledges from the Alpha Mu Chapter at Duke. Thursday night the fraternity entertained the Tri Delts at supper, followed by a possum hunt and a square dance. Dates for the affair were chosen by each girl finding her date's name in a balloon suspended from the living room ceiling.

FOOTBALL FANS! PIPE FANS!
Here's a Pipe You'll Score With Every Time...

John Surry's "TOUCHDOWN" FOOTBALL PIPE $1.00
You'll stand up and cheer for the "Touchdown" the moment you put this fine sweet-smoking pipe in your mouth. Made of fine imported briar with a sporty pigskin finish, it looks just like a real football. Swivel stem makes it easy to carry.
In Chapel Hill Available at Varsity

Phone F-414
EAST FRANKLIN STREET
•
FEATURING
For HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES
Egg Nog Mix
* * *
Frozen Fruit Pudding
* * *
Egg Nog and Rum Raisin Ice Cream
* * *
Special Molds
And Stenciled Ice Cream
By Order

VILLAGE
TODAY

—Also—
DONALD DUCK CARTOON
MONDAY

SANITONE—the better kind of Dry Cleaning makes old clothes look like new!
Sanitone dry cleaning restores fabrics to their "like new" feel . . . gives longer lasting wear
Try it today!
✓MORE DIRT REMOVED
✓NO DRY CLEANING ODOR
✓BETTER PRESS LASTS LONGER
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office

AL CAPP
L'il Abner

Luscious Steaks Made For Tarheels — at HARRY'S

MILTON CANIFF
Steve Canyon

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS
Where Praise Due
The Better Way
Modern Moonshining

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Cloudy and cool.

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 54

Truman Views World Scene With Marshall

Secretary Back From Paris Meet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(UP)—President Truman reviewed the troubled world situation with Secretary of State George C. Marshall today at a conference covering the whole range of U.S. foreign policy from Europe to China.

Marshall, who flew in this morning from the United Nations meeting in Paris conferred privately with Mr. Truman for about an hour. Later, he gave the entire cabinet a fill-in on the foreign situation at a luncheon tendered by the president at the Blair-Lee house.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Marshall gave the president "a comprehensive and useful account" of the international situation, including the crisis in China where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government is fighting for its life against the Chinese Communists.

Ross said the meeting was "very informative," but he refused to give any details or to say whether any decisions had been reached.

Coed Candidates To Be Presented At Meet Tonight

An introduction of coed candidates for coming elections and a speech by Student Body President Jess Dedmond will highlight the compulsory undergraduate coed meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall.

The meeting will be conducted by Emily Baker, chairman of coed elections, and Speaker of the Senate Fran Angas will speak briefly. Printed qualifications of candidates will be distributed.

Doors will be locked at 7 o'clock and everyone is urged to be inside before the deadline. Lists will be checked with the dormitory president and everyone not present or late will be given probation after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Nominees for legislature will give an acceptance speech with a maximum limit of five minutes. The nominees for the six month term are Page Dees, Pinky Parrot, Willie Marjorie Riddick, and Mina LaMarr. Nominees for the 12 month term are Emily Sewell, Fuzzy Swain, Jane Cower, and Bobbie Stockton.

Nominees for Honor Council are Ann Chandler, Barbara Lowe, Gene Denbo, Gussie Young, Nancy Norton, Gene Hines, Mary Copenhaver, Helen Eppes, and Sara Wakefield. There are 3 vacancies.

Nominees for Coed Senate at Large are Charleen Greer, Julia Compton, Eleanor Hope Newell, Anita Gates, Jody Armstrong, Nell Lee Greening, Marie Nussbaum, Rebekah Huggins, Pat Denning, Patty Ann Frizell, Muriel Fisher, and Susan Trumbo. There are four vacancies at large.

Eleanor de Grange was nominated for the vacancy from Smith dormitory. Bobbie Stockton and Mary Jo Haynes for the two positions in Carr. There were no nominees from Kenan.

All candidates will be asked to remain after the meeting for a few minutes. There will also be a short meeting of the Senators after the meeting.

The house and dormitory presidents are asked to be at Memorial hall at 6:30 in order to start checking the roll.

SP Candidates To Meet Tonight

All Student party candidates for office in the Nov. 30 general elections must meet with Chuck Lindberry tonight, Chairman Ed Toomey said tonight. The meeting will be held in Roland Parker lounge 3 of Graham Memorial at eight o'clock tonight.

Bowls Sparring For Opponents

Cal, Northwestern in Rose Bowl; Rumors Flying on Sugar, Cotton

By United Press

California's Golden Bears who went untarnished through a 10-game schedule were named yesterday to oppose Northwestern in the Rosebowl game on New Year's day, while sponsors of other post-season fiestas sparred with each other for opponents.

The folks who run the Sugar bowl at New Orleans let it be known they like those "Boomer" Sooners from Oklahoma and the comebackers, but adroitly avoided making any flat statements pending outcomes of Saturday's games involving both teams.

Georgia, on the early line of the Broadway and New Jersey odds-makers, was a seven-point favorite to defeat Georgia Tech in their traditional squabble, while Oklahoma, perhaps the mightiest team ever to represent the midlands, was a 19-point choice to bowl over Oklahoma A & M in their final games of the season on Saturday.

At Dallas, the football players of Southern Methodist balloted on which team to invite as their opponent in the Cotton bowl game.

The players voted at mid-afternoon, but Cotton bowl officials did not disclose the result. North Carolina was reported to be the favorite team of the S.M.U. players, but Oklahoma, Georgia, Tulane and Clemson also were said to have received some support.

The selection of California and Northwestern was announced in Los Angeles and Chicago after votes from faculty representatives had been tabulated. Northwestern, which finished second in the Big Nine race, was the unanimous choice of all representatives since Michigan, the champion, was excluded from a repeat appearance at the game.

There was just a touch of acrimony over the selection of California. Pacific conference balloters refused to announce the result of their poll, but it was certain the Oregon had some support.

Tickets On Sale For Latest Show By Playmakers

Tickets for the Carolina Playmaker production of "School for Scandal" will go on sale this morning at the Playmaker business office, Swain hall, and at Ledbetter-Pickard's on Franklin street, according to business manager John W. Parker.

"School for Scandal", an 18th century comedy of manners by Richard Sheridan, is the third major production of the Playmakers' current season and will be presented in the Playmaker theater on December 1, 2, 3, and 4.

It will be the tour show for the first Playmaker road company since 1941, when Paul Green's play, 'The House of Connelly," was toured for two months. "School for Scandal" will be toured to seven other North Carolina towns and go on in South Carolina during January. Performances, in addition to the four night run here, will be given in High Point, Gastonia, Asheville, Statesville, Spartanburg, S. C., Buie's Creek, Wilmington, Rocky Mount, and Goldsboro.

"School for Scandal" was first producted in London, 1777, and was first given in America in 1784, and George Washington saw it in 1791. The play created a sensation in Boston, 1792, when it was put on in defiance of the anti-theater laws. The local sheriff raided the hall and arrested the manager. The uproar following the arrest culminated in the repeal of the law and permitted the first legal theater in Boston.

The Carolina Playmaker production of the play will be staged with colorful costumes designed by Irene Smart, and Lynn Gault designed the scenery. Harry Davis is directing the production, and the cast and crew of the Chapel Hill showing, which will constitute the Tour Company, are all students, except Gault and Davis. Each of the actors will double in some technical job, such as make-up, stage crew, lighting, or costumes.

The company will travel by bus, and two trucks will carry the lighting equipment and scenery.

Since the University theater group was formed 31 years ago, they have toured all the way from southern Georgia to Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and Chicago, and as far west as Texas. The present tour troupe will be the 40th company sent out by the Playmakers. The tour will last from Jan. 6 until Jan. 16.

Refund Offered In Ducat Mixup For Grail Dance

Due to a misunderstanding, individual tickets to the Charlie Spivak dance were sold at the door Saturday night after the Grail, sponsoring group for the dance, had announced that dance books would not be split.

To correct the mistake, the Grail announced last night that it would refund the purchase price of the Friday night ticket to any student who did not use his ticket on that night after buying the book with the understanding that tickets would not be sold separately.

Refunds will be made upon presentation of the ticket to Ray Jeffries in room 205 South Building between the hours 8:30 to 12:30 and 1:30 to 3:30 today and Wednesday.

Million Dollars in Airplane Valves Discovered by Illinois State Police

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(UP)—State police reported today that they have found more than $1,000,000 worth of high quality Army aircraft engine valves discarded in a suburban dumping ground.

Former officials of the Dodge-Chicago aircraft plant said the valves, made of tungsten carbide steel, were dumped after the war. The plant made 18-cylinder engines for B-29 bombers.

The former plant officials said the valves were dumped on Army orders shortly before the Chrysler corp. turned the plant back to the government.

Officials said the Army gave as its reason for dumping the valves the fact that the cost of disassembling and scrapping them would be prohibitive.

Army officers also were quoted as saying that the valves could not be melted down because their hollow shafts were filled with a sodium cooling agent, which might explode in an open hearth furnace.

But one airline said it currently is paying $75 apiece for valves of the same type. The Army and Navy also have in use planes of the type which could use the valves, aviation experts said.

State police said the valves unearthed at the dump still were wrapped in their original cartons bearing the name of the Easton manufacturing co., Cleveland, O., which made them and shipped them to the Dodge plant here.

EARL SLOCUM

Orchestra Gives Concert Tonight; Cordon Will Sing

The University symphony orchestra, conducted by Earl Slocum, will present its first concert of the year tonight at 8:30 in Hill hall. Norman Cordon will appear as soloist, and there will be no charge for the concert.

The "Toccata," by Frescobaldi, to be heard on tonight's program, reflects the nervous excitement and the frenzied restlessness of the early Baroque period. It is a work distinquished by effective use of chromaticism and by particularly clear and fresh tonal colors.

Mozart's "Symphony No. 40 in G Minor" is the second of three of his principal symphonic works which he composed in rapid succession in 1788.

Norman Cordon, Metropolitan opera star, will be heard as baritone soloist with the orchestra in the Recitative and Aria from the opera "Don Carlos," by Giuseppe Verdi. This will be Cordon's first appearance as soloist in Chapel Hill since his return to his alma mater.

Edwin Hoffman's "March Mock Heroic" is to be heard in concert for the first time tonight. The structure of this composition is a struggle between the opposing themes, a "mock heroic" based upon "Marching Through Georgia" and the truly heroic.

Smith, Aycock, Chi O, Phi Gam Win in Contest

Smith and Aycock Dormitories, Chi Omega sorority and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity each took first place in division in the Pi Kappa Alpha float parade contest Friday afternoon.

Second place awards in the contest went to Archer house, Lewis dormitory, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Edward Kent To Give Talk On Near East

Speaker Worked In Area 6 Years

Ralph Edward Kent, former deputy area director for the Near East foundation in Athens, Greece, will speak on conditions in the Near East this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial.

Kent's speech is being sponsored by the North Carolina World Peace forum and the International Relations department of the Community club. The meeting is open to all persons.

Kent graduated from Princeton in 1921 and was sent to teach English at the Robert college in Istanbul, Turkey, where he remained until 1923. At that time he started teaching in the Mercersburg academy in Pennsylvania.

In 1945 he was appointed assistant director of Athens college in Athens, and did voluntary relief work in the Greek capital during the early days of the Greco-Italian war.

In 1944 and 1945 Kent was assistant naval attache to the U.S. embassy in Greece. He became deputy area director with the foundation in 1945.

Phi to Discuss Six-Day Week This Evening

Saturday classes and Monday hangovers will be discussed by the Phi assembly in Phi hall fourth floor, New East tonight at 7:30.

The Ways and Means committee reported that in view of the current plans to instate Saturday classes despite tremendous opposition from the majority of students and faculty, there should be an opportunity for an expression of student opinion.

Assembly bill 6 reads; Resolved that the Board of Trustees should not change the present quarter system.

Candidates to Meet

All candidates for office in the Nov. 30 general campus elections must attend a compulsory candidates' meeting in Gerrard hall at 7 o'clock tonight, Al Winn, chairman of the Elections board, announced yesterday.

Winn said that coed candidates would be excused to attend the coed mass meeting in Memorial hall, but no male candidates will be excused unless they contact him within 48 hours after the meeting and either present a valid excuse or pay a $1 fine. Otherwise, the candidates will be disqualified, he said.

Colleges Wish To Get Control Of GI Housing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(UP)—Housing officials said today that 711 colleges and universities have asked the government to give up its interest in student housing projects.

The law authorizes the government to turn the projects over to the schools if they meet certain conditions. The applications cover 127,000 units in 1,074 projects built by the government for servicemen and veterans to relieve the critical housing shortages on overcrowded campuses.

Both the University and North Carolina State college asked for, and received, control of their veterans' housing projects early last September. The local project formerly under government control is Victory Village.

The schools must agree to continue giving preference to servicemen and World War II veterans after the government gives up the projects.

Susman Is President Of Pi Lamb Pledges

Alan Susman of Bluefield, West Virginia was elected president of the Pi Lambda Phi fraternity pledge class, it was announced yesterday. Others chosen: Lennie Guyes, Greensboro, vice president; and Irv Cohen, Lumberton secretary.

Sorority House Blaze Takes Two Lives in New York State

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov. 22—(UP)—A fire which swept a sorority house on the campus of Cortland State Teachers college here claimed its second victim today.

Barbara Kelsey, 20, of Carthage, N. Y., died yesterday from smoke and fumes she inhaled while trying to escape. Marie T. Myer, 21, of Sturgeon Point Derby, N. Y., died in the hospital today from third degree burns.

Lillian Rudenetski, 21, Center Moriches, N.Y., was in critical condition tonight, but eight other girl students seriously burned in the fire were reported out of danger.

Thirty-five girls were asleep on the second and third floor of the building when the fire broke out about 1:30 yesterday morning in the kitchen and swept up a back staircase.

Levi Chase, Jr., a Cortland air force veteran and Ed Fischer, of Buffalo, Cortland student, were credited with saving several of the girls. Both required medical attention after entering the building.

Police and firemen conducted an all-day investigation today trying to learn what caused the fire.

Late News Bulletins

Nine Dead in Crash

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Nine British civilians were believed killed and one was injured seriously today when a four-engined Lancastrian plane crashed in heavy fog seven miles northwest of Andover, England.

Queuille Confident

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Premier Henri Queuille was confident tonight that his middle-road coalition government would come through this most crucial week with a double triumph over Communists and Gaullists.

Storm Kills Seven

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Seven persons were killed and more than 100 injured today in the worst storm in Bombay's recorded history. Gale winds of 80 miles an hour whipped through the city, knocking out all electric power and cutting communications with the rest of the continent.

Spy Ring Smashed

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 22. — (UP) — American counter-intelligence corps (CIC) agents have smashed a Czechoslovak spy ring in the Anglo-American zones of Germany with sudden, coordinated raids which netted more than 20 operatives, U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg announced today.

Breen Feared Dead

HAYWARD, Wis., Nov 22—(UP)—Authorities feared tonight that a light plane carrying singer Bobby Breen had crashed in the northern Wisconsin wilderness, and a fleet of air force and civilian planes was mobilized to search for it.

Asks 'Opportunity'

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 22.—(UP)—The AFL today asked Gen. Douglas MacArthur to give the Japanese "maximum opportunity" to work out labor policies for themselves.

Wright Brothers' 'Kitty Hawk' Comes Back to Final Hangar in Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — (UP) — The powered boxkite that was modern aviation's forebear came here today from England to be placed at last in its final hanger.

The late Wright brothers' "Kitty Hawk," known also as the "Flyer," rolled up to the Smithsonian institution aboard a Navy truck and was given a large civic and military reception.

On Dec. 17, the 45th anniversary of man's first sustained flight in a powered aircraft, the little biplane, the craft in which the flight was made at Kitty Hawk, N. C., will be presented formally to the Smithsonian and will take the number one position of honor previously occupied by Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis."

Today's ceremony was informal. Despite rain, several hundred persons gathered before the institution while Army, Navy and Air Force bands struck martial music, an inter-service color guard escorted the truck, and old-timers in the world of aviation paid tribute to Wilbur and Orville Wright.

Gone were the long years of dispute over who built the first airplane capable of flight. Inside the Smithsonian was the original Langley aerodome, long recognized as the first plane capable of flight. But in 1942 the Smithsonian reversed itself and publicly apologized to the late Orville Wright who died last Jan. 30 after outliving his brother by 36 years.

Grauel Scheduled To Speak Tonight On 'Israel, U.N.'

Clergyman Was Aboard 'Exodus;' To Speak In Gerrard At 8 o'Clock

By Sam McKeel

Speaking on "Israel and the U.N.," John Stanley Grauel, young Christian clergyman who served as volunteer crewman aboard the ill-fated Jewish refugee ship, "Exodus," will address the student body as guest lecturer tonight at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

JOHN STANLEY GRAUEL

In an account of the attack presented to the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, Grauel told how the "Exodus" went from port to port in Europe until finally it jammed its docks with 4,500 Jewish refugees at Sete, France on July 10, 1947.

Although told bluntly by local authorities that they could not leave the port, the ship officers sailed under the curtain of night. Days later, outside the territory waters of the Holy Land, five British destroyers and a cruiser intercepted the "Exodus" and the battle began.

The decks were machinegunned and destroyers rammed the helpless vessel 14 times. In the action the helmsman of the "Exodus" was shot down.

Grauel first became concerned with the Palestine situation when he was appointed a member of the American Christian Palestine committee. Today he is convinced that the only solution lies in the preservation and growth of the Jewish state of Israel.

Grauel will speak under the co-sponsorship of the Carolina Forum and the Carolina Intercollegiate Zionist Federation.

CP Lists Names For Legislature, Junior Positions

Chairman Jack Worsham yesterday announced names of Campus party candidates for the Student legislature and junior class offices in the Nov. 30 general elections. The CP slate includes 20 nominees for the legislature and three candidates for officers of the junior class.

Candidates nominated for the legislature from men's dorm districts are: District 1: Walter Carnes, long term candidate (12 months); District 2: Jim Montague (12) and Nemo Nearman (12); District 3: long term candidates John O'Neal, Dave Littlejohn, and Jim Reuning, and short term candidates (six months) David Pittman and Bob Smith; District 4: Bill Rand (12) and Anies Daye (6); District 5: Harris Evans (12) and Bob Smith (6).

Candidates nominated from the second women's dorm district are Francis "Fuzzy" Swain (12) and Blanche "Pinky" Parrott (6).

Campus party nominees from the men's town districts are: District 1: Clark Taylor (12), Bill Patterson (6), and John York (6); District 2: "Bunny" Davis (12) and Charlie Gibson (12); District 3: Frank Pittman (12) and Dave Kelly (12); District 4: Ellis Hall (12).

Campus party nominees for officers of the junior class are Ed Washington, president; Dave Littlejohn, vice-president; and Anies Daye, secretary.

Beer Pays Off As Chapel Hill Collects $3,216

Beer pays dividends sometimes, but not always to those who buy it. The town of Chapel Hill will shortly receive a check for $3,216.91 from the state for beer-wine taxes collected here during the past year.

Town Manager Gilbert Ray said yesterday the money would go into the general fund. "We were expecting a lot more than we got," Ray said.

Checks ranged from $1.70 handed out to Blowing Rock to a high of $88,829.68 for Charlotte. A total of $2,979,116.76 was distributed. Localities missed out on $67,212.35 which was retained by the state.

Tax on a bottle of beer is two and one-half cents. How many bottles of beer were sold in Chapel Hill last year? Figure it out for yourself.

Greensboro Club Chooses Reynolds As New President

At its regular meeting last Tuesday night, Henry Reynolds, Jr., senior in commerce, was elected president of the Greensboro-Carolina club for the Fall term. Garland Scruggs was elected vice-president along with Charles Dwiggins, secretary, Dick Boren, treasurer, and Shahanne Taylor, social chairman.

Again the club will hold its annual Christmas Dance Dec. 20 at the Plantation supper club with a special intermission floor-show.

Tickets will be available after Thanksgiving for $2 to all students and $3 to all others. Tickets can be attained from any club officers.

The social committee includes; Jim Hedgepeth, Marietta Duke, George Webb, Joe Albright, and Bill Owenby.

Yackety-Yack pictures of all Greensboro students will be taken this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. A short meeting will precede the pictures.

Where Praise Is Due

The Tar Heels wound up another season of home football games Saturday as they romped to a 20 to 0 victory over Duke in the game of games on the Carolina schedule. Now, although many fans will follow the Blue and White team to Charlottesville for its last 1948 encounter and many more are making plans for a New Year's day bowl game, Saturday afternoons spent in Kenan stadium are at an end. Now, Tarzan and the cheer leaders and the students can rest their tonsils, Norm Sper can pack up his card stunts and the band can take its instruments in out of the rain until next year.

While the Tar Heels are getting ready for their final contest of an undefeated season, a large round of praise is due to be passed out to several groups and individuals contributing to the most successful football autumn seen at Chapel Hill in many a year. Naturally the lion's share of praise goes to the players on the team and to Coach Carl Snavely—and the sports writers of the state and nation are seeing that they get all they deserve. Justice, Rodgers, Szafaryn and several other standouts are the names mentioned most often, but every victory was a community project and every player who got into action played just as hard as the next one and rates a big share in the applause.

Off the playing field there were a host of others who contributed to the spirit and color of those unforgettable Saturday afternoons. Norm Sper and his cheerleaders did an outstanding job of coordinating and promoting yelling from the vociferous student cheering section, and the students themselves cooperated as never before. The innovation of card stunts added much to the half-time festivities, and Bill Harrison and Norm Sper as designer and executer share the plaudits for their success. Directed by Earl Slocum, the University band, one of the most colorful in the South staged half-time displays that could not be matched by the musicians of any opposing school.

It was a great football season at Carolina, and all connected with it can stand up and take a well-deserved bow.

The Better Way

The question of whether a citizen must answer in court or Congressional Committee hearing whether "he is or ever has been a member of the Communist Party" has been accepted by the Supreme Court and a ruling will be forthcoming. But the American people unknowingly dedecided what method would be used in ferreting out communists within the federal government.

One way was to have Congressional committee investigations. The other method was to let the Administration do its own housecleaning with its own board.

J. Parnell Thomas's Un-American Activities Committee operated on the theory that the more publicity given hearings the better. Kleig-lighted, televised hearings fully exploited the publicity that the Congressional committee desired, yet it failed to prove the guilt of any of the persons called before it. The Committee did succeed in ruining the reputations, causing hardships, and loss of position of many of its "suspects."

By far the more effective method of determining the loyalty of government employes is the Loyalty Board investigation that is favored by President Truman. The Loyalty Board will receive added encouragement now that Mr. Truman is in for four years. The chairmanship of of the Un-American Activities Committee is in the hands of the Democrats who are expected to let its powers decline.

The loyalty board on the other hand will continue its quiet, thorough inspection of federal employes. Here's the way the Board of which you have probably not often heard, works. The Board sets rules and directs the investigation of more than 2,000,000 government workers. The Federal Bureau of Investigation does the checking on employes, but has no authority to judge evidence. It merely acts as a qualified gatherer of information.

The FBI ordered "full field investigations" into 5,510 cases. When a person is cleared, his card is marked "No Derogatory Data." For those workers who are suspected by the FBI of disloyalty or subversive activities, a hearing before a board is held in private. Appeal may be made to a twenty-one-member Loyalty Review Board.

Should a worker be discharged, reasons for his discharge and his name are not made public, nor can the reasons for his resignation be given if he decides to quit.

Using a highly competent organization—the FBI—to gather its data on suspected federal employes, keeping the investigations and hearings from harmful publicity, and conducting a thorough house cleaning of dis loyal workers have been the tenets upon which the Loyalty Board has operated in the past. With the President's encouragement, the Board should prove to be the best answer that has yet been proposed to the question of how to protect our government and at the same time preserve the rights and security of its employes.

(Reprinted from The Daily Texan)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor Billy Carmichael III

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry, Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Gab Before Game Time

By Jack Robinson

COO'S COO AT CAROLINA

Telearvised before the kick-off Saturday:

SHE: Do you know Jonathan Marshall?

HE: You mean Jonathan "as I was saying to Sokolsky" Marshall?

SHE: No, I mean theh Sportsexpert who, in last Thursday's DTH, said football is out of hand at UNC.

HE: You mean his column actually had to do with football? I saw the byline and turned to the cross words. I'm tired of reading politics. . .

SHE: Well, he wasn't writing politics this time. . .unless he was trying to buck Billy III for Sports Editor.

HE: Don't be silly, sweet. Not even Bill Kellam could do that!

SHE: Marshall says at UNC football has become a big business that's more important to the average student than his education.

HE: Whose education - Marshall's? . . . As I thought, his column was a political hangover from the campaign. He hates Republicans and big business.

SHE: He also says football causes class cutting, especially on Fridays.

HE: Now if he can tell the officials why they cut the other 26 Fridays of the year he should win the purple peanut.

SHE: Dahling, I don't think you're taking me seriously.

HE: 'Course I take you seriously, my little Sugar Bowl. But I find it difficult to march with Marshall.

SHE: You mean he's got lots Tu-lane!

HE: Okay, I'll be good. What else?

SHE: Carolina won't be able to de-emphasize football as long as other big teams go in for big league sports; football here has made for bad sportsmanship and a false sense of values; and. . .

HE: Take it easy. . .one thing at a time. Why should Carolina de-emphasize football?

SHE: Carnegie Tech did, he said.

HE: And look at the mass student riots on that campus this fall. . .Tech students seem to have the same false sense of values without a big league team. They protest because they haven't got one, and we cut-up because we have one.

SHE: He says we should give the other teams credit.

HE: We do! Any team that dares line 11 men up against the Tar Heels deserves credit . . .Even when they field 12 men.

SHE: His column tag puzzled me most.

HE: If Marshall wrote it, I can explain. I'm a psychology major, remember.

SHE: He said if there were no classes and only football practice 24 hours a day we probably couldn't have eleven All Americans or the nations top team every year.

HE: Very simple, Sugar Bowl. Yankee Propaganda!

SHE: Thanx for explaining everything, dahling. I just know I couldn't have enjoyed today's game if you hadn't.

HE: And just in time, too. . . For as the manufacturer said, holding the placement tee, we made it for the kickoff.

. . .And Just Stuff

Alton Buck is back from his emergency cut-up performed at Watts hospital. . .he lost his appendix, hung them up to dry and can't find them. . . Bob Linker of the French department is out with his appendix on the blink. . .Happy birthday, Lloyd Overcash. . . what we want to know is:: who is the girl who insists she is married to Dortch Warriner???

Prediction: Cold victims (id da node, that is) will be sneezing thus: CA-SHMOO. . .

They're On The Spot

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington Star

This Changing World

And Now It's Newspapers

By Bill Robertson

(The circumstances of the world are continually changing, and the opinions of men change also.—Thomas Paine)

"It is simply impossible to discover a single authenticated statement during the post-war period by any Soviet leader in the sphere of government, military affairs, culture or other activity, or on the part of any Soviet newspaper, journal or radio commentator, which calls for a war of aggression against the United States or any other country, or which specifies plans for the air bombardment or invasion of the United States or any other country."

This quotation is taken from an article by Corliss Lamont, entitled, "Incitements to War Against Soviet Russia." Mr. Lamont was born and reared in a wealthy family, but has been led by his intellectual integrity to become an ardent fighter in behalf of the finest cause in the world today—the cause of socialism.

Unfortunately, it so happens that we, the American people, must get our news through a controlled press. There are three big press monopolies in our country; namely, Associated Press, United Press, and International News Service. These press monopolies treat the Soviet Union as though it were some kind of a zoo. Since the Soviet Revolution there has been no lie, no slander, about the Soviet government or the Soviet people, which has been too big to be found in our monopoly-controlled press. It started out with charges that the Communists were literally cannibals. It continued all during the twenties and thirties-so much so that Wall Street began to believe its own lies and expected Hitler to conquer the Soviet Union in six weeks.

(Incidentally, Winston Churchill, who boasted in his recent criminal and depraved speech of war incitement, that he has not always been wrong, also believed that the Soviet Union would collapse quickly before Hitler's armies.)

It is clear that Hitler, in the interests of German capitalism, had to tell the same red-baiting and Soviet-baiting lies that we are hearing today. Otherwise, he could never have led the German people in an attack upon the Soviet people.

But this a changing world. It is no longer possible to say that Stalin is an ignorant peasant who fears the intellectuals. It is no longer possible to say that the Soviet Union is weak and on the verge of collapse. Quite the contrary. New lies have to be invented to fit the new situation. These lies must go on and on, so long as monopoly capitalism lasts in America.

They must go on for two reasons: First, because the truth about the successes of socialism in the Soviet Union would produce a tremendous change in the minds of the American people on the question of Socialism. Second, (and this is most important at the present time) it would mean the utter collapse of the "war hysteria" incited by the press and radio.

Barron's Weekly, a big business magazine of, by, and for big businessmen, has been most clear on this point in an editorial to be found in the November fifteenth issue: "appeasement (sic!) might threaten this country, during the period of violent social realignment now upon it. . .with a business slump as a consequence of a decline in armament spending." Very frank words, indeed! It is too bad that our newspapers do not discuss this "problem" on their editorial pages.

We are not saying that all of the truth about the socialist achievements of the Soviet Union is being from the American people. It leaks through. So much so that some time ago Mr. Jonathan Daniels of the Raleigh News and Observer, wrote an editorial, in a rather surprised tone, commenting upon the fact that there was no war talk among the Soviet people. It appears that Mr. Daniels' memory is very, very short, judging by subsequent editorials.

However that may be, the time is approaching when the most fantastic lies and slanders of the big-money press and radio will not be sufficient to keep the facts about the Soviet Union and socialism from the American people. We shall know the truth, and the truth shall make us free.

Telearvised

Moonshining Goes Modern

By Alberta Trulock

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.,—(UP)—Moonshining in the Tennessee hills has gone scientific and the result is plenty of headaches for federal "revenooers."

Old-time 'shiners wore long beards and meant business with a rifle. The modern ones use "souped-up" cars and dynamite blasts to "foul up the law".

Take the word of Rex Kitts, the young ones are smarter, and Kitts has been "flushing shiners" from hill strongholds 28 years. "These modern ones don't shoot unless they get rattled, but they drive high-powered cars and warn each other with dynamite. If they're caught they hire shrewd lawyers," he says.

That dynamiting trick works like this. The 'shiners post "road-runners" to ride up and down the county on the lookout for federal cars. They keep a dynamite fuse loaded and ready, and when they spot a government car the blast sends everybody out of the hills. Crowds gather thick as bees around the crossroads stores, and not until the agents are safely checked out, do they head back to the stills.

Cocke county, Tennessee is the stronghold for this practice.

"Got to be good to get within three miles of a still in Cocke county –that is 'til recently." Kitts said. He smiled and added, "we've got a secret method now, but of course, we don't tell about that."

One evidence of how well the method works is a recent week's take from the 15-county Knoxville area. Agents rounded up 12 stills with a total daily capacity of 2, 785 gallons, 8,125 gallons of mash, two confiscated cars, and 10 'shiners.

Kitts speaks a trifle contemptuously of modern moonshine compared to the stuff made "fore they learned about sugar and yeast." Now they may even use a little lye to make it in half the time and "they run that same old mash over and over until it rots."

Often"smart shiners" make what they call a "trial liquor run". Two cars—innocent of shine—come whizzing out of the woods at high speed. That's to "draw out" any "government law" that may be around. If the "trial run" goes all right, then out comes the real goods in a three-car caravan with the loaded car in the middle.

Write Away

Just Another Hack

Editor:

After constant subjection to the "Letters to the Editor" column in the DTH for, lo, these many months, for lack of other deep reasoning matter, I have gotten to the point where my curiosity has finally got the best of me. I have scanned the student directory and the Chapel Hill telephone directory and the city directory and all kinds of directories and I can't find the name of any Thomas Paine. Now, this guy's name appears in the DTH almost every day as the author of some awful cliches. This being the only clue that I can recognize as to his identity, I have come to what I believe is a conclusion that will bear investigation.

I SUSPECT THAT THIS THOMAS PAINE IS ACTUALLY SOME HACK WRITER SUCH AS BOB SMITH OF TARNATION . . .!

Tom Wharton

Dixieland Forever

By William D. Laffler

NEW ORLEANS, —(UP)—A waffle vendor who blows a dented World War, I army bugle with a finessee the dough boy never heard was acclaimed tonight as one of the rising stars in a rebirth of Dixieland Jazz.

The waffle vendor is Sam De Kemel, "Buglin' Sam, the Waffle man."

"Buglin' Sam" was presented last Sunday at a concert of Dixieland music on Royal street in New Orleans' French quarter, where years ago musicans threw away their scores and started playing what has been called "America's only native art form."

He appeared on a small bandstand in a second-story concert hall where Irving Fazola, Dixieland's great clarinetist, had assembled New Orleans' best Jazz musicans.

"Buglin' Sam" began playing a Dixieland "Dinah" on his battered horn and the 500 purists who made up the audience couldn't believe they weren't hearing a trumpet with all values working.

The applause they gave him could be heard a block away on noisy Burbon street and was exceeded only when he returned to the stand later to play "Bugle Call Rag."

De Kemel, who is fat and 45, said he started using his bugle in 1921 to attract customers to the waffle wagon that he still drives today.

"At first I played army bugle calls," said Sam, "but I heard a lot of Dixieland Jazz and I said I believe maybe I can get some new notes out of this bugle.

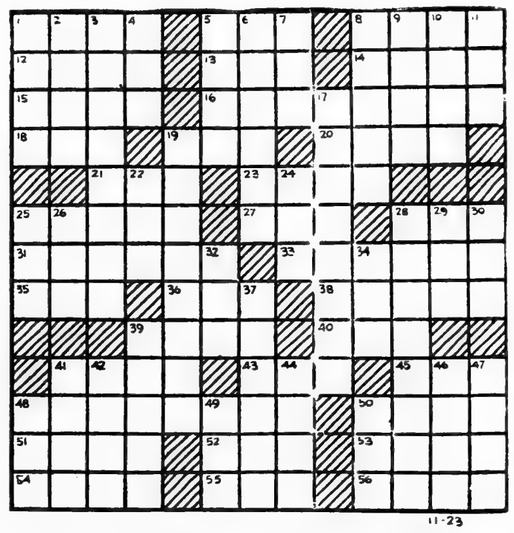
"I learned how to play 'Jack Carey' and the people used to stop and listen while I was riding on my wagon. 'Jack Carey' is called 'Tiger Rag' now."

"Buglin" Sam rubbed his lip.

"You've got to have a tough lip to blow a bugle this way. You've got to push out those sharps and flats, because you don't have any values."

Sam said he thought Dixieland's popularity in New Orleans would increase.

"Look at these men," he said. "People have been trying to get them together for 15 years.



He pointed to Fazola, one of the original Bob Crosby Bob Cats, who was blowing a chorus on "Royal Garden Blues."

"There's the greatest black stick (clarinet) player in the world. And Sharkey (Sharkey Bonano), he plays a great trumpet. He's going places."

Then he pointed a finger at Julian Laine, whose trombone passages on "Muskrat Ramble" almost were drowned out by the applause.

"All of these men are the best—Roy Zimmerman on the piano, Chink Martin on the bass, Frank Federico on the guitar, and Monk Hazel on the drums and mellophone. Yep Dixieland's back to stay."

And it looks as if Sam and his bugle are here to stay too.

11-23

HORIZONTAL
1. girl's name
5. soft hat
8. stuff
12. heroic poem
13. salutation
14. military assistant
15. cozy retreat
16. hold back
18. abstract conception of being
19. by
20. remainder
21. former government agency (abbr.)
23. allowance for waste
25. like a polestar
27. distress call
28. former New Guinea base
31. happenings
33. basic principles of right action
35. aeriform matter
36. island of Cyclades
38. holds dear
39. penned in
40. female sheep
41. match
43. is possessed of
45. constellation
48. stripped of office
50. heap
51. wing-shaped
52. before
53. peruse
54. disorder
55. donkey
56. being

VERTICAL
1. sand hill
2. overt
3. sausage-like rolls
4. deed
5. anxiety
6. wards off
7. foot-like organ
8. mark of omission
9. narrow inlets
10. entrance
11. adult males
17. supports for platforms
19. associates
22. woodland spirit
24. fish eggs
25. wooden nail
26. eggs
28. uniforms
29. high card
30. S-shaped worm
32. wrongdoing
34. in what manner
37. opposite ones
39. wharves
41. heap
42. topaz humming-birds
44. citrus drink
46. woe is me
47. one of an ancient race
48. barrier to check flow of water
49. beverage
50. prefix: before

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

C	A	R	A	T		S	T	R	A	T	A	L
A	B	E	L	E		P	R	O	C	U	R	E
B	A	B	E	L		R	E	V	E	L	E	D
A	L	A		A	N	I	M	E		L	A	G
R	O	T	A		A	G	O		D	E	L	E
E	N	E	R	G	Y		R	O	E
T	E	R	S	E				P	A	R	I	S
			O	E	R		S	E	L	E	N	E
T	A	R	N		A	D	O		T	A	C	T
A	W	E		A	T	I	L	T		M	E	T
P	A	L	A	D	I	N		A	L	I	N	E
E	R	I	N	I	T	E		R	I	N	S	E
R	E	C	I	T	E	R		E	D	G	E	S

11-23

Average time of solution: 27 minutes.
Dist. by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Virginia Last Obstacle To Unbeaten Year

THE SPORTING PICTURE

By BILLY CARMICHAEL III

Decision Revision

CAROLINA BEAT DUKE, 20-0, on Saturday, but by yesterday morning the decision had been reversed in some of the local papers and the Blue Devils were emerging the hypothetical victor of the traditional clash. The gist is that in the combination of defeat, Durham, and Duke, three is a crowd, and the latter two just won't socially accept the former as a partner in crime.

The Dukes have all the necessary arguments to stir the imaginative mind—everything from the tale that Charlie Justice's knee hit the ground along with numerous Duke tacklers on his Odessic 43-yard touchdown travel; to what might have happened if what didn't happen had have. They've taken the "If" right out of the difference, but no one has stopped to figure the ifs from the Tar Heel point of view.

So, rework the score from the if angle. Take away, with the threat of being struck down by thunderbolts, Charlie Justice's 43 yards of fancy footwork. Then subtract the second Tar Heel touchdown that was staged by a fumble that might not have been dropped. Lastly, throw out the other Carolina points which were set up by an unnecessary unnecessary roughness penalty which one writer described as Al DeRogatis shaking Justice too hard while tackling him. It looked more like old Gang Wars in Chicago.

You Can't Lose

THE BLUE DEVILS are now awarded seven points for their one touchdown drive that might have been scored if: 1) everyone in the Duke backfield with possible exception of the referee hadn't been in motion on Stephanz' drive to the Carolina 4; or 2) Fred Folger had thrown his desperation heave at the scoreboard instead of Johnny Clements. Score's now, 7-0, Duke.

Now give the Tar Heels a touchdown: 1) when the said Mr. Clements almost intercepted a Duke pass at midfield early in the game with a blocker and a lot of green pasture ahead; and 2) when Weiner bobbled a Justice aerial out of his hands instead of into them in the first half with nothing but white lines between him and the goal line.

And 3) when Bill Flamisch accidently shifted into the wrong gear around the Duke goal line chasing a perfect Justice pass; and 4) when a Duke lineman just did stick his hand up in front of another Justice pass which was destined for a Carolina end moving around the Duke double stripe line; and 5) when Ken Powell couldn't quite get hands on the pitchout part of the end around with nothing but Tar Heels ahead of him. That makes the tally, 35-7, Carolina, or did we miss one.

What's forlorner than Horner.

More Ifing in the Offing

IFFEN IT ISN'T too much speculation on speculation, it might be well to take a few quick whifs at the ifs of the currently boiling bowl picture where the plot continues to thicken by the hour. The bowls in question come in three flavors which might be tasty to the Tar Heel pigskin palates—Orange, Sugar, and Cotton—reading geographically east to west.

The method of choosing a bowl isn't found in the current Buyer's Guide, but the two things to consider would mainly seem to be the best place with the best team. With the bowls on the table, the entre is the teams in question, a rather meaty assortment of Georgia, Oklahoma, and Southern Methodist heading the menu.

The best bowl from all points of view looks to the Sugar from which 1946 memories still are firm entrenched. Two things would probably stymie the Tar Heels here—SMU must defend the Cotton Bowl and few Tar Heels, would have any appetite for a Georgia rehash. And the Bulldogs, currently the kingpin of the Southeastern conference, are about a sure thing for a bid should they beat Tech Saturday.

SMU Will Do

THAT MAKES A SUGAR BOWL bid without replaying Georgia somewhat remote. If the Tar Heels won't play the Georgians again, the Oklahomians most probably will, leaving the Carolina team with nothing much to play in the Orange Bowl but slightly uninteresting Tulane or Vanderbilt.

That, by little less than Sherlock Holmes' deduction, leaves the Tar Heels with the best bet of playing SMU in the Cotton bowl in Dallas. 'Tis a long way to ride to play a football game, but the contest would be the greatest thing in a natural since the invention of dice with the pitting of the nation's two greatest halfbacks—Charlie Justice and Doak Walker—against each other.

The Carolina-SMU match would make the Cotton Bowl "the" game to welcome in the 1949 football season as not only the eyes of Texas, but the eyes of the nation would be turned to the tangle of Mustangs and Tar Heels.

Sugar is sweet, but so is Cotton candy.

Soccer Team Has Distinction Of Winning Year's First Title

By Larry Fox

The honor of bringing the first Southern conference crown of the year to the University belongs to the Carolina soccer team, which has just concluded its second season of intercollegiate competition and its first as a major sport.

It is fitting that the Tar Heels ended the season by blasting Washington and Lee, 4-1, thus establishing their claim to the unofficial conference title. The locals were undefeated after dropping their first game of the campaign to Navy, 2-0, and only two ties further marred the season record, which was featured by seven victories. The booters also had the satisfaction of recording later victories over both of the schools which had held them to a tie.

Both High Point and Duke were humbled by the Tar Heels by identical scores of 2-1, thus resolving earlier deadlocks.

The Record

The Tar Heels played only four conference games but were victorious in three, a scoreless tie with Duke accounting for the other decision. Two loop wins were registered over Washington and Lee and one over the Blue Devils. The other triumphs of the campaign came over Loyola, High Point, Virginia, and Roanoke.

The outstanding team performance of the year came against a potent Loyola eleven, which was pronounced a pre-game favorite. Carolina played inspired ball to cop a close, 3-2, decision.

One of the great reasons for the local success was Carolina's strong defense which held the opposition to an average of one goal per game. The defense hit its peak after being tied by High Point, 3-3, early in the season. Carolina opponents were held scoreless for four straight games. The streak consisted of wins over Virginia, Roanoke and W & L and the Duke stalemate.

The offense also played a great part in the team play that made the great season possible by scoring 22 goals in the 10 games and getting them when they were needed.

Book Tops Scoring

Dave Boak easily led the team in scoring by tallying seven goals, four of them coming in consecutive games. Boak almost turned the hat trick against Duke when he notched both of Carolina's scores. Switched over to center forward from left wing at the beginning of the season, Boak starred as a play-maker also.

Second in scoring was Dave Ferebee with three tallies. Joe Bach, Pete Hexner, Tommy Jordan, and John Langley each counted twice, while Earl Betts, Bill Lyons, Bill Moore, and Joe Dorsett dented the cords once

(See SOCCER, page 4)

Play for Title

Carolina's Intramural tag football campus championship tilt, between the Graduates, dormitory division champs, and the Zeta Psi eleven, fraternity winners, will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock on Intramural field, with the winner slated to meet the University of Virginia's intramural champs in the Mad Bowl at Charlottesville on November 27. The game between the Grads and the Zetes, originally slated to be played yesterday afternoon, was postponed until today because of bad weather.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand for the deciding tilt between the two undefeated aggregations, with neither team being rated as much of a favorite over their opponent.

The Zetes have held their opponents scoreless all season, while the Grads had their goal scoring, with 5 touchdowns line crossed in only two of their ten games. The Grad's backfield is paced by the passing of Bob Edwards and Jim Hayworth, while ends Jim Edwards and Ken Black, and guard Bill Spiegel lead the apiece.

Rose Bowl Picks Wildcats, Bears For Grid Classic

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—(UP)—The Pacific coast conference today picked the University of California to meet Northwestern in the 1949 Rose bowl football game at Pasadena. The vote was not announced.

All 10 conference schools voted. The vote by conference faculty representatives sends the West Coast's only major undefeated and untied team into the Pasadena classic and puts California into the bowl for the first time in 11 years.

California scored 277 points to its opponents' 80 in winning 10 games this year. It was the first perfect season for the Golden Bears in 26 years. In two seasons since he came to California, Waldorp's teams have lost just one

(See ROSE BOWL, page 4)

VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE

4:00—Court 1, Town vs Grads 3, Kap Sig 2 vs Zeta 2

5:00 — Court 1, KA vs Phi Gam 1 Court 3, Sig Chi 1 vs Sig Nu 1

MONOGRAM MEETING

There will be a meeting of all members of the Carolina monogram club at the club house Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. according to Dan Nyimicz, secretary-treasurer of the club.

Gridders Get Day Of Rest for Play Against Dukesters

Coach Carl Snavely yesterday gave the Tar Heel gridders an afternoon of rest following their decisive 20-0 triumph over number one rival Duke on Saturday.

But today the Carolina squad members will go back to work as they drill on Navy field for the season's finale with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville on Saturday. The Cavaliers are the last obstacle in the path of the undefeated locals.

The Virginians, sparked by some fine fullback play on the part of Johnny Papit, have turned in a better record to date than most Tar Heel followers realize. In eight games, Virginia has lost only to Princeton (55-14) and George Washington (20-12).

Heishman Trophy

Carolina's All-American tailback Charlie Justice is being widely mentioned as a candidate for the Heishman Trophy. Many sportswriters think he is the nation's outstanding gridiron performer. To date Choo Choo has scored nine touchdowns, passed for ten more and is the proud possessor of a 45 yard punting average.

Chapel Hill was filled with bowl talk yesterday as speculation reached a new high on campus. The rumor got out that Georgia and Oklahoma would play in the Sugar Bowl and immediately it was decided that Carolina would play SMU in the Cotton Bowl.

Everyone seems to have passed up the fact that the official invitations have not been presented.

Best In Dixie

One thing is certain and that is the fact Tar Heels are the best in Dixie. This partially accounts

(See FOOTBALL, page 4)

FROSH GRID PRACTICE

Fresman football coach Crowell Little announced yesterday that frosh practice will be held as usual today. The reason given was that several members of the team will be used in the Junior varsity game with Navy at Annapolis on Thursday.

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY

Wrestling

4:00, 136 lb: Mat 1—Skinner, W. (Zeta) vs Hednick, W. (Phi Gam); 2—Brenegar, D. (Kap Sig) vs Terrell, J. (Sig Chi); 145 lb: 3—Morton, B. (ATO) vs Sargent, J. (Sig Nu).

4:06, 145 lb: Mat 1—Foy, D. (PiKA) vs Tillett, H.M. (SAE); 2—Davenport, D. (KA) vs Williams, E. S. (SAE); 3—Umstead, W. (Sig Nu) vs Sloan, B. (KA).

4:12, 155 lb: Mat 1—Jones, J. W. (Chi Phi) vs Tuck, G. D. (Sig Chi); 2—Hudson, H. (Kap Sig) vs Anderson, W. (Phi Delt); 3—Croswell, B. W. (Chi Phi) vs Chatham, D. (SAE).

4:18, Mat 1—Barnes, K. (Sig Chi) vs Ruffin, B. (Zeta); 165 lb: 2—Pell, A. (DKE) vs Bacon, Z. H. (SAE); 3—Buchanan, H. (Phi Delt) vs Small, C. B. (Sig Nu).

4:24, 165 lb: Mat 1—Fox, J. (SAE) vs Gilman, T. (Phi Gam); 2—Hackney, R. (Zeta) vs Smith, L. A. (Sig Chi); 3—Smith, D. (ATO) vs McLandan, B. (Beta).

4:30, Mat 1—Hackney, C. (Phi Gam) vs Carver, M. (Sig Chi); 2—Van Story, N. (Zeta) vs Sprunt, L. (SAE); 3 — Penegar, R. (Kap Sig) vs Adams, J. C. (Sig Chi).

4:36, Mat 1—Todd, B. (ATO) vs Erdman, B. (SAE); 2—Currin, B. (Zeta) vs Bell, D. (KA) 3 — Northrup, S. (ATO) vs Terrell, L. (Sig Chi).

4:42, 175 lb: Mat 1—Taft, D. (Kap Sig) vs Clark J. (Sig Chi); 2—Dowd, M. (Phi Gam) vs Page, H. (Sig Nu); 3—Darr, D. (DKE) vs Kiser, M. L. (Chi Phi).

4:48, Mat 1—Modlin, H. (Kap Sig) vs Hammer, J. R. (Phi Gam); 2—Cunningham, D. (Zeta) vs Dortch, R. L. (SAE); 3—Kirby, B. (KA) vs. Reich, T. (Phi Kap Sig).

4:54, H'wt: Mat 1 — Perry, B. H. (Zeta) vs Boyer, W. (Beta); 2—McGill, C. M. (PiKA) vs Miller, B. (SAE); 3—Poisson, R. (Phi Gam) vs Nearman, N. (Pi Lamb).

5:00, 136 lb: Mat 1 — Aaron, J. (Town) vs Turnley, E. (Town); 145 lb: 2—McClelan, V. P. (Town) vs. Gaurley, R. P. (Town); 3—Majette, J. P. (Town) vs Garrou, A. F. (Med Sch).

5:06, 155 lb: Mat 1—Cornwell, M. (Alex) vs Seagroves, J. (Med Sch); 2—Krauss, F. (Town) vs Shields, G. B. (Emerson) 3—Mansour, S. (Town) vs Moak, G. (Med Sch).

5:12, Mat 1—Lowenstein, A. (Town) vs Terrell, K. (Med Sch); 165 lb: 2—Edwards, B. (Town) vs McGinn, B. (Emerson); 3—McGill, A. G. (Town) vs Greenbaum, J. (Alex).

5:18, 175 lb: Mat 1 — Madison, J. (Town) vs Young, M. (Emerson); 2—Senter, J. (Emerson) vs Richardson, R. (Town); Heavyweight: 3 — Thurman, B. (Emerson) vs Perry, B. (Town).

5:24, 121 lb: Mat 1—Warren, B. (Kap Sig) vs Renson, C. (DKE); 2—Reichle, P. (ATO) vs Stuart, Karl (Chi Psi); 3—Cobb, C. (Zeta) vs Edmundson, P. (Sig Nu).

5:30, 128 lb: Mat 1—Hoffman, K. (TEP) vs Newman, B. (Chi Psi); 2—McGimsey, B. (Phi Delt) vs Hunter, B. (Zeta); 3—Moore, S. W. (Phi Gam) vs Davenport, E. (Phi Delt).

5:36, Mat 1—Howard, D. (Sig Nu) vs Black, B. (Beta); 136 lb: 2—Mannes, T. (Kap Sig) vs Williamson, F. K. (DKE); 3—Brown, B. (KA) vs Heyward, M. (Beta).

5:42, Mat 1—Dyer, W. P. (Sig Chi) vs Weaver, J. (SPE); 2—Hamrick, G. (PiKA) vs Northland, C. (Phi Gam); 3—Broadfoot, H. (ATO) vs White, M. (Sig Nu).

5:48, Mat 1—Boren, G. (Zeta) vs Allen, D. (DKE); 2—Melvin, C. (Chi Psi) vs Turner, H. (SAE); 3—Young, T. (Phi Gam) vs Johnson, C. B. (Kap Sig).

5:54, Mat 1—Johnson, G. (SAE) vs Williams, C. (Kap Sig); 2—Gregory, T. (Zeta) vs Berger, D. (Sig Chi); 3—Hunter, O. (Kap Sig) vs Bach, J. (Phi Delt).

Swimming Season Begins Thursday

The 1948-49 swimming schedule will be officially opened here this week when the Tar Heel tankmen play host to several Southern swimming teams. The meet will begin on Thanksgiving Day, Wednesday, November 25 and will continue until November 27.

Three teams have already registered for the meet and there is a possibility that three more will follow suit before registration closes. Duke, State, VPI, Emory, and Carolina will definitely be represented at the meet, and La-Salle, Georgia Tech, and Miami (Fla.) are expected to send teams.

The meet will be conducted in accordance with NCAA regulations and individual trophies will be presented. Team scores will not be kept, and the meet will be based on individual, rather than team performances.

One More Week

With only one more week of football games remaining, Dick Jenrette, assistant sports editor of the Daily Tar Heel, seems to have assured himself of first place in the DTH's weekly football prediction contests for the season.

Jenrette and Jake Wade, University sports publicist, deadlocked for top honors this past week, each predicting 16 of 20 games correctly. Jenrette, however, maintains a four-game lead over Wade in the totals for the past eight weeks.

Here are the records of the DTH's five-man prediction board:

	w.	l.	pct.	gb
Dick Jenrette	134	40	.770	—
Jake Wade	130	44	.747	4
Jeff Thomas	125	49	.718	9
Bill Carmichael	122	52	.701	12
Orv. Campbell	119	55	.684	15

Come Out for a Big Thanksgiving Sendoff
Celebrate to the Music of the Jim Peace Trio
at
STEVE'S
CAFE SEVILLE

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

At UNC—
NORM KOHLER has the EDGE in basketball.
...and in razor blades
PAL
HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

VILLAGE
—Today—
Paramount presents
JOHN LUND
WANDA HENDRIX
BARRY FITZGERALD
MONTY WOOLLEY
THE FIRST MILLION LAUGHS ARE THE FUNNIEST IN
"Miss Tatlock's Millions"
CARTOON—NOVELTY

NEVER HAVE THE STARS LOOKED DOWN ON AN ADVENTURE LIKE THIS!
Drama-journey with "Triton, The Great," the "man who could see into Tomorrow!" The unforgettable story of a small-time vaudeville mind-reader . . . and a girl who kept a date with Destiny!
JOHN LUND
ROBINSON RUSSELL LUND
in Paramount's "Night has a thousand Eyes"
VIRGINIA BRUCE WILLIAM DEMAREST
—Also—
SPORTLIGHT — NOVELTY
TODAY
CAROLINA

IN PERSON
"THE MAN WHO PLAYS THE SWEETEST TRUMPET IN THE WORLD"
CHARLIE SPIVAK
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM
RALEIGH
Tickets available at AB'S BOOKSHOP

Prove for yourself what throat specialists reported when 30-day smoking test revealed
NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!
In that test, hundreds of men and women, from coast to coast, smoked Camels, and only Camels, for 30 consecutive days—an average of one to two packs a day. And the noted throat specialists who examined the throats of these smokers each week—a total of 2470 careful examinations—reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!
Make the Camel mildness test. Test Camels yourself for 30 days in your own "T-Zone"... T for Taste and T for Throat.
Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the rich, full flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos—so carefully aged and expertly blended. Let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you the wonderful story of Camel's cool, cool mildness.
You'll enjoy the test...every puff of it. You'll enjoy Camels.
Money-Back Guarantee!
Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.
According to a Nationwide survey:
MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE
Doctors smoke for pleasure, too! And when three leading independent research organizations asked 113,597 doctors what cigarette they smoked, the brand named most was Camel!

Chinese Red Troops Take Paoting, Drive Toward Peiping In New Move

Commander Clamps Curfew on Areas

NANKING, China, Nov. 22—(UP) Chinese Communists troops today captured Paoting, capital of Hopeh province, and were reported driving toward Peiping in what appeared to be a new offensive to cut off all North China.

Coinciding with the fall of Paoting, 90 miles southwest of Peiping and 90 miles west of Tientsin, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, supreme Nationalist commander in the north, clamped a strict 24-hour curfew and censorship on five provinces under his command.

Paoting's capture was claimed by the Communist radio and government military sources in Peiping admitted its fall. The Communists flashed the report as a prelude to another warning to the United States that no amount of aid could save Nationalist China or American business here.

William Penn fostered freedom of the press in Philadelphia.

The first practical typesetting machine was invented in 1846.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD will be in its permanent location on Monday, November 29th. Open house Monday and Tuesday, November 29 and 30 with delicious delicatessen snacks and even more amazing values. The new location is just one block beyond the new bus station, across from the Farmers' Dairy on West Franklin Street. (ch 1x2)

SPECIAL NOTICES 4

SAVE YOUR SHOES! HAVE THEM rebuilt with the new amazing invisible resoling. Bring shoes to Carrboro for quality workmanship at lowest prices. Carrboro Shoe Shop. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE 8B

HOUSE TRAILER, 21-FOOT, FULLY equipped. Ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. See it before you buy. 86 Trailer Court, Pittsboro Road (2-8098-1)

TRAILER WITH PORCH. SLEEPS four. Close to Service House, quick sale, $800. Lot 39, Trailer court. (6-8073-1)

NEW LARGE MAN'S LETHERETTE chair and ottoman—dark green color. Manufacturer's price. Call F-2401. (2-8090-1)

LOST 12

BROWN ZELAN JACKET WITH large pockets. Return to anyone at Circus Room of Monogram Club or to Quonset Hut No. 28. (3-8089-1)

WILL PERSON WHO TOOK BROWN topcoat, white evening coat, and pocketbook at Saturday dance. Return to DTH. No questions asked. (1200)

ONE POCKET BOOK WITH DRIVers' license and ID card. Can have money in it R. B. Wilkins, 110 Stacy. (1-8096-1)

SMALL, RED, SNAKE-SKIN POCKET book on Friday night. Please call 8851. REWARD. (1-8095-1)

WOULD PERSON WHO "BORrowed" tan, double breasted military style rain coat in Lenoir Hall Friday evening, please return same to Bruce Sanborn, 22 Old West. (1-8101-1)

GRAY, GABARDINE TOPCOAT IN front Battle Dorm. Name inside, Dick Mayberry. Contact Ralph Parks, 12 Battle. Reward. (2-8099-1)

TAKEN BY MISTAKE 20

WILL THE PERSON WHO EXchanged alligator topcoat at N.C. Cafeteria Friday night contact John Giles, 108 Grimes. I have yours, mine has JG 1750. (2-8100-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

Phi Beta "Glamour"

SEAM-FREE NYLONS

WITH PATENTED HEEL

Smart girls are wearing them—for they're a smart fashion! The seal of the DANCING TWIN identifies their exclusive, patented heel for superb fit... their Gusset for comfort... their flawless, seam-free look. You'll find them under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.

U. S. Pat. No. 2288649

CAMPUS CALENDAR

9:00—JOHNSTON COUNTY students pick up bids for Christmas dance, to be held Dec. 20, until 11 o'clock. Y lobby.
11:00—FRESHMAN ASSEMBLY. Dean of Students Fred Weaver, speaker. Memorial hall.
2:00—DAILY TAR HEEL news, society, sports, editorial and business staffs will have Yack pictures made. DTH office.
3:00—WAYS AND MEANS committee. Open hearing on Carolina Forum. Grail room, GM.
3:00—UNIVERSITY PARTY meeting. Candidates and representatives urged to attend. Yack pictures. Horace Williams lounge, GM.
3:00—CAROLINA QUARTERLY STAFF will discuss forthcoming issue. Roland Parker lounge 2, GM.
3:00—VETS CLUB Yack pictures. Main lounge, GM.
3:00—JOHNSTON COUNTY Christmas dance bids on sale in Y lobby.
4:00—GREENSBORO-CAROLINA club Yack pictures. Main lounge, GM.
4:30—STUDENT LEGISLATURE Yack pictures. Main lounge, GM.
4:30—STUDENT LEGISLATURE Yack pictures. Main lounge, GM.
5:00—TOWN MEN'S association, Graham Memorial.
5:00—PUBLICATIONS BOARD. Yack pictures. Main lounge, GM.
7:00—COMPULSORY CANDIDATES MEETING. All candidates for elections Nov. 30 must attend, with the exception of coeds attending the coed mass meeting. Gerrard hall.
7:00—COED MASS MEETING. Introduction of candidates, brief talks by Jess Dedmond and Fran Angas; Compulsory for undergraduates. Memorial hall.
7:00—STANLY COUNTY club. Short meeting to discuss Christmas party plans. Roland Parker lounge, GM.
7:00—ALPHA PHI OMEGA, National service fraternity. All previous Boy Scouts invited to participate in service and fellowship. Roland Parker lounge 1, GM.
7:00—ANNUAL TURKEY BINGO sponsored by the American Legion at the Legion hut on East Rosemary street.
7:00—BRIDGE TOURNAMENT. Main lounge, GM.
7:30—INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS club. Grail room, GM.
7:30—REV. JOHN STANLEY GRAUER, American Christian Committee for Palestine, will speak on "Israel and the United Nations." Gerrard hall.
7:30—AQUINAS CLUB. Father A. S. Foley, S. J., speaker. Library, 2nd floor Y building.
7:30—GRAHAM MEMORIAL PING PONG tournament. Campus wide. Rendezvous game room.
7:30—DANCING CLASS. Rendezvous room.
8:00—TIDEWATER, VIRGINIA club. Organizational meeting. All students from Norfolk, Suffolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach, Hampton and vicinity urged to attend. Roland Parker lounge 3, GM.
8:30—UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY concert with Norman Cordon as soloist. Hill hall.
8:00—SIGMA XI chemistry fraternity meeting. Reports from the divisions of physical, organic and analytical chemistry on current research. Wilson hall auditorium.
9:00—IREDELLIANS. 101 New West.

-Football-

(Continued from page 3)

for the large number of Confederate flags that are now synonomous with Carolina football games.

Saturday's game at Charlottesville will mark the 53rd renewal of this ancient series. The Tar Heels have won 26 games while the Cavaliers have copped 23. Three contests have ended in a has registered wins the last three years, including a 49-14 victory in 1946 and a 40-7 triumph last year.

-Soccer-

(Continued from page 3)

apiece.

Defensive chores were handled mainly by halfbacks Gus Johnston, Lyons, and Co-Captain Jesse Greenbaum; fullbacks Buck Blankenship and Co - Captain Frank Nelson; and goalies Al Williams and Dave Sobel.

The Tar Heels will lose many men via graduation this year, but those remaining added to the reserves and present members of the freshman squad should take up most of the slack and provide Carolina with another outstanding eleven next year.

Kenny Powell, glue-fingered Carolina pass-snatcher, has never dropped a pass in the open in his three years of play with the Tar Heels.

REWARD

Brown Wallet lost last Saturday nite. Important papers. Call Pete Whittemore, c/o F-3041 or F-3371.

CONCERT TONIGHT

•

UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY

Hill Music Hall

Tuesday, November 23, 8:30 P.M.

•

NORMAN CORDON, soloist

EARL SLOCUM, conductor

•

NO ADMISSION CHARGE

Don't walk—RUN to the nearest—HARRY'S

No Rest

It will be turkey and cranberry sauce for most students, faculty and administration members over the Thanksgiving holidays this week.

But there will be no rest for the weary. University President Frank P. Graham thinks.

Dr. Graham will be on a speaker's rostrum delivering an address to the Texas State Teachers' association in Dallas, Texas, on Thanksgiving day.

-Rose Bowl-

(Continued from page 3)

game, that to Southern California last year.

California and Oregon were tied for the conference championship, and Oregon two weeks ago challenged California to a playoff for the bowl bid. California rejected the challenge and threw the selection into a vote of the 10-member faculty committee.

The Wildcat eleven, which won five out of six Big Nine games, was a unanimous choice for the bowl berth.

Faculty representatives of the nine member schools marked their ballots after Saturday's final games, in which Northwestern defeated Illinois, 20 to 7, and every vote listed Northwestern as the first choice.

Send the Daily Tar Heel home to your family. Subscription rate $6 per year.

The COLONIAL INN

HILLSBORO, N. C.

•

For Excellent Food
Clean Restful Rooms

•

TELEPHONE 4301

IN A HOME . . .

The Best

SHOULD BE FOUND

•

You Can Have It at

Johnson-Strowd-Ward

FURNITURE COMPANY

Exquisite Form ... BRASSIERES

BROAD CLOTH $1.50

STYLE 502

A Cup (small) Sizes 32-36
B Cup (med.) Sizes 32-40
C Cup (full) Sizes 32-42

White and Tearose

At BERMAN'S

Open All Day Wednesday

AVC Schedules Meeting Tonight

The American Veterans committee will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church on Franklin street.

An announcement of the results of constitutional changes will be made at the meeting, as well as an announcement of the two delegates who will attend the national AVC convention this week.

Reports from the local policy committee about Chapel Hill housing and a discussion of the proposed publication of the AVC bulletin will also take place.

Meningitis Victim To Leave Hospital

RALEIGH, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Hospital attendants said today that Nancy Laird, University of North Carolina graduate from Sandusky, O., was on her feet again and recovering from an attack of meningitis.

FURNITURE . . .

• Upholstered • Refinished
• Repaired • Made to Order

Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop

Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd.

The first printing press was imported into this country in 1639.

Dr. William Kohn

OPTOMETRIST

Phone 3686

OVER CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP

Monday-Friday 9:00-5:00
Saturday 9:00-1:00

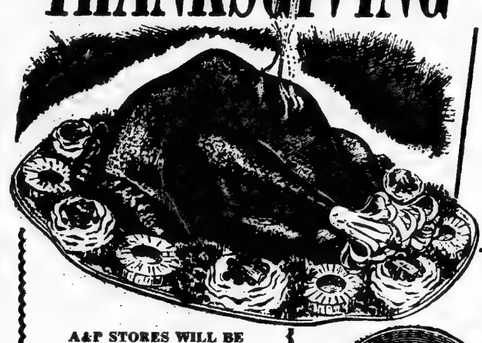
Follow The Team To VIRGINIA

ROY COLE and HIS ORCHESTRA

Lives at

E. C. LEONARD'S

305 CAMERON AVENUE WRITE: P.O. Box 902



BULL'S HEAD BOOKSHOP SPECIAL!

"Federal Prose—How to Write In and/or For Washington"

BROWSE • BUY • RENT

PLUMP MEATY DRESSED & DRAWN

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS

HENS & TOMS UNDER 16 LBS. Lb. 75c

TOMS 17-Lbs. And Up Lb. 69c

A&P STORES WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY NOV. 25th THANKSGIVING OPEN ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

Small Skinned Pork Hams Lb. 00c

Dressed and Drawn Chicken Hens ..... lb. 59c

Cooked - Boneless - Fatted Hams Small Canned Lb. 89c

Loin or Rib End Pork Roast Lb. 45c

Genuine Long Island DUCKLINGS ..... Lb. 49c

Virginia Standard OYSTERS ..... Sealed Pint 79c

Cole or Jones SAUSAGE ..... lb. 53c

Dressed and Drawn FRYERS ..... lb. 67c

Ocean Spray Cranberry Sauce 16-Oz. Can 19c

A&P Pumpkin 2 No. 2½ Cans 25c

Fancy Tiny A&P Peas No. 2 Can 25c

Campbell's Tomato Juice 2 14-Oz. Cans 23c

Ann Page Gelatin Desserts Sparkle 3 Pkgs. 20c

Ann Page, With Pork & Tom. Sauce Beans 16-Oz. Can 10c

Ann Page Strawberry Preserves 16-Oz. Jar 39c

TOMATO SOUP Campbell's 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
IONA PEAS ..... 2 No. 2 Cans 21c
FRUIT COCKTAIL Libby's No. 303 Can 27c
TUNA FISH A&P Fancy California ½ Size Can 40c
PEACHES Iona Sliced or Halves No. 2½ Can 27c
CORN A&P Golden ..... 2 No. 2 Cans 35c
FLOUR Sunnyfield Self Rising 10-Lb. Bag 77c
MILK White House Evaporated ..... 3 Tall Cans 40c
GRAPE JAM Ann Page ..... 2-Lb. Jar 39c

JANE PARKER·DELICIOUS FRUIT CAKE

3-Lb. Cake $2.45
5-Lb. Cake $3.85

Jane Parker THANKSGIVING SPICED LAYER 35-Oz. Cake 89c

Marvel STUFFING BREAD 1½-Lb. Loaf 18c

Marvel DINNER ROLLS Pkg. of Nine 10c

Firm Clean Crisp CARROTS .... 2 bunches 17c

Sweet Red Emperor GRAPES ..... 2 lbs. 23c

Juicy Florida Nice Size GRAPEFRUIT ..... 4 for 19c

Plump Tender Fresh CRANBERRIES ..... lb. 23c

Juicy Florida Nice Size ORANGES ..... 2 doz. 35c

Russet Skinned Bose PEARS ..... 2 lbs. 23c

Idaho Russet Baking In Mesh Bags POTATOES ..... 10 lbs. 57c

A&P COFFEE

Mild & Mellow 8 O'CLOCK 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE 3 Lb. Bag $1.27
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR 3 Lb. Bag $1.25

NUTS

PECANS ..... Lb. Pkg. 35c
BRAZIL ..... Pkg. 39c
WALNUTS .... Pkg. 41c

A&P Super Markets

VEMBER 23, 1948
IRGINIA
HESTRA
RITE: P.O. Box 902
BOOKSHOP
AL!
ow to Write In ashington"
Y • RENT
EYS
TOMS
LBS.
75c
7-Lbs.
nd Up
9c ed ams Lb. 00c
Drawn Chicken
lb. 59c
neless - Fatted
Small
Canned Lb. 89c
or Rib End
k Roast
Lb. 45c
Lb. 49c
Sealed
Pint 79c
lb. 53c
lb. 67c
's 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
2 No. 2 Cans 21c
ibby's No. 303 Can 27c
½ Size Can 40c
No. 2½ Can 27c
2 No. 2 Cans 35c
10-Lb. Bag 77c
3 Tall Cans 40c
2-Lb. Jar 39c
ER-DELICIOUS
T CAKE
ED LAYER
Oz. ke 89c
Marvel
ING BREAD
Lb. Loaf 18c
Marvel
ER ROLLS
Doz. 10c
COFFEE
3 Lb. Bag $1.15
LE 3 Lb. Bag $1.2
3 Lb. Bag $1.29
NUTS
Lb. 35c
Lb. 39c
TS Lb. 41c

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-49

EDITORIALS
For the Old Grads
On Dance Group
If We Weren't Busy

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LVII | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 55

WEATHER
Mostly cloudy and not much change in temperature.

Sewage Disposal Worker Burned In $1,000 Blaze

Duke Hospital Says Condition 'Satisfactory'

R. B. Noah, 40, of Mt. Airy, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Duke hospital last night after he received first and second degree burns in a fire which completely destroyed workmen's living quarters at the University sewage disposal plant site.

Town Manager Gilbert Ray estimated damages at $500 to $1,000, not including personal effects of the occupants of the building, which was owned by the Boyd and Goforth construction co.

The fire broke out at 8:30 last night when a coal stove exploded after Noah had poured kerosene on the coals to produce more heat. J. P. Martin and John Atwell received only superficial burns putting out the flames which enveloped Noah.

Noah was rushed to the Univeristy for treatment and then was transferred to Duke hospital.

The Chapel Hill fire department responded to a call placed by Martin but was unable to save the building or its contents. They concentrated on saving nearby buildings which were threatened by the blaze.

Jewish Problems Subject of Talk By John Grauel

"The process of history has placed the Jew on the stage of the world today," John Stanley Grauel, writer and world traveler, told a sparse audience in an address last night in Gerrard hall.

Grauel, who served as a volunteer crew member aboard the Jewish refugee ship "Exodus," called the Jewish problem a Christian problem. "Religion is the basis of the conflict, and it has been since the beginning, over 2,000 years ago," the speaker declared.

In a series of extremely involved sentences, reeled off at lickety-split pace, the young ex-clergyman traced the Palestine problem from its inception to the present United Nations Special Committee report. "During this long period of time, the Jew has been looked upon with distrust, suspicion and doubt for whatever he did or has done. There has always been tension because any people who are stateless, homeless and insecure will be the center of tension," Grauel stated.

Susman Is First In GM Contest

Picking wasn't too good when it came to football last week, but even so, Alan Susman managed to miss only three of twenty games to place first in the Graham Memorial football contest.

For this feat Susman, who lives in 107 Frat Court, will receive a carton of Chesterfields and a week's pass book to the Carolina theater.

Close on the heels of the winner were W. V. Barrow, George W. Tobey, Jr., Leo H. Carter, Dave Beecher, O. H. Alen, Bob Evans, Ed Watson, and J. L. Troutman.

Ban Lifted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The National Guard bureau today directed its state units to lift the ban on recruiting until its budget ceiling strength of 341,000 is reached.

Its strength now stands at 302,000. It is expected to ask Congress to raise the ceiling closer to its target strength of 502,000 officers and men.

Loudermilk, Thompson to Attend National Fraternity Conference

Representing University fraternities in the 40th annual session of the National Interfraternity conference to be held at the Hotel Commodore in New York Friday and Saturday, will be Charlie Loudermilk, Chi Phi, and Jack Thompson, Sigma Chi, along with representatives from more than 200 campuses throughout the nation.

Under discussion will be seven vital problems which affect fraternity chapters throughout the country.

Several of the more important problems to be introduced in panel discussion are: Discrimination in fraternity membership, how to improve relations between fraternities and the college and press, Hell week vs. Greek week, and the problems of increased membership in fraternities.

Fred Weaver, dean of students, will attend the meeting, which will feature such other prominent college officials as: Dean of Men Frank R. Hunt, Lafayette college; Col. Ralph M. Wilson, Sigma Chi, scholarship counselor of the National IFC and Dean of Students Fred H. Turner, University of Illinois.

Price, Ration Powers Hinted At By Bowles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Former OPA Chief Chester Bowles hinted tonight after a visit with the president that he expects Mr. Truman to ask the new Democratic Congress for "selective" price control and rationing powers.

The Democratic governor-elect of Connecticut dropped the hint as he left the White House.

Mr. Truman had conferred with Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of his Council of Economic Advisers, and instructed Nourse to bring all administration agencies together on a "definite" anti-inflation program to be presented to Congress in January.

After meeting with Mr. Truman Nourse conferred at the capitol with Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, (R.—Vt.) a leading GOP advocate of anti-inflation controls. They reportedly discussed new economic legislation.

Bowles predicted that the administration "unquestionably" will take action to deal with inflation, and pointedly suggested that reporters re-study the recommendations previously made by Mr. Truman along that line.

The ex-price administrator went on to say that unless some action is taken, prices will go even higher.

Winn Announces List of Absences

Elections Board Chairman Al Winn last night announced the names of 11 candidates in the coming election who were absent from the compulsory candidate's meeting.

Winn said that the candidates must contact him by 6 o'clock tomorrow night or they would be disqualified.

The absentees are: George Lewis, Sara Helen Epps, Jim Montague, Graham Holloway, Marvin Nathan, Hugh Wells, Charlie Gibson, Cliff Horton, Don Shropshire, Ellis Hall, Gran Childress.

Technical Staff Is Announced By Playmakers

Harry E. Davis, director of the Carolina Playmaker production of "School for Scandal," yesterday announced the following list of students who are working on technical jobs for the play.

James Byrd is stage manager, Claude "Slats" Rayborn is crew chief, and Francis M. Casey is master electrician. David Samples is master of properties and Suzanne Davis, who designed the elaborate wigs needed for the play, will supervise the make-up.

Martin Jacobs is wardrobe master, and Murray McCain is assistant electrician. Hilda Sharkey is properties assistant, and costume assistants are Mildred Howard, Elizabeth Dawson, Edna Dooley, Ellen Smith, Iantha Smart, Bradford Fearing, and Elizabeth Savage.

Costumes for the 18th century period comedy were designed by Irene Smart, and the scenery was designed by Lynn Gault and built under the direction of Gorden R. Bennett.

Miss Hay Travels To Boston Meeting

Ruth W. Hay, professor in the School of Public Health, attended a meeting of the Collegiate Council on public health Nursing Education and the American Public Health Association Convention, which was held in Boston, Mass., Nov. 6-10.

Happy Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving recess begins at 1 o'clock today and ends with the beginning of classes Monday morning, Dean Willian Wells reminded students yesterday.

Wells said an undergraduate student who misses a scheduled class today or Monday without an excuse will be fined $2.50 for each class, up to a maximum fine of $7.50.

Delays in travel are not considered valid excuses, Wells said.

Mildred Cartee New Secretary Of Merchants

Mrs. Mildred Cartee, former clerk of the Chapel Hill War Ration board, was yesterday named secretary-treasurer of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants association and Chamber of Commerce by President Vic Huggins.

The appointment followed action of the organization's Board of Directors at its monthly meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Cartee succeeds Mrs. Lois Cranford, who has served in the dual capacity of secretary-treasurer of and association and secretary to Frederick O. Bowman, executive secretary of the North Carolina Bottlers association, for the past year and a half.

Under the new set-up, Mrs. Cartee will be employed in a full-time capacity with the association and Chamber of Commerce while Mrs. Cranford will become full-time secretary to Bowman.

A committee composed of L. J. Phipps, chairman, Harvey D. Bennett, and E. Carrington Smith recommended Mrs. Cartee for the post. The Board of Directors upheld the committee's recommendation for filling the position from which Mrs. Cranford resigned at the Board's October meeting.

In addition to her post with the ration board, the new secretary formerly held positions with Hazzard Motor company, the University and recently with S. H. Basnight.

Her resignation from the latter position will become effective next month when she will officially take over her job with the association.

KA Pledges Elect Officers for Year

Newly-elected officers for the pledge class of Upsilon chapter of the Kappa Alpha order are Ira Montague, Goldsboro, president; Bill Lee, Wilmington, vice-president; and Charles Sasser, Wilmington, secretary-treasurer.

'No Comment' Is Still Stand Of Local Officials On Bowls

Pre-Game Rally In Charlottesville Scheduled For Saturday At 12:30

By Herb Nachman

Carolina spirit will rise for the last time of the memorable 1948 football season Saturday when Tar Heel supporters stage a pep rally in Charlottesville prior to the clash with the Cavaliers.

University club president Joe Pete Ward announced yesterday that the rally will start in the square across from the Monticello hotel in Charlottesville at 12:30.

Norm Sper will lead the rally through the streets of Charlottesville and into the campus of the University of Virginia before proceeding to Scott stadium.

According to Ward 3,000 tickets have already been sold for the game by the ticket office at the gym. He said that plenty of students will be on hand for the weekend and "I hope they will turn out for the rally."

He went on to say, "We don't want to fall down on this one. Let's show the Virginia students we mean business by getting behind our team. After the way Kay Kyser got the student body pepped up last week, we shouldn't have much trouble."

Sper said yesterday that he expected the rally would be similar to the ones held at the University of Georgia and Tennessee when several hundred Tar Heels kept the campuses alive for over an hour with Carolina yells and songs.

"Charlottesville is opening its doors to us and I hope we'll show them some of our wonderful spirit they've been hearing so much about up there," Sper said.

Church Groups Schedule Forum

Young people from all Chapel Hill student groups will have a supper forum meeting Sunday night at 6 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. J. C. Herrin, Baptist student worker, will lead a discussion on "The Christian Imperative to Love."

Communist Push Nears Peiping In North China

NANKING, China, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Chinese armies of more than 100,000 men, led by one-eyed Gen. Lin Piao, drove to the banks of the historic Grand Canal southeast of Peiping today in a move to isolate the former Chinese capital from the rest of North China.

Pro-government sources admitted the Red advance.

The bulk of the Communists, who swept down from Manchuria, were reported 45 miles southeast of Peiping and within 15 miles of Tientsin, one of China's most modern cities. It was believed Peiping would be the Reds' immediate target, although government sources conceded that both cities, the largest in North China, were threatened.

UP Announces Complete Slate Of Candidates

The complete slate of candidates, nominated and backed by the University party in the Nov. 30 general elections, was announced yesterday by Thurman Williams, UP chairman, and Marshall Roberts, publicity chairman.

Candidates and offices are as follows:

Junior class officers: Charlie Smith, president; Dick Boren, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Montgomery and Eleanor Young, social co-chairmen.

Women's dormitory district for Student Legislature: Jane Gower (12 month term) and Willie Marjorie Riddick (six month term).

Men's dormitory districts:

District I: Andy Bell (12 month).

District II: Jim Twine and Bob Kirby (both 12 months).

District III: Johnny Clements, Brad Cantwell, Duffield Smith (12 months); Frank Allston and Marvin Nathan (6 months).

District IV: Jim Gwynn (12 months); P. H. Transou (six months).

District V: Sam Manning (12 months); Charlie Behrens(six months).

Men's Town districts:

District I: Jack Girard (12 months); Hugh Wells and Gene Newton (six months).

District II: Nat Williams and Charlie Fox (12 months).

District III: Marshall Roberts, Fletcher Harris, Sheldon Plager (12 months).

District IV: Bob Mebane, Ben James, Marvin Lee (12 months); Pete Clewis (six months).

District V: Harry Fremd (12 months).

Wilmington Students Plan Beach Party

The "Trade Winds" at Wrightsville beach will be open to all Wilmington students for a big "get-together" this Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Everyone is expected to bring a date, and is promised that a "good time will be had by all," according to students in charge of arrangements for the Tar Heel party.

No Decision Until Game At Virginia

Smaller Bowls Choose Teams

University officials remained silent last night on any possibility of the unbeaten Tar Heels accepting an invitation to play a post-season bowl game.

Spokesmen said that any bowl bid would have to be approved by the team, the faculty and the administration. They added that if any bid were accepted, it would not be until after next Saturday's game with Virginia at Charlottesville.

Newspaper and radio reports have said in the last few days that Carolina has already received Orange and Cotton bowl bids, but local officials refused to comment on the situation.

By United Press

The smaller bowl games chimed in the definite developments yesterday as the promoters of the larger post-season football festivals bided their time in dickering sessions.

The Raison bowl at Fresno, Cal., matched unbeaten, untied Occidental college against Colorado A. and M. for its New Year's day attraction, and the Oleander bowl at Galveston, Tex., signed Wharton junior college to play Dec. 29.

The Sun bowl at El Paso, Tex., got a no-thanks from Lafayette, Pa., college.

Meanwhile, there was considerable sentiment to get Oregon, snubbed by the Rose bowl in favor of California, into a post-season game. No sooner did Oregon turn down an American Legion offer to play in Los Angeles Dec. 18 and a Harbor bowl invite than the University of Hawaii offered the Webfoots a Dec. 17 game at Honolulu.

However, Athletic Director Leo Harris said Oregon would consider only a "major" bowl invitation—presumably he meant the Cotton, Sugar or Orange bowls.

Oklahoma players voiced preference to the Sugar bowl, should they get invited. The poll was taken informally by a newspaper, but the trend was significant since Oklahoma officials say the players will make the decision.

Fraternity at Amherst College Changes Name, Takes Negro

AMHERST, Mass., Nov. 23.—(UP)—Using new rites and a new name an Amherst college fraternity defied its national governing board tonight by initiating a Negro.

The Amherst chapter, now known as Phi Psi, was suspended by unanimous vote of the national Phi Kappa Psi officers for "unfraternal conduct" when it pledged Thomas W. Gibbs, Negro, of Evanston, Ill.

Despite the loss of their charter, local President Frederick D. Greene II of Upper Montclair, N. J., and other members of the Amherst group stood by their guns. They said they wanted Gibbs as a member and would initiate him no matter what the national officers did.

They devised a new, brief and secret ritual for the initiation of Gibbs and 15 other sophomores and were preparing plans for pins and colors in case their suspension is permanent. However, national officers of the fraternity are scheduled to meet in New York Sunday to discuss the case.

The local fraternity had virtually unanimous support of the student body in its stand and President Charles W. Cole announced today that:

"All the decisions which have been made are those of the local chapter alone. I am extremely proud of what they have done. Their actions and attitude are in line with the democratic ideals which we have always cherished at Amherst."

Athens Oozes With Confidence As Bulldogs Prepare for Tech

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 23.—(UP)—This little college burg oozed confidence tonight that its Georgia Bulldogs will beat Georgia Tech Saturday and go on from there to the Sugar bowl.

But Coach Wallace Butts surveyed the excitement with a dour glance and uttered a shuddering "oh yeah?" In the first place, he doesn't think Georgia has a chance in the world to win. In the second, he doesn't believe the Bulldogs will be invited if the impossible comes to pass and they do win—he said.

"The Sugar bowl hasn't said anything to me about it," said Wally, who is built and sounds like a wailing wall. "And this rumor I've been hearing that we have an Orange bowl chance is just that as far as I'm concerned."

He then went into particulars to show how impossible it all is. (Since he has been at Georgia, Butts has only taken the Bulldogs to five bowls in nine years.)

"Georgia Tech certainly has better personnel and more squad depth than we have," he mourned. "I've said all along that they have one of the finest teams in the country. And it certainly looks like a rough Saturday."

Some 46,000 fans, the largest crowd to see a game here since Georgia defeated Tech 35 to 7 in 1946, will flock to Sanford stadium for Saturday's brawl.

The 30,000 citizens and students, who have learned to take Butts' Cassandra prophecies with a pillar of salt believe to a man that Wally and Quarterback Johnny Rauch will take care of Tech.

Carolina Footballer of 1888 Sees Locals, Duke Play in '48

By Wink Locklair

George W. Graham, one of the players on Carolina's first football team in 1888, was in Kenan stadium last Saturday afternoon, and he seemed mighty pleased with the Tar Heel victory over Duke.

A group of double-dating students met Mr. Graham in line for dinner at the Carolina Inn after the game. "He asked if he could join us and we don't realize what a treat was in store," Faith Adams recalled.

During dinner there was reminiscing about the times when local grid schedules included games—Wake Forest and Trinity (now Duke) college. Scores of past games were rattled off with amazing speed and accuracy for a man over 60 years old.

"You know, one year Carolina took football off its sports program. The authorities thought it was too rough," the old gentleman said with a bright smile, showing two front teeth.

"Football weekends in my day were some different than now," Mr. Graham continued. "We had to import girls from out of town. The parties lasted all night, though. Some parties, too," he added, eyes twinkling.

Mr. Graham, who lives in Winston Salem, is one of the University's most rabid sports followers. He saw all the contests in Chapel Hill this year, and those he didn't see, he heard by radio.

Late News Bulletins

Slaughter Indicted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A federal grand jury today indicted former Rep. Roger C. Slaughter (D.-Mo.) on charges of lobbying illegally in Congress for the Kansas City and Chicago boards of trade and other grain interests.

'Careful for Life'

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Buckingham palace sources said tonight that so far as can be seen King George will have to take great care for the rest of his life not to overexert himself.

Admits Negligence

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 23.—(UP)—Singer Bobby Breen admitted tonight that he was "negligent" in his disappearance into the northern wilds and is "deeply sorry" for the trouble he caused the men who searched for him.

No Communists In Y, Says Barrus

By Lincoln Kan

"You name the Communists on this campus, and I'll tell you how close they come to the Y," joshed Bob Barrus, assistant secretary to the Y here in reply to the latest House Un-American Activities committee accusation.

The committee said yesterday in a Washington report that Communists were seeking to "corrupt" religion in the United States by infiltrating churches and church organizations. Some of the organizations named by the Un-American Activities committee were the Methodist Federation for Social Action, the YMCA and the YWCA.

Claude Shotts, secretary of the University Y termed the accusations "absurd." He said, "The Y is liberal . . . yes . . . our interdenominational work and wide interest in social reforms and actions make us necessarily liberal."

Shotts Calls Talk 'Absurd'

Sam Magill, president of the Southern Area Y student council remarked that there had been similar accusations leveled some years ago at the National Intercollegiate Christian council meeting. Leila Anderson, executive secretary of the National YWCA said that they had investigated themselves and found that there was no truth to the charges. Magill added, "As far as I know, there are no Communists infiltrated into the national or the southern Y's."

The Methodist Federation for Social Action does not have a group here at the University, and Rev. Mr. G. H. Ruark, who himself is not a member said, "My impression from reading the Methodist church news and other pamphlets is that the charges are entirely unfounded." He described the organization as one which tries to apply Christian teachings to social and economic problems of today. The charge has been made before and had been discredited by the Methodist church. The House committee report listed some 20 Methodist bishops and 5,571 pastors, church men and women as members.

Swarthmore College Student Gets Year's Term For Not Registering

Judge Ganey Says Student's Decision Means 'Disloyalty'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A Swarthmore college student who refused to register for the draft or to do work "allied to the draft effort" today faced a year and a day in federal prison.

The sentence was imposed by federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey at a further hearing for J. Newton Garver, III, 20, son of a Buffalo, N.Y., bank vice-president.

At his first hearing last Monday, Garver was given a week's time in which to find work "substantial toward the country's draft effort." But he told the judge at the time that he "preferred to stay at home with my wife and live in the ivy halls of Swarthmore college."

Today Garver stuck by his decision. "I cannot accept your compulsory choice," he told Judge Ganey.

The jurist scored the youth's decision as "amounting almost to disloyalty."

The student's father, John N. Garver, a past commander of a Buffalo American legion post, said after the sentencing: "I do not agree with my son's views and opinions but I respect them."

Young Garver is the first person in this federal district to be sentenced to prison for violating the peacetime draft act.

Piano Recital In Hill Monday

Charles Stevens, pianist from Raleigh, will present a piano recital Monday evening at 8:30 in Hill hall.

The program will include "Passacaglia from Suite in G Minor," by Handel; "Prelude and Fugue in F Minor," by Bach; "Sonata in A Major, op. 101," by Beethoven; and four pieces from "Le Tombeau de Couperin," by Ravel.

Stevens has played in joint recitals previously, twice in Hill hall and at Graham Memorial. Off the campus he has been heard as professional accompanist in several cities of North Carolina and has given recitals at Pfeiffer junior college, Pineland junior college, and in Raleigh.

Cosmopolitan Club Has Session; Plans Made for Meetings, Trips

In its first function as an organized group, the Cosmopolitan club on Sunday afternoon had a combined meeting and social gathering at which plans were outlined for its future activities.

Hannes Johnson, recently-elected club president, spoke to the group about his native country, Iceland. It was the second talk of its kind. With 25 countries represented in the club, many more are promised.

It was announced that a tea will be held every Sunday at 4 o'clock in the Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial. Every two weeks a program will be planned. On the alternating Sundays there will be simply a social gathering. An invitation has been extended to all interested persons to take this opportunity to become acquainted with the club.

In addition to the Sunday programs, trips to nearby places of interest are in prospect. The Rotary club of Burlington has invited the group to visit the Burlington mills. A similar visit to a tobacco factory in Durham is anticipated. American students will join with those from other countries on these trips.

Plans are also being made for foreign students to be entertained by local families on Thanksgiving day. Students who were not at the meeting and have not made plans for Thanksgiving dinner should get in touch with the YMCA or YWCA office.

Graham Memorial Plans Activities Through Holidays

Activities in Graham Memorial will keep going in high gear during the Thanksgiving holidays, Director Bob Watson announced yesterday.

A special feature on the agenda will be the headquarters set up in Horace Williams lounge for foreign students Friday and Saturday. A record player and other forms of entertainment will be provided for all who are interested.

Friday night's Rendezvous radio show will cater to the Chapel Hill high school students, although everybody is invited to attend. The Four Bees and the Gnat quartet, composed of Herbert Pendergraft, Joe Jones, Lee West, Nat Sparrow, and Lloyd Pendergraph, will present a series of songs. Also on the program will be the Town Talk trio.

Jack Sturgell and his orchestra will play for a dance for the high students after the program. Program director Lib Stoney stressed the point that all University students still in town are invited to attend both the dance and the radio program Friday night.

Absences of Solons Reported by Group

Seven members of the Student legislature were reported absent from the legislature meeting Thursday, Nov. 18. Absentee legislature are urged to turn in excuses for their absences to Thurman Williams, chairman of the Rules committee in the Deke house immediately.

Those listed are J. W. Anderson, Dick Boren, Andy Cornish, Edie Knight, Don Robertson, Wally Robinson, and Hilda Sharkey.

More Important

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 23—(UP)—Santa Claus, complete with red suit, beard and upholstery went to court and asked to be excused from jury duty.

Judge Frank H. Hooper told Walter Norman to go back to his job as a department store Santa Claus "because that's more important than serving on a jury."

Dr. Graham Talks To YWCA Coeds At Get-Together

Dr. Frank Graham was the speaker at the coed-get-together held Monday afternoon in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. The theme of his talk was "the important part coeds play in the University, especially those coeds who are members of the YWCA."

By way of a background, Dr. Graham gave a short history of the fight women had to establish their rights in a man's world, and of the first women to be admitted into the University. He said there was no greater opportunity offered to women than that which religion offered to them.

"The YWCA is a great responsibility to women to hold onto religion" Dr. Graham said, "and through their own lives and through the YWCA, they can offer much to the University."

He added that it was a great responsibility" to keep the spiritual balance of man emphasized, to keep the values of life in their correct perspective, and to keep the standards of right and wrong from slipping; but it was a responsibility that he believed the coeds on this campus capable of handling.

Religion in Life Week to Begin Jan. 24; Slate of Speakers Set

Highlighting the year's religious programs, Religion in Life week will be held Jan. 24-27. Plans are now being made by the newly re-organized council for Religion in Life.

"The purpose of the program," said Bill Poteat, professor of philosophy at the University and former executive head of the YMCA," is to relate religion to the various issues and areas of contemporary life."

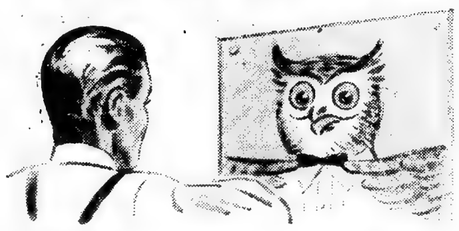
To carry out the program, CRIL is inviting one main speaker and others to speak to students through seminars, classroom talks, evening addresses, and worship services.

CRIL, in planning this year's religious week, is following the outline of a Religion in Life week held two years ago. In that year, 20 clergymen and outstanding laymen were asked to speak.

Poteat said there was no main speaker and a "Loss of continuity spreads the subject matter too thin." Although he said he feels that the previous religious week served its purpose, he said the program should be "much more successful this year."

Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland told the press after the Tar Heels had walloped his team, 49-20, two weeks ago that, "Charlie Justice is the finest back I've ever seen."

Patronize Our Advertisers



IN A HOME . . .
The Best
SHOULD BE FOUND
You Can Have It at
Johnson-Strowd-Ward
FURNITURE COMPANY

WHY NOT STUDY IN MEXICO?
Winter Quarter: Jan 3 - March 18
UNDERGRADUATE MAJORS: Anthropology and Sociology, Econ. and Bus. Ad., Education, English, Fine Arts, History, Philosophy, Psychology, Spanish Lang. and Lit., Physical Education.
GRADUATE MAJORS: Anthropology, Economics and Bus. Administration, Hispanic Lang. and Lit., Philosophy, Latin American Studies.
V.A. Approved
For Further Information Write:
THE REGISTRAR,
MEXICO CITY COLLEGE
COAHUILA 223
MEXICO, D. F.

HIGHLY INDIVIDUALIZED AND SUPERBLY TAILORED GARMENTS OF THE CHARACTER AND QUALITY FAVOURED BY GENTLEMEN WHO DRESS WITH TASTE AND CORRECTNESS.
SUITS AND TOPCOATS
TAILORED TO MEASURE
$62.50
AND MORE
SPORTSWEAR • OVERCOATS • EVENING WEAR
HATS • HABERDASHERY • SHOES
EXHIBITION
MONDAY And TUESDAY
November 29 & 30
at VARSITY
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE AT 46th ST., NEW YORK

ORCHESTRE NATIONAL OF FRANCE
CHARLES MUENCH, Conductor
at
PAGE AUDITORIUM, DUKE UNIVERSITY
Durham, N. C.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26
At 8:15 P.M.
TICKETS: $2.50, $3.00 AND $3.50 (Tax incl.)
Phone Durham 112—ext. 270; or write J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C., for Reservations.

Good News for NIGHT OWLS!

ARROW DRESS SHIRTS

The Kirk $6.00
Recommended for proms and glee club concerts, these smart and comfortable Arrows are perfect for college formal wear.
Shoreham $6.00
ARROW
SHIRTS and TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

For Girls "On the Go"
SEAM-FREE NYLONS
WITH PATENTED HEEL
These are the go-everywhere nylons—beautifully seam-free, perfect in fit. The Seal of the DANCING TWINS identifies the hosiery with the exclusive, patented heel* and Gussetoe, secret of superb fit. And for beauty . . . no twisting seams! Sold under leading brand names at your favorite college shop or store.
*U. S. Pat. No. 2200648

"CHESTERFIELD is the cigarette I smoke in my new picture, AN INNOCENT AFFAIR. I always enjoy their MILDER, BETTER TASTE . . . It's MY cigarette."
Fred Mac Murray
STARRING IN AN INNOCENT AFFAIR
A UNITED ARTISTS RELEASE

Joan Gundersen ABC GIRL of Syracuse University says—
"I smoke Chesterfields because they're MILDER and better every way. They're tops with my college friends."

MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE
A always B buy C CHESTERFIELD
MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS than any other Cigarette . . . BY LATEST NATIONAL SURVEY
Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

MILTON'S CLOTHING CUPBOARD will be in its permanent location on Monday, November 29th. Open house Monday and Tuesday, November 29 and 30 with delicious delicatessen snacks and even more amazing values. The new location is just one block beyond the new bus station, across from the Farmers' Dairy on West Franklin Street. (ch 1x2)

FOR SALE 6B

HOUSE TRAILER, 21-FOOT, FULLY equipped. Ideal location. Entire trailer under shelter. See it before you buy. 86 Trailer Court, Pittsboro Road (2-8098-1)

LOST 12

GRAY, GABARDINE TOPCOAT IN front Battle Dorm. Name inside, Dick Mayberry. Contact Ralph Parks, 12 Battle. Reward. (2-8099-1)

TAKEN BY MISTAKE 20

WILL THE PERSON WHO EXchanged alligator topcoat at N.C. Cafeteria Friday night contact John Giles 108 Grimes. I have yours, mine has JG 1750. (2-8100-1)

WHERE TO EAT 28

FOUND—A GOOD PLACE TO EAT—Whid Powell's Colonial House System, opposite City Hall on West Rosemary. Delicious short orders. Open Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to midnite, Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. til 2 a.m. (ch 1x1)

U.S. Charges Russians Hamper Crisis Solution

Statement Says Soviet Actions Hurt Government

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The United States today accused Russia of hampering solution of the Berlin crisis by interfering with the German government of the Four-Power occupation capital.

A formal statement by the U. S. delegation to the United Nations said, "The actions of Soviet authorities in Berlin are increasingly preventing the lawful city government from exercising its functions."

"Such actions obviously do not contribute to reaching the solution which the president of the Security council (Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina) and the five members associated with him are seeking to achieve," the statement added.

The U. S. declaration was issued in answer to a charge by "authoritative quarters" in Berlin that the situation there had deteriorated so far that Bramuglia's mediation efforts are "doomed."

American UN delegates agreed that the situation in the German capital had deteriorated in recent weeks, but they would not concede that mediation efforts are hopeless.

Judge Whitfield Warns Offenders Older People Need Weekend Sleep

By Sam Whitehall

"You younger boys have got to remember that we older people have to have rest and sleep in the early hours of the morning," Judge Henry A. Whitifeld told a large audience of students who were in Recorders court yesterday morning on charges ranging from being drunk, disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace and displaying liquor in public.

"Most of us will join anytime in joining in a celebration after Carolina victory over Duke," he continued, "but it should either be stopped by midnight or else you should go inside where you won't bother those persons desiring to sleep."

The judge pointed out that there are many sick or extremely old people in the vicinity of Chapel Hill's business section who are disturbed by the night-long celebrations which follow a home victory.

"I heard one man say," he added, "that he was tempted to record all the noise that goes on after midnight Saturday night and play it back Sunday morning while you boys are asleep in your bunks to show you how you sound at four in the morning."

Most of the students pled guilty and were fined costs of court.

King George's Illness Is Painful, Will Require Months of Treatment

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The illness which compelled King George to postpone his visit to Australia and New Zealand is extremely painful and will require many months of treatment, it was understood tonight.

Both Queen Elizabeth and Princess Elizabeth, their daughter, were in tears last Thursday night when they learned how really serious the king's illness was.

Buckingham palace remained silent on the exact nature of the king's illness.

His physicians, palace sources said, declined to go beyond the somewhat vague wording of their announcement that the king was suffering from an obstruction of circulation through the arteries of his legs and that a defective blood supply to his right foot "causes anxiety."

The king's illness is generally spoken of as having been caused by a blood clot. But sources close to the palace said it was not necessarily a clot.

It was noticed that the physicians' bulletin emphasized that the king's general health, "including the condition of his heart," gave no reason for concern.

The bulletin also said that to make his scheduled trip to Australia and New Zealand might not only delay his recovery but "might well involve serious risk to his limb."

Segregation Case Appears Headed For High Court

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 23—(UP)—Another segregation case appeared headed for the U. S. Supreme court today after three federal judges ruled the University of Oklahoma may legally separate its only Negro student from his classmates.

Negro leaders said they would appeal the rebuff handed G. W. McLaurin, 54-year-old retired Oklahoma city professor. McLaurin had asked the court for an order that would allow him to sit with white students in class, study with them in the library and eat with them in the university cafeteria.

He was admitted to the graduate school last month after the same three judges ruled the state's segregation laws unconstitutional.

In upholding the state's right to segregate its races, the judges stated: "It is the duty of this court to honor the public policy of the state in matters relating to its internal social affairs quite as much as it is our duty to vindicate the supreme law of the land."

Lincolntonians Elect Bob Kiger

Bob Kiger was elected president of the Lincolntoh-Carolina club at an organizational meeting Monday night in Roland Parker lounge, Graham Memorial. Karl Lawing was elected vice president and Ralph Jonas, secretary-treasurer.

The club will hold a Christmas dance in conjunction with the local alumni club. Everett Aycock, Randolph Shives, Robert E. Killian, and Carolyn Roper were appointed to a committee to make plans for the affair.

Raleigh Club Elects Ivan Armstrong As President; Jones Is Vice-Prexy

At its regular meeting Monday night, the Raleigh-Carolina club elected Ivan Armstrong, junior, as president for the year. Other officers elected by the group were Bill Jones, vice-president; Edith Winslow, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Jenkette, publicity chairman.

In addition to conducting elections, the club began work on plans for its annual Christmas dance. It was decided that tickets should be priced at $3 each, but the date and place are still in dispute.

President Armstrong has called a meeting of all members of the club on Monday, Nov 29. It will begin at 8:15 in Gerrard Hall. At this time appointment of committees to work on the dance will be made.

Bands under consideration are Johnny Satterfield, Roy Cole, Chic Burroughs, and the Bull City Nighthawks. Roy Cole's band played for the dance last Christmas.

Furniture Show Being Planned By Person Hall

Person Hall art gallery is interested in a show of student and faculty-constructed furniture during the winter quarter, Lynette Warren, curator, announced yesterday.

"The art department believes that there are enough handconstructed pieces in Chapel Hill to constitute a good exhibition. Such a showing would prove to be a stimulus for those who have wanted to try a hand at design and construction of furnishings, but have hesitated to do so on account of technical knowledge," Miss Warren commented.

The exhibition would fall into three categories: furniture made from original design; furniture made from commercial design patterns; and reconverted furniture, that is, victorian pieces which have been put to new uses.

Anyone who is interested in lending pieces for display is requested to contact Miss Warren.

WEARING A SNAPPY SPORT SHIRT, President Truman confers in Key West, Fla., with Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), who will become speaker of the House of Representatives in January for the fifth time in his career. Later, Rayburn told reporters that there is no cause why anyone would be "scared" as a result of President Truman's election. Speaking to assembled newsmen the Texan said he sees no reason for a recession or a depression unless it is "man-made."

Quaker Widow, 74, Throws Barrage At 'Criminal' Peacetime Draft Law

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Nov. 23.—(UP)—The peacetime draft today was under fire from Mrs. Caroline Nrie, 74-year-old Quaker widow who last spring refused to pay the portion of her income tax earmarked for military purposes.

In a letter to Attorney-General Tom Clark she criticized the arrest of youths who refuse to register for the draft and pointed out that the Selective Service act calls for the arrest of persons who urge men to refuse to register.

"You may be aware that hundreds of ministers and religious leaders last summer issued public call to American Christians of draft age, openly counseling them not to register," she wrote.

"As one of the signers of this call, I feel as do my cosigners, we are equally liable with these young men as violators of this evil law," she continued.

"We do not admit, however, that in violating the peacetime draft law, either we or they have committed any crime," she added.

Eyes Of South Are Focused On Virginia School Ruling

By Frank Eleazer

KING GEORGE, Va., Nov. 23—(UP)—The 73 Negro high school students in rural King George county are demanding "equal" school facilities, and the whole South is watching to see what happens.

The school board here has agreed to put up for the Negroes a new and modern building, with central heat and inside plumbing—something they don't have now.

It is a test case in which the demands of the students have been directed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. A spokesman for the association said that when the Negro school is built, then the question will be: Does the new "equal" but segregated school plant afford equal educational opportunity?

"Our eventual aim is to eliminate segregation in the schools," said Leslie Perry, NAACP Washington representative.

The white people who make up two-thirds of this low-income county's 5,400 population also are doubtful. It was with misgiving that they voted recently to borrow money for the new school building.

"The Negroes don't want a school of their own," said the Rev. Floyd Cartwright rector of four white Episcopal churches here. "They want to get into the white schools."

King George county currently is balanced precariously on a compromise under which NAACP attorneys have agreed to hold up a further court attack on the school board pending erection of the new building.

Federal District Judge Sterling Hutcheson on July 31 ordered the board—along with school boards in two other Virginia counties—to give Negro students the same break it gives whites. His order was issued in response to a Negro suit. It was based on a series of Supreme court rulings that date back to 1938.

Perry said the action was an opening gun in a fight that eventually will spread over the South. NAACP attorneys thought the "upper South" was the best place to get started, he added.

Equalizing King George's schools was quite a job. When school opened this fall, the Negroes still were poking fires in oil-drum stoves, and plodding to out-door privies. So 10 students marched up to the white school, with its furnace heat and inside plumbing, and said they wanted to register.

School Superintendent T. Benton Gayle was waiting at the door with a copy of the State constitution. He read section 140: "White and colored children shall not be taught in the same school."

Replied Negro Lawyer Martin A. Martin of Richmond: "It appears to me that the laws of Virginia in this particular are contrary to the constitution and laws of the United States."

Martin's next move was to ask Judge Hutcheson to hold the school board in contempt. The court ordered the board to "show cause" why this shouldn't be done.

New Negro School May Not Suffice

Explanation

Dean of Students Fred Weaver had a lot of explaining to do yesterday after he showed up at work with a scratched nose.

No, it wasn't his wife, Fred said, he's a bachelor.

No, he wasn't partying over the Carolina-Duke weekend, he's a teetotaler.

No, he wasn't participating in intramural wrestling, he's ineligible.

"I ran into the planetarium," he finally explained. "Just showing a few visitors around."

RADIO REPAIRS
24 Hour Service
OGBURN Furniture Co.
Phone 5841
West Franklin Street

RARE OPPORTUNITY!
STUDY . . . TRAVEL
in SPAIN
BARCELONA GROUP 65 Days June 29, 1949
MALAGA GROUP 65 Days July 2, 1949
Sponsored by:
UNIVERSITY of MADRID
For Information Write
SPANISH STUDENT TOURS
500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 18, N. Y.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

PLAYING TODAY
Paramount presents
EDWARD G. ROBINSON
GAIL RUSSELL
JOHN LUND
in "Night has a thousand Eyes"

"IT'S THE COMEDY OF THE YEAR!" ALL THE CRITICS SAY SO BETTE DAVIS · ROBERT MONTGOMERY in WARNER BROS.' JUNE BRIDE with FAY BAINTER
directed by BRETAIGNE WINDUST · HENRY BLANKE
Thanksgiving Day and Friday
CAROLINA

RAMSHEAD RATHSKELLER
will be CLOSED
Wednesday & Thursday
Nov. 24 and 25
but will be OPEN
Friday 26th 7-11 pm
Saturday 2-11 pm
BROADCASTING THE VIRGINIA GAME

DANZIGER'S
SPECIAL THANKSGIVING DINNER
$2.50
Spiced whole crabapples with buttered melted Lebkuchen
Bouillon with mushrooms
Roast Turkey with stuffing, chestnut, cranberry sauce, early spring peas.
Fresh orange and pineapple salad.
Mincepie or french cremepuff
Ice Cream—Whipped Cream
Biscuit, Rye or Pumpernickel Bread and butter
Coffee, Tea or Milk
After dinner mints & nuts
Wine served by the glass or bottle
SERVED FROM 12 to 8

The BROCKWELL
Comfortable Guest Rooms at Moderate Prices
Over Sloan Drug Store
Operated by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Graham Phone F-438

TUXEDO RENTALS
It's easy and nice to rent a perfect-fitting TUXEDO or FULL DRESS from Lewis'. Our stocks are large and fresh, and our expert tailors alter each garment to your individual requirements. Rental fees extremely low—service fast.
Lewis' State College
RALEIGH
Hillsboro Street Dial 6904

At UNC—
TOM WHARTON has the EDGE in humor.
...and in razor blades
PAL
HOLLOW GROUND
has the "EDGE" 5 ways
Last longer • Smoother shaving • Keener edges • More economical • Uniformly perfect
DOUBLE or SINGLE EDGE
4 for 10¢ 10 for 25¢ 21 for 49¢ 44 for 98¢

Fall Styling That's REALLY SHARP
Hand-sewn vamp with heavy ribbed sole and reverse storm welt
He-man styling hits it all right high in the new Portage Shoes for fall. They bring you the very peak of distinctive smartness. Choicest leathers and superior craftsmanship are extra values that insure downright satisfaction from every pair of Portage Shoes. Select your pair from the sharpest looking shoes you ever feasted your eyes on.
$13.95
Rugged Moccasin style with strap & buckle, ski heel, & storm welt
Portage Shoes
Roscoe Griffin
114 W. Main St.

For the Old Grads

OPEN LETTER TO SPIKE SAUNDERS, GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE ALUMNI ASSN.

Dear Spike,

I spent some time this last weekend talking to an alumnus of some vintage (well before your time in this illustrious institution) who had come down from the wilds of Yankeeland to see the Tar Heels beat the tar out of Duke.

This alumnus thought the campus looked fine, complimented the building program, said the football team was nothing short of colossal, and thought things in general were pretty swell. But he did say that he thought someone (presumably the Alumni association) was slipping up on a job he could be performing on all home football weekends.

What he was looking for was a central alumni registration book for all old grads who come back on a weekend to see the old school team play a few quarters of well-polished football. His compliment was that when he came to town for the weekend, he hardly ever saw anyone he knew from the good old days. "I know they're around," he said, "but if the Carolina Inn says they're not registered there, where else can I look?"

Here's what he had in mind: When football season rolls around next year, let's inform all the alumni and alumnae that the first thing they should do when they get to the Hill is come straight to the Alumni building (or any other convenient place) and sign in on a register. The name, permanent address, temporary address for the weekend, possibly what fraternity house he will be visiting after the game, should be filled both under the alumnus' class and in alphabetical order.

Then our friend, the old grad who comes in for the football weekend, may merely check his class year in the registration book to see if any of his old cronies are here, or he may check individual names he is looking for in the alphabetical file.

Well, thanks for listening while we passed on the suggestion, Spike. It could bear a lot of consideration.

Sincerely,
RAMESES

If We Weren't 'Too Busy'

Take a look at yesterday's editorial page. It was filled with wire copy, reprints and something salvaged from the mail to serve as a column. Take a look at today's page. If it is not in the same condition it is because the page was held open waiting for copy to come in late.

Why?

Because every single person supposed to work on those two pages was "too busy" to get his job done. Every single person except one. Bill Robertson wasn't too busy. Bill Robertson is never "too busy" to get in his plug for Communism. Other DTH columnists may get their work done late, may not do it at all, but every Sunday afternoon Robertson's column is in, waiting to be printed Tuesday morning.

In a small way this is an explanation of why the Communists, so few in number, are able to raise such a hullabaloo. They are always on the job, never "too busy" to get in their dirty work.

One small group working with the same energy and persistensy for the University of North Carolina, for the State of North Carolina, for the United States of America —working with rather than against the force of public opinion—and what miracles of progress could not be accomplished!

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is issued daily during the regular sessions of the University by the Colonial Press, Inc., except Mondays, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms when published semi-weekly. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per year, $3.00 per quarter.

Editor ..... ED JOYNER, JR.
Business Manager ..... T. E. HOLDEN

Managing Editor ..... Chuck Hauser
Sports Editor ..... Billy Carmichael III

Campus Ed ..... Sally Woodhull
Town Ed ..... Herb Nachman
Feature Ed ..... Jim Dickinson
Asst. Spt. Ed ..... Dick Jenrette
Adv. Mgr. ..... C. B Mendenhall
Circ. Mgr. ..... Owen Lewis
Subscrip. Mgr. ..... Jim King
Asst. Bus. Mgr. ..... Betty Huston

News Staff: Lincoln Kan, Margaret Gaston, Bill Buchan, Stewart McKeel, Gordon Huffines, Leonard Dudley, Jerry Weiss, Jack Brown, Wink Locklair, Roy Parker, Emily Baker, Charles Pritchard, Emily Sewell, Mark Sumner, Charles Carter, Jimmy Leesen, Jimmie Foust, George Carter, Art Xanthos, Don Maynard.

Editorial Staff: Rita Adams, Bev Lawler, Bob Fowler, Ina Klein.

Business Staff: Jim Martin, J. C. Rush, Preston Wescott, Libby Ann Koontz, Joy Crapps, Ed Wharton, Jackie White, Johnny Robison, Bootsie Taylor, Neal Cadieu, Pat Denning, Jackie Burke, Allen Tate, Marie Nussbaum, Jackie Sharpe, Ann Green, Dale Morrison, Babs Kerr, Becky Huggins, Buddy Pierce, Jean Williams, Doug Thompson.

Sports Staff: Frank Allston, Lew Chapman, Zane Robbins, Billy Burgess, Joe Cherry Taylor Vaden, Larry Fox, Morton Glasses, Wuff Newell, Carter Taylor.

Society Editor ..... Rita Adams
Society Staff: Faith Adams, Helen Hord, Lucielle Conley, Harriet Sipple, Caroline Brunner, Ann Gamble, Jane Gower.

Circulation Staff: Don Snow, Randy Hudson, Shasta Bryant, Joe Wratten, M. J. White, Frank Olds, Don Calloway.

Opinions expressed by columnists are their own. All editorials not initialed are written by the editor.

Odds And Ends

By Rita Adams

FUREIGN POWER. Looks as if the out-of-state folks around here are really getting on the ball. First, we hear about the Atlanta crew getting their group together; then up pop the people from Roanoke, Va., with big plans for a Carolina club; and now it's the clan from Tidewater, Va. Pretty soon we won't even have to go home for holidays—just get the clubs together and serve turkey.

WRONG NUMBER. Tough luck about the fellow who went all the way to Greensboro last Sunday afternoon to find a meeting. Seems he searched for two and a half hours all over WC and finally decided the meeting must have been at GC.

DOUBLE WHAMMY. What with the merger of the IRC and CCUN, we should be hearing about big doings from the new group. Bobbie Sterling, for one, looks mighty pleased about the matter.

BEAMING BEAM. We hear Mike Beam is quite an eager beaver when it comes to filling up his brother's car with coeds. That poor brother is probably out trying to find a ride home at this point after Mike has fulfilled his promises.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK. Couldn't help overhearing a remark that's still puzzling up no end. Just how does a boy bestow a goodnight kiss on a coed when they both wear glasses. Folks like Pete Clevis and Lover Nat Williams might find that more than somewhat perplexing.

WORTH IT. Eleven-year-old Roy Armstrong, Jr., son of the University director of admissions has had his movie privilege suspended. He didn't come home until almost midnight after attending the Spivak dance.

"I know I'm going to be penalized," young Roy told his dad. "But it was worth it." He got Charlie Spivak's autograph and got to dance with the blonde vocalist.

TALK OF THE TOWN lately is the Town Talk trio down in he Rendezvous Room. They've become regular features on the Friday night radio show. Fact is, they're even going to stick around for the Thanksgiving festivities and keep the show going tomorrow night.

PERPLEXITY PERSONIFIED. Louis Hicks should be well qualified to write beaucoup de books on the woes of a campus photographer—that is, if he lives through this Yack deluge. Poor fellow keeps wandering around the main lounge of Graham Memorial trying his dead level best to make people sit still and grin like chessycats—in the meantime Alice Sharpe stands on a chair with the flash bulb, looking for all the world like the spirit of something or other—posterity, maybe.

FIRE BUGS seem to be the only pests that need to be exterminated around Graham Memorial. Director Bob Watson tells us that already this year the fire-chasers have had to put out three minor blazes. Now, look; granted we Chapel Hillians want to set the world on fire when it comes to football and politics; but best we play safe and keep our student union intact.

HOW'S COME we don't set up our own bowl—You know, we could call it the Tar Heel Bowl and throw feathers instead of confetti.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Cartee on her new position as a big wig down at the Merchants Association—she's Lois Cranford's successor.

EFFICIENCY EXPERT John Rosser hit the nail on the head when he said that the trouble with the accounting department is that they have too many chiefs and not enough engines.

GOOD-BYE THOUGHT for the holidays. Don't forget the special joint service of the Chapel Hill churches at the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The Line Forms on the Right

Distributed by King Features Syndicate by arrangement with The Washington S'

Presidential Comments

On Dance Group, Vote No

By Jess Dedmond

Some recent acts of the student legislature merit careful consideration of the student body. Two of these acts will appear on the ballot for campus consideration at the forthcoming elections and deserve some thought before the voters are confronted with them at the polls. In order to clarify them a brief background may be necessary.

The Town Mens association, revived from its war time demise, was reorganized in the spring of this year. Its members reasoned logically that it deserved membership in certain campus organizations in order to be effective. Consequently three acts of the legislature have been designed for the benefit of the group. The first one was to give the association a seat on the board of directors of Graham Memorial. The second was in the form of a constitutional amendment, the effect of which gives the association membership in the University club. Both of these measures are sound and approval of the legislature and the student bady are warranted. The final measure in behalf of the association should be approached with more caution, however. That measure is also an amendment to the constitution giving the organization membership on the Dance committee. This measure should be voted down by the campus.

The Dance committee is a time-honored organization whose membership is carefully governed. The fine conduct of our dances speaks sufficiently for its work. It is made up of members of permanent organizations. The Town Mens association has shown no permanency as is evidenced by its six years of inactivity during the war. If the Town Mens association, a new, loosely-knit organization, and at this time an unrepresentative one, is allowed this membership then surely older and better functioning organizations will have sufficient precedent for claims that they also should belong. In that case we might just as well open the gates to Aycock dormitory, the Carlina Political union, the YMCA, and the Chapel Hill Dog Foundation.

Briefly Stated:

For Town Mens association having membership in the University club vote yes.

For Town Mens association having membership on the Dance committee vote NO

In Chicago

Year-old Strike Still On

By United Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A year ago tomorrow AFL printers went on strike against Chicago newspapers. Since that time the city's readers have almost forgotten what a regular printed newspaper looks like.

The printers, some 1,500 of them, walked off the job Nov. 24, 1947, demanding higher wages and closed shop conditions.

Today they still maintain token picket lines while five daily newspapers continue to publish with a photo-engraving process which by-passes traditional typesetting methods.

At first the papers looked blurred and "odd" in their new type dress, but the process has been refined until today readers are hardly aware of the difference.

While the dispute has dragged through negotiations and re-negotiations, the newspapers have been making money. Circulation has remained about normal and advertising lineage has soared.

Estimates are that the printers have lost wages of more than $7,000,000 in a strike that has cost about 2,610,000 man hours of work. The union pays strike wages of $40 a week to unmarried printers and $60 to married men, with additional picketline benefits.

Union sources estimated that the Chicago strike has cost the union nearly $4,000,000, averaging about $325,000 a month.

But many of the strikers have taken other jobs and some have left Chicago. Sources estimate that only about 400 printers would be available if the strike were to end.

Representatives of the union and publishers have been negotiating intermittently and apparently are making progress. But neither side has sounded a hopeful note for a settlement.

Chicago local 16 of the International Typographical union demanded a wage raise from $85.50 to $100 a week for day and night shifts and from $91 to $106 weekly for morning shifts. Publishers first offered a flat $6 weekly raise and then made a "final" offer of $9.

The dispute centered chiefly, however, on the union's drive to maintain its traditional closed shop in the face of the Taft-Hartley law ban.

The issue has involved the union in lengthy hearings and court actions.

Recently the ITU was cited for contempt of court at Indianapolis for failing to abide by a federal court injunction directing it to obey the Taft-Hartley law. The union was required to file a sworn statement of compliance and did so last week.

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert said it appeared that the union was now complying with the law. Chiefly the ITU agreed to a hiring procedure for new printers that would not maintain in effect a closed shop.

Neither side of the Chicago dispute has indicated what effect the new union policy has had on negotiations. In its compliance statement the union said it was recommending that locals draft an alternate clause that would call for the closed shop if the Taft-Hartley law is appealed or amended before contracts expire.

